Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 D.Zurawski, hopeful soon retiree, NOT a good idea. This is an underhanded method of decreasing my retirement savings. Unlike my government representatives, I am not allowed the privilege of using insider information to trade. I must rely on quarterly reporting to make sound financial decisions. Why must I be punished in order to save big business and their over compensated executives.

Anonymous — Jun 18, 2026

Subject: SEC: KEEP IT QUARTERLY From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I rely on accurate and frequent financial reports to make informed decisions about my investments. As a retiree, the success and safety of my investment decisions has a literal life and death impact. I am regularly involved in my investment research but not solely. This six month reporting proposal also potentially hides negative truths from hundreds of thousands of small independent financial and wealth advisors on who investors depend. It is their job and purpose to examine quarterly reports for their clients. Having their access to this information cut in half doubles their liability as a fiduciary and endangers financial futures. The small amount of savings to corporations does not offset the risk to individuals and their advisors and is dangerous to current and future retirees. ~Michael Gorenflo, Lake Mary, Florida~

Anonymous — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Seddra Jones, Registered Nurse and I feel that everything needs to be transparent. Why do they get to hide their earnings when we as the working class do not get the same opportunities?

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the quarterly reports!!

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 More transparency is always good. The companies themselves are looking at monthly data, their investors should have more, not less information.

Martha Bush
361 Cheese Factory Rd
Honeoye Falls, NY 14472
Cell: 585-415-8625

Anonymous — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Finance demands Accountability!!!!!!!

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep quarterly reports. American people cannot afford to lose money from income revenues. Stop the fraud on all levels and let the blockbuster industry gisnts start paying a fair share

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep it transparent. Everyone that invests deserves to know what's going on. People research companies quarterly reports in order to decide on investing or not. Quarterly reports are necessary.

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I have a real need to have quarterly reporting remain. Who are you to change it? I'm pretty sure any change is illegal.

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I am in favor of keeping quarterly reports just the way they are now. Businesses cheat enough as it is.

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is essential. Don't change it. CPA for small private company. Anything less than quarterly reporting leads to fraud and mismanagement. History has shown us that. We need transparency and accountability. Linda Zyla

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep our financial statements quarterly. I was a certified medical assistant. Mrs. Jean Wall, Bloomington, IL

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep it Quarterly!

Sent from my iPhone
Cary Watts
406.698.8296
Watts.cary@Icloud.com

Anonymous — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 The stock market is the livelihood of countless retirees. It is essential that we have transparency for those companies listed on the stock exchange. And really, it also applies to anyone building a nest age for retirement when their retirement accounts essentially become their fixed income. Vote for transparency and keep the quarterly reporting.
Rod Cantu
Warren, MI

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 KEEP IT QUARTERLY TRICIA JOHNSON RETIRED.
PEOPLE NEED TO KEEP ALERT TO CHANGES AND INSIDERS DO NOT NEED ANY MORE ADVANTAGE THAN THEY ALREADY HAVE..

Anonymous — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I appreciate receiving quarterly reports. This process should not change.

Rhiannon M. Schurig
Goodyear, AZ 85338

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 The SEC needs to work FOR individual investors, too. It absolutely shouldn’t work AGAINST them, but that is precisely what approval of this grossly unnecessary rule change would do.

Putting the foxes in charge of the henhouse has never in the history of open markets worked well in the long term.

Anonymous — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Dear SEC:
My comment is in opposition to S7-2026-15.
As an investor, I rely on the SEC's protection. Moving from quarterly reporting to only a semi-annual reporting markedly degrades the transparency for retail investors like me. The frequency in sharing this information is invaluable in supporting my ability to make optimal financial decisions in a timely manner.
The projected modest savings to the companies isn't worth the cost to individual investors. There are other ways to reduce reporting burden that won't degrade transparency for investors. Optimizing accountability and transparency is the first priority and investment in doing so should not be seen as a burden in the first place.
Additionally, longer gaps in reporting create an unfair advantage for corporate insiders. And the companies from which we need this information more frequently are also those who will least likely want to report quarterly. The incentivization is backwards.
Do not abandon your first responsibility to investors like me.
Do not support S7-2026-15.
Thank you for your time.
Sincerely,
Sheryl Long, MD

Anonymous — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep Quarterly reports!!
It is easier to understand and you see how markets are going better !!

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Ann E. (Liz) McCrary
Retiree with an IRA
Portland, OR

The SOX Act of 2002 requiring CEOs to sign their corporate books quarterly must remain in effect for the sake of transparency. A second signature by the CFO acts as a check the numbers are correct. As a small investor, I need to feel secure that the SEC is monitoring all corporations four times a year, whether I may be invested in them or not. Even if most corporations are honest, the small number who may not be have a deleterious effect on the entire market. I have just a few years remaining to invest small amounts of money into my IRA before reaching the mandatory withdrawal age, and I need my nest egg to grow in the meantime. I'd like to be able to trust that all corporations within the funds I'm invested in are acting in good faith as responsible fiduciaries. This is money I'm counting on being available to live on for another 20+ years (and I come from a line of long-lived women)!

Quarterly transparency is key to ensuring that availability will be true.

Thanks for your consideration.

Ann E. McCrary

Anonymous — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 When is the administration going to be done stealing from the people. This way they can use your money for six months, keep the profits and return it to your account with you none the wiser!

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please keep quarterly reports. If it ain't broke, don't fix it, please.

Anonymous — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly, with severe penalties for those that misrepresent or outright lie that they go to their local COUNTY JAIL and spend the weekend for it and fined 10% plus the cost of housing them in jail. Every offense after the first the percentage goes up and they add another day at COUNTY. Quit giving them more opportunities to cheat.

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is necessary and should not be reduced to twice yearly. Companies must remain accountable to their investors.
Liz Camarie, retired
Santa Cruz, CA

Sent from my iPad

Anonymous — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We should not go back to where we've been especially when we have evidence reduced reporting was not beneficial. We should move forward and continue to report at least quarterly. Please pay attention to the experts.

Mike Loebe
Seattle,WA

Anonymous — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Report quarterly or sooner. The real owners are the stock owners. This change increases opportunity to hide poor management. Do not lengthen the reporting period.

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Michael Fritz, Aircraft Mechanic, Minot North Dakota. The US government has done enough to crush the middle class in the last 30 years. We need MORE transparency. MORE accountability! Not less. Allowing bi annual reports rather than quarterly will just make it far easier for corporations to pull greedy moves or hide massive losses from investors and shareholders. And why is the SEC even considering this? How does this benefit us? How does this benefit me? It won't. It will make it more difficult for fund managers and my self to manage my investments without making huge missteps and essentially uneducated guesses. Absolutely NO!

Anonymous — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I no longer trust Wall Street. The game is rigged against small investors. I believe more fraud and pump and dump schemes will take place unless quarterly reporting is done by corporations. This is another attempt by the billionaires who control the Trump administration to line their pockets. What's taking place in America today is a disgrace.

Anonymous — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Don't promote fraudulent practices!!! It will come back to bite you- and the American public is not that forgiving!

K Luna,
Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Do not return to less transparency. The government needs to run openly or the loss of trust that's already happened will continue to happen until the people revolt.

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 "If it ain't broke, don't fix it!!" Have you ever heard this before? Nowadays, the big thing is transparency and accountability. Being a retired CPA, I believe CEOs are overpaid and and still hungry for more. I suggest keeping things the way they are.

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Less than quarterly reporting is not an intelligent option and I strongly oppose it.

E. Soljaga
2316 SW Kanan St
Portland, OR 97239

Anonymous — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 LESS TRANSPARENCY IS NEVER A GOOD THING. Honestly, it's like the Trump admin wants to give big business ALL of the advantages at the expense of the public. Quarterly reports keep our companies honest and our markets, the most transparent in the world, the market of choice for global investment. Why would you want to change that? Don't fix what's not broken. Absolutely absurd.

Anonymous — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 The quarterly reports must be keep!

Anonymous — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep it Quarterly please.
Thank you
Alex W.

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Needs to remain open to all, all the time. No going dark, no hiding things from anyone at any time for any reason.
-- Sent from /e/OS Mail.

Anonymous — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly details are fundamental to tracking a business. I'm in the aviation industry and can only imagine the sinkholes that could develop if financial reporting was only done every 6 months.

Thanks,
H Carney
Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Why the * are you people trying to ruin the lives of hard working people? You're a bunch of cut throat, sycophantic assholes whose soul aim is to make the rich richer. Stop it, for Christ's sake. Knock it the * off. Please, spare me your excuses as to how this makes sense. There's always some twist to explain it all away. I'm sick of hearing it. Is there anything this administration does to help the lower and middle classes? Aside from giving racists a soapbox and making the rich obscenely wealthier, what is the aim of this *show? How bout leaving us alone. If you're not going to help us, just leave us alone. We'll figure it ourselves if you just STOP working against us.

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 LBedre, investor - This should be approved by all shareholders of all companies. Shareholder primacy, not CEO primacy.

Anonymous — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Disclosure is important to keeping companies honest and following laws.

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is necessary for us to know what is happening on Wall Street. The current administration is corrupt. This would allow more fraud and insider trading to occur without our knowledge.
Katie Haywood, Retired school teacher. Relying on Social Security and my 403b income.

Anonymous — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This is not a proposal that keeps the economy in good shape. We need more oversight and regulation not the markets not less. This administration claims to be anti fraud while opening the door to greater opportunities for it.

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This is h going to cause a lot of us middle class and lower people to lose our life savings. Think about our livelihood before you set us back 70 years.

Anonymous — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 In my opinion, you folks are going off the deep end if it ain't broke, don't fix it on our tax dollars can you hear me now?

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 All investors deserve full disclosure from companies. In fairness to all stock holders have this right to this information.

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I believe the reporting should remain quarterly. Reducing frequency to bi yearly will reduce transparency and accountability.

Anonymous — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 The people want "Quarterly Reports".

I don't need to say anything more!

Thank you.

Val Feather

Anonymous — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Moving to biannual reporting does not serve the goals of individual investors and will impact millions of retirement savers as Americans confront multiple economic headwinds. I strongly urge the SEC to preserve quarterly reporting in service of economic efficiency, market transparency, and our preeminent place in the world financial order.

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Things are unfair enough for the average American.

We don’t need anyone making it harder

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Quarterly Reporting - Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I absolutely think it’s a terrible idea to stop quarterly reporting. There is no valid reason to make this change. I believe it would have a negative impact on my portfolio and retirement accounts over the long term. If anything, we need more transparency in publicly traded businesses, not less. Please do not allow this change. - Mathew Brady, Registered Nurse (California and Iowa).

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 No. Just NO. LEAVE * ALONE.

Anonymous — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: New SEC proposal for less transparency on company earnings. From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I do not agree with this new proposal. We need more clarity of business financials especially when asked to invest in them. Less reporting equals less transparency and increases the ability for corporations to be deceptive or elusive in their reporting.

I am an American citizen and active voter.

Leona Cecilia Durham from the all new AOL app for iOS

Anonymous — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I know quarterly reports are painful but let’s keep these corps honest

---

Anonymous — Jun 18, 2026

Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please keep the quarterly reporting. I'm an agent in the field and it's better for my clients to be informed! Thank you for your time. Cynthia Swoyer Agent

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 It is unethical to pay taxes that are being manipulated and fed into corporate interests. Stop using our money to write loose corporation standards and mandates. People's benefits and rights being infringed, decreased or eliminated. It's getting blatant and ridiculous.

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We need more transparency, not less. The end result of the proposed change will lead to more obfuscation by entities and less opportunity to identify and take appropriate action to ameliorate or sustain trends.

Anonymous — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I do not support this change.

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 It is wrong and will lead to more fraud. The result will be more private citizens, tax payers, getting ripped off while the people running these companies can hide their mismanagement and at times illegal activities.

All my best,
Susan Cook-Freimuth
(404) 385-6282

Sent from my iPhone so please excuse any typos

Anonymous — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Tiffany Herrmann, media professional, mother of two. It's necessary to provide as much information as possible to the public. Asking everyday hardworking Americans to invest in companies requires transparency. It shouldn't be information that is with held from us. We are trying to stay relevant in a space that pushes us out and lines the pockets of the wealthy and big corporations. It would be unfair and unjust to allow these companies to withhold information that could dictate how the average American chooses to invest. This would causes ripple effects across the country not just for everyday hardworking Americans but the retail space and across industries that rely on information to make adjustments in today's volatile markets. You would be hurting everyone if this change is allowed. Honestly real time reporting would be best with how many changes are occurring and the advancements being made in technology, AI and with utilities. Quarterly should stay at a minimum!

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 No blackout periods, period!! Dr. and Mrs. Russell Dumire

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Since the corruption seems to be rampant in society today, we need the quarterly checks to keep them honest! Sharon Crosby retired and have a retirement fund !

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Anonymous — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Reports should stay quarterly! It would serve everyone better if they were every other month! Insiders need to keep hands off any and all money that belongs to the companies and employees and charities.

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I am a retail investor and I rely on quarterly reports to make decisions about my retirement savings. Please maintain the quarterly report requirement.
Alice Hubscher, Leesburg, Virginia

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Oversight is important, don't stop quarterly reporting

---

Anonymous — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 No transpercy it's a cover up the big lie

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Necessary evil.

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Anonymous — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This needs to be enforced, no question.

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Anonymous — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Stop *ing with us. You are all evil.

Warmly,
Janna

Anonymous — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 America needs to be fair and just.. NO LONGER ARE THE RICH more important than the REST AMERICANS EQUALITY IS what AMERICA IS stand true do the right thing

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Do not repeat Enron, Tyco and all those other scammers. SarbOx was a good thing. Keep the accountability!! Do not rollback our protections to twice a year.

BC HT
Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Absolutely important to keep reporting Quarterly! As a retiree, I depend on the regular Quarterly reporting for financial planning. I am Not a billionaire, I need Quarterly Reporting to continue!

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Really? Can't you be honest

---

Anonymous — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 There is NO REASON for any company to not report their earnings quarterly. This SEC proposal is wrong, and very dangerous for the country's economy. Especially, right now when our economy is teetering on the edge of collapse.

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 They need to report quarterly. The public is entitled to current data!

Anonymous — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Monthly would be better!

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Too many things are kept from the light of day with time for cheating and manipulation by the profiteers.

Anonymous — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 It is imperative that we have quarterly reports. There is no logical reason for you to cut reporting in half. We have the president stealing our tax dollars hand over fist and now you want to do the same!! SHAME ON YOU!!! Keep quarterly reports coming!!

Anonymous — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 The quarterly attestament to “true and accurate” reporting should continue and be a bare minimum requirement for the high salary CEOs are paid. They know…..they all know when there are shenanigans and should be held accountable.

Kim Moore, state retiree
Supply, NC

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please keep the quarterly reporting requirement. Transparency benefits everyone.

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep in effect. Too easy to fix books.

Anonymous — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Quarterly reporting From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is an essential guardrail against deception and manipulation in the stock market. I have seen and also personally experienced the losses that can wipe out individual wealth of ordinary people when there is lax regulation. As a retired person I keep a close eye on our nest egg so I can do my best to avoid that happening again. Quarterly reporting helps me to spot when to consider safeguarding our retirement assets by selling stocks that are likely to continue losing value. Those retirement funds are crucial to cover the unexpected and extra costs of living (medical, home upkeep, etc.) that social security does not cover.
Sincerely,
Jan Maher
writer, retired educator.

Sent from AOL on Android

Anonymous — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Too much can happen in six months. We need the 10Q!

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My name is Leon Lundie-Prater. I am a retired clinical pharmacist and am opposed to changing the reporting interval to every 6 months. The evidence seems to be very clear that this change would not be to my advantage as an investor and could severely reduce the benefits of my investments. Please reconsider making the change to every 6 months from the current quarterly reporting. Thank you.

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Quarterly reporting From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Sent from AOL on Android

---

Anonymous — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 As a widow I am completely reliant on the retirement my husband left me. If I do not know what is happening with my investments then I cannot plan my future, and I do not trust big business and I should not have to! Quality reporting is the only way to know exactly where I stand! Stop messing with everything and do the jobs at hand, like dealing with inflation.
Wendy O'Sullivan
Wendyosullivan22@gmail.com
Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Regulation changes From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Reducing or relaxing any regulation - in a time when public and private corruption is rampant - seems the opposite of good policy. Keep the walls in place and keep confidence in our reporting systems. Dan Berarducci 5124 Bradford St. Hamburg NY 14075

Anonymous — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous We have worked hard for years to save for retirement, and if our investments have to be made without timely information we could lose it and would have sacrificed in vain for our later years. Keep accounting information quarterly.

Anonymous — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous I strongly oppose eliminating Quarterly financial reporting for publicly traded companies. As an investor I value more frequent information to evaluate various investment opportunities.

Anonymous — Jun 18, 2026

Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous IN this digital age and AI era where everything is captured and recorded, there is NO excuse! Quarterly reports are the MINIMUM standard. We should actually see daily reports via an online portal. Get real. We deserve to know what is happening with OUR MONEY!!

Anonymous Registered Accountant — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Reducing transparency when informed investment decisions are dependent on reliable and timely information is against the interests of investors. Specifically, timeliness of financial information is foundational concept of financial accounting (Statement of Financial Accounting Concepts No. 8). Timeliness has increased importance in a global economy in which computerized data has caused markets to respond faster than ever. The information needs not only to be timely but reliable (another core concept) and reliability requires the opinion of a qualified third party to ensure that the data adheres to GAAP. There can be no argument that countermands the responsibility that capital markets have to their investors, and such markets run on financial data. Keep that data timely and keep it reliable.

Anonymous Retired — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous This is not a good proposal. A lot can happen in 6 months. Quarterly allows for reasonable warning if there are matters of concer that need to be watched more closely.

Anonymous The Motley Fool Community — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Please do not allow public companies to abandon quarterly reporting in favor of semiannual disclosures. Allowing public companies to abandon quarterly reporting does the following: • It doubles the dark period between investors and the companies we own. Instead of four windows into a business's financial health each year, we get two — twice the uncertainty, twice the time insiders know things you don't. • The companies most likely to opt out are the ones we need to watch most. Smaller firms, volatile businesses, and less-covered stocks are the ones where management has the most to gain from a longer reporting gap — and where shareholders most need regular visibility. • The research shows it won't even work. A CFA Institute study of the UK's decade-long experiment found that cutting reporting frequency had zero measurable effect on corporate investment behavior. The SEC is accepting a real cost — less transparency for us— for a benefit the evidence says won't come. • This is the opposite of Reg FD. That landmark law said more information, more fairly shared. This proposal says less information, less often.

Anthony Belfiore Belfiore — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Anthony Belfiore Belfiore Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Keep it transparent! Information is key when investing!

Anthony Bowman — Jun 18, 2026

Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anthony Bowman Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Anthony Bowman Retired Mfg. Eng.
Could effect my retirement?

Anthony Cafeo — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Anthony Cafeo Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Please start making decisions for the benefit of everyday Americans and not the elites at the expense of everyone else. Moves like this further erode the middle class and set our country uo for long-term failures and further come gap disparities. When your decisions help the few and hurt the many, you're on the wrong side.

Anthony Konger — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Anthony Konger Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This rampant deregulation will lead to another economic depression not seen since the Great Depression and it will be even worse than that time. We need greater transparency and tighter regulations to protect the consumer and economy.

Anthony Reddick — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Anthony Reddick Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
I believe that the decision to allow publicly traded companies to hide vital information from investors is seriously flawed, and opens the door for serious corruption on the part of those companies. I believe that investors want transparency, so they know that the companies they invest in are operating within the law. Since some companies like Enron got in serious trouble for unethical bookkeeping practices, and Bernie Madoff got into trouble for his Ponzi scheme, transparency and accountability are as important as ever. Requiring quarterly disclosures can ensure that publicly traded companies stay transparent and accountable. S7-2026-15 is the antithesis of responsible operations and reporting. It should be stopped and defeated.

Antoinette Olesen — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Antoinette Olesen Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please do not change the reporting schedule of corporations, it would be terrible for this country.

Antoinette Olesen
615.498.2778

April Bolan — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: April Bolan Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This is not ethical and you know that.

April Brumson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: April Brumson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
I am an investor for my retirement saving and I rely on the transparency of quarterly reports to make decisions about my investments for retirement savings. So far it's worked. I fear that my retirement will vaporize if this regulation in place.

April Platt — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: April Platt Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 What is the real reason for going back in time if the data shows this didn't work and had bad results? Just so corporations can be less transparent? This makes no sense. April Platt

Sent from my iPhone

April Sullivan — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: April Sullivan Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Everyone involved in Financials needs to attest to be on the up and up. How much more an CEO and all Leaders! Afterall, what's there to hide if you are running your Operations smoothly.

Retired grandma who used to work for a Financial Services firm. San Antonio, Texas - never a covered Associate but Admin Support to Financial Professionals who were more than happy to ensure all dealings abided by SEC guidance and regulations. After all, no position can ever own the law!

Sent from my iPhone

April Yeager — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: April Yeager Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Your job is to protect the people not your administrations pocket. Don't be like this administration.

Arbid Dheharh — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Arbid Dheharh Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the quarterly reporting.

Sent from my iPhone

Areanne Breedlove — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Areanne Breedlove Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Life is NOT all or nothing. IF you do not require the quarterly statements, then at least require or create a statement on "Changes to disclosure notes for the quarter." This will make CEOs responsible for known deviations and while the vast majority of corporate persons will benefit from less frequent financial reporting, a disclosure notes deviation requirement will not open huge loopholes for the devious crooks amongst the CEO pool to rob the American investor. As a CPA, I know that notes can take as long as financials to prepare, but I assure you- management knows the deviations. Make them responsible to disclose.

Very truly, Areanne Breedlove
305-761-7522

Sent from my iPhone

Arla Prestin — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Arla Prestin Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Semi-annual reporting could result in less oversight/accountability and more deception. Quarterly reporting is a better practice.
Arla Prestin, Retired Educator

Arlene Heberden — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Arlene Heberden Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please keep quarterly for best financial planning. Thanks. Arlene Heberden

Sent from my iPhone

Arlene Russell — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Arlene Russell Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 The more informed we are the better citizens we are. I sm sick of guessing what the President and CEO's are doing that is corrupt. if I invest I have to be informed before I put my money out.

Arlene Starke — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Arlene Starke Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I hereby state that quarterly reports are more helpful and more valuable than only twice a year reports for market planning and making investment decisions. Reducing the amount of reporting allows too much time to go by and relavent changes and trending in companies can easily go unnoticed or unseen by only getting information every 6 months. Arlene Starke, retired. Investor.

Arleta Power — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Arleta Power Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
This change is unfair to the many small investors who chose companies to trust their monies . The markets are a gamble at best. To restrict information is unfair and such changes sould not be allowed.

Arlle Warren — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Arlle Warren Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I say make it monthly.

Sent via the Samsung Galaxy S25+, an AT&T 5G smartphone
Get Outlook for Android

Aron Ewen — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Aron Ewen Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
More information is always better than less information. If you allow companies to not report as often, it is a recipe for allowing more fraud to occur. Maybe that is what you want, but I DON'T

Art Solis — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Art Solis Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 As an investor Transparency is absolute need. Company boards all financial institutions with others money (investors, savers) should be upfront posting quarterly Call Reports

Regards,
Art Solis

Sent from my iPhone

---

artgirl3001 — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: artgirl3001 Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please don’t do this. Thanks.

Arthur Greene — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Arthur Greene Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please keep corporate financial reports quarterly. No longer. Does Rob investors of important information. I understand the concern about quarterly focus, but I believe that informing the investing public is a more important priority. Thank you.
Arthur Greene

Sent from my iPad

AUDREY H — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: AUDREY H Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keeping reporting quarterly is important for transparency, oversight and knowledge. In these days of technology why is reporting less important and more of a task than as done previously? Audrey Hershey Retired

---

AURORA M. — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: AURORA M. Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep em coming we need reports!! We need the numbers!

AV Forbes — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: AV Forbes Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reports must be kept to prevent fraud and to allow transparency. Do do less would be rampant theft of trust.

Aimee Forbes

Ava Evans — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Ava Evans Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We need this quarterly reporting or companies we'll take advantage as usual i.e. Enron. We cannot exempt them from automatic liability. We need accountability when fraud is committed.
Ava Evans
California

Ava Evans

---

aydell pen — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: aydell pen Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 You're kidding right? The corruption in the current regime knows no limit. It should be every day.

AZ Annie — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: AZ Annie Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Hi, as a shareholder in many companies, and a fomer Off-Shore Security Manager, Senior Underwriter, etc. I want to continue to see at least quarterly results for companies. The risk to shareholders is too high if transparency is discontinued!

Donna M. Kesot, CPCU, MS/P, CLSSGB, ERM, BSF, AIS, CPE dkesot@gmail.com

---

a_fitzgerald — Jun 18, 2026

Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: a_fitzgerald Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Do not rescind the quarterly reporting requirement. Rescinding the requirement enables companies to mislead investors. It was adopted to protect the investing public, and rescinding it sends the wrong message to companies and investors.

Ari FitzGerald, J.D.

---

b c — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: b c Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 S7-2026-15 Comment

This is clearly bad for investors - a group the SEC exists to protect! Leave quarterly reporting requirements as is! Putting us in the dark regarding the timely health indicators of our holdings can only harm us (and thus the country's economy) and enable greater amounts of fraud from unscrupulous and grifting company management. It's simple common sense.

Ridiculous that this is even being considered. It's hard to ignore the amount of fiduciary corruption in the administration proposing this change.

- B Coe

B Colbert — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: B Colbert Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My name is Barbara Colbert. I worked in retail for twenty years. Much of it in retail management. Quarterly reporting holds these businesses accountable for their behavior. It's harder to hide fraud and theft. Without quarterly reports these businesses are given too much time to hide their crimes.

---

b evans — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: b evans Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 In a world where we are learning everything is corrupt, I would prefer you keep your self safe and keep quarterly. There will be a lot less room for dishonesty Buffy Evans, master cosmetologist Yes, I have to file quarterly also

---

B. May — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: B. May Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
I need quarterly disclosures to make decisions.

Balasubramanian Sriram — Jun 18, 2026

Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Balasubramanian Sriram Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission: please continue to require all publicly traded companies to share GAAP accounting based auditable earnings every quarter with penalty for perjury or misstatements. This is crucial for the protection of individual investors like me

---

banjolin — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: banjolin Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep honesty top of mind. Let's remind them of their position and their incumbency to be forthcoming.

Barabara L — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Barabara L Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Barbara Laidig, retired, in Tennessee....
I think with the economy like it is that companies should report more often, every month or every two months. We need as much information as possible to protect our investment and to make informed investments.

Barabara Seifert — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Barabara Seifert Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep quarterly results !!!! We want transparency & deserve this otherwise why in hell would we invest in you . Stop the shady * now !!!

Sent from my iPhone

Barb Ballou — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Barb Ballou Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting keeps companies honest and the consumer informed. Do not change this! It is not good for the economy. It is especially not good for those of us who are retired and have limited resources.

Barbara Ballou, Retired Youth Librarian

Barb Helgeson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Barb Helgeson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Continue at least quarterly reports!

Barb Korducki — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Barb Korducki Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please, do not allow for semi annual reporting. I’m a senior citizen and if something happens, I need to minimize my losses before I lose my home am my ability to pay bills. Retirement fund advisors need to keep us informed and they can’t if the information it’s not required. We have seen this with Enron, AGI, Washington Mutual,Bernie Madoff, the.com crash, the failure of the banking and Insurance industries during the Mortgage meltdown.

Consumers need information and transparency, and we should be able to get it on a regular basis from the entities that we are invested in.

Sent from Barb's iPhone

Barb Sasyk — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Barb Sasyk Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I think quarterly reporting should continue. Best chance of catching the criminals.

Barb Wiebesick — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Barb Wiebesick Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
This is good for the big corporations, not investors!

Barbara — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Barbara Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Barbara Karwoski, retired CFO, reliant upon investments. KIQ!!

Sent from my iPhone

Barbara Bombaci (gmail) — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Barbara Bombaci (gmail) Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please maintain quarterly reporting. Minimal cost to companies vs. less time for issues and problems to surface. The latter far outweighs the former. The public deserves this, particularly as not maintaining quarterly reporting can be disastrous and life changing (not in a good way) for the average American. I do not want to see my retirement savings jeopardized.

Barbara Bombaci, attorney

Barbara Boyer — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Barbara Boyer Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To whom it may concern and I believe it concerns us all, Quarterly reporting more sense makes because it provides timely and consistent information on organizational performance, allowing stakeholders to monitor progress, identify trends, and address issues before they become significant problems. More frequent reporting supports transparency and improves decision-making by ensuring that current data is available throughout the year. We are talking about my money and I believe accountability and having established checkpoints helps me to e late my needs so I am able to understand and evaluate objectives that I have.

Quarterly reporting allows me to see any changes I would make and the accountability factor on how things are handled makes sense.
Thank you for your time on reading this,
Barbara Boyer

BARBARA BUER — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: BARBARA BUER Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 A big no from me for this plan to eliminate quarterly reporting. My name is Barbara Buer and I'm retired and living in large part on my retirement savings. I know that accurate information on the status of our investments so that we could properly address the need to adjust the composition of our portfolio and grow our investments adequately was very important to us and remains true now. I live in Boulder City NV.

Sent from my iPhone

Barbara Burke — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Barbara Burke Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 KEEP A SHARP LOOKOUT
STOP SLEEPING AT THE WHEEL

Sent from my iPhone

Barbara Carton-Riker — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Barbara Carton-Riker Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep quarterly reports

Sent from my iPhone

Barbara Carton-Riker — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Barbara Carton-Riker Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the Quarterly Reports

Sent from my iPhone

Barbara D. — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Barbara D. Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 When data reporting is now in databases, digitized, completely streamlining the reporting process, you want to go back to the frequency when it was manually produced? As a one time auditing professional, this is illogical and without any justification. This will hurt investors and enable businesses to more easily miss (or hide) activity and evade laws.

Quarterly reporting is the foundation for corporate accountability and enables quicker reaction times for companies and their watchdogs as well as providing everyone a better pulse on the company's profitability and productivity. Having the gap six months instead of three months makes any Inconsistencies and irregularities extremely easy to hide, and for the honest companies and regulators, more difficult to identify and address. Quarterly reporting must be maintained as the standard and not go back to the reporting standard of over 70 years ago!

Respectfully,

Barbara Deneris

Barbara Dague — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Barbara Dague Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Stop it boys. Your greed is sickening. Life is short. Go get one you evil *s. Learn something…anything of import.

Barbara Farkas — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Barbara Farkas Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
I'm not sure it's bad for investors! But if this means individual rates go up, that is not good for the average person. Where does it stop with out getting anything extra in return?

Barbara Fleit — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Barbara Fleit Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Barbara Fleit
Retired Learning Consultant
New Jersey

As a retired educator I depend on my investments to survive. I can't afford to move back to the way things were in the 1950s. We are in the 21st Century. Let's stay here and do what's best for the American people not the corporations.

Sent from my iPhone

Barbara Folan — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Barbara Folan Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Barbara Folan
This gives corporate people in the "know" an advantage to sell or buy stocks while an ordinary individual has to wait for information to make a financial decision. The decisions being made today are no longer for "We the people".

Sent from my iPhone

Barbara Hailey — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Barbara Hailey Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 It has been common business practice to provide quarterly reporting to its shareholders. It is essential to keep these reports quarterly so that invested people (and we all have vested interests in our country's financial situation) can be kept informed and take action necessary to protect themselves. There is absolutely no reason to change this practice. I urge you to maintain quarterly reporting.

Barbara Hailey — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Barbara Hailey Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 It has been common business practice to provide quarterly reporting to its shareholders. It is essential to keep these reports quarterly so that invested people (and we all have vested interests in our country's financial situation) can be kept informed and take action necessary to protect themselves. There is absolutely no reason to change this practice. I urge you to maintain quarterly reporting.

Sincerely,

Barbara Hailey
Danville, California

Barbara Harriman — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Barbara Harriman Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is vital and a must to keep every person in the country advised on investments, to keep nonprofits knowledgeable on where best to invest, to keep sick children living longer, and to keep corporate America accountable to all Americans. Six month reporting is absolutely an MUST!

Barbara Harriman
Virginia Retiree

Barbara Heinrichs — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Barbara Heinrichs Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Barbara, retired nurse. How does this improve communication to benefit the people investing? Why would we go backwards, instead of forward with positive results. Is someone wanting to hide behind something. Corruption is not good for our democracy. Please do good for the people,.

Barbara Hoover — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Barbara Hoover Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is important to support investor insight and to promote transparency in corporate behaviors. Please do not change the requirement for quarterly reporting.

Barbara Hoover
7841 Whiterim Ter

Potomac, MD. 20854
240-281-5147

Sent from Barbara's iPhone

Barbara Jacoby — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Barbara Jacoby Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the quarterly reporting. No hiding anything.

Barbara Leija — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Barbara Leija Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is important for a few reasons. It's important for the government when it comes to adjusting interest rates that affect consumers. It's important to know the full disclosure of how the company is performing for current and future investors. Businesses pay taxes on quarterly income, so what are they trying to hide?

Barbara Light Marcorelle — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Barbara Light Marcorelle Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To Whom It May Concern,

Please keep quarterly SEC reporting. Our retirement depends upon investment strategy based on transparency composed of regular, solid earnings information.

We depend upon it. Simply put, our earned Social Security is not enough to allow us to eat and pay the bills, never mind travel to see the grandchildren.

Keeping business accountable through quarterly reporting is a huge protection for us.

Thank you. Barbara Marcorelle.

Barbara Monahan — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Barbara Monahan Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Just giving Trump's friends more opportunities to steal and cheat and lie and cover up. Tewards for the rich and his donors.

Barbara Neville — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Barbara Neville Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Stay the current course for quarterly reporting!

Barb Neville

Barbara Peters — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Barbara Peters Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep 4 times!

Barbara Phelps — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Barbara Phelps Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Barbara A Phelps, retired; invested. NC Please don’t take us back to a place where we are obviously going to lose so much. We have worked so hard to get where we are. Why would you even want to go where this method already failed?

Sent from my iPhone

Barbara Simmons — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Barbara Simmons Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My husband and I worked for over 34 years in the aerospace industry before being able to pay off our house and have a nice nest egg for retirement, and to leave a legacy for our kids and grandkids. If the quarterly reporting changes and transparency is reduced for investors, the impact to our nest egg could be catastrophic for us. PLEASE don't change the quarterly reporting requirement back to semi-annual! Barbara and Bruce Simmons, Mims, FL 32754

Barbara SLAGG — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Barbara SLAGG Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
For the sake of transparency make companies report quarterly.

Barbara Washington — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Barbara Washington Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I no longer work. But it matters to me because I believe financial transparency is essential to investors. Those quarterly reports are definitely necessary for investors and help to keep companies in compliance. Please do not make this change! It would be disastrous to investors. The only purpose is to obfuscate the current financial health of the company.

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Barra Cuda — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Barra Cuda Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 If anything we should have more knowledge not less of what's going on. How does this decision benefit anyone that isn't on the inside and what is the purpose of this change ?

SEAN CUDA

Barrie McVey — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Barrie McVey Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Especially now, it is crucial that this reporting stay intact! When we the people find it harder & harder to afford everyday items, it's truly disgusting to see the graft & theft going on by the 1%. Make them accountable!!
Barrie McVey - retired Forester

Sent from my iPhone

Barry King — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Barry King Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 John King, Engineer, North Carolina, more submissions should be required to expose potential corruption which is already growing and undermining my investments

Sent from my iPhone

Barry Wanasek — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Barry Wanasek Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Another loss for the little guy. Don't change a thing.

Barry Wanasek

Bayla Sussman — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Bayla Sussman Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly! The workers in this country have report and PAY their estimated taxes quarterly. I did for all the years I owned my small business. At the very least, corporate America should report.

Bayou Bob — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Bayou Bob Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Sounds like Nancy Pelosi is in charge

---

Beautiful Grady — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Beautiful Grady Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reports are essential for decision making when it comes to investing in stocks. We need to keep the quarterly reports.

Sent from my iPhone

Beckie Perrott — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Beckie Perrott Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Rebecca Perrott strongly endorses QUARTERLY REPORTING.

Kindest regards,
Beckie Perrott

Becky Anderson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Becky Anderson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Becky Anderson, retired, Jefferson,WI I absolutely do not support rolling back reporting to every six months. We expect monthly statements from our banks. Why should we expect anything else for our savings. This does not make any sense of all except maybe two benefit financial business owners instead of consumers. This absolutely is the wrong thing to do.

Sent from my iPhone

---

becky becky.me — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: becky becky.me Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep it. We haven't seen any trouble since this was put in place. Don't try to fix something that isn't broken. It was broken before. Thank you.

Get Outlook for Android

Becky Epping — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Becky Epping Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Becky Epping, retired, Bloomington, Il

Please continue the quarterly reporting

Becky Fishel — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Becky Fishel Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep it as it is. Why change a thing that's been working!?! Leave it alone. Just more room to cheat. And we know who likes to cheat!

Becky Hall — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Becky Hall Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Don't do it. History shows us it didn't work!

Sent from my iPhone

Becky Hamilton — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Becky Hamilton Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 No change! If it works why change!?!?

Sent from my iPad

Becky M Baird — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Becky M Baird Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Becky Baird. Retired Nurse. Dallas, TX. 75229. Quarterly reporting to the SEC is important to me because I am a retiree and I rely on quarterly reports to confirm that my retirement savings are going to continue to meet the needs of my family. This is all about accountability to the stakeholder. Please do not change the reporting requirements to twice a year.
Thank you!

Sent from my iPhone

Becky Pettitt — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Becky Pettitt Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
please do not allow public companies to hide vital information!!!

Becky Skinner — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Becky Skinner Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 If you do this you need to be replaced. Make examples out of bad people. In what realm of logical thinking is it right to punish half of the criminals? Were you raised Godless? Never mind that It appears so. Do your job lazy.

Becky Williams — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Becky Williams Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We need more reporting not less and these days that should be easier to do. Everything changes fast these days. And Trump likes that - he likes to move quickly - if that is how he operates, we need to keep up with him. I don't trust without adequate reporting .

Rebecca Williams,
Elementary Teacher
Woodbridge Va

Get Outlook for iOS

Becky Young — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Becky Young Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep this quarterly.

Sent from my iPhone

Bee Cee — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Bee Cee Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Quarterly reporting is of the utmost importance. Don't make changes that only would benefit insiders. Just considering this proposal shows the audacity to cater to only special interests and to try to screw over the average investor.

Don't!

Ben Barham — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Ben Barham Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We are not on board with any of this proposal. You want to steal our money by not giving us the same access and details then we pull all of our money out of your Markets. Watch us. FAFO idiots.

Ben Barham
Director Global OEM Parters

Cell: 404-432-4372
Email: Bbarham@Fumexinc.com

Office: 800-432-7550
Customer Service:
800-432-7550 Customerservice@fumexinc.com
Technical Support: service@fumexinc.com

Ben Kuo — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Ben Kuo Please do not change the quarterly earning mandate. Changing it to bi-annually is bad !!!

Ben Mayerson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Ben Mayerson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Rolling back this regulation does the thing this regime keeps saying is their priority, transparency. Any investor wants THE MOST current data to consider their portfolio when they want, not when Trump says we do. Leave this rule alone, and stop allowing investment companies to cloud the information. There's no reasonable excuse for this, and I demand it be left alone.

Benda Hamilton — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Benda Hamilton Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I need quarterly information for personal budget planning. Do not change the reporting periods please.

Sent from my iPhone

Benjamin — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Benjamin Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Benjamin Segall, Technical Lead, Archbald PA - Don’t change what is not broken. We need the quarterly transparency. A lot can happen in a month let alone 6! We cannot fairly trade without transparency. 6 month reporting will lead to a lot of volatility.

Benjamin Adams — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Benjamin Adams Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Bad idea to revert to 1955 standards. Keep company reporting quarterly. Regular data is better for investors to gauge direction of a company.

Sent from my iPhone

Benjamin Beiser — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Benjamin Beiser Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Hello, I am just getting into investing at close to 40. Without quarterly earning statements, I will not be able to compete or have a viable chance. Please don't remove this, changing to 6 months is against public will and does not benefit Americans. Thank you.

Ben Beiser

Benjamin Clifford — Jun 18, 2026

Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Benjamin Clifford Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Let's give the companies that have proven themselves untrustworthy, more trust. Let's make it so they are able to operate with even less transparency. Quarterly reporting is the way to go, don't give the billionaires more freedom to steal from us. Benjamin, Maine, USA

Benjamin Scribner — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Benjamin Scribner Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep it Quarterly someone needs to keep an eye on them, or if they want to go semi annual then make a rule that is enforced that the Board of directors and C suite have to put up a bond of 100 million each besides the d&o insurance that is renewable yearly paid out of their own pocket and not reimbursable by anyone. These people have gotten away with to much with no consequences

Sent from my iPhone

Benjamin Shimabukuro — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Benjamin Shimabukuro Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Three months is already a long time in the age of exponential AI capabilities. Six months is an eternity.

Benjamin Tuck — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Benjamin Tuck Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is an important measure to hold companies accountable to their investors. This increases transparency and decreases fraud, this in turn lowers the cost of insurance and helps spur business. Thus, Quarterly Reporting is a pro-business and pro investor move that lowers risk and increases rewards.

---

benrmc — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Keep Quarterly Reports! From: benrmc Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Dear SEC, We saw and knew so many people affected by the Enron debacle and it was very sad to witness. People that have worked hard and saved and getting wiped out financially. Not being able to take care of themselves and their families not being able to take care of themselves in later years in the elderhood. It's what many fear and is not necessary to endure in this country, when people do the right thing and put the right protections in place for all citizens. The reports need to remain quarterly to be doing the right thing,at the right time, & to hold people accountable that need to be held accountable ! There is too much on the line, too much at stake here to be relaxing the the regulations that keep us all safe. Remember to keep the quarterly reports they are very important, thank you for your consideration. (This matters to me because I believe people of this country deserve to have their savings and fortunes protected, and there to be some oversight and accountability to people that are at the top of these large money organizations. I believe that people in this country deserve a fair deal and not getting used and run over by those that are rich and powerful. Keeping the quarterly reports in place helps enact some of that exactly)
. Ben McGowan Electrical Contractor
VillaRica , GA

Sent from AT&T Yahoo Mail on Android

---

berkeley b. stewart — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: berkeley b. stewart Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This rule change is wrong and dangerous. Do not change the rule.

B. Stewart
Arkansas

Bernadette Daniels — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Bernadette Daniels Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission: I want to be able to track my investments quarterly, at my advanced age I have to make adjustments quickly, by changing quarterly to every six months, I could be left behind when looking at how my investments are performing
B Daniels

Bernadette Trujillo — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Bernadette Trujillo Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
I oppose any rule that reduces the frequency of public company disclosures. As an ordinary citizen, homeowner, and retail investor, I believe transparency is essential to protecting the public. Less frequent reporting would make it more difficult for investors to identify patterns of risk, financial instability, litigation exposure, operational failures, and emerging problems before significant damage occurs. The SEC's proposal would allow investors to go longer periods without critical information needed to make informed decisions.

My concern is not theoretical. I am currently involved in a significant dispute with Century Complete, a publicly traded homebuilder. Since purchasing my home, I have documented extensive construction defects, drainage failures, water intrusion, flooring failures, structural concerns, inspection irregularities, warranty disputes, and ongoing regulatory complaints. I have spent months gathering evidence, obtaining independent inspections, communicating with regulators, and documenting impacts on my health and finances.

Experiences like mine demonstrate why regular public disclosures matter. Investors deserve timely information regarding litigation exposure, warranty liabilities, construction quality issues, regulatory investigations, customer complaints, remediation costs, and other material risks that could affect a company's financial condition. When disclosures become less frequent, retail investors lose visibility while corporate insiders retain greater access to developing information.

Transparency is the foundation of fair markets. Disclosure should be strengthened, not reduced. Public companies benefit from access to public capital, and in return investors deserve timely, consistent, and meaningful reporting. Reducing reporting requirements increases the risk that important information will remain hidden for longer periods, potentially harming investors, homeowners, retirees, and the public.

I urge the SEC to reject any proposal that weakens disclosure standards and instead prioritize investor protection, accountability, and transparency.

Respectfully,

Bernadette J. Trujillo
Kingman, Arizona

Bernie Fickes — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Bernie Fickes Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Those of us living on investments only don't deserve this! Turning our " golden years" into rust!

Sent from my iPhone

Beronica Sime — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Beronica Sime Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission: Transparency. Period.

---

bert461 — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: bert461 Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Do not end quarterly reporting! That is my money and I do not trust that my best interests will be looked out for. Quarterly reporting help maintain accountability! If you try to change this you have seen the power of the people in action. You do not want to be on the wrong side of it.

Sent from my Galaxy

Bertha Arce — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Bertha Arce Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Bertha D Arce, Retired Cerritos, CA.
Reporting a pathway to transparency. Please keep current reporting.

Get Outlook for iOS

Bertha Maycroft — Jun 18, 2026

Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Bertha Maycroft Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
This would hide the facts that we as citizens and investors have the right to know!!

Bertha Wachsman — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Bertha Wachsman Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep them responsible with the quarterly reports.

Bertha Wachsman
Retired Research Secretary
University of Michigan
Electrical Engineering and Computer Science Department

Bertie — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Bertie Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 QUARTERLY! KEEP THE PRESSURE TO PROTECT THE PROCESS!

Beth — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Beth Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I've worked hard my entire life and scrimped and saved for retirement. Now you want to steal my savings by going to twice a year reporting. That stinks. Don't do it. Beth M Egan , retired, Memphis TN

Beth Egan

Beth Ann Lico — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Beth Ann Lico Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Do NOT make this change-it will only lead to more fraud which ultimately costs the average—non stock holding American money-STOP the easing of regulations that only benefit the 1%
Beth Ann Lico
Personal Assistant to the UHNW
Former bank executive with Citibank and JP Morgan/Chase

Sent from my iPhone

Beth courrau — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Beth courrau Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 In today's technological world, there is no reason to decrease reporting from quarterly to twice a year. Companies have the tools to produce this data and they certainly are doing it for their own edification. The public deserves to know as well, to make informed decisions.

Beth Courrau
Sent from my iPhone

Beth Davis — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Beth Davis Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Everyone having savings invested in stocks, no matter how many or how few should have be able to see how the companies they've invested in or are considering investing in are faring quarterly. Without this, I would cash in all my and my children's stocks and do better betting the money in gambling. Either way it would be a crapshoot. I'd have more choice and awareness in the odds for what I'm gambling on.

Beth Davis

Beth Erbelding — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment . From: Beth Erbelding Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 In order to follow my investments I need to see what is happening within companies I invest in. Quarterly reports allow me to be aware of what is happening and what changes I may need to make in a timely manner. Twice a year notifications are not enough. Quarterly reports are essential Beth Erbelding retired teacher.

Sent from my iPhone

Beth Howison — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Beth Howison Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 There is absolutely no reason to not continue quarterly reports. Keep the 4 times per year reporting. Looks like they have another plan to steal money.

---

beth Mealey — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: beth Mealey Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the reporting as it always has been. 4 times a year. I'm retired and have always paid my taxes and all other bills. We are all thevsame when it comes to following the law. This is disgusting. Beth Mealey

---

Beth Michelle — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Beth Michelle Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I am against quarterly reporting. I need access to daily reports.
Beth Aragon. Retired teacher trying to maintain financial stability.
Beth Aragon

Sent from my iPhone

Beth Omalley — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Beth Omalley Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Don't end quarterly reporting. It gives investors more information and the ability to hold companies accountable. More transparency keeps companies healthy and promotes a high standard of ethics, and encourages investor engagement. All of this benefits individuals, communities and US fiscal strength.

Rev. Beth O'Malley, Pastor

Beth Shropshire-Bruno — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Beth Shropshire-Bruno Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please keep the law as is. History dictates that it is a necessary instrument to help prevent financial collapse.

Beth Slavet — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Beth Slavet Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Beth Slavet, retired lawyer/mediator. Retirement money mostly in stock market. Rely heavily thru financial advisor on quarterly reports.

Sent from my iPad

Bethany Davies — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Bethany Davies Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Your wrecking average American's way of investing and nullifying their financial gains. You asshats!!!

Sent from my iPhone

Bets Adair — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Bets Adair Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Why would the SEC reduce the accountability for corporations' executives allowing potential fraud? Especially when trust in our government is at an all time low. Some back room deal is being made to once again screw the American public. Shame on them.

Betsey Johanns — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Betsey Johanns Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We need to continue to have quarterly reporting to be responsible investors.

Betsy AINSPAC — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Betsy AINSPAC Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 As a retail investor with my retirement investments on the line, I require accurate and timely information. Changing the requirement to 6 months allows too much time for a business to be struggling and insiders to bail leaving retail investors paying the price.

Betsy
Sent from iPhone

Betsy Brinkley — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Betsy Brinkley Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I rely on quarterly reportings in making decisions on my stock and ETF actions. Who benefits from this proposed change. Certainly not individuals. By eliminating the quarterly reports investing in the stock market becomes more of a gambling effort. Knowledge is king

Betsy Brinkley

I embrace New Beginnings and make my Dreams come True

Betsy Ford — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Betsy Ford Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I'm writing in reference to S7-2026-15. As a smallish individual investor, I believe it's critical to maintain at least quarterly earnings reporting. (Monthly would be great, but I won't get greedy.) I'm retired from state government, and am fortunate to have a reliable — though not large — pension, and I've been able to accrue a nest egg that should support me for the next two or three decades (thanks, Mom and Dad, for the good genes!). But it depends on good management of that nest egg, which gets harder if I get reports only twice a year. I don't have any inside tracks to corporate activities, only the quarterly reports and whatever other news a company chooses to release. Please do not reduce the reporting requirements.

Elizabeth Ford
Retired in Columbia, SC, from SC government's SCEIS (SC Enterprise Information System).

Betsy

Betsy Hodge — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Betsy Hodge Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting should stay. This is to keep our checks and balances. Yearly balance check up is unsustainable and risky.

Betsy S — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Betsy S Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 As an investor, I strongly oppose moving to semi-annual reporting. Quarterly reporting allows investors greater visibility into a company's business practices and financial status. I support keeping the reporting at at a quarterly basis.

Elizabeth Speakmon
Retired Quality Manager, Pharmaceutical Industry

Betty Aronson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Betty Aronson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Leave things the way they are!!

Sent from my iPhone

Betty Arredondo — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Betty Arredondo Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 It is not ok to progress backwards on this. Keep the reporting as it is today.

Sent from my iPhone

Betty Bryan — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Betty Bryan Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Dear Sir: I should like to comment on the proposed SEC rule change on quarterly reporting. Democracy dies in darkness. I oppose ending quarterly reporting. Business should be accountable to investors. Six months' time is an eternity in this day of instant communication. How can effective decisions be made by investors, especially large institutional investors, if the time between reporting is doubled? Our present system has helped to stabilize our markets for many years. I oppose any move that would destabilize our markets and hide problems from regulators, Congress, and the public. Accurate and timely information is absolutely vital to good decision-making. I am an elderly widow, dependent on the funds I receive from my annuities to care for myself and my handicapped child. Please consider the needs of the many people who are like me, not just the wishes of the very wealthy who are pushing for this change. Thank you, Betty Bryan. Retired School Teacher.

BETTY DEEGAN — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: BETTY DEEGAN Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Why cut the reports? Equal rights for US citizens and you are taking them away to manipulate all the money …. It's illegal

Sent from my iPad

---

betty hiller — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: betty hiller Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Betty Hiller, Retired Government Worker we need quarterly reporting to keep watching what is happening in real time to keep corporate gains and losses in view.

---

betty jones — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: betty jones Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Why would you break the fix created to deter fraud? CEO's need to be accountable for their businesses- keep the mandated reporting quarterly!

Get Outlook for Android

Bev Runyon — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Bev Runyon Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the quarterly reporting. Do NOT change it

---

Bev Taylor — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Bev Taylor Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We, the public need protection!

Beverly James — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Beverly James Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Consistent quarterly reporting is vital for maintaining organizational integrity.

Beverly Shepherd — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Beverly Shepherd Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This is no brainer. .protect us not the insiders.
Beverly Shepherd
Retired

Beverly Ward — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Beverly Ward Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the quarterly review in place! Why would the SEC want to destroy this important financial check and balance of the stock market? And who does it benefit most? I am sure most of us know the answer here!! KEEP THE QUARTERLY REVIEW IN PLACE!! Perhaps even a change to a monthly review would be more appropriate and beneficial to most of us Americans!!

Bill Blankemeier — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Bill Blankemeier Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting keeps things more transparent. There's no reason to delay it for 6 months other than to hope people are distracted.Or forget

---

Bill Diamond — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Bill Diamond Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 As a retiree, I study the quarterly reports from my investments. In particular, I pay attention to burn rates, changes in customer loyalty, and employee churn. All of these, along with the forward looking statements are crucial to understanding whether to hold or sell an investment.

This isn't a hobby. This is my source of income in retirement and as pressure on reducing social security benefits increases, the consequences to the retired can mean poverty.

Transparency is the essential hallmark of economic behavior of the government and corporations. We place our retirement in the hands of people who can enact egregiously stupid practices thar we may not know about for six months until we discover they've invested their operating funds in offshore crypto and lost it.

This isn't market transparency or protecting shareholders value. This is the opposite and will result in many investors leaving the markets in search of safer instruments. This will deprive companies of cash to expand and will almost certainly trigger a round of bankruptcies.

Stop being stupid. The correct path is increased transparency, not reduced. Stop eroding shareholder value in favor of large hedge funds.

Bill Hall — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Bill Hall Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting provides greater visibility for investors to make informed decisions on investments. It also provides greater transparency in corporate finance.
Do not change the requirement to report quarterly.

William Hall
Retired
Fairhope, AL

Bill Michaels — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Bill Michaels Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quit being foolish and protect the PEOPLE !!!!!!! Your buddies can go to jail just like the rest of us for screwing up and scamming the country.

Bill Michaels

Sent from my iPhone

Bill Schultz — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Bill Schultz Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My name is William R. Schultz, a retired career educator. This is important to me as I've invested a great deal in my pension as well as other saving and retirement vehicles so keeping reports quarterly enhances transparency and accountability and helps everyone better track results. To eliminate this requirement, smells of corporations and large financial entities pulling the puppet strings making it even more difficult for average working folks to better see what is going on with their investment portfolio! Do the right thing for people by keeping quarterly reports mandatory!!

Bill Schultz 9-12 Business Education
PEM High School
CONFIDENTIALITY NOTICE: This E-mail transmission may contain confidential or legally privileged information intended for the individual or entity named in the E-mail address. Use of enclosed information by any intended recipient is limited to the purpose for which information was sent. Unauthorized use, disclosure, or copying is strictly prohibited. If you receive this E-mail transmission in error, please reply to the sender and delete the message. Thank you.

Bill Seely — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Bill Seely Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 One of the reasons investors from all over the world put their money into US stocks is the relatively strict reporting requirements they are subjected to. While I understand the corporations' desire to avoid costs and scrutiny, I sympathize more with the investors who are already trusting mere paper snapshots to tell them what is happening with their money. Investor knowledge is already tenuous and info is carefully selected to reflect well on management. Six months is far too long to go without fresh reporting. If anything, more stringent reporting should be required (perhaps not more frequent, but stricter) to eliminate "creative accounting".

---

bill spooner — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: bill spooner Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 The reporting requirements cannot be changed and must remain as they currently are or made even more frequent. The potential of lowering the valuations and returns of the stocks held by millions of citizens would impoverish the nation.

Regards,

William A. Spooner

Bill Surratt — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Bill Surratt Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I vote no

Sent from my iPhone

Bill Tanner — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Bill Tanner 1. Timely Data for Smarter Decisions A lot can happen in six months. Quarterly reporting gives investors, management, and stakeholders a look at the data every 90 days instead of every 180 days. Spotting Trends: It allows leadership to catch negative trends (like dipping margins or rising costs) early enough to pivot before half the year is wasted. Agility: In fast-moving industries like tech or retail, market conditions shift rapidly. Quarterly updates ensure that external investors aren't operating on stale information. 2. Better Alignment with the Operational Calendar Most businesses naturally budget, set targets, and review performance by the quarter (Q1, Q2, Q3, Q4). Reporting financials on this same cadence means the external narrative matches internal operations perfectly. It aligns cleanly with standard corporate cycles, such as quarterly board meetings and executive bonus structures tied to quarterly goals. 3. Increased Market Visibility and Liquidity For publicly traded or venture-backed companies, staying top-of-mind is crucial. Constant Communication: Quarterly reports keep the company in the financial news cycle four times a year. This regular drumbeat maintains investor interest. Higher Liquidity: More frequent, predictable data releases reduce uncertainty. When investors feel informed, they are generally more willing to buy and sell the company's stock, which can stabilize or boost the stock's liquidity. 4. Reduced Information Asymmetry Information asymmetry happens when corporate insiders know a lot more about a company's health than external investors. Shorter reporting intervals bridge this gap. Because updates are frequent, there is less room for massive, unexpected surprises that can cause a company's stock price to crash overnight. 5.) It reduces potential for delayed fraud discovery

---

Billie Rodgers — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Billie Rodgers Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 The SEC should be transparent. Quarterly reports should ensure that there is honesty in reporting.
Billie Rodgers
Retired Teacher

Billy Harris — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Billy Harris Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This information available at all times and up to date is necessary to invest wisely!
Bill Harris
Retired

Get Outlook for iOS

BJ — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: BJ Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I believe that quarterly reporting is instrumental in transparency and essential to proper investments.

Sent from my iPad

BJ Cullen — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: BJ Cullen Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the report quarterly

---

Blair Watton — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Blair Watton Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 The stock market would fail. Everyone would pull out. That is the only way the people could speak!

Sent from my iPhone

Blake Hess — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Blake Hess Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
My research shows that less reporting doesn't increase free trade. Other markets like the EU didn't show more companies entering the public sector. My research also shows that the problem is not enough capitalism in the audit sector. A few companies rule the industry responsible for auditing and certification of public companies. How ironic that free enterprise doesn't have free enterprise in the sector charged with verifying they follow the rules. The SEC & congress should revisit the rules for monopolies and polyopolies. Don't weaken public disclosure, make compliance cheaper.

BLYTHE DOANE — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: BLYTHE DOANE Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Ridiculous to stop quarterly reporting

Sent from my iPad

BNC Newsletter — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: BNC Newsletter Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We need quarterly reporting to keep corporations honest.

Bob Anderson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Bob Anderson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I'm a retired retail investor who relies on quarterly reports on companies that I invest in for my retirement portfolio. Allowing listed companies to hide financial discrepancies for more than a fiscal quarter puts my financial stability at risk. Bob Anderson Delaware

Bob Caruso — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Bob Caruso Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I use the reports to review my investments.

Sent from my iPhone

Bob Clyburn Retired IT Professional — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Bob Clyburn I rely on quarterly reporting to know how my investments are doing currently, and to look back over a year or two (I save my stmts) to see how my investment portfolio is performing. Please do NOT increase the window to 6 months. Companies need to be compelled to report quarterly, as they already do. Basically, I support retaining quarterly financial reporting requirements. Quarterly reports provide timely transparency, improve investor protection, promote efficient markets, and increase management accountability. Reducing reporting frequency to every six months would leave investors with less current information and could increase uncertainty and market volatility.

Bob Fitzgibbons — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Bob Fitzgibbons Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Robert Fitzgibbons, Retired. We deserve to have honest, timely reporting to manage our funds.

Bob

Bob JustBob — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Bob JustBob Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I believe in quarterly reporting for my investments. Giving an advantage to business would be unfair and inhibit my ability to manage my lifetime investments. Robert Griffin IT Network Administrator, retired Bothell , WA

Bob Reese — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Bob Reese Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 In an increasingly opaque and oligarchic world this rule would contribute to the continued catastrophic transfer of wealth from the American people to a relative handful of families. Do not do it.

Written on my cell phone.

Bob Riley — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Bob Riley Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 The corruption keeps on growing in the US ! Now the politicians are going to be able to keep flip flop stocks legally and morally... Stop the cycle before it starts! Keep quartly reporting!

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Bob Rohrberg — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Bob Rohrberg Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 DO NOT LET UP ON THESE THIEVES.. MAKE THEM ACCOUNTABLE ALL YEAR..MAYBE EVEN 4 TIMES ISN'T ENOUGH.....

Bob Smith — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Bob Smith Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Take and leave everything the way it is.

Bob Stork — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Bob Stork Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Taking away reporting creates massive opportunities for more insider trades that already happen. This is a policy that hurts non-insider traders than helps companies listed on the exchange.

---

bobbi fox — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: bobbi fox Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Bobbi Fox … DO NOT CHANGE REPORTING TO EVERY 6 months ! Keeping track of our $$$ and investments is most important ! KEEP IT AT QUARTERLY REPORTING !

Bobbi

Bobbi Murphy — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Bobbi Murphy Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission: investing is challenging enough so reducing the reporting to twice a year puts the investor at a disadvantage

---

bobbie keeney — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: bobbie keeney Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 They need to keep report quarterly. To much fraud in our country and personal lives every day as it is. If they are honest they won't care. Roberta Keeney shift manager

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Bonita Hobbs — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Bonita Hobbs Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 BACK IN THE GOOD' OLD' MOSTLY' SENSIBLE' 1990'S' AN ACTOR IN A MOVIE TRAILER SAID, "AMERICA NEEDS AN ENEMA"❗❗❗Now, does it need to just get a 24-7 -365 colon cleansing ? said as well as possible.

Bonjon9 — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Bonjon9 Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the quarterly reporting. It's already in place - there's no additional cost to continue that and it's quite important for investors. You must do all you can to keep people & companies honest.
Bonnie Johnson, retired, North Carolina

Bonnie — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Bonnie Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Bonita J Burt, retired. Perhaps people will pull all of their investment out. This is investors right to have quarterly reports. This gov't needs reining in NOW!

Sent from my iPhone

Bonnie — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Bonnie Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is the minimal requirement. I'd like to see monthly.

Bonnie Yantis
jarbidger@gmail.com

Bonnie Grantham — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Bonnie Grantham Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My name is Bonnie Grantham, and I worked my whole life starting in the University Library in college. Immediately upon graduation, I taught English in public schools. Following that I earned a Master of Divinity degree and spent the rest of my career as a chaplain in hospitals. I have always saved money in Social Security and saved the maximum amount in retirement funds available to me. Now at 85 years old, I have been able to live a decent modest retirement life. During my whole life, I have observed that big corporations and CEOs are accountable only to the extent that our government legally requires. I and all American citizens have supported the organizations where they have labored and the government through our tax structure. I want those who run companies to be accountable for the way they manage my savings just as I am held accountable for my labor. You know what is right and fair, please do it for me and the rest of your constituents whose labor has made CEO and government officials's jobs possible. Thank you for your attention to my comment and needs.

Sent from my iPhone

Bonnie Greenwalt — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Bonnie Greenwalt Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I support keeping quarterly reporting
Bonnie C. Greenwalt, Realtor in Virginia, because it works

Bonnie Keuhne — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Bonnie Keuhne Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please do not do away with quarterly reporting! This will be a disaster for our economy and our country!

Get Outlook for iOS

Bonnie Knoll — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Bonnie Knoll Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 As a recent senior citizen, you are robbing me of the last few years I have. That money I put away was to see the World a little. Now, what will be left will barely feed myself and husband. We don't not have the luxury of millions, like the sorts of you.
Bonnie Knoll
Recently Retired

Sent from my iPad

Bonnie Muren — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Bonnie Muren Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Why would you change a system that is working so well at increasing returns? Leave it as is!

Bonnie Redd — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Bonnie Redd Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 How can we make informed decisions about our stocks etc., if we don't get quarterly updates. We need to keep companies reporting quarterly.

Thanks, Bonnie Redd
707-290-3908
bonnielredd@yahoo.com

Sent from my iPhone

Bonnie Reese — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Bonnie Reese Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Another scam on the public via Trump and his criminal cohorts you can not live forever with all the evil intent you are making on the working people of our country money will not save your soul!!!

Sent from my iPhone

Bonnie Smith — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Bonnie Smith Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Bonnie Smith, Business Owner. Less accountability is the last thing we need right now. It’s already too easy to steal from common investors. Let’s not install a fox in this henhouse as well.

Bonnie

Bonny Wagoner — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Bonny Wagoner Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I'm a small business owner. Twice a year reporting would not be an accurate tool for what's coming. Thanks to modern technology, it's never been easier to have information at the tip of our fingertips. Use it, share it, and save quarterly reporting.

BorderT. Joy — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: BorderT. Joy Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 The quarterly reporting is important to me as a self-employed artist because I need to stay on top of investments in my IRA. The people of a Democracy should not be kept in the dark when it comes to corporate reporting. The policies of the current administration are removing all kinds of protections and safeguards that were necessary to keep our economy and culture stable and thriving. Now, more than ever we are being forced to be less trusting of our own government and more reliant on accurate information that we can use to make our own decisions.
Teresa Baksa, artist in MA

Boss Moff — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Boss Moff Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Seth Moffatt, Bookkeeper, quarterly reporting is extremely important. It help holds boards accountable as well maintaining transparency.

Sent from my iPhone

Brad Allen — Jun 18, 2026

Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Brad Allen Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Charles Allen Consultant
Minooka, Illinois

I like getting results quarterly and I hope that remains.

Sent from my iPhone

Brad Harris — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Brad Harris Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission: I'm a retail investor and I rely on quarterly reports to make decisions about my investments and retirement savings.
No need to invite more chaos.

Brad Helfer — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Brad Helfer Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 The current level of oversight should be maintained to protect investors.

Brad Holt — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Brad Holt Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Dear [Relevant Authority/ Stakeholder],

I am writing to you today as Bradford Holt, a retired Police Captain from Oklahoma City, to convey my profound apprehension regarding the proposed modification to the existing quarterly financial reporting mandates.

My years of public service have instilled in me a deep understanding of the necessity for transparency and accountability in all sectors. From this perspective, the assertion that rigorous financial disclosure poses an excessive burden for publicly traded entities strikes me as deeply concerning. Quarterly reporting is not merely a bureaucratic formality; it stands as a cornerstone of sound corporate governance, vital for fostering investor confidence and ensuring the integrity of our financial markets. It represents a fundamental commitment to providing stakeholders with timely and accurate insights into an organization's health.

Any initiative to reduce the frequency of these disclosures, often framed under the guise of alleviating corporate 'burden,' appears to fundamentally misinterpret its critical importance. Such a change risks being perceived as a step toward diminishing accountability, potentially prioritizing corporate convenience over the public's inherent right to comprehensive and current financial information.

We must not forget the lessons etched into our collective memory from periods when oversight was less stringent. History unequivocally demonstrates that lax reporting standards can pave the way for financial malfeasance, resulting in devastating losses for investors and widespread instability that reverberates through the global economy. To incrementally erode the very mechanisms designed to prevent such calamities would, in my estimation, be an ill-advised regression.

Therefore, I earnestly urge you to preserve the current, robust framework of quarterly reporting. Upholding these standards is absolutely critical for maintaining investor trust, safeguarding market stability, and ultimately protecting the financial interests of millions of ordinary citizens. It is through unwavering commitment to transparency that we can ensure corporations remain fully accountable, thereby securing a more stable and equitable economic future for all.

Thank you for your careful consideration of these vital concerns.

Brad Peterson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Brad Peterson I am against the proposed rule change regarding the reduction of public earnings reports to be made by the companies. I am very skeptical that the theoretical benefits of doing so would be achieved but very confident that retail investors like myself will be disadvantaged by reducing the frequency in which information is provided to the public. It's hard to make sound investment decisions as it is and reducing the reporting requirements would make it even harder.

Brad VanBrimmer — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Brad VanBrimmer Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Brad VanBrimmer, Pediatric Clinical Pharmacist
We need full transparency to see how our money is being handled. The big companies already have too much power over us. You are our only source of protection.

Sent from my iPhone

Bradley — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Bradley Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 The fraud around the country being reported is astounding and yet you want to loosen the rules for what benefit for the people? I thought we got rid of the rif raff of the last administration. We need better and more accurate information not less.

Sent from my iPhone

Brandi Tallent — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Brandi Tallent Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Being aware of my investments on a regular basis is essential for my long term financial planning. Frequent reports and disclosure ensures this is a continuous factor.

Brandi Tallent
Client Records
Tx DHHS SSLC

Brandon Hall — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Brandon Hall Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep quartelry reporting! Stop rich folks stealing from the rest of Us

Brandt Bechtold — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Brandt Bechtold Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Yes quarterly reporting of public companies is the only way to maintain transparency of companies financial health. What should be eliminated is insider trading by public officials. Brandt Bechtold Locomotive Engineer.

Sent from my iPhone

Brandyn Ortiz — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Brandyn Ortiz Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I want to know progress at every opportunity—the sooner, the better.

I hope I'm understanding this correctly.

Thank you, Emily M.

Brandyn Ortiz — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Brandyn Ortiz Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I want to know progress at every opportunity—the sooner, the better.

I hope I'm understanding this correctly.

Thank you, Emily M.

"As a childhood cancer nonprofit, we rely on transparent and timely quarterly reporting to help assess the trajectory, stability, and scientific progress of biopharma companies developing promising therapies or contributing to the development of treatment.

Without this information, we would have misplaced donations, and wasted time that kids with cancer don't have.

There's more than just money on the line."
EMILY M.
Co-founder of a pediatric cancer non-profit

Brenda Adams — Jun 18, 2026

Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Brenda Adams Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Leave it quarterly please !

Brenda Allison-Walton — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Brenda Allison-Walton Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Cutting back to only 2x/yr is ABSURD! Are you TRYING to promote FRAUD. We've been there before and we know what happened. History WILL repeat itself if given the opportunity. Billionaire corporations are more corrupt TODAY than ever before. And you want to 'loosen' the reins? Are you DAFT??? If you reduce the requirement to 2x/yr, it can ONLY be because you are being pressured (bribed, paid, etc.) from these same billionaire corporations who CLEARLY have ulterior motives. Gosh, what COULD those ulterior motives be????? The lies, deceit and corruption in Washington is OUT OF CONTROL!!! How about if you pull away from the pack and set yourself apart, by standing up for the 'common man' instead of the billion/millionaires, for a change. Make a name for YOURSELF that WON'T keep you awake at night, possibly in prison.....

Brenda Black — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Brenda Black Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 _Corruption already abounds; don’t give them an edge.
_Quarterly has worked fine all this time; what’s the urgency?… stay transparent.
_Insider trading isn’t legal as it is; that’s OUR money… they shouldn’t profit more than we do.

Sent from my iPhone

Brenda Cox Finance — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Brenda Cox Similar to bank financing, they need to show financials quarterly. We had numerous situations as a lender where the quarterly reporting saved us from a much worse outcome than if it had been semi-annual. People should have the same access to the companies in which they are invested. These investments will be their livelihood someday and for many, that means now. Please do not take away this tool from average families trying to do the right thing.

Brenda Daniel — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Brenda Daniel Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep it QUARTERLY! Financial records can have omissions, transcriptions, duplicate entries etc. Errors can be difficult to locate and correct in quarterly reports. Every six months- extremely time consuming alone with researching/correcting the facts.
Brenda Daniel
Retired Office Manager

My phone

Brenda Fergen — Jun 18, 2026

Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Brenda Fergen Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We already have enough incorruption in this country. We don't need big business to commit even more crime. Do not minimize this law. Hold the CEOs of big businesses accountable.

Get Outlook for Android

Brenda Kessell — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Brenda Kessell Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Quarterly statements are crucial in. Determining when & where to shift my financual assetts to better grow & maintain a orioer balance. There was a valid reason ghat quarterly statements were mandated & that reason still exists. We keep better tabs in thise to whom we entrust our assets.

Brenda Lindfors — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Brenda Lindfors The SEC has proposed allowing public companies to abandon quarterly reporting in favor of semiannual disclosures. I think this is wrong. As an investor, I want to receive quarterly reports in order to gauge how the companies I am investing in, and considering investing in, are doing. I want the level of financial accountability and transparency that currently exists to continue. Moving to semiannual reporting would be a step backwards and I am writing to express my opposition to that. Thanks, Brenda

---

Brenda ORourke — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Brenda ORourke Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarter reporting!!!

Brent Brickett — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Brent Brickett Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly is the way for companies to produce their figures. Going to half year is way too long to see how a company is performing!

Sent from my iPhone

Brent Racheau — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Brent Racheau Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keeping quarterly reporting. It seems that everyone is against me from retiring.

Sent from my iPhone

---

bret winkler — Jun 18, 2026

Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: bret winkler Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 we must keep transparency available for all. reducing the reporting to 2 times per year creates a swamp of privilege for insider trading. we must keep the information available for all. The books are maintained, so no extra effort is required to keep information viewable, and to reduce the reporting frequency is a dereliction of our duties of oversight and fair markets.

---

bret winkler — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: bret winkler Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 we must keep transparency available for all. reducing the reporting to 2 times per year, creates a swamp of privledge for insider trading. we must keep the information availble for all. The books are maintained, so no extra effort is required to keep information viewable, and to reduce the reporting frequency is a dereliction of our duties of oversight and fair markets.
bret winkler
5834 SE tenino st.
portland, OR 97206

Brett Cherrington — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Brett Cherrington Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Brett A Cherrington - retired.

I believe that evaluation of securities requires a knowledge of recent conditions. Quarterly seems to be a compromise that has worked for quite a while. A change in the direction away from clarity seems to have only negative effects for all but those looking to hide information.

Keep it Quarterly.

Brett A Cherrington
Hillsborough, NH
brettacherrington@gmail.com

Brett Houser — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Brett Houser Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Extending quarterly reporting to semiannually appears to give institutional investors an even larger advantage when making investment decisions then they already have when compared to retail investors. This feels like another money grab for the ultra rich and will result in furthering the elimination of the middle class. I think it’s a bad move for our country.
Brett Houser

Sent from my iPhone

Brian and Vivian — Jun 18, 2026

Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Brian and Vivian Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 More transparency vs. less!

Sent from my iPhone

Brian Bauer — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Brian Bauer Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My name is Brian Bauer IT Director
I do not want to be in the dark companies need to continue reporting like normal so they can be held accountable

---

Brian Bradshaw — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Brian Bradshaw Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 For the little man it is hard getting data now and this change will make it harder on us.

Sent from my Galaxy

Brian Connolly — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Brian Connolly As a retail investor, less information is not a good thing. Institutional investors already have a large advantage and this change would make things worse. I worked for a small US company listed on NASDAQ in the finance department for close to a decade. I can say my opinion with 100% certainty that quarterly reporting requirements kept the management more accountable. Bad actors will utilize LESS information to get away with poor performance. These 10Qs and corresponding investor calls keep all companies honest. There are better ways to reduce short term thinking. For example, rules relating to executive compensation, can focus on rolling timeframes where it is much harder to manipulate short term results to get stock comp awards.

Brian Dresser — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Brian Dresser Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the law of quarterly reporting. Quit try to make it easier for companies to hide information and screw the consumers/investors.

Sent from my Galaxy

Brian Fowler — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Brian Fowler Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is fiscally responsible. No surprises no excuses. Shareholders should have a right to know what is happening on a quarter by quarter basis. This is meaningful data that we have a right to expect.

Sent from my iPhone

---

brian haegele — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: brian haegele Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 It's vital that quarterly reporting is keep for the safety of investors! Do not roll back the reporting requirements.

Brian Heath — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Brian Heath Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I t cuts down on my return ! I am trying to make a few dollars in the market so I can afford to live in this country! Don’t make much.

Get Outlook for iOSBrian Heath
161 Robanna Cir.
Ohatchee, Al. 36271

BRIAN HOWARD — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: BRIAN HOWARD Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 It has to remain quarterly and not revert back to the semi 1955 method.
Allows for quicker reaction times for companies and provides investors a better pulse on their investments.

Respectfully,
Brian Howard

Sent from my iPhone

Brian Masters — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Brian Masters Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Brian Masters from Norman, Oklahoma. Truck Driver. I love history, and have read and watched many shows about financial ruin. There is a reason we have so many regulations now. Wall Street was the wild Wild West before the SEC. Even with the SEC, we still had the sub prime mortgage loan disaster. There is still tons of insider trading going on as well. Do not roll back regulations to make it even easier for big corporations to steal our money more than they already do.

Thank you

Brian Masters

---

brian murphy — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: brian murphy Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly accounting is safer for investors, and helps inform investors of the health of the corporation that is supposed to have some fiduciary responsibility to its investors. To make a half year report can only make timely necessary reports harder to get. Corporations have had audits or quarterly reports since the 30s, and in this day and time, information is easier to compile for these reports. KEEP IT QUARTERLY.

Brian P. Murphy
(513)479-4321

Brian Simpson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Brian Simpson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I think it should be opened every day so we the people can know exactly what they are doing

---

Brianna Jaime — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Brianna Jaime Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission: I work in the financial industry and I'm tired of millionaires and billionaires getting these loopholes to avoid consequences/accountability while the grandpa/grandma who worked their entire life gets no breaks.

Bridget Cassidy (bridgetc) — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Bridget Cassidy (bridgetc) Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is essential to doing business honestly and with integrity. I am vehemently against any change. Quarterly reporting must remain

Bridget
Sent from my iPhone

Bridgett Kurtz — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Bridgett Kurtz Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Transparency is vital in a democracy, and our democracy is in jeopardy. Protecting transparency = protecting democracy.

Bridgett Kurtz, Retired Teacher

Sent from my iPhone

Brigid Conway — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Brigid Conway Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 There is not a good reason to stop reporting quarterly, NONE. Keep it as it has been to protect our information on investments.

Brigid OBrien — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Brigid OBrien Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Not on my behalf!

Brigid Trovato — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Brigid Trovato Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 No hiding! Keep it Quartly!

Sent from my iPhone

Brigitte James — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Brigitte James Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting helps me as an investor to better manage my portfolio. Quarterly reports keep companies honest. It also gives them a glimpse into the efficacy of their business plans. Removing such knowledge in general is detrimental to the overall economy

Sent from my iPhone

Briony Grindlinger — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Briony Grindlinger Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Stop trying to grift! We don't appreciate your dishonesty and thieving

Sent from my iPad

Brittney Parker — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Brittney Parker Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:

We live in a world that lacks so much transparency at the top. The whole entire point of quartely reporting is accountablilty. Gaps in reporting are grey areas to hide things. How much more of a mess do our financial institutions need to be in for corpos to wake up? How much more do we need to give away while getting as little back in return as possible? This seems like the beginning stages of a data lockout for regular people like myself. We are the capital, we are the market. Why should we not have a say in access to crucial data that shapes the financial destiny of ourselves and others?

I completely disagree with this proposal. Frankly, I'm disappointed in the direction this country is heading. And the greed, oh the greed seeps down and further, but never the abundance is shared. You want a way to hide, I want a way to see. Why are the voices of the regular everyday blue collar person like me worth so little? Have we not learned from our past. This is a financial disaster waiting to happen. Mark my words, if these changes begin to trend, it will open the door to so much more deception and market instability. Do better.

Brittney Rust — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Brittney Rust Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission: I believe in transparency for the investor, no matter how little the amount is. We need information just like these companies want ours.

Brockton Cultural Council — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Brockton Cultural Council Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I'm Virginia Mahoney, Artist and retired art teacher.

This is very important to me. They say this change in reporting will lower returns on savings. Fixed income, savings are all I have, and I can't afford to get lower returns. Please think of us who are on the middle to lower end of the income spectrum when you decide these things! This is VERY important to millions of Americans who are already struggling with higher prices and see their savings dwindling faster than they had hoped. Think of the AVERAGE American when you make your decisions. Thank you for your consideration.

Virginia Mahoney

Bronwyn Hinton — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Bronwyn Hinton Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
The economy needs regulations and oversight, a working congress, and frequent accountability to stabilize "we the people"

Brooke stout — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Brooke stout Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Brooke Stout, teacher and stay at home mom. Quarterly reports are essential for managing investment and retirement funds properly. Our family is relying heavily on those accounts for post retirement income. Please leave quarterly reports!

Sent from my iPhone

Brooks Holloway — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Brooks Holloway Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This is a step back and hurts consumers while benefiting companies. The inability to react to market changes will adversely affect consumers who rely on reporting to make imperative decisions regarding their personal finances and this decision could set up a situation where the American people stand to lose their livelihood. I can see absolutely no benefit to the change there is beneficial to an investor, only to the companies and the SEC itself. Please do not make this decision.

Borks Holloway

Sent from my iPhone

Bruce Butcher — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Bruce Butcher Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reports are very important in tracking our investments. We are trusting the SEC to make our investments in this country as safe as is possible don't let us down.

Bruce Searl — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Bruce Searl Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Don't do this. Small investors are already at many disadvantage compared to larger ones. Hurt them and you are directly hurting nearly every American investor

---

Bruce Siegel — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Bruce Siegel Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Bruce from NC here. If the SEC thinks corporations have learned their lessons since 1955, they are greatly mistaken. Quarterly reporting, while not perfect, still ensures a measure of accountability. Do not change the reporting from quarterly to semi-annual. Thank you.

Bruce Uber — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Bruce Uber Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I'm retired this would delete a lot from my IRA.

Bryan Anderson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Bryan Anderson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This seems like a very poor choice. Reducing transparency and oversight have never historically been beneficial to the common good. It is the SEC's purpose to be the watchdog over the stock market, and this proposal seems directly counter to that purpose. Please do not allow this change to pass.
Regards, Bryan Anderson.

Bryan Lowder — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Bryan Lowder Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My name is Bryan Lowder. I'm a sales person at a famous firm. Quarterly reports allow everyone-- including the company-- to evaluate where a company stands. This allows for valuable changes in asset management.

---

bryan.s.hunter — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: bryan.s.hunter Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To Whom It May Concern,
My name is Bryan Hunter and I am an individual investor and pension holder. Quarterly financial reporting is an important facet of transparency that informs critical decision making. There doesn't seem to be any good reason to change this rule, and at a time when there is so much perceived corruption and inside self-dealing is apparent, will only further disadvantage hard working Americans, while simultaneously create additional suspicion and disillusionment.

Thank you.

Brydie Huckestein — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Brydie Huckestein Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I don’t understand how this rule benefits any human being, only corporate interests. We need quarterly reporting, taking this away would be a slap in the face to every struggling American. You should all be ashamed of your selves for even considering this. The SEC was built to ensure that financial markets operate fairly and transparently. Please tell me how this new rule would do either.

Signed,
Every frustrated American

Buff Gibbons — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Buff Gibbons Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 If nothing is wrong. .,why try to fix it?

"Never doubt that a small group of thoughtful, committed citizens can change the world; indeed, it's the only thing that ever has."
— Margaret Mead

Burdick Translations — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Burdick Translations Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I'm self-employed, and I'm investing for my retirement. I need to know how companies are doing quarterly so I can make good decisions for my future.

I can't afford to make mistakes. I need as much information as possible.
Best regards,
Marsha

---

busylizards — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: busylizards Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My name is Elizabeth Slokar and I'm an office manager working in Colorado. Before this I ran my own small business for 15 years so I understand a bit about reporting and why it is necessary, even if it seems burdensome. I am appalled that you would allow major corporations to return to quarterly reporting. Investing my meager but hard earned money into companies that already retain consultants and lawyers to maneuver around existing laws meant to protect investors is hard enough, but quarterly reports is just going to make transparency and accountability even harder. You should not even consider rolling this country back to 1955 rules, for many, many reasons, foremost of which is that money doesn't work the same way it did then and corporations are much less trustworthy. You are meant to protect investors and ensure that financial markets operate fairly and transparently. Taking the modern day investment market back to the quarterly reporting rule is not in line with those responsibilites. To do so would be shirking your responsibility at best, or, at worst, maliciously working against the public trust. I strongly urge you to retain the reporting requirements as they are.

Sincerely,

Elizabeth Slokar

Byron G — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Byron G Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Byron Glunz, San Antonio, TX. My investments would be negatively affected if reporting is changed from quarterly. I'm retired, so this is important to me as well it would be for someone planning for retirement whether 10 or 50 years into the future. Knowledge is king.

Sent via the Samsung Galaxy Z Flip5, an AT&T 5G smartphone
Get Outlook for Android

---

c atkinson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: c atkinson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This feels like one more stab in the back to the average citizen investor. And one more self agrandizement of the wealthiest among us.

Please reconsider and maintain quarterly reporting by corporations.

C Baddeley — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: C Baddeley Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is an essential tool for transparency. As an individual investor, it is a necessity. Please keep it in place!

Chris Baddeley
612.834.0276

C Fuziol — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: C Fuziol Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Carole Fuziol, National Board Certified Teacher, (Retired)
As a retiree I depend on my stock market investments which I track regularly, to help fund my retirement. I need to know how the market evolves to know how much I can spend and plan taxes. Please: Do not change the quarterly reporting. That gives the strong impression that you want to hide valuable information from stockholders, rather than to keep our trust.
Sincerely,
C Fuziol

C Fuziol — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: C Fuziol Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Carole Fuziol, National Board Certified Teacher, (Retired)
As a retiree I depend on my stock market investments which I track regularly, to fund my retirement. I need to know how the market evolves to know how much I can spend. Do not change the quarterly reporting. It gives the string impression you want your hide valuable information from stockholders.

---

c l schrage — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: c l schrage Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I am against this proposal.

C P — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: C P Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Carin Parella
Retired, former Visa Inc VP
Chatham, NJ

Please keep reporting as is. I just had this same conversation with my financial advisor. More reporting, more transparency means the ability to respond in an informed, effective way.

C Williams — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: C Williams Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Colleen Patricia Williams, MA LBA BCBA
Keep the reporting as it is. The only change should be more reporting, not less.

Get Outlook for Android

C. Q. Speck — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: C. Q. Speck Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep in quarterly.!

C.L. Seitler — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: C.L. Seitler Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Moving to a six-month reporting timeline helps businesses. That's good for them, but it simultaneously creates a situation which places regular people at a disadvantage. Small investors will be harmed, it's just a matter of time and by how much.

Keep corporate reporting a quarterly requirement, at the very least for publicly traded companies.

Mr. Christopher L. Seitler
CLSeitler@gmail.com

C.M. Muhar — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: C.M. Muhar Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is paramount to corporate accountability, and investors' protection. Corporations have too much power! They do not need more power, at investors' expense.

Sent from my iPhone

Calvin Lenz Calvin Lenz — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Calvin Lenz Calvin Lenz Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:

In order for the stock market to work for the public (the supposed target of a publicly traded company) the companies need to make public the vital information for investors. This is obvious, and changing these rules could only be motivated by corruption and/or greed.

Calvin Nichols — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Calvin Nichols Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Yes quarterly. Keep it.

Camille Cormier — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Camille Cormier Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We must have quarterly reporting to hold corporations in check.

Candi Rosen — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Candi Rosen Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly.
After Enron protections were put in place. I believe the CEO has to sign it personally. Don't remove that protection.

Sent from my iPhone

---

candice rosenblatt — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: candice rosenblatt Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Retired american citizen here saying keep the reporting quarterly, so us folks can keep tabs on our life savings

---

Careese Mayer — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Careese Mayer Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Follow the current Law! Quarterly!!!!

Careese Mayer
C: 203-898-2539
Careese.Mayer@gmail.com

Carin Lamontagne — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Carin Lamontagne Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 As a former retail manager, I know all too well the danger of a lack of transparency. Please keep the quarterly reporting requirement! We clearly cannot trust corporations yo oversee themselves.

Thank you,
Carin Lamontagne

Carl Olson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Carl Olson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the quarterly reporting system intact.

Sincerely,

Carl Olson
Retired Teacher

Carla Barnett — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Carla Barnett Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 No more fraud for the little people, Carla Barnett retired

---

carla calcagno — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: carla calcagno Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Stop the robbery and insider trading . Corruption at its height. These companies already are well staffed to do quarterly reports.

Sent from my iPhone

Carla Kay — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Carla Kay Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Transparency is key. Corporations have already proved they can't be trusted to keep the welfare of mankind in the forefront of their decisions.peiple over power and profit.

Respect,
Carla Kay
Electrical Engineer
Skunk Pharm Research
Specialized Formulations
503 775-5003 ll
503 421-1403 cell

Carla Koster — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Carla Koster Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Carla Koster, Realtor, United States. Keeping it quarterly keeps the accountability more fair and honest. Why should it be easier for the investors to not have a continuum?

Carla McClain — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Carla McClain Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My name is Carla McClain, I have worked my entire life in the retail business in management and support. I have denied myself many experiences and possessions in order to save and invest in the stock market. Now that I am semi retired I cannot afford to take a chance on losing any money. Can You? Please leave the quarterly reporting in place as it is now. Thank You for your consideration.

Carly Gutierrez — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Carly Gutierrez Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Removing quarterly disclosures will be detrimental to investors. We rely on the quarterly reports to help understand the market and where to invest. This is not acceptable.
Please reconsider this decision.

Carmen Dannenbring — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Carmen Dannenbring Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Corporate regulation should be quarterly to protect investors

Sent from my iPhone

Carmen Paredes — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Rule S7-2026-15 - keep it quarterly From: Carmen Paredes Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission,

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposal to change company disclosure requirements from quarterly to every six months.

I believe it is essential to maintain quarterly reporting. Furthermore, I advocate for increased checks and balances within the reporting process rather than a reduction in frequency or oversight.

Sincerely,

Carmen "Paty" Saenz - Paredes, MA, IA, BBA, FE.

4031 Kilmartin Drive
Tallahassee, Fl 32309
(786) 556-0240 cell
cpsparedes@gmail.com

Carol — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Carol Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 From Lydia Kemling - Retired Michigan resident.

Attention SEC,

Why does the current system of every 3 month accountability need to change? I want to see what my investments are doing and make sure there is quarterly check-ins and oversight. A 6 month twice a year required reporting seems like a big gap where a lot of mistakes and shady deals can go unnoticed. KEEP THE REPORTING QUARTLY! It's not just Big Money out there. It's my money too! If it has been working for all these many years I see no valid reason to change it. As a Taxpayer and investor I DO NOT want the requirements lessened. The SEC is supposed to work for ALL investors, little and big. And as a Taxpayer you should be looking out for MY best interests over mega corporations.

Carol — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Carol Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Subject: Support for Maintaining Quarterly Reporting Requirements

I strongly oppose any proposal that would allow public companies to replace quarterly reporting with semi-annual reporting.

Quarterly reporting has been a cornerstone of transparent U.S. capital markets for more than fifty years. Investors, both large and small, depend on timely financial information to make informed decisions. Reducing reporting frequency would increase information gaps, create greater uncertainty, and disadvantage ordinary investors who do not have access to private channels of information.

History suggests that transparency strengthens market confidence. Since quarterly reporting became mandatory in 1970, U.S. capital markets have grown into the deepest, most liquid, and most trusted markets in the world. Regular disclosure promotes accountability, improves price discovery, and helps ensure that all investors have access to material information at the same time.

Moving to semi-annual reporting would mean investors receive less information about the companies they own. In today’s fast-moving economy, six months is a long time. Significant changes in business conditions, risks, profitability, or cash flow can occur during that period. Investors should not be asked to wait half a year for updates on their investments.

While some argue that reducing reporting requirements would lower compliance costs, any savings to companies must be weighed against the potential costs to investors through reduced transparency, lower confidence, and less efficient markets.

America’s capital markets have long been the global standard because of their commitment to disclosure and investor protection. Quarterly reporting supports those principles and should be preserved.

For these reasons, I urge the SEC to maintain the existing quarterly reporting requirements for public companies.

Respectfully,
Carol Yakel
Michigan

One point worth noting: the article makes a persuasive argument, but its claim that semi-annual reporting caused lower returns and lower P/E ratios is correlation rather than proof of causation. Market valuations are influenced by many factors, including inflation, interest rates, economic growth, and geopolitical events. The strongest case for quarterly reporting is investor transparency, market efficiency, and equal access to information.

Sent from my iPhone

Carol Amisson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Carol Amisson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reports have worked. LEAVE IT ALONE. Carol

---

Carol Ann Kent — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Carol Ann Kent Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Carol Kent, Retired. Keep the quarterly reporting because we, the American people, are tired of this continued and constant breakdown and destruction of our institutions. Keep doing it and the consequences will be dire.

Get Outlook for Android

Carol Ann Newsome — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Carol Ann Newsome Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Carol Newsome, retired. All my assets are in the stock market while we have a president playing pump and dump games with tariffs and stocks that threaten to tank the economy and financially ruin anyone in the bottom 98%. We absolutely need maximum transparency to protect our own interests. If you double the reporting period to 6 months I could be ruined before I even knew there was a problem. We need more transparency, not less.

C. A. Newsome

Lia Anderson Dog Park Mysteries
Available in print, ebook and audio, at all major online bookstores http://www.canewsome.com

Carol Bostick — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Carol Bostick Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Stop being crooks!!!!....

Carol Cagle — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Carol Cagle Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 These are public records and all should have a right to them,

---

Carol Carter — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Carol Carter Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I do not want to gamble with my life's savings. I'm 75 and could not recover from a big loss that I'd be exposed to if corporations went to semi annual reporting. Please protect all investors and also business partners of corporations by maintaining the current reporting structure. Thank you!

Sent from my iPhone

Carol Contini — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Carol Contini Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We need quartly statements. Retired. 6 months is too long without seeing if things have changed. Carol Contini

---

Carol Cordani — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Carol Cordani Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Keep us informed. It's critical to making decisions for ourselves and our families!

Carol Davis — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Carol Davis Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting must continue without change. Protect investors.

Sent from my iPhone

Carol Decker — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Carol Decker Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities

and Exchange Commission:
Quarterly reporting is vital in tracking investment progress & helps to hold financial institutions accountable to investors who are individuals, including retirees like myself. We are entitled to accurate, timely information regarding what is happening with OUR money.

Carol Durden — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Carol Durden Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please force the dishonest behavior to come under proper authority and stop the fraudulent actions ! Thank you, Carol Durden Mt Dora Florida

---

Carol Ehrets Pagliaroni — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Carol Ehrets Pagliaroni Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly recording must be maintained. The chance for fraudulent behavior increases drastically if corporations are allowed to file biannually. Which will hurt stockholders trying to make informed decisions.

Carol Evens — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Carol Evens Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Retain quarterly reporting!

Carol Gibson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Carol Gibson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This is a terrible idea. Very bad. Period.

CAROL GREINER — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: CAROL GREINER Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 It has to remain quarterly and not revert back to the semi 1955 method.
Allows for quicker reaction times for companies and provides investors a better pulse on their investments.

Sent from my iPhone

Carol Grimes — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Carol Grimes Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This is MY MONEY IN THEIR HANDS AND THE TRANSPARENTCY SHOULD B QUATERLY. TOO MANY CHANCES TO LEFT FOR MISUSE OR LOSS OF MY FUNDS. TO CHANGE THIS GIVES ME CAUSE FOR CONCERN .

Carol Kufeldt — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Carol Kufeldt Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
It is your duty to the American people to be open and transparent regarding our investments. Changing to quarterly report to every 6 months would be a violation of that duty.

Carol Macdonald — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Carol Macdonald Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 You need to keep the quarterly reporting. It keeps everyone more honest. I need the regular information, especially since there is much I don't know. Please help me with this. Carol MacDonald, retired, Mansfield, MA

Carol Mack — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Carol Mack Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Transparency is fairness. There is no good reason to remove quarterly reporting.

Carol Marion — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Carol Marion Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Carol Marion Retired teacher , wife, mother, Grandmother & former Army Wife of a career officer
Keep the quarterly reporting. It shows transparency and to insure things are kept “honest “.

Carol Marshall — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Carol Marshall Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This plan is all about cheating people. We’ve been cheated out of earning at least three times. Please don’t let the crooks have more power. I say YES to quarterly reporting. Help keep the little people’s heads above water!

Sent from my iPhone

Carol McEvoy — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Carol McEvoy Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We need our information to be current and up to date, no hidden information.

Carol Meyer — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Carol Meyer Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 NO! We had this once. Never Again!! We need and also demand you put us before "big business!"
Thank you,
Carol Meyer,
Retired, H.R,
Copeland Corporation,

Sidney, OH

Carol Morgan — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Carol Morgan Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Carol W Morgan, retired teacher Hayward CA
I remember Enron very well and want to keep the 4x/year accountability! DO NOT reduce to 2x/year!

Sent from my iPhone

---

carol oris — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: carol oris Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Absolutely not.
It's hard enough making ends meet during this inflation.
We worked our whole life not to have our savings wiped out by a ruling.
This will not make "America great" for working Americans.
Why is everything in this country now going backwards?
Leave 1955 in 1955.
Carol Oris
Retired & living on fixed income
Midland, MI

Every day is a gift. Don't take life for granted.

Carol Przyhocki — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Carol Przyhocki Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 When the government is allowed to check into my small annuity why shouldn't they check into the billionaires holdings every 4 months?

Carol Reynolds — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Carol Reynolds Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the current reporting timeframe of every 3 months. The proposed change allow retail businesses to hide losses. This could cause thousands of people loosing money on purchase deposits or prepayments when companies know they will be filling bankruptcy.

Carol Reynolds, retired Inpatient Coding Analyst and Hospital Denial Management Anslyst

Sent from Gmail Mobile

Carol Riley — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Carol Riley Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Individuals need timely information! We do not have the means to find out in advance!

Carol Rodgers — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Carol Rodgers Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
I rely on quarterly reports from my investments. Please do not drop accountability for public corporations.
quarterly reporting is the minimum expectation.

Carol Seifferlein — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Carol Seifferlein Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Absolutely essential!!

Sent from my iPhone

Carol Slack — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Carol Slack Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Please continue to require quarterly reporting. It allows investors to stay on top of investments and change course quickly if needed.

Carol SpencerLemay — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Carol SpencerLemay Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the reporting quarterly. Don't change what is working.

Carol SpencerLemay

Carol Suckow — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Carol Suckow Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 In these uncertain times we need to track our finances! As an 80 year old our limited financial resources are our life!!

Carol Suckow

Carol Tingwall — Jun 18, 2026

Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Carol Tingwall Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I encourage the SEC to continue the requirement for quarterly reporting. Transparency is critical to ensure investors have crucial information on which to base their investments. The period between 1955-1970 when the SEC required reports just twice a year demonstrates how a lack of transparency leads to stagnation. When public filings go quiet, big institutions and insiders still find ways to gauge how a company is doing. It is the everyday investor, working from what is public, who gets left in the dark.

Carol Tingwall
Novi, Michigan

Carol Tregenza — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Carol Tregenza Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly and signed.

Enough dishonesty, let’s save this one.
Carol Tregenza

Carol Williams — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Carol Williams Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Carol Williams transparency.

Carol Wyatt — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Carol Wyatt Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep our protections in place. Any changes are leading to actions by administering folks that are harming ordinary Americans. Also, criminality really needs to stop. Please stop this madness. Do not mess with the American people and the hard work we have done that has now been train wrecked by an administration that just doesn’t give a fick.

Sent from my iPhone

---

caroldague — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: caroldague Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 It's important for people to be informed. Please keep making quarterly reports. Sincerely, Carol Dague

Sent from my Galaxy

Carole Bivona — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Carole Bivona Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
I would like to be able to make informed decisions about my investments and six months is much too long to be denied updates about company issues.

Carole Grieco — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Carole Grieco Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the quarterly reporting! We need the checks and balances this provides, and without them it will open a pandora's box.

Carole Nugent — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Carole Nugent Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 As a former CPA and auditor of SEC companies, 6 months is way too long. The 3 month rule forces companies to be more accountable to their and the communities in which they operate. You wouldn’t believe the suspicious transaction I would discover!

Carole Nugent

Jesus said to his disciples:"Be merciful, just as your Father is merciful.

"Stop judging and you will not be judged.
Stop condemning and you will not be condemned.
Forgive and you will be forgiven.
Give and gifts will be given to you;
a good measure, packed together, shaken down, and overflowing,
will be poured into your lap.
For the measure with which you measure will in return be measured out to you."

Carole Ryan — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Carole Ryan Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We have to have constant vigilance over honesty in reporting of company finances. I don’t want my retirement accounts dependent on “trust me bro”…. Because I don’t! We need to continue strong regulatory processes.

Sent from my iPhone

CAROLE Von Eschen — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: CAROLE Von Eschen Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please I NEED THIS TO HELP WITH MY DECISION MAKING!!
To the Securities and Exchange Commission:

Carolee Nail — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Carolee Nail Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 As an retiree of a public company, it was meaningful to have quarterly information to understand how the whole company was moving forward and not only our division. Quarterly reports let us make more nimble adjustments in how we work. 6 months would be too long a period to go without seeing "the big picture".

Carolee Nail
919-638-1174
cnail123@gmail.com

Carolyn Bennett — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Carolyn Bennett Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Definitely need quarterly reports.

Carolyn Beverly — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Carolyn Beverly Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposed rule that would eliminate quarterly reporting requirements for public companies. As an independent investor, I believe this change will severely harm everyday market participants, compromise market integrity, and erode public trust in our financial systems.
Eliminating quarterly updates creates a dangerous information blackout that disproportionately hurts retail investors. Normal families rely on regular, predictable financial data to manage their savings, retirement accounts, and investments safely. Without this information, the gap between everyday investors and Wall Street insiders will widen into a chasm. Corporate insiders will maintain an unfair advantage, while retail traders are left in the dark for six months or more at a time.
Furthermore, quarterly reporting is a vital mechanism for accountability. Reducing the frequency of disclosures will allow corporate fraud, mismanagement, and financial distress to fester undetected. By the time structural issues are finally revealed in semi-annual or annual reports, the damage to public shareholders and the broader economy will be catastrophic and irreversible.
The SEC’s core mission is to protect investors and maintain fair, orderly, and efficient markets. This proposal does the opposite by actively stripping away the essential transparency that keeps our markets competitive and safe. I urge the Commission to reject this rule change and maintain the mandatory quarterly reporting framework.
Thank you for your time and consideration of my comments.
Sincerely,

Carolyn Beverly

CAROLYN BORDEN — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: CAROLYN BORDEN Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This is ridiculous. Investors need to know.

Sent from AT&T Yahoo Mail on Android

Carolyn Borkowicz — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Carolyn Borkowicz Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Do monthly because this the way to handle your investors, with true Customer service. They want this to be available not try to hide anything be open with the information for your customers if you want to keep them.

CAROLYN COATOAM — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: CAROLYN COATOAM Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Don't fall for this Trump-inspired baloney. The SEC needs to be strong. Trump and his minions don't need another gold mine to loot.

Sent from my iPhone

Carolyn DIGGS — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Carolyn DIGGS Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission: I strongly oppose S7 2026 15. This enables a lack of transparency to retail investors. Weakening reporting standards will undermine investor protections. ENRON will happen again. Plese vote against this proposal and maintain quarterly reporting. If there is nothing to hide this should not be an issue. Thank you.

Carolyn Golaszewski — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Carolyn Golaszewski Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 KEEP THE REPORTS QUATERLY!!!!!

Sent from my iPhone

Carolyn Hairston — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Carolyn Hairston Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Leave quarterly reporting just as it is! What is the advantage of changing it and to whom? *, "they" want everything!

"Life is the sum of all our choices." (Camus)

“Precision of thought, and economy of expression.” AF

Carolyn Pinckard — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Carolyn Pinckard Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Carolyn P. I look at all info and often make decisions with my banker. Time is so important, changes are fast. Please keep our quarterly reports, send through email. Faster than post office. Thank you for your honest work.

Sent from my iPhone

Carolyn Shoemaker — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Carolyn Shoemaker Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting needs to stay. I should be entitled to be informed of what my investments are doing more often than 2x per year. This proposal feels unethical.

Carolyn

Carolyn Willmer — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Carolyn Willmer Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please keep the quarterly reports mandate. Investors deserve current information on their investments.

Get Outlook for iOS

Carolyn Zmyndak — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Carolyn Zmyndak Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Until now everything has been open and aboveboard. Hiding valuable information from investors is just short of being criminal. It would infringe on our right to know and hamper full disclosure . Like buying a pig in a poke. If you have something to hide it can't be good !

Carolyne Candrl — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Carolyne Candrl Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We need you to do quarterly reporting and better monitor companies to keep it fair. Do your job.

Carolyne Candrl

10025 Aldred
St Louis Mo 63128
carolynecandrl3@gmail.com
314-537-5660

Carrie — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Carrie Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Why change this now? It is unfair to the average investor. Stop feeding the 1% and start taxing them!

Thanks!

Carrie

Carrie Cain — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Carrie Cain Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep it Quarterly .
It affects everyone on everyday purchases .
Keep the Conglomerates accountable .
Carrie Cain
Retired Automotive Worker.

---

carrie nuncio — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: carrie nuncio Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 C.Nuncio,retired. Why this should matter to ALL investors. Your hard earned money that I should be in control of knowing every quarter how my investments are working for me . Do I need to sell,buy, question my decisions? Sure I can question my accountant, read the stocks report talk to other investors but having my quarterly report helps with these concerns. Tell me why does anyone want to do away with the quarterly reports? What's the gain or loss of the reports?

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Carrie Redzikowski — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Carrie Redzikowski Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Carrie Redzikowski - I'm an investor, and don't think the proposal to change from quarterly to semi-annual reporting helps investors get timely news.

Carrie Redzikowski, Sent from my iPhone

Carter Boice — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Carter Boice Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is a very low standard of accountability as it is. Truly a fair system would be much more frequent. 6 to 8 times per year. A lack of transparency shows a disingenuous view on public interest.

Thank you,

Carter Boice

Carter Hall — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Carter Hall Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 No..investors are being paid to manage my money and I have the right to receive timely reports. As your employer, I'm suspicious if you're afraid to provide information on your activities. Sharon Hall, Retired, Former 6/63 Banker.

Carter Hall

---

cartoon_qt783 — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: cartoon_qt783 Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I am not comfortable giving my demographics to a government that continues to let corporations rob us. Have you learned nothing from Luigi or the warehouse fires? Keep robbing the middle and lower classes and there will be a American Revolution that makes the French one appear tame in comparison

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Casey Godlewski — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Casey Godlewski Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep as is.

Casey

Cassandra Gooding — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Cassandra Gooding Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Securities and Exchange Commission
I am writing to express my opposition to any rule that would reduce or eliminate quarterly reporting requirements for publicly traded companies.
As a member of the investing public, I believe regular financial reporting is one of the most important protections available to investors. Quarterly reports provide a consistent and transparent way to understand how companies are performing and whether they are meeting the expectations they have set for shareholders.
Without quarterly disclosures, investors would be forced to wait much longer for critical information. That delay would increase uncertainty and make it more difficult for ordinary Americans to make informed decisions. Timely access to financial information should not be reserved for large institutions or professional analysts. Public markets work best when all investors have access to the same information regularly.
Quarterly reporting also encourages accountability. Company leadership should regularly communicate material developments, financial results, and risks that may affect shareholders. Reducing disclosure requirements would move our markets in the wrong direction by limiting transparency and reducing the flow of information that investors rely upon.

The U.S. capital markets have long been respected because of their transparency and strong disclosure standards. Weakening those standards could undermine investor confidence and make it harder for individuals to evaluate the companies in which they may choose to invest.
For these reasons, I urge the Commission to reject any proposal that would reduce quarterly disclosure requirements and to continue supporting policies that promote transparency, fairness, and equal access to information.
Thank you for considering my comments.

Cassondra B — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Cassondra B Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 More transparency is better. Keep mandatory quarterly reporting. There is literally no benefit to making it biannual. We are tired of the wealthy having unfair and unearned advantages. Every investor on Robinhood, every one of us with retirement pensions, every person deserves to know what corporations are doing as often as everyone else.

Cat Cardinalli — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Cat Cardinalli Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Stop letting our government loot our national treasury by non-stop corruption. Shame on you if you’re enabling it!

Sent from my iPhone

Cat Generose — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Cat Generose Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
There should NEVER be a question about fairness across the board

---

Cate Crowley — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Cate Crowley Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To protect investors and the economy, retain quarterly reports. The reports amy inside trading are already out of control.

Protect smaller investors!

Sent from my Verizon, Samsung Galaxy smartphone
Get Outlook for Android

Catherine Biscoe — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Catherine Biscoe Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I'm a former Private Banker from Northern Trust bank, and quarterly reporting holds corporations responsible to their constituents, and the public! Quarterly reporting is necessary to hold companies accountable and without these reporting it opens companies to allow financial fraud, mishandling or manipulation results or growth and loss and defying the public trust and more.

Get Outlook for Android

Catherine Dossett-Davies — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Catherine Dossett-Davies Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This sounds like a way for this to repeat: Enron. WorldCom. Madoff. The run-up to 2008. Every major modern accounting scandal was enabled by gaps and opacity in financial disclosure. As a retired anti-fraud agent , I see a change in the rules opening a pathway to further fraud.

Sent from my iPhone

Catherine Holbrook — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Catherine Holbrook Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 One more stupid ass move intended to benefit big corporations at the expense of the American people. Shame on all of you.

Sent from my iPhone

Catherine T. Tonkin — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Catherine T. Tonkin Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Absolutely NO! Public companies need to be open with everything transparent!!! Why should the taxpayer always be charge and or made be responsible for the intensional misuse and abuse of others! Enough abusing the taxpayers!
Catherine Tonkin Senior Citizen! We can’t help every one nor should we be made responsible for others foolish mistake! The city of Lakeland Florida went cheap refusing to buy insurance for a very large new generator coming by rail, there was a problem a Some how the generator slipped off the rail!!! They raised ALL our rates, it felt like the rates doubled.
People need to be responsible for their actions and or stupid decision's! The same goes for big government, it isn’t fair to tax US while the government ‘gives’ away our hard earned tax funds!!!!
Catherine Tonkin Retired College Tech Clerk!

Sent from my iPhone

Cathi Below — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Cathi Below To whom it may concern, I am against this rule change for the following reasons: 1) Deregulation of our financial systems and reducing scrutiny does not serve shareholders. 2)Limiting access to timely financial information limits our ability to see the operating and financial conditions of the companies we have ownership in. 3) this rule change would increase the likelihood of insider trading. Are you going to relax the rules against that too? Thank you for your attention to this matter!!! Cathi J Below

---

cathie byrd — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: cathie byrd Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Why would you do this? The rules that are in place have worked for years and don't need changing. Keeping companies honest is why the SEC exists. SO DO YOUR JOB! C.L. Byrd retired.

Cathie McIntyre — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Cathie McIntyre Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I want to see financial reports quarterly. My investments are important to me, and I need to be able to track them regularly.
Cathie McIntyre
Retired
Chapel Hill, NC

Sent from my iPad

Cathleen Kelly — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Cathleen Kelly Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 These laws were written for very good reasons. Just because the current occupant of the White House is a corporate criminal is no reason to change it: in reality, it's the opposite!

Cathryn Clement — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Cathryn Clement Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Cathryn Clement, Retired.

In a time when we're supposedly moving towards more transparency, why take a step back? Just because it may be more convenient for companies to only report every 6 months, doesn't mean it's the right thing to do. Only reporting every 6 months also means that the stockholders companies depend on have that much less time to make informed decisions to protect their own finances.

Cathryn Clement
Bryan, Texas

Cathryn Gray — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Cathryn Gray Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I have worked hard to be able to retire comfortably. I need to know how well my money is working for me…or not…quarterly.

Sent from my iPhone

Cathryn Wright — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Cathryn Wright Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
This has to be among the worst idea I've ever heard! Let me quest on who it came from originally? Is it a Fat Orange Pedophile Murderer?Thought so !!! NAILED IT!!!!!

Cathy DeRue — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Cathy DeRue Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I am a retiree with a 403B plan. I track the performance of my stock portfolio. Why are you giving an advantage to people who don't need it? Why change? Who does it benefit? Keep the three month window please.
Catherine De Rue

Cathy Hagner — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Cathy Hagner Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Less oversight creates the ability for more crime!

Cathy Humphrey — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Cathy Humphrey Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Why in the world would you reduce by half the required reporting for public companies?! Oh that’s right, so your rich friends can become richer. These measures were put in place to protect the American people from predatory and unscrupulous behavior. You’re wrapping it up in your usual “we’re doing it to eliminate unnecessary regulations and administrative actions” nonsense. Guess what - some administrative actions are necessary to protect the people from greedy corporations. I have had stocks and stock funds for decades. Finally getting to that place where I can retire somewhat comfortably for a middle class public servant. Please don’t change the quarterly reporting rule. It would have a much bigger impact on average American citizens than public companies. The job of the federal government is to protect its people. So far it seems to only be protecting the corporations.
I’m counting on my IRAs to support my husband and I in our older age, so we don’t have to live in poverty, especially if we inherit any of our family’s illnesses.
Cathy Humphrey
Retired public servant

Sent from my iPhone

Cathy Mayne — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Cathy Mayne Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I want to know what is happening with my money, so that I can make sure I have enough to pay my bills and watch my spending. I insist on quarterly updates.
Cathy Mayne, retired teacher.

Sent from my iPhone

Cathy Stermer — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Cathy Stermer Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Forgetting Enron and all the pain that its downfall created is a mistake. Quarterly reporting is not an egregious burden. Keep corporate reporting quarterly.

Sent from my iPhone

Cathy Touney — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Cathy Touney Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Transparency is needed for people to have confidence to invest and in turn contribute to a strong economy. I look for the quarter updates so I can track what's happening. Having to wait 6 months to monitor progress can easily be way too late & a major blow to my investments before I know anything is going haywire. Good business is transparency.

CC Coltrain — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: CC Coltrain Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 CC Coltrain, retired. Quarterly reporting is vitally important for all of us. Investors need the information to make business and personal decisions in a timely and effective way.

CCC — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: CCC Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep it as it is and stop the class war.

Cecelia Anderson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Cecelia Anderson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
My finances are very important to me as I am now retired and my invested funds need to last my lifetime.
I prefer quarterly reporting to be able to best react to my investments.

Cecelia Anderson

Cecile Auten — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Cecile Auten Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Once every three months has already been programmed. The law is every 3 months. Prefer every month to every 3 months and definitely not every 6 months (that’s old news).

Get Outlook for iOS

Cecilia ancell — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Cecilia ancell Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I believe, allowing companies not to disclose quarterly would allow corporations to use this as an opportunity to undermine the consumers. We don't need less regulation in this area.
Sincerely
Cecilia Ancell
Sent from my iPhone

Cecilia Kjellstrand — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Simple question re: S7-2026-15 From: Cecilia Kjellstrand Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026
Convincingly explain both why it is necessary and how it benefits the public.

"If you want to be a grocer, or a general, or a politician, or a judge, you will invariably become it; that is your punishment. If you never know what you want to be, if you live what some might call the dynamic life but what I will call the artistic life, if each day you are unsure of who you are and what you know you will never become anything, and that is your reward."
— Oscar Wilde

Celeste Vaughn Brown — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Celeste Vaughn Brown Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Public companies are owned by millions of investors who need current information to make informed decisions.
Quarterly reports reduce the chance that investors are relying on outdated or misleading data. Investors are also entitled to transparency. Regular reporting helps keep stock prices aligned with a company's actual performance.
If reporting occurred only twice a year, important developments could remain hidden for months. Corporate executives know much more about the company's condition than outside investors. Quarterly reports narrow this information gap and help create a fairer market. With quarterly reporting investors can identify trends such as declining sales, rising debt, or shrinking profit margins before they become severe. Regulators can also spot potential problems and fraud earlier. Six months is too long for corporate secrecy.

Signed,
Celeste V Brown. Small business owner, veteran and entrepreneur.

Sent from my iPhone

Centurylink — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Centurylink Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We need the continuing scrutiny, communication & protection that quarterly reporting provides investors & shareholders.

V. Marek

Chad Smith — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Chad Smith Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I'm a private investor in Utah, and all of us—not just full-time Wall Street types—rely on Sarbanes-Oxley. Signed reporting needs to be kept quarterly. So much can happen in half a year, and when business leaders are corrupt they rely on that plausible deniability. We saw why this was needed with Enron and WorldCom, and the potential for that kind of fraud has not gone away. We need our safeguards in place, and don't want them to become twice as weak as they have been for the last two decades. Signing quarterly is only a problem if you're crooked.

Please don't prioritize deceptive companies at the expense of investors and average Americans investing in good faith.

Thanks,
Chad Smith

Chan Chan — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Chan Chan Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I guess it means we withdraw from owning stocks. If they won't play "somewhat" fair, we won't play at all. I've talked with others who agree.

Chandler Wallace — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Chandler Wallace Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Insider trading should be completely banned. Keep the quarterly report so that anyone else can have a chance! There honestly should be 8-12 reports a year to keep these people in some semblance of honesty!

Chandra Compton — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Chandra Compton Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
My husband's investments that support our elder years use reports to make investment choices that match our chosen level of investment risk. Without quarterly reports, we would be blind to risk level and could not safeguard the money we need for our retirement and would need more help from the government or be hungry and homeless. Please require on-going transparency with quarterly report's mandatory.

Chant Lucas-Meek — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Chant Lucas-Meek Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Why does this seem like just another method for the corporations and rich to get further ahead while the average American gets further screwed? Oh yeah, BECAUSE IT IS.

---

chargo2k — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: chargo2k Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Char Santana, currently unemployed, New Orleans Louisiana. Keep the quarterly signatures, intact. It's been proven time and again that CEOs of corporations cannot be trusted, and it's always the working class that loses. We are fed up with the billionaire criminals in our system. Keep the quarterly signatures. We want to keep an eye on those criminals who have managed to become billionaires and put themselves in a position where they can continue to take advantage of the system!

---

chargo2k — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: chargo2k Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My name is Charlene Santana. I'm currently unemployed, I'm in New Orleans, Louisiana, I'm a retail investor, and signatures should be kept to 4 times a year. I believe the best way to maintain the integrity of the bookkeeping records is by keeping the four times per year signature process intact. Thank you for your time.

Charlene Cannavo — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Charlene Cannavo Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This is not a good idea. The public only has but a small window of opportunity to see what is truly happening in the quarterly reporting. Moving to a 6 month reporting seems like a smoke and mirrors play for companies and not the stakeholders.

charlene.cannavo@gmail.com
CT technologist

Charlene M. Cannavo

Charlene Grant — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Charlene Grant Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Do not question the efforts of history! Do not remove Quarterly Reporting!

Sent from my Verizon, Samsung Galaxy smartphone
Get Outlook for Android

Charles Barrett — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Charles Barrett Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 When there is a corrupt national administration like Trump's, the criminal officials strive to reduce surveillance and avoid detection of their theft!
SINCE EVERYONE UNDERSTANDS THAT, WHY WOULD ANYONE GO ON RECORD AS WANTING TO HELP TRUMP STEAL EVEN MORE? DO THEY HAVE SUCH FEAR OF DONALD TRUMP? STILL? TODAY? SAD!

Sent from my iPad

Charles Clees — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Charles Clees Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep quarterly reports as standard.

---

charles cooper — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: charles cooper Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I am Charles Cooper, a semi retired RN in Texas. I hope the SEC will continue to require quarterly reports, ws this allows for more available info, more informed decisions, and confidence in market decisions.

Sent from AT&T Yahoo Mail on Android

Charles Demarti — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Charles Demarti Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Your support to act for the people not the rich corporations. If accounting Is to hard for them maybe a reduction in ceo pay could cover it.

Sent from my iPad

Charles Donches — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Charles Donches Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 As if the SEC under Donald Trump gives a ripe * what most people in this country think about anything. I could waste my time talking to this public comment space that no one will read. Other than saying anyone following the directions of this administration are simply serving the whims of a mad geriatric dictator and the billionaires and one trillionaire who fund this madness will be condemned in the annals of history, I'd be wasting my time.

Charles Donches.

Charles Gerveler — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Charles Gerveler Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Charles Gerveler, invested in stock market. This would be a blow. I can only think it is coming from the aspect of corporate greed and hiding shady stuff longer. I smell a rat. Must be the politicians pulling a fast one like keeping insider trading. Help your corporations, hose the people. Good thinking.

Charles Howard — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Charles Howard Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep it Quarterly.

Charles Howard Tavik — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Charles Howard Tavik Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We need more protection against fraud not less .

Sent from my iPhone

Charles King — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Charles King Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 if it were up to me I would make them report monthly to eliminate any way that they can defraud the consumers

---

Charles Lovell — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Charles Lovell Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We are furious that you would even consider going back to the loose handed system that has caused so much financial damage to this country and it's citizens. Keep quarterly reports.

Charles Offer — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Charles Offer Quarterly earnings reports protect both small and large investors and provide information that is necessary for intelligent investing. Providing reports less frequently allows companies to hide changes in their businesses, potentially harming investors and allowing insiders to benefit.

Charles Paoli — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Charles Paoli Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep quarterly.

Charles Saucer — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Charles Saucer Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 What dreadful idea! Public companies are just that, and should be transparent to their shareholders - and their shareholders are entitled to timely and accurate information. Quarterly reporting needs to stay.

Sent from my iPhone

Charles Sullivan — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Charles Sullivan Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I am opposed to moving financial reporting to a semi-annual basis from it's current form. Stock holders and investors need more clarity, not less.
Charles Sullivan

Charles Wash — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Charles Wash Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Not having regular reports would seriously hinder an investors ability to make reasonable decisions.

Charlie Edmonson Small business owner — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Charlie Edmonson Not a good idea.

Charlie Yowell — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Charlie Yowell Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep quarterly for us all. Don’t let Trump rule you,control you ,and make you look like incompetent fools.

Sent from my iPhone

Charlotte Fremaux — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Charlotte Fremaux Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This is clearly a ploy to reduce transparency and make it harder for retail investors to know what is going on in our investments. You know this and are acting to make it harder for everyone but the billionaires and the corporations that are bad actors. Your job is oversight. This is not oversight, and people are tired of a rigged system.

Charlotte M Fremaux
622 Shannondale Road
Harpers Ferry, WV 25425

Charlotte Greene — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Charlotte Greene Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 It seems that there is already a substantial amount of corruption. I don’t think that the door should be opened for potentially more.

Charlotte Hughes — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Charlotte Hughes Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting helps prevent fraud and keeps everything good Charlotte Hughes, cook, I want to make sure my kids are witnessing a safe and balanced financial system

---

Charlotte Jenkins — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Charlotte Jenkins Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 The open corruption in the halls of Congress and penetrating the Oval Office is exactly why this change should not take place.

Charlotte Jenkins

Charlotte Skuse — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Charlotte Skuse Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep CEO quarterly reporting..

Charsetta Henderson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Charsetta Henderson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I request the continuation of quarterly reports. They provide an important source of information that I review regularly. Frequency matters and waiting 6 months to see a report for me is too long.
Thank you, Charsetta Henderson - retired

Sent from my iPhone

Charyse Kirby — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Charyse Kirby Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 It’s very important to have our quarterly statements to know how are stocks are doing.

Cheeka Trikha — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Cheeka Trikha Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Cheeka Trikha, Vice President & Head of Human Resources

I support maintaining quarterly reporting requirements, while recognizing the concerns raised by those who advocate for less frequent reporting.

There is a legitimate risk that quarterly reporting can encourage excessive focus on short-term results and place a meaningful administrative burden on management teams. Companies should be encouraged to make decisions that create sustainable long-term value rather than optimize solely for the next quarter.

At the same time, regular disclosure remains an important tool for transparency, accountability, and trust. Employees, investors, boards, and other stakeholders benefit from timely visibility into a company's performance, progress, and emerging challenges. In my experience, transparency supports better decision-making and stronger organizational accountability.

Rather than reducing reporting frequency, I believe the better approach is to continue promoting long-term value creation while maintaining the regular flow of information that stakeholders rely upon. Quarterly reporting provides an appropriate balance between transparency and long-term stewardship.

For these reasons, I encourage the SEC to retain quarterly reporting requirements.

Cheeka
+15105793486

---

chef baronA — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: chef baronA Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 The reporting should be MORE stringent & verified independently! The public has little trust in the public companies & have also lost much faith in the SEC. DO more & better, NOT less!
Andre Begnaud
Retired chef/restaurateur
Disabled Marine

Cheri Curran — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Cheri Curran Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 In such a divisive time where we as citizens have doubts about what is truth and what are facts, the idea of lessening accountability and transparency is terrifying and counterproductive. This change would only solidify the feeling that things are being hidden to favor the fortunate few rather than supporting what is needed for the public good.

Sent from my iPad

---

cheri heringer — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: cheri heringer Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Our memories are not that short.. . I hope. This is yet another attempt to give more profits to the rich corporations. Don't we remember Enron??? This ruling was a result of millions of average people who lost EVERYTHING!! WE NEED TO PROTECT OUR RETIREMENTS AND NOT THE INVESTORS POCKETS. SHAME ON THOSE TRYING TO CHANGR THIS. KEEP QUARTERLY REPORTS!!! IT IS NOT AN OPTION!!! CHERYL HERINGER RN California.

Cheri Hillsdale — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Cheri Hillsdale Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I want the SEC to continue quarterly reporting. It is unfair to investors to reduce reporting requirements to semi-annual. My retirement funds matter to my quality of life.

Cheri Hillsdale
Cashier

Cheri Lundstrom — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Cheri Lundstrom Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 ENRON says it all.

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Cheri Madson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Cheri Madson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Cheri Madson, Retired Educator, Illinois
No! Transparency helps us grow and history teaches us what mistakes and pitfalls to avoid-can't just erase history! Leave quarterly reporting as is…if expenses need trimmed…trim the fat (over paid and anything that is ineffective/unnecessary…like hardworking citizens are required to do).

Sent from my iPhone

Cherie Mabrey — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Cherie Mabrey Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I think it's short-sighted and allows for too many shenanigans. Please continue with the current reporting schedule.

Cherie Abee Mabrey
Well-Being Notice: Receiving this email outside normal working hours? Managing work and life responsibilities is unique for everyone. I sent this email at a time that works for me. Please respond at a time that works for you.

Cherish Brewer — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Cherish Brewer Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This is crooked. The everyday person is getting ripped off enough.

Cherish

Cherry Brown — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Cherry Brown Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the reporting to quarterly, if you allow semiannual reporting you're inviting more greed and corruption. You already have so much corruption in the top tier now this invites opportunity for more. Time to stop corruption!

Report quarterly!

Sent from my iPhone

Cheryl Arnold — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Cheryl Arnold Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I request that this proposal be dropped! Unfair to the public investors. I believe AI is moving in, and should make quarterly reports very easy to manage.

Cheryl Barnes — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Cheryl Barnes Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Continue quarterly reporting. It is the only way we can track business activities. The world moves too fast for slow reporting. Thank you. Cheryl Barnes, Kansas City, Mo.

Cheryl Barnes

Kansas City, MO 64110
Mobile / text: 816-807-3545

Please register and vote.
Democracy is not a spectator sport.

Cheryl Borden — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Cheryl Borden Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Ken Swingle, business owner. Leave it ALONE. Nothing you ever do is in the best interest of the people. We're waking up. Be smart and do what is RIGHT FOR THE INVESTORS, NOT THE COMPANIES.

Cheryl Byrne — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Cheryl Byrne Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
As a woman close to retirement, I am concerned about protecting my investments. Continuing to require public companies to report quarterly would help. I do not want to see another Enron in my lifetime. You can ensure that companies maintain some more transparency to help protect the interest of investors. It is your duty to do so.

Cheryl Forte — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Cheryl Forte Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 6 months is a long time not to know what the financials are for any company. Quarterly reports make more sense, if there's a problem you find out sooner. And since CEOs can go to jail for not being honest it makes more sense to have it quarterly to catch mistakes, trends, etc. I totally agree that 6 months is too long of a gap for this important reporting!

Cheryl Gamble — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Cheryl Gamble Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please keep the current quarterly reporting intact! Say it with me: Transparency is GOOD. Cheryl Gamble Retired Investor

Sent from my iPhone

Cheryl Gannon — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Cheryl Gannon Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I oppose the change to quarterly reporting. We need transparency into our own financial investments. The public deserves to know how their investments are performing. Please do not change to semi-annual.

Sent from my iPhone

---

cheryl klemp — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: cheryl klemp Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 People cannot afford to lose money in today's world because of extended reporting time. We have been financially hurt enough in these volatile times ! These are our lifetime savings you're playing with !!

Cheryl Thomas — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Cheryl Thomas Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Stop kowtowing to rich people and corporations. Protect the majority!

Cheryle Gunter Daub — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Cheryle Gunter Daub Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Not reporting quarterly will lead to uninformed stock holders.

Cheryll Arkens — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Cheryll Arkens Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting make it harder for companies to hide their income. They need to report their profit or loss quarterly so we, the stock holders, can properly evaluate the company’s profit or loss and decide whether or not they are a good investment.

Cheryll Arkens, retiree from Cooper Industries

Sent from my iPad

---

chevygurl4667 — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: chevygurl4667 Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 ALL businesses should report quarterly! Period. Only one reason not to - if they have something to hide from investors.

Chief Mac Investor — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Chief Mac Am a small investor. I think that quarterly reporting is the minimum amount of information we need to have. Increasing reporting to bimonthly would even better

---

chip des — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: chip des Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Stop LIEING and start paying your fair share!

Chirag Dave — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Chirag Dave Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please keep the reporting quarterly instead of semi annually

---

Chis Peterson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Chis Peterson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please keep the reporting quarterly. We are already being blindly robbed and so many other areas. As a retiree. we have worked accumulate funds so that we may be able to live when we can no longer work. Please do the right thing & do not leave us high and dry. We deserve your respect.

Chris Peterson

Sent from my iPad

Chis Peterson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Chis Peterson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please keep the reporting quarterly. We are already being blindly robbed and so many other areas. As a retiree. we have worked accumulate funds so that we may be able to live when we can no longer work. Please do the right thing & do not leave us high and dry. We deserve your respect.

Sent from my iPad

Chris — Jun 18, 2026

Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Chris Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 These safeguards were written for a reason, after Enron led to the recession of 2008. We need reasons for any change, proof that our retirement would be safer.

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

---

chris — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: chris Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please keep quarterly stmts going, im a small production employee trying to get a little ahead for my legacy to my children and it is hard enough without having to guess even more how to invest the few dollars each month I can muster up in the economic times we are in. Thank you.

Chris Fevrier — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Chris Fevrier Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 You all should be ashamed for even putting this forward. Reporting should be far more frequent if anything else.

Chris G — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Chris G Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the system as-is.

Chris Gilroy
Attorney

Chris Herron — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Chris Herron Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the quarterly reporting. Don’t give the insiders more opportunities than we have.

Chris Kisling — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Chris Kisling Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Chris Kisling, Business Consultant/Coach

Quarterly reporting is essential, especially since I am dependent on my own investment strategies to fund my retirement. The minor savings to the reporting firms are nothing compared to the potentially catastrophic impact on my earnings due to not having up-to-date performance numbers. I urge you to keep the current structure in place.

_____
Christopher M. Kisling
StillPoint Innerprises, LLC
225.281.6227

FindYourStillPoint.com

Death twitches my ear. "Live," he says, "I am coming." - Virgil

---

Chris Kloepper — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Chris Kloepper Please do not change the current reporting cycle. Less frequent reporting is not beneficial for the investor.

Chris Kuster — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Chris Kuster Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Your attempt to steal money under the guise of how you're presenting this is obvious and blatant thievery. Just because some in the country voted for this administration doesn't mean the rest of us are stupid.

Sent from my Galaxy

Chris Kuster — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Chris Kuster Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Going from 4 times a year to just two leaves it even more open for known thieves to steal even more $$'s. We're not stupid, no matter how much you think we are.

Sent from my Galaxy

Chris McL — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Chris McL Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 If I reported false information on a loan doc or to the IRS with a signature id go to jail. Common sense and accountability now .

Sent from my iPhone

---

chris miller — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: chris miller Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please keep reporting quarterly. We need to look forward not backward in this country.

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

---

chris moonsail.com — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: chris moonsail.com Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I live in the Houston area and saw the impact of the Enron debacle. Don't let corporate greed and influence change the current reporting requirements.

Chris Patrick — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Chris Patrick Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Sirs: As an investor I wish to see more transparency rather than less. Monthly reports would be an improvement. Nothing less than quarterly posts should be allowed.

Get Outlook for Android

Chris Steffner — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Chris Steffner Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Reduce corruption

Sent from my iPhone

Chris Williamson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Chris Williamson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This is completely retarded.

Chris Willis — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Chris Willis Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This is another example of corporate greed and corruption manipulating markets and gambling with money that doesn't belong to them. If anything needs to happen it should be the exact opposite of this, more frequent reporting. If I'm told I have a disease, I don't DECREASE my monitoring of it. If I have a problem with my car, I don't DECREASE my monitoring of it. If my child has a problem at school, I don't DECREASE my monitoring of it. This change affects the bottom line, savings and retirement of millions of Americans and in no way is a good idea, especially under this current administration and in the technology landscape we now find ourselves living in. Keeping these companies honest and in check and making sure they're valued appropriately is the entire point of the SEC. How is less reporting helping with that. It's an asinine idea.

Chris Willis
210.744.3415
cdub360@me.com

Christa Lineberger — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Quarterly Reporting Change From: Christa Lineberger Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We need more transparency, not less. As someone that is nearing retirement, preserving the funds we have worked so hard to save is critical. We cannot afford to have a market that lacks the information that guides its trajectory.

Christa Lineberger
704.458.6862
"Loving your neighbor means refusing to make your neighbor pay for your comfort."
~Rev. Dr, Janet Garner-Mullins

Christi Johnson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Christi Johnson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please do not change SEC reporting requirements to twice a year. Quarterly reports are necessary to insure transparency for all investors. It is very important that investors be able to see investments in real time in order to make the best decisions with their money.

Thank you,
Christi Johnson
110 Rachel Loop
Burnet, TX 78611

Christi Walsh — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Christi Walsh Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Reporting needs to remain quarterly! I am against the change to semi-annual.

Christian Depauli — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Christian Depauli Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 No way to quarterly reporting!

Sent from my iPhone

Christian Gossett — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Christian Gossett Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Wall St. needs to be told that we've had enough. They feel protected by the corruption of Trump, but he's as mortal as any man. You rich bastards have drank enough of our blood. Stop pushing us.

Sent from my iPhone

Christina Flores — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Christina Flores Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please stop punishing the people for the faults of this administration. We work incredibly hard to keep your pockets lined

---

Christina Kvavle — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Christina Kvavle I am strongly opposed to the proposed move to semi-annual reporting. Public companies have an obligation to keep their shareholders regularly apprised on their performance. A lot can change (and degrade) in 6 months' time. Investors often have a big portion of their retirement assets riding on market performance, and need more frequent updates to make informed investment choices that won't jeopardize their future.

Christina Morrill — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Christina Morrill Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Accountability in business, society, and government is critical. It is imperative that the U.S. has laws that require quarterly reporting so that the public can ensure that public companies are operating lawfully.

Christina Morrill
Auburn, Maine 04210

Christine Bergman — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Christine Bergman Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 There are no legitimate reasons for wanting to cut reporting in half. Those who wish to hide finacial information from the public for as long as possible are not being honest. We need to fight against people who are striving to turn this country into a cleptocracy. It will only widen the gap between the wealthy and everyone else.
This matter to me because extreme wealth inquiry does not make our country greater, more stable, or more prosperous as a whole. I want my adult children to have the opportunity to live a solid middle to upper middle class life. Christine Bergman, retired Church Office Administrator.

Christine Cotton — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Christine Cotton Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Another corrupt deviation by the Republican Party to avoid finding their cheating and fraud. Keep the reports quarterly and stop giving them a chance to do more illegal s.

Christine Cotton
Ellsworth, ME

Christine David — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Christine David Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 keep quarterly report.

Christine Fredette — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Christine Fredette Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 It is bull * and another path to gut the AMERICONNED of financial security.
HUNGER GAMES dystopian existence looms

Christine Hagar — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Christine Hagar Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
In this awful economy we need to preserve every penny and this bill works against average Americans like me, and thier hard earned savings and investments.

Christine Helfrich — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Christine Helfrich Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is very important to financial decisions . It has worked very well to date. And the optional item makes no sense.

Sent from my iPad

Christine Licari — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Christine Licari Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please do not revert to semiannual reports. My spouse and I are retired and can not afford to loose money from our hard earned investments. Christine Licari, Troy Michigan

Sent from my iPhone

---

christine mckenna — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: christine mckenna Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the SEC,Keep the quarterly reporting and don't try to keep us in the dark.

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

---

christine Mullaney — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: christine Mullaney Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Christine Mullaney, retired. Just a little old lady making investment decisions based on the most current information available. Hearing Christmas underperformed in July will not make it easier to make those decisions!

Christine Nathan — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Christine Nathan Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We need to keep everyone reporting so that Enron never happens again. I am recently retired & I feel that transparency has been so lacking in so many businesses. If they want the position of CEO they need to do quarterly reporting so show everything is on the up & up.
.

Christine Smith-Humphrey — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Christine Smith-Humphrey Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This is a really bad idea. It just gives people the impression that you and others have something to hide. It creates a great deal of mistrust that we do not need especially right now.

Christine Sutter — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Christine Sutter Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Christine Sutter Retired CASAC
It’s simple if it’s not broke don’t fix it! I am so tired of all the underhanded nonsense being done! Leave the reporting as it is now!

Sent from my iPhone

Christine Taraskiewicz — Jun 18, 2026

Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Christine Taraskiewicz Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 From: Christine Taraskiewicz, Retired Sales Rep and stock owner, futurist and Interested in the financial success of others. Denver, Colorado.

Quarterly reporting is necessary because I want to know what is going on with the large and larger and larger corporations. Why the fear? Why the secrecy? If someone makes an exorbitant amount of money, then they can celebrate by letting us know how well they are doing.
I'd say its an admirable task to quarterly report their financial status.
Quarterly reporting of the numbers inspires others to aspire these same financial goals.
Save Quarterly Reporting because I want to know about financial success.

If there is a policy change, then they and you are cheating me of valuable information.

Christine Taraskiewicz — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Christine Taraskiewicz Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Christine Taraskiewicz, Retired Sales Rep and stock owner, Denver, Colorado.

Quarterly reporting is necessary because I want to know what is going on with the large and larger and larger corporations.
Why the fear?
Why the secrecy?
If someone makes an exorbitant amount of money, then they can celebrate by letting us know how well they are doing. I'd say its an admirable task to quarterly report their financial status.
Quarterly reporting of the numbers inspires others to aspire these same financial goals.

Save Quarterly Reporting because I want to know about financial success of the United States of America.

Cordially,

Christine Taraskiewicz
Denver, CO
Futurist and Money Observer

Christine Teichmann — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Christine Teichmann Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 keep it Quarterly!

Christine TEICHMANN — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Christine TEICHMANN Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
This is unfair to investors who rely on the quarterly findings. Can we stop finding all the ways to screw the American people?!

Christopher Burroughs — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Do not extend the reporting period From: Christopher Burroughs Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026
The unequal distribution of and access to information about the market has led to a disproportionate lending of radiation and policy influence. Extending the reporting period would only continue our spiral. Increasing the wealth disparity. It is impossible for me and my family to be above survival and manage retirement years without some market interaction. Please for the love of what America was and the hopes of her survival don’t do this.
Sent from my iPhone

Christopher Casebolt — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Christopher Casebolt Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Protect the everyday American and require quarterly reporting.

Christopher D. Casebolt

Christopher Coley — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Christopher Coley Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Enough is enough, you people think it's normal for people to make 6 figures, your normal isn't a normal person's normal. you can afford to live i have 2 BS degrees and can't support my family. all these changes are selfish and corporations need to share more information, it's the right thing to do.

Christopher Holzner — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Christopher Holzner Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
As both a long-time employee of Fortune 500 companies as well as an investor in these same companies, I highly value the quarterly SEC reports.
These reports contain information that is often hard to find. Quarterly reporting also forces companies to keep bad new in front of investors and retired employees. Even with quarterly reporting, there still have been egregious cases of companies hiding critical financial information. Quarterly reporting also helps keep investor faith in the stock market and the US economy in general. Hiding information is never good and will result in a long-term disaster.
Please keep the regulations as they currently stand.

Christopher Sanchez — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Christopher Sanchez Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:

To all this concerns with concern without prejudice from us little guys. Retail investors should be aware of and made informed of information vital to fair and transparent information concerning their financial position in any investment. Moreover the SEC should proudly inform all investors before, after and during any market decision or any other financial transactions are to be made if investors money is involved. I'd want to know how my money is being utilized in all aspects of my investment process with companies across all sectors. The whole idea of investors investing is to make money after all. So SEC please reconsider your position on blind folding the little guy that make these companies big and keep us in the loop on our money moves and how our money moves. We definitely are not here to loose money; we depend on quarterly reports to help us little guys make big impacts on big companies. We are all in this together. Thank you all for your time today. Sincerely I do oppose the opposition. So please keep us informed on all aspects of our investments. Thank you for your time in hope you reconsider your position.

Christopher Walker — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2025-15 comment From: Christopher Walker Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 As an investor, quarterly reports are essential for monitoring my portfolio. Reducing the requirement to report is an unacceptable notion.
Christopher Walker, retiree

Christy Lewis — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Christy Lewis Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This is a horrible idea. Does the SEC not remember the Enron scandal? Six months between financial reporting gives nefarious companies time to hide the creative accounting.
More transparency is better than less.
Christy Lewis
Indiana
Sent from my iPhone

---

christy phillips — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: christy phillips Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 You must continue to require quarterly reporting along with sign-off by the CEO. The responsibility of the CEO was added with reason following Enron. We must have more transparency and accountability-not less. These companies are reporting internally in a monthly basis and quarterly 10ks are no hardship. Protect the public!

Christy Phillips

Sent from my iPhone

---

christy phillips — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: christy phillips Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Maintain quarterly reporting with CEO sign-off and responsibility! You must protect investors and the public! Transparency is critical for the markets and to keep check on companies (who generally won’t go the right thing unless required - history proves this).

Christy Phillips

Sent from my iPhone

Chuck Blatt — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Chuck Blatt Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 The market should be as transparent as possible to make things fair.

Get Outlook for iOS

Chuck Goodwin — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Chuck Goodwin Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We need more transparency, not less. Do not enforce this new rule.

"Everyone is entitled to his own opinion, but not to his own facts." - Daniel Moynihan

"You can dream, create, design, and build the most beautiful place in the world, but it requires people to make it a reality." - Walt Disney

"Grant me the serenity to accept the things I cannot change...the courage to change the things I can. ..and the wisdom to know the difference" - Reinhold Niebuhr

"The world is a dangerous place. Not because of the people who are evil, but because of the people who don't do anything about it." - Albert Einstein

"Nothing can stop the man with the right mental attitude from achieving his goal; nothing on earth can help the man with the wrong mental attitude." - Thomas Jefferson

"Politeness was invented by wise men to keep fools at a distance" - Ralph Waldo Emerson quoted in Harper's

"Secrecy is the freedom tyrants dream of..." - Journalist Bill Moyers, quoted in the Montreal Gazette

"The young man knows the rules, but the old [and wise] man knows the exceptions" - Poet Oliver Wendell Holmes, quoted in the Merced, Calif., Sun-Star

---

Chuck Kuhn — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Chuck Kuhn Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Chuck Kuhn Retired "I'm a retail investor and I rely on quarterly reports to make decisions about my retirement savings" is genuinely valuable on the record.

Chuck Kuhn

Cilicia De La Fuente — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Cilicia De La Fuente Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Protect the investors and stop fraud
I rely on quarterly reports to evaluate my standing with my investments. I am not a wealthy person. I've been ill on and off since 15 with an autoimmune disease that has crippled me at times taking me out of work. During those times, I had to use my retirement savings to live. I was disabled at 43. Wasn't the Securities and Exchange Commission created to protect investors and stop fraud. There is always more fraud when no one is watching! Please do NOT eliminate the quarterly reports.
~C. De La Fuente

---

cindy abel — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: cindy abel Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Transparency is essential to the integrity of business.

Cindy Bakken — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Cindy Bakken Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Cindy Bakken, quit making laws and rules that only help big corporations, it’s the little guys that keep this country moving. Retired citizen that’s tired of government hurting small business.

Sent from my iPad

Cindy Ball — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Cindy Ball Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We have confirmed fraud in our government, and you do not think there is fraud in the accounting matters of a traded company. Atleast, at best, this gives me as a senior citizen with money in the market, legal required documents across the board/sector in the same format company to company for comparison. Keep the quarterly reporting.

Cindy Black — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Cindy Black Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 QUARTERLY!

Sent from my iPhone

---

cindy bryan — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: cindy bryan Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 The only reason to keep records away from investors is fraud. If your companies aren't committing fraud, they will report quarterly.

Cindy Bryan
Fiction Editor
LiteraryWanderlust.com
cindybryanediting.com

Cindy Chapman — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Cindy Chapman Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Do not change the reviews. I depend on quarterly reviews to make sound decisions about my investments. I urge you. Please leave the reviews as they are.

Cindy Croxton — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Cindy Croxton Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 What are yall trying to make corruption as easy as possible for this administration

---

Cindy Hamilton — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Cindy Hamilton Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is essential because it provides a consistent, transparent cadence for companies to disclose financial health to stakeholders. Quarterly reporting helps establish market accountability, reduces fraud, large information gaps, and erratic stock prices. They allow all investors to better track performance, set goals, and make better informed capital decisions.

Thank you, Cindy Hamilton.

Sent from my iPhone

Cindy Hansen — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Cindy Hansen Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is a must for businesses. As a retiree I rely on my broker to help me have enough money to live on for 20 more years. Please don't make it easier for companies to take more and more from the consumer. Banks, especially, need constant oversight, as was witnessed in 2008.
Thank you.

Sent from my iPhone

Cindy Hargett — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Cindy Hargett Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please do not decrease accountability for executives. I worked at a company in NM that had executives skirting the system. It was a horrible thing for employees and our customers to endure
Cindy Hargett
HR Director., Retired

Cindy Henis — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Cindy Henis Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
My view on rule S7 2026 15 is that it will hurt individual investors, but not the Rich. Too many billionaires and trillionaire and not enough people making enough money to live. Is it necessary to ruin another 50 year oldgood practice? First, they take away women's rights after 50 years and now you want to crush the average person again. Don't remove the 50 year-old rule that protects us!

Cindy Liebman — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Cindy Liebman Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 1. The signature is the deterrent.
Four times a year, the CEO and CFO must each put their name to the company's books, certifying they've reviewed the report and that it contains no untrue statement of a material fact. Knowingly certify a false one: up to $1 million and 10 years in federal prison. Do it willfully: up to $5 million and 20 years. The proposal cuts those certified filings from four to two. Half as many moments when anyone at the top must stake their freedom on the truth.

2. Enron's defense was "I didn't know." Congress closed it.
Enron's executives claimed ignorance of their own books, so Congress made ignorance impossible to claim. Every quarter, the CEO and CFO certify that they personally designed and evaluated the controls that surface bad news, and that they reported any weaknesses or fraud to the auditors. The law claws back executive bonuses even without proof the boss was personally involved. Halve the filings, and you halve the quarters where "I didn't know" is off the table.

3. 8-Ks don't come with handcuffs.
The SEC says current reports and press releases will fill the gap. Read the fine print: earnings releases ride on Form 8-K as "furnished," not "filed." That category exempts them from the automatic liability filed reports carry. No outside auditor reviews them, and no certification is required even when an 8-K contains financial statements. The SEC's own proposal concedes the problem. The 8-K may contain information, but it lacks any accountability.

4. We watched the signature crack a $2.7 billion fraud.
Sarbanes-Oxley became law on July 30, 2002. Six days later, HealthSouth's CFO tried to quit rather than certify numbers he knew were fake: "he just couldn't sign the certifications." Months later he went to federal prosecutors and became the first of fifteen executives to plead guilty in a $2.7 billion fraud. A certification costs an honest executive nothing to sign, it just exposes the fraudsters. Why roll them back?

I am requesting that Corporations continue to file (not just "furnish") Earnings and other required reports on a Quarterly basis. The proposed changes would not be in the best interest of the public/ taxpayers.

Thank you,
Cindy Liebman
88 Lawrence Lane
New Brunswick, NJ 08901
732-319-3761

Cindy Lopez — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Cindy Lopez Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Cindy Lopez, Head of People at a medical device startup. I understand the challenges of reporting data on a quarterly basis, and I understand things can change as quickly as day to day. However, it's that quarterly reporting that allows me to make and trust investment decisions that have an impact on my current income and my retirement planning. Not having visibility for six months is too long for informed decision-making and analysis. This transparency for the everyday investor is critical. We are already up against so much when it comes to institutions, don't add one more disadvantage. This is affecting people's abilities to try to grow their funds and ability to care for their families in the future.

Thanks,
Cindy L Lopez
Lopez.L.Cindy@gmail.com
210-415-6909
https://www.linkedin.com/in/cindy-lopez-larson/

Cindy Maple-Picton — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Cindy Maple-Picton Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I am a retired Speech-Language Pathologist who is opposed to increasing the three month reporting period corporations are required to submit to six months. Accountability is important in a timely fashion. They currently comply and it should be no problem for them to continue to do so.

Cynthia Picton, Ashland Oregon.

Cindy Miller — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Cindy Miller Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Stick to quarterly reporting !

Sent from my iPhone

Cindy Setz — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Cindy Setz Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Definitely keep it QUARTERLY! Being a retiree in this country is very difficult with the rising cost of EVERYTHING. I'm selling stuff to make ends meet as it is. Dear Lotd, let's give people a break from all this CRAP.
Cindy Setz, Retiree in Little River, SC

Sent from my iPhone

Cindy Sparks — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Cindy Sparks Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My name is Cindy Sparks a current investor and future retire. Below are reasons and why the SEC should maintain quarterly reports. : (1) I rely on quarterly information to make decisions, (2) longer gaps create an unfair advantage for corporate insiders that do not benefit the public, (3) "optional" doesn't fix the problem because companies that opt in are often the ones whose investors most need frequent updates, (4) this proposal represents savings to companies at the expense of the investors. Companies savings aren't worth the cost to me. This will make it extremely hard for the American people to invest and trust companies and the SEC.

Cindy Switzer — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Cindy Switzer Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We absolutely must have quarterly reporting. It's our desire and need for us to be informed and the reporters accountable. Keep it Quarterly

Get Outlook for iOS

Cindy Thomas — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Cindy Thomas Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please leave it quarterly. I'm getting ready to retire and it would be nice to have at least ONE positive from this year of negative turnover.
Cindy Thomas, Medical Coder

Cindy W — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Cindy W Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 All companies should have quarterly reporting to stop illegal activities. This is a no brainer.
Cynthia Waldron, consumer

Cindy wright — Jun 18, 2026

Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Cindy wright Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 C Wright, retired. Our money is invested in many of these companies, WE have the RIGHT to know what is going on QUARTERLY. Just stop the bull *, stop the possibility that a company can rip us off.

Cissy Whipp — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Cissy Whipp Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please consider people like me. My name is Mary Whipp and I'm a retired educator in Louisiana living on a fixed income. I have a small savings account for emergency use. I cannot afford this rollback to to the "old days " of less reporting. Please keep quarterly reports and protect middle Americans like me!

Sent from my iPhone

CJ Charles — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: CJ Charles Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 The quarterly reporting is vital to investors who value investing in our country. If it is removed, many will no longer feel that the stock market is a viable option.

Claire Terracciano — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Claire Terracciano Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Stop this

---

claire terracciano — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: claire terracciano Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep quarterly reports

---

Clara West — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Clara West Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is absolutely necessary for transparency in the business world & In the stock market. I think there are enough things against the individual investor already. You don't need to add anymore, and transparency is what it keeps things on the up, and up, at least to some degree secrecy destroys others.Please do not do this.

Clarence Beede — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Clarence Beede Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Commissioners,
My name is Clarence T Beede. Retired 78 year old native Montanan. I suspect that most people are unaware that the SEC is proposing to change Public Company reporting from quarterly to semi-annual. However, I'm an American born citizen, honorably discharged US Army veteran, career working man and I'm opposed to this rule change. I live on social security and some investments I've managed to put aside over the past 65 years of working and paying taxes. I don't have much, not enough for investment managers to take interest in me, and what I have I manage myself. I'm not a financial educated person, just a blue collar working man. However, I've taught my self to take control of my money and I do invest much of it in public companies. I've had failures, some my fault some caused by bad information regarding companies I invested in I for one read all I can about the companies I put my money in. Sometimes even 90 days is way to long to wait for company reports. Semi annual reporting would make this even worse.

Please don't implement proposed S7-2026-15

Clarence Copping — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Clarence Copping Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We need as much corporate financial transparency as possible not less!

Sent from my iPhone

Clarence Wells — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Clarence Wells Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This is a very dangerous change for small investors we should keep it the same.

Sent from my iPhone

Clarice Wong-Morrison — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Clarice Wong-Morrison Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I think in this age of lightning speed information access why would the SEC blind the average investor?

Sent from my iPhone

Claudia Kelson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Claudia Kelson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 KEEP IT QUARTERLY. LET THE SUNSHINE IN.

Claudia Krusr — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Claudia Krusr Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Claudia L Kruse retired therapist, El Cerrito Ca. Quarterly reporting is a barometer of how my investments are doing and I want it to stay that way to help me make intelligent decisions in a timely manner.

Claudia Kruse
clk141@sonic.net
(510) 210-2278

---

claudia trapp — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: claudia trapp Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 As a retiree, it is important to keep track of financial details that can affect my life and daily living. This change puts big corporations at an additional advantage.

Claudia Trapp
Westmont Illinois

Clayton Foster — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Clayton Foster Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Data is how we make informed decisions and how we keep people and corporations honest. Quarterly reporting has worked for decades. Changing that will only encourage and allow corruption and the theft of our savings.

Sent from my iPhone

Clayton Selch — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Clayton Selch I believe that allowing companies to public release their financial documents would be a disaster for private investors such as myself. Less frequent release of financial information greatly reduces the information flow from public companies to the investors. Reducing such information would make it harder to know what is going on within a company that you are financially involved in. As a public company, they have a duty to release this information to the public consistently and frequently. As an investor (and as such, an owner) I believe I have the right to receiving this information quarterly. Reducing information flow only allows companies to hide from their investors and owners and does not increase the confidence in public companies or the stock market as a whole.

Clever Taco — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Clever Taco Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This is corruption made legal. Just like with space X, changing the rules in a way that only hurts retail investors, the common man and woman. Please don't do this. We, the people, have had enough of the government corruption, especially when legalized to benefit only the rich, elites, and insiders at the top.

Cliff Douglas — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Cliff Douglas Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I know that it seems unAmerican to think about the people the Government is supposed to serve. This is info that actually could make a difference in the people's well being. We've got enough of supporting the suites that cost us money. Keep it fair and honest. Don't hide anymore. Be fair.

Doug Gadbury - American

Clifford — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Clifford Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Cliff Vorrier, construction management. Quarterly reporting is essential to maintaining a higher level of transparency. Look at history to see the disaster that this will become, taking my retirement and millions of others with it. It's a cost of doing business and doing it right, a cost companies can easily afford. Stop this nonsense and keep the rules as they are.

Sent from my iPhone

Clifford GIlkey — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Clifford GIlkey Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Protect workers, investors and the average Americans from possible fraud. Things improved with the quarterly reporting. It is established and by this point not considered an unnecessary burden. Do not remove this necessary protection

Sent from my iPhone

Clifford Thomas — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Clifford Thomas Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Reffram the action of platform of the company purchase of the investment

---

clmelder — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: clmelder Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Charles L Melder - Retired - Stock Holder
Dear Sirs,
The majority of my retirement fund resides in my stock holdings and I need to see a stock report more frequently than twice per year. Outlooks, reassessment, and other factors change rapidly these days and six month reporting interval is simply not adequate.
Please retain the quarterly reporting model.

Thank You,
Charles L Melder
Bellville, Texas

"Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends."
~ Jesus Christ

CM Evans E-Commerce — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: CM Evans E-Commerce Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Simply a BAD IDEA. I don't even know why this is under consideration! What kind of business doesn't keep their books up to date enough to report quarterly??
Carla Crader
Private Citizen

. . .

---

cmhdannyb — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: cmhdannyb Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 The publicity surrounding corporate corruption shows it getting worse not better! Leave the quarterly accountability in place! Producing the documentation is easy with their computers, so why would they have any valid argument to reduce their own accountability!
James Blankenship
4060 Capensis Lane
Ravenel, SC 29470
Cmhdannyb@aol.com

Sent from my iPad

Cody Sherman — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Cody Sherman Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reports are an important component in a competent financial ecosystem. I do not support removing Quarterly Reports. Thank you for your time.

Cody, ERP Manager

Sent from my iPhone

Coley Grubb — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Coley Grubb Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 On orders from the commander of cheats. Why can't we convict him?

Sent from AT&T Yahoo Mail on Android

Colin Elliott — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Colin Elliott Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is crucial to maintain oversight and ensure stewardship of monies provided to companies. Changing the current regulations, provides the opportunity for companies to mislead, investors, and the Board of Directors.

I implore you to keep reporting on a quarterly basis.

Companies need to properly report their economic metrics to their shareholders on a timely basis.

Colin Elliott
Board Advisor

Colin Haverkamp — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Colin Haverkamp Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
I'm a teacher and I manage many of my own investments for retirement and my family's future. I need to know that the market I'm in is well informed, as well as having that information for my own decisions. Leave quarterly reporting alone and let's not play with making things any harder than they already are for working people to J. share the fruits of our economy.

Colin Madrid — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Colin Madrid Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
We should not end the quarterly reporting requirements. It is important to be transparent with investors. It would be better to add earnings every month to get rid of earnings volatility. The earnings is annoying and should take place every month to make it more mundane and to help people get the word quicker about new details. This will create healthy trading opportunities. Don't decrease the frequency of earnings.

Colleen Healey — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Colleen Healey Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Colleen Healey, retired social worker LSW, Keep the SEC reporting quarterly so that all investors are aware of the status of the growth of their investment portfolio. Colleenhealey7@gmail.com

---

Colleen MacVean — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Colleen MacVean Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission: stopping quarterly reporting is bad for investors because it takes away our knowledge and ability to make better informed decisions on our hard earned money. This also gives an advantage to insiders.

Colleen Murray — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Colleen Murray Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Don't stop quarterly reporting please!!

Sent from my iPhone

Colleen Rainey — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Colleen Rainey Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Do not take away quarterly investment reports. It leaves most of us in the dark

---

Colleen Reardon — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Keep it quarterly From: Colleen Reardon Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Cutting back on quarterly reporting is just telling CEOs that fraud will be easier. The laws changed after Enron for a very good reason. I see no reason and certainly no evidence that changing this would be a good thing.

Colleen Reardon
Jenkintown, PA

Comcast — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Comcast Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the quarterly reports coming.

Sent from my iPhone

Comcast — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Comcast Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This quarterly reporting is necessary for all investors.

Sent from my iPhone

Connie Abner — Jun 18, 2026

Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Connie Abner Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
It only stands to reason that more information for retail investors the better. Nothing good ever comes from holding (hiding) important information. Full disclosure is a vital part of doing good business, Period! Do the ethical thing ! No one what's to feel they aren't being treated with the same respect others demand.

Connie Arnold — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Connie Arnold Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I need to know quarterly about investments.

CONNIE EGBERS — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: CONNIE EGBERS Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the quarterly reporting! Quit trying to hide market fluctuations which impacts Americans ability to make sound decisions regarding their investments. Continue quarterly reporting!

Sent from my iPad

Connie Fisher — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Connie Fisher Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is a must, keeps companies more honest.
This is my signature.
Sent from my iPhone

---

connie hoffman — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: connie hoffman Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We are fighting for the little guy, something all those elected officials should be doing! Quarterly reports are necessary, prevents those cheating from doing it even more easily! Retired Family of Sargent Major KING, US Army.

Sent from my iPad

Connie Knapp — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Connie Knapp Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 How could we trust a company if it has 6 months to "hide" their earnings or losses?

Connie Nicholson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Connie Nicholson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
As a small investor whose retirement savings are extremely important to me, I find that the lessening of accountability would be quite concerning.

there were good reasons for putting quarterly reporting in place. We must maimtain these regulations.

Connie Scott — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Connie Scott Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is not onerous it is necessary for investors to follow the financial reports of operation in order to make sound financial decisions. The apparatus to complete quarterly reports is in place now and should be continued. Weaker reporting standards give more opportunities to manipulate the books.
Connie Scott, retired real estate broker and accountant

Sent from my iPhone

Connie Tenkhoff — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Connie Tenkhoff Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Connie Tenkhoff, retired Verizon.

The quarterly reporting was put in place to eradicate fraud. Changing to semi-annual, especially in today's climate of well documented fraud, only opens the door for more fraud.
I worked all my life to earn the money for my investments, and do not want them stolen by greedy peoples. Please do not change these laws.
Thank you.

Constance Goeden — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Constance Goeden Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:

Keep companies accountable! Quarterly, please!!

---

cooperkat — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: cooperkat Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Hands off my money. You are theives and bullies and this is despicable. You will rot in hell for what you're doing.

Sent from my Galaxy

Corey Rodgers — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Corey Rodgers Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Not requiring quarterly financial and business information would leave the general public unfairly exposed while insiders can manipulate values of companies and pump and dump stocks to prey on the every day hard working private citizens who are trying just to save for retirement.
Please consider your constituents when making your voting decision on Rule S7-2026-15.
Sincerely,
Corey Rodgers

CORINNE MAHER — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: CORINNE MAHER Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 The corruption is bad, real bad in the US. WE MUST stop it when we can. The greed is horrific! Companies want to fly under the radar to make more profits. While the general public, you and me, suffer by paying more for products and services. It’s ridiculous! Make more stringent laws to protect all US citizens rather than corporations. I’m an ordinary American citizen fed up with corporate greed and lack of monitoring those practices from the top down, and that includes the White House!

Cort Mankin — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Cort Mankin Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 For the protection of investors and in the name of transparency, keep quarerly reporting a rule .

Corwin Zechar None — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Corwin Zechar Reducing the reporting requirements for public corporations from quarterly (four times per year) to semi annually (two times per year) is a huge mistake. This will make it much harder for investors to adequately analyze a company's financial data and make educated decisions about whether to invest or potentially divest. I have a portfolio of several stocks, representing assets of several million dollars. Proposals like this make me angry. This creates myriad problems for small investors like myself.

Courtney Haverland — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Courtney Haverland Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is essential for consumers to remain informed. Frequent reports allow consumers to make informed decisions regarding their investments. Less frequent reporting allows too much data and information to not be disclosed to the consumer and gives consumers less visibility, less options, and less control. The quarterly reports I receive are important to me and I would never, given the choice, decide to receive those reports less often. My name is Courtney Haverland. My location is in Southern California. My career is education.

Courtney Smith-Kilbury — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Courtney Smith-Kilbury Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We need to maintain quarterly reporting. Prioritize corporate transparency.

Courtney Walker — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Courtney Walker Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Agreed

---

cprackham — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: cprackham Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 It does not cost anymore to report quarterly than it did 20 years ago and indeed, it probably costs less given today's levels of record keeping technology. Quarterly accountability keeps corporations as honest as reasonably possible while holding management responsible, thus shielding the market from unchecked abuse.

Regards

Craig Coelho — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Craig Coelho Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Punish their hubris, and demand reports every 60 days.

Craig Conrad — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Craig Conrad Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Time to stop the robbing and illegal laundering money.

Craig Howard — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Craig Howard Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 What was wrong with reporting quarterly? Since they are public companies the public deserves to know how they are doing more than twice a year. Craig Howard retired former ATT Sr. mgr

---

Craig MacPherson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Craig MacPherson As a retired Chartered Financial Analyst (CFA) I urge you to retain quarterly financial result reporting. It would be unwise to reduce publicly available financial results. If anything I feel you should be making the 10Qs even more robust. I hope you will take the interest of the individual investor to heart. More information not less. Thank you.

Craig Morelan — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Craig Morelan Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:

Don't deprive small investors of critical leveling the playing field data.

Craig Stevens — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Craig Stevens Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Craig Stevens a retiree in New Orleans, Louisiana who is dependent upon my investment funds to cover my expenses. Need to be aware of status of funds as early as possible.

---

creatch68 — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: creatch68 Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I'm a single woman living on my retirement income. I rely on quarterly reporting to budget and manage my investments. I don't want corporate insiders to have advantages while I'm flying blind and possibly losing the savings I worked for all my life.

Sent from my Galaxy

Cris Brendel — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Cris Brendel Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 How about starting at the top - but we all know they will lie through their teeth

---

Cristina Fabianovich — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Cristina Fabianovich Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We need quarterly reporting! Anything less at this point feels malicious in intent. The SEC should strive for the utmost amount of transparency as possible, delivering Americans information they need, not allowing less.

Sincerely,
Tina Fab
Mother and business manager

Crud Catcher — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Crud Catcher Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 The change to semi-yearly is irresponsible- just asking for a crash. It leaves normal investors (like the millions of us with investments for retirement) taking the losses. These losses, and the lower buying power people have after these losses, further damages the economy

Sent from Olivia's iPhone

Crystal Adams — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Crystal Adams Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Allowing less accountability is wrong. No information on your investment will encourage bad behavior by corporations. Further more it reduces valuable information need to invest wisely and encourage investments. I believe they have demonstrated their ability to comply to quarterly reports and should be told they must continue to do so.

Crystal Mitchell — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Crystal Mitchell Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Yes keep the compliance of reporting the financial wellness of companies, keep the integrity of the investment.

The SEC requires quarterly reporting (on Form 10-Q) to ensure continuous transparency, prevent fraud, and provide investors with standardized checkpoints to assess a company's financial health throughout the fiscal year. This regular cadence allows shareholders to evaluate business performance and make informed investment decisions.

Don't change what is not broken to satisfy the immoral behavior of a handful of people.

We demand transparency of the companies that our hard earned money is investing in.

First it will every six months and then it would be no need to report at all.

Sincerely,

A concerned investor.

Crystal NelsonNield — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Crystal NelsonNield Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Please do not modify current corporate reporting requirements. The quarterly reporting is a valuable tool we utilize to keep informed in order to make better decisions. Thank you. Crystal

---

CT — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: CT Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reports ensure transparency to shareholders. Biannual filings/reporting poses a significant risk to shareholders Nd the markets, especially given the speed of geopolitical and AI-driven changes that affect valuation. Chris Hemingway-Turner, President, Missouri.

Cynthia Bryant — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Cynthia Bryant Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Name: Lynell D.
Occupation: College Professor
Location: Louisiana

WHY
We do not want go back! There are a few things in the past that need to be repeated. The past is for learning, not repeating. Even those things that worked well in the past, but were ended,should be enhanced in the present so that they will work better in the future. When it comes to the money that I have worked my entire life for, I want to move forward into the future with confidence that my work, planning, and sacrifices were worth it. You have enough information to know that the proposed strategy of the past does not work. Please do not play with the lives and livelihoods of American citizens. Do the right thing.

Sent from my iPhone

Cynthia Crawford — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Cynthia Crawford Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 No, do not roll back reporting. Let’s not regress. Quarterly reporting is needed.

Sent from my iPhone

Cynthia Hatch — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Cynthia Hatch Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please keep these quarterly financial reports quarterly. I formation is the key for intelligent decisions. Cynthia Hatch.

Cynthia Klein — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Cynthia Klein Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission: I've worked too hard to blindly let others through investing have their way with my lifetime of savings without regular accounting reports. Please leave accounting reports as quarterly.

Cynthia Law — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Cynthia Law Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Good morning

It is in the interests of the general public that quarterly reporting continues. People need to be aware of financial reporting in order to adjust their investments accordingly. Our retirement savings are increasingly important and we need every opportunity to maximize growth.

Please do not limit public access to all relevant information by decreasing reports to every 6 months!!!

Cynthia Law

Cynthia McConnell — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Cynthia McConnell Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please stop feeding the divide: Do not implement this proposal given the potential detrimental affects on the middle class. Thank you.

Cynthia Miller — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Cynthia Miller Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To: SEC, Cynthia Miller, retired, please quarterly reporting in place. If my portfolio is diminished I would no longer be able to stay in my home.
Thank you

Cynthia Neill — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Cynthia Neill Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I am Cynthia N , I'm retired ,a widow , live on SS and once a yr dividends, small ones that come in to help me barely get my bills paid. I have limited stock investments. I grew up on the farm , my husband farmed till he passed away. The only thing that will come of changing the quarterly reporting is a way to be dishonest. To cheap lie steal hide Please don't put the temptation in front of people to do that. You will be answering to God for it. Thank you

Sent from my iPhone

Cynthia Newman — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Cynthia Newman Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Leave the quarterly reporting as it is. We as investors need to know what is happening with our investments on a quarter basis. Why change it, other than allowing big corps to hide??

Cynthia Ruffin — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Cynthia Ruffin Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Totally against dropping quarterly reports. Where is the conscience of men? When will they see they are selling their souls to greed?

Cynthia D. Ruffin

(504) 415-1691

Email Disclaimer
The information contained in this transmission may contain privileged and confidential information, including client information protected by federal and state privacy laws. It is intended only for the use of the person(s) named above. If you are not the intended recipient, you are hereby notified that any review, dissemination, distribution, or duplication of this communication is strictly prohibited. If you are not the intended recipient, please contact the sender by reply email and destroy all copies of the original message.

Cynthia Sutton — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Cynthia Sutton Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please protect consumers and investors from laws like this that allow a lack of transparency.

Everyday people should be able to go about their daily lives and be reasonably able to maintain civic responsibility without making it a full-time job. Caveat emptor is a lousy system of government, and only benefits those who have the most money and power.

…so maybe, underlying all of this, work on some legislation that will make it possible for legislators to spend more time going about the business they want to be doing - taking care of the American people - instead of having to scramble to make sure that they have enough money to run a campaign that is competitive on the post-Citizens United world.

Thank you,
Cynthia Sutton

Cynthia Vega — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Cynthia Vega Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Stop allowing the rich to rob our country. Enough is enough its you job to protect and watch do your job properly no friend deals no loopholes. Do the job your office was started for. CynthiaVega retired America Telephone & Telegraph . Tucson Arizona

---

Cynthia W Tuma — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Cynthia W Tuma Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Dear SEC Administration, Please continue the quarterly reports. These reports help investors help the companies.

Recommendation of good companies to invest in will be slowed. Those who have funds in savings will leave them in the banks and quarterly CDs. This put less investment in stocks because it will take folks a year to get money out of their trusts, or bond type funds, then determine where to invest. I hope leaders in the SEC want investors to have more fluidity in the markets tan 6 month reporting will support.
Sincerely,
Cynthia Ulrich

Sent from my iPhone

Cyre Par — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Cyre Par Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We do quarterly reports for a reason there’s no reason to turn it back. This is just another swipe at the middle class. Unequivocally do not want to go back to 1955.

Sent from my iPhone

D C — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: D C Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Don't change this law leave it alone!!

They will give you a bible in prison but they take God out of school don't y'all think if God was in school less people would be in prison with a bible

---

D Gun — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: D Gun Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 No reasonable businessman would buy a company based on a financial audit that is 6 months old. Investors in the market shouldn't be asked to do it either.

D K — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: D K Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is essential to tracking performance and is less susceptible to window-dressing than semi-annual reporting. Semi-annual reporting would potentially allow poor performance to be temporarily bolstered and could result in dramatic changes on a year over year basis that could dramaticaly negatively impact shareholder value. I strongly oppose changing quarterly reporting.

D Killion — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: D Killion Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep quarterly Too easy hurt investors otherwise

D M — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: D M Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the quarterly reports! I don't want to have to wait every 6 months to find out that my investments are failing because I can't get the information to make an informed decision sooner.

D Mars — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: D Mars Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Stop making the rich richer while I don't have enough to eat and groceries are outrageously high!!!

D P — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: D P Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
I do want quarterly reports from the SEC and I want to know what is going on in the investment community.
the SEC's silence will only lead to more corruption from the Trump White House

---

d powers — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: d powers Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Come on now this is wrong.
Denise P. Glenview, Il

Sent from my iPhone

D T — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: D T Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 WTF

D V — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: D V Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Dennis volentine asst manager Baton Rouge Louisiana We need to keep the reporting as they are now less reports means more ways for companies to hide money and falsely report. I am ready to retire and can’t afford a drop in my investments.

Sent from my iPhone

D W Stucky — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: D W Stucky Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Insiders profit, average citizens suffer. This strike me as another move to create an Oligarchy run government.

Sent from my iPad

D. Jordan — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: D. Jordan Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 You are enabling criminal activity and it is both foul and obvious. Do not allow these criminals the secrecy to take full advantage if their position of free theft. That is not in the bill of rights.
Donald Jordan, Vietnam Veteran US Army
Indiana resident

D. Yitz Goldstein — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: D. Yitz Goldstein Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:

There is zero good reason to reduce reporting transparency and allow malfeasance with more limited reporting. I am firmly against reducing reporting frequency as it maintains open communication about ongoing activities. Less frequent reporting will cause company "gambles" which increases risk to the general public and could be the tipping point for major market negative driving forces.

D.J. DeAustria — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: D.J. DeAustria Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 it ought to be monthly

---

Dacotah Turner — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Dacotah Turner Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Dacotah Turner, senior software engineer, Seattle.

Transparency in the market is not only pivotal for investors, but also the market of a healthy market. When corporations and business are comfortable with full transparency its a byproduct of strong standards of procedures and allows for businesses to adjust with the market. We have already tried to move to less reporting and it proved that without accountability and transparency bad decisions are left to fester. It also allows bad actors to leech off of once successful businesses.

Dale Abrahams — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Dale Abrahams Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I support quarterly reports. This is very important for all investors
Dale Abrahams

Dale Adams — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Dale Adams Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I am opposed to ending quarterly reports and this will decrease transparency, consumer information and enable manipulation of Wall Street money to disadvantage all Americans.

Dale Ayton — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Dale Ayton Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 The removal of accountability checkpoints in this country has got to stop! This is Notte move forward, but obviously a move backward, and also in the wrong direction! Regulatory measures are necessary in a responsible society. The rich already have too many loopholes to jump through to avoid accountability. Please represent our country with a moral and ethical guardrails!

Dale Barnes — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Dale Barnes Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I am an investor, can read financial statements and believe this is a very bad idea. Quarterly reporting has been required as it is harder to hide bad news quarter to quarter. This would be a disaster.

Dale Kim — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Dale Kim Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Please, less information is only helpful to insiders and institutions who pay experts and staff to keep track. This unlevels the field and creates more inequality in an already unequal playing field. More scams, more scandals, and less transparency can only end up in catastrophe. The stock market should be fair, companies must report quarterly or else they may be tempted to cover or disguise material information before its too late. Thank you.

Dale Peterson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Dale Peterson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep it Quarterly, I deserve to retire with dignity.
Dale J. Peterson
18561 county road 12
Pengilly Mn 55775-2195

Dale Reynolds — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Dale Reynolds Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 It did not work then why is going to work now. It would be easier for people to do illegal things or to hide things.

Dalton Perry — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Dalton Perry Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly? No! Considering current business and political environment these reports should be filled publicly and MONTHLY! %3[illegible] Dalton Perry, California Institute of Technology, Retired%3[illegible]

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Dan Baltrusaitis — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Dan Baltrusaitis Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting has been the hallmark of corporate transparency. Going to semi annual reporting will give too much room for corporate malfeasance and significantly lower transparency with consumers and shareholders. Do not change the current reporting rules!

Dan Delk — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Dan Delk Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Do not change the quarterly reporting! This is nothing but a money grab for insiders.
Dan Delk. Retired engineer.

Dan

Dan Eby — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Dan Eby Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please keep the quarterly SEC reporting requirement. This information is vital to investors and is reasonable. My name is Dan Eby, St Peters, MO 63376.

Sent from my iPhone

Dan Ion — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Dan Ion Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 It should honestly be shorter than quarterly. Probably monthly reporting would be better

Dan Ion
Software integration tester

Dan Leunig — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Dan Leunig Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Greetings SEC leadership,
As an owner of stocks and bonds (directly and via Fidelity funds) I oppose changing regulations to allow public companies to report bi-annually.
Effective corporate governance is key to a working stock market and effective capitalism.
Governance cannot be effective if companies do not regularly report their economic health and results.
I oppose the change.
Regards,
Dan Leunig
Kansasville, WI

Dan M. Sivertsen — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Dan M. Sivertsen Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Dan Sivertsen. Retired. I do not want to lose my retirement to big business fraud. Quarterly reports tell me what is going on with my investments.

Dan No — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Dan No Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 no changes to quarterly earnings report please Need to have consistent snd verifiable numbers on frequent enough schedule to make changes if necessary.

Sent from my iPhone

Dan Pfeiffer — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Dan Pfeiffer Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please HELP keep the corporations responsible for reporting quarterly to their stock holders !

Dan Roach — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Dan Roach Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Why would this be any good. If anything there needs to be more

---

Dan Skill — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Dan Skill Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I want more transparency, not less. Real time information would be ideal, albeit impractical. NO to semi-annual disclosure
Daniel Skill

Dan Tighe — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Dan Tighe Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 DO NOT RETURN TO SEMI ANNUAL REPORTING. That would be a giant step backward.

Sent from my iPhone

Dan Williams — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Dan Williams Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Stop Big Corp and billionaires from hiding. Stop destroying the country from within and screwing over US citizens.

Dan Zachary — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Dan Zachary Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 With all the fraud that is happening this seems like a very bad idea. openness and honesty are what’s needed. transparency above all.

Sent from my iPhone

Dana Browning — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Dana Browning Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reports works fine. Don't fix it if it's not broken.

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Dana Waite Esposito — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Dana Waite Esposito Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We cannot stand for this. It’s stealing disguised as efficiency. Why would I invest if I cannot monitor activity? This is the latest in the current administration’s misdirected policies. Please, Do Not Let This Happen!! It’s just wrong. KEEP IT QUARTERLY!!!

Sent from my iPhone

Dana Wilkerson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Dana Wilkerson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To whom it may concern,

We need to keep the current transparency of quarterly reporting. It has worked well at keeping investors informed for decades. We cannot be proactive if we don't see what may be happening.

As someone not far from retirement, this is extremely important to me. I am a Purchasing Manager for a large coal company and am trying like everyone else to build a retirement for myself outside of Social Security. I was not able to invest in my younger years and am trying to catch up now.

There is no reason that would benefit the people to lessen the disclosure.

Sincerely,
Dana Wilkerson

Concerned citizen from Illinois

DANIEL CONDE — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: DANIEL CONDE Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My name is The people, and I’m a week to week paycheck earner with 2.5 children and it is absolutely essential that I have an opportunity to see for myself what the company I have a stake in is doing at least four times a year. Before it went public the owners of the company received reports weekly more likely then not. As a public company it is financially irresponsible for the company to report to its owners less then four times per year. My vested interest in what my money is is doing in their pockets is my right . Why do I refer to it as a right? Here's why because the stock market, and public ownership is an American Made opportunity to happiness and prosperity for all those who have invested in said company. As such my liberty to be informed, and my right to the pursuit of happiness is directly affected by this change ! It will undoubtedly affect my ability to have any confidence in said opportunities to be what they were sold as, since this utters nothing but a scam equivalent to the mortgage scams made possible during the deregulation of the banking industry and the famous Fanny Mae n Freddy Mac candles that nearly broke the economy in 2009. Remember when America had to bail out the auto industry and real estate plummeted ? Well I do I lost almost a quarter of a million dollars in that sham of greed and back door deals ! Make this stop before these corporate gluttons destroy our economy again !

Sincerely Jon Q Public

DANIEL FARLEY — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: DANIEL FARLEY Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Daniel Farley, retired. Midland Mi.

Honestly as failed us as a society. Don't remove any opportunity for company leaders to lie to the American public and stockholders. Lying is no more than fraud don't let it happen.

Get Outlook for Android

Daniel Hansen — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Daniel Hansen Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Im 80 years old If this happens it would make me homeless in less than a year. Please do not do this.

Daniel Harmelink — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Daniel Harmelink Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Daniel Harmelink retired I believe the quarterly reporting is necessary and has been working for the people.

Daniel McElroy — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Daniel McElroy Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My name is Daniel McElroy and as an artist who works many jobs and has a portfolio that I manage, not knowing for a year how my investments are doing is extremely concerning. This is allowing companies to hide until they can get their act together. We can't allow that.

Daniel Mchugh — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Daniel Mchugh Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Why in gods name would you allow any window of time to allow these companies who cannot steal enough no matter what or how the country and people are doing they find a way to steal 1 more dollar. Stop them in their tracks please.

Sent from Daniel McHugh's iPhone

Daniel Treger — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Daniel Treger Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I disagree with this proposal. It will hurt retirees like me, who survive off of our investments. It will also hurt theneconomy in general, which relies upon high returns and high market capitalization. Why would this even be considered? My entire family is retired, and the lower valuations that would result from this proposal will cause all of us to lose parts of our savings. This is a bad proposal for all Americans.

Daniel Treger, Beverly, MA, Retired attorney.
Dan Treger

Daniel Tyson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Daniel Tyson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 The Quarterly Reports helps to keep investors calm and informed.

Sent from my Verizon, Samsung Galaxy smartphone
Get Outlook for Android

Danielle Goodsell — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Danielle Goodsell Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
These rules were put in place to protect small investors from poor practices.
Why must we learn lessons repeatedly.
Do your job as regulators!

Danielle Hyatt — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Danielle Hyatt Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission: for the people by the people.

Danielle Monique — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Danielle Monique Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please keep it as is.

Sent from my iPhone

Dannie Dorito — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Dannie Dorito Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Radiation in STL creek due to the Manhattan project caused my dad to have cancer and die. Now you want to do this. No. Stop hiding from us or when donald is gone you will be heavily held accountable. No pardons escape justice for this level of corruption, not in 2026, and sure the hell not after. We see what you're doing with our rules and regulations in this country and we've had enough.

Darcey Harrison — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Darcey Harrison Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Quarterly reports are one of the few tools regular investors have to keep track of what's happening inside public companies. Six months is a long time—companies can take on a lot of debt, lose customers, or run into legal trouble. Quarterly reporting helps make sure investors don't have to wait half a year to find out.
Transparency is what keeps our markets fair. Many major corporate scandals have gotten worse because problems stayed hidden for too long. Quarterly reports won't eliminate fraud, but they help shine a light on issues before they have a chance to grow.
Big investment firms and company insiders already have access to more information and resources than the average investor. Quarterly reporting helps level the playing field by giving everyone regular updates on a company's financial health. Without it, everyday investors would be at an even greater disadvantage.
Do not make it easier to defraud the American people. We are better than that!
Sincerely,
Darcey A. Harrison

Darcy Thome — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Darcy Thome Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Transparency is the only way to keep trust, without trust we cannot support these businesses
Darcy Thome
Corporate Secretary/Treasurer

Get Outlook for Android

Darius Matonis — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Darius Matonis Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting NEEDS TO STAY! Do not change the ruling!

Sent from my iPhone

Darlene R Shaughnessy — Jun 18, 2026

Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Darlene R Shaughnessy Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This restriction of information about public companies only benefits bad corporations. There is too much fraud in the market now and this rule would increase investor fears of more corruption. The costs to the corporations is small compared to the risk for investors.

Thanks!

Darlene Shaughnessy

Darline Garippo — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Darline Garippo Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 D.Zurawski, hopeful soon retiree, NOT a good idea. This is an underhanded method of decreasing my retirement savings. Unlike my government representatives, I am not allowed the privilege of using insider information to trade. I must rely on quarterly reporting to make sound financial decisions. Why must I punished in order to save big business and their over compensated executives.

Darnell Barber — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Darnell Barber Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 DD Moye. I will rely on my investments in retirement so it is critical I select strong companies with good profit margins. If my investments research is six months old, I would be putting a considerable portfolio of my retirement income at risk which I cannot afford to do. Leave the reporting quarterly as it's worked for almost 100yrs. No change is needed or wanted!

Thank you

Sent from my iPhone

Darren Young — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Darren Young Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This is an incredibly unethical and bad proposal. It will allow companies to hide more fraud and financial wrongdoing from their investors and from govt. entities like yourselves that are supposed to keep watch and regulate companies from such corruption. Please do not change financial reporting from quarterly to biannually.

Sincerely,
Darren R Young

Darrin Montagna — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Quarterly Reporting From: Darrin Montagna Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I value my investments and urge you to keep quarterly reporting rules in place.
Sincerely, Darrin Montagna

2325 Asbury Ave
Vineland, NJ 08360

Daryl Reynolds — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Daryl Reynolds Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the quarterly reports open to the public.

Dasilva Reid — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Dasilva Reid Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission: Rule S7, should definitely be a consideration. It reduces some burden. Stated of the vitality of quarts, informed flow. Such are allocated within portfolio's and automated insights. S7 rule foremost should be at an marketable investor(s) mental helm.

Dave — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Dave Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Leave quarterly. Need transparency. Too many shady CEOs and Board Members.
Dave Ryan. 641-756-0561

Dave Brewster — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Dave Brewster Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My name is David Brewster in Virginia. I am writing to ask the quarterly reporting to continue. The need for accountability is even more important now than ever! This is essential to how we make decisions about investing and retirement funds.

Thank you for your time and consideration!

Respectfully,
David Brewster

Dave Eschborn — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Dave Eschborn Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We all know this is a way for the rich to get richer. They will just keep finding ways to line their pockets at the expense of hard working Americans who can barley keep a roof over their head and food on their table.

Dave Harlow — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Dave Harlow Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the quarterly reporting. So much is changing in our world some good but transparent reporting is always the best way! Keep the quarterly financial reporting. Thank you. Jill S. Harlow at jsh.daisy@gmail.com

---

Dave Hibst — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Dave Hibst Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My name is David Hibst I am a US Citizen who remembers why the law about quarterly reporting was mandated.
And it was because of all the dishonesty among CEO s and their companies were costing investors to lose millions

Keep the law intact!
It discourages financial fraud

Dave Lassen — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Dave Lassen Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is an absolute must.

Dave Midlik — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Dave Midlik Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the quarterly reporting.....

Dave Urban — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Dave Urban Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Dave Urban, Retired Investor...
Keep the reporting Quarterly !!!

I rely on quarterly information to make my financial investment decisions. Longer gaps create an unfair advantage for corporate insiders and "optional" doesn't fix the problem because companies that opt in are often the ones whose investors most need frequent updates. The savings to companies aren't worth the potential cost to me because of the delayed or lack of important information.

Dave Vella — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Dave Vella Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 David Vella of course, quarterly reporting should stay. All investors should have equal access to PUBLIC companies financial picture and hear from the insiders (CEO and CFO) on the future. Not providing this regular and critical quarterly access would be one more way you bow to facism, slowly deteriorating information for the masses. This is an attempt to further degrade an already rigged system.
CPA
You are the SEC. You should review why you are in existence ! You are here to protect me, not Mansanto. Get it. Mansanto and every other company has the money for quarterly reporting. I got an idea. How about instead of companies buying politicians, spending millions on lobbying, or greasing the palms of the SEC, they use that money for quarterly reporting and increase dividends.

Dave Watson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Dave Watson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep quarterly reports.

Dave Webb — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Dave Webb Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly financial reports are critical to transparent investing, informed decision making and financial planning for every investor. If I give my money to a company to grow the business, there must be timely information provided back to me. It must be a two way street. KEEP FINANCIAL REPORTING QUARTERLY!

Dave
Dave Webb
davewebb987@gmail.com

---

dave wood — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: dave wood Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 There is an expression " if it ain't broke, don't fix it "! That expression holds true here. The only possible reason to change it to semi annual is based around corruption. There are rumblings of potential Social Security rollback, which makes our savings even more important than ever. With that being said, why would you even risk the possibility of history, repeating itself, which can affect peoples savings? My opinion is learn from your mistakes, and back off. You Republicans never seem to have anybody's interest except the corporations, and the billionaires. Transparency is vital! Keep the quarterly reports and focus your energy on doing better for the people, instead of the corporations. Your job is to protect the citizens and investors, not the corporations.

Dave

DAVE YUHAS — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: DAVE YUHAS Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Make it easier for thieves to steal. Good one for all the insiders to cash out.

---

davegrundman — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: davegrundman Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is important to monitor businesses financial position. Anything else is just another opportunity allow companies to commit fraud.

Best regards
- Dave

---

davehshs — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: davehshs Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep requiring quarterly reporting. Any less often is unfair to investors.

David — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: David Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please keep the required financial reporting quarterly
Investors need transparency to make reasonable decisions. Companies already have both the means and ability to continue with quarterly reports.

David Scheibel
37554 Co Rd 4,
Bird Island, MN 55310

David — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: David Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We the people need quarterly reporting, not semi annual reporting. It's clear that historically it is better for investors, Americans, and our country to have reports more frequently.

David Engel
Christiansburg Virginia

David — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: David Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We the people need quarterly reporting, not semi annual reporting. It's clear that historically it is better for investors, Americans, and our country to have reports more frequently.

Retired
David Engel
Christiansburg Virginia

DAVID ALLIN — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: DAVID ALLIN Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 The idea that anyone should be able to hide want a publicly traded company is actually doing is not only screwing the public, but is immoral and indefensible!
The answer has to be a resounding NO!!!!

David Barnes — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: David Barnes Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Don't change a thing!

Get Outlook for Android

David Bennett — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: David Bennett Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I want it kept the way it is. Just follow the law. David Bennett from Ormond Beach, FL and I'm retired

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

David Bowlby — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: David Bowlby Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Don’t give the robber barons more room to operate! The savings are small and the risks are large! You are the one to protect us smaller investors. Thank you.

Sent from my iPad

DAVID BUTLER — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: DAVID BUTLER I completely disagree with this proposal. Allowing insiders to keep the rest of us in the dark for half a year is not how things should be run.

David Caldwell — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: David Caldwell Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please keep the quarterly reporting so I can easily watch and see in a timely manner what is happening to my portfolio . Debra Caldwell Wisconsin

Sent from my iPhone

David Cavanaugh — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: David Cavanaugh Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I worked for a now-defunct publicly traded corporation that started off as a privately held company owned by venture capital. After an overhyped IPO, they revealed as little as possible during an irreversible decline. Investors got fleeced. Post-IPO, the company sold off divisions to raise cash to cover operating losses in its core manufacturing business. There was a grifty plan for the executives to squander cash reserves on themselves. Quarterly and annual reports provided clues about this, most notably an alarming burn rate for a company that was previously profitable. Eventually, the stock price was hammered. Short interest skyrocketed when investors realized there was no hope for the actual business. There was a reverse split, sale of majority interest to a naive investment group based in China. Then the stock was deregistered. SEC reporting ended, which was very convenient, as the next quarterly report would have included a Chapter 11 bankruptcy (which was never publicly reported at all). As an insider, I knew before the IPO that it looked like a VC strip-and-flip strategy.

In what universe does it serve investors' interests by facilitating grifter management? It's bad enough that we lack enforcement. Now you want to "help" by reducing transparency? Seriously? You are going the wrong way. Make corporations report every MONTH. In the age of computers, it's not that hard. In fact, every corporation in the world already does this for internal purposes. It's not extra work because the reports are already generated. It's only a matter of who gets to read them.

David Collins — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: David Collins Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 The need for more public disclosure is growing, not decreasing. In order to have confidence in our stock market, we must have confidence in the information timely provided by required reporting rules. Please don’t cut our vital information access in half.

Get Outlook for iOS

David Dalton — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: David Dalton Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Stoping quarterly reporting benefits no one but insiders. Companies will still keep their books up to date but not reporting to shareholders unfairly stacks the deck in favor of the company. I can’t think of a single benefit for the public in this measure. Another corporate give away.

Sent from my iPhone

David Dangerfield — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: David Dangerfield Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 No way!!!

David E. Dangerfield
dangerfd@comcast.net
561-756-2409
Sent from my iPad

David Davis — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: David Davis Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep 90 day reporting.

David Drillinger — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: David Drillinger Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Cutting the number of times a company reports to the those of us who own a piece of a company is a ridiculous premise. With today's abilities with computers and AI reports can be generated quarterly, monthly, even daily at no extra cost to the companies. These reports can be sent automatically by email with no more effort than twice per year once set up. Investors NEED to know what is happening with THEIR money and THEIR company. Stop this silliness.

David Drillinger
Retired Educator
Concerned citizen and investor

Sent from my iPad

David Earle — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: David Earle Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 The current system works. ENRON can not be allowed to happen again. Deregulating the financial sector will not increase growth and fix the economy; especially since the financial sectors unregulated money does nothing domestically, it ends up offshore. Trickle down was a lie, we.dont do better when they do better. We do better when we make them accountable and make them pay taxes on their honest reported finances.

David Edmunds — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: David Edmunds Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 David Edmunds, Retired Pastor, my retirement depends on this idea!

David G Oakley — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: David G Oakley Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 David G Oakley, retired accountant and small investor. Small investors need the same respect as all others. Our investments were difficult to accumulate and make. We need fair representation and awareness no less than the large investors.

Sent from my 📲

David G Oakley — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: David G Oakley Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 David G Oakley, retired accountant and small investor. Small investors need the same respect as all others. Our investments were difficult to accumulate and make. We need fair representation and awareness no less than the large investors.

Sent from my iPhone

David Gonzalez — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: David Gonzalez Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My name is David Gonzalez. I am a 35 yo disabled parent and homemaker living in Mesquite, TX. Sarbanes-Oxley is not a suggestion, and reporting should be kept quarterly. This change would only give more room for wealthy elites to commit fraud and theft covertly.

Sincerely,

David Gonzalez

David H Smith — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: David H Smith Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 It works, don't go backwards!

Sent from my iPhone

David Hall — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: David Hall Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My name is David S Hall, and I am a retired college professor. I depend on my investments for part of my income. Accurate QUARTERLY reports are essential to allow truly informed decisions on my investments! I urge you NOT to change to any longer time frame between required signed reports as I worry that would only benefit unscrupulous companies.

David Harker — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: David Harker Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep current report status

---

David Hegland — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: David Hegland This proposed rule change is a bad idea for investors, which you should already know. Hiding the books for half a year serves insiders only. Bad idea don't do it.

David Horchak — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: David Horchak Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 In what world is switching to less reporting and reducing responsibility of the companies to their owners the stock holders a good idea. Prior to quarterly reporting returns were down and malfeasance was up. Do not let corruption return

---

David Johnson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: David Johnson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please don’t allow this. I think that this will only create a huge advantage to corporate insiders.

Sent from my iPad

David Judd — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: David Judd Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reports are essential to making good decisions about our resources and an obvious right for investors. Changing to semiannual reports is dumb, unfair, a bad decision as time has proven.

David F Judd
Sent from my iPhone

---

david kielty — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: david kielty Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Candace Kielty, retired RN. Pennsylvania. Do not support decreasing the quarterly reporting. We all pay the cost of fraud.

Sent from my iPhone

David L Blackburn — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: David L Blackburn Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the quarterly reporting, boost consequences for fudging the books!

David Lutz — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: David Lutz I'm writing to object to increasing the reporting period for public companies from 3 months to 6 months. Delaying reporting of important information by public companies keeps valuable data and corporate developements from being disclosed on a timely basis. Please do not allow the reporting period to be extended.

David Menze — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: David Menze Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting should be the only option! With computers, there is no reason a company can't produce the reports in a timely manner.

David Miller — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: David Miller Reducing corporate reporting to twice per year versus the current quarterly would further restrict the investors visibility into corporate finances of their investments. Please consider leaving the quarterly reporting in effect, to better aid those who do not have outside access to the inner workings of corporate America.

David Parker — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: David Parker Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the quarterly reporting rule. In this day and age The American People need MORE ACCOUNTABILITY not less! Thank You for your Attention to this Matter!

David Rogers — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: David Rogers Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 How about monthly reporting!

David Rogers

David Russell — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: David Russell Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I read the quarterly reports of each company in my portfolio and use the information to determine if I should;d restrain the stock. Longer reporting periods could hide significant information until it is too late. Please retain the quarterly reporting requirements. I would be happy to relax some of the regulations around the reports so long as they can be trued up semi annually.

David Russell
Davidprussell@gmail.com

Sent from my iPad

DAVID SAMMONS — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: DAVID SAMMONS Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Maintain quarterly reporting and add random reviews.

Sent from my iPhone

David Sammons — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: David Sammons Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 David Sammons, retired real estate professional. WWII street has repeatedly demonstrated that transparency in reporting is critical. The housing market crash of 2008 is a prime example. , costing me millions, and the country billions. Do not change quarterly reporting.

---

david savage — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: david savage Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I think it's beneficial to keep this report quarterly. It keeps monitored.

---

david savage — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: david savage Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I think it's beneficial to keep this report quarterly. It keeps monitored. yours truly david savage

---

David Schoeneck Jr — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: David Schoeneck Jr Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 When are the guardrails against greed going to say this is bull *. Make the trillion, billion and millionaires pay their fair share of taxes. SEC stop the insider trading the piece of 💩 occupying our white house is doing and helping his wealthy friends do as well. 🤬

Sent from Samsung Galaxy smartphone.
Get Outlook for Android

David Schroer — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: David Schroer Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 The stockholders need monthly reports on how the company is doing . Not giving 6 month reports which could hide insider trading and sham operations. David Schroer retired .

David Schultz — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: David Schultz Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep it mandatory !!!! Dave Schultz retired. My investments are part of my retirement !

David Smith — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: David Smith I implore you not to disrupt the current process of reporting. This would harm the savings of millions of Americans including my own. Investors need to see more frequent updates from companies.

David Spinelli — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: David Spinelli Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 STUPID IDEA, Keep 1/4 Reports, the Stock holders own the company, the Company DOESN’T OWN THE STOCK HOLDERS!!!!!🤦🏻‍♂️🤔🤨🤨😰😰😬😬🤬🤬🤬🤬🤬

David Standahl — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: David Standahl Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I remember loosing money with Enron. Quarterly reporting is necessary to assure accountability.

Sent from my iPhone

David Tonogan — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: David Tonogan Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep quartly reporting. The 1950's is not the way to go.

David W Perkins Investor — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: David W Perkins I strongly disagree with the proposal to require companies to report to investors only twice a year. I need the quarterly information as a guideline for my partial ownership of the company. David W Perkins

---

David W Pollay — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: David W Pollay Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Personally, even quarterly isn't often enough. It should be required reporting every month, to let investors know what is being done with their money. David W. Pollay disabled-retired combat arms veteran.

David Warner — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: David Warner Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 No, no and no!

David Warner

David Wasserfallen — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: David Wasserfallen Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly is the standard--if reporting less than that is the difference between a company surviving and going under, then that small difference isn't enough to keep that company going!

---

david weinstock — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: david weinstock Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 please keep the quarterly reporting. the brokerages charge us so we pay for that reporting, and the price is in our charges. don't give them six months at a time to swindle us. thank you david weinstock

PO box 652
fairfax ca 94978
david_weinstock@hotmail.com

---

davidnicolas2 — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: davidnicolas2 Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the quarterly. As a retired retailer the quarterly reporting kept me on my toes. It works, please don't fix it.

David Nicolas

Contact: 941.323.2838

Sent from my Galaxy

Dawn Dixon — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Dawn Dixon Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I am Dawn and I am retired. I am used certain rhythms when calculating interest. Companies don't report this way. Who is behind this? This can mess up reporting tax losses, can't it?

Dawn Doe — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Dawn Doe Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Transparency is important! Do not make this change.
Dawn Doe

Sent from my iPhone

Dawn Johnson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Dawn Johnson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Go after the Corporations breaking the Antitrust Laws.

Sent from my iPhone

Dawn Jones-Jahnke — Jun 18, 2026

Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Dawn Jones-Jahnke Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 W e need MORE TRANSPARENCY, NOT LESS. Require reports 4 times per year.

Dawn Kardokus — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Dawn Kardokus Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting helps keep better track and holds companies accountable. Please do not go back to 1955. This is America, we are supposed to be moving forward.

Dawn Lenz — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Dawn Lenz Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reports prevent fraud.

~Dawn Lenz~

---

dawn mackeller — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: dawn mackeller Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please keep the quarterly reporting rule. Otherwise, you are going to allow CEOs to cheat for 6 months! My name is Dawn MacKeller, I am retired and I live in Michigan. This matters to me because my IRA is invested in many companies and I can't afford to lose any money to unscrupulous CEOs!
Thank you!

Dawn Mantei — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Dawn Mantei Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the quarterly reporting. It’s crucial to transparency and honest accountability. Dawn Mantei, retired.

Get Outlook for iOS

Dawn sass — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Dawn sass Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep it!

Sent from my iPad

Dawn Wirth — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Dawn Wirth Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
It is unfair that corporations get to not do a qtrly report. Thats wrong.
Please do not ALLOW this to happen!

Dawn Wylie — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Dawn Wylie Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 LEAVE IT LIKE IT IS!! Quarterly!!

Sent from my iPhone

DawnMarie Scott — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: DawnMarie Scott Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To whom it concerns:

Please continue to require quarterly reporting. Less transparency is not beneficial for shareholders and does nothing to improve corporate performance. We deserve to know the status of the financial solvency of the companies in which we invest, and do not need less information.

Thank you,

DAWN MARIE SCOTT
CLEAN BEAUTY DIVA
Independent Advocate
512.922.0308 dms1111@gmail.com
To browse brands just click!
https://www.counter.com/?aff=DAWNMARIESCOTT COUNTER
CRUNCHI
<3 AKA: adoptionknowledge.org

Dayna Birkley — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Dayna Birkley Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We need quarterly monitoring of all companies for investors. The companies themselves need to monitor and be accountable on the steady. Terrible idea to relax this practice!!!!

Dayna Birkley
Managing Partner
Framepoint

+ 805 455 1200
dayna@framepoint.com

www.framepoint.com
8 w. victoria st.
santa barbara, ca 93101

---

dcramer — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: dcramer Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Stop letting these rich hoarders rob the rest of us. There is only so much regular people can take. Change laws to help regular people or we will change them for you.

Mr. Dale Lynn Cramer
Information Technology Instructor
Camdenton R-3 School District
Lake Career & Technical Center
Work: 573-346-9260 x7014
Cell: 573-434-9489

Dean Cassara — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Dean Cassara Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Dean Cassara, retired: Paul Atkins has a net worth of over $300 million. I am sick of people at his level of wealth in this sickening environment of thievery trying to keep me more in the dark while they hoard. Quarterly!!

Sent from my iPhone

Dean Hamilton The Motley Fool Community — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Dean Hamilton Quarterly reporting protects individual investors. Semiannual reporting doubles the information gap between insiders and ordinary shareholders. That gap is where volatility, uncertainty, and mistrust grow. The short-termism diagnosis doesn't justify this remedy. Research from the CFA Institute, which studied this exact maneuver in the U.K. market, shows that reporting frequency has no measurable effect on corporate investment behavior. The SEC is accepting a real cost – less transparency for individual investors – for a benefit that the evidence says simply won't materialize. The companies most likely to opt out are the ones where oversight matters most. Smaller, less-covered businesses operate with less scrutiny. Reducing their reporting requirements makes them harder to monitor, not easier to own.

---

dean harris — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: dean harris Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I would like to know the reporting cannot maintained as is? It would seem not reporting for 6 months sec is telling there is something being hidden? Keep reporting as is, Thsnk You

---

dean harris — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: dean harris Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I would like to know the reporting cannot maintained as is? It would seem not reporting for 6 months sec is telling there is something being hidden? Keep reporting as is, Thank You

---

Dean Okamoto — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Dean Okamoto Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To maintain the integrity of the market and retain investor confidence, SEC reporting must occur quarterly.

Deana Houghton — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Deana Houghton As a disabled widow, whose investments, especially those paying dividends, and social security are vital to my ability to survive. Quarterly reporting needs to remain unchanged! Is it not enough that corporations have been reaping record profits for years already? They can certainly afford the expense of quarterly reporting. So what purpose is served here in changing this? It would only allow for secrecy and individual stockholders, such as myself, to be blindsided after months of misconduct or failure. It's hard enough to choose stocks without the inside information that everyone in govt seems to have... But to leave us unaware for months and months on end, in a world where information, modifications, exec teams, etc., all seem to move at the speed of light, would be unconscionable. DO NOT make this change!!

DeAnna Ashworth — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: DeAnna Ashworth Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Nope, quarterly

Sent from my iPhone

DeAnne Wickens — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: DeAnne Wickens Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We invested in these companies. They need to at minimum report quarterly. Trust the consumer.

Deb Anderson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Deb Anderson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Debra Anderson, retired in St Cloud, MN

Quarterly reporting is a MUST to retain transparency and allow individuals to have visibility

---

Deb Bjugstad — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Deb Bjugstad Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the quarterly reporting! Its an important part of checks & balances for " we the people"! Enough damage has been done by this administration, tearing down protections for the common person.
I am depending on my retirement account to stay steady, along with my SS income. for many of us just retiring, we don't have alot, and can't roll with the big players losses & gains. We need this accountability to make trading choices. This admin is only looking out for themselves, trying to remove every protection for its citizens, financial, constitutional, healthwise, consumer-wise.. YOU are in control of our fate, on this decision! Please search your soul for a wise decision, made for the good of the American people, not just for the top 10%.
Thank you,
Deb Bjugstad

Deb Calvert — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Keep reporting quarterly From: Deb Calvert Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To whom it may concern-

Quarterly reporting has helped to ensure real oversight and prevent fraud. The administration seems to be at cross purposes- saying they want to prevent fraud and then getting rid of the policies and practices that help prevent it. Do not change the SEC rules. Keep the reporting quarterly.

Deb Calvert
Minnetonka, MN
Sent from my iPhone

Deb Englert — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Deb Englert Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep quarterly reports!! Do not let insider trading become an evil taking away our future income! Nosy Nellie, retiree.

Deb Englert

Deb Gardner — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Deb Gardner Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Do not change quarterly reporting!

Deb Gardner

Sent from my iPhone

Deb Hoff — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Deb Hoff Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Things move too fast today to reduce reporting requirements. We need all the data we can get to make good decisions. YOU KNOW THAT AS WELL AS I DO.

Deborah Hoff
Retiree
Richardson, TX

Sent from Debbie's iPhone

Deb Newman — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Deb Newman Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I want to continue quarterly reports from my investment firm to allow informed decision making.

Debra Newman

Deb Plaag — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Deb Plaag Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Think about monthly too more is better

---

Deb Tatro — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Deb Tatro Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Deb Tatro/Retired. Waiting 6 months is too long to see exactly what is going on. Why do you need extra reporting time? Covering up??

Sent from my iPad

Deb Ursum — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Deb Ursum Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Deb Ursum
Retired.
Why should things keep changing when it does not benefit the masses? The transparency is slowly being clouded along with government changing things to their benefit without the common folk knowing. The public needs to know about the quarterly reporting to keep their finances in order. Thank you for advising of the possible upcoming change.

Sent from my iPhone

Debbie — Jun 18, 2026

Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Debbie Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Debbie Carlson, retired, State of Texas
Transparency is key to honesty. Allowing behind the curtain activity does not serve any of us well. We must ensure we maintain quarterly filing. There is enough criminal behavior happening right now. We do not need to change the rules to encourage more self-serving, dirty dealing.

Sent from my iPhone

---

debbie a — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: debbie a Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Must remain quarterly. This change only benefits the big corporations and the richest people in our country. It allows them hide how the companies are doing from the public so they can cut their losses when things aren't going their way but the rest of us lose everything because we don't get the information in time. Trump only wants to protect the top 1% and to hell with the rest of us. Further destruction and harm to the people of this country. Don't let this happen.

Sent from my iPhone

Debbie B. — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Debbie B. Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Transparency matters. Keep corporate reporting quarterly.

Debbie Benner — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Debbie Benner Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Fewer reports = more ops for insider trading and increases ops for sneaky, dishonest transactions we need more honesty and transparency in our affairs

Sent from my iPhone

Debbie BV — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Debbie BV Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This is an absurd idea, you are basically promoting the ripping off of citizens.

Debbie Bennett-Vidaure
Call or text 215-450-5640

Debbie Dibble — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Debbie Dibble Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 You don't need six months. Accountability needs to be maintained and quarterly reporting is the only chance of staying on top of issues.

Debbie Drew — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Debbie Drew Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep it Quarterly, keep them accountable

---

Debbie Lesse — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Debbie Lesse Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We need quarterly reporting for transparency and accountability with our funds! We have tried semi annual reporting before and investors lost money!

Sent from my iPhone

Debbie Lopez — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Debbie Lopez Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is extremely important! Please do not diminish the importance of this law. Thank you, Debbie Lopez, Arlington TX

Debbie Meckler — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Debbie Meckler Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Debbie, retired and all they are trying to do is * over the American people. Trump, the pedophile is already raping the country.

Debbie Symington-Gormley-Hayes — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Debbie Symington-Gormley-Hayes Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 These records should be transparent all of the time. No to 6 months in the shadows.

Debbie Terrell — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Debbie Terrell Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Too much crime can happen in 6 months stick with the quarterly

---

Debbie Watkins — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Debbie Watkins Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Having worked on the implementation of Frank Dodd rules it was obvious that the lack of controls prior led to poor and uninformed decision making. The controls are good for both mgmt and consumers! Keep the reporting!

Debby Frazier — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Debby Frazier Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the quarterly reporting! I’ve worked hard for my investments and do not want this to change as it will not benefit me or others in any way- just those already who are billionaires!
Debby Frazier Nurse Practitioner- newly retired and in need of keeping my investments safe and secure!!!

Debby Horan — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Debby Horan Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Stop the theft of consumers

Sent from my iPhone

Debora Case — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Debora Case Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Personally, I think it should be MORE often than Quarterly as they make MILLIONS! The rest of us suffer for their incessant greed & outrageous profits.

More oversight is necessary to protect the average citizen from any possible price gouging. The constant price changes make it impossible for families & seniors to budget their gas. I've seen the price go up fifty cents in less than a week! Never in my 70+ years have I seen such ridiculous fluctuations in the market. Meanwhile. CEOs & others in the C-suite rake in God only knows how much in salary & BONUSES!!

Keep the QUARTERLY to keep them (somewhat) honest!

V/R
Debora Case
IT1, USNR/TAR (ret.)
TEXAS

Deborah Alcaraz — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Deborah Alcaraz Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Deborah Alcaraz, manager. SeC reporting is valuable and holds everyone accountable. Without accountability we delve into chaos.

Deborah Appleby — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Deborah Appleby Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 In our current "political state of corruption" quarterly reporting should remain mandatory

---

Deborah Brumfield — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Deborah Brumfield Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Learn from history! This is not a good idea for investors or our economy.

Deborah C Black — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Deborah C Black Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 D. Black Accounts Manager

Quarterly reporting is needed to monitor the trajectory and health of a company. To see what is working and what is not. To help maintain integrity. To help maintain trust with investors. To help investors make informed decisions. It is my opinion that should it change, it will leave a bigger opening for insider trading, lack of confidence and the loss of trust will only grow between investors and government. The SEC will be scrutinized even further.

Deborah Carroll — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Deborah Carroll Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 No

---

Deborah Clark — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Deborah Clark Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting helps to ensure that Enron and Madoff type frauds don't reoccur. Bad faith dealings by greedy corporations must be prevented in order to protect citizens and shareholders.

Sent from my iPhone

Deborah Cunningham — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Deborah Cunningham Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Why go backwards !!?!?! Please leave it alone and keep it as it currently is !

Sent from my iPhone

DEBORAH FELDMAN — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: DEBORAH FELDMAN Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the quarterly reporting or your consumers may not feel comfortable investing.

Deborah Feldman, MD

Deborah Ferrell — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Deborah Ferrell Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 If this rule passes ordinary people will lose. Insider trading is already a problem that cheats us investors. This will invite much more as the wealthy will be aware of issues that we won't and cash out leaving ordinary investor holding losing as the stock drops. I will likely move my money to a CD or other instrument if this harmful rule passes.

Debbie Ferrell

Deborah Gillespie Walter — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Deborah Gillespie Walter Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly is the bare minimum. Monthly would be better. Absolutely NOT semi-annually.

Deborah Gregory-Fink — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Deborah Gregory-Fink Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My name is Deborah Gregory-Fink, a retired school teacher. It concerns me greatly that we would. “trust“ corporations to report rather than require it. Has Enron taught us nothing? Historically when companies collapse, regular Americans to lose their retirements. It seems the only people who benefit from a semi annual reporting will be corporations. Additionally, longer gaps in financial reporting create an unfair and advantage for corporate insiders. Quarterly information helps our family to make better decisions.
Globally there is evidence that this lighter reporting leads to fraud as with Winecard in the UK, which collapsed in 2020 and no one saw it coming.
Other countries who tried semi annual reporting or returning to quarterly reporting. It is clear that while this is a cost to companies, quarterly reporting protects the consumer, which is what the SEC should be doing!

Sent from my iPhone

Deborah Guenther — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Deborah Guenther Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Do nott change the standard that is in place and has been so for many years. Quarterly Information is vital to investors.
This is historically proven through the data.

Deborah Heisman — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Deborah Heisman Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I was a Financial Advisor for 34 years. It is hard to do due diligence so you can make good recommendations. This is catastrophically unfair. Please, please do not do this.

Deborah Heisman, Retired Wells Fargo Advisors.

Sent from my iPhone

Deborah Hershey — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Deborah Hershey Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I want my quarterly reports. I DON'T WANT ANOTHER INCIDENT LIKE ENRON! WHERE HARD WORKERS LOSE THEIR RETIREMENT!

Deborah Mazurek — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Deborah Mazurek Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Deborah Mazurek-Cost Accountant As an accountant in a manufacturing company, we have to complete our financials monthly. If companies have this data, then they shouldn't have an issue reporting to SEC quarterly.

Sent from my iPhone

Deborah Otto Sunderman — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Deborah Otto Sunderman Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Most of the fraudulent behaviors have occurred when there were gaps in reporting. Investors deserve to know what is happening so they can make the decisions that fit best for him. Dr. Deborah Otto Sunderman.

Sent from my iPad

---

deborah rebuck — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: deborah rebuck Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Enough is enough. The American people are fed up with the lack of transparency and being last on the list of government, companies etc for any consideration.

Deborah Sellers — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Deborah Sellers Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Deborah Sellers Keller, Texas. Reporting must continue to be quarterly. The need to review and monitor a company business is essential to investing.

Sent from my iPhone

Deborah Sitarski — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Re: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Deborah Sitarski Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Deb

quote from his banned book, NIGHT: "I swore never to be silent whenever and wherever human beings endure suffering and humiliation. We must always take sides. Neutrality helps the oppressor, never the victim. Silence encourages the tormentor, never the tormented."
—Elie Wiesel, Holocaust Survivor and Nobel Laureate

On Jun 15, 2026, at 9:50 AM, Deborah Sitarski <patch1203@frontier.com> wrote:

I am opposed to relaxing ANY reporting criteria for corporations.

The mandate of the SEC is to protect and oversee. How can this be effectively done only twice a year?

As a stockholder, taxpayer, and stakeholder I rely on relevant, timely and accessible statistics.

remember the ENRON FIASCO? Let's recognize that politicians, crypto folks and secret foreign funding is not made up of angels. Their goal is PROFIT. I am an elderly widow- I rely on the SEC to provide oversight and guidance. Please do not cut quarterly reporting by 50%. This would not be appreciated by taxpayers or small investors !!

Deb

quote from his banned book, NIGHT: "I swore never to be silent whenever and wherever human beings endure suffering and humiliation. We must always take sides. Neutrality helps the oppressor, never the victim. Silence encourages the tormentor, never the tormented."
—Elie Wiesel, Holocaust Survivor and Nobel Laureate

Deborah Thompson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Deborah Thompson Quarterly reporting keeps public companies honest. Please do not allow the reporting to be reduced from four times per year.

Deborah Walker — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Deborah Walker Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Haven't we been screwed enough!!

Deborah Williams — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Deborah Williams Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:

Please do not eliminate quarterly reporting. !!!

Deborah Williams — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Deborah Williams Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 QUARTERLY !!! Don't go back to the way it was! It does not work as well and I wasn't to know Everly Three Months as opposed to only twice a year! A lot can happen in three months. Not fair to American taxpayer who is trying to earn a little on his money!

Sent from my iPhone

---

debra barmichael — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: debra barmichael Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Shameful greedy evil people 🤬🤬

Debra Birmingham — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Debra Birmingham Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Debra B would like to keep quarterly reports. I don't have much but would like to stay current.

Debra Birmingham
debbham@gmail.com
(318)465-9161

Debra Dunn — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Debra Dunn Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Do you really think more stripping of regulation, when we are undergoing upheavals in govt infrastructure, unforeseen AI fallout--industry-wide and market-wide, the volatility of crypto and political unrest domestically and globally--you actually think that relaxing reporting is the safe and sane thing to do? Or are you just following the demands of special corp interests and the demands of our economically-undereducated president? LET's PLEASE HAVE SOME SANITY--in the markets, at least. KEEP CORPS ACCOUNTABLE.

Debra Fecho — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Debra Fecho Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I am a single retired women, who does not have another persons income to help take care of anything that may come up. Changing the reporting is only meant to keep people in the dark as to what is going on with any companies Clearly this is no different than any of the other changes that have been made in our government, these are all made to make the mid and lower income stay in those positions and make their lives more difficult.

Debra Fecho

Debra Frasier — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Debra Frasier Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 As a self employed retiree in my 70’s fairness really counts—my savings are everything and keeping quarterly reporting in place helps sustain a fragile life in rocky times. Don’t rock the boat to make it easier for the super rich. Help us, the people, keep what shred of fairness there is left in our financial lives.

Thank you.
Debra

Debra Frasier

Debra Jay — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Debra Jay Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 It matters because I'm retired and I need the highest returns possible on my funds. Why incent the corporations who get big tax breaks anyway and end up hurting the investors?

Debra Licato-Meiman — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Debra Licato-Meiman Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Debra Licato-Meiman, Former College Administrator and Assoc. Professor.

All businesses must be held accountable or risk destroying the lives and well-being of this country's economy and its people. Performance reviews, estimated quarterly tax payments, etc. are expected and accepted. Even young school children get 4 report cards! Accountability is already in short supply in this country. We need to ensure timely reporting by maintaining quarterly reports.

Debra Macks — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Debra Macks Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
I want to be able to know what is going on with corporations quarterly. What are you thinking?? It's ridiculous what this administration is doing. I'm sick of all of this hiding from consumers what is going on.

Debra S. Locke — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Debra S. Locke Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 How can one make solid financial decisions without credible information. Quarterly reports enables one to make more informed decisions. By the time a year end statement is received, it is too late to make an adjustment to the portfolio. Also, using AI to generate these reports (AI is a tool, not a Genie) would keep the costs down. I am a savvy Boomer. Do not mess with this. If it ain't broke, don't fix it. Finally, there are people behind those numbers. Enough of decisions being made that don't affect the top few, but reap consequences to ordinary citizens.

Debra S. Locke
Brentwood, TN

Sent from my iPhone

Dede Chance — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Dede Chance Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the reporting quarterly! There is enough secrets hiding in businesses and the quarterly reporting helps to keep businesses finances in check, more honest before people invest in the companies. I'm tired of businesses taking advantage of working class people.
Dede Chance, retired.

Dee Matthews — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Dee Matthews Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Why is everything against the consumer. We are tired of large companies getting all the benefits. I have worked all my life and you want to take what little I have left

---

Dee thorington — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Dee thorington Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
This is derelict...it allows for so much more fraud and deceit. You know it. Don't allow this.

Dee Wilson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Dee Wilson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Do not change the reporting of returns.

Sent from my phone

Dee Winters — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Dee Winters Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Dee Winters, Merchandiser, this matters bc it is not right to allow any company to hide their books for any period of time and do what they please during that time to our money. We have all worked hard for what we have and it should be kept completely transparent and open for us to see. DO NOT ALLOW ANY COMPANY TO BE IN THE DARK FOR ANY PERIOD OF TIME!!!

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

---

deesma — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: deesma Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Leave quarterly reporting alone! The public needs protection from the unscrupulous big business giants.

Sent from my Galaxy

Deirdre — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Deirdre Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Reporting should remain at quarterly versus twice a year. I can make better informed decisions about my investments and the market if information is more current.

Sent from my iPhone

---

delane riley — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: delane riley Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Not Cool! Please Keep The Information As It Now Stands.
Thank You
Delane Riley

Get Outlook for Android

Delia Hamblin — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Delia Hamblin Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I think quarterly should be the minimum number of reports we get. Things happen so quickly these dàys ,so you could loose a lot in 6 months. We need to know if we need to make investment changes, corruption is rampant these days. DeliaHamblin retired nurse

---

Della Barbee — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Della Barbee Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 The investments of my husband and myself are funds that were hard earned, plus some that were passed down from his parents. Knowing how his father became his own broker, daily watching his stocks, and investing carefully, we diligently guard our investments. Realizing that the countries which require only twice a year reporting have a less vibrant market, and that this was the case in the United States with twice a year reporting from 1955 to 1970, we are requesting that quarterly reporting remain the requirement for large and small businesses. Mark and Della Barbee, individual investors, Dry Prong, Louisiana

---

Della Jastrzab — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Della Jastrzab Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is a minimum amount of reporting IMO. Moving to only two reports annually is just not acceptable. The biggest crooks are the white collar ones and the higher up the corporate ladder, the greater the opportunity for greater crimes. The corporate community with it's white collar folks need more accountability, not less. People's lives are ruined by crimes of this nature. I'm not sure any of you actually understand what it means to have your life ruined by the financial devastation that comes from being victimized. We have only one life with limited time.

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Delores — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Delores Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep it !

Demetta Garcia — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Demetta Garcia Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the reporting quarterly! We need less fraud, not more.

Get Outlook for Android

Demostene Romanucci — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Demostene Romanucci Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
I am a victim of Bernie Madoff. My retirement plan since the Carter administration (I was 14 when my parents got me into the markets). DO NOT go forward with this plan.

Dena Rollins — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Dena Rollins Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My name is Dena Rollins. I am retired. I live in Utah. I think CEOs should have to report quarterly just because they have a history of lying and cheating committing fraud why give them less accountability. Why give them more opportunityto commit fraud by only making them report twice a year. They are not above the law just like we aren't we comit fraud we go to prison so they should have the same treatment. I believe they have a long track record of fraud so you might as well keep them reporting quarterly and try to keep them as honest as possible.We the people are sick of the amount of fraud going on in this country. Also tired of the 2 tier justice system.

Dena Sehr — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Dena Sehr Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I am writing to express my profound concern regarding the proposed change, which would have dire consequences for our senior population and middle-class families.

At 68 and on the brink of retirement, I have personally navigated and rebuilt my finances through multiple market upheavals. With my earning potential now exhausted, this policy would be personally devastating, eradicating my security and critically affecting my ability to support my family across generations.

This change is neither judicious nor appropriate. It risks eroding public trust and significantly damaging the global reputation for transparency and integrity that American businesses strive to uphold. Do not further encourage bad corporate thinking!

Dena Sehr, LCSW
Solo Practitioner
Roseville, CA

Denese McNeil Investor — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Denese McNeil Quarterly reports provide timely information needed by investors to make informed decisions. Please keep the public trust in the SEC to properly govern public companies and ensure fairness in the stock market. We do not need another Enron scandal to justify keeping quarterly reports as the standard. No investor benefits from less information.

Denice Racine — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Denice Racine Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 There is a reason why quartly has been the norm. A lot can happen in a quarter, but bi-annually could be crippling. Kepp it quarterly

---

Denise Barreto — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Denise Barreto Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Reporting must remain quarterly in the best interests of a greater number of Americans

Denise W. Barreto
she/her
Managing Partner
Relationships Matter Now

(708) 917-7696

www.relationshipsmatternow.com

Denise Brady — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Denise Brady Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Denise Brady Retired
Keep the quarterly reporting regulation. It allows for less drastic course corrections and lowers risk for investors.

Sent from my iPhone

Denise Casey — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Denise Casey Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reports help keep transactions legal:
Less time to bury the facts
Less time to manipulate the facts
Less time to manipulate the market, perhaps.
Investors must have confidence in the market. Corporations must be held responsible. If there is an error, it's easier to find and correct early.
Thank you , Denise Casey

Denise Curry — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Denise Curry Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Transparency is the basis of free and fair stock trade.

Denise Goodson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Denise Goodson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Before my current position, I was a paralegal working for the in house General Counsel of a publicly traded Restaurant chain. I saw first hand the importance of preparing and filing the 10Qs with the SEC. It kept the company focused on results and forced financial accountability. Now as an investor, I even more greatly understand the need for quarterly insights. Do not stop this practice. 6 moth reporting is absolutely not often enough to keep companies honest and valuations accurate. Financial transparency is not a hardship. It is an imperative responsibility to the company's investors.

Denise Goodson, Paralegal, Kansas City, MO.

Sent from my iPhone

Denise Hathaway — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Denise Hathaway Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep quarterly financial reporting! Six months is too long to wait to make financial decisions. We are 70 and don't have the advantage of waiting years for our investments to recover when we could have made better decisions based on more timely reporting.
Denise Hathaway

Denise Irvin — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Denise Irvin Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting keeps companies more honest. There is no sound reason to get rid of quarterly reporting unless you are trying to spread fraud.

Denise Irvin

DENISE PERRY — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: DENISE PERRY Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I strongly support keeping g Quarterly reporting, transparency is vital to a trusted economy.

Denise Perry

Denise Sloane — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Denise Sloane Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 The current rules reporting required every 3 months is perfect. There’s never been any issues. Investor protection should come first. That won’t happen with changes that benefit companies instead.

Dogs have given us their absolute. We are the center of their universe. We are the focus of their love and faith and trust. They serve us in return for scraps. It is without a doubt, the best deal man has ever made.

Roger caress

Denise Snowden — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Denise Snowden Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 More transparency would be appreciated, not less. It's already hard enough to determine best steps when a little money is available to invest. Denise Snowden Retired & learning to live on SS

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Denise Stevens — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Denise Stevens Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep it every quarter

---

Denise Wehr — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Denise Wehr Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Transparencies is of the utmost importance. When you do not let us know what is happening we all know you are stealing from us!!!

Dennis Anderson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Dennis Anderson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 As a retired railroader I depend on the market to supplement my pension. 6 month reporting has the potential of being devastating to my retirement.

Dennis Clapp — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Quarterly reports From: Dennis Clapp Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 The world has become a place where fraud is rampant. Please don't help the fraud increase by easing the reporting to 2 times a year. Less oversight=more fraud.

Dennis Drewes — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Dennis Drewes Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I hate the idea of abandoning quarterly reporting. It's the LEAST they can do to at least appear transparent to investors! Drop this horrible idea!

Dennis Fultz — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Dennis Fultz Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Cut me out the loop and I'll pull my money

Sent from the Void

Dennis Goodrich — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Dennis Goodrich Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is to ensure security. You know, that first word in your name?

Hand launches are OK. After all, they don't call it takeoff gear!

Dennis Henderson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Dennis Henderson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Make reports monthly.

Cheers,
Denny

Dennis Kulikowski — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Dennis Kulikowski Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Fiscal oversight being irresponsible and liable to lawsuits. Just say no change

Best Regards,
Dennis Kulikowski

"I have friends in overalls whose friendship I would not swap for the favor of the kings of the world." - Thomas Edison

---

Dennis Link — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Dennis Link Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep quarterly reports. Anything less creates more fraud.

Sent from my iPhone

Dennis Owen — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Dennis Owen Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please stick up for the average American and the average investor, by keeping it Quarterly! I'm a registered nurse and my wife's a school teacher who can't spend all our time watching the companies we invest in.

We are NOT a millionaires, billionaires, or Elon!

We need regular consistent information!

Sincerely

Dennis M Owen
Karen C Seaton
1425 Kriedeman Dr
Stoughton, WI. 53589
608-516-6150

Sent from my iPhone

Dennis Warren — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Dennis Warren Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I personally analyze financial statements for my own investment portfolio. I do not want a reduction in 10ks from quarterly to semi-annual. I'm 83, retired and have financial analysis training.

Sent from my iPad

Dens T Noonan III ChaliceWorks Turning, member American Association pf Woodturners — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Dens T Noonan III As an individual investor I depend on the quarterly reports and updated information to support the financial advice of my financial advisor and my participation in The Motley Fool Community of investor review. Research has shown clearly that quarterly reporting vastly improves investor participation and stimulates company incentive to maintain accountability with stockholders. There are no identified advantages to semi annual reporting for legitimate companies engaged in strong stockholder relationships.

---

denya myers — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: denya myers Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the quarterly reports. By doing this, you are holding corporate Executives accountable to the Public and Share Holders, alike. Should the Quarterly Reports be reduced to 2 reports a year, It would make deception far too easy to take advantage of. Especially for those Businesses that are struggling. SHAREHOLDERS and the Public at large, deserve better.

Derek Harrison — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Derek Harrison I believe this change is a poor idea, as it would limit transparency and allow for an additional three months where companies would not be providing financial details for their businesses. This reporting reduction would also allow for insiders to act on information not readily available to public investors who would only be able to determine the fiscal health of a company once every 6 months. Overall, it's a bad idea!

Derek Williams — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Derek Williams Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
As an average retirement savings and retail investor who doesn't trade a lot on the stock market, what little money I do invest should not be treated like it's gambling. P/E ratios and reporting should be correct and as accurate as possible. There is too much potential for bad actors in some companies to abuse your new proposed rule. Don't do it. Please reconsider and do not keep Main Street Americans in the dark.

Dermot McCaul — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Dermot McCaul Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 The risk for fraud is even greater now with AI tools. Please do not change this rule. It works

Dermot McCaul
215 262 9747

---

deswafford — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: deswafford Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My name is Donald Swafford, I'm owner of Southeast Tennessee Firearms, LLC. I believe it is a mistake to abandon quarterly reporting for bi-annual reporting. It will lead to more insider trading in my opinion because of delayed transparency. There is no good thing that is going to come of this without someone watching.

Sent from my Galaxy

---

detjr — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: detjr Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Changing to six month reporting only invites insider mischief and reduces investor confidence. My retirement relies on securities investments and I don't want any six month surprises.--Dudley Thompson, Cary NC.

Sent from my Galaxy

Deton Phillips — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Deton Phillips Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep things the way they are. We don’t need pay the price for their poor decisions.

Deven Kinkhabwala Financial Consultant — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Deven Kinkhabwala I would definitely like to maintain quarterly reporting done by the company.

Dewey Burchfield — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Dewey Burchfield Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Dewey Burchfield Huntsville Al.
Quarterly Reporting needs to remain in place.

Dexter Ribble — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Dexter Ribble Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarters reports keep companies from hiding financial information from investors. Just think how bad Nicola would hide. DO NOT STOP QUARTERLY TEPORTS!.

Dhonna Godles — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Dhonna Godles Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep it Quarterly, keep it fair

---

Dian Gish Weber — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Dian Gish Weber Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 In today’s world, more information is vital. Changing the reporting rules puts everyone at a severe disadvantage. Do not increase the disadvantage small investors and businesses already have.

Sent from my iPhone

Diana Collins Clinical Social Worker — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Diana Collins Do not change periodic reporting frequency from quarterly to semiannual reporting. This fails Americans. It's been proven that it harms people and favors corporations.

Diana Decker — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Diana Decker Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep it quartly!! Keep it honest !!

Sent from my iPhone

Diana Fraley — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Diana Fraley Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly is just fine!!!! They have too many chances to take advantage of small investors already!!! Id you make it easier to take from us they will be encouraged to increase fraud.

Diana Gasser — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Diana Gasser Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 It matters because the little guy(me) needs to know if company is up or down before too late to pull out. Diana Gasser

Sent from my iPhone

Diana Michel — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Diana Michel Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the reports quarterly!! How are we supposed to make informed decisions on our portfolios without data?

Diana Netland — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Diana Netland Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Diana Netland widow on SS We as consumers and citizens need the reporting to stay as it is. No changes to it at all.

Sent from my iPhone

Diana Pagach — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Diana Pagach Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Keep the quarterly reporting! Keep the quarterly reporting! I am tired of this government doing things that hurt our nation. We are going backwards. It will be remembered in November! Keep the god * quarterly reporting you idiots!

Diana Underwood — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Diana Underwood Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I belong to an investment club and I asked the ladies to consider buying Sprouts Grocery store. Well we did and all the public numbers looked fantastic but we lost 50% of our investment because they lied about the numbers. If they lied once every 6 months before getting caught instead of once every 3, I would not have been able to explain to the women why we lost so much. We didn't get any reimbursement from the law suit because it was allowed to close so quickly. Why don't you make people report HONESTLY once every 3 months instead of trying to make it where they can go longer and HIDE MORE!

Diana Vacossin — Jun 18, 2026

Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment Quarterly Reporting From: Diana Vacossin Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026
Hello,

Who I am: Diana Vacossin
Position: Senior Technical Writer/Editor

I am writing this to go on record - LEAVE QUARTERLY REPORTING ALONE! As a new investor, this hurts my ability to earn money for retirement!

BIG BUSINESS HAS ENOUGH TAX BREAKS - It's time to focus on the other 98% of the population!

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Diane — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Diane Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I believe it is vitally important to continue with quarterly reporting and I urge you to support it.
Diane Young
San Antonio, Texas

Sent from my iPhone

Diane Amato — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Diane Amato Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:

Diane Amato, newly retired.
What are these companies trying to hide? Do not allow them to do quarterly reporting as this will only hurt the investors.

Diane Armstrong — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Diane Armstrong Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Diane Armstrong I am a laboratory Technician, I have worked hard to save money for retirement and I deserve to have quarterly reports just as the big players do. It is bad enough that S.S. may not be solvent by? Even though I have paid into it all my working days. I am only a couple of years off from retirement and you just want to take my money to line your own pockets. You the government of the USA just want the grift to make yourselves rich. It is despicable.

Diane Bailey-Beger — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Diane Bailey-Beger Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep it the way it stands, and stop trying to steal my money

---

Diane Baker — Jun 18, 2026

Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Diane Baker Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I am writing to support the quarterly reporting.
Please keep it going along with the current fine/penalization structure.

Thank you.

Diane Baker

Diane Baker — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Diane Baker Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I am writing to support the quarterly reporting of earnings on Form 8-K and to require it be filed, not just furnished, so that every CEO has to personally certify their numbers.
Sarbanes-Oxley is not a suggestion, and reporting should be kept quarterly.

Also please keep the current fine/penalization structure as it is.

It is important for Corporate leaders to be held accountable with hefty fine and potential incarceration for lies and corruption.

Thank you.

Rev. Dr. Diane Baker
5395 Taylor Lane
Clarkston, MI 48346

Diane Chermak — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Diane Chermak Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I demand quarterly reporting! There is absolutely no reason to discontinue this. Stop it.

Sent from my iPhone

Diane Donnellan — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Diane Donnellan Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 These CEOs and CFOs need to continue the quarterly review and claim that all of it is true. If they think they might end up doing prison time, this would be a good incentive to be truthful. And if they are not truthful, I would hope they do end up in prison and are not above the law. We need protection from these companies where their lies can affect our lives and our country’s economy and cause a world of hurt for everyone who plays by the rules, when the companies don’t have to. Please keep this reporting quarterly. It’s the least they can do. If telling the truth is that hard for them, they should not be in the positions they hold. Thank You, Diane J Donnellan Warrenton, Oregon 97146

Diane Esposito — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Diane Esposito Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 In today’s world, we need to keep people’s confidence. Quarterly reporting will continue keep faith with the American public, and the required accountability will make it much more likely that any wrongdoing comes to light sooner rather than later.

Diane Esposito
Office Manager
GD&PAA

Diane Friend — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Diane Friend Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I'm retired and so I have means a lot to me..

Diane Harpster — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Diane Harpster Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Just WHO does it benefit to roll back the reporting frequency? Not we the people. Do not make this change. We see what you are doing.

Diane Harpster

Diane Ide — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Diane Ide Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the quarterly reporting! Sure, big business would prefer 6 months to collect monies and shaft smaller investors, it also gives them more time to cook the books!

Sent from my iPhone

Diane Klock — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Diane Klock Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My name is Diane Klock and I believe that quarterly reporting is important for accountability.

Sent from my iPhone

Diane LeDuc — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Diane LeDuc Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Another vote for quarterly reporting. Always in favor of transparency. I’d like to know who proposed the change in policy. How would the change benefit the public? Diane LeDuc, retired educator.

Sent from my iPhone

Diane Lilly — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Diane Lilly Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We the people, Diane RN, I believe we have a right for a seat at the table to see what's happening and not be kicked out. Lobbyist ruined everything for America. The people should count on what we need and what we want. Our country is not a country anymore. It's totally destroyed because of people wanting to make decisions without the Americans aware of what they're doing behind our backs. You are taking our money left and right to where there's nothing left except what's in your wallet. It's time you listen to us.

Sent from my iPhone

Diane Panasci — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Diane Panasci Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This is totally unwarranted, unexpected, and a threat to the financial health of the majority of investors. Keep this quarterly!

Diane Panasci
from my iPhone

Diane Pollock — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Diane Pollock Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 More chance for fraud? The public…like myself isn't fooled one bit. And mad as hell. You don't think the average educated citizen is fooled by this? 2008 will look like a walk in the park compared with our impending collapse if this continues.

Diane Pollock

Diane Routman — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Diane Routman Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Don't change SEC quarterly reporting as we need full transparency.

DIANE SCHRIER — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: DIANE SCHRIER Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Cutting quarterly reports is opening the door to unregulated corruption. The SEC will become useless and a coverup for wrongdoing.

Sent from my iPhone

---

diane smith — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: diane smith Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 HAVE YOU LOST YOUR FREAKING MINDS?!!! WHY?!!!! THERE IS NOT A GOOD ENOUGH REASON TO DO THIS. IT'S GOING TO CREATE SOOOO MUCH FRAUD, CRIMINAL ACTIVITY.....WHO IS GETTING PAID OFF FOR THIS BULL *?!!! THIS IS INSANE!!! THEY WILL BREAK EVERY SINGLE LAW AND YOU KNOW IT!!! PEOPLE WILL BE SCREWED EVERY WHICH WAY BUT LOOSE!!!!

Diane Stanek — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Diane Stanek Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Diane Geraci, Retired examiner. Need to earn the most I can on my stock investments.

Diane Timko — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Diane Timko Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Keep Quraterly Disclosures!
You work for US, not Trump!

Dianne Flanagan — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Dianne Flanagan Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I honestly think the reporting should be mandated to MONTHLY like any other business account I have. I check online daily to see the progre6of my retirement investments, as best I can. I absolutely DO NOT agree with reducing the reporting minimums to 6 months. This outrageous. It destroys any remaining trust in the market and financial institutions. I absolutely expect even more corrupt insider trading under the proposed changes. If I could pull my accounts and live my life securely without running out due to inflation, I would. Quarterly reporting MUST stay as the bare minimum.
Dianne Flanagan
Retired Teacher

Dianne Gray — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Dianne Gray Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Literally all of my family’s wealth has come from smart investments- my father was crazy smart and chose well! He read every quarterly report and acted upon them when appropriate. I’m trying to be half as good to keep it going. What good could possibly come from this reduced reporting requirement?? For literally anyone?? NO!!!!!!

Sent from my iPhone

Dianne McCants — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Dianne McCants Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Dianne McCants- Retired- I worked hard for the small pension I’m getting. Leave our hard earned income alone. The quarterly reporting works just fine.

Sent from my iPhone

Dianne Mills — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Dianne Mills Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Let’s keep it honest.

Sent from my iPhone

Dianne Papes — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Dianne Papes Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Totally unacceptable and dark!!!!

Dianne M Papes

Dipp — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Dipp Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Just another way to scam the consumer! Stop this farce now!!

DJ Dr. Oldies Richard Crummitt — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: DJ Dr. Oldies Richard Crummitt Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Why would we want to go back to pre Enron. This would allow for more corruption. I do not agree with the rollback proposal. Richard Crummitt, Tucson.

Djhewitt99 — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Djhewitt99 Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I think quarterly reporting has a positive effect for investors. A lot can happen in 6 months and investors need current information to make good decisions.

Sent from my iPhone

---

dmak7 @hot — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: dmak7 @hot Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 If they are guilty then they deserve the punishment for FRAUD

---

doandme — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: doandme Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 How much longer do we have to put up with unqualified people making decisions in this country?

At my age, there’s nothing left to learn the hard way.

---

dochatchett55 — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: dochatchett55 Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Why change now? Is this part of the conspiracy to keep the working man oppressed? Most of us now have retirement money invested in the Stock Market; shouldn't we be privy to the flux noted in the quarterly reports? Isn't this another option for only "insiders?" I don't think this is fair or just to Americans. Dr. Timothy W. Hatchett, DDS

Sent from my Galaxy

Dog of wisdom — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Dog of wisdom Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Enough, stop facilitating grift and fraud.

Dolores — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Dolores Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Consumers and institutions deserve transparency to support their investing. Making this proposed change away from quarterly reporting would provide no meaningful benefit, and would increase opportunities for bad actors to avoid appropriate oversight.

Dolores Shank-Samiec, Retiree

Sent from my iPhone

Dolores Perez — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Dolores Perez Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 The SEC. Is supposed to protect consumers, not allow companies to participate in insider trading while we hold the bag. Quarterly reports are absolutely crucial for transparency and accountability. I strongly urge the SEC to keep quarterly reports.

Sent from my iPhone

Dolores R — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Dolores R Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Dolores Ruby, retired
There is no legitimate reason not to disclose financial information quarterly. Information that is publicly known is essential for monitoring the actions taken by executives.

Domenica Pugliese — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Domenica Pugliese Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I am AGAINST this new rule. Companies should have to report QUARTERLY, as doing so less frequently is not in the interest of the shareholders. When will this government start thinking about the good of its citizens, rather than its corporations? VOTE NO.

Sincerely,
Domenica Pugliese
NJ

Dominic Guarraci — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Dominic Guarraci Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is far more transparent, and may keep the books open to regulators.

Dominic Schwab — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Dominic Schwab Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 All of those Tax Breaks for the Wealthy and now more devices to help them avoid taxes!
You might want to examine what is going on in the united states, as the ends are already not meeting. Dom.

dom s

Dominique Mackenzie — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Dominique Mackenzie Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 You want us to invest, keep us in the loop period. Information needs to remain released quarterly.
Retired teacher
D Mackenzie

Don and Margie McGill — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Don and Margie McGill Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 As a shareholder I STRONGLY object to elimination of quarterly reporting. Please continue to issue these reports so that we who have invested our hard earned money in stocks can know about their performance. Thank you, Don McGill

---

Don Ausherman — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Don Ausherman Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Don Ausherman, investor. Quarterly reporting is essential for investors confidence in the system. Confidence in the system is what makes it all work. With everything digital, nobody can actually see anything except what is reported. Less reporting feels like hiding something. Keep the quarterly reporting.

Don Clark — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Don Clark Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 It's a small effort with big meaning. Keep it!
Don. Clark

Don Kinney — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Don Kinney Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 As someone who’s retired and relies pretty heavily on my investments to pay my bills (along with Social Security), having quarterly information is vital for me in assessing and choosing the best investments. I serve as my own advisor, so please don’t let anyone take away this important tool from me, and my success. Thank you for reading…Don Kinney

Sent from my iPad

Don Osborne — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Don Osborne Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting needs to remain to ensure transparency by companies about their earnings.

Sent from my iPhone

Don Ratliff — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Don Ratliff Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Stop this un-American policy change..Americans want accountability..sorry if that makes you nervous.

Don Spence — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Don Spence Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 When things are going BAD, I want to know SOONER than LATER.
Keep thing as they are!

Dona Meltzer — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Dona Meltzer Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This SEC proposal is unconscionable. Absolutely not.

Sent from my iPhone

Donald Andriuzzo — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Donald Andriuzzo Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 SEC. Please allow quarterly reporting to remain in place. Many of us senior citizens cannot afford to suffer a decline in the value of life's savings.

Sent from my iPhone

---

donald Franken — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: donald Franken Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 With all of congress banking $$$$$$$ off this I guess they like to keep even more. Quarterly needs to stay.

Donald Frederick — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Donald Frederick Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Why would you try to stop something that is providing such good information. Leave it alone it is working.

Donald Green — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Donald Green Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We the people are getting screwed enough already! Leave it quarterly!

Sent from my iPhone

Donald Kipp — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Donald Kipp Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I am an individual investor nearing retirement. I depend on my investments for my pending retirement. Please maintain the three months for reporting for public companies. I believe this is essential to maintain transparency and fairness for all investors. Without this Insiders will have a leg up. Little money would be saved and what is would go to executives and corporations. Again insiders would have unfair advantage. This would also increase the opportunity for fraud by companies and individuals in them.

Donald Kipp

Donna — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Donna Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Hi SEC I'm requesting that you keep the quarterly earnings !

Thank you !
Donna Incognito
Estero Fl

Sent from my iPhone

Donna Belcinski — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Donna Belcinski Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep reporting in a timely fashion as happens now.

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Donna Caldwell — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Donna Caldwell Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Stop protecting the wealthy elite! Transparency is extremely important. Stop giving them more time to move their money around illegally.

DONNA CARKIDO — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: DONNA CARKIDO Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 It's simple… keep the quarterly reporting!

Sent from my iPhone

Donna Carmine — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Donna Carmine Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep it as it is. These fraudulent offenders should not receive any opportunity to continue their criminal behavior at the expense of law abiding public.

Donna Clark — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Donna Clark Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 With all due respect, the public deserves more transparency, not less.

Donna Degrassi — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Donna Degrassi Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep them accountable at 4x per year!!!

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Donna Ferber — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Donna Ferber Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 It is important that ALL investors have real time or near real time information for smart financial decisions. Six months is way too long because we know that so much happens in a six month period. And insiders should not be favored over other investors.

Donna M Ferber
Tabernash, Colorado

Sent from my iPhone

Donna Fisher — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Donna Fisher Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 For the reliable financial advisers and small businesses on whom ordinary people depend, quarterly reports are essential tools. They are public information of a healthy economy. Limiting SEC reports to semi-annual ones keeps emerging trends and danger signals out of the public domain.

If the SEC board takes this action to limit information, we will know that you hide economic dangers to favor and protect the powerful forces who create the trends. We demand and deserve quarterly SEC reports. The SEC works for all of us.

Donna Fisher, retiree. Oak Park Heights, MN. 55082

Sent from my iPad

Donna Flynn — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Donna Flynn Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This is a horrible idea

---

Donna Foster — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Donna Foster Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Donna Foster Habilitation Training Specialist. I'm held accountable in my field.

Donna Crawford Foster

Donna Fox — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Donna Fox Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Donna Fox, retired
We have a lot of savings invested in the stock market and we rely on quarterly reports for manage our portfolio. Please keep companies reporting results quarterly!

Donna Frederick-Neznek — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Donna Frederick-Neznek Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Donna Frederick-Neznek
No! No! No!
I am a retired disabled teacher with an incurable cancer.
I cannot afford to lose anything.

Donna French — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Donna French Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep it Quarterly! Investors are ENTITLED to know how their companies are PERFORMING!

Sent from my iPad

Donna Habecker — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Donna Habecker Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Less reporting benefits those who have something to hide. Retain quarterly reporting.

Sent from my iPad

Donna Hamilton — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Donna Hamilton Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Everyone deserves to see the truth on a regular basis and the new proposal is NOT a good idea.

Donna Hamilton — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Donna Hamilton Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Everyone deserves to see the truth on a regular basis and the new proposal is NOT a good idea.
Thank you
Donna Hamilton

Donna James — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Donna James Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Donna James...work comp adjuster...keep the reporting quarterly! Investors need to be kept updated on our investments in order to make ongoing decisions!

Donna Johnson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Donna Johnson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I want the quarterly reports to be disclosed. We need honesty in reporting not more fraud! Get real!

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Donna LandryRehling — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Donna LandryRehling Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
As an investor, I expect to have access to all relevant information all of the time. Vote NO on the proposed rule. Thank you.

Donna Ledlow — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Donna Ledlow Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Sounds like we should stay at quarterly if the stats are true. Let's not hide what is happening. Give us straight facts & tell us what is happening so we can keep our hard earned money.

Sent from my iPhone

Donna McQuery — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Donna McQuery Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 It is much smarter and safer for companies to do quarterly reporting than twice a year for their bottom line and for investors. If there is a problem it is found sooner and more honest.
Donna McQuery
Retiree
I am a stock investor

Donna Pigalargi — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Donna Pigalargi Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Donna Pigalargi retired RN
I believe this is a bad move for individual investors — I believe it undermines trust. Please leave it quarterly.

Donna Pigalargi

Donna Robb — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Donna Robb Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I am a 60-year-old widow of a veteran. I haven't been able to save and invest much as salaries have rarely kept up with the cost of living. What I have been able to invest, I should have the right to at least quarterly reporting. Actually, I think we ought to consider monthly. The Markets move fast, we should have more transparency, not less. I am trying to retire, I need information, not silence, to plan as well as I am able. Please keep at least quarterly or monthly like our bank statements.

Thank you,

Donna Robb
Inside Sales Representative
Murphy, NC

Registered voter since I was 18.

Sent from my iPhone

Donna Russell - Kramer — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Donna Russell - Kramer Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
We do not need more secretive actions! We deserve to know what if happening with our investments and what the government is doing. Stop pandering to Trump and the billionaires! Transparency is what we must have!

---

donna sauer — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: donna sauer Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Stop!

Donna Schulz — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Donna Schulz Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep quarterly reports

---

Donna Stearns — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Donna Stearns Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 The consumer and public at large need to be protected. Reporting should be quarterly.

Donna Stein — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Donna Stein Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
No changes... keep transparency as it is.

Donna Swan — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Donna Swan Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Changing to biannual rather than quarterly financial reports is not desirable for shareholders. I oppose the change. Donna C. Swan

---

Donna Trickett — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Donna Trickett Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Donna J. Trickett- Site Administrator
Quarterly reporting is ESSENTIAL to maintain INTEGRITY! What are you trying to hide from investors? A longer lag time means more time for dishonesty and corruption by billionaires to go unnoticed. Be transparent and continue to do the right thing by requiring quarterly reporting. Investors need to have full, accurate, and timely reporting!

Sent from my iPhone

Donna Wielgolewski — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Donna Wielgolewski Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
We need quarterly reports!! A lot of funny business can occur especially given this lying administration.

Donna Wielgolewski

Donna Williams — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Donna Williams Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I can see no positive argument for this action. Investing is already made very difficult for smaller stockholders. The big players have all the rules to their advantage, and much of the information that we will never have. This cutting back on public information would make the unequal advantage even broader. It would create even more dark time for juggling, short selling, and other fraudulent manipulation.
I am against the change in time aloud for disclosure.

Donna Young — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Donna Young Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 From my long time experience of 50 years working Admin jobs for various types of companies I saw how important it was to have more than 1 pair of eyes on the details, especialy the financial details. Most good bookkkeepers appreciate the scrutiny, especially the kind, knowledgeable scrutiny.

Donnal Poppe — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Donnal Poppe Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We must have quarterly reports.
Mike Langston
Sent from my iPhone

---

donnie hall — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: donnie hall Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I think the only way forward is to keep the reporting at its current level or increase the reporting

---

Dora Herrera — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Dora Herrera Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 CEO's have shown us they need accountability to stay on track. Reducing that accountability helps no one but the rich aiming to get richer.

Doreen Preville — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Doreen Preville Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 KEEP IT QUARTERLY.

Doris Niccolai — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Doris Niccolai Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Doris Niccolai, retired teacher I am writing to ask that quarterly reporting remain in place. As a small investor I need those quarterly reports to make good decisions about the little money I have so it won't be lost.

Dorn Black — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Dorn Black Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:Quarterly reports are necessary to facilitate financial health enabling public to react to changes in a timely fashion!!

Dorothy Dalman — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Dorothy Dalman Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 The change is unfair to the investors. Use common sense, why did they change it to make quarterly in the first place.

Sent from my iPhone

Dorothy Fleishman — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Dorothy Fleishman Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
I strongly oppose eliminating quarterly reporting. Transparency is necessary to preserve people's savings and retirement funds.

Doug Buskirk — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Doug Buskirk Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Stop the insanity! Put these people in prisons where they belong!

Sent from my iPad

---

doug caldwell — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: doug caldwell Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Dawn Caldwell, retired. I will remove investments from any company that "voluntary" decides to remove quarterly reports. These reports provide accountability to everyday investors and level the playing field a little bit. It is not okay for the US to continue to hack away at all of the financial safeguards for every day people - the ones who buy the products that make these companies profitable. If this passes, I will move my money out of any company that "voluntarily" chooses to go to semi-annual reporting.

Doug Cooper — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Doug Cooper Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 When will the ultra wealthy have enough while people who are essentially struggling to get ahead in life foot the bill?

Douglas Cooper- maintenance technician Elkhart, IN 65k a year vs billionaires

- i live in a 1930 built home that i have rehabilitated on my meager pay for 26 years now you want my serfdom to support you and your billionaire friends?

The corruption of the government is pushing us to the bottom and negating the American dream of millions for the benefit of the few...

Hell has a warm spot just for you.

You're killing people you've never seen for a few dollars more...

The American dream is dead. All because of you.

Service of your fellow man has now flipped to the elected being served by the electorate.

Free Healthcare, pension and unlimited raises for the elected, death, endless poverty and taxes for the middle class and poor .
The stench of corruption is plain to smell and the rot is evident by the activities of the government.

THE END RESULTS OF ACTIONS ARE TRUTHS.

Don't piss down my leg and tell me it's raining 😏

If you fail to protect the people who make your jobs possible, In the end you will have nothing to rule over but paupers.
STOP THE CORRUPTION AND THE DECAY OF THE AMERICAN DREAM.
STOP THE MADNESS
SAY NO TO CODDLING THE RICH
It s The Dragon sickness of the troll horde that corrupts you...nothing will ever be enough for you.
Signed disgusted in America.

Doug Fisher — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Doug Fisher Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 If anything they should do monthly reports not 6 months
Capitalism is great but there has to be rules to keep people honest

Doug Fisher

Doug Hegney Chemist — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Doug Hegney On the proposed rule change, I am against changing reporting from quarterly to semi annual. I thank the Mötley Fool for educating its members on this topic.

Doug Hopton — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Doug Hopton Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 No this is wrong g, they could hide and move so much , it's wrong for so many reasons...

Doug Kolan No longer affiliated Retired broker. — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Doug Kolan Please keep the quarterly filing requirements. Going to every 6 months will hurt retail investors as well as institutional investments.

Doug Luther — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Doug Luther Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 It is crazy to even propose giving up quarterly reporting! SEC MUST CONTINUE TO REQUIRE QUARTERLY REPORTINGS!

Thank You

Douglas K Howell, Chief Financial Officer, Arthur J. Gallagher & Co. — Jun 18, 2026

Douglas Lilley — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Douglas Lilley I am a self-taught investor and a picker of individual stocks. I use quarterly reports and conference calls routinely when performing my due diligence, from initial interest to final sale. In my limited experience, quarterly reporting is the right level of frequency for me, as an individual investor to be able to make informed financial decisions. Further, I find the three month cadence forces companies to provide more realistic short term expectations and projections, which I find to be significantly more reliable than their longer term guidance. It also allows me to better gauge the progress companies are making towards their goals. Without this quarterly reporting, I think I'd need to focus significantly more on the selling and buying of employee / insider stock, as well as the blogs and writeups from third-party pundits in order for a measure of sentiment about the short term future prospects of a company

---

Douglas Meacham — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Douglas Meacham Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I think you've heard the reasons why this is a super bad idea so I'm just gonna add my voice to it. This is a really bad idea. I am retired and live off of my investment income and I need to be able to know what the hell is going on inside companies on a frequent basis. So I am saying absolutely not to your proposed changes to reporting frequency.

Douglas Meacham. Retired

Sent from my iPhone

Douglas Miller — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Douglas Miller Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Stop this foolishness and release the reports.

Doug Miller

Douglas Rollins — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Douglas Rollins Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
One of the biggest draws of the market is that it is open and public. In an age where any individual can pick up their phone and get information at a moment's notice, this new rule would three steps back. Stocks would be mispriced and, after six months with little to no data, they would suddenly be extremely volatile. Such dramatic and untrustworthy swings would discourage long-term investors, who would see no reason to keep money during the first 4-5 month period where little is gained or lost - all to "YOLO" in for that six month release (if they did so at all).

Transparency and confidence are the two key factors at keeping people investing in both the market and retirement, which keeps the entire system stable. At a time where the average American is already mistrusting of the government, its agencies, and public companies, this rule would cause an even greater divide.

While I know its likely not plausible, it would be far more beneficial - for the public, for the SEC, and for law-abiding companies - if we did monthly reports - but six months is simply too long of a time.

---

douglas sanecki — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: douglas sanecki Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Outrageous to retail individual investors,when transparency is most needed. Keep quarterly!

DR HERCHEL SAWYER JR — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: DR HERCHEL SAWYER JR Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 WE MUST HAVE EXECUTIVE ACCOUNTABILITY !!!!!!!
H. E. SAWYER, JR., MD, PhD

DR Miller — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: DR Miller KEEP QUARTLY REPORTING! STOP THE CON GAMES!

Dr. Amy Ollendorf Self — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Dr. Amy Ollendorf Do not reduce the required frequency of reporting. Extended periods between reports will correlate to an increase in corporate corruption and fraud. Look at history for evidence of my allegation.

Dr. Evil — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Dr. Evil Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Hiding means to keep secret, to keep the truth hidden from public eyes. A company must be open and honest. If companies are allowed to hide anything, that breeds temptation and corruption. I completely disagree with this proposal.

Dr. Penelope Suter — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Dr. Penelope Suter Re: changes in quarterly reporting. I am recently retired and manage my own investments, as my father did before me. While I have many interests in life, and checking on investments daily or even weekly is not on my retirement “bucket list,” my retirement income is dependent on those investments…especially with the likely cuts in social security coming. Hence, keeping at least quarterly tabs on my Retirement. Investments is critical. For myself and a large percentage of this country, quarterly reporting from companies makes them easy to keep track of. Longer reporting periods allow for too much drift, potential fraud, and less opportunity for the individual investor to keep good enough track of their investments to survive and thrive. There is a reason that quarterly reporting has been the standard for so many years. Please leave it alone. The only reason to change it is to benefit corporations not the people of this country.

Dr. Van Vleck — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Dr. Van Vleck Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I am a professor of Economics. The foundation of vibrant and more equitable capitalism is the credibility, transparency, and availability of timely information. Quarterly reporting by publicly traded companies is essential. Maintain the quarterly reporting standard—and strengthen it with active monitoring and enforcement. The dangers of more insider trading and extreme financial inequalities are too costly to American households, and the American economy.

VaNee L. Van Vleck, PhD
(PhD, University of Iowa, 1993; MA, Columbia University, 1988)

Sent from my iPad

---

drcnycrealtor — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: drcnycrealtor Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Denise C. - Real Estate Agent

Whether you're an investor or not it seems to me quarterly reports are an important tool to keep abreast of shifting markets. There's no reason to disrupt the regular order. Please continue the practice. Thank you.

Sent from my iPhone

---

drdilomb — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: drdilomb Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This year are rapidly changing times; we need, and deserve, to know how our finances are doing .

Diane

Drena Bowerman — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Drena Bowerman Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This is just one more step into the abyss of corruption. One more big way for more Goliaths to rig the system for the rest of us. One more gate knocked down. The government has enabled the Wild West of industry to take over "the town". There are virtually no sheriffs anymore. If this passes it may be the last straws please put a stop to this juggernaut.

Sent from my iPhone

Drena Bowerman — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Drena Bowerman Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This is just one more step into the abyss of corruption. One more big way for more Goliaths to rig the system for the rest of us. One more gate knocked down. The government has enabled the Wild West of industry to take over “the town”. There are virtually no sheriffs anymore. If this passes it may be the last straw. Please put a stop to this juggernaut.

Sent from my iPhone

---

drew cobb — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: drew cobb Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 “We tried this once, between 1955 and 1970. Less transparency came with lower returns and lower valuations.” Is there any other consideration worth looking at?

Drew Cobb
Tax payer and investor

Sent from my iPhone

---

drew shorkey — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: drew shorkey Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My name is Drew Shorkey, I am from San Diego, CA and am a Project Manager. I oppose this rule change.
This proposal would allow companies more ability to manipulate market information and to protect their own share value over the free release of critical information for investors. The rule should be moving the other way, with monthly releases required. The board of directors and executives all k ow this information on a minute by minute level and have been proven to hedge their investment and stock options/RSU values through fraud and other illegal means.
The only reason we have a SEC at all is because of how much fraud companies have committed in the past. Giving them more time between disclosure dates means more illegal behavior, more opportunities for insider trading, more investors that get screwed, and has zero upside for anyone. Thank you for taking note of my opposition to this proposed rule change.

---

dturcsanyi — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: dturcsanyi Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I am urging you to continue work quarterly reposts.
I rely on quarterly reports to make decisions about my retirement savings. I also am old enough to remember the abuse from companies like ENRON. These safeguards we're implemented for good reason.

Sent from my Galaxy

Duane Donaldson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Duane Donaldson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is vital to investors who don't spend time daily/weekly studying trends and prices. I need to know how my investment is performing on a frequent enough basis to act in my own best interest.

Sent from my iPhone

Duane Gottschalk — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Duane Gottschalk Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This is not fair for investors. Do not change the rule

Sent from my iPhone

Duane Wiseman — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Duane Wiseman Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Lyle wiseman , tradesman. Seattle , Wa. I have 42 years of retirement and investments that i am hoping will support me in retirement years. Its important to keep this things on the table and transparent. Quarterly reporting allows the little guy to make informed decisions. We have seen what happens to people when companies do not reveal there operating budgets Ned financials accurately ! This is very important ! Thank you

---

Dusty Walker — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Dusty Walker Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Do not do away with quarterly reporting, because the American public needs those safeguards!

Dwight Gaut — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Dwight Gaut Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We need more transparency, not less. Big business is not overly burdened by quarterly reports. It's the very least a company can do to keep investors informed.

Dwight Gaut
- -
4320 SW Brace Pt Dr
Seattle, Washington 98136
Tel 206 935 9654
lawdesk@lawdesk.net

Dwight Scott — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Dwight Scott Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Laws is what keep our country together, changing this is ridiculous..

Sent from my iPhone

E Fons — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: E Fons Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the SEC.
Transparency is key. Consistently released corporate quarterly disclosures, give investors important insight AND information, needed to make proper investment decisions. This proposed rule would restrict investor access to important information. And it would create a situation that would make it easier for corporate fraud to fester. Public companies must not be allowed to hide important information from investors. I oppose this proposed rule.
Thank you.

E Pesce — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: E Pesce Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 As a long term investor, I use frequently use quarterly reports to help me make my decisions. Having invested during the doldrums of the 70s, I know first hand that more transparency is better for investors, not less. As the SEC was established to keep our stock market the most honest in the world, I fail to see how removing the quarterly report requirement benefits small investors or is in line with the SEC's mandate.

---

eaaresearch — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: eaaresearch Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Stop the madness the American people are over the fraudulent policies. I will out my money in the Canadian market if this happens

Sent from my iPhone

Earle Smith — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Earle Smith Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 👎

Sent from my iPhone

Earlene Price — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Earlene Price Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We, the general investing public, need quarterly information on our investments to make timely adjustments to protect our retirement funds. We can't allow the fat cats to get filthy rich and leave the rest of us with their crumbs. Everyone should be able to retire and and know that our hard work can carry us into old age comfortably without having to be a burden on our families or hardworking tax payers in general. - Earlene Price, Enterprise Accounts Executive - UPS Retired after 30 years of service.

Sincerely,

Earlene Price
2502 Santa Fe Trl
Sanger, TX 76266
214-417-7506

Easy — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Easy Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Haven't you done enough to make it almost impossible to make a living for non accredited investors aka the non rich? Oh yea and where's the money from the FTX scandal? It's been in profit for a long long time , had easily doubled more like 4 or 5x and not one person who invested it into a site that you said you had done due diligence on that didn't have not one single record,of anything, period. But your detectives know exactly who is owed exactly how much but have paid back exactly no one. And your head dude was like best friends with the dude that owned it. WTF? Not changing this law to make reporting every six months is literally the least you could do. I'll await your response.

ED BAUER — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: ED BAUER Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Why let the big corporations hide what they are doing. Why do they need to do that. Hiding something? KEEP IT THE WAY IT IS

Ed Budzinski — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Ed Budzinski Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 The members of the Security Exchange Commision

The Enron saga bankrupted investors and made retirement accounts disappear. The result of that debacle was to initiate quarterly reports to avoid a repeat. There is exponentially more money in the system. We've seen what the current 1% will do to hold onto their money.
The common investor takes the loss when the market crashes Protect the common investors retirement and investment funds. This is your charter. It's the reason you exist.

Regards, Ed Budzinski

Ed Dolton — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Ed Dolton Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep it Quarterly! Fraud needs time and by doing this you are giving it just that, time!

Ed Shultz — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Ed Shultz Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This is just another way to help insider trading and steal for the consumer. We demand to keep asis.

Sent from my iPhone

Edgar BARRITA — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Edgar BARRITA Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 A la Comisión de Bolsa y Valores:
URGENTE PORFABOR ME AYUDAN PAPA RECUPERAR la empresa ULS SOLUTIONS¹Y PAR

Edie OBrien — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Edie OBrien Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep it as is and cutting consumer protections

Mrs. Edie OBrien
14307 Eagle Vista Drive
Houston, TX

Sent from my iPad

Edna Bobbitt — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Edna Bobbitt Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
This would not be good for investors. Open communication on their accounts is important. Every quarter is perfect to be advised on your account. This rule does not need to be changed at all. Thank you.

---

edward hadnott — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: edward hadnott Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 The SEC should be a watchdog instead of a lapdog.

Sent from my iPhone

Edward Johnson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Edward Johnson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Corporate American is already too willing to cooperate with government power grabs and pay to play policies. Citizens need to have transparency into their bottoms lines to know what they are up to! Quarterly reports need to stay

---

Edward Kosewicz — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Edward Kosewicz Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 As an investor I demand to have quarterly updates. I and other investors what to know what is happening in the companies we invest in!!!

Sent from my iPad
The Right to Keep and Bear Arms SHALL NOT be Infringed!

"If you find yourself in a fair fight, you didn't plan your mission properly."
- David Hackworth

Edwin Weston — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Edwin Weston Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep quarterly information available to ALL investors. The only people that want this policy changed is greedy people. Don't allow this to happen. Thank you.

---

eileen adler — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: eileen adler Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I want the reports to remain quarterly because transparency is important for all.

Eileen Adler

Sent from my iPhone

Eileen Bow — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Eileen Bow Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep quarterly signatures, quarterly accountability. Spread between lowest and highest wage earners is increasing. Stop, just stop

Get Outlook for iOS

Eileen Cowel — Jun 18, 2026

Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Eileen Cowel Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I am recently retired, and count on quarterly reporting to help me manage and strategize how to best invest in my retirement funds to keep my husband and I financially afloat. 6 mos is too late to see trouble brewing! -- Eileen Cowell, Durham, NC

Eileen Ferre — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Eileen Ferre Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
You are well aware that it is your duty, your obligation, the morally correct thing to do. You should be defending the citizens of this country against unfair power and control. I'm asking you to do the right thing. I wish I could say I thought you would. Unfortunately, these times have taught me very few people in power are willing to do the right thing.

Eileen Hersch — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Eileen Hersch Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Dear Sir or Madam,
I doubt you witnessed first hand the stock market crash in 1929. That was the year my relative immigrated from Europe to the United States and always joked that was the cause of the crash! I know you must be acutely aware of the 1933 legislation that passed Congress with the intent to never let that happen again. The core of that legislation, I believe, was to ensure accountability by the government officials/ bankers by signing, on a quarterly basis, their name to indicate their review and acceptance of each quarterly report...under a penalty of possible imprisonment. I assume you did live through the 2008 debacle and, therefore, know there is no guarantee that folks who should be responsible for other peoples' assets are not always such. The current quarterly reviews and signatures must remain. There is already too much blatant corruption at the highest levels of this administration. By not keeping the current SEC laws in place is to thumb your nose at the rest of society by removing what few financial safeguards we have just to alleviate a small inconvenience for the few.

Eileen Kusler — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Eileen Kusler Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I vote No on this proposal.

I vote No on this proposal.

Eileen Lee — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Eileen Lee Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the quarterly reporting from all our institutions! We are retired and we need everything from our investments that we can get....need to know quarterly what is going on as well. We are from North Dakota. Farming, teaching and many other jobs to come up with enough to live fairly comfortable in our "old age.". Do not make this worse for us and for most of the middle class! Eileen Lee and J.S. Lee

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Eileen Reiter — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Eileen Reiter Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Transparency equals Trust. Personally, I think the investors should receive monthly statements, like bank statements. If you have nothing to hide, if you are not Scamming the investors or planning Fraud, you will keep quarterly statements. Where money is concerned Trust is everything!!!!!

Sent from my iPhone

Eileen Segall — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Eileen Segall Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Eileen Segall retired, We have more than enough grift, taxes gone to billionaires, and inside trading. Don’t open the door to opportunity for more!

Sent from my iPhone

Elaine Bowman — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Elaine Bowman Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep it honest !

Sent from my iPhone

Elaine Chapin — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Elaine Chapin Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Too much can change in 6 monthes. Reporting must remain quarterly.

V. Elaine Chapin

Elaine Hamburg — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Elaine Hamburg Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the Quarterily reports. Regular financial institutions are required to do them...a federal government financial department should too.

Elaine Malone — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Elaine Malone Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reports signed by the company CEO ascertaining accurate, truthful, and transparent information is a simple way to help maintain honest, informed decisions by investors. I rely on my investment company employees to make good decisions regarding my retirement accounts. Limiting the amount of information can be devastating. It also makes it more likely for dishonest and misleading information. I know the distribution of my money in my retirement accounts is frequently changed. I want the best, most recent and reliable information to guide those decisions.

Twice a year reporting is not enough. With all of our computerized information systems, quarterly reporting should be automatic. There is no reason to change this requirement….unless powerful and influential businessmen want to hide their intentional misdeeds.

Good grief, as a teacher, I used to write individual grade reports by hand four times within a school year! Required, quarterly reports are not that hard to complete thanks to computerized data and should be completed as currently required.

Elaine M.
Washington

Elaine Pontious — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Elaine Pontious Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My name is Elaine Pontious, am just a few months away from the age of 70, and I'm working part-time. Please do not change your reporting times to 6 months. There are not a lot of tools in the toolbox for people like me, but one significantly useful tool is quarterly reporting. Please MAINTAIN the practice of quarterly reporting.

Elaine

Elam — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Elam Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Dr. Elam here saying keep reporting as it is thanks

Sent from my iPhone

---

elapolree/P.Holleman — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Keep Quarterly Reports From: elapolree/P.Holleman Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 If we are not paying attention, those with bad intentions, or those blinded by "more money for me" will step out of line. Checking on them quarterly keeps them in line... Giving them 6 months between check ups is just asking for things to go wrong, and will leave those who are making invest ments based on the quarterly reports, in the dark.
Pamela Holleman, disabled veteran, from Pomona California

Sent from Proton Mail for Android.

Eleanor Cantrell — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Eleanor Cantrell Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Absolutely continue quarterly reporting. Investors need timely status reports to maintain investments in the best possible positions. As noted by others, allowing companies to go dark has proven to contribute to larger losses when companies reduce filings to 2 /year from 4. Do not permit this— we learned (or could have) from the past experience of this tactic, investors are hurt, companies benefit. Do not enable more hurt.

---

eleanor Chw — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: eleanor Chw Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the quarterly reporting, as a retirees this is critical to my ability to live. Eleanor Bolin-Chew, retired, Brentwood CA 94513

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Eleanor Matteliano — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Eleanor Matteliano Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My name is Eleanor Matteliano and I'm a public school teacher in Southern California. Please protect citizens' right to be updated quarterly regarding the performance of their investment portfolios. Failure to do so is a breach of public trust and impedes our pursuit of the safety of retirement income when our working years are behind us. Why would an agency entrusted with ensuring the prosperity of our citizens do this? They would not.

Sent from my iPhone

Elena Gosson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Elena Gosson Please reconsider reducing the reporting requirements to just twice per year. This will not provide investors with enough information to review and react to the information as needed. If any changes are needed it should be to provide more frequent and more easily presented information so that informed decisions can be made. Reducing reporting will only lead to additional opportunities for companies to hide, adjust or delay profit and loss changes and to avoid shortfalls in oversight and disclosure. Please do not reduce the reporting requirements. Thank you.

Eli Sedai — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Eli Sedai Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Do your mothers know how you are shafting the people who depend on you to protect them & this country's economy? Seriously, this only encourages quicker fraud & corruption, & then they have 6 Mos to bury it! Shame on the SEC for even considering this. Did you NOT hear what happened in Minnesota?

Elin Shogren — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Elin Shogren Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting protects the investors as well as the employees.

The law was put in place to prevent fraud and hold CEOs accountable, do not change it.

Elin Shogren
Finance Assistant

Elisabeth Leman — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Elisabeth Leman Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To whom it may concern,

I am writing to express my opposition to any changes in the reporting rules. Please keep the reporting frequency on a quarterly basis.

Given the current administration, maintaining this level of transparency is essential for the oversight of our funds.

Best regards,

Elisabeth Leman

Elise Holloway — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Elise Holloway Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please keep quarterly reports it's how I / we keep on top of things … thank you

Sent from my iPhone

Elise Holloway — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Elise Holloway Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep it quartet … transparency is important

Sent from my iPhone

Elisse De Sio — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Elisse De Sio Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
As a United States Consumer, Quarterly Reports are essential to making sound business retail decisions. Therefore, I encourage you to continue publishing them, in order to uphold the United States' Economy. Thank you for your attention to this matter.

---

elizabeth adamson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: elizabeth adamson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Stop it! Just stop scamming the American public!!!!

Sent from my iPad

Elizabeth C. Ferrari — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: KEEP Quarterly Reporting From: Elizabeth C. Ferrari Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 KEEP Quarterly Reporting

Regards,

Elizabeth C. Ferrari
Republican Chair for Freestone County Pct. 5
(254) 747-1602 | Askelle247@gmail.com

"Democracy transformed from thin paper to thick action is the greatest form of government on earth". Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

Elizabeth Campbell — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: quarterly reporting From: Elizabeth Campbell Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We live in a society in which information is key. Data drives decision making and the more frequently we can access information, the more ability we have to be flexible and timely in our decisions. Please keep quarterly reporting the norm.
Elizabeth Campbell, Retired Investor (living on those investments)

Elizabeth Edwards — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Elizabeth Edwards Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please keep the required QUARTERLY reporting.

Elizabeth Edwards — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Elizabeth Edwards Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Please do your job. For real. Honestly. Fairly.

Elizabeth Elsbree — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Elizabeth Elsbree Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep quarterly earnings reports!!! Sure less often is easier.... but WE NEED TO KNOW!!!

Elizabeth Falco — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Elizabeth Falco Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
We matter, too!!! Leave it alone. Enough said!
Elizabeth Falco

Elizabeth Hart — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Elizabeth Hart Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Businesses must be held accountable. History shows this must be done by regulation. This provision would further erode the American middle class and abet the corporate corruption. I am recently retired and am worried about my savings. Do not allow this, please!

Elizabeth Harter — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Elizabeth Harter Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 NO NO NO!!! Quarterly reporting is ESSENTIAL For ACCOUNTABILITY!!!

Sent from my iPhone

Elizabeth Hostetter — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Elizabeth Hostetter Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please continue quarterly reports. As a middle class saver, I can't afford to lose money.
Elizabeth Hostetter

Sent from my iPhone

Elizabeth Jacobson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Elizabeth Jacobson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Elizabeth Jacobson, President and CFO, Quarterly reporting matters because we all remember Enron, or have the ability to research what happened, and we are at a time when falsity and corruption abounds!

Do not allow companies to stop providing quarterly reports!!! This is not what the American people want or need!!

Elizabeth Jacobson

Elizabeth Johnson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Elizabeth Johnson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly Reports help the majority of investors with maintain their retirement investments. THEY deserve the information and support, NOT the corporations, who already get more than their share.

Elizabeth Johnson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Elizabeth Johnson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the CEO financial reporting sign off as quarterly. Do not widen the time frame to semiannually. Fraud is real and so is the temptation to commit fraud.
Don't make it easier.

Elizabeth Johnson
retired accountant.

Elizabeth Kiland — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Elizabeth Kiland Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We want transparency and our statements coming quarterly so we can closely monitor how our stocks our doing. That's our investments and our retirement savings and it's critical we get this information quarterly.

Sent from my iPhone

Elizabeth Maple — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Elizabeth Maple Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Keep quarterly discloser in place

Elizabeth May — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Elizabeth May Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please keep required quarterly reporting for CEOs. One of President
Trumps main talking points has been to stop fraud and abuse, yet this is one more example of his administration not only stepping back from that promise, but leaning in to allow more companies to get away with fraud. Elon Musk, and others like him, must be held accountable. I am a retired teacher, working part time at a public library. My husband and I also operate a farm, and have saved and invested frugally to have what we need for retirement. Your responsibility is to people like us, who have worked hard all of our lives, not to the CEOs who have already shown their propensity toward fraud, which is why the quarterly required reporting was instituted. Honest CEOs have nothing to fear. The Trump Administration has shone a light showing the American public how corrupt many of the largest companies are. They should not be exempt from their responsibilities to comply with the required, quarterly reporting.

Continue the quarterly reporting and continue to crack down on the fraud, to keep CEOs accountable.

Sincerely,
Elizabeth May
Ardmore, TN

Elizabeth Minister — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Elizabeth Minister Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Investments need to be transparent, available to everyone and managed evenly across the board.

Elizabeth Nuzum — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Elizabeth Nuzum Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Please keep the quarterly reports to keep everyone fair and honest on terms of the Market and all investments.

Elizabeth Pesce — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Elizabeth Pesce Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
As an investor I frequently use quarterly reports to help me make my decisions. The advent of quarterlies which increased transparency was and is better for investors, not less. The SEC was established to keep our stock market the most honest in the world. How does removing transparency help us? I fail to see how removing the quarterly report requirement benefits investors. Do your job and protect investors and do not implement this change.

Elizabeth Rhoades — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Elizabeth Rhoades Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is essential to investors so they can be well informed about the companies they are investing in. Removing the safety net will create a curtain behind which companies can hide detrimental activities that could negatively impact investors.
Elizabeth Rhoades
Professional Artist

Elizabeth Rhoades
https://www.elizabethrhoades.com/

Elizabeth Sallee — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Elizabeth Sallee Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Do NOT return to twice yearly for reports! Keep the current accounting system!!

Sent from my iPhone

Elizabeth Thelen — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Elizabeth Thelen Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We need shareholder protection. Stock buy backs are deceptive. The full faith and credit of the US dollar is losing value. We need transparency.

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Elizabeth Tkach — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Elizabeth Tkach Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My name is Elizabeth, I work as a home care aide and what little savings I have in my portfolio, I try to keep an eye on the stocks that I invest that in. Having less frequent source material would be very detrimental to my retirement plan and affect millions of others who are doing the same. Changing this would be a terrible step.

-

Elizabeth Tkach

Elke Betz Educator — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Elke Betz I think reporting everything every 3 months is good. I don't want to allow companies to report only every 6 months. That is a criminal "non-reform." SEC tell companies and politicians to knock it off and stop trying to make it harder for the ordinary people to invest wisely.

Elle C — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Elle C Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Lynda Crooms. Crisis supervisor. Phoenix, AZ. I have spent over 20 years working in corporate America, specifically managed care, a highly regulated, and highly profitable sector. Along the way I often see in the news many organizations having to pay millions, sometimes billions for various reasons. I also know that it is only due a high level of oversight that anything is maintained as wellas it is It is clear that it is in everyone's best interest that quarterly reporting continue to maintain a higher level of accountability.

Get Outlook for Android

Ellen — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Ellen Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is important for investors to make intelligent and informed decisions. Hiding this data hurts the consumer even further than tariffs and stupid unnecessary wars.

Ellen De Flora

Sent from my iPhone

Ellen bourdeaux — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Ellen bourdeaux Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This proposal is crazy and mean. I demand quarterly transparency!

Ellen Bourdeaux

Sent from my iPhone

Ellen C Davis — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Ellen C Davis Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My name is Ellen Davis. I live in South Central Tennessee, a retired person living off of my investments I do not want fewer reports. I want my investments stringently protected. Fewer reports makes for less accountability.

Peace,
Ellen

God bless the whole world. No exceptions.

Sent from Proton Mail for Android.

---

ellen cameron — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: ellen cameron Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Why Give me on good, sane reason why this should be done.

Back in 2001, when the Enron scandal first came to light, it was revealed that one of their fraudulent programs, the one that (cynically, deliberately) ripped off the power consumers of California while enriching the Enron executives, was named "Raptor." Interesting choice, I thought; probably because someone at Enron admired the predatory nature of raptorial birds. But there was another consideration. "Raptor" is a perfectly good Latin word, from which we have derived "rapt" and "rapture." Its original meaning is "thief" (I wonder if they knew that?). I have NO desire to give any other company the faintest possibility of repeating that kind of selfish, amoral, utterly corrupt action, no matter what they might name it. To that end, companies need to have a close eye kept on them. Please do not change the reporting rules.

My name is Ellen Cameron, I live in Milwaukie, Oregon, I am a quite ordinary housewife of nearly 80 years -- and I have two bachelor degrees; one in biology, the other in geology. And I know a lot of words and how to use them correctly.

Ellen Carrie — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Ellen Carrie Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please continue to have CEOs do their job quarterly and help safeguard financial institutions from fraud. Do not reduce the period from quarterly.

Sent from my iPhone

Ellen Crain — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Ellen Crain Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 SEC: protect clients at all costs and provide the quarterly statements so we can protect our funds. There is no good reason to change this requirement.

Ellen Fernandez — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Ellen Fernandez Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please keep this quarterly reporting. I think it best to keep copies accountable.

Ellen Hall — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Ellen Hall Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Don’t let those greedy bastards get away with anything! Keep them making their quarterly reports. Stop the BS!

Sent from my iPhone

Ellen Krane — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Ellen Krane Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 It is harder to track and adjust , if notifications are every 6 months. It need to be quarterly going forward!

Ellen Levitt — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Ellen Levitt Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the quarterly reports! Consumers need this information.
Ellen Levitt. Teacher. Brooklyn NY

Ellen McNutt — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Ellen McNutt Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is a must, six months involves allowing corporations to hide information pertinent to those of us who hold stocks. We should make it monthly in my opinion. Holds everyone more accountable. My investments send monthly statements.

Ellen McNutt
8333 Stafford Ln
Indianapolis In 46260

Ellen Norman — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Ellen Norman Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Transparency is important. Require quarterly reporting.

Ellen Oakes — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Ellen Oakes Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To Whom it may Concern: As the concentration of wealth increases to proportions that far exceed the so-called Gilded Age and as evidence of insider trading emerges from the highest levels of our government, we must do whatever we can to level the playing field. Twice annual reporting - as a replacement for quarterly - would have exactly the opposite effect, allowing those with advance knowledge to beat the market at the expense of other investors.
We already have a tax system that favors the top bracket. We have a shaky Social Security system. A rule that disfavors our 403(b) and other investment accounts by withdrawing timely information exacerbates problems that are already threatening the middle class.
The US tried this twice annual system for 15 years from 1955-1970, and it was a disaster. For once, let's learn from history and not repeat its mistakes.
Ellen Oakes
10 Saint Andrews Crossover
Severna Park, MD 21146
443-758-0924

Sent from my iPad

Ellen Paninski — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Ellen Paninski Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Leave it alone, we need accountability!

Sent from my iPhone

Ellen Sautter — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Ellen Sautter Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This proposal is just a way for more insider trading and grift. I oppose it strongly.

Ellen Sautter,
Youngstown, PA
Get Outlook for iOS

Ellen Simmons — Jun 18, 2026

Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Ellen Simmons Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I WANT quarterly reporting! It has proven to be consistently successful. I can see no positive outcome to cutting reporting to twice yearly. I want to know what is happening with my money quarterly. Twice-yearly reporting is lazy and troubling. It provides hazy information rather than transparency. My money is in the care of financial professionals but they should report to me Every. Single. Quarter. Why take a system that is effective and working efficiently and change the parameters? To what purpose? Is lunacy spreading? I am not a financial professional, but I am a retired professional person. The sound practices governing the investment of and reporting on MY funds should continue. I am literally placing my financial future in the hands of my chosen financial advisors. I do trust them, but not if things get sloppy. And cutting back reporting from quarterly to biannual is very sloppy. I strongly urge you NOT to approve this pointless change.

Ellen M. Simmons, MSL
139 Wilson Ave
Lancaster OH 43130

Ellie Eisner — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Ellie Eisner Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Ellen Eisner, retired. Quarterly reporting is essential for market integrity and public accountability.

Sent from my iPhone

Ellyn Sosin — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Ellyn Sosin Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting must continue! I am a CPA, my name is Ellyn Sosin, and without quarterly reporting there is so much fraud that can happen and be mis reported by the time the SEC knows about it.

Ellyn A. Sosin CPA
Sosin& Kriegel LLP
585 Stewart Ave - Ste 550
Garden City, Ny. 11530
email ESosin@SosinKriegel.com office 516.570.4600 ext 1
cell 516.361.0311
fax 516.570.4605

Elsa Singh — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Elsa Singh Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I oppose eliminating SEC quarterly reporting requirements. Quarterly reports provide transparency, accountability, and equal access to information for all investors—not just large institutions. Less frequent reporting would increase information gaps, reduce market transparency, and make it harder to identify problems early. Strong capital markets require timely disclosure. The SEC should preserve quarterly reporting.

#SEC #InvestorProtection #Transparency #CapitalMarkets

Elsa Singh
Elsasingh@hotmail.com

Else Marie Barney — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Else Marie Barney Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Else Barney, office mgr bookkeeper -Do not take away quarterly reporting, I depend on quarterly reports for my financial decisions. Longer gaps create an unfair and non transparent advantage for corporations and I dont trust that these companies will be honest without quarterly oversight. the so called savings to companies aren't worth the cost to me

Else Marie Barney
Freelance Technical Designer, Fashion Illustrator, Designer, Halloween Enthusiast Mobile: 856.669.8459
Email: else.ayala@gmail.com
Address: 40 Tansboro Road, C3, Berlin, NJ 08009
Skype: else1163

Create your own email signature

Elsie Elaine Connelly — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Elsie Elaine Connelly Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 KEEP IT QUARTERLY

EMC — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: EMC Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the regulations intact with quarterly reporting. Sunlight is the best disinfectant. There’s enough graft happening in this country without hiding more from the public.
I’m a widowed retiree who depends on investments made over a lifetime to support myself. I don’t need lack of regulations to shrink what little nest egg I’ve got.
Elaine Carmann

Sent from my iPhone

Emery von Sztankoczy — Jun 18, 2026

Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Emery von Sztankoczy Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 No way. Enough of this corruption. Your function is to protect consumers, not make them vulnerable to corporate schemes and collusion. Do your job.

Emery Sztankoczy

Emil Mikulin — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Emil Mikulin Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 the Trump insanity must stop. .common sense ruled the day until a pedophile came along, stop destroying our country in the name of trump

---

Emily — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Emily Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This going dark for six months will spur unscrupulous people to do all manner of illegal things to put money in their pockets, then leave and let somebody else pay for their crimes and try to fix the company.

--
Emily Meyerding

Emily — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Emily Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Absolutely do NOT change reporting to semi-annual!!!! We have a right to transparency with our finances!!!

Thank you,

Emily Venezia
484-714-1198
"Whether you think you can or you can't, you're right." -Henry Ford

---

Emily Benedetti — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Emily Benedetti Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My name is Emily Benedetti and I am retired with nearly all of my savings invested in the markets. I firmly believe that quarterly reporting should stay in place so that we can ALL make informed investment decisions! I strongly object to any changes.

Sent from my iPhone

Emily Legge — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Emily Legge Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Emily Legge Salt Lake City, Utah 84118: There is no reason for the SEC to reduce the quarterly reporting to 6 months, unless it is to allow corporations to hide abnormalities. The quarterly reports have worked for years, so why fix something that is not broken? It seems there is another agenda here and it’s not a benefit to the American people.

Emily Matz — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Emily Matz Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Do not revert to an old experiment. Keep quarterly reports.

Emily Matz
Sr. Staff Assistant
Department of Music
University of Notre Dame

Emily Meyerding — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Emily Meyerding Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This going dark for six months will spur unscrupulous people to do all manner of illegal things to put money in their pockets, then leave and let somebody else pay for their crimes and try to fix the company.

Emily W — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Emily W Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 More transparency, not less. We also need to remove Congress' ability to trade for immense profits in the stock market based on their insider knowledge. No more criminal actions being legalized due to insider privilege of position.

Emily West

Amherst, MA

"Man plans and God laughs." -- George Hanus

"We've begun to raise daughters more like sons... but few have the courage to raise our sons more like our daughters." -- Gloria Steinem

---

emma hartman — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: emma hartman Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Report quarterly AT THE LEAST. I would prefer Monthly!!
Emma Hartman

Emma Morreale — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Emma Morreale Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 There is a reason this was put into law in the first place. Not a single one of the people this law affects has any reason to be upset about it and if they are, it's because they're trying to hide something and they should be watched closer. We don't need more Enron crap, especially at this point in our history. We're already the laughing stock of the world thanks to Trump's clearly degenerating brain.

Thank you for your time,
Rev. Emma Morreale

Emma Patune — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Emma Patune Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Stop this blatant corporate loophole to hide taxable profits. Stop These Goblins.

Emmanuel Kandilas — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Emmanuel Kandilas Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
In the Information Age there is nothing more vital than providing free and equal access to information for all investors. We should be striving to offer more data, more frequently, not less. Semi annual reports will do nothing more than obfuscate signals and cause undue volatility while benefiting the privileged few.
the SEC has really fallen. Your duty is to the people...

Emmy Howard — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Emmy Howard Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I believe that quarterly reporting is extremely important to maintain transparency. This should not change!

Empress Dawn — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Empress Dawn Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I dont even have stocks. But this is ridiculous. A blind person could see how this rips off the common people while once again giving already priviledged people help to get ahead. Absolutely do not allow this. Its not just bad for the under 50% people but our country in general.

Emy Tafelski — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Emy Tafelski Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Dr. Emy Tafelski, psychotherapist, St. Petersburg FL.

Quarterly reporting is vital for investors to make good decisions regarding their finances. Transparency helps us know what is happening with our money. My grandfather set his children and grandchildren up for success and it is important to me that his legacy carry me through my life thoughfully amd with care and provides a good retirement. I can only do this if I know what is happening with the companies I invest in.

In conclusion please continue quarterly published reporting.

Dr. Emy Tafelski, LMFT (MT3066)
Founder, Me-Therapy
Integrative Soul Coach
Author, Always Worthy
St. Petersburg, FL

727-735-1257

me-therapy.com

Eric Anderson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Eric Anderson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Eric Anderson retired and US Citizen. As a person on a fixed income I am appalled at the stories I am hearing of fraud and abuse. I believe oversight that is actually done in a timely fashion would help curb some of that and help protect the average American.

Eric Bennett — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Eric Bennett Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Do not ket this sbuse occurr. We need to maintain checks as nd balances in the system to operate fairly and free of manipulation and abuse.

Thank you,

Eric Bennett
President
Erock Associates, llc
530-460-1848
Cell 510-219-3614
www.Erockllc.com

Eric Blau — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Eric Blau Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep quarterly reports

Sent from my Galaxy

Eric Crown — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Eric Crown Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My name is Eric Crown and I work in the health sciences. It is vital that investors are given access to quarterly reports so that they can keep track of trends impacting the companies in which we have invested our hard earned monies. It’s absolutely a travesty that anyone would even suggest that consumers should have less and not more visibility into how these companies are performing.

Eric Gabriel Lehman — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Eric Gabriel Lehman Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep quarterly reports!

Eric Markham — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Eric Markham Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the reportings quarterly. My name is Eric and I am a custodian in Wisconsin. What little in savings I have been able to accrue I deserve to be able to have full transparency in how the markets are handling them. Retirement is becoming less and less secure of an outcome and keeping the reportings quarterly is one of the few ways to bolster the return on my investments.

Eric Peterschmidt — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Eric Peterschmidt Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Eric Peterschmidt, retired fortune 50 company employee, and tech start up entrepreneur. Do not change the reporting frequency. I have seen from the inside what companies will do for purely financial reasons, and at times it is not at all in the best interest of their shareholders and employees. Please please please keep the reporting quarterly.

Sent from my iPhone

Eric Pratley — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Eric Pratley Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 The SEC works for us not the institutional investors, corporations and wealthy individuals. It is in the public interest to maintain quarterly reporting.

Get Outlook for iOS

ERIC TANKEL — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: ERIC TANKEL Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please don’t lessen transparency. This is not good for most Americans.

Eric Tankel

Sent from my iPhone

Eric Timm — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Eric Timm Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the quarterly corporate reporting requirement in place. Visibility to publicly held companies quarterly performance is critical for investors to make informed investment decisions. Eric Timm Compliance Manager, Peoria, Illinois

Sent from my iPhone

Erica Pearson — Jun 18, 2026

Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Erica Pearson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Erica Pearson, self employed, personal investor--without the information provided by quarterly reporting, small investors will be less likely to invest, as they are at most risk of losses. Taking away quarterly reporting weakens trust in the market. Investors deserve to know the status of their investments quarterly.

Erich Ackermann — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Erich Ackermann Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please! Let’s not go back to the days of Enron!!! Watch after the US citizens and not the money monsters!

Sent from my iPhone

Erich Spoonhour — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Erich Spoonhour Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I am a fiduciary advisor and this proposal to switch from quarterly reporting to semi-annual will be devastating to everyday Americans who are just trying to make it to retirement. Corporate America needs MORE guardrails, not less. Corporate America needs MORE transparency, not less. Corporate America needs MORE accountability, not less. Ultimately, publicly traded companies are held accountable by their shareholders but if you reduce the transparency into earnings you strip the shareholder’s ability to hold companies accountable. Should this happen, you will erode faith in the free markets. Vote AGAINST this!

Erich Spoonhour

Ericka King — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Ericka King Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My name is Ericka and my husband and I are both in the mid-career phase. We are very careful with our finances and deserve to be informed of how our investments are performing. I'm greatly concerned that removing quarterly reporting is even up for discussion - KEEP IT QUARTERLY

Sincerely,

Honest and hardworking American that's doing her best

Erik — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Erik Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Do not change the quarterly reporting requirements! Quarterly reporting exists for a reason: to incentivize integrity in corporate behavior towards investors. Americans will know who to blame if we stop quarterly reporting and investors suffer catastrophic financial losses as a result of more lax reporting standards.

Erik Kingston, PCED
Western Rural Development Center
Boise, ID 83712

Erik DiMarco — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Erik DiMarco Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep reports quartly

---

Erik Glitman — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Erik Glitman I am an investor and market researcher. Quarterly reports from public companies provide vital insights into company performance and help me make informed investment decisions. In fast changing markets, half yearly reporting leaves investors blind to market shifts and give insiders unfair advantage. Too much can happen in six months. Keep quarterly reports mandatory.

Erika — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Erika Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We, the American people, are already struggling to survive with higher prices on our everyday needs. To put in place a procedure that's already been proven to lower our savings is sabotaging our future.

Erika Walters-Engemann — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Erika Walters-Engemann Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reports reduce obfuscation and improve clarity around a listed company's financial situation. Without it we investors are doomed to wait when we shouldn't. Quarterly reporting is not a heavy lift as the companies already have the reporting systems in place. Please wake up and see the light.

Regards -
Erika Walters-Engemann
4175 Todd Str
Sherrills Ford, NC 28675
+19084513429
Sent from my iPhone

---

erin curtis — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: erin curtis Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the quarty reporting! I'm Erin and retired. My life savings is important. My life and liv elyhood are on the line.

Erin Denise Curtis

Erin Normile — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Erin Normile Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep quarterly reportng!!

Erin Normile

Erin Wallace — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Erin Wallace Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:Lack of transparency is not going to help. You are pushing the American people to divest in everything.

Ernest Seibert — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Ernest Seibert Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please tell me what's so difficult about a quarterly report !??!
THEN tell me what's so difficult with a -MONTHLY- report?!!?!
All that is required for both reports is about an additional dozen key strokes and two minutes to UPDATE IT ALL !!
MAKE IT A LEVEL PLAYING FIELD !!!
Please don't let this happen !!!
As a retired "seasoned citizen " with limited resources and access to accurate and timely information, just HOW am I to make financial decisions and choices based on 6 MONTH OLD INFORMATION ??!!??
YOU DONT !!! NEITHER WILL I !!!!

Sent from my iPhone

Ernestine Dean — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Ernestine Dean Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission: quarterly disclosures help to make informed decisions, and the SEC shouldn't take vital information away. It would cause great harm to retail investors, while providing an unfair advantage to commercial investors.

Ernesto Ojeda — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Ernesto Ojeda Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 No

Sent from my iPhone

Estelle Wenson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Estelle Wenson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is very important to my family. We are retired & make decisions on our holdings based on these reports. We can't wait 6 months to do that. We speak with our broker quarterly & decide what to buy & sell. If we have extra funds in a quarter, we invest & if we know a major event is coming up we sell. Six months is a ridiculous amount of time to wait for someone in my circumstances. Please do not change the system. Alan Wenson Bridgewater, MA

Sent from my iPhone

---

esther reyes — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: esther reyes Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I'm Esther Reyes, a retired educator from Oklahoma. I insist that the quarterly reporting be kept in place to assure that CFOs and CEOs are held legally liable for incorrect reporting. The K-8 method allows cheaters to get away with malfeasance leaving investors at a loss while they enrich themselves. "Enron" should be the only term noted to keep the quarterly report in place. Actually, two month reporting would make me feel more secure.

Eugen Oehler — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Eugen Oehler Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
I am a German investor who, among other things, trades US stocks. The trust I once had in the American financial market years ago is dwindling more and more. Increasingly, information is being withheld from retail investors, making the market ever more opaque for them. Measures like these continue to erode my confidence—if this trend persists, I will no longer purchase American stocks.

---

eva linda — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: eva linda Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is necessary but is not being monitored well enough. Continue with the quarterly reporting with audits on it quarterly. Those imprisoned because of wrongs against the country against its citizenry need to stay where they are because they need to learn the lesson and letting them out early will only teach them that they can get away with whatever. Are you kidding me? No to early release when the lesson has not been learned and they continue in the pockets of their subordinates who should be where they are.

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Evan Gregg — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Evan Gregg Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Reducing the current frequency of quarterly corporate reporting for publicly traded companies has a strong negative impact on retail investors at a time where they are already massively disadvantaged. Why implement this change at all? It has zero logical argument other than to increase insiders' and institutions' edge in our current markets. My vote will always be for INCREASED transparency in our markets, NOT reduced.

---

evan kallan — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: evan kallan Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:

As an individual investor, I believe it is vitally important to maintain quarterly reporting. Responsible corporations generate metrics internally & must continue to make them public. Trending info is critical to decision-making; to shield this information from individual investors would put them at a significant disadvantage.
Do better, SEC.

Evelyn Haley — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: comment From: Evelyn Haley Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is essential for informed decision making about investments. It is especially important for those of us who are retired, living on limited income and depending on long term investments to supplement our resources.

Evelyn Haley

Everett Miller — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Everett Miller Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I urge you to keep quarterly reports it is invaluable for investors to have a level playing field. Open public disclosures every quarter keeps open playing field for investors

Everett Miller

Sent from my iPad

Ezana Berhanu — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Ezana Berhanu Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
The proposed rule would not benefit my investment portfolio as quarterly information on the companies I invest in directly effect my retirement plans and Roth IRA.

F Brayshaw — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: F Brayshaw Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Such a proposed move would be dangerous and opaque for investors. They are looking for monetary investment in their company, they need to show investors that they deserve the money.

Fabian Glazer — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Fabian Glazer Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 CORRUPTION AT ITS FINEST FABIAN CONCERNED US CITIZEN STOP CORPORATIONS FROM CONTROLLING OUR DEMOCRACY

Fabiana Perdomo — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Fabiana Perdomo Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Reporting needs to be quarterly to keep accountability in place. Less frequent reporting means less accountability. A lot can happen financially in 6 months

Fabiana Perdomo-Vera
BSN, RN, CCM

FamilyAOL — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: FamilyAOL Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We are heavily in the stock market and depend on quarterly reports to re-evaluate our investments. Don't change this information!!!

Best Regards,
Vivian Stock-Hendel
818-621-6575

Please excuse typos or brevity, sent from my iPhone

Faye L. Davis — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Faye L. Davis Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We need more accountability not less!

Faye

Faye White-Willinger — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Faye White-Willinger Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Faye White-Willinger Registered Nurse

I must keep full records on every person I work with, every time I interact with them.

Someone who is working with and is responsible for my hard earned money needs to account for and is responsible to me. I need to know what is happening to it so that I can make better decisions. Quarterly reporting is minimal. It cannot be biannual or annual.

I balance my checkbook at least monthly. Every three months minimal for accounting. They are making a lot of money off my investments, they need to show what is happening with these investments.

Federico F Dalagan — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Federico F Dalagan Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 What if I made a $259 investment to penny stock then after 6 months this company is reported bankrupt, how can I get my $250 investment?

Fernand Michaud — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Fernand Michaud Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep it at quarterly reporting so people can stay informed.
J. Michaud , retired, SC.

Sent from my iPhone

Fieldofview Photography — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Fieldofview Photography Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 If businesses don't have anything to hide, why change the rule? Keep the quarterly reporting schedule.

File Number S7-2026-15 — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: File Number S7-2026-15 This a set up. The rule is 279 pages long and most of the public would not understand it if they read it. Please explain why a change is needed. Why would the commission make it easier to hide corruption ? Pass this and we all know you have been bought.

Flip Chavez — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Flip Chavez Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting keeps markets fair by giving investors timely access to critical information. Switching to semi-annual disclosures would create blind spot that benefits insiders at the expense of ordinary Americans. The current cadence should be preserved. My name is Felipe Chavez, Marketing Manager, Atlanta, GA.

Florence Namiotka — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Florence Namiotka Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly filings are minimal regulation. We don't need any more guardrails removed from big business practices.

Floyd Pope — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Floyd Pope Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep things are they are. It’s working well.
Don’t try to give something that isn’t broken.

Sent from my iPhone

Fonda Hancock — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Fonda Hancock Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 WE need quarterly reporting to stay informed.

Forrest Scroggin — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Forrest Scroggin Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
I am firmly opposed to the proposed rule S7-2026-15
Bi-annual disclosures are not frequent enough for me make informed decisions as a retail investor.
As it currently stands (quarterly) I am already hesitant to participate in trading public company's stock due to lack of available information.
In my opinion, disclosures should be mandatory to provide monthly.
Thank you,

Fran Milam — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Fran Milam Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 It’s accountability something this administration knows nothing about.

Sent from my iPhone

Fran Thomas — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Fran Thomas Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Fran Thomas ,retired but took long time to save for it! My Investments will suffer if you pass this bill! Please vot it down!

Frances Egler — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Frances Egler Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting and other current public disclosure policies are necessary to keep investors informed and businesses responsible and in check. Please do not change this policy. I can't afford to lose 1/3 of my savings due to a proposed rule change.

--

Frances Egler
frances@egler.com
Mobile: 412-915-6197

---

francesca hulin — Jun 18, 2026

Subject: S7-2026-15 From: francesca hulin Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Prevent potential fraud; maintain quarterly reporting for the safety of the public.

Get Outlook for iOS

Francesco Priamo — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Francesco Priamo Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
The U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission proposed rule would blindfold retail investors. Quarterly disclosures help you make informed decisions, and the SEC shouldn't take vital information away from us

---

Francine Antoinette-Sterle — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Francine Antoinette-Sterle Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 No reason to go back.

Francine Antoinette-Sterle

Francine Moore — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Francine Moore Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Arguing against the idea that the SEC's actions could blind everyday investors and reduce transparency involves addressing several key points. Here's a structured approach to your argument:
1. Importance of Transparency in Markets
- Informed Decision-Making: Transparency allows investors to make informed decisions based on accurate and timely information. Without it, everyday investors are at a disadvantage compared to institutional investors who may have access to better resources and analysis.
- Market Integrity: Transparency fosters trust in the financial markets. When investors believe that they have access to all necessary information, they are more likely to participate, which enhances market liquidity and stability.
2. Potential Consequences of Reduced Transparency
- Increased Volatility: Lack of information can lead to irrational market reactions, potentially increasing volatility. Investors may panic or make poor choices based on incomplete data, leading to erratic market behavior.
- Fraud and Manipulation: A decrease in transparency can create opportunities for fraud and market manipulation. Without oversight, unscrupulous actors may take advantage of uninformed investors, leading to significant financial losses.
3. Impact on Everyday Investors
- Limited Access to Information: Everyday investors often rely on public disclosures to understand the companies they invest in. A lack of transparency could create an environment where only a select few benefit.

- Widening the Knowledge Gap: If transparency decreases, the gap between informed and uninformed investors will widen, making it increasingly difficult for everyday investors to compete in the market.
4. The Role of the SEC
- Regulatory Oversight: The SEC's primary purpose is to protect investors and maintain fair, orderly, and efficient markets. A shift towards less transparency contradicts this mission.
- Historical Precedents: Past economic crises have shown that lack of transparency can lead to market failures. The SEC was established in response to the 1929 stock market crash, highlighting the need for regulatory oversight.
5. Alternative Solutions
- Enhancing Transparency Rather Than Reducing It: Instead of limiting transparency, the SEC could focus on improving access to information, such as simplifying disclosures or using technology to make data more accessible.
- Investor Education: Encouraging investor education programs can empower everyday investors to understand the market better and make informed decisions.
The argument against reducing transparency emphasizes the necessity of informed decision-making, market integrity, and protecting everyday investors. A lack of transparency could lead to increased volatility, fraud, and a widening knowledge gap, ultimately undermining the SEC's mission. Absolutely NOT!!!!

Francis Seidel — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Francis Seidel Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This move is exactly the opposite of what should be happening. With modern information technology, filing could easily be monthly and yet the SEC is going in the opposite direction. Keep quarterly filing or make it even more transparent with monthly filing!

Francisco Cuevas — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Francisco Cuevas Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Cyber crime happens instantly why allow organized cyber the advantage of time.Americans needs and deserves that government by the people for the people work for them.

Frank Beltran — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Frank Beltran Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
There's already too much corruption and secrecy going on in the world. Let's make it fair for everyone. Thanks.

Frank Crosby — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Frank Crosby Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Business events move quickly. Reliable information allows making informed decisions and prevents panic. If it is too difficult for a publicly business to submit quarterly filings they should be delisted.

Frank J Peranio — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Frank J Peranio Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission: The proposal will negatively affect investors. I reject this proposal.

FRANK MAGANA — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: FRANK MAGANA Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Frank Magaña, retired, Utah. The move from quarterly reporting is of no benefit to investors. Having quarterly reporting provides more accountability to companies and prevents the hiding of issues affecting my investments.

Get Outlook for iOS

Frank PATTERSON — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Frank PATTERSON Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 The system is rife for manipulation even with a quarterly reporting schedule. Have we learned nothing from the past -Enron, Healthsouth? Relaxing reporting requirements coming out of the most corrupt administration is a horrible idea. Insiders do not need this change to continue stealing!

Sent from my iPad

Fred Bohle — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Fred Bohle Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Frequent reporting has been a mainstay of public trust. Going to 6 month reporting will result in unpleasant surprises when the report does come out.

Fred Bohle — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Fred Bohle Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Frequent reporting has been the foundation of public confidence when investing. Long delays like this make it harder to see fraud when it happens. The savings will be miniscule for companies, but the cost will be high for investors.

Fred Bohle — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Fred Bohle Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Frequent reporting has been the foundation of public confidence when investing. Long delays like this make it harder to see fraud when it happens. The savings will be miniscule for companies, but the cost will be high for investors.

Fred Feld — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Fred Feld Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 As the pace of the world goes faster, we should get this information as fast as possible, not as slow as possible. SIX months is too long. Dr. Fred Stewart Feld

---

Fred Miclon — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Fred Miclon Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We must keep quarterly reports!!

Fred Miclon, USMC Veteran/USAF Retired
Tucson, Arizona

860-906-8027

Fred Sopron — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Fred Sopron Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the quarterly report

---

Fred Speier — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Fred Speier Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Don’t take away from the public this important information guidance of reducing public release of quarterly reports on businesses financial statements and reports of financial wellbeing.

Sent from my iPhone

Frederica Hall — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Frederica Hall Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Corruption sanctioned by this corrupt administration

May all beings be Peaceful & Joyful Frederica Hall

fredericahallarts.com
fredericahallarts@gmail.com

Frederick Klein — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Frederick Klein Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep it the way it is, no change to quarterly reports. Fred Klein

---

G firstmate — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: G firstmate Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Hole CEOs accountable at least 4 times a year

Sent from my iPhone

G Krause — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: G Krause Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I'm Glenetta Krause, a teacher in Cincinnati. I know that our State Teacher Retirement System has taken some hits in the ups and downs of the stock market and that our retirees suffered because of some poor investments in the past. That would only be made worse if quarterly reports came out just twice a year.

Investors need access to as much information as possible and we know with today's technology the information is readily available. If any change is to be made, I'd say make these reports monthly so consumer/investors like me have access to the most accurate information. Moving the reporting schedule to once every 6 months serves only the corporate interests --and that's never good for people like me (see Enron, bank bailouts, Elon Musk et. al.)

G Odom — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: G Odom Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This is a curtain to hide scetchy and out right illegal behavior while sabotaging growing business and you know it. Correct it, you are obligated to correct bad ideas from spreading.

G. Davis — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: G. Davis Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Reducing the window of transparency is not a benefit to anyone except those hoping to hide something. We need the knowledge to make wise decisions on investments and Quarterly reporting responsibility should remain. Financial information is key to strong management.

Grady Davis, Corporate Program Manager, retired

Gabby Barrera — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Gabby Barrera Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission: This is incomprehensible and only gives the benefit of no transparency to the insiders and institutional investors, not to us the retail investors. this must be stopped at once.

Gabriel Araiza — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Gabriel Araiza Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
I do not agree with taking away quarterly disclosures. More transparency is important not less.

Gabriel D — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Gabriel D Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 What the *! Do not change the quarterly reporting, you lazy scheming mother *ers!

Gabrielle Salomone — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Gabrielle Salomone Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My name is Gabrielle Salomone, I am a licensed clinical social worker. As a clinical director for an outpatient therapy practice I look at numbers for staff monthly to make sure people are meeting the minimum requirements. I don't think it's too much to ask that the SEC continues to report quarterly for us to know what the * is going on in companies we are invested in. I have worked very hard for the money that I have invested the only way we will potentially be able to one day, maybe retire in this country. Stop letting companies and corporations get away with lying and stealing from the American people. Keep them accountable.

Sent from my iPhone

Gabrielle Stollsteimer — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Gabrielle Stollsteimer Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Silence is lies. We all need honesty. For our future the planet animals and humans
Greed kills destroys and how will you fix it when its too late? When damage is done?
Greed and silence and dishonest undisclosed as im sure you know is just evil.

Gail — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Gail Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep requiring companies to file quarterly. I know the dangers of letting large companies file semi annually. Think ENRON! If it had only to file twice a year it would have been 50 times worse in its collapse. Don't foster corruption!

Gail — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Gail Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Stay quarterly! As a retired teacher, I watch investments carefully. There is too much crap going on in our government to try this stunt now.

Sent from my iPhone. Gail A Blohowiak
  (920) 360-6235
Author and Playwright
Also writing under the pen names of Betts Arney
Anne Buntin

GailBuntin.com

Gail Benedict — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Gail Benedict Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 KEEP IT QUARTERLY!! I'm a retired teacher living off my pension and interest from my stick portfolio. Do NOT let the CEOs more opportunities to defraud small investors like myself.

Gail Benedict

---

gail blodgett — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: gail blodgett Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Do what's right, accountability!!

Gail Brahier — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Gail Brahier Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 If businesses want individual investments, then KEEP their Reports Quarterly. No One can expect a business to hide results for 6 months. This is Un-American. Thank you.

Gail Edwards — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Gail Edwards Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Never allow this change. Too much corruption now. Can’t let this happen to people again. No reason to change this.

Gail Higgins — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Gail Higgins Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep it the way it is. We don’t be need to go back to the 50🇺🇸

---

gail mangus — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: gail mangus Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep it, what are they afraid of showing us

Gail Mangus
ga.mangus@gmail.com
757-615-3043 cell

Gail Regan — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Gail Regan Keep companies in check with 1/4 - Quarterly Reviews! Congress and the Supreme Court have given companies more rights to hide wealth and profits than American citizens. Do the right thing! Make corporations accountable.

Galen Work — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Galen Work Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We need more accountability, not less, within the business sector. Claiming too great a cost is an easy excuse in a capitalistic society, but it cannot dissuade the necessity for responsible management and corporate oversight. Our history is littered with accounts of shadowy management practices going undetected until they have done damage to investors and the public at large. Quarterly reporting needs to remain.

Galen Work

---

gar kar — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: gar kar Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep It Quarterly.

Garland Hopkins — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Garland Hopkins Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep it in place

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Garnett Ladd Director of Sales, Wesco — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Garnett Ladd I have been an investor for many years now, and I research the companies that I want to put my hard earned money into. At a baseline, moving from quarterly reporting to semi annual reduces the amount of information we have to be able to make the most informed investing decisions. On a business level, we use these filings to make decisions on strength and creditworthiness for credit terms to be established, and to help make more calculated assessments on how we can best support our customers . I think this is a terrible idea, and will result in more risk to individual retail investors who rely on these funds to grow their personal wealth.

Gary Agardy — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Gary Agardy Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarter reporting is a must or investors will be their money elsewhere

---

Gary Chamberlain — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Gary Chamberlain Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 No way! Investors need full transparency. This proposal could destroy our economy and everyone's retirement planning. Sharon Chamberlain , American citizen.

Gary Clontz — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Gary Clontz Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Companies need to be accountable to those who invest them. That can't happen unless the process is transparent. Retain quarterly reporting.

Gary Coryer — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Gary Coryer Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 If anything the reporting should be more often, not less. Once or twice a month. Even the quarterly reports are too infrequent.

Gary Diemer — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Gary Diemer Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Essential for retail investor to keep in touch what’s going on. Going to every six months only benefits the insiders and high dollar investors who will get information that public will not

Sent from my iPhone

Gary Dilley — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Gary Dilley Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep it Quarterly. I worked for years at low paying jobs but always saved and invested. Now my frugal lifestyle has resulted in me having a better life. I need more information on investments not less. The American investor deserves to be protected by the government that is supposed to serve the people not make it harder for the people.
Gary Dilley
Retired person

Sent from my iPhone

Gary Eldridge — Jun 18, 2026

Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Gary Eldridge Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Stop the wealthy from cashing out before the public knows of stock drops. That's just insider trading.
Don't the wealthy have enough?
Don't change the quarterly reports.

Gary Hemmer — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Gary Hemmer Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 there is no reason to stop quarterly reporting unless, the SEC is now plotting against good citizens!

Gary Herndon — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Gary Herndon Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We want to keep reporting as it is now. Why give opportunity for fraud? And we want to keep the value of our savings. By Gary and Rose Herndon both retired Yakima, Wa.

Sent from my iPad

Gary La Prell — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Gary La Prell Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 It’s important for retirees who live on their investments to be aware of changes in their financial situation as quickly as possible. In order to make changes to their portfolio.

Sent from my iPhone

---

gary lingle — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: gary lingle Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I'm a 69 year old retired CPA. This rule change would make public corporations less accountable to their shareholders and make it easier for insiders to trade in company shares without outside shareholders being for quite some time. Therefore I am opposed to this rule change.

Gary Peterson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Gary Peterson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep things as they are now.

Gary Read — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Gary Read Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep quarterly reports!

Gary Tricker — Jun 18, 2026

Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Gary Tricker Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I want to keep the reports on a quarterly schedule. My retirement funds are tied to stocks and I follow the company reports and make decisions based on them.

Gary Williams — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Gary Williams Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Tell the SEC NO.

Gaye Baxter — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Gaye Baxter Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We , want quarterly reports to keep us informed in a timely manner of how our hard earned money is doing and being protected. Not squandered, not stolen and not misappropriated.

Gayle Ferris — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Gayle Ferris Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 As a former Financial Advisor I see nothing good that can come out of reporting every 6months. Quarterly accountability to your shareholders and the public is paramount now and going forward.
Do not allow semi annual financial reporting.

Gayle Ferris
217 Hillary Road
Savannah,GA 31410

Cell 770-310-7878

Gayle Paben — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Gayle Paben Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This sounds like a terrible idea…please reconsider

---

Gayle Smith — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Gayle Smith Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep things as they are. It appears this change would only benefit insiders. Just not a good idea.

Genevieve Terrell — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Genevieve Terrell Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 No way

---

Geoff Coe — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Geoff Coe Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 As a retired person, I count on my investment holders to have accurate, up-to-date results on the performance of my holdings. As a former employee of a Fortune 500 company and member of a team responsible for corporate communications, I know how our investors looked forward to seeing our reports, and how providing them accurate and responsible information built trust between the Company and its investors. Such trust helped to insure continued investing, even when the inevitable downturns occurred.

Our bottom line demonstrated that it was worth every minute of the time we spent compiling this information. Reducing this requirement to twice yearly would be false economy. History shows that reporting builds accountability and confidence in companies and the economy. In the current environment, we need (if anything) more of that, not less!

Geoff Coe
Retiree
Former Corporate Communications, Sun Microsystems/Washington Post

---

Geoff Green — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Geoff Green Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Think about why the quartly reporting requirement was set.
Yes changing to a longer term between reporting will become a way to hide fraudulent actions.
I propose making it monthly. AI can reduce the cost of reporting.

George Dambrosio — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: George Dambrosio Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Doesn't matter their reasoning. The answer is NO!. Quarterly reporting keeps everything above board, less time for those corporations to maneuver scams and schemes.

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

George Lamby — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: George Lamby Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting keeps the executives on their guard & assures investors that their investment is safe during their retirement. My father lost his retirement funds after Beggs & Cobbs declared Bankruptcy & moved the business to another state.

George Martin — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment: From: George Martin Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Why ? Can they not steal enough with the present rules.

George Miller — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: George Miller Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Do not change the current reporting schedule requirements, unless it's to make them more frequent and transparent.

George Pichler — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: George Pichler Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Every rule the SEC has put into place is because businesses cannot help themselves but to cheat. -George P. MBA

George Stobie — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: George Stobie Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep transparency. Managing Principal. Art of the Possible. George Stobie

---

Georgi HudsonSmith — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Georgi HudsonSmith Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 It is sound business strategy to maintain quarterly reporting for the sake of accountability and transparency. We the people deserve to know what corporate executives are doing to our environment.

Kindly,
Dr. Georgianne Smith

Georgia Duker — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Georgia Duker Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Accurate and timely information enhancers investor decision making. Please continue to mandate quarterly reporting.
Georgia Duker, retired Professor, University of Pittsburgh School of Medicine.

Georgia Eckert — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Georgia Eckert Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission: It's Just Really Important!

Georgianne Lakatos — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Georgianne Lakatos Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Do the right thing.

Geraldine Beckett — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Geraldine Beckett Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This is another corrupt move by the Trump administration. Please protect us and keep this law.

Gerard Huyghe — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Gerard Huyghe Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Should be monthly less time to hide dirty dealings from common investors

Gerard Huey
Retired machinist

Gerard Tesoro — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Gerard Tesoro Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Given the present climate in our country, it would be criminal not to retain the quarterly signatures, establishing a winning example for a lawful deterrent against possible wrongdoing of any kind.
Gerard P. Tesoro (tgpip@aol.com)

Gerry Chizmar — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Gerry Chizmar Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I need to know 1/4ly because I’ve all need to make informed decisions don’t change this

Sent from my iPhone

---

gerry mcfadden — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: gerry mcfadden Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 As a senior citizen who worked from age, 16-62 when RA made me have to retire, I rely on the money I saved & grew over the years. Now more than ever, with inflation & medicalexpenses, I cannot afford to be blindsided by a,dark period which could decrease $ I may need to use for nursing care or home repair to be disappearing & find myself living in a hovel or skipping meals or meds because of a move made by the SEC with no regard for my hard work
& "golden" (as in money flowing to health care for myself) years. Keep things tge wayy they are. It has not worked before. Quit trying to repeat the disasters made in our history. Respectfully & with deep concern, Geraldine A McFadden

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

---

gerry mcfadden — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: gerry mcfadden Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 As a senior citizen who worked from age, 16-62 when RA made me have to retire, I rely on the money I saved & grew over the years. Now more than ever, with inflation & medicalexpenses, I cannot afford to be blindsided by a,dark period which could decrease $ I may need to use for nursing care or home repair to be disappearing & find myself living in a hovel or skipping meals or meds because of a move made by the SEC with no regard for my hard work
& "golden" (as in money flowing to health care for myself) years. Keep things tge wayy they are. It has not worked before. Quit trying to repeat the disasters made in our history.

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Gerry Nardoza — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Gerry Nardoza Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep quarterly reports

---

Gia Hartman — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Gia Hartman Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
The stock market should not become a members-only club for billionaires. Ordinary Americans deserve timely information and a level playing field. Transparency should be expanded, not reduced

---

Gilda Landis — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Gilda Landis Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 STOP ADVANCING, PROMOTING, SUPPORTING CRIME AND FRAUD...REPORT QUARTERLY!!!

Gillian Flynn — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Gillian Flynn Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Gillian Flynn, retired, Maryland insists that quarterly reports continue. Investors have the right to know how their investments are doing.

Get Outlook for Android

Gillian Tollast — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Gillian Tollast Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 It's a way to commit more fraud and screw the consumer. Enough is enough. This has to stop!!

Gillian Tollast

Gillie Campbell — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Gillie Campbell Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is essential and under no circumstances should it be dropped. I am 85 and cannot afford the predictable (see 1929) consequences of dropping quarterly reporting.
Gillie Campbell

Gina Craig — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Gina Craig Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Please keep the quarterly reporting active needs to be the same playing field for everyone

---

Gina Minson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Gina Minson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 WTAF?! Who and what do our elected leaders & appointed panels serve? Because it looks like your friends & family are getting rich & you're getting a cut while Americans are getting the shaft. You MFers are despicable!

Gina Wozny — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Gina Wozny Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Don't make this change, it takes away from small investors!! So much is already unfair!

Gina Wozny

Ginger Brown — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Ginger Brown Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Ginger Brown, Registered Nurse 43 years and still working. Please continue quarterly reporting. If this experiment proved in the 50s that it is detrimental to the investor, then why do it again? I am held accountable in my profession on 0a daily basis. I feel that quarterly reporting is the least that should be done .

Ginger Farr — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Ginger Farr Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Ginger Farr Special Education Teacher Newnan, Georgia I like to get reports quarterly. It gives me information on my investments that help make sound decisions about my portfolio. I do not want to lose up to half of my hard earned money that is in my account just because you want to make it easier on those who have to report. I will be dependent on my 403b account when I retire; I do not need to lose half of what I have saved. That is MY money that I have worked to earn. Quarterly reporting is working just fine; please do not go fixing something that isn’t broken.

Ginger Mele — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Ginger Mele Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Could we support some transparency? This president is taking away all of our rights and all of our privileges and you guys are gonna go with it? Don't let retail hide their books for six months. This is ridiculous.

Ginger Redlinger — Jun 18, 2026

Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Ginger Redlinger Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 The information provided quarterly is critically important to my next quarters changes. Half yearly information is not useful for my planning and markets move quickly so I must too- planning to HIDE the available information decreases my desire to remain in growing markets and seek other portfolio investments. Let's avoid, not create Black Fridays….

Sent from my iPhone

Ginna Plude — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Ginna Plude Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We absolutely must keep the current reporting. Going back to 1955 semi-annual reporting is too little that will likely result in "too late."

The rich and powerful already have too many ways to hide, we cannot afford to give them another.

Ginna Schenk — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Ginna Schenk Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please keep reporting at the quarterly timing versus twice yearly. Instead of taking everything away from Americans, please leave as is-as is.

Sent from my iPhone

---

ginny herman — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: ginny herman Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Do not take charge of keeping my assets from me !

Have a great day!

Glen Colton — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Glen Colton Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This new ruling favors those with "something" to hide.👎🏾🧹

🤗 Another missive from Glen Colton's iPhone

Glenda Schmidt — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Glenda Schmidt Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 SAVE THE QUARTERLY RULE! DO NOT DROP OR CHANGE IT!!

Glenn — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Glenn Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 No more concealing and theft as in the past.
Quarterly is the minimum.

Glenn Conner — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Glenn Conner Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I oppose extending the reporting requirement to six months because the longer between reports, the more the opportunity for wrongdoing. I assume this is being done to cut business expenses and thereby increase profits. As an investor, I prefer to pay the price of a little profit to be able look more frequently into my investment's stewardship.

Sent from my iPhone

Glenn Geist — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Glenn Geist Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 The quarterly reporting is more transparency. Any perceived savings are too minuscule to justify loss of confidence. This will lead to unfavorable perceptions and eventual apathy hence investors will shy away.

Warmest regards,
Glenn Geist

Sent from my iPad

Glenn Wilson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Glenn Wilson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We The People already need all the help we can get in staying up with the insiders, and this rule change will be counterproductive in so many ways. Please don't do it.

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Glenn's Adventures — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Glenn's Adventures Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the securus and exchange commission:

The reporting needs to be QUARTERLY. In the interest of shareholders, there is No valid reason to change it.

Regards,

Glenn Nelson

Glenna Adkins — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Glenna Adkins Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We need that report g so crimes are not committed and hidden, please keep it going g do not stop the reporting!!

Gloria Garcia — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Gloria Garcia Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Continue to report you cannot be trusted. The truth will always set you free.

Gloria Grant — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Gloria Grant Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 As retired civil servants we rely on our investments to earn and plan for our future. We are very active researchers and 6 months would not allow us the ability to know how to manage. KEEP IT QUARTERLY!

Sent from my iPhone

Gloria Rudd — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Gloria Rudd Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Gloria Rudd I want to know exactly what any bit of money I have is making....do not let this happen...we need a report quarterly at least!!

Gloria Tolliver — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Gloria Tolliver Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the quarterly reports keep the accountability in place keep everyone honest with checks and balances.

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

---

gnm5191 — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: gnm5191 Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To Whom It May Concern At The SEC,

The quarterly requirement was put there for a reason, and as far as I'm concerned, nothing has changed to warrant relaxing that requirement.

And I notice they are asking for LESS scrutiny, not MORE. Hmm. Why would they be requesting less scrutiny, I wonder? 🤔

Well as far as I'm concerned the answer is NO!

The American people have already been screwed over within an inch of their financial lives, and we are really, really pissed about it!! I believe every sector of finance that affects American citizens and their fiscal welfare should be battened down tight, with every possible regulation and safeguard there is, to keep the people who have dealings with it on the up and up, the straight and narrow!! It seems amazing indeed how easy it is to play fast and loose with other people's money, when you personally have nothing to lose.

I'm still pretty * steamed about the crash of 2008, and especially the fact that a lot of a-holes not only got bailed out with taxpayer money, but at the same time avoided prison sentences!!! So no, let's not relax any oversight, especially not when it's the foxes guarding the henhouse asking for it!

My name is Marium Johnson, I'm a retired RN of 47 years, and I live outside of Atlanta, GA.

BTW, I recently asked one of the AI "people" to calculate how much money was stolen from me/my wages, from the time Reagan began his destruction of the middle class, and when I retired at the end of 2021. You know, that time when the top 1% moved $50 trillion up away from the middle and working classes and into their own grasping, greedy hands. AI estimated I'd been robbed of approximately half a million dollars in stolen wages, give or take.

So here I am, after 47 years of busting my behind, on Social Security, the cost of living outstripping that and eating away my little savings, which could have been a lot more, had it not been stolen from me by greedy, grasping Scrooges! Thieves! All of them now living high on the hog off of the hard work that I, and so many millions of other Americans did for so many years!

Alright, rant over. My answer is no.

Sincerely,
Marium Johnson

Sent from my Galaxy

God . — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: God . Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Matthew 19:24 “ It is easier for a camel to go through a needle’s eye, than for a rich man to enter into the kingdom of God.”

Gordon Duprey — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Gordon Duprey Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please keep these reports quarterly

Get Outlook for Android

Grace Donnelly — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Grace Donnelly Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 As an invester quarterly reporting provides the ability to identify a company"s 'trends' over meaningful time spans. Every six month reporting does not provide timely information to investors to consider buying or selling shares .

Grace Donnelly

Grace Donnelly — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Grace Donnelly Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 As an invester quarterly reporting provides the ability to identify a company"s 'trends' over meaningful time spans. Every six month reporting does not provide timelyinformation to investors to consider buying or selling shsres . Grace Donnelly, Retired

---

Grace Jones — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Grace Jones Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep it QUARTERLY. Better yet, make it monthly.

Grace Jones
sicilygrace@gmail.com

Graham.E.Barton — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Graham.E.Barton Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Companies should continue to provide quarterly reporting as it permits the common people who have stock investments to be informed and made prudent decisions. Do not allow this to go to twice per year as that's just deceptive to the public.

Sent from my iPhone

---

granny hough — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: granny hough Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Carol Hough. Retired teacher
Enough with bending to banks and corporations! Start doing what's best for all of us.and THIS NONSENSE IS NOT !! I rely only meager investments to supplement my lousy meager social security which, in no way, keeps up with inflation. This is just another way for corporations to save money so they can jack up CEO SALARIES.

Get Outlook for Android

Grant Abernethy — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Grant Abernethy Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My name is Grant Abernethy, I am the Head of Product for a startup. Moving to semi-annual reviews is a terrible idea and a step in the wrong direction of holding corporations accountable. Allowing them to operate more in the dark only increases the incentives for malicious action to happen on a faster timeline leading to more volatility overall. We need stable growth to drive markets that can weather unpredictable scenarios, not short-term growth that boosts market growth in the short-term allowing only those at the top of the financial food chain to profit.

Greg Cremer — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Greg Cremer Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Clearly this policy which was changed in the 50s is in favor of fraudulent companies and against investors. A big HELL no to changing the policy. KEEP IT QUARTERLY!

Greg Cremer

Greg Highberger — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Greg Highberger Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I’m in favor of no less than quarterly reporting for businesses.
Greg Highberger Retired
Wellsville Kansas
I want to know how the companies I’ve invested in are doing financially in order to make sound decisions.

Sent from my iPhone

Greg Ledford — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Greg Ledford Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 It is essential to maintain quarterly financial status reporting by publicly traded companies. Any lengthening of these required reports put investors and customers at greater risk of loss.

Greg Meyers — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Greg Meyers Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I'm retired from AT&T management. We need quarterly reporting. You know we do. Thank you for your attention to this matter! Have a nice day. Greg S. Meyers

---

Greg Monty — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Greg Monty Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Greg Monty, retired, in this time when there is a huge push to start investing why would you make it harder to educate your self on where to invest, by not seeing the companies info. Unless it is to wipe out small investors. The exact same people you are trying to influence to start investing. If this goes through and passes, the smart money will pull out of the markets. Lets stop doing hypocritical bull * and actually do somthing that will help even the poor trying to invest.

Sent from my iPhone

Greg Palmer — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Greg Palmer Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
I recently started investing in mutual funds. Now, my understanding is you are supposed to set and forget these funds for long-term investment. However, I would like to see how these funds are doing on at least a quarterly basis. Your new proposed rules would take that away. Information is power, and you are taking away power from investors. That is not right at all.

Greg Peek — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Greg Peek Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Greg Peek, retired portfolio owner:
Quarterly reporting protects retail investors. The industry has managed to comply with these requirements for decades.
There is no reason to make this change. The market has proven its ability to properly digest quarterly earnings, and adjust values accordingly.

Living the Dream in God’s Country...

Greg Pratt — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Greg Pratt Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Leave reporting the way it is. Don't break what works.

Greg Roe — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Greg Roe At its heart, investing is ownership. When you own a piece of a business, you deserve regular, transparent communication from that business. Reducing reporting requirements weakens the connection between companies and their owners. Some argue that fewer reports would reduce costs. Maybe. Although in an age of AI and increasingly efficient disclosure tools, even that point is debatable. Others argue it would ease the pressure to manage quarter to quarter. But short-termism comes from how people react to information, not from the information itself. Taking the reports away doesn't make anyone more patient. It just makes everyone less informed. What isn't debatable is that less information rarely creates better-informed owners. Imagine owning a business and getting updates from your managers only twice a year. It would still run every day. You'd just know far less about how it was doing. That's effectively what's being proposed here. Companies will continue operating every day. Products will be launched. Customers will be won and lost. Strategies will succeed and fail. Yet under this proposal, owners would receive only half as many official updates about the businesses they own. Less transparency doesn't eliminate uncertainty. It increases it. And when information finally does arrive, the surprises are likely to be bigger, the reactions sharper, and the volatility greater. Right?

Greg Rose — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Greg Rose Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Hello Sir or Madam, My name is William Rose, from Owensboro, KY. I am a retired United Methodist pastor. It concerns me that the SEC is considering semi-annual reporting as opposed to the current quarterly. Transparency is important! Sincerely, William Rose

Greg Rose

Greg Rost — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Greg Rost Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Letting public companies report only every 6 months to the general public is condoning insider trading for the insiders.

Greg Tafelski — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Greg Tafelski Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Hell 👎 more transparent not less. My retirement is counting on this

---

Greg Thoennes — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Greg Thoennes Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Publicly Traded

Companies should be held to a higher standard. Quarterly reporting needs to stay mandatory. If the Companies dont like it, they should go private.

Gregg Dickerson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Gregg Dickerson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Do not reduce their sentences! Many were hurt by their actions and haven't received any restitution. Why should the perpetrators be shown any mercy?

Sincerely,
Gregg Dickerson, MD

Sent from my iPhone

Gregg or Joan Havens — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Gregg or Joan Havens Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I want the SEC to maintain the quarterly reporting requirement. Just because this Administration has decided that Corporate rights are more important than the rights of the American People doesn't mean that "WE THE PEOPLE" can't speak for ourselves.

Gregg Havens, Lt Col USAF (ret). Republican and Never Trumplican

---

Gregory Hanson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Gregory Hanson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Businesses must File Quarterly Tax payments so the Numbers are readily available. I believe this Information, as well as Dividends MUST continue to be processed and Published Quarterly! Failure to maintain these practices can only Deter small private investors from Market Participation!

---

gregory pearson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: gregory pearson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Why would the SEC change Quarterly reporting to bi annual? Confidence will diminish with stock holders and the general public. If it is working why change it. Only benefit derived will be the CEO . It is not like there is not enough staff support for the CEO to provide the inputs he needs to currently comply with quarterly reporting. Transparency works for ALL. Greg Pearson. Holly Ridge NC. Thanks

---

Gregory R. Bersch — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Gregory R. Bersch Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I've been an financial advisor since 1988. Always representing smaller, middle class clients. This proposed rule is flat out wrong. There is no explanation needed as to why!

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Gregory Schnorf — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Gregory Schnorf Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Stay quarterly. You know it's the right thing to do

Sent from my iPhone

Gregory Shivers — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Gregory Shivers Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Greg Shivers, project manager, New York. Companies need to be held accountable for their decisions. CEOs should 100% be personally reporting their number at least quarterly, more frequently would be even better! How can they not want to know how their business is doing if they are running a honest company.

Sincerely,
Gregory Shivers

Greselda Butler — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Greselda Butler Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Greselda Butler, Medical Affairs Professional:

As someone who invests independently and through an employer, having consistent and transparent access to SEC reporting on a quarterly basis ensures that I'm able to make well-informed decisions based on data. This aligns to my personal and professional values but more importantly, it demonstrates integrity on the part of the SEC.
Anything less than quarterly reporting has the potential to create less informed investors and other negative downstream effects, I.e., risks retirement and other funds that too many rely upon for their futures.
Show us that you prioritize the small individual investors as much as you do large institutional investors and keep the quarterly reporting intact. Thank you.

Sincerely,
G Butler

Gretchen Voronin — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Gretchen Voronin Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Timely financial disclosures empower stakeholders and prevent recurring issues.

Gretta Goodis — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Gretta Goodis Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We need more transparency not less. Our savings are necessary to save us as this government takes away all cushions and safety nets to fund tax cuts for the very wealthy. Please think about the consequences and harm this can cause to ordinary citizens trying to maintain our independence and plan for our own futures. Those of us who live our lives in the middle class should have some possibilities and chances to invest in our own future well being.

Sent from my iPhone

Griffon Walker — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Griffon Walker Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This is madness, quarterly reporting absolutely has to be retained.

-Griffon Walker
CA

Grover Grover — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Grover Grover Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep it quartly for accountability and transparency!

GSmith — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: GSmith Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Leave quarterly reporting as QUARTERLY.
All this will do is invite cheating.

Gunnar Nettleship — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Gunnar Nettleship Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Transparency is a must in business! Without it, there is no trust and everyone should pull their money out of the market. The end

-Gunnar Nettleship

Gurpreet Singh — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Gurpreet Singh Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Gurpreet Singh, Cybersecurity Architect

I support maintaining quarterly reporting requirements while recognizing the concerns about short-term market pressures.

As a cybersecurity professional, I believe transparency is an important component of trust. Investors, customers, employees, and business partners rely on timely and consistent information to make informed decisions. Regular reporting helps provide visibility into a company’s performance, priorities, and risk management practices.

I understand the argument that quarterly reporting can sometimes encourage excessive focus on short-term results. Organizations should be able to invest in innovation, security, and long-term growth without feeling pressure to optimize every decision for the next earnings cycle.

However, I believe the solution is not less transparency. Quarterly reporting provides stakeholders with regular insight into how companies are performing and adapting to changing business conditions. Consistent disclosure supports accountability while allowing investors to evaluate long-term progress over time.

For these reasons, I encourage the SEC to retain quarterly reporting requirements.

Gwen Greene — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Gwen Greene Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Maintain, Don't change! Let's at least try to keep them honest and committed to doing right all the time.

Sent from my iPhone

Gwen hall — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Gwen hall Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Oversite keeps everyone on the same page. No issue for those operating by the Law.

Sent from my iPhone
Gwen Hall, 231 883-6366

Gwen Klucka — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Gwen Klucka Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Why are we going backwards! This makes no sense. We need to keep the businesses reporting for 4 quarters. Help protect our investments and the people who need the money.

Gwendolyn Zetterower — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Gwendolyn Zetterower Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Gwendolyn Zetterower, Retired Stop trying to hide info that should always be transparent at least quarterly!

Haack Family — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Haack Family Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Investors need CURRENT data on the companies they LEND their money to!! We're not all insiders with personal or business connections. Keep our information access at a MINIMUM of quarterly!

Hal Gallus — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Hal Gallus Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 You have to maintain accountability. CEOs are overpaid anyway. They need some accountability. I am just a warehouse specialist in Minnesota And even I know there has to be accountability for what you do. Hal Gallus

---

Hal Noyes — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Hal Noyes Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is the backbone of small investment. To end it is o ly supporting insider trading

Sent from my iPad

Haliegh Townsend — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Haliegh Townsend Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
I want everybody including my family to be protected against any fraud or scandalous acts of others people shouldn't have too worry about losing their money or what's going too harm them people need too feel protected and like their voice has a say also

---

Hannibal_Chewbacca — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Hannibal_Chewbacca Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My name is Mathew Christianson and I'm nearing retirement, which means I'm relying upon conservative investments that require quarterly reviews - not every half of a year. It's obvious this is the wrong maneuver to make and it stands against the best interest of investors.

Sent from Proton Mail for iOS.

Hannibal_Chewbacca — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Hannibal_Chewbacca Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To whom it may concern, my name is Kay Kramme and I'm nearing retirement, which means I'm relying upon conservative investments that require quarterly reviews - not every half of a year. It's clear that hiding reports to be visible only every half year stands against the best interest of investors.

Thank you for your time and consideration,
Kay Kramme

Sent from Proton Mail for iOS.

Hans reinhardt — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Hans reinhardt Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 leave it alone

Sent from my iPhone

Hap Call — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Hap Call Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I have over $4 million in investments and depend on quarterly reports to invest wisely and monitor wise management of my investments. Do not remove the quarterly reporting requirements.

Marion R. Call

Hap Enzi — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Hap Enzi Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the quarterly reports. I don't think it's too much to ask for CEOs to be required to tell the truth 4 times a year.

Sent from my iPhone

Harold Martensen — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Harold Martensen Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Staunchly opposed to dropping Quarterly Reports.

Sent from my iPhone

Harriet Alexander — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Harriet Alexander Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 So it's SCREW the middle class and poor people yet again

Sent from my iPhone

Harriett Olson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Harriett Olson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 At a time when changes happen faster every day, we do not need less information or less frequesnt reporting, we need more. The SEC's arcane rules for disclosure already mean that lengthy quarterly reports can hide more than they reveal. Please do not reduce the frequency of these glimpses of what's happening in the companies in which the public is investing. Thank you.

Very truly yours,

Harriett Jane Olson
New York, NY

Harry DeCabo — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Harry DeCabo Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
I believe that ending quarterly earnings reports will damage transparency in our markets and will lead to greater volatility in the long term. America has had the greatest stock market in the world because of our transparency. Don't take it away!

Harry Griffin — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Harry Griffin Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the accountability!

Sent from my iPhone

Harry Newell — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Harry Newell Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Harry Newell, retired, Massachusetts, self-directed retirement accounts. I see no justification for a rule change that reduces corporate transparency.

Harry Newell — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Harry Newell Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Harry Newell, retired, self-directed retirement accounts. I see no justification for a rule change that reduces corporate transparency.
Maynard MA

Harvey Alcabes — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Harvey Alcabes Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I need to keep getting timely information on my investments

—Harvey Alcabes
Retiree

--

---

hawley.s — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: hawley.s Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Sarah Hawley
Educator for 24 years
A clear picture and timely window into the world of business finances matters to the many people like me, who have the majority of their retirement savings in investments. If investors cannot see the financial data for their invested companies in a timely manner, they cannot make informed and thoughtful decisions on their future financial welfare. It is important for companies to keep their investors aware, even if the investments are small.

Sent from my Galaxy

Heather Brasseur — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Heather Brasseur Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I am not in support of rolling any rules back to last century. We need to modernized not wax poetic

Sent from my iPhone

Heather Cabal — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Heather Cabal Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Investors, everyday investors, are people like me who are going to rely on transparency and accountability. The SEC works within a modern world and having quarterly reports helps to make sure there is less fraud and more honesty from businesses.

The American people can't afford anymore risk. My family of four can't afford the risk of losing a third of our savings. Corporations are making more profit now then ever and your average American is already suffering. Changing this would put us at more risk for economic loss and hardship.

Please keep accountability in place!

Sinerely,
Heather L Cabal

---

heather holdsworth — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: heather holdsworth Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My name is Heather and I'm a school teacher saving for retirement. Quarterly reports help me to make educated decisions about businesses and industries so I can invest wisely.
Please do not change to twice a year reports.

Sent from my iPhone

Heather Landfield — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Heather Landfield Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Keep the markets fair and transparent!

Hector Luzuriaga — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Hector Luzuriaga Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
While I understand the burden of preparing reports every 3 months as an officer, when investing I consider vital to have plenty of information for data analysis and risk assessment. Moving to semi annual could be catastrophic for the investors. Even moving to 3 reports per year (every 4 months) might be acceptable and could relieve a lot of pressure on officers but still might reduce data by 33%. Some investments will suffer for sure.
Please, don't go beyond reports every 4 months. That also force us as officers to be thorough in our job.

Heidi Baird — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Heidi Baird Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting makes companies stay honest. The public needs this information quarterly!

H Baird, 5029 Green Meadow Rd., Kalamazoo,MI 49009

Heidi Joy — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Heidi Joy Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I'm getting close to retirement. I need to be able to know what's going on with my stocks to be able to react quickly and plan for future needs and income. This new rule allow too much time in which lots of fraud and abuse can happen that will hurt small investors like retires.

Get Outlook for Android

Heidi Noon — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Heidi Noon Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My name is Heidi Noon and as a retired citizen of the United States of America I am requesting you to stay with the quarterly reporting. I want transparency with who I'm doing business with & want to know how my money is doing.

Heidi Perry — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Heidi Perry Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
I am just trying to make it to retirement one day. I need full transparency from the companies where I invest. I barely know what I am doing now. Please hold companies to a higher standard, not a lower one. Please put your energy towards protecting the people and not corporations.

Heidy Frycke — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Heidy Frycke Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 They need to be accountable. I had to and so should they! 4 times a year or if they don't like that we can do it monthly! We can do it the easy way or the hard way.

Sent from my iPhone
Heidy M. Frycke M.S.-L/CCC-SLP
Speech/Language Program Supervisor
Allegheny Intermediate Unit 3
475 East Waterfront Drive
Homestead, PA 15120
412-394-5826 (Office)
412-592-3727 (Cell)
412-394-5783 (Fax)
Educational Opportunities
Innovative Solutions
Leadership Excellence

Helen & Ralph Perri Retired — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Helen & Ralph Perri This proposal is a gift to big business. I'm retired and invest my tiny nest egg in diverse instruments including stocks. Relaxing laws governing timely reporting will chill investing. It will certainly change my behavior, and undermine trust in SEC leadership and my confidence in SEC understanding and respect for best practices. Merely floating this idea reflects poorly on the SEC and those who benefit from what amounts to cheating. We've progressed to a point where information has never been easier to gather, disseminate, analyze and broadcast. Placing brakes on information and slowing its distribution is nonsensical and suspicious.
Helen and Ralph Perri, Retired

Helen Cordier — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Helen Cordier Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please keep businesses reporting their profit and loss to the quarterly updates. This is very important to help every day investors to make good decisions on their investments.

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Helen Dennis — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Helen Dennis Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
I am against the proposal to eliminate quarterly reports. Withholding information from investors and those who manage our retirement investments will make it more difficult for us to determine when it is time to take actions,such as selling stock when it is performing poorly. Measures such as ROI, EPS, and KPI (and others) need to be reviewed quarterly, not biannually. Withholding quarterly reports is the same as preventing parents from seeing report cards, or if banks stopped allowing folks from reviewing their savings accounts.... but with very high stakes attached! Creating these reports is not expensive it difficult for the companies. However, the cost to investors will be significant, according to the history of this type of reporting. Government should be encouraging investors to be more active not less active in monitoring their portfolio. This is just another move meant to fleece those with less power and give yet another advantage to those who already have all the advantages.

Helen Welborn — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Helen Welborn Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Helen Welborn, retired advisor in local government. In performance management circles it's said "what get's measured get's paid attention and attended to." Less financial reporting means less attention, opening pathways for unnoticed errors to worsen and for fraud to incubate. We need more reporting, not less.

Helen Whitt — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Helen Whitt Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Fed up with fraud and criminals

Sent from my iPhone

Helena Amanda Welch — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Helena Amanda Welch Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 All businesses should report quarterly and not withhold financial information!! Simple facts you robbers.

Helena Doerfler — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Helena Doerfler Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 It is a serious travesty for American investors to pursue their rightful stock information/trading abilities with this new ridiculous proposal. Americans DESERVE better.

---

helenanactor — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: helenanactor Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I, Helen Ingebritsen, am retired and depend on my IRA's for income. I am also an idealist who wants to encourage forward thinking companies by investing in their businesses. It's important for me to be able to check on their progress and to stay involved in those sometimes more volatile times. Large companies are the vanguard for smaller businesses and keeping quarterly reporting sets the standard for publicly owned companies. Keep the mandatory quarterly report so we, retired retail investors and the public, can stay informed and help support newer companies. Help us little guys fund the little guys who will make our country great in the future!

-Helen Ingebritsen

Henrietta Windell — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Henrietta Windell I am a long term investor and have used the quarterly reports to purchase a company's stock and verify the company is financially sound. Eliminating the quarterly report will not be beneficial to the individual investor. A company's financial situation can change dramatically in six months. Keep the quarterly reports.

HENRY GALLANT — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: HENRY GALLANT Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Enron ruined thousands of people's lives. Wells Fargo proved that working people couldn't trust the banking system. Rolling back any transparency and controls on CEOs is irresponsible and a failure to protect to the taxpayers of America.

Sent from my iPhone

Herb — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Herb Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We have had our trust in our leaders? destroyed, this is just unacceptable, I feel weekly would not be enough!!!!

Herbert Mumford — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Herbert Mumford Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Herbert Mumford, Florida, retired engineer. Keep the SEC quarterly reporting requirement! In fact when quarterly reporting was established 50 years ago it was a reasonable compromise given the state of computerized reporting. Today you could require monthly reporting without being too much of an imposition for the businesses. The objective is to have honest transparency to prevent fraud! Less reporting means more fraud and greater damage created before it is detected and stopped!

---

heyjude0217 (null) — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: heyjude0217 (null) Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Transparency in financial matters is key to confidence and trust by investors. The 10Q provides much needed information to prevent corruption and protect those who seek to support themselves and their families by investing in publicly traded companies.

Judith Land, Accountant

Hilary Bobker — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Hilary Bobker Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Hilary A. Bobker, Owner, At this period in time, we need MORE visibility, not less, when it comes to keeping track of all the ways that the system can be played unethically.

Hillary Carpenter — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Hillary Carpenter Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Enough is enough. Just let the collapse happen already.

Hillary Vickers Clinical Nurse Coordinator — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Hillary Vickers In today's world with so much corporate greed and little consideration for the middle class, the average investor who owns shares and has ownership of a company has a right to be updated on the company's financials quarterly.

Holly Alexander — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Holly Alexander Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Any investments I have made is my money! Not the SEC's, not the companies I invested in, mine. I want to see quarterly reports so I can track what my money is doing and how it is being handled by the companies I have invested in, period.

Sent from my iPad

Holly Chisholm — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Holly Chisholm Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I rely on quarterly reports to make decisions about my retirement savings.

---

holly jacobson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: holly jacobson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Semi annual reporting is a huge mistake, it just leaves the door open for more manipulation, corruption in the market. With all the technology available there should be monthly reports and higher security firewalls to protect this data also. If the average investor loses a significant amount of their retirement, savings, investments to corporate manipulation of the markets. What do you think will happen? Some kind of major economic collapse that’s what. Please DON’T allow this Thank you Holly Jacobson , Mn, Medical field

Holly Jacobson

Holly Nordheden — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Holly Nordheden Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Our investment club meets monthly to review our stock holdings and evaluate potential purchases. Changing from quarterly reports by companies means we’re reviewing extremely old and less timely information. While we are not a club that sells stocks quickly, we do evaluate them periodically to determine whether we should buy additional shares if they are performing well. Not having recent reports makes our decisions much less informed.

Holly Stafford — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Holly Stafford Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission: As a retail investor this has the potential of negatively impacting me because waiting 6 months for financial data leaves me in the dark. It also can have a larger negative impact on the market as a whole. Since information will be released leas frequently, there is more time for bigger surprises to arise. This has the potential to cause massive swings in the market. Ultimately in both scenarios the public will be impacted the most.

Honey Bermel — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Honey Bermel Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
We need more information, not less.

Hong Phan — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Hong Phan Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Please continue to provide the quarterly reports. It'll be beneficial for everyone.

Howard — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Howard Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Cut the crap! There’s already enough insider trading that is not investigated and prosecuted! There’s no burden to publicly traded companies to report quarterly rather than semi annually. All this is gonna do is screw the common investor while benefiting the rich and connected. If anything there should be more investigations and prosecutions to deter insider trading.

Howard Engleman

Sent from the all new AOL app for iOS

---

howard ipressprint.com — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: howard ipressprint.com Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Howard Clark CEO, iPress Printing & Services. In todays' instant data world, it is hard enough to actively maintain an investment portfolio with stale quarterly reporting information. The move to twice a year will make investment decisions impossible with less real time information. Keep thing as they are...Thank you.

Sent from my Verizon, Samsung Galaxy smartphone
Get Outlook for Android

Howard Jacob — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Howard Jacob Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Maintain quarterly reporting to increase transparency and enable informed investment decisions.

Regards,

Howard

-- Sent from my iPhone

Howard Knight None — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Howard Knight Do not change the rule. It is unfair to the investment community. We need more information in a truly impartial manner not less.

Howard Wielhouwer — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Howard Wielhouwer Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 N O !!

Sent from my iPhone

HSM Properties LLC — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: HSM Properties LLC Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Allowing companies to close their books for six months is inviting fraud. We have enough of that here in the United States. Quarterly reporting needs to stay to help to keep companies honest.

Get Outlook for Android

Hugh Griffin — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Hugh Griffin Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Hugh Griffin, Utility Inspector, CT, Double the sentences. These crooks often don't get the punishment deserved for destroying the lives of people who are just trying to secure retirement.

Cheers,
Hugh

---

humberto suazo — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: humberto suazo Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Terrible idea. We need more transparency not less

Sent from my iPhone

Hyacinth Carpenter — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Hyacinth Carpenter Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
It is important to know what the stocks are during every quarter. Not everyone has time to look it up and track it on an online system. We need to know how the latest trends or world events have affected the stock or may continue to affect it. Do not take this useful tool away from the common man who has retirement funds locked into stock trading.

Ian Galbraith — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Ian Galbraith Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 You've already turned a blind eye to SpaceX manipulating the exchanges isn't that enough? You've convinced the entire US population to put their retirement into the markets, it should be the most scrutinized system in the universe. Stop trying to fix things that don't need fixing in an effort to give the wealthy more power.

Ian P — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Ian P Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My name is Ian. I have two daughters. I just opened a “Trump account” for one.

However, rules like this proposed one and Spacex' sweetheart IPO rules make it seem like it's possible that the Trump accounts were really just a way to get more of the public's money in the system, so that the administration and their rich friends can take even more from us all when they game the market.

I don't want to believe that, and it would be disastrous for the market if everyone started believing it, so please reconsider these rules.

Ianni Houmas — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Ianni Houmas Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Public Comment Submission
Date: June 18, 2026
To:
Vanessa A. Countryman, Secretary
U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission
100 F Street NE
Washington, DC 20549-1090

RE: File Number S7-2026-15 (Proposed Rule: Semiannual Reporting, Release No. 33-11414)

Dear Secretary Countryman,

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the Commission's proposed rule to permit public companies to elect semiannual interim reporting on the new Form 10-S in lieu of mandatory quarterly reports on Form 10-Q. As an Executive Director of a district council in Saint Paul, Minnesota, my focus is on protecting the long-term economic well-being and stability of everyday working people. This proposal compromises the transparency that ordinary families rely on to protect their retirement savings.
The core issues with rolling back the quarterly reporting framework include the following:

1. Market Disadvantage: Flying Blind for Six Months

Half a year is an eternity in modern, high-speed capital markets. A massive amount of material damage can manifest in six months—including failed product launches, ballooning debt structures, devastating lawsuits, and rapid customer churn. Mandating quarterly disclosures forces companies to surface these liabilities quickly. Under the proposed framework, corporate executives can sit on critical, negative information for six months at a stretch. This creates a dangerous "dark window," providing ample time for corporate insiders to quietly divest their own shares before bad news is made public, shifting the financial blow entirely onto retail investors and automated index ETFs.

2. Institutional Risk: A Festering Environment for Fraud

History proves that opacity is the primary enabler of systemic accounting scandals. Every major financial disaster of the modern era—from Enron and WorldCom to the Madoff ponzi scheme and the structural failures leading to the 2008 financial crisis—was exacerbated by gaps in periodic financial reporting. While quarterly filings do not entirely eliminate fraud, they fundamentally shorten the window in which deceptive reporting can fester before outside analysts and the public detect anomalies. Reducing the frequency of mandatory disclosures gives bad actors twice as much time to manipulate their books before facing regulatory oversight.

3. Market Pressures: "Optional" on Paper, Inevitable in Practice

While the proposed rule frames semiannual reporting as a voluntary election via a Form 10-K checkbox, market dynamics will dictate a different outcome. Once dominant, large-cap companies begin choosing a reduced reporting cadence, smaller competitors will face intense pressure to match them to signal lower administrative overhead. Smaller enterprises cannot easily justify spending more on compliance than their larger peers. Over time, investor expectations will adjust downward, and what is currently framed as an optional luxury will quietly solidify into a lower standard of market transparency.

4. Disproportionate Value Trade: Asymmetrical Risk For Everyday Investors

The primary justification for this rule is the reduction of regulatory burdens and compliance costs. However, companies already maintain real-time internal ledgers, continuous forecasting, and regular board briefs. The actual savings achieved by skipping a public filing are limited to modest legal and accounting administrative fees. These minor savings flow directly to corporate executives and internal budgets. Conversely, the catastrophic risk of poor, stale information falls squarely on the shoulders of ordinary citizens whose 401(k) plans, IRAs, and college savings funds hold these stocks.

The mandatory quarterly reporting framework has successfully underpinned market integrity for over five decades. Shifting this responsibility from a regulatory default to a corporate choice sacrifices the protections of the general public for negligible corporate cost savings.

I urge the Commission to withdraw this proposal and maintain the robust, quarterly transparency requirements that safeguard the financial security of ordinary American investors.

Sincerely,

Ianni Houmas
Executive Director, District Council
Saint Paul, Minnesota

6512101936
IanniD2P@outlook.com

This email, including attachments may include confidential and/or proprietary information, and maybe used only by the person or entity to which it is addressed. If the reader of this email is not the intended recipient the reader is hereby notified that any dissemination, distribution or copying of this email is strictly prohibited. If you have received this email in error, please notify the sender and delete this email immediately. Thank you

---

Ida Diamond — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Ida Diamond Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please don't send us back to the 'dark ages' (1955-70)! I'm a retired senior with my future dependent on the oversight of quarterly reporting. I'm counting on the SEC to do the right thing because we already know that big business will not do the right thing if not mandated to do so. History will repeat itself and the SEC will be held to blame.

Ida Diamond Nurse Practitioner, Texas

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

---

ignatius galante — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: ignatius galante Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep Four Reports as is!

Sent from my iPhone

Ildi White — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Ildi White Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My name is Ildi White, I'm a Registered Nurse and a retail investor and who relies on quarterly reports to make decisions about my retirement savings. Longer gaps create an unfair advantage for corporate insiders, "optional" doesn't fix the problem because companies that opt in are often the ones whose investors most need frequent updates, and the savings to companies isnt worth the cost to my family and I.

Please continent to require quarterly reporting.

Thank you.

Individual None — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Individual More frequent checks should equal a better balance for all of us!

---

information Request — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: information Request Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reports are the minimum that should be required to be signed. Retired people rely on these reports for financial planning. James Erb Executive Director, Oklahoma War Memorial and Museum.

Oklahoma War Memorial and Museum
5201 Three Forks Rd.
Ft. Gibson, OK 74434
Phone: (918) 682-6294
email: Info@warmemorialpark.org

Ingrid Brown — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Ingrid Brown Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We need quarterly reports to keep an eye on our politicians.

Ingrid Brown,retired, North Newton, Kansas 67117

Live simply so that others may simply live.

Ioannina Tsampira — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Ioannina Tsampira Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Do not take our visibility into quarterly financials away. If this passes it gives institutional/large investors an advantage which is injust

---

Irene Apane — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Irene Apane Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting keeps accountability available. I am retired and this matters to me.

Sent via the Samsung Galaxy S25, an AT&T 5G smartphone
Get Outlook for Android

Irene Capaldi — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Irene Capaldi Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Do not change from quarterly disclosures.

Irene Dornberger — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Irene Dornberger Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please continue quarterly reporting.
Irene Dornberger
Retired

---

iris walters — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: iris walters Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Kerp as is Mo more cons

Get Outlook for iOS

Irma Russell — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Irma Russell Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 A change to quarterly reporting only PROVES CORRUPTION!

Sent from my iPhone

---

isab. brink. — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: isab. brink. Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 No ! I am for transparency and for quaterly!

---

isabel nowlin — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: isabel nowlin Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Dear SEC,

I strongly oppose the proposal to only require semi- annual reporting for publicly traded corporations. The historical record shows that the quarterly reporting has benefited investors.

A large amount of my retirement funds are in investments and if the new policy goes into effect it will reduce my retirement fund by quite a lot. Then through no fault of my own I have made a terrible choice as to where I put my retirement money.

Since 1970 corporations have been required to report quarterly and annually and that has made investing beneficial to people like myself. Now for some reason SEC wants to change the rules. This is a lack of fairness and Americans greatly value fairness.

This is also a lack of foresight. As present economic policies continue to impoverish or just diminish the incomes of Americans there is less for the Federal government to tax. Federal income will go down.

Further, there is no need for this action. Corporations in the U.S. are doing very well as is the stock market. This move adds to the financial chaos in my country right now.

Do not ask my investor to use less information to make decisions about where to invest my money. It unfair and not necessary.

Isabel Nowlin
Retired educator
Columbus, Indiana

Sent from my iPhone

Isabelle DuBois — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Isabelle DuBois Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 A lot can go wrong in six months. A lot can be ignored beyond repair. A lot of money can be lost or wasted. Keep the requirement for quarterly reports.

Sent from my iPad

IVONNE ERVIN — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: IVONNE ERVIN Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Leave it alone. Don't fix what's not broken. That old adage is still good.

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Ivy Henick — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Ivy Henick Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I don’t want another Enron. Neither should you.

Ivy Henick
Philadelphia, PA

J . Bivens — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: J . Bivens J. Bivens from SC. I want quarterly reporting to continue to keep us up to date with market changes.

---

j b — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: j b Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My stocks are the life blood of retirement, do not reduce my ability to monitor the performance of these investments . Keep the quarterly reporting requirements in place.

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

J Cares — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: J Cares Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Do not do it. Those of us that are not rich have to live on the results of our labor and need to have the information regularly to make informed decisions. Stop the crazy already.

Jackie Carey Mims Florida

J Christian — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: J Christian Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 The fact the you are deliberately attempting to hide the numbers from the retail investor is disgusting, and noone is protected 6 months out! This needs to stop, other than allowing companies to be dishonest longer there is zero reason to allow this. Somehow this should be criminal.

J Conn — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: J Conn Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We can not afford another Enron scandal. SEC needs quarterly reports to help prevent that from ever happening again.

Sent from outside reality

J D — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: J D Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 It is absolutely VITAL that public companies are subject to quarterly reporting requirements—just like government employees in certain categories are required to report their trades regularly. These are important guardrails to what is supposed to be a transparent system that protects shareholders and avoids personal financial concerns from influencing both domestic and foreign policy development and implementation.

Jennifer Duval
Retired Diplomat and Career Senior Foreign Service Officer

Sent from my iPhone

J F — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: J F Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting should remain as the standard

---

J G — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: J G Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep them coming 4 times a year

---

J H — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: J H Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Absolutely unacceptable. Americans are struggling enough while trying to save for the future. Quarterly reporting allows oversight in a fragile market and limits corporate manipulation.

James Hadfield
Hummelstown, PA

Sent from my iPhone

J H — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: J H Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep signed quarterly reporting. This enables us, as owners of companies, to review their activity in a timely manner. We need the SEC's help to keep tracking financials quarterly to catch possible nefarious business activity, and in fact, ALL activity sooner. And financials must be signed by executives, including CEOs so that they can be held accountable. History has shown quarterly with signatures to be necessary. Six months is too long, especially in the current environment. And 8Ks are not sufficient to do this. In this age of electronics, it is not an excessive burden for corporations. Respectfully submitted by J.Handy, retired CFO and investor in Illinois.

J K Stine Advisor — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: J K Stine The idea that an Investment cannot be tracked in a timely manner is absurd: not only leaving investors in the dark but creating oppurtunity for fraud!

J L — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: J L Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 More corruption if this goes through.

J Luera — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: J Luera Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Kill this new SEC rule, investors will invest less if there a lack of transparency. This will result in a shrinking market more susceptible to market downturns and potential collapse. Why do you want to destroy the stock market?

J Taylor — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: J Taylor Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Good day SEC, Quarterly reporting is the Gold standard.
Please don’t forget the past.
The current President regularly brags about his illegal financial gains “makes me smart”; often made at taxpayer expense. And tax fraud is his game.
The Trump violations of the Hatch Act (7/4 “-TrumpRally”) shows he needs review.
He has a verified Criminal Record; the low financial morals really mandate Quarterly accounting and action. He is fighting for tax immunity… stop him please.
Quarterly taxes need to be reviewed. End of year reporting gives plenty of time to hide the grift. That said, hiding tax returns seems like an admission of fraud.
Thank you for your serious consideration.
Jennifer F Taylor, PhD
Registered Voter in Arcata, California.
Keep up the great work and fairness for ALL.

Sent from my iPhone

J. Hine — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: J. Hine Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 All businesses are required to report monthly as well as quarterly. Of course so should SEC.

J. R. Ball — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: J. R. Ball Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 In these turbulent times we live in today, and with no promise of a better day, it seems that this action would only add to the problems for investors - both large and small. Other than to intentionally take money away from an America already reeling with the economy, what possible sane reason is there to do this? This action, if taken, could be the spark that incites an uprising.

Rick Ball
317-513-9528
Sent from my iPhone

J.B. Farrell — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: J.B. Farrell Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This is a great idea. We need to reduce the compliance cost and give companies the opportunity to focus on long term success.

J.D. Keith — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: J.D. Keith Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I want to be able to invest using information available to the public, not just try to watch for secret transactions by insiders who garner all the profits!

J.D. Keith
Sr. Engineer

Jac Ban — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jac Ban Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Clear reviews quarterly, only way forward....unless it can be monthly. Only way to show integrity and build investment confidence.

Jack Keys — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jack Keys Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 History has already shown us that business companies can be very greedy, if not watched I very. We cannot always count on Whisle Blowers to identify cheating. This coming from our White House only proves it cannot be trusted! John Keys, retired POTW worker. I worked as an Industrial Pretreatment Cordinator and ended going to court to prosecute illegal discharges running smoke. It takes strong rules to protect not only the environment from problems, but our states and country.

Jack Kimmelman — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jack Kimmelman Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 If a company wants our money to support them and help their growth, then they owe in return transparency for it. Investors are risking their money, the least they should get is accountability. Quid pro quo.

Sent from my iPhone

Jack Selvia — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jack Selvia Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We do not need to sign checks for crooks. JW Selvia, BA, MA, CPA

Jack Womack — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Jack Womack Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly information and reports are very important

Rev Jack Womack
281-948-0424
Jack@Seabrookumc.org

Life vowed member
The Order of St Luke
Saint-Luke.net

Jackie Alces — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Jackie Alces Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Transparency is MOST important!!! Do not cut it back to every 6 months.

Jackie Hall — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Jackie Hall Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I believe they should be required to submit a financial statement every quarter. It has always been this way for years why change. Most people want a quarterly report.

Jackie Kohon — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Jackie Kohon Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities

and Exchange Commission:
This proposal is bad for investors and bad for the American people! We need more transparency, not less.

Jackie Lemmon — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jackie Lemmon Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 The public needs the quarterly information for their information and to protect their investments.

Jacqueline Lemmon

1191 Oakland Square
Blacksburg, VA 24060
540-818-0948

Jackie Ranney — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Jackie Ranney Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting needs to be done without fail. This should not be an option . For anyone investing in any company or organization, they should be able to expect complete transparency from corporate or organizational management and serious consequences including incarceration if it is not done and done correctly.

The current administration is using any tool they can manufacture to take advantage of the American people thus undermining the foundation of this country.

Jacquelyn Ranney
Dallas, TX

Sent from my iPhone

---

jacklyn chapman — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: jacklyn chapman Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Jacki Chapman Teacher
All business, be it personal, municipal, corporate etc. must be on top of their records continually. It's only when their not, does mayhem ensue on.
It's a ridiculous concept to go to 6 month reporting. Worse than dangerous, fraudulent mayhem will always be outcome.

Jacob Dinsdale — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jacob Dinsdale Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 It’s unfair to the average retail investor to lessen their access to information to make informed decisions. This is coming from a previously registered series 7 and 63 broker agent.

Do not allow this legislation to pass, if anything. We should be looking at more frequent reporting, not less.

Jacob Means — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Jacob Means Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
The proposed rule to allow companies to hide vital information in the form of eliminating quarterly reporting is abominable. It will do nothing but allow corporate insiders to profit due to increased volatility and leave retail investors and average Americans in the dark. It will do nothing to serve the interests of the economy or the American people and the American people are against this proposed rule.

Jacqelen Ruben — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jacqelen Ruben Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 As a citizen I have a financial interest in keeping companies honest and responsible. More frequent reporting does that since problems and attempted frauds can't be covered over until they're critical.
Jacqelen Ruben

Jacqueline A. Jones — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jacqueline A. Jones Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Do not change reporting from quarterly to semi-annually. That will allow corporations to hide information from the people while cheating us. We should have government for the people, not for corporations!
Jacqueline A. Jones
203 Ascan Ave
Forest Hills NY 11375

JACQUELINE HALL — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: JACQUELINE HALL Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I believe they should be required to submit a financial statement every quarter. It has always been this way for years why change. Most people want a quarterly report.

Sent from AT&T Yahoo Mail on Android

Jacquelyn Rogers — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Jacquelyn Rogers Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
This bill is not fair to the investors. 2 times a year is pathetic. It is important fotvinvestirs to have access to how their portfolio is doing and to have time to evaluate and react. Please do not vote in favor of big corporations. Your job is to protect investors so please do your job.

thank you

Jacquelynn Wells — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Jacquelynn Wells Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Quit stealing from the working class and poor and laundering that money to the most wealthy in this country. Trump should be in a prison cell right next to every billionaire in this country!

Jacqui Auterman — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Jacqui Auterman Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 CEO's trash our economy and then ask for a tax payer bailout. They need to be held accountable.

Jacquie Yost — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jacquie Yost Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Why is this even up for debate? Laws for thee, but not for me?

Sent from my iPhone

Jae Smith — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jae Smith Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting protects small time investors from losing their money. Keep QUARTERLY!

Get Outlook for iOS

Jae Wood — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Jae Wood Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
It is Very Important to keep getting quarterly reports about our financial investment accounts.

Jake Blatt — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jake Blatt Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Jake Blatt, property owner and manager. As a busy individual I need a reliable source of information so I can invest properly and informed. I do not want to be babysitting everything I do with my money and worry the next Enron is happening on my dime. Don’t let companies act like reporting their books is anything other than a direct result after a company goes public. If they want to spend our money we deserve to know how! It shouldn’t be less it should be more!

Thanks,

Jake

Jake Williams — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jake Williams Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please do not do 6 months

---

James Barrow — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: James Barrow Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Not in favor of changing the the way the reporting is now. Please keep the reporting the same as is.

James Bolas — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: James Bolas Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Humans, and those corporations looking to cut corners to save money and make money MUST have these guardrails, or the system collabses again!

Jim “Bo” Bolas

https://linkedin.com/in/jim-bolas-bofield8/jim@familyassist.org

917-689-9659

“We don’t see things as they are, we see them as WE are.” -Anaïs Nin, Author

---

James Brady — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: James Brady Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 James L. Brady, Retired, Winchester, Kentucky. My concern stems from the fact that quarterly reporting holds institutions accountable for their financial stewardship of investor stakes in public companies. These reports are of significant value to stakeholders, enabling them to assess whether the company has met its commitments and how it is performing in the public trust. This mechanism is crucial for ensuring that company management remains responsible for the operation of the trust and knowledge vested in these institutions.

James "Jim" Brady, Retired jbrady0554@gmail.com
859-771-4755

James Brown — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: James Brown Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the quarterly reporting. I want to have the level of transparency that it provides. My name is Jim Brown I am semi-retired. I retired from the U.S Marines and 17 1/2 years in Law Enforcement. I live in North Carolina.

Semper Fidelis
Jim Brown

James Cartwright — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: James Cartwright Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 With so many baby boomers retired now and living on life savings, this could really wreck us. It would also mean putting less money back into the economy. This on top of a possible reduction in Social Security benefits in 7 years, and we have a major economic disaster brewing.

Sent from my iPhone

James Cole — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: James Cole Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 It’s a must for small investors. Keep quarterly reports

Sent from my iPhone

James Collier — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: James Collier Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please continue requiring quarterlies from corporate America.
Thank you.

Sent from my iPad

James Cooley — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: James Cooley Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
We want transparency for every part of investments so we the public can partake in the wealth of our great American systems Thank you for your oven policies

---

James Cousins — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: James Cousins Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I think the quarterly reports should be made monthly. There's nothing wrong about having extra information.

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

James Crowley — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: James Crowley Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 James Crowley, retired, 191 Deer Trail Dr, Saylorsburg PA, My income, my life depends on market value information

Jim Crowley

James Daw — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: James Daw Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Fraud succeeds in darkness. Do not eliminate quarterly reporting.
James Daw individual investor , New York.

James Dittrich — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: James Dittrich Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:

For both money managers and the ordinary investor, transparency and access to accurate filing information are abaolute requirements to making sound decisions. The very idea of a free market rests on rhe premise that rational valuation comes from earnings data. To deliberately reduce the frequncy of filings makes this information more opaque and decisions more reliant on speculation. I oppose this action as it will lead to a less rational market that leads to much higher investor risk.

---

james farrelly — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: james farrelly Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep it QUARTERLY! AKA TRANSPARANCY!
SEC knock off the funny business and just do your job for the good of ALL investors.

James Galante — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: James Galante Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I don’t invest blindly for 6 months don’t change things

Sent from my iPhone

James Grimes — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: James Grimes Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We already had a financial stock market crisis in 2002 because of fraudulent company financials. There is a reason that the regulation was put into place.

James Hanna — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: James Hanna Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This needs to stay quarterly. We have more automated tools today than in the past. Too much can happen in six months.

James W. Hanna
Cell: 979-482-6201
Sent from my iPhone

James Hensley — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: James Hensley Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 The rich will be getting richer. That's what it's all about.

James Hildreth — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: James Hildreth Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Investors need to know the health of their investments at least on a quarterly basis. The officers need to be held accountable to them. This current administration wants no accountability at all for the wealthy.

Sent from my iPhone

---

james jackson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: james jackson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Drop the other 2 get out of jail free cards. A CEO should handle their book correctly.

James Laferla — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: James Laferla Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Honesty and transparency are essential to a healthy economy. Keep quarterly reports. James Laferla, Retired, San Antonio TX.

James Laurent — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: James Laurent Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I vote NO!
Corporate America does not need one more way to be shady in their business practices.
How about taking care of ALL your investors.
How about that?

Sent from my iPhone

James Liversedge — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: James Liversedge Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep it four times yearly.

What's the point in reducing the reporting ?

James Mudd — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: James Mudd Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Not everything ends because Trump is stealing everything he can put his hands on. DO YOUR JOBS.

Sent from my iPhone

---

james oleary — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: james oleary Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 There is no good reason for this change other than opportunity to hide corruption. Leave it as is!!

Thanks
James O'Leary
Burdett, NY

James Orlet — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: James Orlet Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I am writing to encourage you to continue the requirement for quarterly reporting by CEOs. The reasoning behind this requirement is simple and straightforward: it encourages honesty where others financial livelihood is at stake. Please do not weaken this law which currently protects people’s investments. This is what you have been entrusted with and the very reason you are in that position. Do not weaken the regulations put in place to protect the people and the families who depend on you to provide and maintain that security. It is why you are there. Never forget that. It will be your legacy!

Sent from my iPhone

James Preston — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: James Preston I am opposed to only reporting every six months. As an individual investor, this cuts in half the amount of information I would have to make investing decisions. This will lead to a lack of trust in the investing process, which will be bad for the markets. Reporting every three months does not hurt the markets, nor the companies. It does give investors the information we need to make our decisions.

James Robinson Personal small investor — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: James Robinson The average investor needs quarterly financial statement and written updates by management such as the 10q. The savings to the companies will be small in nature, especially compared to the way that will create more uncertainty to the investing community.

JAMES SHERIDAN — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: JAMES SHERIDAN Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My name is Jim Sheridan and m a Sr. Project Manager for an IT company. Politics aside, quarterly reporting keeps companies and others reasonably honest. It's clear that if given ample runway, only the very wealthy or well connected will have an opportunity to grow financially independent. The realty is, at present at least, consumers are needed as that drives the engine. Inflation, insider trading at the government level and elsewhere, healthcare costs, are all crushing most of us now. Kindly keep the reporting quarterly and sustain a reasonable level of accountability for corporations. America, by the constitution, was supposed to be built first all. Help us to help ourselves now and in the future.

James Snider — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: James Snider Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please leave well enough alone. I do not agree with canceling quarterly reporting. James snider, Union sheet metal worker "Retired ". I live in Central Oregon. Thank you.

James Young — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: James Young Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep 'em honest by keeping the law as it is. James Young, Ph.D., retired, Seguin, Texas, receiving pension/disability compensation.

Sent from my iPhone

Jamez Mann — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Jamez Mann Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Rule S7-2026-15 is a bad idea because it lets public companies ditch quarterly financial reports for semiannual ones. That means investors could go six months without fresh info on how a company is really doing, making it easier for problems to hide and harder for regular folks to make smart decisions. It hurts transparency and trust in the markets way more than it's worth.

Jamie Mitchell — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Jamie Mitchell Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
This is the worst idea the Commission has ever had, just like the first time it was implemented. As an investor we need transparency & information every quarter. To lose that would leave investors in the dark & not able to make decisions in a timely manner. The losses would outweigh the gains, as we already know from past experience. Do not invoke this rule. Thank you.

Jamie Smith — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jamie Smith Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 NO! Do not pass this SEC unfair proposal! Jamie Smith

---

Jan Fulrath — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Jan Fulrath Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep quarterly

Sent from my iPhone

Jan Gulbrandson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jan Gulbrandson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Continue quarterly reporting. Janice Gulbrandson. Retired

Sent from my iPhone

Jan Hardin — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jan Hardin Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please keep the quarterly reporting mandatory for companies.

Jan Hardin

Jan Harmon — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jan Harmon Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Leave it quarterly! Things are hard enough for individual investors, this will make it harder to know how our investments are doing.

Sent from my iPad

Jan Jarke — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Jan Jarke Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 The rules were set to quarterly for a reason! Keep them accountable four times a year! Protect the people and NOT the few wealthy CEOs at the top!! Their corruption is what’s driving the divide between socioeconomic classes!! Stick with 4x/yr!!

Sent from my iPhone

JAN MISENHEIMER — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: JAN MISENHEIMER Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My name is Jan Misenheimer. I am retired and live in Mountain View, Arkansas. I strongly feel the rules should not be changed. In the current climate of corruption the CEOs need to be held accountable. Make them report quarterly.

Jan O'Neill — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jan O'Neill Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Transparency is key to trust in financial markets. Don't change from quarterly reporting.
- Jan O'Neill, Biddeford, ME

Jan Predmore — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jan Predmore Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I depend on quarterly reports as I guide family investing strategy. Please retain the rule requiring quarterly reports. Janice Predmore: Citizen & taxpayer

---

Jan Schmidt — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jan Schmidt Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 It’s important for everyday Americans like me to maintain quarterly reporting.

Jan Schmidt
Eureka, CA 95503

Jan Stratton — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jan Stratton Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Nope, no way. Quarterly reporting works just fine. I'm retired and my income for the rest of my life depends on my Social Security and on what my savings can earn. I'd like to know things are on the up and up.

Thanks for listening.
Jan

Jan Stuessi — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jan Stuessi Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 As a retired person, I depend on accurate and timely economic data. Please keep the SEC quarterly report!

Sent from my iPhone

Jan Zimmer — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Jan Zimmer Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Please do not allow quarterly filings to goto twice yearly. Six months is a very long period and is double the time that detrimental financial information or even fraud can go unchecked, thus causing devastating financial loss to individual investors who may lose their entire life savings or retirement portfolio

Less transparency means more fraud, and this is something the SEC should be trying to prevent. Quarterly filings are the best way to minimize the time that fraud is allowed to go on, making it discoverable and actionable before greater financial damage is done and thus less money being.

Retail will not have transparent information, while insiders and institutional investors will. This puts retail investors, which are millions of individual people, and an unfair disadvantage and will be flying blind while the insiders and institutions have information to make good investment decisions.
This is patently unfair and clear, accurate and timely information to make informed investment decisions. Insiders and institutional investors will always have the resources and relationships to get the information they need. Without quarterly reporting, retail investors are on an unlevel playing field, with no way to get timely information about public companies.
Thank you,
Jan Zimmer

Jan. Glover — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jan. Glover Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We've lost too many businesses our communities count on, like JoAnn Fabrics, to 'venture capital.' As a teacher at a Title I public school, the instability of a market puffed up by stock buybacks, debt offloading and real estate chicanery isn't fair or reasonable for my students to try to plan a future or begin a career in. My name is Jan. Glover and I'm asking you to keep the quarterly reporting rule. If anything, take it to every nine weeks. My sixth graders can do it -Wall Street's not as competent as them?

Jana Hayes — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jana Hayes Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep quarterly reports. I want to reduce fraud and protect my investments. Jana

Sent from Samsung Galaxy smartphone.
Get Outlook for Android

Jana Mayfield — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Jana Mayfield Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Dear Sirs:
I oppose the proposed change to semiannual disclosures. I believe it is imporant for investors like me to have frequent disclosures to inform decisions

---

Jane Abbey — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jane Abbey Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This is absolutely absurd! Our world being dismantled to feed the rich. I am sick of this grifting.

Get Outlook for iOS

Jane Alexander — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jane Alexander Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 No. I like to know what is going on every 3 months.

Sent from my iPad

Jane Allen — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jane Allen Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please, please continue quarterly reporting. Monthly is ideal, but less than quarterly is criminal.

Jane Allen, retiree
Compensation Analyst for 25 years

Sent from Imagination Central

---

jane cambier — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: jane cambier Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We're in the age of nanosecond information. Corporations cannot sit on important information for 6 months. Transparency required for Informed investment decisions. Not going back to dark ages!

Jane Denbo — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jane Denbo Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Do not allow quarterly reporting to allow oligarchs to affect the market and also profit from from early information.

Jane Denbo
jane.denbo@gmail.com

JANE DUNBAR — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: JANE DUNBAR Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Americans are already being robbed blind by the oligarchs. No more. The more reporting the better. I would have to reconsider having my life savings invested in the stock market if this ruling were reversed. There is only one reason they want to do away with it and i don't believe it needs explaining.

Jane Dunbar

Sent from my iPhone

Jane Hoobler — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jane Hoobler Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 EMOUGH EVIL!!!!!

Sent from my iPhone

Jane Jennings — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jane Jennings Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This is absolutely disgraceful
It is not difficult to file quarterly reports
Again trying to hide any misdeeds
I am retired and have investments
Sent from my iPhone

Jane Key — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Jane Key Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Yes

---

Jane Oberg — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jane Oberg Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Greedy Getty Bill needs to be trashed - Vote NO

Get Outlook for iOS

---

jane parker — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: jane parker Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is a must. Stop the madness.

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Jane Peterson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jane Peterson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Jane Peterson, public school teacher. I want quarterly reporting so I can better assess my retirement investments. I am reaching my 30 year mark within 6 months, too long to wait for updates and catastrophic if it is bad news.

Jane Pyenson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Jane Pyenson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
My view on Rule S 7 2026-15
Otherwise vital information would be withheld from the public. Please feel free to email me with any questions.

Jane Wildeman — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jane Wildeman Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 It's important that publicly traded companies report regularly (quarterly) so the public can be responsible with their own investments. If a company doesn't wish to report, they need to go private.

Jane Wildeman

Janel Ruzzi — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Janel Ruzzi Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Janel Ruzzi, public school educator, Granite School District (Utah). It is very important to have quarterly reporting for my investments. The past shows us how semi annual reporting ended up in reduced valuations and lower returns. I will not be in a position to ever retire if that is the reality. It will make it so much more likely that I will die at school if I can’t retire! You’ll be causing trauma to young school children if that happens! Please don’t revert back to semi annual reporting. Please don’t take us backwards. We need all the forward momentum we can get!

Janet Bricker-Supanchis — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Janet Bricker-Supanchis Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Stop the TRUMPSTEIN play for NO TRANSPARENCY while HE continues to GRIFT off the backs of AMERICANS & fights to STAY OUT IF PRISON. RELEASE THE TRUMPSTEIN FILES

Janet Edelman — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Janet Edelman Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 As an investor, it is important to have current information. Quarterly reporting accomplishes that goal. Semiannually is not sufficient.

Janet Edelman
Columbia, MD

Sent from my iPad

Janet Ferguson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Janet Ferguson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Maintaining quarterly reporting is important for the smaller investor (under a million), because our margins of loss are smaller. Since the government has limited our assistance (reduced healthcare, food subsidy's, social assistance, etc.) we need current data to make relevant fiscal accommodations.

Sent from my iPhone

Janet Glenn — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Janet Glenn Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 It's to long a period to skip. Know it's easier for companies but not for investors for know what's going on. Alot can change over 6 months.

Janet Keim Luppino — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Janet Keim Luppino Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is important to me for accurate assessment of market factors. I urge the SEC to continue with current reporting and making no changes to frequency of reporting

Sent from my iPhone

---

janet kepley — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: janet kepley Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Let's be transparent!

Janet Loyd — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Janet Loyd Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:the SEC should maintain its quarterly reporting and not follow through with the proposed rule change. The proposed change would not be in the interest of investors like myself, and is unnecessary.

Janet Meredith — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Janet Meredith Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Dear SEc,
I have just retired as university faculty and I am very concerned about the direction of the country , particularly the financial risk to everyone, including older adults. The move to reduce the transparency of corporations by reducing reporting to every 6 months is extremely concerning. It is essential that all of us have the security of knowing that corporations will be required to co tine to report quarterly- we all know how things can change in a few months, and how daylight on results is crucially important to those of us managing our life savings.

Please retain our security with quarterly reporting.
Janet Meredith

Sent from my iPhone

Janet Morgan. — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Janet Morgan. Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I'm tired of being screwed over by my own government. Leave things as they are.

Janet

Janet Nixon — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Janet Nixon Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We the People need more reporting, not less. You have to earn trust. You need our trust.

Sent from my Verizon, Samsung Galaxy smartphone
Get Outlook for Android

Janet O — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Janet O Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 If it works don't fix it!!!

Sent from my iPhone

Janet Pomeroy — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Janet Pomeroy Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
I have stocks that contribute to financing my family's health care, groceries, my step-daughter's college; and retirement. As I am the sole provider of the family, I cannot risk losing income because of a rule that makes it difficult to find out what I should or shouldn't invest in.
Getting current stock information, updating my small portfolio of investments is critical. Waiting six months could make a huge difference in my personal bottom line.
This ruling is completely wrong and against every principle of a free market society.
Please oppose Semiannual Reporting (Rule S7-2026-15)
Sincerely,
Janet Pomeroy

Janet Rejimbal — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Janet Rejimbal Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We need quarterly reports

Sent from my iPhone

Janet Ryvlin — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Janet Ryvlin Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My name is Janet Ryvlin. I am a retired registered nurse.Absolutely do not go forward with this. It well only create more opportunities for harm and encourage greed. Absolutely do not go forward with this.

Janet Williams — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Janet Williams Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I am a senior citizen still working in a job that I have held for 35 years. It is expected that the Social Security Trust Fund will be depleted in 6 years. Quarterly reports are essential for informed investors and absolutely must continue!

Janet Williams

Janet wynn — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Janet wynn Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My name is Janet Wynn. It seems w/ all the insider trading in Congress you need to UP the amount of accountability, not lessen it. I'm a recently retired mental heath/ substance abuse counselor, my retirement could have benefitted from some inside tips, but I have followed the rules and I'm finding w/ our current economy will have to start working again. It makes me sick that the rich get richer w/ no rules and loopholes. Your job is to stop this.!

Janet Wynne-Brosius — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Janet Wynne-Brosius Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please no
We are already struggling

Sent from my iPhone

Janice Fauser — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Janice Fauser Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Respectfully, I want to see whatever the financial health is of whatever I am invested in more than twice a year. I meet quarterly with my advisor to adjust my financial assets to gain effective returns or sell and purchase other investments. Up to date
FO is crucial to making decisions about where my money well grow, as well as my understanding of how it will be used

Sent from my iPhone

Janice Flores — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Janice Flores Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Janice Flores, Client Support Representative. I believe reporting should be kept quarterly to help protect smaller investors from possible fraudulent activities. Six months affords bad actors too much lead time to do wrong. If there are no improprieties afoot, leaving the reporting cycle as-is, should pose no hardships on businesses. They are used to it, have people already used to doing it. It should be left alone!

Janice Guider — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Janice Guider Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 There is a need for transparency and accountability in a timely manner.

Sent from my iPhone... Pardon my brevity. JFGUIDER

Janice Harris — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Janice Harris Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please do not approve this proposal To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Every citizen should be able to see the current status of their investments so they can make informed decisions regarding their funds. Please do not limit our ability to make these decisions.

Janice Homola — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Janice Homola Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Do not abolish quarterly reports. The transparency provided by these reports is invaluable. Getting rid of the quarterly reports is another step towards a crashed economy and another Great Depression.

Janice Hyink — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Janice Hyink Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Our retirement funds are tied up in stocks and bonds and we need to know how those commodities are performing. Adjustments may need to be made in terms of our best interests.

Janice Jaramillo — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Janice Jaramillo Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the quarterly reporting. I know that the orange potus wants to make it less so his buddies can cheat and rob the public, but there is more of us than them. KEEP THE QUARTERLY REPORTING. Please think about the people that they have hurt.

Sent from my iPhone

---

janice joy — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: janice joy Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Dear SEC,

I am writing to express my strong opposition to changing the financial reporting requirement from quarterly to every six months. As a retired financial analyst from a large multinational company, I have seen firsthand how significantly a company's health can shift within a three-month period.

Quarterly reports are essential for providing the transparency needed to evaluate publicly traded companies. Given the unprecedented pace of societal and technological change, investors require timely data to make informed financial decisions. My own livelihood depends on the performance of my investment portfolio, and reducing the frequency of these reports would create unnecessary risk and diminish market transparency.

I urge you to maintain the current quarterly reporting schedule to ensure that investors have the insight necessary to navigate today’s fast-moving economy.

Thank you,

Jan Joy in California

Janice Lamle-Bailey — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Janice Lamle-Bailey Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Please reconsider Rule S7-2026-15 that would hurt everyday American investors. We are not multimillionaires. We are investors who buy what we can, when we can. A volatile market isn't good for the average American. Please do not punish everyday Americans from investing in corporate America.
Thank you
Janice Lamle-Bailey

Janice Olszewski — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Janice Olszewski Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Retired woman in my 70s. This was tried back in 1970s and FAILED! Does no one learn from history anymore??!

Janice Reid — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Janice Reid Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Transparency is important. When corporations are able to hide information, our economy and our integrity is diminished. Any volitility in the market can be hidden for months by my broker and I won't know. This is impactful to spending habits where regular people with some market investment may choose not to spend. That impacts the economy. Janice Reid, Retired, Roseburg, OR janine bright — Jun 18, 2026

---

Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: janine bright Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Seems to me you all are trying to find new ways to rob us blind. I am 52 years old, have worked since I could, starting at 16; have paid into Social Security my whole life and likely won't see any of it; no pension...now you want to change the rules to scam us some more? This is my official objection. Janine Chambers Bright, RN

Sent from my Verizon, Samsung Galaxy smartphone
Get Outlook for Android

Janine Clemons — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Janine Clemons Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Every business that is incorporated and issues stock should perform quarterly reporting. Small businesses and self contractors should be exempt from this onerous burden.

Janis Woods — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Janis Woods Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please defeat this. I want things left as are.

Sent from my iPhone

Jannee Morley — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jannee Morley Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Jann Catz, and I'm a small business owner. This accounting must be kept quarterly for transparency and to make informed choices on our investments. As a small business owner my retirement counts on my investments and the choices I make for my family and our future and I'm sure it is the same for your family and friends. Please look at history there is no good for the investor that could come from this. Sincerely Jann Catz

---

Jannie — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jannie Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please do not do this. As a retired couple learning the stock market this will be terrible! Why would you do this?

Jannie Hornby
(Gramma and Mum)

Jared — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jared Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Jared S., Corporate Trainer - for the financial markets to be fair to consumers, we need insight. We need more regulation, not less, and removing our ability to see what is happening in companies that are publicly traded opens up massive potential for fraud and abuse. This is not acceptable.

Jasmine Tokuda — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Jasmine Tokuda Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Investors need information to make financial choices. Without this information, many people will pull their investments from the stock market and invest in real estate and other assets they consider more secure. This will deprive many companies of much needed cash flow to grow and exist.

Jason Chen — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Jason Chen Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
You must inform the people. The government should be for the people. Don't ruin this country.

Jason Conrad — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Jason Conrad Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This would be a giant step backward. CEO’s need to be accountable in a timely fashion.

Jay
Sent from my iPhone

Jason Hamilton — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jason Hamilton Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I like knowing what the companies I own are doing financially. If they are failing to meet projections and the financials show that, I need to know sooner rather than later. My plans can't be held up supporting losers when there are so many winners in the corporate space.

JASON JONES — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: JASON JONES Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I want to know what my companies actually do. I want accountability. I want quarterly reports continued!
Dr. Jason Jones

Jason Spainhour — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Jason Spainhour Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:this will cause unnecessary losses to investor's and only benefit insider's

---

Javon Carter-Harrell — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Javon Carter-Harrell Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Javon Carter-

Harrell, this matters to me because quarterly reporting brings clarity, transparency, and fraud prevention. There is no good reason to change this cadence.

Best Regards,

Javon Carter-Harrell

Jax L — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Jax L Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Jackie Lickerman, semi retired, Illinois.

I'll keep this brief. The History and the Facts plainly show the return on investment Far out performed those companies who were reporting twice a year... not just in the US. Returning to the once short lived reporting twice a year is detrimental to investors. It doesn't provide a clear picture of the companies management and standings. Does not give investors time to react when investments are at risk for a loss or when there's an indication of greater opportunity to invest for a greater return.

These companies can continue to do quarterly as has been done throughout history from beginning. In fact, there were some sending monthly reports. Giving investors a look at the viability of a company in a manner where the investors could pivot, making adjustments to their investment strategy. Not months later.

In conclusion, if Warren Buffet is against it there's a reason why.

Thank you,
Jackie

Jay D Hackett — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jay D Hackett Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Demand quarterly reports. No sneaking around hiding the facts.

Jay D Hackett

jayhackett@comcast.net

317 502 3333

Sent from my mobile phone.Please excuse any typographical or spell check errors.

Jay Hamilton — Jun 18, 2026

Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jay Hamilton Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please keep the transparency by keeping quarterly reporting.

Sent from my iPad

Jay Kresses — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jay Kresses Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Reducing the frequency of reporting heightens the risk of abuse lowers the security of investors, especially retail. Keep it like it is

Jay Kresses
Individual small-fr 75-100k

Sent from my iPhone

---

jay spears — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: jay spears Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I think we should hold companies on a higher standard because they have our trust and when that trust is taken away through hidden books then who can we trust.

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Jay Tetzlaff — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Jay Tetzlaff Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please keep CEO's honest by continuing with quarterly reporting.It's what Americans expect and certainly deserve.

Jayda Shaw Cooke — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jayda Shaw Cooke Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My name is Jayda. I live in NY. I am doing all the things I can to save for retirement and caring for elderly parents, my only crime is not being born rich. Please don’t punish people who aren’t wealthy, we just want to feed our families and care for our loved ones!

Sent from my iPhone

JAYME MILLER — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: JAYME MILLER Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the reporting quarterly. We need as much accountability as possible.

Sent from my iPhone

Jayne Hogan — Jun 18, 2026

Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Jayne Hogan Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Continue reporting quarterly

Sent from my iPhone

Jayne Meyers — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jayne Meyers Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep quarterly reports

Sent from my iPad

Jayne Niemi — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Jayne Niemi Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is essential to prevent fraud. Business moves MUCH faster these days, and quarterly reporting keeps fraud at bay. It should remain quarterly.
Jayne Niemi
,St Paul, Minnesota, retired educator

Jayne Ronchetto — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jayne Ronchetto Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly. They should put their names and their reputation on the line quarterly. They are leading the company. They should be responsible for its honesty.

JB Bishop — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: JB Bishop Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please do not let corrupt politicians and corporations take advantage of American investors. Keep it Quarterly!!

JB
Sent from my iPhone

JC — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: JC Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Stay where it's at. If it moves, it won't stop moving.

Jean akers — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Jean akers The SEC should report no less than quarterly so that people can make informed decisions about their investments. As an investor this is of utmost importance and is more transparent for everyone. Monthly would be better.

Jean Bean — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jean Bean Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Jean Evatt, retired. I believe quarterly reporting should remain as longer reporting opens things up to fraud.

Jean Besio — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Jean Besio Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Accountability is important and i feel we need our quarterly reports to protect what little we have to count on.

Jean Enger — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jean Enger Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Reporting needs to stay quarterly. Going back to 1955 is a bad idea. Jean Enger retired

Get Outlook for iOS

Jean Gibson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Jean Gibson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I don't agree with this decision. Why are you trying to set people back.

Jean Hom — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Jean Hom Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 As a long-time investor, I strongly feel that changing quarterly corporate reports to every six months would invite fraud and reduce transparency. As a senior, I cannot afford to risk my retirement funds at all! Corporations already benefit from near zero taxes with tremendous loopholes—they can well afford to continue quarterly reports. This is an irresponsible, needless and reckless SEC proposal! Jean Hom, Sacramento, Ca.

Jean LePere — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Jean LePere Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My name is Jean LePere. I am a retired public health educator living in Fountain Inn, SC, I am asking that the SEC keep the quarterly reporting rule in place. It has worked well for decades. Don’t “fix” what isn’t broken! It was tried before and shown to be bad for many people like myself. Thank you.

Jean McDermott — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jean McDermott Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We must retain quarterly reporting to maintain open and honest reporting. Don't let those who wish to manipulate the market get away with it. What happens on the market affects the entire economy. It affects all of us.

Jean Randolph — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Jean Randolph Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My name is Jean Randolph, retired chaplain for the state of NC, living in Swannanoa, NC . Quarterly reports help to keep what is happening above board and beyond reproach. I cannot think of anything more necessary in this time of our country's business. Proving laws are being followed is paramount to alleviating fake news and numbers. Honesty is a non-negotiable.

Sent from my Verizon, Samsung Galaxy smartphone
Get Outlook for Android

Jean Webb — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jean Webb Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I invest in individual stocks. This move to decrease oversight would make investing too dangerous. I'd have to stick to cd's for my retirement funds. Jean Webb, retired.

Jeanie Hall — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Jeanie Hall Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I do not support semi annual reporting. Less transparency, more opportunities for corruption, and the cost to the US citizen are reasons not to support the change. I have lost enough as it is.

Jeanie Kee — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jeanie Kee Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Investors have a right to know AT LEAST QUARTERLY. It is OUR hard-earned money. At age 72, I deserve to be able to protect it with true & frequent reports.They will TAKE ADVANTAGE otherwise, and we ALL know this right? Keep it Quarterly to protect us all. It is only right.

Jeanie Lewis — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Jeanie Lewis Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Absolutely must stay as every 3 months for reporting.

Jeanine Libka — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jeanine Libka Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quartet reporting has worked so far. Information is important to my ability to invest and dispose of investments. I say keep it as it is.

Jeanne Jakel — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Jeanne Jakel Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Do not go back to semi-annual reporting. Investors need the most updated information to find secure stocks. This has been tried and cost the American people dearly. Who do you work for SEC?

Do the right thing for hard-working Americans.

Sent from AOL on Android

Jeanne Keeney — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Jeanne Keeney Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My name is Jeanne Keeney, I am retired, I have lived in the USA all of my life. Keep quarterly statements! It keeps the system honest or more honest. It is important to me because I come from a family of accountants in the U.S.A. who also served in the military. My Dad, husband, brother, brothers-in-law, uncles, cousins, grandfathers, all served in the military to protect the Constitution and our country. I am tired of seeing my country ruined by grift, deceit, and bad actors, pretending to be for our Constitution and country when they are robbing us blind. This country needs to stop allowing greedy corporations and the wealthy from stripping away everything that we believe in, have fought for, and died for to be stolen from us.

Jeanne Nelson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Jeanne Nelson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Please do not change the rule that public companies must provide quarterly reports to their investors. I rely on those reports to make judgments as to whether or not my retirement investments are doing well or if they need to be rebalanced or changed in other ways. I do not know why you are considering changing this rule, but it has been working well for me and other investors like me and should not be changed. As my grandfather used to say, "If it ain't broke, don't fix it."

Jeanne Preston Williams — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Jeanne Preston Williams Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Yes!

Jeanne Steffener — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jeanne Steffener Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the reporting quarterly. Jeanne Steffener, retired.
Keep them honest.

Jeanne Thelwell — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Jeanne Thelwell Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
This is a time when corporate power and corporate arrogance are a real danger to average Americans. Requiring them to continue reporting quarterly is vital to the safety security of retail investors.

Jeanne Turnquist — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jeanne Turnquist Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Attention - Important Matter

Quarterly reporting is essential to keep portfolios strong - SEC do your duty !!!
Require Quarterly Reporting
We are all watching …

JM Turnquist
Senior Vice President Commercial Banking

Jeanne Wickens — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Jeanne Wickens Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Jeanne Wickens, retired, Maple Grove, MN 55369. As my former employment was with financial organizations, I believe it is essential that quarterly reporting by entities looking for loans, etc., continues. It is the very best way for banks and other investment or financial institutions can be a bit more certain as to the accuract and honesty of corporate executives.

Jeannette Taylor — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Jeannette Taylor Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Re: File No. S7-2026-15 – Semiannual Reporting
I strongly oppose proposed Rule S7-2026-15.
As a retail investor and member of the American middle class, I believe this proposal would reduce transparency in public markets and create an information advantage for corporate insiders, institutional investors, and well-connected market participants at the expense of ordinary investors.
Public companies already possess substantially more information about their financial condition and operations than individual investors. Quarterly reporting helps narrow that information gap by requiring regular disclosures that allow all investors to evaluate a company's performance on a timely basis. Reducing those reporting requirements to twice per year would increase the amount of time during which insiders and large institutions have superior knowledge of a company's business while retail investors are left with less information.
The SEC's mission includes protecting investors and maintaining fair, orderly, and efficient markets. In my view, less frequent reporting moves in the opposite direction. Transparency is not a burden on investors—it is a safeguard. Working families, retirees, and middle-class Americans who invest through retirement accounts deserve more access to information, not less.
This proposal risks increasing uncertainty, reducing accountability, and weakening investor confidence. Six months is a long time in today's rapidly changing economic environment. Investors should not be expected to make decisions with less frequent financial disclosures from publicly traded companies.
While there may be arguments that reducing reporting requirements lowers costs for issuers, those benefits should not come at the expense of investor protection and market transparency. Any cost savings for companies must be weighed against the potential harm to millions of retail investors who rely on timely and consistent disclosures.
For these reasons, I respectfully urge the Commission to reject Rule S7-2026-15 and preserve quarterly reporting requirements for public companies.

Sincerely,
Jeannette Taylor

Jeannette Vincent — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jeannette Vincent Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting needs to remain. Investors should have as much transparency as possible for their investments, it’s our hard earned dollars that are being invested with companies.
Jeannette Vincent, Contract Specialist

Jeannine T. Levesque — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Jeannine T. Levesque Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My name is Jeannine T. Levesque, retired reference librarian at publi libraries in Nashua, NH, and Leominster, Massachusetts.

I find it ridiculous that such a helpful and successful policy as quarterly reporting would be up for reconsideration. It makes no sense to change. It's the best, if not only way, for stockholders AND members of the general public to see what is going on in near-real time.

The graphics showing how the stock market did when reporting was twice a year vs. quarterly, as it has been for some time now, are very clear. What a difference in returns to the people! The CEOs MUST have to certify personally that the numbers are correct. As the saying goes, "IF IT AIN'T BROKE, DON'T FIX IT." Well, it AIN'T broke, not for us ordinary folks, and we DON'T want it to be broke. Please CONTINUE with quarterly reporting.

I am an ordinary U.S. taxpayer with some modest investments. Retired seven years ago, living mostly on my investments and some Social Security (if this administration doesn't eliminate it), so this subject is very important to me. When working, I was a reference and genealogical librarian at a public library. Investments, encouraged by my Dad and Granddad, made the difference, since my pay was not that great.

I live in Nashua, New Hampshire, and have worked in New Hampshire and central Massachusetts nearly all my life.

If quarterly reporting should be ended, and the administration emasculates Social Security as well, this country is going to be seeing a lot of VERY DESPERATE PEOPLE - and I might well be one of them.

Please leave this alone. Do not jeopardize our investments. There is risk enough already. Maintain the quarterly reporting we have come to rely upon.

Thank you.

Jeannine T. Levesque
Retired reference librarian
Nashua, New Hampshire

Jeff Adams — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jeff Adams Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Monthly reporting would be ideal but quarterly reporting is essential for transparency.

Sent from my iPhone

---

jeff andrews — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: jeff andrews Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Eliminating the quarterly report is a crime. It invites more fraud.

Sent from my iPhone

Jeff Bethune — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Jeff Bethune Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission: I am an older investor, and I need to know as much as I can to invest well, and to compare the information about one company with another, in a timely fashion.
I think this proposal would limit my ability to do so. Too, I think that it would encourage fraud.
Please, reconsider whether to propose this rule: I believe it to be unnecessary.
Thank you,
Jeff Bethune

Jeff Chase — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Jeff Chase Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Getting rid of Quarterly Reports put all investors in the dark and reduces market stability and reasonable assurance for investors. These changes are moving things in the wrong direction.
Jeff Chase
San Jose, CA

Jeff Gruter — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jeff Gruter Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 No way !! Stop this nonsense. We want full disclosure all the time. 100%

Sent from my iPhone

Jeff Hill — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jeff Hill Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 It's essential to keep CEOs required to sign quarterly reports.

Jeff Hill
jhill@cruzio.com
(408) 859-2103

---

jeff lockwood — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: jeff lockwood Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This is a horrible proposal. The rules put in place before we're meant to protect us from bad actors running these corporations. Your proposal would allow them six months to hide in the dark and make bad decisions, which could lead small investors left holding the bag. It is not like we can trust these companies to do the right thing for investors, they do what's right for senior management (aka take huge bonuses and then filing for bankruptcy protection). This proposal needs to be squashed.

JEFF RISING — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: JEFF RISING Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Jeff Rising, Branch Manager
changing to only 2 times a year can jeopardize my retirement funds. This is not the best practice for our elderly living off a private retirement fund.

Jeff Rising
810-444-8595

Jeff Sceili — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Jeff Sceili Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Companies need to disclose and report more information and not less. Increasing the reporting period is the exact wrong action to take. Protect investors, the economy, and trust is the system by disapproving increasing the reporting schedule.

---

jeff sheehan — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: jeff sheehan Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 You did the crime , now you have to do your time . Every minute needs to be accounted for in whatever prison stated!

Sent from my iPhone

Jeff Steinhoff, MD — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Jeff Steinhoff, MD Please keep financial reporting to every 3 months. I think if any of us invested in a local restaurant or local business, we would want regular updates monthly if not quarterly, As stockholders(investors) we are entitled to regular information about the health of the business. Every 6 months allows insiders more information than regular (retail) investors and tilt the balance of fairness away from us.

Jeff Sullivan — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Jeff Sullivan Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I see no reason to ease the standards placed on CEO and CFOs unless a plan is afoot to rob and plunder America and get away with it. With help from our supposed representation who have been proven corrupt it seems your again on the path to destroy more of our country as there is no reason other than grift to ease the standards on heads of business. Don̈t change what works

---

Jeff Wright — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jeff Wright Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Leave it alone!

JEFFERY BARKER — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: JEFFERY BARKER Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 1) certified filings would fall from four a year to two, and integrity requires executive sign-off, (2) 8-Ks and press releases carry no certification and no auditor review, therefore, no substitutes, (3) the SEC is admitting the replacement is weaker, so the answer is withdrawal, not a patch, and (4) these safeguards were written after Enron for a reason, and the SEC should explain what has changed.

Sent from my iPhone

JEFFERY CLARK — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: JEFFERY CLARK Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 If you want to be a publicly traded company , then transparency is required. There’s absolutely no benefit to the investor by reducing the reporting requirements.

Jeff

Jeffery McGonagill — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jeffery McGonagill Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This is only for the benefit of the investor class. It doesn't benefit anyone else.

---

jeffery moyers — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: jeffery moyers Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Can we please stop giving the rich more power and more ways to screw over the American public? This would just be one more tool for business to commit fraud and steal from the middle class.

Jeffery Richards — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Jeffery Richards Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Jeffery Richards Program Manager
Saint Clair Shores, MI

Less transparency comes with lower returns and lower valuations. Keep the quarterly reporting, please. Americans could lose as much as half of their savings with semi-annual reporting.

_____
Jeff Richards

Jeffrey A. Search Certified PMP (Professional Project Manager) — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Jeffrey A. Search This change provides a degradation to oversight needed to ensure public trust in publicly traded entities. Large corporations save the accounting costs, while investors assume the risk with no apparent benefit. This requirement is an important check/balance mechanism.

Jeffrey Bryan — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Jeffrey Bryan Changing quarterly reporting to semi-annual is bad for individual investors like me. I am a small investopr and I need to know what a company is doing with my money. Less information will not allow me to properly manage my investment.

Jeffrey Kestin — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Jeffrey Kestin Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This is unacceptable. Corporate power is already out of control in this country thanks to the legalized bribery handed down by the Supreme Court. CEOs require more accountability, not less. there is no reason whatsoever to consider this change.

Jeffrey Kestin
Engineering COO
Indianapolis, Indiana

---

jeffrey.a.english — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: jeffrey.a.english Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Transparency is crucial for publicly traded investment. Without it there is less accountability. Without accountability, there is less reason to invest. Lets maintain or improve integrity in financial reporting. Lets continue to hold executives accountable for their actions as well. Actions, both good and bad, have consequences. Stakeholders should expect nothing less.

Thanks,

Jeff English

Sent from my Galaxy

Jen Daniel — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Jen Daniel Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting allows for more transparency and helps to improve confidence in the market and the economy. Please do NOT change the current reporting schedule!

Jen Usellis — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jen Usellis Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 It is unacceptable for publicly traded corporations to hide their earnings for 6 months at a time. We know why they're doing it as we witness mass layoffs and AI takeovers. Their main shareholders are running away with everything while everyone else suffers. Make them prove their value.

Jennifer Usellis
Customer Experience Manager
Chicago, IL

Jene Weinstein — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jene Weinstein Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This is a really bad idea. Please continue quarterly reporting.

Jenifer bryant — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Jenifer bryant please keep reporting quarterly , investors deserve honesty and transparency.

Jenn Lelinski — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jenn Lelinski Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting works as it is expected to. Changing it would allow small problems for businesses to get out of hand and put other stakeholders at a disadvantage that is not acceptable. Don't fix what ain't broken

---

Jenn Thayer — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jenn Thayer Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Are you trying to destroy the common investor and create the horrible reign of the fat, ugly, selfish trillionaire? Our country is now so much in debt and will be destroyed. You are the bending over for the bully. YOUCEHOULD BE FORVTHE PEOPLE

Jenn Thayer
~ This message sent via carrier pigeon.

Jenna Bissonette — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Jenna Bissonette Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Don't do it!!!!!!!

Jennifer Brisson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Jennifer Brisson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Investors need quarterly statements to better understand companies' performance to make informed decisions and in many cases to ensure quality of life in retirement. Do not shift to reporting only twice a year.

Jennifer Clark — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jennifer Clark Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I'm a nurse x 16 years. I've seen our medical system degraded steadily over that time. The people who run our hospitals and make decisions for us and our patients have only business education. They are always overpaid and rewarded with bonuses while everyone else just tries to keep the boat afloat. They do crooked dealings that require MORE accountability, not less. Please don't let the rich get richer at the cost of our healthcare system. Thank you for your time.

Sent from my iPhone

Jennifer Clay — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jennifer Clay Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I am an individual investor. Quarterly reporting is essential for me to make sound decisions.

Jennifer Clay
Sent from my iPad

Jennifer Ellen — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jennifer Ellen Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Wall Street needs more transparency, not less. And that doesn't happen without regulation. Quarterly Reporting matters. Don't make it even less frequent.

I'm a middle class American with my retirement funds in investment accounts. I don't have a lot, but what I do have matters. I care that my funds are managed with a concern for accountability and integrity.

Jennifer Ould
Chicago, IL
Office Administrator
"Every year of my life I grow more convinced that it is wisest and best to fix our attention on the beautiful and the good, and dwell as little as possible on the evil and the false."
- Richard Cecil

Jennifer Fahey — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jennifer Fahey Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I am an investor who wants to maintain the current transparency driven by quarterly reporting and do not want companies to benefit from lesser transparency with 6month reporting. Please do not change current SEC requirements.
Jennifer Fahey, recently retired, former Managing Director Director, Marsh

Jennifer J. Fahey
Jennifer.j.fahey@gmail.com
C: 914.552.5388

Jennifer Hand — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Jennifer Hand I strongly disagree with a move to semiannual reporting. This would be moving our country backwards in terms of company transparency and freedom of information. As an individual retail investor who invests in individual stocks as well as index funds, I rely heavily on quarterly reporting from companies to make investment decisions. This rule will have a severe impact on my, as well as every other retail investor's, ability to make sound investing decisions and will ultimately result in less participation in the US stock market.

Jennifer Kelly Greene — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Jennifer Kelly Greene Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Jennifer Greene, Vice President of Global Business Services, Connecticut-based headquarters with more than 72000 employees. We need to maintain quarterly transparency. Please don't admire this change to semi-annual. As I had into retirement the risk of today's economy and uncertainty introduced by current factors are very concerning. Further relaxing requirements opens the door to more uncertainty and opportunities for fraud.

Jennifer Kunze — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Jennifer Kunze Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
I need good information quarterly to make good decisions with my financial advisor! Please don't change this or I may be forced to change my investments! Thank you for your consideration.

---

jennifer Moore — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: jennifer Moore Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is the bare minimum.

Sent from my iPad

Jennifer Nelson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jennifer Nelson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is vital for the financial security of small investors and should not be eliminated.

Get Outlook for iOS

Jennifer Perrin — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jennifer Perrin Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please keep all reporting requirements as a minimum. Honestly businesses should be reporting monthly to increase transparency and honesty and maybe there might be a better chance of stopping places like Epstein island from happening. It is abhorrent they licensed brokers can’t own certain stocks but businessss can essentially do whatever they want. Please hold businesses and their top echelon accountable by continuing or even expanding reporting requirements. Please stop bending down to corporate greed.
Jennifer Perrin

Sent from my iPhone

Jennifer Phillips — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Jennifer Phillips Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Jennifer Phillips

Acute Care Nurse Practitioner
Crawfordsville Arkansas

I am getting closer to retirement and will greatly depend on my retirement savings during my retirement, especially with the state of social security. Any loss to my retirement savings will greatly affect my savings to retire and having a living wage. These decisions will negatively affect a great majority of working Americans. Please stop making it harder for the elderly to retire and enjoy the last years of their lives.

Jennifer Phillips

Sent from my iPhone

Jennifer Piazza — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Jennifer Piazza Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
we need more transparency not less!! Don't change the rules!!

Jennifer Riley — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jennifer Riley Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Play fair ! This is an outrageous give away.

- Sent Via Mobile Phone

www.jenniferrileystudio.com

Riley Studio:
45 Main St. #1012
Brooklyn NY 11201
Not a mailing address

Mail to:
70 Washington Street 8A
Brooklyn NY 11201

Jennifer Robertson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jennifer Robertson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I have two IRAs and a Teachers' Retirement account so I am deeply concerned with the actions of public corporations.
Less ability to see what my stocks are doing? LESS Oversight? Oh, Hell NO!

Jennifer Robertson, Graphic Designer

Jennifer Schroeder — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Jennifer Schroeder Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I'm a mature teacher in Oregon. Most jobs require oversight. It keeps us on track and makes sure we are doing our jobs. The bigger the job, the more important oversight is. Trust and honesty is important.

Sent from my iPhone

Jennifer Spruill — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jennifer Spruill Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 The SEC should keep the current quarterly earnings report rule in place for everyone. There is too much that can change and that companies can hide in a 6 month period, which severely impacts individual investors' income earned from their stock portfolios. It is not right that executives, lawyers and big institutional investors get an advantage of quarterly earning reports while individual stock investors get 6 month earnings reports. This perpetuates the rich getting richer and the middle class and poor getting poorer. The wealthy already have many advantages over individual investors. Keep quarterly earnings reports for EVERYONE.

Jennifer Spruill
Retiree

Sent from my iPhone

Jennifer Thon — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jennifer Thon Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 A company should never be allowed to hide their books, not for one second. They should always be available for review. If a normal person did this, they would go to prison. Why should the 'Good'ol Boys" be held to a different standard?

Sent from my iPad

Jennifer Wood — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Jennifer Wood Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My name is Jennifer B. Wood, living in Northern California. I'm a retired RN, having practiced for 45years. I worked very hard to earn my retirement and my husband a retired professional geologist are comfortable but would be devastated if the SEC switched reporting to semi annually. Please consider how much money we are already spending in our present situation and MAINTAIN the quarterly reporting.

Jennings Soccorso-McCoy — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Jennings Soccorso-McCoy Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Retailers already have such a small piece of the pie this on disenfranchises Americans even more.

Jenny Claire — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jenny Claire Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 As a day trader I want more info about companies, not less. This move just furthers the spiraling downfall into accepting insider trading.

Jenny Estes — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jenny Estes Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Yes keep quarterly

---

Jenny Zervakis — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jenny Zervakis Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I am 58 years old. I have been investing in stocks since I was 30 years old and while not a lot it's a critical part of my retirement. Quarterly reports keeps "honest people honest". This is a complete no brainer that has served well and ensured trust in the stock markey for the last 50 years. Keep the quarterly reports. Jennifer Zervakis, Durham NC

Jerald Stafford — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jerald Stafford Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Once again, the small, unconnected invester will be left holding the empty bag.

Jeremy Marsch — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jeremy Marsch Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Investment matters to all of us, not just institutions with alternative intel. As an individual investor approaching retirement, I need to be able to make informed decisions about my investments. Reducing thr reporting requirement to 6 months only makes that harder.

Sent from my iPhone

Jerome Larson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jerome Larson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep quarterly reports.

Jerri Bishop — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jerri Bishop Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Transparent and timely reporting is the only fair way for ALL investors . Keep the quarterly reporting system.

Thank you

Jerry Hines — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jerry Hines Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I would NOT accept that in my portfolio

Jerry

Jerry Kirtley — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Jerry Kirtley Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Jerry Kirtley, Retired, Chattanooga Tennessee...We need these reports quarterly. Don't start easing the accountability.

Jerry Nation — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jerry Nation Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please keep quarterly. As a retail investor, quarterly reports are essential to my investing decisions.
Jerry Nation
Retired business owner
Retail Investor.

Sent from my iPad

Jerry Sandlin Do not do this! I see no justification for it, except the opportunity for more corporate shenanigans! — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Jerry Sandlin Do not do this! I see no justification for it, except the opportunity for more corporate shenanigans!

Jerry Schroeder — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jerry Schroeder Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep quarterly reports!!!!

Sent from my iPhone

Jerry Skeenes — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Jerry Skeenes Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
All private companies should disclose all vital info to potential investors and not hide information to insiders on trading.
Also, Accredited Investor rule is not fair. You don't need to be an accredited gambler to bet and MAYBE loose everything at a casino. You shouldn't judge who is responsible and who isn't.

Jerry Sommerville — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Jerry Sommerville Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Less reporting flattens the returns which looks like less profits, thus less valuation. This is stupid as it encourages bad actors when no one is looking but twice a year. Government loses money, investors lose money, the economy shrinks when we don't know what a company is worth. Reject this proposal immediately.

Sent from my iPhone

Jerry Toms — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Jerry Toms Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 PLEASE keep it quarterly!
Thanks, Carolyn Toms, retired, Northern Kentucky

Jesele ZL — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Jesele ZL Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is the bare minimum measure to ensure ethical practices in one of the most notoriously corrupt facets of American society. To suggest that reporting no longer be required at that interval is to deliberately carve out loopholes to permit badly behaved people to expand the depths of their depravity. If anything, we should be increasing the frequency of reporting to monthly, as is the case with most businesses.

I have a vested interest in this as someone whose family has a substantial portion of savings in stocks. Many Americans are in the same boat. To create a higher likelihood of financial harm being done to everyday citizens like me, all for the benefit of a few, is completely unacceptable.

–Jesele, Senior Marketing Director, New Hampshire

---

jess schneck — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: jess schneck Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Reverting to old rules for monitoring simply does not make sense. If anything, we need more transparency, not less.

Please do not allow this to happen. My demographic already unlikely to actually benefit from social security. Now this?

Jessica Schneck
Sr. Instructional Designer, Philadelphia, PA suburbs

Jesse Bader — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Jesse Bader Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This is vital. The ultra rich need regulation

Sent from my iPhone

Jesse Donnelly — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jesse Donnelly Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Let’s Keep It For Sure Jesse Donnelly
Film Maker Producer
Actor Stuntman Musician

Sent from my iPhone

Jessica Boemker — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jessica Boemker Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My name is Jessica Sharp, and I am a stay at home mom in Ohio. We rely on my husbands income to get by, including for retirement savings. We cannot afford a change that would make it more difficult to invest wisely for retirement while benefiting the wealthy instead.

Jessica Sharp

Jessica Brim — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Jessica Brim Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Do not rollback financial reporting! J Roberts Trader KS City

---

Jessica Luton — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jessica Luton Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Jessica: teacher. We deserve transparency and a fair shot at some kind of retirement. Stop trying to ruin us from every angle.

Jessica Monroe — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Jessica Monroe Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
We work hard for our money and transparency in reporting allows for investors to know what's happening in a reasonable amount of time. Changes to the rule would mean less transparency and more room for fraud and tha is just unacceptable. The current rules make sense and should be maintained. It's the right and fair thing to do.

Jessica Tsu — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Jessica Tsu Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 It’s important to keep corporations accountable, quarterly reports are absolutely necessary. My name is Jessica Tsu, I’m a logistics management specialist in Utah. This issue affects everyone and should not be allowed to occur. Corporations already do not always do the right. Accountability for all is necessary through quarterly reports.

Regards,
Jessica Tsu

Sent from my iPhone

Jil Daniel — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jil Daniel Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Those bigots need to be monitored like animals at the Zoo,
Never let them feel free…
They all need to be protected taxed 80% for the treasury Dept.

Sent from my iPhone

Jill Grimes — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Jill Grimes Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We, the People, are tired of the corporate overlords! Hold them accountable!
Do not relax the quarterly accounting!

Jill Grimes, Greeley, CO.

Sent from my iPad

Jill Hahn — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Jill Hahn Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 As a retired teacher in Wisconsin who relies on my investments I want the reporting to remain quarterly. Jill Hahn

---

Jill LeBlanc — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jill LeBlanc Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This proposed change is terrible, taking away transparency is wrong. How will it help me as an investor? Who does the SEC work for? The people or companies? Jill LeBlanc -Retired

Jill LeBlanc
Sent from my iPhone 504-400-2881

Jill Rhoades — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Jill Rhoades Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Please continue quarterly reporting. As a retiree, this timely monitoring of my investment portfolio is crucial.

Thank you.
Jill Rhoades

Jill Sater — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Jill Sater Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 As a retiree, already living on a limited budget, I can barely afford to keep up with inflation as it is. To lose any more of my money because of this change in reporting, would make me dependant on social services or possibly homeless.
Rolling back to 1955 reporting standards would greatly harm the vast majority of our population. The only ones who would profit from it are those who hide the money.

Jill Sater,
Ogden, Utah

Jill Springer — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Jill Springer Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep quarterly accounting! It keeps everyone accountable.

Sent from my iPhone

Jillian Hernandez — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jillian Hernandez Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 The “savings” aren’t worth the risk! Stop playing with our lives. Saving for retirement/ investing my money as a barista is hard enough. If anything disclosure should be more robust and more frequent.

Jillian Sweetland Lewis — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Jillian Sweetland Lewis Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Myname is Jillian Lewis and I am a solo mom working hard in Norfolk, Virginia to provide for my son since my husband died. With the very real possibility that social security won't be around when I'm of age to collect, I NEED my 403-b and Roth to be able to provide for me. The possibility of you changing the game to give billion dollar corporation the ability to screw me and everyone like me makes me sick. Look out for the American people! I've worked non profit jobs for almost 15 years now- I'm not trying to be rich, just trying to make sure I don't end up homeless in my golden years. Don't screw us up over paperwork.

Get Outlook for Android

Jim — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jim Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 It's ludicrous that these companies are trying to operate clandestinely. This kind of behavior should not be permitted.

Jim — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Jim Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please keep quarterly reports mandatory! We all saw the abuse without them!

Jim — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Jim Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please keep this quarterly.

Jim Bloxsom

Jim And Gina Thompson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jim And Gina Thompson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Retain quarterly reporting.

Sent from my iPhone

Jim Day — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jim Day Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This is a bad idea for investors. Too much power for big business. Vote no!

Regards,

Jim Day

301/908-4388 c
jim@asm-dmv.com
www.asm-dmv.com
Please use our dedicated e-mail addresses:
quotes@asm-dmv.com orders@asm-dmv.com info@asm-dmv.com

Jim Ellis — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jim Ellis Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 If anything more supervision is needed. A higher level of security is needed, not less. The American taxpayers are being taken advantage of by the wealthy more every day. Inadequate over site and enforcement only leaves the door open for even more illegal activities. Stay the course….

Thank-you,

Jim Ellis
37 Brody Lane
Hudson, NH 03051-4559
781 910 5156

Jim Harrington — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jim Harrington Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This cannot be allowed! There is enough fraud occurring right now and this will only enable more and reduce accountability. A few will profit if this is allowed and won't create a level playing field. This cannot be allowed.

Jim Heider — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jim Heider Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep quarterly reports

Sent from my iPhone

Jim Hime — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Jim Hime Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I am for quarterly reporting. Any less can be a significant threat to the public. My thought is that government should protect the people and its investors, not corporations.

I find it shameful that there is a thought of any less reporting do that the public and investors can act quickly.

Jim Hime
PO Box 1690
Dickinson, Texas 77539

Jim Johnson — Jun 18, 2026

Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jim Johnson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reports should be keep. It is the shareholder's company. Most of the companies I have worked for or consulted with budget and report quarterly anyway. This is not some big burden. You are already reporting to the banks if you have a line of credit. There is no reasonable reason to not report quarterly. It would never pass a shareholder vote. The only reason to not report quarterly is if you are up to no good. James Johnson Retired IBM Global Business Solutions

---

Jim Johnson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jim Johnson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the current reporting criteria.

Jim M — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jim M Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Monthly would be far more up to date

---

Jim Marek — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jim Marek Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the quarterly reporting standard. History shows corruption runs rampant when companies can do as they please. It isn't just the corporate business organizations, it is the accounting firms & legal firms that need to insure quarterly reports to stop fraud and financial abuse. Mr. James H. Marek, Jr.

Jim McCaffree — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jim McCaffree Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 It’s horrible. This just gives more cover to crooks.

Sent from my iPhone

Jim McWeeney — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jim McWeeney Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 You need quarterly reporting to keep everything in check. 6 months is too long and a lot can go wrong in that period. Why change something that’s working?

Jim

Jim Milstead — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jim Milstead Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We need transparency in all companies this is bad change

Jim Milstead

Sent from my iPhone

Jim Mutti — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jim Mutti Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I support the SEC requiring public companies to report earnings every 3 months. This is by no way too big of a burden with the advancement of computing technology and makes no sense to move to 6 month.

Loyal tax paying citizen,

James Mutti.

Sent from my iPhone

Jim Senft — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Jim Senft This should not be implemented. Quarterly reporting protects individual investors. More information is better than less information. This is a move in the wrong direction.

Jim Weber — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Jim Weber Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My name is Jim Weber and I am against lowering the report verification to 2 times a year, rather than 4.

Honesty is expected, but required statements are a guarantee that fair practice prevails.

Jim Weber — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Jim Weber Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My name is Jim Weber and I am against lowering the report verification to 2 times a year, rather than 4.

Jim Weber — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Jim Weber Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My name is Jim Weber and I am against lowering the report verification to 2 times a year, rather than 4.

-- Jim --

---

jim whitmore — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: jim whitmore Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 James Whitmore, software engineer. Quarterly reporting is essential to keeping abreast of my portfolio and ensuring those that manage it are being responsive to changing conditions. Personally, I think monthly would be a better frequency.

You should be asking yourselves, "What is better for these firms investors?" Not "What is best for the investment firms."

Get BlueMail for Mobile

Jim Woltkamp — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jim Woltkamp Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the reporting 4 times a year please.

---

jimmbo443 — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: jimmbo443 Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Just explain why it needs to change! it works fine now leave it alone .

Jimmy Barnett — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jimmy Barnett Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I'm a retiree who depends on my financial advisor to manage my stock investments and he can't do that unless he can see what the financials are for the companies I'm invested in. This will only help company insider trading. This screws the public investor. The SEC SHOULD REJECT THIS PROPOSAL AND KEEP IT QUARTERLY. Jimmy and Heide Barnett of Austin Texas.

Sent from my iPhone

---

jimmy blissitte — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: jimmy blissitte Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 There is no reason to change the ruling on the quarterly reporting. This keeps everyone on the up and up. We don't need to give anyone the opportunity to start falsifying reports or covering up any underhanded type of business dealing.

JIMMY SHAFER — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: JIMMY SHAFER Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 It needs to remain quarterly! Jim Shafer, Utility operator, middle class investors will be at a distinct disadvantage with much less information than insiders and the elite.

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Jiovanni Torres — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Jiovanni Torres Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
A reduction of reporting is counter intuitive of the technological leaps that are coming soon. With use of AI, data reporting will be quicker and easier. Changing reporting to every 6 months makes no sense when you would expect the efficiency of rapid collection and relay of data. If anything there should be a reduction in quarterly reports to bi-monthly or even monthly. There is only argument for a reduction in timing creating an increase in reporting. Not a reduction of reporting and decrease in timing. Please remove this change to semi-annual reporting. It's counter progressive.

---

jiyoung carolyn park — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: jiyoung carolyn park Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I oppose ending quarterly reporting. Anymore grift in the cover of darkness, and no one will do business in this country.

Carolyn Park

---

jloretta1 — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: jloretta1 Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Make it monthly!! Companies are already skimming the top as it is.

Sent via the Samsung Galaxy S24, an AT&T 5G smartphone

JM Kropa — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: JM Kropa Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I am in favor of keeping quarterly reporting.how else will we, the investors, have a grasp of what is happening?
Jm Kropa

---

jmack — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: jmack Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Absolutely not! We must be transparent with investors. This situation is a clear case of fraud and deception.

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

JMW Ray — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: JMW Ray Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My name is Jean Marie Woods-Ray. I am a teacher. It matters because businesses need to be regulated. They need to be honest and they are not going to be held to the same account if there is less oversight.

Jean-Marie Woods-Ray
Sent from my iPhone

Jo Ann Coulter-Wientjes — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jo Ann Coulter-Wientjes Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Maintain quarterly reporting, choosing to go to semi annual reporting only benefits companies. The public needs & has a right to know what public companies are doing financially. Don't make it easier to hide wrong doing.

Thank you,
Jo Ann Coulter-Wientjes
Retired Budget Analyst

Jo Ann Johnson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Jo Ann Johnson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Enough is enough! The greed is unreal but there has to be an end to it all. No going back to the 50's! Do something to help us survive 2026 and on!

Jo Ann Johnson, retired in Michigan.

Jo Ann Miller — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Jo Ann Miller Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the information on investment as it is! No change!

To the Securities and Exchange Commission:

Jo Anne Mitzen — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jo Anne Mitzen Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep quarterly reports. Switching to every 6 months is a red flag that needs investigation. Big business is flexing muscle over every day Americans. Transparency is expected, gaslighting is not.
Jo Anne Mitzen
Jim Thorpe, PA

Jo Bader — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Jo Bader Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Full transparency is expected!

Jo Carr — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jo Carr Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 The economy is crappy enough. Please don't make my investments harder to track. Keep the quarterly reporting.

JO HALSTEAD — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: JO HALSTEAD Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Do not reduce the reporting time. Small investors need quarterly reports to adjust their investments for better returns. It is important to always know where you stand with your investment and quarterly reports make that happen. Please do not reduce reporting times. Please.

Sent from my iPhone

Jo Hutson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jo Hutson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the quarterly! There is too much fraud and grift!

Joan Billman — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Joan Billman Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reports mean transparency. Do not change.

Joan Brimstein — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Joan Brimstein Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Joan R Brimstein RN This is totally unexceptable. This can hurt the American people. I am not a wealthy person and cannot afford to be left in the dark. I will be spreading the word

---

Joan Cichon — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Joan Cichon Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Knowledge is power Quarterly reporting is better than allowing corporations to hide financial information from consumers. Keep these companies accountable to the market.

Joan Cichon
434.939.7043

Tucson, AZ 85712

"New beginnings are often disguised as painful endings." — Lao Tzu.

Joan Foster — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Joan Foster Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
The SEC law was from semi-annual to quarterly reporting in 1970 due to the presence of fraud. Less transparency turns into more fraud, unfortunately. The SEC proposal is bad for investors.

Joan Hemenway Joan Hemenway — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Joan Hemenway Joan Hemenway Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
I believe it i

Joan McCarron — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Joan McCarron Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Wealth should not protect criminal behavior

---

Joan Michel — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Joan Michel Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 No! Keep the requirements at four times a year! Making it fewer will NOT serve the best interest of the consumers of the U.S! We need to make the CEO class more accountable, not less! This will do nothing but encourage corruption and collusion! Please DO NOT change to two reports a year, it would be a disaster for the public!
Joan Michel,
citizen of the US

Sent from my iPad

Joan Owens — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Joan Owens Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 There is no reason to take away the quarterly CEO signage unless you are anticipating fraudulent bookkeeping.

Sent from my iPhone
Joan L Owens

Joan Richards — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Joan Richards Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:

knowledge is power. Send the quarterly reports.

Joan Stevens — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Joan Stevens Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 It must remain quarterly. Longer gaps in reporting could affect delays in decision making. SOX rules are to ensure compliance and quarterly ensures that.

Regards,

Joan H. Stevens

Joan Wake — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Joan Wake Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Let's not forget what history has taught us about inadequate reporting. Maintaining the current schedule.

Sent from my iPhone

Joanie Singer — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Joanie Singer Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep it transparent. Every 3 months!!

Sent from my iPhone

---

joann bagwell — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: joann bagwell Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 There must continue to be signed quarterly reports to show millions of us Americans that CEOs are reminded of their responsibility to us shareholders at least those four times a year

Sent from my iPhone

Joann Knowles — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Joann Knowles Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please. How can we manage our finances in the dark?

Sent from my iPhone

Joann Willis — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Joann Willis Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I do not agree with this. People need information that is on time, and correct.

Joanna Britton — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Joanna Britton Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 As an independent investor, I heavily rely on quarterly reports. I feel by not reporting something is being hidden. I'll lose faith and control over my investments.

Joanna Kaye — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Joanna Kaye Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Corporations that have more than enough money need to keep their books open to the public. Enough corporate greed. There's no place in our world for it. Their wealth benefits no one, especially those who are in desperate need.

Joanna Kucharczyk
Mobile: 239-246-6156

Joanna Litchfield — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Joanna Litchfield Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Absolutely NO

Sent from my T-Mobile 5G Device
Get Outlook for Android

Joanne Collens — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Joanne Collens Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Read the laws of the land. One is supposed to share their wealth.

Sent from my iPhone

Joanne Flynt — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Joanne Flynt Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Joanne Flynt, retired. The quarterly reporting matters to me because America has tired this before and it failed terribly for the average American. We should learn from our past mistakes to protect all the people in America not just the upper 10%. Quarterly reporting has kept crime and corruption down. Most people do remember the stock market crashes of 1973-74, 1987 Black Monday, 2000.com bubble and the 2008 financial crisis. Anyone that lost most of there saving remember. My parents were babies of the great depression and they always had a hard time getting their footing in life. Nobody wants to relive any of these instances. I myself was never fortunate enough to have an adequate savings for retirement. The little I have I don’t want to lose because we change the rules. Remember history does repeat itself.

Joanne Lee — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Joanne Lee Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Joanne Lee. Retired. Another way to help the wealthy and not think about the others. Will this BS ever stop?

Sent from my iPhone

Joanne Loktu — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Joanne Loktu Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep things quarterly. It helps investors to understand if changes are taking place that they may or may not be happy about. And the cost to corporations in minimal.

Sent from my iPhone

JoAnne Lusk — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: JoAnne Lusk Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission,
Keep investing more transparent, not less. Investment for us is already difficult for most, don't make us less able to invest based on accurate information.

Joanne Mazzeo — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Joanne Mazzeo Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 The law is the law! No one is above the law and consequences must be paid by criminals who break it!

Sent from my iPhone

Joanne McCabe — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Joanne McCabe Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please, PLEASE do NOT change to semiannual reporting! There is too much volatility in the market and investors need to and have the right to KNOW what and how each company is doing. It is also very important that the SEC does not join other agencies, like the CDC, the DOJ and Dept. of Education, which have lost their credibility with the public. I strongly believe this would happen if you lengthen the time between reports.

An Individual investor.

Joanne McCabe
Sent from my iPad

Joanne Nohava — Jun 18, 2026

Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Joanne Nohava Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We tried this before. That was the reason quarterly reporting was instituted.
A bad policy doesn't get better over time.

Joanne P — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Joanne P Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the records transparent. Dont endorse cheating

---

Joannie Zacharias — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Joannie Zacharias Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I am writing to strongly recommend that you keep our corporations accountable on a quarterly basis. This is not imposing difficult demands on them and will hopefully keep them accountable and honest.
Thank you,
Joan Zacharias
N61W28908 Parkside Place
Hartland, WI

Sent from my iPhone

Jocelyn Aaron — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Jocelyn Aaron This administration proposes to be the most transparent ever. The proposed SEC reporting rules do NOT support that assertion. Please don't roll back reporting rules, as it only makes it easier for corporations to hide money or to Garner investments in projects unworthy of financing. This will directly hurt middle America, as we endeavor to support our national economy through stock purchases and fund our own retirements so we don't have to rely completely on government largesse.

Jodilorenzo — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Jodilorenzo Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Joanne DiLorenzo. I’m a landscape architect. I support keeping the quarterly CEO required signature to deter potential cheating and fraud on the part of our corporate leaders. Past actions have proven CEOs need to be held personally liable for abuse of our laws.

Sent from my iPhone

---

jody burch — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: jody burch Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is an important tool for investment planning. It facilitates transparency, lessens the window wherein investors lose money due to corporate fraud, bankruptcy, lawsuits and unsavory business practices. Too many variables can happen in a 6 month time frame. Accurate and timely filing of Quarterly reports keeps investors informed and allows equal investment opportunities.
In a perfect world monthly reporting would be the optimal option.

Joe Chasse — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Joe Chasse Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I am a lowly artist, but still must keep books. WHAT THE HELL ARE YOU PEOPLE THINKING? If we must submit, at least keep it 1/4ly!

Joe Childress — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Joe Childress Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reports essential for retail investors. We don't have the time or connections to buy stocks without it. Please keep investing fair for everyone.

Joe Delap — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Joe Delap Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Joe Delap, university professor Quarterly reporting helps companies and their shareholders determine flexible and strategic decisions, from an operational and investment perspective. Those who seek to change this must explain how this need will continue to be met.

Sent from my iPhone

Joe fattorusso — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Joe fattorusso Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This has been one of the few deterrents to fraud and has been instrumental in expanding stock ownership. To cut it in half would have only the benefit of saving companies a small cost savings while creating a gap that is unnecessary. Please keep full safeguards in place. Joseph Fattorusso

---

Joe Hill — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Joe Hill Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Joe Hill , retired . Keep quarterly reports to help keep a closer eye on my money.

Joe Matarese — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Joe Matarese Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To whom it may concern: I want to see quarterly reports from all corporations. I live off of my savings and not knowing what is going on twice a year I could potentially loose my savings due to bad decisions made by the companies that invest in.
I know I have Social Security but that is not enough to live off of.
Please leave quarterly reporting. My life depends on it.

Best regards,

John J Matarese

Joe McMahon — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Joe McMahon Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To much damage will be done because these companies are not self governing and will cook the books!!

Sent from my Verizon, Samsung Galaxy smartphone
Get Outlook for Android

---

joe messinger — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: joe messinger Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quit selling out and end the corruption—do your fricking job to protect ‘we the people’ instead of kissing his ass—-you KNOW it’s wrong

---

Joe Miller — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Joe Miller Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reports give investors a better insight into a company. Only companies who are struggling would want to change the norm

Joe

Stop and Smell the roses

JOE OESTREICH — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: JOE OESTREICH Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 our country is getting destroyed with trump and the supreme court in command.
More money and control for the rich is the objective

Sent from my iPhone

Joe Seraphin — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Joe Seraphin Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 should be daily or weekly reporting

---

Joe Songer — Jun 18, 2026

Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Joe Songer Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Joe Songer, retired. I saved my entire life and invest my hard earned money in American companies. Keep the reporting quarterly, Stix months is too * long. Too much time for insiders to benefit while we get left holding the bag. Actually, change it to monthly.

---

joe therrell — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: joe therrell Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Stop the loopholes for inside trading.

Sent from my iPhone

Joe's Yahoo — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Joe's Yahoo Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Pay more get less

Sent from my iPhone

Joel Andre — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Joel Andre Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
I implore the SEC to not drop quarterly reporting on corporate stock and earnings in the interest of financial transparency for investors and shareholders. The lengthening of the reporting period is unfavorable to financial transparency and investors deserve to stay apprised of the company workings and financial conditions. Lengthening this period to 6 months will serve to further destabilize the US investment market at a critical time where integrity has become a greater issue in corporate accountability.
This is clearly the wrong direction to proceed in the long term and will hasten the downfall of US investment markets at a time when BRICS is already surging ahead due to questionable and out right bad policy decisions by the current administration of the federal government.

I implore you to not take this path for degrading the quality and integrity of US investment markets.

Joel Ashenhurst — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Joel Ashenhurst Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We need to see the books more often rather then less often

---

Joel Blumert — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Joel Blumert Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Just another building block in reinforcing the power of the corporatist.fascist state. One more obscenity in empowering the oligarchy.

JoEllen Barnett — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: JoEllen Barnett Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is an essential part of our financial freedom in the USA. Less transparency will open doors to greater fraud.

Joellen Hanna — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Joellen Hanna Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I would like to lobby for quarterly reporting to REMAIN. As a retired person, being able to adjust investments timely is essential. A delay in crucial information could be a financial disaster.

Johann Gregory — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Johann Gregory Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I agree with Warren Buffet… “I like getting the figures quarterly, and I hope that stays.”
WARREN BUFFETT · CHAIRMAN & CEO OF BERKSHIRE HATHAWAY, SPEAKING TO CNBC, 2018.

Sent from my iPhone

Johann Hollar — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Johann Hollar Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Sick of you scum kowtowing to Trump and other members of the Epstein Class

---

John — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: John Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Attention SEC Chairman,

You must keep Quarterly Earnings Reports on every company listed on Wall Street.
You cannot remove Quarterly Earnings Reports as investors would be in thr dark not knowing if a publicly traded stock company is failing and your investment would be at greater risk.

Please do not remove Quarterly Earnings Reports.

Thank you,

John Ambrosio

John — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: John Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My name is John Becker. I'm a Financial Manager, and maintaining quarterly reporting is of paramount importance to me because it keeps companies more honest. There's no need to change such a longstanding tradition, as less frequent reporting would erode trust in expected company financial reporting at all levels, including the financial markets. Please keep things as is!

John A. Camarillo — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: John A. Camarillo Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This is BS, this would just allow FRAUD to hide behind some legal shadow.

John Anderson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: John Anderson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I have self directed brokerage accounts. I need the extra information to help me make good choices on my stocks. This proposal cuts my information pipeline for no good reason.

Sent from my iPad

John Arnold — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: John Arnold Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep recording quarterly please

---

John B Stotts — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: John B Stotts Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We need to know where these companies are headed! Quarterly keeps everyone honest….including the Elected government officials ..

Get Outlook for iOS

John Baumgartner — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: John Baumgartner Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 10-Q is essential. DO NOT CHANGE THIS

John Baumgartner
Walker & Willis LLC

802-558-5951

PO Box 404
Castleton VT 05735-0404
walkerandwillisinc.com

John Bourret — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: John Bourret Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 John Bourret, manager at local government, retail investor. Please Do Not change the quarterly reporting requirements, this would be a disservice to the retail investors who relay on quarterly reporting to see behind the curtain.

---

john bueche — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: john bueche Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Investors deserve to have facts in a timely manner...this proposal cripples individual investors ability to have timely information on company performance. Why would you do this?

Sent from my iPad

John Cervantes — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: John Cervantes Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Let's keep them honest. Oh by the way why didn't you do anything about trump's constant and still ongoing insider trading?
jtcervantes1949@gmail.com

Sent from my iPhone

John Chaisson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: John Chaisson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 No absolutely not! Stay with quarterly. CEOs must be responsible for their companies as they are paid huge amounts of money to run them. They currently dont get to claim ignorance and quarterly filings protect the stockholders. Why would you take this way unless you are supporting lying and grifting!!! Protect the investors not the CEOs!!! Isn't there enough lying and grifting currently going on, don't add to it!!!

Sent from my iPhone

John Coffey — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: John Coffey Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is critical, especially right now. This will increase fraud and insider trading while reducing accountability of companies to investors. Reject this 6-month option.
Thank you,

John C.

John Cotter — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: John Cotter Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My name is John Cotter from Texas. I am an airline pilot with my entire retirement tied up in the market. Less reporting from corporations is just another way for them to obfuscate and hide shady practices. Keep the reporting quarterly, and keep the CEO on the hook if they lie. My retirement demands nothing less. Thank you.

John Cotter
440-915-5917
calpilot777@me.com

---

john decoteau — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: john decoteau Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Transparency is the reason the market survives at all, and why the sec is relevant, diminish the reporting and power erodes

---

John Fox — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: John Fox Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep it the way it is.

Second time!

John Fox
541-579-1263
john.raleigh.fox@gmail.com

Sent from my iPhone

John Godfrey — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: John Godfrey Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Stick with quarterly reporting. This is not the right way to do this.

Sent from my iPhone

JOHN GRIMANIS — Jun 18, 2026

Subject: S7-2026-15 From: JOHN GRIMANIS Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting needs to remain mandatory..no good jonest and reasonable business would want less..and shareholders are owed this minimum requirement.

John Grimanis
431 Easton Forest Cir SE, Palm Bay, FL 32909

John Gubbings — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: John Gubbings Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Any cutback in transparency means retail investors can be harmed w/o accountability.
John Gubbings, retired and an investor

John Hartley — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: John Hartley Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I need my quarterly reports. It's my money, my retirement. I deserve to be kept informed.

John Hartley

~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~
John D. Hartley, BFA, MEd, EdS
Senior Application Systems Analyst
ACES Canvas/Catalog LMS Admin.
ACES-Ag IT Department
Alabama Cooperative Extension System
267 Duncan Hall Annex
Auburn University, AL 36849
hartley@aces.edu
https://www.aces.edu/
(334) 844-9660 - (334) 444-0942 cell
~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~
https://www.linkedin.com/in/jdhartley/
~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~
National Extension Technology Community - https://www.netctech.org/

John Humbert — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: John Humbert Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 You know this is complete and utter doo-doo. With the advent of AI and other automation tools, it is easier and quicker to produce financial reports than ever before! What once took weeks, can now be done in hours.
~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~

Trust me, these large corporations know week to week what their financials look like. I know because, as a data engineer, I've built the processes and reports.

In fact, an argument could be made to INCREASE the reporting required to monthly for some companies. I don't know of a single large company that the C-level executives aren't already getting monthly reports. And this will continue regardless if SEC lapses to 6 month reporting or not.

All the 6 month public reporting does is give the companies more time to hide financial issues, perform stock manipulations, and other shady activities.

John Humbert
Data Engineer

John Humbert
jhumbert@softwareimagineering.net

John Julian — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: John Julian Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This is scheme to cover thieves in the making .

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

John Kokenes — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: John Kokenes Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting should be continued. Why is this even a question !?
John Kokenes
jkokenes@aol.com

John Kruciak — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: John Kruciak Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission: Keep the qtr reports. This keeps companies honest. Every 6 months is less transparent.How can a investor make a decision if companies hide behind the 6 months.A lot could change behind the scenes and we will never know until its too late.

John Lane — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: John Lane Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quartly reports are the most transparent method of finding out who is manipulating your stock market

Sent from my iPad

John Lee — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: John Lee Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 It should be filed quarterly to keep people aware. In a half a years time, corruption could take place, people gone and the public could be left holding the bag.
John Lee, retired, Portland, Oregon

Sent from my iPad

---

john lewandowski — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: john lewandowski Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This is a cop-out. There is no reason to do away with quarterly reports. Integrity and accountability are everything. This is just a free pass of the Ken Lays of the world.

Sent from my T-Mobile 5G Device
Get Outlook for Android

John Livesay — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: John Livesay Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 How well I remember the horrors and the economic results that the economic downturn of 2008 caused. Jobs got scarce, 400 trucking companies were forced out of business! I had to find another job because the trucking company that I worked for that leased CDL drivers to companies for short periods of time stopped calling me because of no work and I was forced to take an hourly grocery store job to try to survive. The loss of my trucking job cost me my marriage. The economic down turn came with no warning to the average worker and I still have not recovered from it after all these years. So please keep the quarterly reporting because we need to keep a vigilant watch on the horizon to alert us to enable us to watch the markets so we can somehow brace and prepare for such a tidal wave devistation on the horizon; and keeping quarterly reporting will allow more frequent insight so as to prepare and try to avoid such devistation as the wake resulting from the 2008 economic downturn caused because we are all affected. Sincerely John A. Livesay Sr. Retired over-the-road tractor-trailer driver.

John Longaecker — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: John Longaecker Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Throughout the history of the American Economy, since the 1770's, less government oversight has always led to less information for investors and more manipulation by insiders, Congress members and the immoral criminals of Wall Street. Let's keep the quarterly 's

John

John P. Longaecker
612-205-3191
johnlongaecker@gmail.com

John Madden — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: John Madden Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I would much rather have it even more times per year than that. But I sure as heck don’t want to lose my quarterly reports at all. Keep those quarterly reports coming! Don’t deny me my rights to make good decisions for myself and my family.

Get Outlook for iOS

John Mims — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: John Mims Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 REPORT MONTHLY !!!!

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

John Moore — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: John Moore Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the current system as it is today; unless you commission members wish to be personally individually responsible to share holders for 100% of their losses.

Sent from jmoorekc@att.net

John Morgan — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: John Morgan Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Greetings , we’ve had enough opportunity for corruption already . they have proven they will take advantage of this loophole and unless your intent is to provide them another loophole, (which brings to mind your own level of honesty) then you will NOT allow this change ... John Morgan Retired American Citizen

---

John Olmos — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: John Olmos Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Don't crash the market. Leave it alone

---

john ortmann — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: john ortmann Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Do not change the reporting standards. The people deserve more transparency.

Get Outlook for iOS

John Pierce — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: John Pierce Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 KEEP IT QUARTERLY!!!!!!

John Pigaga — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: John Pigaga Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly works! Helps reduce insider trading too!

Sent from my iPhone

John Pinte — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: John Pinte My name is John ponte. I am a retail investor nearing my retirement age. I rely on quartly corporate reports to help make decisions regarding which companies to invest my family's retirement funds with. Quarterly financial reports are vital for myself and millions of other investors to make informed investment decisions. Limiting financial requirements to semi-annual reporting severely limits our ability to make informed, timely financial decisions. On the SEC website it states the SEC was created to quote "Founded to help our country respond to the Great Depression, we’re the agency that protects investors from misconduct, promotes fairness & efficiency in the securities markets, and facilitates capital formation for those looking to hire, innovate, and grow". This proposed reporting change would do the opposite of your stated charter. It would allow companies to delay reporting business downturns, earnings shortfalls, legal issues, mismanagement and fraud, just to name a few possibilities that investors need to be informed of. I ask that you do not approve the reporting changes proposed in S7-2026-15. Thank you.

---

john pollock — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: john pollock Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 If this was the case, money would flow out of the stock market. Just another crash. Full disclosure should never be taken away. John Pollock Construction inspector Communications sector

---

John Porter — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: John Porter Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 John E. Porter As a retire CFO of a public company I understand the work that goes into filing on a quarterly basis. As a retiree with a portfolio of common stocks I also understand the importance of timely financial information on the companies I invest in. If the SEC approves a change from quarterly reporting to semiannual reporting the information I need becomes out of date and increases the risk to my investment portfolio. Please consider the damage this change can make to millions of investors.

John Pupparo — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: John Pupparo Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Not only do I want it to change I want open books to the public period. No more lies no more secrets. Do not allow this 6 month reporting change.

John Robertson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: John Robertson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:

A lot can change in 180 days. The current 90 day structure is good because it is a more frequent snapshot of how the conpany is changing.

---

john rodriguez — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: john rodriguez Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Put the flock camera on them every day!!! 24/7 !!!

Sent from my iPhone

John Sackman — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: John Sackman Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 John Sackman, parts associate, this proposition matters to me as this will further insider trading and will allow those who make the laws and those who trade in the laws to further keep insider training for their conglomerate companies, while keeping normal everyday citizens out of the the investments. Stocks control company's and without the choice of who is allowed to see the quarterly results of a company, it limits who is allowed to trade them. Thus limiting the choice of what companies should stay in business and which of them should go bankrupt.

John Scharff — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: John Scharff Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Prevent abuse by keeping it transparent. Continue quarterly reports.
J. Scharff - Livingston Manor NY

John Scott — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: John Scott Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting must remain the minimum. With technological advances, tracking and compiling the data should be extremely simple.

Please excuse typos. Email sent from Cell.

Thanks,

John Stelmack

John Sellitti — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: John Sellitti Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 No we need quarterly reporting otherwise most will dump the stock market after massive losses.

John Spear — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: John Spear Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To get rid of quarterly reporting will create greater volatility and unstable pricing in the market due to its liquidity. Also will give insiders a greater advantage to use their inside knowledge to further their own interests. You must keep the quarterly reporting requirements.

Thank you for allowing me to express my opinion.

John Speropoulos

Get Outlook for Android

John Spitznagel — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: John Spitznagel Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I am a small business owner. This proposal is another poorly conceived idea that will do nothing to help the public. Public corporations have an obligation to be open about their financial dealings. Anything less will be used to defraud our country. Please reject the proposal and require reporting to remain quarterly.

Jack Spitznagel DDS PhD
Science River LLC
Biomedical Consulting Services

John steady — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: John steady All investors should be on a level playing field.

John Steele — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: John Steele Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
I do not support moving from quarterly reviews and reports to semi-annual reviews and reports by companies. Our country and economy are already saturated with inside deals, private conversations, and protections for those at the top. Halving their accountability will only worsen that and hurt the rest of us, history has already shown us that.

Please do not move from the quarterly standard we currently have.
-John Steele

John Stetson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: John Stetson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 You can't do this, Trump's already playing with the numbers, it's getting so no one knows what is real, or fake? Keep it Quarterly?!!!

John p Stetson

John Suttles — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: John Suttles Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Only White Collar Criminals (WCC) would entertain such a foolish recommendation! It's a recipe for the destruction of the asset base of every investment and retirement account in existence! Please don't hasten the destruction of American markets!

John Suttles
Bandera Texas
Retired Engineer

John Taylor — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: John Taylor Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 It is unimaginable that the practice of quarterly reporting is reduced. If anything. With AI tools reporting requirements should be made more frequent!

John Taylor
Founder, Supply Chain Intelligence, LLC

Get Outlook for Android

John Tofany — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: John Tofany Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep it as is keep it as is

---

JOHN VREEKE — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: JOHN VREEKE Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This rule came into effect because of malfeasance, keeping it in effect is for the public good

---

John Walsh — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: John Walsh Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 It is absolutely necessary for a healthy economy and any semblance of integrity in our government to maintain at least the status quo regarding public company financial reporting requirements and timelines. It is opening a door to what is theft by the companies and the insiders to take money from the public knowing that there are material changes to a company's fiscal health. This could destroy the stock market if enough people understand this reality should the 10q be eliminated. How can I trust any company to make decisions that should be taken with every investor's interest in mind when they have no incentive to do so. I see a major downward spiral happening here. No trust, no investment. This administration has already done way too much to hurt our standing in the world that it is already likely the US dollar will not be the world's currency in the not too distant future. The run on our treasuries/debt calls will cripple almost all of us. The ones not likely affected? Those who cashed out on the last thread of profit in their companies. Someday maybe the Everyman won't be the bad guy; it will properly shift to the profiteer and unethical people amongst the business leaders of the country.

John Walsh
801-209-7279
Sent from my iPhone

John Watson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: John Watson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Because CEOs are allowed to have stock options as part of their compensation package, they need to be held more accountable. They could very easily hide fraud by hiding it in the quarterly's that they themselves do not sign. If you think they would not do this please rest assured they will.

John William Meranda — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: John William Meranda Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the quarterly reporting

Get Outlook for iOS

John Wood — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: John Wood Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Stop it , we know what you're doing. Husband are getting a divorce not the time to get any deeper into making corruption easier

---

John Yelcick — Jun 18, 2026

Subject: S7-2026-15 From: John Yelcick Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To whom it may concern:

This change is unacceptable, and represents the corruption that the Trump administration has done to everything it touches. CEO's must be held accountable with consistent, regular reporting. Greed is NOT good. Enron hurt countless numbers of people from customers to shareholders. NEVER AGAIN.

Sincerely,

John Yelcick, MD

---

johngerri — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: johngerri Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 No way!

Sent from my Galaxy

Johnny & Adrianne Womack — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Johnny & Adrianne Womack Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I strongly oppose any proposed changes that would extend the stock holding period from quarterly to six months for any stocks. Maintaining the current quarterly requirement is essential for market stability and investor confidence.
If such a change is implemented, I believe many investors will be encouraged to pull their money out of the market, which could have a negative impact on overall liquidity and investor trust.
I urge the SEC to keep the existing regulations unchanged and not move forward with a six-month holding period for stocks.
Thank you for your attention. This has made think may I should invest in over seas companies.
Marie D. Very small investor who knows plenty of small investors

Adrianne & Johnny Womack
phone: 8132964209/2107752699

"Never be limited by other people's limited imaginations." – Dr. Mae Jemison

---

Johnny Kirk — Jun 18, 2026

Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Johnny Kirk Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Lol

---

Johnny Proctor — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Johnny Proctor Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Companies should be reporting MORE often, not LESS often...this is just going to let more companies rip us off with false reporting and insider trading! 😡

John_a_wiii — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: John_a_wiii Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 As a small investor who has invested long-term for retirement and security, timely verifiable news is crucial to me. Requiring quarterly reports should continue to reduce the likelihood for fraud and to protect my ability to have timely information regarding companies I am invested in or may decide to invest in. Thank you. John Williams Sent with Proton Mail secure email.

Jolee Fanton — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Jolee Fanton Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 KERP THE REPORTING QUARTERLY. NEXT YOULL WANT TO NOT REPORT AT ALL. YOU EXTORT OUR MONEY IN STOCKS BY FEES TO MAKE YOUR BROKERS RICH .....LET US TRADE ON THE STOCK MARKET WITHOUT 25 GRAND TO BUY APPROVAL. JOLEE FANTON

Jolee Isham — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jolee Isham Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 It is vital for investors to receive quarterly reports instead of the twice yearly proposal. There are no valid justifications to move to twice yearly reporting. I will not support this power play that will limit information available to investors or the possibility of fraudulent activity.
K. Jolee Isham, Retired Medical Administrator, Investor

Sent from my iPhone

Jolene Horihan — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Jolene Horihan Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To whom it may concern,

It has been proven that quarterly reporting has benefitted our economy over many decades. Removing the transparency we have been afforded for nearly half a century will only strip the growth we have built by making informed decisions about the market. The savings of the American citizens will be decimated and will inevitably cause a total market crash. This type of vulnerability could lead to foreign take over and set the U.S. and its citizens up for long term failure. I greatly urge you to maintain market transparency by keeping quarterly reporting in place.

Thank you,

Jolene Horihan, Medical Imaging Technologist, Omaha, NE.

Sent from my Verizon, Samsung Galaxy smartphone
Get Outlook for Android

Jolyn Wells-Moran — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jolyn Wells-Moran Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting protects us, the investors. I'm retired, but know that this matters because I live on my investment portfolio as many retirees do.

Jolyn Wells-Moran

Jon Klinski — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jon Klinski Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Six months is way too long! We need quarterly reports always been like that always should be 6 months is too long!!!

jonathan klinski

---

jon ripple — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: jon ripple Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 The SEC is currently turning a blind eye on big CEO's already. Musk becomes the world's richest person on taxpayer dollars with a company worth 670 billion. Trump and his family & friends are doing the same. Let's not make it easier to lie, cheat & steal!

Jon T. — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jon T. Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I believe the present rule should be kept.

Jonathan Draudt — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Jonathan Draudt Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Yes, keeping it quarterly is a good way to keep accountability. It's hardly a difficulty when considering the consequences to the country.

Sincerely,
Jonathan Draudt
Warren, VT

Sent from my iPhone

Jonathan Pugh — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Jonathan Pugh Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Jonathan Pugh, IT Director. Lockport, Illinois Accountability matters. Please don't weaken the rules that protect retail investors investments. So many retirements depend on fraud being stopped.

Sent from my iPhone

---

jonathan rich — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: jonathan rich Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Jon Rich GP Partner Memphis, Tennessee Terrible idea and very unfair to the individual investors. Big companies already have an edge on everyday people. Don't allow this.

Jon Rich CAP® FCEP J&J Rich GP-Managing Partner 901.379.4644 rich.jonathan1965@gmail.com jrichgp@gmail.com linkedin.com/in/jonathanarich

---

Jonathan Smith — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Jonathan Smith Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Qtrly reporting is not only necessary to keep investors informed but a benefit to the corporations by instilling financial discipline. There is no valid reason to change the long standing and beneficial practice

Sent from my iPhone

Joni Cermak — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Joni Cermak Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We deserve to know what's going on in public companies. There is people’s hard earned money at stake. We need to hold them accountable. Don’t go backwards!

Sent from my iPhone

Joni Ostergaard — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Joni Ostergaard Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 As an investor, I rely on quarterly reporting for good data. Please do not authorize semi-annual reporting.

JonMarsha Hribal — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: JonMarsha Hribal Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the quarterly reporting. Eliminating 50% of required reporting is a disadvantage to current and potential shareholders.
Marsha L. Hribal
Scottdale, PA

Jordan Fletcher — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jordan Fletcher Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 If they want to change the amount of time they will be releasing information. It's time to switch to monthly reports. Clearly they have had to much time on their hands.

Jorge Alves — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jorge Alves Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 There is zero reason to go from quarterly to semi annual reporting. This is removing transparency with financials creating more investor risk. In reality the earning should be monthly. You want people investing in companies then we should have all the financials monthly. People running these companies have access to the financials daily.

Thank you,
Jorge Alves

Sent from my iPhone

Jorge Salazar — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jorge Salazar Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Why do we even have to comment on this?

The public needs this information to make proper decisions about their investments and to see the health of the companies they track.

Jorge Salazar

Jory Wilke — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jory Wilke Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I like to know what's happening in the market! At least quarterly! It's my livelihood post retirement!

Sent from Gmail Mobile

Jose Colucci — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Jose Colucci Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the quarterly reporting requirement!

Pardon my typos and brevity. Sent from my iPhone.

Jose Queijo — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Jose Queijo Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We've seen what happens with less transparency: in crypto (Sam Altman), in markets like China (Lukin Coffee), and here in the US before. Investors and executives are smart enough to be able to understand and manage trade-offs between short term goals and long term ones. I am 100% against reducing transparency in public markets, which mostly plays against small retail investors.

Joseph Beaulieu — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Joseph Beaulieu Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Joe Beaulieu - Retired. Please work for the American people as hard as you simp for the billionaires.

Joseph Britt — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Joseph Britt Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
This greatest country in the world was built by men who were trying to get government out of our business. So through many trials & tribulations & many horrible deaths after & during trip here they went on to establish what is now again the greatest country in the world of the people, by the people ,& FOR the people.ty

---

JOSEPH DEFRANCISCO — Jun 18, 2026

Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: JOSEPH DEFRANCISCO Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please keep the quarterly reporting, it is important for the security I, thank you

---

Joseph Dilger — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Joseph Dilger Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Why would you not think this will lead to more fraud and corporate theft?

Joseph T. Dilger

Joseph Girlardo — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Joseph Girlardo Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission: As a retired individual, I depend on current accurate financial information from the Federal Government. Much of the information that is released is inaccurate and not timely. Corrections are common. If SEC changes reporting to semi-annual reporting, the actual information lag could be detrimental to individual investors that depend on investments in retirement. There is no reason why information is not computer generated, and released in a timely manner!

Joseph Horn — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Joseph Horn Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 No, keep the transparency

---

Joseph L Muselevichus — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Joseph L Muselevichus Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 That facilitates financial irresponsibility & makes fraud easier to commit. Who in their right mind would invest with 6 month old information on hand?

Sent from my Verizon, Samsung Galaxy smartphone
Get Outlook for Android

Joseph Miller — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Joseph Miller Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Businesses must continue their traditional practice of reporting quarterly. This SEC policy, if enacted would render the playing field even less equal than it is currently.

Sent from my iPhone

Joseph Modugno — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Joseph Modugno Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Don't change a thing. Investors or prospective investors will be hurt by this proposal. We need even MORE transparency from companies, not less.

Joseph Zeman — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Joseph Zeman Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Rhonda Zeman, RETIRED Need I say more?

Sent from my iPhone

Joser Komor — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Joser Komor Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is a must to keep up trust in the market and itself. I have a decent amount of stock and will move it to safer investments if needed.Dennis Kooren business owner with decent stock investment.

Dennis Kooren

Josh — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Josh Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I am writing to voice my opposition to the proposed change allowing public companies to move from quarterly reporting to semiannual reporting.

Transparent and timely financial disclosure is not merely a convenience for investors; it is part of the public infrastructure that makes fair markets possible. Quarterly reporting helps ensure that ordinary investors, retirement savers, journalists, analysts, employees, and the broader public have regular access to information about the financial condition and risks of publicly traded companies.

Moving to six-month reporting would create a much longer period in which important developments could remain hidden from the public. A great deal can change inside a company in half a year: debt levels, customer demand, litigation exposure, cash flow, leadership decisions, product failures, operational problems, and other material risks. When that information is not disclosed regularly, the advantage shifts toward insiders and sophisticated market participants who may have access to alternative data, private networks, or management access that ordinary investors do not.

The SEC's mission includes protecting investors and maintaining fair, orderly, and efficient markets. Reducing the frequency of required public reporting would work against that mission. Markets function best when material information is widely and regularly available, not when the public is asked to wait longer while better-connected parties may already have a clearer picture.

I understand the concern that quarterly reporting can contribute to short-term thinking, but reducing transparency is the wrong remedy. If corporate short-termism is a problem, it should be addressed through executive compensation structures, board incentives, governance practices, and investor communication — not by withholding information from the public for longer periods.

Even if semiannual reporting is presented as optional, the practical result could still be a broad decline in disclosure standards. Once some companies adopt less frequent reporting, others may feel pressure to follow, and investors could gradually lose access to information that has long been central to public market accountability.

The savings to companies from fewer public filings do not justify the loss of transparency for ordinary investors and the public. Public companies receive the benefits of access to public capital markets. In return, they should maintain a strong obligation to provide timely, regular, and reliable public information.

For these reasons, I urge the Commission to preserve quarterly reporting requirements and reject the proposed move toward semiannual reporting.

Josh McNattin
Champaign, IL

Josh Welch — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Josh Welch Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Dear SEC,
Please do not allow companies to hide their financials for any time period including the proposed 6-month period. Continuous transparent financial reporting is one of the pillars of the US-based stock market exchanges.
Josh Welch, Portland Oregon

Joshua Ross — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Joshua Ross Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Stop politicians from insider trading also

Joshua Z — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Joshua Z Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please keep wall street honest by keeping reporting quarterly.

Joy Adams — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Joy Adams Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Hello, I am an active investor, mother and live in Michigan.

Companies already do too much SAND accounting. Quarterly reports are the bare minimum and help hold them accountable for results. Thank you for considering .

Joy M. Adams

Joy Atkins-Miller — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Joy Atkins-Miller Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
While we all hope that the people who run the companies we invest in have the highest standards of ethics, unfortunately too many have failed to the detriment of the investors. If I remember correctly, more frequent reporting was put into law after the Enron disaster. Changing that will bring more cheating, stealing, corruption.

Joy Cook — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Joy Cook Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Why would you stop a practice that has prevented a 2nd Enron type scandal. We should not fix what isn't broken. Accountability is a good thing.

Forgive typos, sent from my iPhone

Joy Danielson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Joy Danielson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 KEEP IT THE WAY IT IS.

Sent from my iPhone

Joy Kennelly — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Joy Kennelly Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep it transparent and quarterly

---

Joy Olea — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Joy Olea Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Why "fix" something that is NOT broken?! Leave it alone.

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Joyce — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Joyce Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I am retired and dependent on savings and investment income. This reduces the value of my holdings by adding to the risk of investing without good and current information. Joyce Keller

Sent from my iPhone

Joyce Baker — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Joyce Baker Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 No. I want timely information and in the digital age this proposal is ridiculous

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Joyce Ballotti — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Joyce Ballotti Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the quarterly reporting.

Sent from my iPhone

Joyce Divine — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Joyce Divine Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Transparency and information is what makes the markets work efficiently. Eliminating quarterly reporting will reduce transparency and information that investors use to make informed decisions. Don't eliminate quarterly reporting.

Joyce McCall — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Joyce McCall Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My name is Joyce McCall. I'm recently retired, so I'm living on my investment income. I don't have a large portfolio, but enough to allow my quality of life to remain comfortable and meet my goals. TIMELY financial disclosure is vital to successfully managing my portfolio for the remainder of my lifetime. How can I have any confidence in the market with OLD, outdated info? Let's not forget Enron and the massive fallout and losses investors experienced because of untimely release of info. Keep the quarterly reporting requirements.

Sent from my iPad

---

joyce redmon — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: joyce redmon Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep quarterly reports

---

Joyce Schwab — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Joyce Schwab Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Leave things the way they are!!!! I'm retired and on a fixed income. I will be dependent in the future on what I have invested. Many times at the quarter I have changed the could my investments to my advantage. Leave quarterly statements alone.
Joyce Schwab
Retired Educator

Oil City, PA

Sent from my iPhone

Joyce Trevino — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Joyce Trevino Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the quarterly reporting

---

Joyce Whitney — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Joyce Whitney Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 All investors in a company should legally be able to see at least a quarterly report. This will only benefit the company and go against the small investor. Another effort to hurt the little guy.

Joyce Whitney

---

jsjacks2005 — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: jsjacks2005 Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Do not allow this change! John S. Jackson, retired ExxonMobil

Sent from my Galaxy

JT — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: JT Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please keep the reporting to quarterly. Please don't change it.

Sent from ProtonMail, encrypted email based in Switzerland.

Sent from Proton Mail for Android.

---

jth — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: jth Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting should be maintained.

Juanita Ludke — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Juanita Ludke Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Juanita Ludke, accountant for 35 years, Metro Detroit Michigan area.

Enron was one of the most destructive oil spills in my lifetime. Those involved were brought to justice only because of this rolling. With so much lying we hear on the news these days, I am quite concerned that limiting these signatures to only twice a year will allow blatent lying by CEOs to flourish. In America this should not happen.

Until recently everyone knew that NO ONE IS ABOVE THE LAW. As we celebrate America's 250th birthday where our founding fathers told King George that we would no longer be taxed without representation and need to establish a new nation with values directly from the Bible, let's make sure it continues to follow that edict. Companies that cheat by changing numbers from the truth need to be prosecuted and held liable as well. Keep the quarterly time table on this ruling and continue as 2002 demanded. No changes should ever be necessary. Thank you for listening to one who has made sure the numbers in the books are the ones that are published.

Juanita L. Ludke
nitaludke@gmail.com
(248) 390-1097

Judi Russell — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Judi Russell Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 These companies already enjoy many financial perks. I hope the quarterly report remains quarterly for the benefit of their investors.
J. Russell
Entrepreneur

Judi Russell,
J. Russell & Co. Inc.
JRussellArt.com
Judirussellart@gmail.com
336 817-2077

Judie Tartaglia — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Judie Tartaglia Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Continue reporting quarterly. Do not revert to the olden days just because the President wants to hurt people even more.

J. Tartaglia

Judith Anderson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Judith Anderson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission
Quarterly reporting keeps companies accountable and investors informed.

Judith Emerson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Judith Emerson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Just because they're rich doesn't qualify them as excusable!!!

Judith Emerson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Judith Emerson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Just because they're rich doesn't qualify them as excusable!!!
-- Judith Emerson
12230 Tyson Cove
Austin, Texas 78758

Judith Just — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Judith Just Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 The reporting needs to stay as is. Investors need to know what is happening in a company on a more timely basis. How about reporting more frequently so investors are less likely to be scammed.

Judith Ann Just, Attorney, P.A.
561-547-0549 office/fax
561-379-5372
Judithjust01@hotmail.com

Get Outlook for iOS

Judith LaBarbera MD — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Judith LaBarbera I oppose S7-2026-15 . I rely on quarterly reports to make decisions about my retirement savings. I am concerned that longer gaps create an unfair advantage for corporate insiders. This rule would lessen oversight and allow greater fraud, and savings to companies aren't worth the cost we seniors. Judith LaBarbera MD Poway

---

Judith Schwager — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Judith Schwager Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
I am retired with a substantial amount in investments. It is imperative that I know what is happening. Please keep the 4 quarter reporting.

Judy — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Judy Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Use quarterly reports!

Judy Ambrosich — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Judy Ambrosich Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Why change what has been working. Stock investor, retired entrepreneur.

Judy Capper — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Judy Capper Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is necessary especially when this administration is trying to manipulate and steal everything they can get their hands on. We don’t need another con.

Sent from my iPhone

Judy Gentry — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Judy Gentry Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Why is the SEC thinking of ways to go backward? Hasn't the current administration set us back enough. There isn't any great money savings to move to semi-annual instead of quarterly. Just another way to cheat. I've had enough of making billionaires richer.

Judy Hahn — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Judy Hahn Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 As shareholders, customers and/or just ordinary law-abiding citizens, we need to keep these quarterly reports as requirements
I am retired after many years as a marketer and manager in large industrial companies. I carefully watch my retirement accounts and stock ownership. Like others, I depend on detailed and truthful reports from corporations. I also know that some less-honest people would try to hide poor results in a quarter hoping for a better half year earnings, unless required to tell stockholders the truth. We depend on your requirements to keep management honest. Judy Hahn

---

Judy Hamre — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Judy Hamre Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 No changes and no cutbacks! Make the CEOs be accountable!!!! no get out of jail free!

Sent from my iPhone

---

judy hansen — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: judy hansen Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Information is essential for good business. Keep quarterly reports.
Judith Hansen, consumer. Idaho.

Judy Kramer — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Keep it quarterly! From: Judy Kramer Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 During America's only modern stretch of twice-a-year reporting, real stock returns went nowhere and valuations sat far below today's. In the half-century of quarterly reporting that followed, the market compounded steadily higher, year after year.

Keep the quarterly reporting!

Judy Kramer
St. Louis, Mo

Judy Lee Trautman — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Judy Lee Trautman Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Reducing transparency for companies protects fraud and insider trading while hurting hard working individuals.

Judith Trautman
Toledo, OH 43606

Judy Moss — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Judy Moss Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the quarterly financial reporting! I'm not sure what would motivate you to do otherwise!

Sent from my iPhone

Judy Nielsen — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Judy Nielsen Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 No!! Do not take us back to the past!! We learn from our mistakes not to repeat them!!

Thank you
Judy Nielsen
Sent from my iPhone

Judy Stanwyck — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Judy Stanwyck Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Why mess with this? What will it help??

Judy Stanwyck

Judy Stone — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Judy Stone Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 People need to be able to check on their accounts to see what they're doing. Make sure there wasn't something that came out that shouldn't have or if they need to change something this is the money that they need to live on in their older age and they need to have it taken care of

Sent from my iPhone

Judy Wheeler Bastin — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Judy Wheeler Bastin Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please keep quarterly reports. As a stockholder I think, we as a country, learned a lesson in 1955 when we tried semi-annual reporting. Let's not make the same mistake again.

Juju — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Juju Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is necessary to keep the flow of information available to the public. We've seen what can happen if shrouding it from public view. The corruption that is quickly emerging only benefits the few. Corporations need to be transparent and not closeted for the few insiders.

Judith M. Witasik
Investor
Sent from my iPad

Julee Turner — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Julee Turner Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I oppose reducing public company reporting from quarterly to semiannual. My retirement savings, pension, and investment accounts depend on timely, transparent financial information. Less frequent reporting increases the information advantage of insiders and large institutions while reducing accountability to ordinary investors.

Julia Aegerter — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Julia Aegerter Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Why stop doing something that's working. I'm a retired chaplain and live on my investments. If you turn back the clock -I'll go under.

Sent from my iPhone

Julia Marcello Julia Marcello — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Julia Marcello Julia Marcello Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026
To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
I want quarterly reporting.
Do not change it
Thanks,
Julia

Julia Taunay — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Julia Taunay This is a terrible proposal. Quarterly reporting is a must to maintain more accurate reporting, transparency and fairness to all investors. Do not pass this change.

Julia Wolfe — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Julia Wolfe Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 C'mon, y'all. You haven't taken enough money from regular folk and channeled it to people who have more money than god? How much more do you need to feel like you're full?

Peace,
Julia

Julian Dyragos — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Julian Dyragos Terrible idea. Less reporting is less accountability. If CEOs are willing to automatically go to jail off of falsified numbers (waived court, just straight to jail) then I'll go for this.

Julie Acker Retired — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Julie Acker It is unconscionable to consider going back to semi annual reporting. With today's technology and all information being updated constantly in software, it is easier than ever for companies to compile the information needed. Shareholders, customers and the public deserve transparency from publicly traded companies. The SEC needs to protect the integrity of the reporting system.

JULIE CHANCE — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: JULIE CHANCE Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Julie Chance, RN., Nurse Researcher. Less frequent reporting will reduce transparency and give company insiders and large institutions a bigger advantage over ordinary shareholders like me. There will be less data points for me to see what's going on with my stocks between reports. I believe this could cause harm and volatility in the markets as well.

Sent from my iPhone

Julie Chapleau — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Julie Chapleau Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 No, keep the quarterly. We already know what happens with twice a year. Bi-monthly might be safer than quarterly. Julie Chapleau, retired airline pilot, north Texas, retirement income dependent on company earnings.

---

julie edwards — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: julie edwards Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I believe only dishonest financiers would want less transparency. While this proposal doesn't surprise me, I am definitely opposed

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Julie Fitzpatrick — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Julie Fitzpatrick Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 THere is no good reason to change quarterly reporting, and so many good reasons not to.

Julie Gentz — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Julie Gentz Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 There is enough grifting going on already in this country. Changing reporting from quarterly will own help make it worse. Leave reporting as it is! Do not change it! Julie Gentz, retired educator

Sent from my iPhone

Julie Goodnight — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Julie Goodnight Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting should not be ended. Six months instead? That is way too much time for the financial misbehavior that the SEC is supposed to keep track of to go on. Why has my government decided in the last year and a half to provide so much less in services and my taxes are going up? Stop trying to get out of doing your job.

Julie Goodnight

Julie Lowry — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Julie Lowry Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
I will admit, I don't read the quarterly reports, but I listen to those that do. I want the unbiased views that can only come out of them calling out companies and over paid CEOs to be held accountable for decisions that effect bottom lines & dividends.
Individual investors need to know that someone is reviewing things, giving them only half the current access hinders that accountability. Enron was a thing. Without these accountability reports, only the insiders know, which keeps the common investor on the outside. The common investors are more likely to trade at a disadvantage while the insiders take advantage.

Julie Niemela — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Julie Niemela Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This is unacceptable and will significantly, adversely affect retail investors while unfairly rewarding the already privileged and often corrupt corporate insiders. If this outrageous change takes effect, I will liquidate all of my single company stock holdings, and likely most of my index ETFs.

Julie Pettitt — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Julie Pettitt Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This is far from okay. We proved it with Enron. Stop giving billionaires everything and the rest of us ****!

Julie Rodriguez — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Julie Rodriguez Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the quarterly reporting.

June Goodband — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: June Goodband Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly Reporting is essential for fraud prevention. The SEC should only end quarterly reporting if their goal is to increase corporate fraud.

June Goodband

Sent from my iPhone

Justin Fox — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Justin Fox Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission: The proposal would create a system that clearly favors large investment firms and brokers. Such companies are already better informed than any retail (average individual) investor. Ehy would any citizen want our government to give corporations such leeway given the appalling corruption and enforcement through fines that do nothing? Please do not take this step backwards!

---

justin moyer — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: justin moyer Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Justin Moyer hr analyst. Keep it orderly to help prevent fraud.

Justin Tarlton — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Justin Tarlton Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 As a former financial advisor, quarterly reporting is fundamentally important to helping retail investors make good financial decisions

---

jwelzbacher — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: jwelzbacher Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting has to help in keeping companies honest and in line with federal and state laws. They Should Not be able to get by with fudging something twice a year. A lot can happen in a quarter as we've seen exacerbated recently as it is. Please don't cut the regulations for these companies.

Jamie Welzbacher
Coffeen, IL

Sent from my Galaxy

---

k dockford — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: k dockford Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please, I need my retirement income. I don't want to pretend that I invested with Madoff or Enron. Thank you.
Ricki Docking. Hardware Manager,
Angleton,
Tx

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

K E — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: K E Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep quarterly reports requirements for all corporations. I'm retired and quarterly reports are important for older investors.

K Fuglie — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: K Fuglie Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please maintain the quarterly reporting. It’s a check on businesses and a guide for investors. Why are we always trying to fix what is not broken?

K M Thompson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: K M Thompson I strongly oppose the proposed reduction to the quarterly SEC filing requirements. To revert back to a 1955 methodology would be catastrophic to many and provide more opportunity for fraud, theft and deception. Please reject the proposed changes in S7-2026-15 and KEEP the quarterly filing requirements in place.

K R Artz-Iffland — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: K R Artz-Iffland Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reports are best!

K WATKINS — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: K WATKINS Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Just say NO to changing CEO reporting requirements. Avoid 2008 market meltdowns due to CEOs hiding performance to maintain stock prices.

Get Outlook for iOS

K.E. L. — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: K.E. L. Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep transparency for accountability.

Kaehle — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Kaehle Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Why in the world would this law even be considered?? The world is such, that in the majority of times, the good ppl of this country get left holding the bag. We need tougher laws that support and defend the many vs watch out for the few!!

Kail Andersen — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Kail Andersen Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Doing the reporting every 6 months we would not serve the public at all.

Kandee Boone — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Kandee Boone Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 No! Just No!! I think If they do the business then it should be open for review immediately. So every 90 day sound reasonable.

Kane Baker — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Kane Baker Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My names Kane Baker, I'm a cook and a good one at that. Consistency is a key in any progressive kitchen, I believe the way we run our government and books should be done the same way. Consistency and transparency is definitely required with how things have been running here in America lately.

Kara Karr — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Kara Karr Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Do not let this happen. This is an attempt to get again have the rich get away with sly moves to get richer while the middle class and below are becoming poorer. I am a Licensed Professional Counselor and I am so exhausted at watching these kind of underhanded moves being made. Kara Michelle Karr. Kkarrlpc@gmail.com

Sent from my iPhone

Karel Ryan — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Karel Ryan Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly posting is necessary to stay informed.

Sent from my iPhone

Karen — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Karen Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Data, Data, Data. Everybody wants it. Everybody needs it. We do not need to hide information unless you're hiding something.

Karen

Karen — Jun 18, 2026

Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Karen Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Karen Neutzling Civil Engineer Tech. Edwardsville IL. This cannot be changed! There is too much corruption in this country and without accountability the same thing that happened in 2008 could easily happen, again. I was unemployed for almost 3 years which has effected fiscally ever since. Im tired of our voices being ignored!

Sent from my iPhone

Karen — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Karen Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 It would not be too much to have monthly reporting for investors to stay on top of their investments. Quarterly reporting is not too much to provide. Do not allow them to go to reporting less than quarterly.

Karen Atkins — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Karen Atkins Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the quarterly reporting. KM Atkins

---

Karen B Ruesch — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Karen B Ruesch Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Being a leader comes with responsibilities and for the amount these leaders get paid they should be held accountable, so yes, they need to be signed off at least quarterly and understanding all the details. I am retired and my investments are all I've got.

Sent from my iPhone

Sent from my iPhone

Karen Bajek — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Karen Bajek Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Less transparency means more fraud.This is unacceptable. Quarterly reporting is one of the most important tools for retail investors like myself.Without quarterly reporting, retail investors are on an unlevel playing field, with no way to get timely information about public companies.

Karen Bryant — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Karen Bryant Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Bruce Bryant, MBA, retired. Missouri.
We have worked really hard to build our retirement fund and we don't want to see it whittled away.

Sent from my iPhone

Karen Buchanan — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Karen Buchanan Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Ridiculous to think we'd go back on regulations so more people can cheat the system for the benefit of the wealthy.

Sent from my iPhone

Karen Carter — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Karen Carter Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the quarterly reports. I want to know what my stocks are doing ,If they want to change it... How about monthly reports!!!

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Karen Collins — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Karen Collins Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My name is Karen Collins, I live in Grand Ledge, MI. I have worked in the healthcare field the majority of my adult life and am currently the executive assistant for the COO of a large nonprofit healthcare system.

I did work in public sector on an off. I do NOT want to see the change away from quarterly reporting. This administration is making decisions for those in the top 1% and not the majority of Americans. Please do not make this change

Karen Collins

Karen Craig — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Karen Craig Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 You're supposed to be protecting us the small investors. This proposal will undermine our ability to make sound investments decisions. I am against this proposal. Vote No!

Karen Craig
Small investor

Karen Crampton — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Karen Crampton Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I find that when companies who are publicly held on stock exchanges don't have to list their financial statements they never would and say trust us. With fraud in this county in the 100's of Billions when you add it ALL up, trusting people to do the right thing on their own is not only risky it is down right stupid and criminal. The excuse that is used by whoever is proposing this is that they can focus on long term growth and now concern about having to show growth quarterly. What a joke. Companies for years have lived by this rule. It keeps, most, but not all honest. There will always be companies that are failing and try to hide it. Reporting every six months just allows for more failing companies to lie about how they are really doing. Unless you as an investor can travel to each companies you invest in and just drop in to see how productive they really are, you are at their mercy of telling you the truth. You as a share holder will have little to no time to sell your stock if a financial report that comes in bi annually shows how badly a company is doing. I find this rule once again favors the rich/ wealthy and the fraudster. The regular middle class person gets screwed. I say NO! To this new rule.

Sent from my iPhone

Karen Crockett — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Karen Crockett Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I'm concerned about my retirement account, to my knowledge these are publicly traded companies and should continue the quarterly reports. Seems like the corporations are the only ones who benefit not investors. Karen crockett semi retired/ work part time for a home imprimprovement store.

Karen Damiani — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Karen Damiani Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 If this is allowed to happen the same dark money that has infected, polluted and inflamed our country will end the middle classs, social security, Medicare, and firmly establish a dictatorship. This feels like the end of the Republic.

Sent from my iPhone

Karen Doyle — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Karen Doyle Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I am an admin for a financial advisor, so quarterly reporting is more work for me, but I still support it. Investors need the transparency that quarterly reporting provides. Moving to semi-annually reporting only benefits the corporations and investment banks. Your job, SEC, is to protect the investor. I shouldn’t have to remind you of that.

Karen Doyle

Sent from my iPhone

Karen Doyle — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Karen Doyle Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
My husband and I are in our 70's. Our retirement money is invested in stocks. We don't have inside information on the health of investments Please keep the quarterly reporting requirements for the benefit all
Thank you.
Karen Cunius Doyle

Karen Fausch — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Karen Fausch Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Karen Fausch /retired I prefer quarterly updates as I like to be sure we're I am at snd also feel any fraud would be more easily caught if reporting is more frequent.

Karen Freeman — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Karen Freeman Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I'm Karen Freeman from San Antonio Tx. What is the problem with honesty? Why make it easier to fleece the American people? Just like reducing consumer protections. The wealthy benefit. The people suffer.

Karen Gaither — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Karen Gaither Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Karen Gaither, Retired, Dallas TX
I need quarterly reports to stay in place, since I am living on my investments. The drop in "income" if you go to semi-annual would be detrimental for retired people!

Karen Gaither
214.762.4565 cell

Sent from my mobile device

Karen Goldstein — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Karen Goldstein Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I want to maximize what I earn off if my investments. Not risk them.

Sent from my iPhone

KAREN GREEN — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: KAREN GREEN Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I am in favor of keeping quarterly reporting . As an investor it is extremely important to have current up to date reporting.
Karen Poe , Medical Gas Sales

Sent from my iPhone

Karen Groseclose — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Karen Groseclose Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Karen Groseclose, Account Executive.
Please keep the reports quarterly. It's very important information that I use for planning and investment decisions. As I get closer to retirement it's imperative to see how companies that I invest in are performing.

Sent from my iPhone

Karen Haggbloom — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Karen Haggbloom Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 As I understand it, companies were made to go to quarterly reporting because regular investors were being left in the dust when there were problems they didn't get to hear about before insiders took advantage of their knowledge. I'm not interested in going back to that.

Sent from my iPad

Karen Hill — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Karen Hill Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the quarterly reporting. Company executives have pirate tendencies. They are tied to immediacy. A six month window does not solve this. It only enhances it by providing opportunities to hide activities that skip protections for stockholders and patrons. I understand that a company might go private in order to temporarily enhance its bottom line in preparation for a sale. However, to allow this on a continuing basis does nothing more than encourage poor behavior. The executives should focus on long-term goals for their companies instead of short-term profits for themselves.

Karen Hill 512-442-3796 Resident of Arkansas Retired (legal offices Atty Gen of The State of TX, Motorola, Freescale)

Karen Humphries — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Karen Humphries Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Companies could hide deteriorating conditions if only required to report semi-annually. Too much can change in six months! Protect our retirement savings and keep quartetly reporting!

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Karen Hyde — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Karen Hyde Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Dorothy Karen Hyde, retired. public companies should be accountable to the public. Three months has been a reasonable length of time for investors to follow the companies. Transparency is important.

Karen Ising — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Karen Ising Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Karen Schuler Ising, engineer.

I want quarterly reporting for transparency and personal investing reasons. Information is key.

Karen Janisewski — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Karen Janisewski Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Karen Janisewski Cleveland TN
As a stockholder, I request the current law of quarterly reporting to remain in place, protecting the integrity of each company's financial health that I am investing in.

Karen Janisewski

Karen King — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Karen King Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission: I would like to see our Securities and Exchange Commission, work on making it clear to those who break the law, that they will be prosecuted. That includes a 34 times convicted felon and his family. We know they're breaking the law, we're not stupid and if the laws are supposed to be, fair for everybody then please make sure that they are fair for everyone. Please do the job for which you were put in place, we as taxpayers deserve that much, and the community that is buying and selling stocks and bonds and such, to be protected from any kind of misuse of the system, for buying and selling stock bonds and the like. I just believe we need to start making it clear to everyone, I don't care who they are that, they will be prosecuted if they do wrong by the rules and laws set up for buying, selling and trading. Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Karen Lilly — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Karen Lilly Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Making CEO's personally responsible for their decisions that can provide incredible or devastating results. They get the big bucks because they make life-altering decisions and they should be held personally responsible. The Enron debacle sadly demonstrated that decisions have consequences.

Karen Logan — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Karen Logan Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I need quarterly reports!

Karen Lyu — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Karen Lyu Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Hi I'm Karen Lyu from TN. Insider trading and obfuscation is NOT ACCEPTABLE!!! Keep SEC Reporting Quarterly!!!

Best wishes,

Karen Lyu aka "Karey Poppins" ☂

Author I Holistic Voice Coach I Jazz Diva I
Creative Clarity Coach I Keynote Speaker I Game Designer https://www.holisticvoicecoach.com

https://linktr.ee/karenlyu
615-623-6205

Karen McCulley — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Karen McCulley Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Absolutely no change to current rule. Corporations have been notoriously untrustworthy when unmonitored.

Sent from my iPad

Karen Monteiro — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Karen Monteiro Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This is a really bad idea. People need to be able to tell what is happening with their money. Companies can hide way too much in six months time.

Sent from my iPhone

Karen Napora — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Karen Napora Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Do not change reporting requirements. Investors need accurate and current information. Karen Napora retired living on retirement income Shoreline Washington. What I lose I cannot make up I am 76 need this information

---

Karen Nolan — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Karen Nolan Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Karen Nolan, retiree, DuPont, Washington There has to be better oversight of these companies and their leaders. Keeping quartly reporting is the best way to assure this. Dropping the quartery reporting opens the door to illegal activity by these men and companies. Save Quarterly Reporting!!

Karen Reinhardt — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Karen Reinhardt Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 KEEP IT QUARTERLY (be on our side)!!

Sent from my iPhone

Karen Roberts — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Karen Roberts Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This is not a good idea. The extra time allows for fraudulent happenings! I ask you to please vote this down!

Sent from my iPhone

Karen Rummel — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Karen Rummel Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Not only would this ruling keep my gains and losses hidden for six long months, but it would open the gates for fraud. It is a BAD idea that would only benefit shady investors.

Sent from my iPhone

Karen Sterling — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Karen Sterling Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Karen Sterling, retired. This is a retarded and criminal idea. Why change for the worse? Don't do it SEC. Playing with people's hard earned money will not end well for you.

Karen Strauss — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Karen Strauss Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Investors and their advisor need quarterly reports to make wise decisions.

Karin Brock — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Karin Brock Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I think keeping quarterly reporting is essential to keeping this aspect of our financial life and times open and honest. Decisions that affect us all are made using this timely information. Karin Brock, retired. Too much flies under the radar as it is. Quarterly reporting helps keep information in the light of day.

Sent from my iPad

Karl Miglin — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Karl Miglin Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Would like to keep quarterly. please.
Carl Miglin
Monticello, Il

Sent from my iPhone

Karla DeLuca — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Karla DeLuca Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Just what are you trying to accomplish by allowing corporations to hide their financials? Do your job to prevent this kind of thing and protect investors!

Sent from my iPhone

Karolannne Whitten — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Karolannne Whitten Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 As a retiree, we rely on our investment income to pay the bills and live without a government handout. Transparency through quarterly reporting is crucial to managing our nest egg. Fraud under the radar is real and have serious consequences for us on fixed incomes. Please do the right thing and keep the quarterly reporting in place. Thank You!

K. Whitten.

Kat Mitchell — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Kat Mitchell Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please do NOT go forward with this proposal. It matters to many “regular” folks and only widens the divide between classes. Job title = retired, fixed income. That matters! Thank you.

🌻 CHEERS,

Kate — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Kate Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Kate O'Brien-Rourke, Dealer Manager, Seattle area.

KEEP IT QUARTERLY!!

Kate O'Brien-Rourke
Sent from my iPhone

Kate Aparicio — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Kate Aparicio Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Kathleen Aparicio. Retired. As a person who follows financial reports and chooses personal stock, I strictly oppose any time frame longer than quarterly reporting for any company or corporation. It’s a disadvantage to an individual purchasing stock.

Sent from my iPhone

Kate Greene — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Kate Greene Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Katharine Greene, retired, Georgia. I am a retiree and I rely on quarterly reports to confirm that my retirement savings are going to continue to meet the needs of our family. It’s really not too much to expect CEOs and CFOs to put their name to the company's books four times a year, certifying they've reviewed the report and that it contains no untrue statement of a material fact. That’s not too much nor too often as we’ve all witnessed a degradation of honesty and integrity at the top of many large corporations and government entities. Worldwide, unfortunately.

---

kate mosher — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: kate mosher Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Stick with quarterly reporting.

Kate Roth — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Kate Roth Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep QUARTERLY recording !

Kate Usaj — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Kate Usaj Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 At minimum retain quarterly reporting… history shows monthly reporting would be the most beneficial. As a business owner in Ohio who works part time, I depend on my investments and the best returns possible.

Kathleen Usaj, MSSA, LISW-S

Katheen Ingram — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Katheen Ingram Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quaterly is the minimum!!
Must have that!

Katherine Brown — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Katherine Brown Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I do not approve of this plan. Quarterly reporting should remain.

Katherine CC — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Katherine CC Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Regarding SEC proposed Rule S7-2026-15…..
To whom it may concern at the SEC, Most of my retirement monies are in stocks. I want my financial advisor to have the most timely information about my portfolio. Six months is a ridiculously long period of time in the fast paced information saturated world in which we live. Stick to quarterly reporting, it works. It’s very obvious that moving from quarterly to six month disclosures opens the door for fraud, etc., and keeps most of the population in the dark about any sort of changes in company status. This will impair effectiveness of SEC policing and oversight. Not sure whose idea changing to six month reporting is, but it’s a bad one. If anything we want more reporting, not less. Again, stay with quarterly reporting!! Thank you. Katherine Congdon, retiree

---

Katherine Guzman — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Katherine Guzman Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Investors, especially retirees deserve to know what is happening with their money. Please hold corporations accountable and demand transparency in their regulatory obligations.

Katherine Hollinger — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comments From: Katherine Hollinger Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Katherine Hollinger, Veterinarian
It is crucial that we maintain quarterly SEC reporting to know contextually the health of the market and is one important indicator of financial performance, stability and strength of the stock market to give context to other financial news. As we move closer to digital currencies we need to know more often what financial markets are doing, not less!

Katherine Klimach — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Katherine Klimach Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is important for us on the farm. The information guides our risk management in the purchase of fertilizer, feed, and the planning of crops, equipment purchases and building projects. It affects our planning and investments for personal retirement.

Katherine

Katherine Mcneill — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Katherine Mcneill Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
We need more transparency, not less, which the SEC proposal would guarantee.
Uncertainty deters investors.

Katherine Poteat — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Katherine Poteat Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Katherine Poteat Professional Driver
Columbus, GA

I have worked my entire life and saved for retirement. Hearing that doing away with quarterly reporting could in large part negatively affect my savings as I approach retirement is deeply disturbing and another example of how this administration isn't looking out for the best interests of average Americans. Nowadays it's all about what's best for the richest people and corporations, and that isn't what voters were expecting when the voted to put Trump back in office.

Katherine Reuter — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Katherine Reuter Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the quarterlies

Sent from my iPhone

Katherine Willcox-Bein — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Katherine Willcox-Bein Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Please do not change existing rules. As a retired investor it is important to be able to keep track of investments and holdings in order to make the most prudent decisions on existing and future investments. There is a large sector of the population who are invested in the market, many being retirees who utilize their investments to help them maintain a living without being a drain on the economy. By limiting the retail investor's investment power they are limited in participating in the economy, reducing the overall health of the economic growth.

Kathi E Kurmin — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Kathi E Kurmin Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep AT LEAST quarterly reporting. Actually can be and should be more often.

Sent from my iPhone

Kathie Boyer — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Kathie Boyer Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Why do they want to change this, it gives more opportunity for anyone who uses this info to take advantage of and profit!! They should report info more frequently than less. Keep them in check!!

Sent from my T-Mobile 5G Device
Get Outlook for Android

KATHIE SMITH — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: KATHIE SMITH Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Kathie Smith, retired & disabled RN here.
PLEASE keep 1/4ly reporting in place! Sadly, I've had to depend on MORE THAN MY RMD to survive, many years before I'd planned to…. American citizens & our economy depend on that security!
How many more insults can our current government levy against the 98%.
We IMPLORE you! Please do it to support
We (the 98% of)the People!

Respectfully submitted by a struggling senior trying to stay independent!
Kathleen M Smith
Tallahassee, Florida

Sent from my iPhone

Kathleen — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Kathleen Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Kathleen Campiglia, Administrative Coordinator, Mount Laurel, NJ. I'm facing retirement soon. I don't have a great amount of money towards retirement and can't afford to lose any of it.

Kathleen Caporaso — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Kathleen Caporaso Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:Keeping quarterly disclosures makes it easier for me to make decisionas about my investments. As a retired person I have to watch over my accounts. If they are cut back to twice a year instead of quarterly I my loose the money I depend on. Many times after a quarter report I move money around or reinvest it so I can take money out for things I need. Changing this ruling will mean I have to wait to know what to do and make my life harder because I won't be able to get to my money if I need to.

Kathleen Dilard — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Kathleen Dilard Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:I feel there is already enough secrets to policies already, Let's change all the distrust here with being OPEN HONEST, IT TRUELY IS WHAT PEOPLE NEED! BEING OPEN WITH INFORMATION ON INVESTORS IS A VITAL ROLL IN THIS HONESTY NO DECEPTION APPROACH FOR FUTURE INVESTORS, SO KEEP GHIS VITAL INFORMATION READILY AVAILABLE! I FEEL COMPANIES SHOULDN'T BE HIDDING THWS UNLESS THEY ARE DOING WRONG. So stay honest keep this info public. Thank you.

---

kathleen dugan — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: kathleen dugan Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly works, helping to keep all updated, out front and honest.
If it ain't broke, don't fix it.
Changing it only gives weasels a place to hide. From Kathlern A Dugan, Artist, Investor, Plymouth Area , Ma

Sent via the Samsung Galaxy Note20 5G, an AT&T 5G smartphone
Get Outlook for Android

KATHLEEN GROTTO — Jun 18, 2026

Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: KATHLEEN GROTTO Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This proposal allows for fraud and cheats the public of vital information. Thus creating an even bigger divide between the haves and have nots. Kathleen Grotto

Sent from my iPhone

Kathleen Hallett — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Kathleen Hallett Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 NO

Kathleen Harold — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Kathleen Harold Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Maintain transparency by continuing quarterly reporting!

Kathleen Harris — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Kathleen Harris Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep it how it is.

---

kathleen kane — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: kathleen kane Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please keep the reporting quarterly. There have been too many changes in rules, governing financial matters that put the general public at a serious disadvantage.
This would be another one.
Kind regards, KATHLEEN Kane

Sent from my iPad

KATHLEEN LEVINE — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: KATHLEEN LEVINE Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
The SEC MUST retain quarterly disclosures to keep investors up to date and help them make informed decisions.
By not including quarterly disclosures you leave us at a disadvantage when making our investment decisions. This is unfair to the consumer and costs us wise investment decisions. It is simply unfair Don't do it!

Kathleen Litterer — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Kathleen Litterer Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Why not do quarterly? What are you trying to hide?

Sent from my iPad

Kathleen M Warner — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Kathleen M Warner Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 At a time when abject avarice and seemingly complete comfort with insuring that any and all efforts to increase and hoard profits is the order of the day, when pardons can be bought notwithstanding the establishment of criminality in judicial proceedings for which due process has been afforded, when causing harm is no longer a deterrent to financial grift, it is imperative that quarterly reporting be maintained so that the increasingly diminishing number of wage earners who can afford to invest in our financial markets in an attempt to better the well being of themselves and their families is not in vain by unscrupulous market manipulators who seek unfettered control over those investments. Please vote yo maintain quarterly reporting. Thank you.
Kathleen Warner
Retired
Los Angeles
Taking a stand for what is right.

Sent from my iPhone

Kathleen Mackey — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Kathleen Mackey Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep quarterly reports!

Kathy Mackey

Sent from my iPhone

Kathleen Manning — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Kathleen Manning Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Quarterly reporting is essential for investors to make informed decisions. People holding political offices are privy to insider information already, so their investments remain strong. The general public relies on timely reporting and that does not mean LESS! Please keep current reporting rules intact.

Kathleen Monagle — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Kathleen Monagle Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 As a retired military family who invested a percentage of our retirement funds - through payroll deductions - in the stock market, it is critical for us to review our financial health on a quarterly basis and adjust accordingly. The same is true for literally hundreds of thousands of retired military who dedicated decades of their lives to our nation and did the same kind of investing.

After all the promises of transparency, this proposal to push out reporting from quarterly to semi-annually is nothing more than an attempt to shield companies and keep small investors in the dark for six months out of each year. I am firmly against this proposed change and hope it fails.

Kathleen Monagle
American Citizen

Kathleen Paiva — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Kathleen Paiva Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I oppose changing the reporting from quarterly to anything less.

Transparency and disclosure is key We need consistent and quarterly reporting.

The financial industry is a mess because of everyone letting billionaires do whatever they want. The financial industry has been hiding their money, hiding their financial practices while the American consumers are constantly being screwed and our tax dollars are having to fix all of the problems. Do we not remember Lehman Brothers?

We need a lot of oversight and reporting needs to be at least quarterly.

Signed a concerned consumer.
KP

Kathleen Panger — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Kathleen Panger I depend on my quarterly reports so I know how much money I have in my retirement portfolio. That's what I live on.

Kathleen Partridge — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Kathleen Partridge Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 The reason it was made quarterly has not gone away. If anything it is needed more now! Don’t change a thing!!

Sent from my iPhone

Kathleen Snyder — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Kathleen Snyder We are already being robbed by this corrupt administration. This is my money that is being invested and I have the right to know what is happening with it every quarter! Do not change this policy

---

Kathleen Stesienko — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Kathleen Stesienko Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I am a senior and rely on the market for my income. Please do not allow this. We need more transparency, not less.

Kathleen S.

Kathleen Sunderland — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Kathleen Sunderland Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We demand quarterly reporting!

Get Outlook for iOS

KATHLEEN SWARTZ — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: KATHLEEN SWARTZ Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reports are more important than semiannual. Please do not change this schedule.
Kathy Enslin, retired, Dallas, pa.

Sent from my iPhone

Kathryn Alexander — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Kathryn Alexander Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 There is no reason to make these folks LESS accountable. Please keep the law as written.

Kathryn Alexander

_____
(509) 934-5930
Kathryn Alexander, MA Photography

http://KathrynAlexanderMAPhotography.com

http://facebook.com/KathrynAlexanderMAPhotography
Visit my YouTube Channel: https://www.youtube.com/@bridgetopartnership

Schedule a meeting by clicking this link: http://calendly.com/bridge2partnership

The power of imagination makes us infinite. ~ John Muir

Kathryn Augustin — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Kathryn Augustin Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Former RR and financial advisor. Also worked on quarterly and annual reports for two different publicly traded companies Do not change.

Sent via the Samsung Galaxy S25 FE, an AT&T 5G smartphone
Get Outlook for Android

Kathryn Burson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Kathryn Burson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Must remain quarterly.

Kathryn Burson
katburson@gmail.com
678-896-1720

Kathryn Kinder — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Kathryn Kinder Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 It's necessary for not only transparency, but in this fast pace world, it makes sense because of how quickly business moves. I question the motives. We want to know.

Kathryn Myers — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Kathryn Myers Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 You have got to be kidding! How many more ways are corporations going to screw the average investor?! They should have to report monthly, if any change is going to be made. There is too much corruption in the USA now. Don't make it worse!

Kathryn Treanor — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Kathryn Treanor Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We, as investors and citizens need prompt reporting. An extra quarter of no information is less transparency and even less accountability.

Sent from my iPad

Kathryn Warren — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Kathryn Warren Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 No. Keep the transparency. I worked at WaNu and it still went down. No hiding for 6 months. Stronger expectations.

Sent from my iPhone

Kathy Arnold — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Kathy Arnold Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Companies need to keep investors informed. That's the deal for the investment.

Get Outlook for iOS

Kathy Austin — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Kathy Austin Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting part of what allows the general public to have faith in the stock market. The savings isn't worth harming people's ability to invest.

Kathy Averill — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Kathy Averill Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep quarterly repoting

---

Kathy Casserly — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Kathy Casserly Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 DO NOT DO THIS! I want continued quarterly reports. It's my money, my right for transparency to have more, not less periods of accountability.

Sent from my iPad

Kathy Dubose — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Kathy Dubose Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I am a retired teacher. Every penny counts! Keep the quarterly accounting

-Kathryn Johnston
Sent from my iPhone

Kathy Florczak — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Kathy Florczak Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This is absolutely ridiculous. There is no reason for this other than steal our money

Kathy Florczak

Kathy Getting — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Kathy Getting Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Keep the reporting discolsure period quarterly. I am a average citizen who depends on the advice from Edward Johns to protect my investment. A lot can happen in six months. Fraud, dissapearing customers, changing dividends can cause company disruptions that put smaller investors portfolios at greater risk if disclorsures are only made every six months. I ask to not change the mandatory disclosure period.

Kathy Hayes — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Kathy Hayes Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 No changes that will negatively effect investors

Kathy Hayes

Kathy Hornsby — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Kathy Hornsby Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I am a retired nurse who has investments in my portfolio that I follow. Quarterly reports help me keep on top of what I am investing in.

Kathy Lyons — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Kathy Lyons Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 History is to be learned from and this has been done before. It didn’t work then so why does anyone believe it’s suddenly and miraculously going to work now? Because it’s you and not them? That’s never changed anything.

From Kathy

Kathy McConnell — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Kathy McConnell Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 KEEP IT QUARTERLY!!!!

Kathy Murphy — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Kathy Murphy Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please keep the reporting quarterly. We have tried semi-annual before and it had a negative impact.

Kathy Murphy, Retired. The growth and stability of my retirement investment accounts depend on timely reporting by the SEC.

Kathy Nakoski — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Kathy Nakoski Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Reducing the frequency of reporting and lack of transparency leads to failure.
Katherine Nakoski, retired, Erie, Pa.

Sent from my iPhone

Kathy or James Gilmore — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Kathy or James Gilmore Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please keep the quarterly reporting. It enables us to make changes sooner than later, resulting in loosing less of our retirement funds

Sent from my Verizon, Samsung Galaxy smartphone
Get Outlook for Android

Kathy Packer — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Kathy Packer Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Investors rely on the quarterly reports. Semiannually is not often enough. Things change quickly in business and investors need to be informed to be able to make good decisions.

Kathy

Kathy Purvis — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Kathy Purvis Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Withholding financials is bad business. Those who have nothing to hide, hide nothing.

Sent from my iPad

Kathy S — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Kathy S Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I have my retirement savings in the market. I am 70 years old young, expect to live another 30 years. I need to keep track of my money as it is my main income! Hands off! I have a right to know how my investments are doing!

Kathleen Sylvester
Deerfield, MA

Kathy Savage — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Kathy Savage Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 As an investor, information is critical. Quarterly reports are much better than semiannual reports. Semiannual is not often enough for me to invest in a company!!!

Kathy Savage, retired

Kathy Schott — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Kathy Schott Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the quartley report!
I am retired and can not support the 1% any longer.
Threat of taking social security entitlements that I and my employer paid onto and the constant abuse of current laws protecting me is in tolerable!

Kathy Shafton — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Kathy Shafton Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Reporting needs to be timely in order for individuals to be able to judge the corporations we are investing in.
Don't let the corporations off the hook for timely and fair reporting.

Kathy Sims — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Kathy Sims Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting allows small investors to get more timely data on how the companies their money is invested in are performing. I realize the stock market reacts to like gamblers in Vegas but that would probably bee worse with semi-annual reports. Companies should already be operating for the long term. You can’t profit from capital projects on a quarterly basis. The answer is to regulate the trading algorithms not the reporting.

Kathy Sims

---

kathy sizemore — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: kathy sizemore Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 STOP THE SEC's Quarterly Enron Rollback. Do the right thing for once in your life. Put your country and ALL of it citizens first.
Kathy Sizemore, retired, Carrollton, TX 75006

Sent from my T-Mobile 4G LTE Device
Get Outlook for Android

Kathy Spadaro — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Kathy Spadaro Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 In this era of instantaneously available information, there is no reason to eliminate quarterly reporting. Six months is too long a period of time for publishing updates to information that is vital to maintaining financial health.

Get Outlook for Android

Kathylynn Cook — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Kathylynn Cook Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 So, another way to hide the grifting?!?!

Get Outlook for iOS

Kathylynn Cook — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Kathylynn Cook Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 KEEP QUARTERLY REPORTS - Corporations are robbing us blind now and this will give them even more opportunities for grifting Americans and the world. I would like to see them report monthly!

Get Outlook for iOS

Katie J and Nathan E Lalum-Nelson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Katie J and Nathan E Lalum-Nelson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the quarterly reporting. If I have to report every week. Then they can do reports quarterly.

Sent from my iPhone

Katie Metheny — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Katie Metheny Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly makes more sense for oversight. Less often than quarterly could be disastrous.

Katie Starling — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Katie Starling Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Katie Starling, Director of Financial Aid & Scholarships, Lake Charles, LA. I need to retire. I can’t handle a massive devaluation!!!

Sent from my iPhone

Katrina Christensen — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Katrina Christensen Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep it the same. Plenty of greed & $ to go around, without milking the system
Tina Christensen, retired RN, WI

Sent from my iPhone

Katy Kwan — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Katy Kwan Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We need more transparency from Wall Street , especially with the AI technologies . SEC was created to protect investors not corporations

Sent from my iPad

Kay Benton-Black — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Kay Benton-Black Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Katherine E Benton-Black Physical Therapist
Grants Pass, OR

This matters to everyone who has anything invested in Savings or in stocks. It also makes for less dividends and worse business management.

Sent from my iPhone

Kay Cavin — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Kay Cavin Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Catherine Cavin
Pharmacist……What is the positive side to change quarterly reporting to semi-annually?

Sent from my iPhone

Kay Laake — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Kay Laake Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please protect small investors by keeping quarterly reporting. More information is always better. Semi annual reporting invites mismanagement by unscrupulous across. In a time of unbelievably fluid information, reducing reporting is a huge mistake. Kathleen Laake.
senior investor

Kay Laake
217 549-1186 klaake08@gmail.com

Kay Strasburg — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Kay Strasburg Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Kay Strasburg, retired, Valparaiso, IN. Fewer reports only benefit those trying to avoid accountability. Maintain quarterly reporting.

Kayla Bartush — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Kayla Bartush Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:

The SEC’s proposal to shift public companies from quarterly to semiannual reporting is a bad deal for individual investors. It would severely reduce market transparency, create major information gaps, and make it far more difficult to track a company's financial health, putting everyday traders at a massive disadvantage.

Here are a few key reasons why this proposed rule threatens to harm retail investors:
Information Blackouts: Waiting up to six months between formal financial updates means investors could miss critical red flags—like rising debt, slowing sales, or management changes—before they snowball into disasters. Corporate Secrecy: Less frequent disclosures allow public companies to control their narrative and hide negative performance behind closed doors for extended periods of time. Unfair Advantage for Insiders: While individual investors will be kept in the dark, institutional investors and corporate insiders will likely still find ways to get continuous updates directly from CEOs, creating an unequal playing field. Lost Accountability: Transparency and frequent reporting are the backbone of US markets. Decreasing disclosure frequency reduces our ability to fairly evaluate investments and make timely decisions. With all this said, we shouldn't be looking to lessen reporting from companies. Instead we should increase how often information is reported to the public.

KDPA — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: KDPA Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I ain't broke, don't fix it. You're just trying to scam the ones who aren't insiders. That looks like criminal actions and should be held accountable as such. Leave it alone, don't be thieves.

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Keith Berman — Jun 18, 2026

Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Keith Berman Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Quarterly reporting is necessary to keep track of company performance. Don't remove the quarterly rule

---

Keith Ciociola — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Keith Ciociola Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the reporting quarterly!

Companies must be held accountable in order to prevent fraud and protect customers and investors. One of the best ways to do this is through regular, frequent reporting requirements. Do NOT change the reporting requirement to every six months.

--

Keith Ciociola
65 Great Ring Road
Sandy Hook, CT 06482
(203) 733-6847

Keith Eberlin — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Convicted Fraudster From: Keith Eberlin Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Hi,

I'm not sure if this is the appropriate channel for a complaint about an individual who you have previously convicted as a fraudster but his name is Robert Press convicted of fraud in 2021 and I noticed he has setup a new company in the USA called Tap Partners (https://tap-partners.com/), although he has registered himself using his alias Bob Press.

I was under the impression that due to his conviction he has been banned from setting up or running any future financial companies but clearly this one is currently active.

I'd love to know if this contravenes his ban/barr or not?

Regards,
Keith Eberlin

KEITH GRANBY — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: KEITH GRANBY Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep them accountable, easing the accountability will only make fraud more prevalent, and more difficult to prosecute. And we the American people will end up holding the bag once again.

Sent from my iPhone

Keith Rigden — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Keith Rigden Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 It's our money. Keep your hands off it.
We might just decide to shut whole thing down.
Believe it when we say that.

Sent via the Samsung Galaxy S23+ 5G, an AT&T 5G smartphone
Get Outlook for Android

Keith Skinner — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Keith Skinner Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keith Skinner, cybersecurity engineer. I believe that those rich and in power will hide serious issues from the public if allowed to cut reporting to 6 months. Too much damage can occur over the extra time. Do not allow this to happen. Companies can afford accountants.

Kelle B — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Kelle B Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To whom this concerns:

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposal to eliminate quarterly reporting.

Maintaining these reporting requirements is essential for transparency. I believe that reducing the frequency of oversight only encourages fraudulent activity within businesses. Quarterly reporting must remain in place to ensure proper accountability.

Sincerely,

Kelle Blatnik

Kellie Burnette — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Kellie Burnette Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is the least that should be required. The general public now has greater access to information through technological advances so, therefore, we must be held in check by decreasing transparency. That is unacceptable.

Kellie Burnette

Kellie Matthews Equity compensation consulting — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Kellie Matthews Investors deserve more information not less.

The average American's savings and retirement will suffer. Working citizens should be the priority, not the convenience to profit-focused companies.

KELLY A — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: KELLY A Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We need accountability. Do not open more doors that allow further corruption. I'm retired and have lived long enough to remember scandals that robbed ordinary people of their retirement because of greedy criminal executives. I'd be happier with more frequent checks to prevent white collar crime.

Kelly A

Kelly Bruce — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Kelly Bruce I am a retail investor who relies on quarterly reports to evaluate the companies I own and to monitor risks in my retirement portfolio. I do not have access to management meetings, proprietary research, expert networks, or alternative data sources. Quarterly filings are one of the few standardized and reliable sources of information available to me. Extending the reporting interval to six months would reduce transparency and increase the information advantage of insiders and large institutions. I believe the SEC's mission to protect investors is better served by maintaining quarterly reporting requirements.

Kelly Hennessey — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Kelly Hennessey Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Kelly Hennessey Retired
I need to know what is happening in these companies each quarter. I need to know for my retirement portfolio. Please keep quartly reporting in place.

Kelly Holman — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Kelly Holman Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Nooooo. The older I get the more I learn and I don't feel that this plan benefits me in any way shape or form. I'm against the 6 mth plan

Kelly Holman-Smith

Kelly Kilde — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Kelly Kilde Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Kelly, retired and conscious of the damage the big guys try to pinch even more funds.

This is completely unacceptable. The people deserve to know what is going on. Every 3 months is quite reasonable. try to get it right.

Kelly Lane — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Kelly Lane Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly keeps a better eye on the financials so it really benefits the company and their stakeholders.
Kelly Lane MPH,RN Sidney, Ohio.

Kelly Lane MPH,RN

Kelly LeFebvre — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Kelly LeFebvre Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is the MINIMUM acceptable time frame. Bi-annual reporting gives too much leeway.

Kelly Lennon — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Kelly Lennon Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Longer interval between reporting makes unfair advantage for insiders. Isn't enough fraud and corruption happening before our eyes? Insider trading should not be facilitated.

Sent from my iPhone

Kelly McIntyre — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Kelly McIntyre Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I think it would be a bad decision to move to quarterly reporting. This advantages companies over individuals. Why make this change when countries that have tried it are going back to quarterly. Stop changing the rules to benefit corporations, like you did for the SpaceX IPO.

Kelly McIntyre
Associate Manager

Sent from my iPhone

Kelly Sutton — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Kelly Sutton Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We need to keep companies on their quarterly reporting schedules. We can't give more space for fraud and corruption. CEO's make too much money as it is.

Kelly Sutton

Ohio

Kelly Wilson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Kelly Wilson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 WTH?To the Securities and Exchange Commission: WTH?

KELLY WOODS — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: KELLY WOODS Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Please make them report quarterly. My grandparent's raised my parents during the Great Depression. Every economic downturn caused by corporations not following the rules have led to shattered dreams, broken families, domestic abuse. The reporting really should be monthly.
Sincerely,
Kelly Langdon Woods

Kelson Anderson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Kelson Anderson Dear SEC, Please reconsider changing the rules to semi-annual reviews. I feel that this will only make it more difficult to know what is happening in the market without bringing any meaningful improvement to actual performance. Thank you, Kelson

---

Ken Adams — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Ken Adams Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Trusting corporate CFO's and CEO's is historically a bad idea. Our markets move so far so fast so we still need to see quarterly reporting.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Kenneth Adams, citizen and investor

Ken Degen — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Ken Degen Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I am writing to voice my opposition to semi annual SEC disclosure requirements. Greater visibility is key to a free market. Although the SEC should incentivize public corporations to look beyond quarterly earnings in maximizing shareholder value, limiting disclosure to twice a year is not the answer. I am against the proposed change.

Kenneth Degen
Retired
St. Petersburg, FL

Ken Dooley — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Ken Dooley Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 The individual investor doesn't need to compete with the well connected. Please keep the playing field somewhat level.

Sent from my iPad

Ken Dubs — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Ken Dubs Quarterly reporting matters. There's no justifiable reason to do away with it- no benefit, and definite potential harm to investors. This is a bad solution in search of a non-existent problem.

Ken Feil — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Ken Feil Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Let's keep the quarterly report and sign off in place. CEO's & CFO's need to be accountable to shareholders! Ken Feil. 409 elm St. Arlington Tx. 76011.

Sent from my iPhone

Ken Hollander — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Ken Hollander Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Unacceptable, irresponsible and poorly thought through.

Sent from my iPhone

Ken Martin — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Ken Martin Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Why change the frequency of reporting of it has been, and still IS, working on a quarterly reporting basis? Quarterly reporting helps to keep potential fraudulent activities on a much shorter leash. And we all know there is no shortage of fraudulent activities going on in our country at this very moment!

Ken Munson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Ken Munson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the reports on a quarterly basis. I require transparency! As a stockholder, I require the full financial status of a corporation on a regular reporting basis.

Ken Munson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Ken Munson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the reports on a quarterly basis. I require transparency! As a stockholder, I require the full financial status of a corporation.

Ken Munson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Ken Munson Keep the reports on a quarterly basis. I require transparency! As a stockholder, I require the full financial status of a corporation.

Ken Natelli — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Ken Natelli Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I want to know how my stock is being controlled by corporate decisions every three months.

Sent from my iPhone

Ken Proctor — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Ken Proctor Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep it!! No hiding for 6 months. We need to see it sooner than later.

Thank you,
Ken Proctor / REALTOR®
Phone: (417) 332-7467

KProctorRealtor@gmail.com

Ken Schweikert — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Ken Schweikert Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Terrible idea. unfair to stockholders. It's your job to protect us from unscrupulous companies. This has been a standard practice for decades. Why change it now?
Sincerely,
D. Kenneth Schweikert

Ken Simonds — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Ken Simonds Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 If it changes, I'll put my assets into metals.

Ken Sipe — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Ken Sipe Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Why would you allow this as a governing body information is key and allowing this clouds the clarity for good governance

---

Kendrah Raymond Kendrah Raymond — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Kendrah Raymond Kendrah Raymond Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Please do not alter the current reporting to allow less information for investors. This would be tantamount to asking people to give away their retirement nest-egg to companies that are averse to them being informed. Why would you be ok with giving investors less information and companies a blank check? If you truly are servants of the people in this country, you will not do this. Please reconsider and do not deprive your fellow humans of their hard earned money to support multinational corporations. I know the choice seems hard, but if you have not been completely captured then it will not.

KENNARD WEAVER — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: KENNARD WEAVER Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is essential. Keep it.

Sent from my iPhone
Kennard R. weaver

Kenneth Alberda — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Kenneth Alberda Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep it quaterly!!

KENNETH BOEVE — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: KENNETH BOEVE Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please keep the reporting requirement to a quarterly basis. For it to occur only twice a year would be catastrophic for not just the investor community, but for the business community as well. Thus transparency could result in the hiding of damaging statistics. Oversight will always be needed, while the reporting requirement should take place at least four times a year.

Kenneth Lewis — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Kenneth Lewis Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I'm Kenneth Lewis a retired pipe fitter who worked in the construction industry. Help me and many others like me protect our families assets by keeping it quarterly. Three months is long enough. I can't imagine having to wait for six months to see how my retirement accounts are preforming.

Sent from my iPhone

Kenneth Wesley — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Kenneth Wesley Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting should remain in place. The period length for reporting should not be changed.
As a retired person I have been watching as the faith our citizenry has in our financial system erodes on a daily basis as a direct result of Trump's actions which allow him to profit from insider information. Increasing the length of time for reporting periods simply looks like more rigging of the system so the wealthy and connected can benefit from insider trading at the expense of everyone else.
Don't change it.
Thank You,
Ken Wesley
Baton Rouge, Louisiana

Kenneth Wilson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Kenneth Wilson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I feel this is an action to help the corporations and the rich gain more advantage over the little guy. That is some of ultra rich to make the disparity as wide as possible.

Sent from AT&T Yahoo Mail on Android

Kent Cunningham — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Kent Cunningham Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Dear Securities and Exchange Commission,

I am writing as an individual investor and technology executive to urge the Commission to preserve the current quarterly reporting cadence and to reconsider the optional semiannual framework proposed under File No. S7-2026-15. These views are my own.

Reducing interim reporting to twice a year would concentrate far more risk in our capital markets at exactly the wrong moment. Less frequent disclosure means longer windows in which problems can build unseen, which raises the odds of larger and more disruptive corrections when information finally reaches investors. With our national debt at historic levels and a substantial share of it financed by foreign holders, including China, the United States cannot afford added fragility or any erosion of global confidence in the transparency of our markets. Market stability has become a matter of economic security, not investor protection alone.

I am especially concerned about the timing given the rapid growth of artificial intelligence. AI is moving into the core of how companies operate and how markets function, and the risks tied to it can emerge and spread quickly. If material developments surface only every six months, threats to these systems and to the firms that depend on them will be far harder to detect and address in time. In my work on AI and cybersecurity for critical systems, I have seen how quickly small issues become serious ones, and timely disclosure is one of the few tools investors and regulators have to catch them early.

Quarterly reporting has underpinned trust in American markets for decades. I respectfully ask the Commission to keep it as the standard.

Thank you for considering my comment.

Sincerely,

Kent Cunningham
Mount Juliet, Tennessee

KENT LARSSON — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: KENT LARSSON Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 There is a desire among corporate executives and government officials for secrecy. A healthy society requires openness and full disclosure. Quarterly is not to big of a burden to this end.

Sent from my iPhone

Kent Michitsch — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Kent Michitsch Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Let's continue to keep potential fraud out of delayed reporting. Leave it as it currently stands.

Kent Murray — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Kent Murray Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 First we're being asked as citizens to take on more personal responsibility for our retirement so it is imperative to have timely data on our investments. Second, with all the accounting software technology out there it takes 2-4 days to consolidate financial reporting. I worked for a multinational with 49 companies and the roll up was easy. Frankly monthly reporting should be where we're headed not the opposite! This is not rocket science. Third, bi-annual reporting is not consistent with how quickly things in industry can change. Shareholders deserve to be kept abreast of their investments in a more timely manner. Today's markets move much faster and require transparency. Fourth, insider corruption is much easier with longer times between reporting. My three sons are CPAs involved in auditing publicly traded companies and concur with this line of thinking.

Kent Murray

---

kent young — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: kent young Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This reporting every 6 months is bull *. SEC would be setting small investors up for failure, not success. At least with quarterly reports we can stand a fighting chance.

Kerry Danielsen — Jun 18, 2026

Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Kerry Danielsen Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 NO! We need MORE transparency, not less. Stop stealing our money!

Kerry Elkind — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Kerry Elkind Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep it as is on a quarterly basis. No need to change.

Best Regards,
Kerry Weiner Elkind
The Elkind Group
415-244-5745

www.elkindgroup.com

Sent from my iPhone

Kerry Long — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Kerry Long Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Can we stop making corporations more important than people. We're *ing starving and dying and yall want to make it worse.

Sent from my iPhone

---

kevin benson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: kevin benson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We're gonna need a " French Revolution " type event to fix the atrocities of this regime!!!!!

Kevin Foster — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Kevin Foster Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Too much can change in 6 months.

KEVIN Hartigan — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: KEVIN Hartigan Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Please don't change our info from 3 to 6 months.

Kevin Hickman — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Kevin Hickman Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Restraining illegal actions in the corporate world, not facilitating them, is the goal of any competent oversight body. Quarterly reporting is a reasonable requirement to protect the many investors who are the life blood of our corporations. Reducing the reporting requirement only aids the bad actors. Quarterly reporting must remain as the SEC's standard!

Kevin Hickman, Registered Voter, California

Sent from AT&T Yahoo Mail on Android

Kevin Jernigan (ReverendRhyme) — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Kevin Jernigan (ReverendRhyme) Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I am a retail investor and rely on quarterly financial reporting to make informed decisions about my retirement and investment accounts. Reducing reporting requirements from quarterly to semiannual filings would significantly reduce transparency and leave ordinary investors with less timely information about the companies we own.

While large institutional investors and corporate insiders often have access to additional sources of information, individual investors depend on publicly available disclosures. Extending the reporting gap to six months would create a larger information imbalance and make it more difficult for retail investors to evaluate company performance, risk, and management decisions.

I understand the desire to reduce regulatory burden, but I do not believe the modest compliance savings justify a substantial reduction in transparency. The SEC’s mission includes protecting investors, and maintaining quarterly reporting helps ensure that all investors have access to timely and consistent information.

I respectfully urge the SEC to preserve quarterly reporting requirements and reject any proposal that would reduce the frequency of public financial disclosures

Sent from my iPhone

Kevin R. Joyce — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Kevin R. Joyce Dear Chairman Atkins, I respectively request that the SEC maintain quarterly reporting for all public companies. I believe that this is in the best interest of investors and the general transparency of stock performance. I am a recent retiree and actively manage my investment portfolio. Thank you, Kevin Joyce Burnt Hills, NY

Kevin Trevithick — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Kevin Trevithick Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is essential for accountability. If not quarterly, then every other month!
Kevin Trevithick
Upland, CA

Kevin Whited — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Kevin Whited Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Literally WTF this administration doesn't even attempt to hide the corruption what's wrong with people supporting this trash and his minions.

Kim Coffman — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Kim Coffman Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 WHY ON EARTH WOULD YOU DO THIS? You know corruption, which TRUMP champions and shows us daily what will happen. Remember Trickle Down Economics?

Mr. Kim Coffman
311 27th St W
Bradenton, Fl. 34205
281 216 4030

Kim Dreher — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Kim Dreher Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep quarterly reported. It is important to all investors. Especially the common man or women.

Signed.
Investor

Kim Ferranti — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Kim Ferranti Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My name is Marilyn K. Ferranti. I am retired and I do not want another trade scandal that could be avoided by quarterly reporting. My investments are important to me and I want to maintain an honest quarterly assessment.

Marilyn Kim Ferranti

Kim Francois-Bouton — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Kim Francois-Bouton Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Col I believe the billionaires already manipulate and control the stock market leaving everyday investors are in precarious, dangerous positions. Due to this problem everyday investors are becoming wary and nervous about their investments. If everyday investors begin pulling out of the market in large numbers, will that help or hinder the billionaires? How would the affect the stock market overall?

Kim Fultz — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Kim Fultz Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
My husband just retired and has a decent stock portfolio that we worked forever to achieve. As most people who will never achieve millionaire status we rely on reports. To stop providing the information timely leaves investors at a disadvantage. Do not take that away from investors who are small. We need to know what's happening to our funds.

Kim Gerckens — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Kim Gerckens Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 What happened to make America great again?!? America first?!? When will these agencies pull up their bootstraps and break from the Orange dictator?!?

Kim M Gerckens

Kim Hitchcock — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Kim Hitchcock Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Keep the quarterly reports. Keep the markets transparent.

Kim Mitchell — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Kim Mitchell Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Absolutely quarterly reporting must continue!

You can’t go back and change the beginning but you can start where you are and change the ending……

CS Lewis

[Sent from my I-phone where fat fingers rule.🤫]

Kim Myers — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Kim Myers Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 It’s imperative that reports remain quarterly to give advisors adequate time to adjust portfolios. As a person living on SSA and my IRA my spending sometimes depends on where my portfolio sits in a given period.

Kim Myers
Retired
Midland Michigan

Sent from my iPhone

Kim Poehlman — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Kim Poehlman Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 As a longtime member of the National Association of Individual Investors I strongly urge our elected representatives to insist that quarterly financial reporting continue. This reporting provides timely essential financial, business condition information needed to help Americans manage investments, assess health of companies. Quarterly reporting was made mandatory for GOOD reason and in an era of increasing rollbacks of regulations that actually benefit Americans is needed now more than ever. Hands off!

Sent from my iPhone

Kim Smith — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Kim Smith Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Our financial infrastructure has become more and more prone to avarice/greed, lies and fraud, and this proposal will make it that much easier for companies to hide their financial status and how they run their businesses. The consumer has been systematically taken advantage of more and more. This administration, in particular, has pushed and pushed for deregulation and no repercussions for bad actors. It's so apparent that it's laughable. Yet so many are blind to it. We are in a crisis now and this proposal is another nail in the coffin for us, the average citizen. No one in a position of authority or regulatory approval gives a crap and that's abhorrent. Do not approve this proposal.

Sent from my iPhone

Kimberly Fowler — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Kimberly Fowler Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep reporting!!

Sent from my iPhone

Kimberly Frenden — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Kimberly Frenden As an investor for my retirement and for maintenance of my elderly mother's needs in assisted living, it is very important to me to have frequent information on the health of my investments. I do not want wild swings when we find out after six months of silence that something is not as we thought. Why would you do this now?? I am part owner in every single stock we put our hard earned money into and I expect to be frequently and regularly informed

---

Kimberly Gibson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Kimberly Gibson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Hello. The benefit to quarterly reporting is not just for the common American it is also to hold the corporations accountable. By no means should that be cut back to every six months. The fallout could be catastrophic for our entire economy. It wasn't that long ago when the economy crashed, billions lost and people dying by murder/suicide due to the financial predicaments they ended up in. Holding corporations accountable on a quarterly basis is not a punishment, it’s an attempt to keep them honest. The benefits for the change are only for corporations to hide their misdoings and greed, both are not in the best interest of every day American citizens.

Kimberly Hanelt — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Kimberly Hanelt Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
With all the corruption going on in this country right now, switching the frequency of the reporting cycle opens the door to more shady business practices. For every crooked business going unchecked for half of a year, investors will be left holding emptier pockets. Since the oligarchs own many of the biggest companies, it will be easier to hide the truth from the investors as well as the regulators which makes any person with an ounce of integrity very concerned.
Keep the quarterly reviews of business records!! In fact, in this time of massive financial gains to some of these companies, reporting even every one or two months might be necessary to ensure the funds of the average person!

---

kimberly johnson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: kimberly johnson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 It should be more than quarterly reporting! Prevention is less costly than than fixing it later. That is actually a conservative view point. It is conservative to look ahead and act accordingly. It is conservative to work for the well being of the next generations. Otherwise you're committed to paying doubled and tripled costs to fixing the problems caused by choosing not to fund and support effective preventative practices. The quarterly reporting must continue, at the very least.
It is the most conservative choice. It is also, coincidentally, the most liberal choice.

Kimberly McDaniel — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Kimberly McDaniel Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Dear sir or madam,

Please do not go back to twice yearly reporting! We cannot t afford this, especially now.

Sincerely,

Kimberly McDaniel
Campus Police Dispatch
The Peabody Institute of JHU

Get Outlook for iOS

Kimberly O'Neal — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Kimberly O'Neal Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Kimberly O'Neal, school bus driver, I invest to make my money work harder and being informed about what my money is doing and how the company I invest in is operating is of utmost importance in making my portfolio perform so keeping people in the dark is a CRIME & you should consider it just that and drop your New Game to scam the masses! #F'ING1%ERS!

Kimberly P — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Kimberly P Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Kimberly Pultz I'm a massage therapist. We as citizens, I as a citizen want to know the quarterly reports from the companies and corporations. Im in vested in stock. Keep them honest which I know is hard for them n you. Thank you

---

Kimbery Plein — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Kimbery Plein Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Kimberly - corporate tax executive.
At a time when bad actors dominate financial News we do not need to lessen the transparency. For the majority ofAmerican workers, their future and retirement savings are dependent upon their investment decisions. One can only make informed choices with better information. Quarterly reporting allows the playing field to level somewhat so that investors have some of the same insight as insiders. If corporations rely on investor $ then all benefits should not inure solely to insiders

Sent from my iPhone

Kimble McSweeney sfviscount@aol.com — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Kimble McSweeney sfviscount@aol.com Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We've all seen and/or know of the history of lies and failures created at trump's hand. How disastrous his corner-cutting has become. trump now pushes for the SEC's cutting CEO's signature requirements in half, thus, making it easier for him to push through projects and artificially increase values. We've all seen the eventual outcome of that practice. Please keep the signatures quarterly!!

Sent from my iPad

Kirk C Wentworth — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Kirk C Wentworth Keep the requirement for quarterly 10k, etc. This keep the playing field level for individual investors like me.

Kirk Hardin — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Kirk Hardin Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Bad idea. I wont support this and I will contact my representatoive and senators Never make stealing easy

Sent from my iPhone

Kirk Heriot — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Kirk Heriot Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Dear SEC:

Please continue to require companies to report earnings on a quarterly basis. I am Kirk Heriot, a college professor, from Dahlonega, GA. I teach entrepreneurship, small business management, and strategic management. I have also assisted over 500 companies as a consultant for the SBDC and SCORE programs (Federal).

My retirement account consists largely of stock. I can't believe this new rule is being considered. There is no upside to allowing public companies to keep their shareholders in the dark for six months.

Kindest Regards,

Kirk C. Heriot, Ph.D.

Sent from my iPhone

Kirk Johnson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Kirk Johnson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 No. Do not change the quarterly filings. It keeps Companies honest. Ask yourself why SEC wants this change. ITS NOT TO HELP YOU!

Sent from my iPhone

Kitsap Karma — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Kitsap Karma Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I oppose changing the reporting requirements! As it is, our current government has slashed agencies and staffing to the point where there is limited or no oversight in many important review and reporting processes. This "vague disregard" for process and procedure is and will continue to cost us dearly, and will need to be rebuilt and refined after this administration is out of office. It has worked for 50 years, and wasstructured to keep it honest. Put a hold on any major "restructuring" of what has worked for us in the past… We're currently off balance; the trust level of personal finance opportunities continues to falter… Please maintain this current requirement!!

Sent from my iPhone

KK Fischer — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: KK Fischer Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My name is Kimberley Fischer and I am a Senior Admissions and Records Assistant with a Junior College. As an investor, I should be able to have regular access to the SEC reporting and required documents from the companies in which I'm invested so that I know if my investments for my upcoming retirement are at risk. Halving the number of required reports halves my security. It allows companies to minimize their risks, using insider trading, which is illegal, and leave their small investors taking the losses. The current reporting system works. Don't change it to favor the billionaire class and encourage fraud.

Kimberley Fischer
Madera, CA

KLS Work — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: KLS Work Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I'm a retired college administrator and a longtime resident of Maryland who knows that it is important to me and many, many other US citizens that the requirement for quarterly reporting continue. Please do not make any changes to reporting practices, which will risk negatively impacting the financial health of retirees and others planning for retirement.

Thank you.

Kathy Sutphin

Sent from my iPhone

KNorthup — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: KNorthup Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Let's keep some accountability and integrity please
Sincerely Kathryn Northup Contract Administrator Newport Beach Ca

Sent from my iPhone

Kris Gordon — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Kris Gordon Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
This rule would be good for insiders, but would be devastating to retail investors. Not doing quarterly reports would hinder, if not eliminate, free trading. We need to see the reports before we decide where to invest!

Kris Miceli — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Kris Miceli Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Protect the interests of the American people. My life savings is invested in you . do not allow lobbyist to control the narrative.

Kris W — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Kris W Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 You crooks will pay

---

Krista — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Krista Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reports are essential information for all investors to have in order to make informed investment decisions regarding that company. It is fair disclosure and needs to be continued.

Krista Gorman, Investor
Sent from my iPhone

---

kristen parker — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment to the SEC From: kristen parker Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Dear SEC administrator,
This potential change to the oversight of major financial decisions, resulting in less information for both the institution and the share holders is a very scary and precarious prospect. Please vote NO to Bi-annual reporting!!
Be fiscally sound and rewrite quarterly reporting!
Thank you for your attention,
Kristen Parker

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Kristen Schulte — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Kristen Schulte Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Kristen Schulte Regional Controller
Knoxville TN

They should sign off on the accuracy of the information and once per quarter is not too much to ask. They should really do it every month .

Kristi Kervaski — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Kristi Kervaski Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I strongly oppose replacing quarterly reporting with biannual reporting for public corporations.
Quarterly reporting is essential for maintaining transparency, investor confidence, and efficient markets. Investors deserve timely access to financial information so they can make informed decisions based on current company performance, not data that may be six months old.
Less frequent reporting would reduce accountability and increase information gaps between management and shareholders. It could also lead to greater market uncertainty and sharper stock price reactions when financial results are finally disclosed.
While biannual reporting may slightly reduce compliance costs, those savings are outweighed by the benefits of regular disclosure and stronger investor protections. Quarterly reporting remains the best way to promote transparency, trust, and market stability.

Sent from my iPhone

Kristin Grosskopf — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Kristin Grosskopf Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please do not join the bandwagon of bandits who keep allowing drifting and lies by NOT reducing the current requirement for CEOs to report their financials quarterly.
I cannot even believe we have to write to you about keeping this one small policy designed to reduce fraud!

Dr. Kristin Grosskopf
Criminal Justice professor
6501 X St
Lincoln, NE

Kristin Hill — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Kristin Hill Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 STOP MAKING IT EASIER TO SCREW THE LITTLE GUY! Our money … our very real money, is what you are letting them play with. Stop helping them, you are supposed to be helping us.

Sent from my iPhone

Kristin Morse — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Kristin Morse Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep companies reporting quarterly!

Kristin Obresley — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Kristin Obresley Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My name is Kristin Obresley and I work for the USDA. As a federal employee my investments and retirement savings are incredibly important to my family and I. Havubg secure, transparent reporting of the markets that affect those investments is vital for me to feel confident in continuing to invest and plan for my future. Quarterly reporting is a vital part of keeping our markets secure and transparent and making sure that everyone can invest and participate. I am strongly opposed to moving away from a quarterly reporting structure.

Kristina Tova Ramer — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Kristina Tova Ramer Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I want quarterly reports

Thanks and regards,

Tova

Kristopher Krueger — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Kristopher Krueger Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep them honest!

Sent from my iPhone

---

ksho418 (null) — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: ksho418 (null) Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 He'll no. One more "screw the little guy"

Sent from my iPad

Kyle Coughenour — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Kyle Coughenour Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 More time for fraud to grow.
Enron. WorldCom. Madoff. The run-up to 2008. Every major modern accounting scandal was enabled by gaps and opacity in financial disclosure. Quarterly filings don't prevent fraud, but they dramatically shorten the window in which it can fester before someone outside the company can see it. What if Enron only had to cook their books twice a year? It's time to expose the fraud stars and hold them accountable

---

L. V. NEASE III — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: L. V. NEASE III Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 The quarterly reporting is in itself a bare minimum, and should be maintained as is. Certainly after Enron, you can see how semi annual reporting would make similar scenarios easier to manufacture.
In my opinion, the reins should be tighter based on the size of the institutions. Sincerely, L.V.Nease. (Railroad retired)

Sent from AT&T Yahoo Mail on Android

Lamar Russ — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Lamar Russ Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
I do not see any benefit in changing the reporting rules. Companies, like individuals should be required to report and disclose all information in order to keep people informed so they can make

---

Lance Addison — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Lance Addison Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 You will kill business as investors will not place their money in complies or investment firms that only release financial reports semiannually. The market moves way too fast for this kind of thing.

Sent from my iPhone

Landa Sroka — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Landa Sroka Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
This is another way trump and the GOP criminals are hurting Americans and investors.

Landrum McCarrell — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Landrum McCarrell Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Why change ? With technology available now it should be easier than ever to report quarterly

Sent from my iPad

---

lannette jaynes — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: lannette jaynes Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quartet reports mandatory, and reviewed by independent accountants

Lannette Jaynes

Larametta Harvell — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Larametta Harvell Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Transparency through quarterly reports is imperative to individual investors. We need to know what is happening to our investments.

Larametta Harvell — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: From: Larametta Harvell Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Transparency is important to individual investors. We need to keep track of what is happening with our investments. Quarterly reports enable investors to chart the progress of their investments. Quarterly reports should continue to be provided.

Larry and Holly Welborn — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Larry and Holly Welborn Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Absolutely not! The winner here is the banks!

Sent from my iPhone

Larry George — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Larry George Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Why do you want to * investors even more?

Larry

Larry Jackson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Larry Jackson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 KEEP IT QUARTERLY

Sent from my iPhone

---

larry kornacki — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: larry kornacki Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 DO NOT CHANGE THE STATUS QUO, KEEP THEM REPORTING EVERY QUARTER!!!

Larry Lutonsky — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Larry Lutonsky Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Transparency can't be given with semi annual reports. Quarterly reports are the bare minimum if information. Anything else is a flagrant attempt to conceal immpropriatty and possible criminal activity. Any attempt to change the reporting appears the desire to hide illegal activity.

Larry McAndrews — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Larry McAndrews Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quartly allows me to track my investments closely. Six months does not allow me to follow as closely as.

Sent from my iPhone

Larry Phillips — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Larry Phillips Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Retain quarterly reporting.

Larry Schmidt — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Larry Schmidt Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please keep the info comming, it's hard enough for the little guy to make anything don't take away part of the information we need to make informed decisions. Larry Schmidt

---

Larry Smith — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Larry Smith Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 America already tried semi-annual reporting.
Investors paid the price.
Washington wants to let every public company stop reporting its results each quarter and disclose just twice a year. We tried this once, between 1955 and 1970. Less transparency came with lower returns and lower valuations. For an ordinary investor, a return to those days could mean losing a third, or even half, of your life savings.

Lawrence M. Smith

Sent from my iPhone

Larry Tollen — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Larry Tollen Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I am a Real Estate Broker, self employed and someone who has been investing my money into the stock market for roughly 30 years for my retirement, I depend on quarterly financial statements to determine what I should do in regards to buying and selling based on the information provided. The information is already intentionally vague and less transparent than I'd like given that the companies are publicly traded. Should you allow companies to report less frequently I will have no choice but to sell my investments and move them to other stock markets that are more consumer friendly.

The simple truth is the vast majority of publicly traded companies are investment losers. The SEC's job is not to protect companies, nor is it to protect insiders. The sole reason for the SEC to exist is to make sure that folks like me aren't being taken advantage of. Do your job, follow your mission statement and keep the disclosure rules as they are.

Larry Tollen
lctollen@gmail.com
919-619-8675
Sent from my iPhone

LARRY WHEELOCK — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: LARRY WHEELOCK Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the quarterly reporting! Don't tempt fate by making it easier to commit fraud.

Sent from my iPad

Larry L. Wheelock
Milwaukee Wisconsin

Larry Woodson — Jun 18, 2026

Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Larry Woodson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Continue Quarterly Reporting
Having worked in listed stock exchange company there are many quarters where “numbers are adjusted” to support past pro forma positions. Quarterly statements need to continue and audits of those reported numbers need confirmation ; including statements about how and how much fudging occurred.

Sent from my iPhone

Laura — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Laura Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Laura Taylor, newly retired.

I retired with the understanding that I had enough in my investments to last the rest of my life. Having this change will setback all my plans and likely those of other retirees. The government is already discussing cutting social security and Medicare, it seems like they’d rather have seniors working as Walmart greeters than enjoying the retirement and the money they’ve invested for most of their lives. Please do NOT make this change. It would be disastrous for a good part of the US population.

Thank you.

Laura — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Laura Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Do not turn the clock back !! It is working the way it is today!

Sent from my iPhone

Laura Calla — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Laura Calla Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Stop enabling the rich to crap on the poor!

Laura Cooper — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Laura Cooper Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I’m against the SEC hiding their quarterly report for six months. This opens up corruption and hurts shareholders. This is a HARD NO!!
Laura Cooper
Retired

Sent from my iPhone
"A person always doing his or her best becomes a natural leader, just by example."
Joe DiMaggio

Laura Edwards — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Laura Edwards Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange quarterly reporting is important to stay informed about Investments. This should not change. With less reporting more things could go wrong. Is this change to hide things and have less transparency?

Laura Fordyce — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Laura Fordyce Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep quarterly. You are supposed to work for Americans. Not big business!

Sent from my iPhone

Laura Halls — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Laura Halls Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
To whom it may concern,
I am writting regarding the proposal to remove quarterly reporting. This is crucial information that investors rely on in order to make informed decisions around investments. History has show how lack of disclosure and information can create a manipulation in the markets. In a world where information is so easily accessible I believe it's prudent to continue mandating these types of requirements.

Thank you for your consideration.

Laura Jacobs — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Laura Jacobs Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly! Enrolled and WorldCom financially ruined thousands of people when reporting washers 6 mos. These corporations need to be held accountable!

Laura Jones — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Laura Jones Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Please do not roll back the rules that require quarterly reporting from corporations. Investors deserve transparency. These rules were put into place because of great malfeasance that have hurt the country and the economy greatly. We cannot afford and the general Public just does not deserve for these rules to be rolled back

---

Laura Korte — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Laura Korte Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is to level the playing field for everyone! Very few of us have money to throw away when it comes to investing decisions. Keep this important tool available.

Laura Litman — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Laura Litman Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 KEEP IT QUARTERLY!

Sent from my iPhone

Laura Lowery — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Laura Lowery Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please keep public companies reporting quarterly as they have done for decades. We reject the proposal to extend it to 6 months. Thank you.

Laura Lowery
Fountain Inn, SC

Laura Miller — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Laura Miller Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 In uncertain times people need more accountability and transparency not less. This raises more concerns and seems like obvious attempts to conceal unlawful and unjust behaviors.

Laura Morgan — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Laura Morgan Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Yes, it is more paperwork but it is necessary to keep everyone accountable. We must learn from history so that the same mistakes do not happen again.

Laura Mungai — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Laura Mungai Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Laura Mungai
Personal Trainer/Health Coach
Chicago, IL
Quarterly reporting needs to continue in order for the valuations of companies to be exposed. We need to be able to react to changes. If not, then all workers should have pensions upon retirement.

Sent from my iPhone

Laura Nardoni — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Laura Nardoni Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting was enacted for a great reason, accountability! DO NOT change anything! Keep it the same!

Sent from my iPad

Laura Neal — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Laura Neal Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting keeps businesses accountable, especially to their smaller stockholders. Keep it that way.

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Laura Nelson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Laura Nelson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I'm a teacher and I'm trying to imagine what it would be like if I only gave out grades every 6 months instead of quarterly? Would that be satisfactory to the parents or the administration that tracks data? And how would students know what they needed to improve? This is exactly the same. Keep SEC reporting quarterly so the rest of us can know what's going on and how to react/adapt.

Get Outlook for Android

Laura Ni — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Laura Ni Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
There should be timely and no special treatment for the reports. Otherwise the stock market lacks transparency and is unfair. It is already unfair.

Laura OMeara — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Laura OMeara Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I do not want this to change . I worked to long and hard to save this money and invest it to lose any of it ! We need to be informed regularly.
Laura O’Brien, Interior Designer

Laura Ortega — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Laura Ortega Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I am getting ready to retire in a few years. Don’t take my information away from me. Laura from south Florida.

Sent from my iPhone

Laura Pink — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Laura Pink Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is not only necessary for investors to watch their business, but it legal honesty! Any business that keeps investments hidden from investors is fraud and should be treated as fraud! People are tired of being robbed! So many of us are already being threatened regarding our social security benefits being ended due to fraud and other people have had their hand in the till of social security and used it for other things than making sure it was there for those of us who paid it in. We all need honesty from investment companies! When you do not want to be transparent, there is something fraudulent in your heart mind and business!

Sent from my iPad

Laura Pugh — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Laura Pugh Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Laura Pugh housekeeping and this matters to me because it matters to the people whose holdings you have. Do what is in our benefit, not yours, and stop your blasted corruption of the people's money or we'll pray God brings you down to your ending, because we're fed up with corruption and you trying to hide information from us

---

Laura R — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Laura R Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Since quarterly reporting has been keeping companies more honest about their numbers, why do you want to change this? What is your goal here? The only thing this will do is hurt average Americans and their savings.

Laura Taylor — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Laura Taylor Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 A CEO should be aware of the financial health of his or her company. Signing documentation quarterly is not excessive and provides important information to shareholders and the many others whose future financial health and independence depend on this information. Accountability makes the country more stable as the past has shown. To throw away lessons learned is deliberately skewing the system and exposing the country to economic disaster.

Laura D Taylor
Retired educator
Hayden, AL

Sent from my iPhone

Laura W — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Laura W Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I don't feel that it's right to deny American taxpayers the right to monitor their investments on a quarterly basis. I want to be able to monitor my investments. This especially important for retirement accounts. Stop trying to blind the American people. We want more transparency, not less!
Laura White, Interior Designer.

Laura Waite — Jun 18, 2026

Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Laura Waite Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Full disclosure is the only way to provide fair investments. They can claim that their products are made in the USA, but the fact is they manufacture products abroad and only do minor assemblies here. They can say that the corporation is built on fair and equitable pay, but fail to mention that the top brass gets performance bonuses that are outrageous. We want to know how their companies deal with toxic waste. Investors have to make informed decisions about where their money is going. Please consider this proposal carefully, don't allow them to hide behind beaurocracy.

Laura Yarbrough — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Laura Yarbrough Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Laura Yarbrough, unemployed/disabled, Oakdale, CA. It matters to me, because the financial situations of everyone matter. People's savings matter.

LauraLee Hansen — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: LauraLee Hansen Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This is not right. If it is your investment, you have a right to what is happening. I say, no info. Give me my money, WITHOUT penalty to invest with moral investors. Or put in CD 's. Thank you.

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Laurel Ely — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Laurel Ely Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Transparency does not slow America down. It powers our climb. We need reporting to remain quarterly and not revert back to the semi 1955 method.
This allows for quicker reaction times for companies and provides investors a better pulse on their investments.

Sent from my iPhone

Laurel Izard — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Laurel Izard Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
This proposed rule is another example of government overreach, by removing rules and safeguards for the American people. We need more transparency, not more cover ups.

Lauren Hutchinson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Lauren Hutchinson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly accountability keeps companies accountable and honest which is in the best interest of the general public. Keep the status quo! It’s doing its job and doesn’t need to change.

Lauren Hutchinson

Get Outlook for iOS

Lauren Olson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Lauren Olson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My name is Lauren Olson. I'm a teacher and my meager retirement funds matter to me. I rely on quarterly reports to hold companies accountable to small investors like me who don't have access to information readily. As a teacher, I'm expected to report on my progress every nine weeks. Companies using public money should need to do so as often as possible. Quarterly reports seem to be the minimum we could ask of them. Please retain this expectation and do not permit reports twice annually.

Lauren Sunday — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Lauren Sunday Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
The American people are exhausted. Exhausted by the endless news cycle of horrible things. The endless amount of corruption. The endless upheaval of policy that serves to build a better union for the citizens of the United States. This is yet another change that will make it more difficult for those in the working class to get ahead and for those in the billionaire class to hoard wealth beyond anyone's imagination.
We are already living through very uncertain times, where it feels at any moment the whims of one man could negatively impact our financial stability for decades. This is a very scary time for anyone without millions in the bank, which is the majority of Americans.
Transparent, quarterly reporting is a necessary tool that we all benefit from and taking it away would only benefit those who have insider knowledge. That is the very antithesis of the American ethos, that anyone can live the "American Dream," pull themselves up, and make a better life.
All we ask is to not allow the passage of this rule so Americans and their financial advisors can continue to make informed decisions in the market.

Lauren Young — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Lauren Young Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 In the current political and economic environment, we need businesses to be transparent more than ever. Businesses are accountable to stakeholders and they are accountable to the general public, and a healthy degree of regulation ensures this. Quarterly reporting bolsters this accountability, and businesses should not be allowed to shirk their responsibility here.

Lauren Young

Lauri Miner Retired — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Lauri Miner There is not any reason good enough to change from a quarterly report to biennial. Too many risks for accounts to become victims of misdeeds and bad actors.

Laurie — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Laurie Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This is to make the SEC aware of my opinion re S7-2926-15. My opinion is that this is another gambit to enable crooked politicians and 'Public Servants' to continue to line their pockets with less accountability at the cost of the hard working, honest people struggling to create a better life for themselves and their families. Little by little, the guardrails put in place to keep banks, businesses, and other financial institutions honest are being taken down so they can create another Enron or Bank crisis. I just had another surprise charge of $42 added to my insurance bill bill because the law that stopped them from tacking on the credit card fee to their customers is no longer in place. I KNOW Allstate and all the other businesses have already included that fee in their quotes yet they can now collect this additional fee to increase their revenue. Although I offered to use my Debit card or show up with cash in hand, THESE OFFERS WERE UNACCEPTABLE TO THEM. They want the extra revenue. I am sick of all you agencies who are supposed to look after MY interests working for BIG BUSINESS instead.

Laurie Morales
P O Box 23594
Federal Way, WA 98093

Laurie

Laurie Baird — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Laurie Baird Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
The propsal will have investors not knowing how the corporations are doing, leaving us with less transparency for fraud. Keep quarterly filings so we can make better investments choices.

Laurie Chipman — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Laurie Chipman Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Public companies have reported their financial results every three months for over half a century. Please keep this as is. The public needs to know what companies are doing.

Best regards,
Laurie Chipman

Laurie Silverman — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Rule From: Laurie Silverman Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is the least we should be doing to hold company's accountable. The rules do NOT NEED TH CHANGE. Thank you

Laurie Silverman
Fringe Interior Fabrications
3210 W. 42nd St.
Indianapolis, IN 46228
317.514.8332

fringe281@gmail.com

Laurie Spencer — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Laurie Spencer Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We need quarterly reporting for many reasons. If there are problems, 6 months is way too long to be able to see them and rectify. 6 months is a very bad idea. I'm a No to 6 month reporting!!

Sent from my iPhone

Laurie Tanenbaum — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Laurie Tanenbaum Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Don't Do It!

Laurie Tanenbaum
413-345-1827

LAURIE VANCLEVE — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: LAURIE VANCLEVE Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting keeps companies honest and investors money safe. Rolling regulations back to 1955 is not a good idea. Not supporting this change.

Laurie
Sent from my iPhone

Laurl Ruhl individual retired — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Laurl Ruhl individual An informed population makes the best decisions. it is in EVERYONE'S best interests for us to have as much information as possible. Fighting fraud and corruption will keep us all safer. The Bernie Madoff's and the Bankman Fried's of the world will go undetected much longer with less reporting from the FED. We need those quarterly statements in order that we may make wise judgments concerning our finances. The companies still have to produce those reports to file quarterly 941 taxes so this new rule will not save any work for the companies. If we are investors/shareholders in those companies we have a right to see how our money is being managed in a timely fashion. Do NOT go to semi annual filings. keep the quarterly filings, please. Thank you in advance for your assistance in this matter. ~Laurie Ruhl

---

LaVerne Henderson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: LaVerne Henderson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I want voter ID, I want all Muslims out of America (they don't Belong here) and I want term limits for Congress and Senate, I want no foreigners in any government office, state and federal. I want all illegals gone, I want things to be made in America again . I want bills / laws to be approved by the people. I want insider trading to stop, I want democrats to stop wasting our time and money on impeachment nonsense. I want them impeached.

Sent from my iPhone

Lawrence Chase — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Lawrence Chase Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Do NOT increase the timeframe to 6 months.

if anything, make it every 2 months. Publicly traded, run your business, explain your status.

Lawrence Schaffer — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Lawrence Schaffer Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Do not screw the American people with this corruption-enabling travesty.

Lb Learning — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Lb Learning Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Lori Blasing, Programmer Analyst, Montana. As a single person building my wealth is paramount to staying off social programs as I age. My investments are my only source of wealth building. Being able to make sound decisions is essential to that goal. The more accurate and frequent the information, the better my decisions towards reaching the goal of supporting myself in retirement. I want to see quarterly data.

Get Outlook for iOS

LDRL SIR LANDALE LAMAR HOLMES SR — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: LDRL SIR LANDALE LAMAR HOLMES SR Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
008085

Leah Bethe — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Leah Bethe Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Being able to see quarterly reports is important! Mine and my family's life insurance in required quarterly. I need to know that the investments being made by that company are sufficient to cover values on the policies. Also, mutual funds are tied to quarterly reports. Without our ability to have direct access to them, mutual funds could also be in danger. My daughter has an IRA from her last job that needs to be monitored as well.

Leah Hollingshead — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Leah Hollingshead Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Hello there,

My name is Leah Hollingshead and I'm a Research Services Coordinator for a public university. I'm a regular person - not rich by any means - but a fair shot at the stock market helps my small monthly contributions to my Roth IRA ensure I can provide myself with a dignified retirement.

Thanks for your consideration.

From one public servant to another,
Leah

Sent from my iPhone

Lee Blasi — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Lee Blasi Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To Whom It may Concern,
I depend on my quarterly reports to make my investment decisions. This decision is bad on many levels…it allow insiders unfair advantage, it leaves more room for fraud and the small amount saved by the shift isn't worth what the cost will be to me and other investors. This is a solid NO!
Lee Blasi
Retiree

Lee Headrick — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Lee Headrick Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I think we need quarterly reporting. It helps to know how my investments are doing more often than twice a year . If you are keeping. Good books this is not hard to do; Since their financial health can effect mine. I watch my finances closely. I can't take a chance that a decline may be hidden from me by making the term longer

Sent from my iPad

Lee McKeown — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Lee McKeown Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My name is Lee, I'm a retiree from Corporate America. Quarterly Reporting is what helped our company stay on track for success. From my 35+ years in business to transitioning home, I've learned how to take Quarterly Reports and apply it to my home budgets. Not having those reports will have major impact on my life savings, what I can spend on medicines, (I take 17 of them daily) food budget and on down to how I invest in my grandson's accounts.

I need quarterly reports for my everyday life.

Thank you,
Lee M.

Sent from my iPhone

Lee McKnight — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Lee McKnight Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 If it's not broken, don't fix it. Quarterly reporting works. It keeps everyone informed as to the current situation of the company. The small savings that could occur if reporting was changed to biannual are not worth the risk of fraud going unchecked . Lee Mcknight , office manager .

Lee Scruggs — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Lee Scruggs Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Dear SEC,
The fact that you are considering reducing the current reporting periods by half signals that you intend to migrate from your responsibility and primary purpose of maintaining fidelity of the relationship between member companies and their investors.
Such abdocation of your responsibility during a time when preparation and dissemination of such reporting is quickened with the aid of technology not only makes your intentions suspect but an indication that your current leadership is not fit for your roles and consideration of an overhaul of the commission may be a time that has come.

Respectfully,

R. Lee Scruggs, Jr.

---

leigh-ann Isenock — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: leigh-ann Isenock Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 As a single mother in her 40s who's is trying desperately to save some money, any money, in a couple investment accounts for myself and my children, this rule change would have a significant impact on my ability to grow any kind of meaningful dividends. Less information available means more volatile markets. And the moves on behalf of this twisted administration to remove transparency and oversight into the mega corporations in this country just shows how corrupt it has become. They will do anything to protect corporate profits at the detriment to the regular american people.

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Lekhanh Nelson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Lekhanh Nelson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 KEEP IT QUARTERLY!!!

Sent from my iPhone Le Khanh

---

lela murray — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: lela murray Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Not right!!

Lela Wakely — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Lela Wakely Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Leila Wakely. Retired nurse. Keep it Quarterly! It was made quarterly because you can't be trusted. You still can't be trusted. The only reason to change is to hide what you're doing.

---

len kearney — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: len kearney Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Absolutely NEEDED!

Carpe diem!

Lena — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Mid-infrared Optics Market Growth Rate Analysis Report From: Lena Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Dear.
^|
We have released a report on the latest Mid-infrared Optics market research.
Pls feel free to contact James@vicmarketresearch.com. if you are interested in it. A sample report will be sent to you.
^|
The report covers the following participants:
Knight Optical
Shanghai Optics
EKSMA Optics
ULO Optics
Lattice Materials
Mid IR Alliance
Femtum
Block Engineering
Wavelength Opto-Electronic Solaris Optics
Ecoptik
Noni
Syntec Optics

LumOptica
Thorlabs
There are more companies not listed here.
This may be helpful to the Related Departments or the person in charge of your company.
^|
Best regards / Mit freundlichen Grüßen / 此致敬意
Lena

Lenard Wood — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Lenard Wood Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To whom it concerns, why are you trying to change rules that was put into place to protect us after the Enron scandal? Only reporting twice a year instead of quarterly opens up the possibility of corruption and is a minor inconvenience for the businesses effected. Please maintain the current reporting system we now enjoy.

Lenard Wood
(936)598-3350-office / (832)296-0013-cell lenardwood2@gmail.com

“Coming together is a beginning; keeping together is progress; working together is success.” — Henry Ford

---

Leo Bonnes — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Leo Bonnes Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the 3 month rule. Wars can come and go in 6 months and so too can the entire leadership of a company!

Leo Sanford — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Leo Sanford Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Leo Sanford; retired Keep the reports to quarterly. Six months is too long. Most of my retirement support comes from investments in publicly traded companies. I would like to know how they are doing more than twice a year.

Leo Strauss — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Leo Strauss Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 No, we need full transparency and protection, please do not do this.

Leona Crouch — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Leona Crouch Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Dear SEC committee,

Why even consider making change the record keeping for the CEO's?

It's good practice and accountable to keep the laws as are especially after the collapse of Enron.

If any changes happen. Make it stricter.

Thanks,

Leona Crouch
22 Buckingham Way
Taylors, SC. 29687

Sent from my iPhone

Leonard Conforti — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Leonard Conforti Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 A joke is a joke but nobody wants to die laughing. TRUMP FOR DOG CATCHER!

Sent from my iPhone

---

leonard ives — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: leonard ives Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 How hard is it to put your signature on important paperwork 4 times a year? Keep it 4!

Sent via the Samsung Galaxy A35 5G, an AT&T 5G smartphone
Get Outlook for Android

Leonard Leffner — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Leonard Leffner Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Your signature means your organization is not (should not be) on auto-pilot. Organizations big and small need to be accountable.

Sent from my iPhone

Leonard Meier None — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Leonard Meier I steongly urge maintaining quarterly reporting. Corporations are entites registered with the government and many are publicly traded on the stock exchange. Quarterly reporting enhances transparency and allows stock traders, including mutual funds and big retirement funds like mine, to have timely information regarding corporate profits and losses. I strongly oppose a shift to semiannual reporting.

---

lesa hamel — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: lesa hamel Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 As a retail investor, quarterly reports assist me in making decisions about my retirement investments. This change will give unfair advantages to corporations that already have enough. Please consider continuing quarterly reports.

Sent from my iPhone

Leslee — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Leslee Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 As a retired person, I need to be informed on my investments! I follow them and can correct when I want. Please do not change the current quarterly reporting.

Lesley Riddell & Jeffry Koch — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Quarterly Reporting From: Lesley Riddell & Jeffry Koch Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Dear SEC,

We are “loaning” companies our money when we choose to invest and n them. It’s their fiduciary responsibility to make wise decisions to build a great company. In return the company pays us with dividend checks or increased stock value. If non of this happens, then these companies are just running a Ponzie scheme. Quarterly reports are a must. Even in 90 days, shady accounting can occur.

Sincerely,

Lesley Riddell-Koch

Leslie Burkhardt — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Leslie Burkhardt Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Pleases don’t write corruption into law. A healthy stock market cannot exist without laws that keep it healthy. DO THE RIGHT THING!!!

Sent from my iPad

Leslie Castro — Jun 18, 2026

Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Leslie Castro Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep your paws off my money. Greed is ugly!!!!

Sent from my iPhone

Leslie Concepcion — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Leslie Concepcion Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
As someone closing in on my retirement it is Important to me that I receive my quarterly reports. Please do not discontinue the current practice of providing retirement updates quarterly. Thank you.

Leslie Del Moral — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Leslie Del Moral Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 The SEC should absolutely help quarterly reports!

Leslie deVillez — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Leslie deVillez Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 * no. We are sick and tired of you greedy sons of es stealing money. * off sEC leslie

Leslie Ellis — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Leslie Ellis Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 For over 20 years The Sarbanes-Oxley Act has been preventing corporate fraud. Diluting it by changing from 4 times a year to 2 times a year means potential investors can be only half as certain that our hard-earned money is safe in the stock market.

L.Ellis
Philadelphia

Leslie Graham — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Leslie Graham Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Continue quarterly reporting! This is an essential tool for our economy.

Sincerely,

Leslie Graham

Leslie Guinan — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Leslie Guinan Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Please keep the market fair.
Individual investors need quarterly reports.

Leslie Lambert — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Leslie Lambert Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Cmon... PLEASE STOP WITH THE GREED...
WHY is more NEVER enough???
Just because greed & CORRUPTION is popular & trendy, doesnt mean its right!!!

Maybe think about and make compassion & sharing patriotic again.

Remember when...?

Leslie Lambert — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Leslie Lambert Cmon... PLEASE STOP WITH THE GREED... WHY is more NEVER enough??? Just because greed & CORRUPTION is popular & trendy, doesnt mean its right!!! Maybe think about and make compassion & sharing patriotic again. Remember when...?

Leslie McKewan — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Leslie McKewan Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 In these uncertain times, I watch my money DAILY! I watch my retirement funds monthly, and the market DAILY! These reports are very important, and they are not that hard to do. I produced them in the 80s when the markets were booming and all over the place. Do not let this fall through the cracks!!!

Leslie Perkins McKewan
LMP Graphics
845 657 8032

Leslie Noyes — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Leslie Noyes Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Leslie Noyes, retired educator and full-time author, here. My husband worked for Enron. We lost most of our retirement savings when their fraudulent activity came to light. No one should have to experience that. We were still young enough to make some of that income back, but we knew many retirees who ended up working into their 80’s. Quarterly reporting is a gate keeper. Keep it.

Sent from my iPhone

Leslie Owens — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Leslie Owens Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Accountability is vital. Keep quarterly reports mandatory!

Leslie Schreiber — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Leslie Schreiber Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This is bull * ! Quit screwing the people over Without the little guys you total assholes are nothing. Does it make you feel like big men
To screw people over? Well you’re not. You’re tiny! Only strong big men don’t need to do this bull * to fell strong and big. They’ll. squash you someday. Better watch out for them and from Jesus He’s watching you too. Rest assure he’ll see you on judgment day and it won’t be good.

Leslie Schreiber, Director
Small Wonders Discovery and Learning Center
330-420-5594

Leslie Sinnott — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Leslie Sinnott Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I am.a registered voter in Boone County Indiana. My husband and I are retired and our retirement funds come in large part from savings that are invested. We and many other retirees need to have thr regular, FREQUENT information that comes from the quarterly reporting. If we are to.rely more and more on personal savings for retirement it is critical that reporting isn't reduced. It will limit ability to make informed decisions about the portfolio. This will be increasingly important if anything happens to Social Security. Do NOT reduce reporting requirements. There is no good reason to change the reporting requir that are in place.

Leslie A. Sinnott
124 Finch Court
Lebanon, Indiana 46052
Phone: 317-501-7069

lsinnottlaw@gmail.com
http://www.linkedin.com/in/lesliesinnott

Leslie Slavens — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Leslie Slavens Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 It’s not enough frankly, but for now it’s a guardrail

Sent from my iPhone

Leslie White — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Leslie White Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 KEEP IT QUARTERLY!!!

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Leslyn Erickson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Leslyn Erickson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Biannual reporting is terrible! I have no way to keep track of either my investments or their sector.
It's terrible!

Sent from Samsung Galaxy smartphone.
Get Outlook for Android

Letty Coro — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment-NO From: Letty Coro Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 setting up perfect fraud timelines has proven to be catastrophic to small investors. why oh why go back to bad practices? No and no to 6 month windows..

Levi Javier Engineer — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Levi Javier Do NOT change the quarterly reporting to semi-annually. KEEP THE QUARTERLY REPORTS !!!!!

Lewis Jones — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Lewis Jones Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Proposed Rule S7-2026-15 would harm investors by reducing their access to information about the economic health of publicly traded companies. This would also harm the companies, because market wouldn't know which companies are performing well, so it could reward that performance by growing the value of the stock for those companies.

Lexi Schwartz — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Lexi Schwartz Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 In retirement, most of my income is from stocks. It's hard to budget not knowing. Don't domit.

Lexi Schwartz

Lia von Damm — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Lia von Damm Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Lia von Damm, letter carrier, Los Gatos - These rules are in place for a reason and they work to keep companies and theirs CEOs accountable. There is no good reason to stop the current practice except to allow for malfeasance. These rules are very important because I depend on my investments for my future and I need to trust that the managers of my TSP have the best information available to be able to manage my accounts. I am not a rich Tech worker, millionaire or billionaire that has so much money that they can afford to lose some and it won't matter. For me, every penny counts. I need to trust that my money is managed in the best possible way possible and that is by following the existing quarterly rules. Please don't let companies off the hook. Sadly we can't trust that they will do the right thing.

Liam Kelleher — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Liam Kelleher Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please keep 4 reporting windows

---

Libby Henderson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Libby Henderson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 If 1/4ly reporting ends, here's what happens, and BTW, we don't want it! Diminished Market TransparencyInformation Asymmetry: Corporate insiders gain a larger timing advantage over retail investors.Stale Financial Data: Investors must make decisions using six-month-old data.Delayed Risk Detection: Material operational downturns remain hidden for longer periods.Increased Market VolatilityEarnings Shocks: Semi-annual data releases trigger larger, more chaotic price corrections.Speculative Trading: Long silence intervals fuel damaging market rumors and guesswork.Widened Bid-Ask Spreads: Market makers increase spreads to price in heightened uncertainty.Weakened Corporate GovernanceDelayed Accountability: Management teams face public scrutiny less frequently.
Libby Henderson, Veteran, Financial Services Industry Retiree

---

Liesa Lietzke — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Liesa Lietzke Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I am a professor in Berkeley, and I value accountability in business. Quarterly reporting is essential and must be preserved—I urge you NOT to make changes to current policy on this.

~L Lietzke

Lila Jiang — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Lila Jiang Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Do not support this!

Lillian Heyward — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Lillian Heyward Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 No more crooked corporations. Quarterly if not more. It seems like Trump is again trying to give payoffs to his major donors STOP the corruption!!!

Sent from my iPhone

LILLIE PRATT — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: LILLIE PRATT Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 It should stay and everyone should be held accountable for their actions .
Lillie Pratt
Retiree
Garland,Texas

Sent from my iPhone

---

lily parastatidis — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: lily parastatidis Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Liljana Parastatidis,I am an owner and app-orator of a small business, I would like to see quality reporting, for small investing people can not AFFORD TO LOSE MONEY .

Lin Ungerer — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Lin Ungerer Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 DO NOT DO THIS!

Sent from my iPad

Lina Stio — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Lina Stio Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I am completely against the SEC allowing public companies to report semi-annually. This will only let companies HIDE their financials for 6 months causing dark periods of uncertainty for investors.

Quarterly reporting creates investor trust, corporation transparency & accountability. It fosters more accurate analytical forecasting & also mitigates the risks of insider trading & market speculation.
Eileen Stio Retired LPN Hamden, CT

Sent from AOL on Android

Linda Adamo — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Linda Adamo Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 SEC, Why would you change something that is not broken and will cost the U S shareholders based on prior historical data. Quarterly filings allow the consumer a review of their investments 4 x yr. Semi annual filings is too long, there are to many variables internal and external factors that can affect the market place. Also with new technology and AI quarterly filings will be produced faster and less costly.

Linda Adamo, Retired
Hollywood, Fl 33021

Linda Ball — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Linda Ball Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Half a year is way too long between reports. What are you trying to hide.

Sent from my iPhone

Linda Brown Real Estate Agent — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Linda Brown Dear SEC, please do not roll back quarterly reporting! I personally spear headed an effort against a proposed an ENRON power plant in Deerfield Beach,FL. It would not have benefitted the quality of life and public health and safety if it had been allowed to locate there. Also power was designated to be “shipped” to another location, no local benefit. Power companies need to be held accountable to the communities they locate plants in. Save Quarterly Reporting!

Linda Butler — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Linda Butler Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is an important tool to help investors make sound decisions. Y’all are just opening the door for big businesses to hide information from us.

Sent from my iPad

Linda Campbell — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Linda Campbell Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Do Not Change! Keep Quarterly

Sent from my IPhone

Linda Chinn — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Linda Chinn Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Leave the quarterly rule. Do not change it!

Sent from my iPhone

Linda Cornejo — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Linda Cornejo Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We need MORE transparency, not less. Keep the quarterly reporting to ensure accountability.
Linda Cornejo
Retired Educator

Sent from my iPhone

Linda Cullen-Fry — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Linda Cullen-Fry Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep quarterly reports! We must not go backwards because our current administration is trying to ruin our country!

Sent from my iPhone

Linda Fortier — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Linda Fortier Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Do not drop quarterly reporting. Much harder for companies to hide problems if they have to report quarterly.

Linda Goodman — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Linda Goodman Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 As a small investor in the stock market, it is important for me to be informed about my stocks, especially now that I am retired. Quarterly reports are important for me to know what is happening. I urge you to keep quarterly reports. Thank you, Linda Goodman, Southampton , PA

Sent from my iPhone

Linda Goodrich — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Linda Goodrich Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We've been here before. We have the ability to watch for trouble with quarterly reporting. It would be a mistake to remove it.

Linda Grey — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Linda Grey Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Stop it. Don't.

L. B.

LINDA GUMPP — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: LINDA GUMPP Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Linda Gumpp, retired, Indiana. This money is used to keep our household going. I am healthy and see a lot of years in my future. My husband has no retirement fund. I need my money to grow to cover inflation, and social security doesn't do that.
We can't afford to lose 50%. Please have companies report quarterly so we can make corrections ASAP to our funds.

Get Outlook for Android

Linda Guthmiller — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Linda Guthmiller Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I think quarterly reporting is important. Transparency and timeliness of reports is important for investors.

Linda Hartman — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Linda Hartman Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting must continue. If I have to pay quarterly taxes to the IRS. Then that is about the same thing. Continue them!!! Linda Hartman

---

Linda Heil — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Linda Heil Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Be fair. Don’t keep ruining our country. Honesty and integrity matter. KEEP IT QUARTLY!

Get Outlook for iOS

Linda Hillman-Werner — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Linda Hillman-Werner Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Look back on why the reports were quarterly. Six months is too much time to allow them to hide what is going on in the company. Explain why they should have more time to hide their mismanagement or any other issues. Are we now united corporations of America.

Linda Johnson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Linda Johnson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 These corporations routinely lie even without you giving them another way to hide money. Do NOT do this.

Linda Kestenbaum — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Linda Kestenbaum Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:

why do this? If you go ahead with this it must mean you're in Trump's pocket. Dishonest!!!

LINDA LEITNER — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: LINDA LEITNER Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep quarterly reports

Sent from my iPhone

Linda Lewis — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Linda Lewis Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Stop encouraging and enabling criminals to do whatever they want with complete impunity!!!

Many Blessings,
Linda Lewis ~ Realtor
Military Relocation Professional
Promise Realty at HomeSmart Preferred Realty 303.827.4902
promiserealty3@gmail.com

www.promiserealty.org

II Chronicles 7:14

Linda Lindsay — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Linda Lindsay Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 No going back. This proposal is the opposite of transparancy.

LINDA LUDWA — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: LINDA LUDWA Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Do not change! I need quarterly reports to know how my investments are doing and what I should do.

Sent from my iPhone

Linda Marks — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Linda Marks Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please keep reporting on a quarterly basis.

Linda Marks

Sent from my iPhone, please excuse any typos or auto corrects!

Linda Mayberry — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Linda Mayberry Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Why would you go to semi annual reporting? No! You are charged with bring fiscally responsible .. keep the quarterly reporting. History tells you that...results in other countries trill you that!!

Linda McLouglin — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Linda McLouglin Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Insiders will have the information while investors - not so much! We need quarterly reporting! Why change something that is working?

Sent from my iPhone

Linda Panozzo — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Linda Panozzo Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Corporations have gotten out of line! There should always be accountability! Especially, if our money is involved! What has happened in our country is an absolute sin! The most corrupt administration in our history! We, the people need to rise up and put a stop to this!

Sent from my iPhone

Linda Pasto — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Linda Pasto Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 As a citizen and an investor , I feel it’s critical to have current, valid data to make decisions on. Moving it to twice a year would not allow for this to happen. It needs to stay the way it is.
Thank you,
Linda Pasto

Linda Piffer — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Linda Piffer Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I had thought that semi-annual reporting would be a good idea in that it might force company leadership to think longer term, but have come to the conclusion that there is such greedy self-serving malfeasance on most boards that they cannot be trusted to go that long without accountability. A better fix would be to have any newly purchased stock HAVE to be held for a period of time before it could be sold; ideally a year. This would help to eliminate some of the shenanigans by day traders and the public parasite that is Private Equity.

Linda Ruesch American Voter — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-22 From: Linda Ruesch I'm retired. Those who are retired, as well as others, need the monitoring and assurance that quarterly reporting provides. No agency public or private should reduce reporting to us that maybe invested in them for our fiscal wellbeing.!

Linda Sears — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Linda Sears Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Why is the government trying to protect multi-millionaire execs in corporations and shifting the American public? This is disastrous for the US investor. Enough of protecting the wealthy execs. Protect the public.

Get Outlook for Android

Linda Shute — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Linda Shute Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I’m totally against withholding earnings information from stockholders. It’s deceptive at best. Transparency is key! Linda Kepler.

Sent from my iPhone

Linda Walters — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Linda Walters Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Linda Walters, Nurse, KEEP SEC REPORTING QUARTERLY. I believe the citizens deserve transparency in our financial institutions. Reporting was made quarterly for a reason. DON'T change what's working.

Linda Weiner — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Linda Weiner Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We cannot go without quarterly reports!!!

Sent from my iPhone

Linda Winkelman — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Linda Winkelman Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This is absolutely terrible. It is just designed to transfer more wealth from working class. We need to start dealito trash our country.ng v with integrity again and kick the power hungry money grabbing crooks out of power They are being allowed to trash our country.

Linda Winkler — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Linda Winkler Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I believe it's common sense that quarterly reporting is better than less frequently for the many people, like me, who rely on that information to make decisions with serious consequences. Retirement funds, money for education, and other needs for money invested means choices should be made wisely, with maximum information.
Don't change the requirements for reporting from quarterly to twice a year. Corporations get their reports quarterly and so should the stockholders and other interested parties.

Lindsay — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Lindsay As a US citizen that believes it is the government's job to protect its citizens, I strongly urge the SEC to leave the regulations for quarterly reporting in place. It is the people that the government should act at the behest of, NOT corporations.

Lindsay School — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Lindsay School Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 No. Just leave the quarterly reporting in place. Those of us invested as part of our only retirement option deserve to manage our funds in as transparent a way as possible. No one should benefit more because they have insider information. The idea of regulation is to provide a fair market, not skew options and investment to benefit only a minority of wealthy individuals. My name is Lindsay and I am a retiree and this matters to me.

Sent from my iPhone

Lindsey Charlip — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Lindsey Charlip Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 More ways to eliminate the middle class? Gee-wouldn’t want to inconvenience the corporations. DO NOT change the current quarterly reporting system. -Lindsey Charlip Washington State

Sent from my iPhone

Lindy Bunch — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Lindy Bunch Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My name is Linda Bunch and I am a 72 year old retired person. There are two reasons I want quarterly reporting to continue. The first reason is that I have a greater need for frequent reporting as I age and need to manage my limited finances. The second reason is that I suffer from a neurological condition which makes it more difficult to remember the facts of my life. I don't need help to make it more difficult. Thank you for your consideration.

Lindy Cook — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Lindy Cook Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Lindy Cook, retired. I am a retiree and I rely on quarterly reports to confirm that my retirement savings are going to continue to meet the needs of our family.

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Ling Marquardt — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Ling Marquardt Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission: DO your effin jobs and regulate!! You suck. Put Jay Clayton back in charge.
Love, Ling M

Lisa A Adair — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Lisa A Adair Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
This is deceptive and non transparent. I want more transparency not less. What are you trying to hide snd complicate? Corruption on the backs is f the people who vote?

Lisa Adair — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Lisa Adair Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This is bullsgiz! Quarterly reports are necessary. This is a horrible idea

Sent from my iPhone

Lisa Benson Citizen — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Lisa Benson Please do not change the rules of reporting for publicly traded companies . This will invite coverups that benefit corporations instead of holding them accountable on a quarterly basis with the money that people invest. Thus will prevent full transparency of potential investments and risks. This is a step backward in our country that can only benefit already exceedingly wealthy investors.

Lisa Borel — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Lisa Borel Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 As a couple close to retiring, quarterly reporting is very important to us. Our income will depend on our investments and visibility. Please do not return to semi reporting.

L Borel

Sent from my iPhone

Lisa Butler — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Lisa Butler Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please continue quarterly reporting. There is no reason to discontinue providing disclosures to your customers.

Lisa Butler

Lisa Carter — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Lisa Carter Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Lisa Carter, entrepreneur. This ruling to offer companies the option to file financial data twice a year instead of quarterly matters to me because I want the stock market to be as strong and stable as possible.

Sent from my iPhone

Lisa Cutter — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Lisa Cutter Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My name is L. Cutter, I am a retired CIO. I strongly oppose the SEC's proposed Rule S7-2026-15 for the following reasons:
1) When I started investing, there were a few tech companies but nothing like today's "magnificent" 7 or 10 that are literally the tail that wags the dog driving S&P 500 total performance. Tech companies have to be incredibly nimble to stay in business; conditions change weekly and these companies' response to changes must happen weekly as well. Investors absolutely can NOT wait six months. Times have changes, the SEC needs to keep up.
2) Retail investors are increasingly using AI to rebalance their investments. You want to give Claude or Gemini or whatever the freshest data possible. This proposed rule will disadvantage all of us individual investors using AI to manage our retirement funds as data will become stale. Outdated information equals poor decisions, that's bad for the economy.

Lisa Dare — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Lisa Dare Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
I do not want quarterly disclosures to be eliminated. I want to protect my investments.

Lisa Daunhauer — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Lisa Daunhauer Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Here’s what I think about reducing quarterly reporting to every six months- the savings for the companies aren’t worth the cost to me. This policy, if enacted, would make it harder for those of us strapped in the housing crisis while caring for both parents and children to grow funds for retirement and stability.

Lisa Daunhauer
Assoc Professor

Sent from my iPhone

Lisa Diel — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Lisa Diel Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting needs to continue exactly as it is. Transparency is always of key importance in a society that wants to grow and prosper. There is no benefit in lack of transparency. Companies that want our money and then don’t want to let us know what’s going on with their finances is unethical. This is just another way to try to rip off the consumer. Maybe we should have them report monthly instead of quarterly.

Lisa Diel

Lisa Duke-Lees — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Lisa Duke-Lees Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 As a small business owner coming from a family that values investing , this proposal is very concerning. Limiting the reporting puts small investors at a disadvantage and will further widen the wealth gap. There are other ways to reduce reporting burden that don't degrade transparency for individual investors.
Lisa Lees

Lisa Enloe — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Lisa Enloe Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We need quarterly reports. Stop trumps grifting now.

LISA ENLOE
202-664-6799

Lisa Hauser — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Lisa Hauser Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I am a single woman hoping to retire in 5 years. Without quarterly reports, it makes more difficult to project my financial future. Having a job with zero benefits, I save whatever I can and that's difficult enough when you don't have additional knowledge of your investments. Please do not make life harder than it needs to be; keep quarterly reports! Lisa A. Hauser Medical Biller

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Lisa James — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Lisa James Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Keep it Quarterly ,Stop the Fraud!

Lisa Jane Toczek — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Lisa Jane Toczek Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reports are important to small investors like me. If a company deserves my capital investment, it is responsible to me to share information about how it is doing. My investment is not free money for CEOs.

Sent from my iPhone

Lisa Jarvis — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Lisa Jarvis Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 MUST KEEP IT QUARTERLY. ITS A MATTER OF LIFE OR DEATH FOR MANY PEOPLE!!

Lisa Jarvis

Lisa John — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Lisa John Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Ms. John
If I have to pay taxes quarterly, you can report quarterly. Hidding what companies are doing will force investment firms to invest in European markets instead of here.

Lisa Johnson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Lisa Johnson I am against semiannual reporting. With the fast pace of growth and technology we need more transparency not less. Semiannual reporting enables companies to more easily hide rough patches and financial anomalies from investors, which could cause irreparable harm. Companies should be on top of their financials and if they are doing them as they should, they may as well share them. If the Boards of companies decide to, they could switch to semiannual dividends which could negatively impact those who are living off that income.

---

lisa keller — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: lisa keller Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 No changes

Lisa N Niemann

LISA KOMARA — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: LISA KOMARA Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Sean McKessy's BFF here. 16CV:2702 and I say y'all have no business writing your own rules. STOP. Quarterly stays and STOP supporting Israel. Gates *ed me over and Epstein is NOT his biggest problem; Epstein is DEAD and KiOR is not invisible. Fry the Rice at the Gates of Hell. You're welcome. Pay up. I need a nice house. TCR it valid. I am not the enemy.

Lisa

Lisa Kronus — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Lisa Kronus Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 What are you trying to hide? NO

Unmonitored account text me

Lisa L. — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Lisa L. Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Why can’t large corporations understand that if their gain is at the expense of the average investor, then the average investor will have less money to spend on the products and services that their companies provide?

Opacity in reporting and shafting people for personal gain is NOT a sustainable business model. When consumers are protected, we ALL prosper.

L. Lazur

Lisa Lee — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Lisa Lee Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Every 3 months is the maximum amount of time any company should be able to go without updating all shareholders and the general public as to how it is doing. Every single person who is investing or considering investing in a company, no matter how large or small the investment is should have this information. Allowing companies to go 6 months between sharing this information puts investors at an increased risk of loss of money. Most of this information can be made available digitally to most investors and the public. We all know this information, reports, are and will be compiled for company management so there is truly no reason to not share this with all investors and the public.

Lisa Marshall — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Lisa Marshall Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We rely on quarterly information to make decisions, longer gaps create an unfair advantage for corporate insiders, "optional" doesn't fix the problem because companies that opt in are often the ones whose investors most need frequent updates, and the savings to companies aren't worth the cost to us.

Lisa Marshall

Sent from my iPhone

Lisa Miller — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Lisa Miller Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Lisa Phillips Miller Retired this mess needs to stop. Just another way to mess with knowledge "we the people" need

Get Outlook for iOS

Lisa Minnich — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Lisa Minnich Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Why are you intent on enabling cheating?

Lisa Morgan — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Lisa Morgan Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Leave it as it is now! Quarterly

Sent from my iPad

Lisa Moyer — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Lisa Moyer Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Lisa Moyer,Pennsylvania, Mill Operator. Real tired of paying the majority of the taxes. Tired of paying to much for health care and REAL TIRED OF BIG BUSINESS GETTING AWAY WITH MURDER. They should be held more accountable then the common worker. Real tired of the government "for the people " not being for the people.

Lisa Nielsen — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Lisa Nielsen Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 For 50 years, since I was 14, I have paid into Social Security. My employers have paid into Social Security for me as well. For 40 of those 50 years I worked as a Registered Nurse. I raised two kids, put them through college and tried to save as much as I could. I knew I could not depend on SS so I invested and now the SEC wants to change to semi-annual reporting. The US tried this from 1955 to 1970 and people lost money. It you, SEC, were to try this again many people, including me , could lose as much as 36% of their savings. Please, we can't count on SS when we retire and now you will be slashing our savings. It is in the best interest of the people to continue Quarterly reporting. Thank you. Lisa Nielsen Murfreesboro, TN 37129 eandgsmom@gmail.com

---

Lisa Renshaw — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Lisa Renshaw Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 TRANSPARENCY! Keep the rule intact.

Any change will definitely cause issues.

Lisa Renshaw

Lisa S.James — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Lisa S.James Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 QUARTERLY IS VITAL

Lisa Seitz — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Lisa Seitz Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Every one who chooses to invest should be able to do so. Things should be equal and balanced as much as possible. The public needs to have access to their information. Thank you

---

Lisa T — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Lisa T Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Wall street has taken long enough, lied and covered long enough. No hiding of the books is acceptable! No bonuses for simply doing their job! No tax payer assistance for anything. If they can't be transparent and need to hide facts, then tear it all down and just start fresh with something else!

Sent from my iPhone

Lisa Zimmerman — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Lisa Zimmerman Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To be restricted from the truth on the business being done "for us" is a set up for executive grift. Information given only twice a year will allow companies to hide their crimes until we are destitute and they have all the profits. No sane, responsible corporations would do this. Make it stop!!

Sent from my iPhone

Liz — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Liz Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 There is no logical, ethical reason to change away from quarterly. Reporting should be quarterly. Most all reporting for anything is done quarterly. Those that are in government need to stop trying to cheat, con and steal from the American people.

Liz Cogger — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Liz Cogger Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 C'mon… Everyone knows this is a practice that keeps illegalities in check. The SEC knows this most of all.

Liz Cogger
Nj Resident
Voter since 1992

Sent from my iPhone

Liz Jaquith — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Liz Jaquith Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the SEC,
I am close to retiring in two years. I am a massage therapist and the only wage earner in my household. I need to keep getting updates about my IRA's. Please keep the quarterly reporting so I can closely monitor my accounts.
Thank you!
Liz Jaquith

Get Outlook for iOS

---

liz smith — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: liz smith Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep them accountable. It's not fair that big time executives keep getting off. They are fine right where they are at.
E. Smith
Central Tx

Liz Stevens — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Liz Stevens Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I find it fascinating that the tax payer already bailed out Wall Street for impropriety and now you are going to make their job easier. I have a right to see what's happening with my investments. Even the IRS gets theirs quarterly from businesses. I object to the changes to the rules. What are you trying to hide?

Liz Wade — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Liz Wade Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Maintain quarterly reporting. Our world is constantly changing, quarterly reporting would be a minimum requirement.

Sent from my iPhone

Liza Regan — Jun 18, 2026

Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Liza Regan Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We need quarterly reports to keep people honest.

Liza Regan

Lizzie Whatnot — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Lizzie Whatnot Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 The current schedule exists for a very good reason. Keep it as it is!

Sent from my iPhone

---

lj gardner — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: lj gardner Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 LJ, This just helps the rich get richer!! The middle class has been being screwed over more and more. His shoulder not be allowed.

Lj Roberts — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Lj Roberts Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 The very fact that they want to end quarterly reporting makes me wonder whether it should be monthly. What are they trying to hide.

Get Outlook for Android

LK D — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: LK D Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I expect quarterly reporting of company financials. As a shareholder I deserve to know their financial standing in a timely manner. This proposed change is designed to hide data from shareholders.

Lloyd Dickinson Retired — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Lloyd Dickinson Twice a year is too few times to report. I would like every other month. Having enough financial data is critical to making appropriate decisions.

Lois Iak — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Lois Iak Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Bad idea

---

Lois Timyan — Jun 18, 2026

Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Lois Timyan Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Definitely must have quarterly or monthly would be best!!!!!! We will ALL BENEFIT from knowing! Knowledge is empowering and WE the PEOPLE are the POWER !!!!

Lois Timyan
26520 221st Place SE
Maple Valley, Washington 98038

USA
email: lois.timyandeciryan@gmail.com
cell phone: 407-474-5434

Lonnie BK49 — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Lonnie BK49 Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I am a retired stocker broker of many years followed by Licensed Financial Advisor.m
This proposed step would be the most REGRESSIVE step done to fair markets for half a century.
It is senseless & without logic.
Quarterly reporting is ABSOLUTELY NECESSARY.
DO NOT CHANGE THIS!

Lonnie Benning
1229 N Jackson St Unit 208
Milwaukee, WI 53202

Sent from L.Benning iPhone

Lonnie Williams — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Lonnie Williams Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 SEC should continue publicy publishing quarterly reports.

Looseleaf — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Looseleaf Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 It is important to keep frequent checks on individuals whose decisions affect so many people. In order to prevent great damage to lives and economy, it is imperative we maintain these checks rather than loosen them.

Lora Gray — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Lora Gray Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Dear SEC Commissioners, I am writing to express my opposition to any proposal that would allow public companies to report earnings only twice per year instead of quarterly.
As a single person nearing retirement, I will rely heavily on the investments I have built over many years to provide financial security in the next stage of my life. Timely, accurate information about the companies in which I invest is extremely important to my ability to make informed decisions and protect my retirement savings.
Quarterly reporting provides transparency and accountability, helping all investors, not just large institutions have regular access to a company's financial performance. Reducing the frequency of reporting could leave individual investors with less information, create greater uncertainty, and make it harder to recognize potential concerns before they become more significant.
I understand the concerns about companies focusing too heavily on short-term results, but reducing transparency is not the answer. Investors deserve timely access to information, and maintaining quarterly reporting helps preserve fairness, confidence, and integrity in our financial markets.
Thank you for considering the perspective of individual investors like me, who have spent decades saving and investing responsibly in preparation for retirement.
Sincerely,
Lora Gray
Sr. Manager, Communications

LORETTA LAYMAN — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: LORETTA LAYMAN Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Small investors already are at a great disadvantage by being restricted to trading during business hours while the wealthy are free to play the markets any time they like. Do not push the less advantaged even farther under by adding more disadvantages.

Lori — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Lori Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This is just lining the pockets of the already rich. Your job is to protect the integrity of the trading system - not allow companies to hide behind your corrupt rulings motivated by protecting the wealthy corporations. Do the job that you are asked to do - protect the system of trading, not the corporations.

"Everybody is a genius. But if you judge a fish by its ability to climb a tree, it will live its whole life believing that it is stupid." Albert Einstein

---

Lori Gratke — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Lori Gratke Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This must stay quarterly for our own protection! Who is coming up with these backwards ideas??? Move ahead not behind. This behavior only hurts families and is unacceptable!

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Lori Gregory — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Lori Gregory Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My concern is the likelihood of fraud if this change occurs and the damage that fraud does to investors and markets. The markets themselves have proved inept in the past to self regulate.

Thank you,

Lori Gregory
Lewis Rice
8164212500
1010 Walnut, Suite 500
Kansas City, MO 64106

Sent from my iPhone

Lori Howes — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Lori Howes Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We are not repeating the Enron fraud!
Keep the quarterly reporting.

Sent from my iPhone

Lori J Washington — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Lori J Washington Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 It's not okay to commit fraud, know who did it and then allow a pass. CEO's make 7 figure salaries, they are held.to a higher standard. Not pilfering, regular folks lose their jobs for less. Keep the current policy in place indefinitely.

Lori J

Lori Lange — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Lori Lange Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Honest gain is right! However, dishonest gain is an abomination!

LangeLS Amos 9:11

Lori Mayotte — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Lori Mayotte Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 NO. F*CKING. WAY. The SEC works for and is supposed to represent the American people. ACT LIKE IT.

Thanks, Lori Mayotte
Sent from my iPad

Lori Mescher — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Lori Mescher Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To whom it may concern,

I am writing today to make sure my voice is heard. My husband and I oppose the SEC proposal because we depend on quarterly reporting to make investment decisions, and families like mine who are actively planning retirement and savings rely on these reports for stability.

Six-month reporting would give insiders an unfair advantage, and making it “optional” does not fix the problem because the companies that opt in may be the ones whose investors most need frequent updates and monitoring.

Any savings these companies may see are not worth the cost to investors like us, particularly when the same companies rarely pass on any savings to their consumers.

Quarterly reporting has been a stable practice for over half a century. There is no real justification for change.

Lori Mescher
McKinney, TX

Lori Smith — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Lori Smith Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Dear [Team/Recipient Name],

This is a reminder regarding the importance of transparency and accuracy in our financial reporting. Please ensure that you are reporting all earnings honestly and on a quarterly basis.

Thank you for your cooperation in maintaining these standards.

Best regards,

Lori Smith

Lori Wolfe — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Lori Wolfe Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Quarterly reporting allows investors to maintain their personal portfolios and helps ensure personal retirement. We need to support those investing for retirement to prevent total reliance on social security.
Quraterly reporting also creates trust: in the markets, in personal investments and the business structures created for financial support.
Let's move forward, not back.

Lorie Oblad — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Lorie Oblad Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Insider trading is a big problem. The small investor is the one who gets hurt.

Lorna Emerson Financial Advisor — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Lorna Emerson My name is Lorna Emerson, I am a retired former financial advisor living in Roseville California. I hav a significant amount of my retirement savings invested in the stock market. Please keep to quarterly reports as semi annual reports can affect how much time I would have to react to a company loosing value. As a person who will have to start living on my retirement savings in the next 10 years I cannot afford for my investments to lose value.

LORNA O CONNELL — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: LORNA O CONNELL Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Lorna O'Connell. Retired radio broadcaster.
Criminal activity thrives in darkness; we need to keep shining a light on the TRUTH of what the government is doing if we are to maintain the Constitutional promise of a government "of, by and for" we, the People!

Sent from my iPhone

Lorraine Barlett — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Lorraine Barlett Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Greeting,
I urge you to keep the quarterly SEC reporting system now on place. As an investor of long-standing I feel these reports are necessary and important. Thank you.
Donna L. Barlett,
Attorney at Law,
Augusta GA

Sent from my Galaxy

Lorrie Freitas — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Lorrie Freitas Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Lorrie Freitas, Modesto, CA. Retired.

I appreciate quarterly reporting to help me keep tabs on my investments. I'm also concerned that financial institutions be monitored and held accountable.
Thank you. Lorrie Freitas.

Lorrie Freitas
209.505.3216

Lorrie's Ymail — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Lorrie's Ymail Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reports are important to the majority of investors & keep us in the know and our hard earned money safe. Please do not allow companies to scale back those reports.

Sent from Lorrie's iPhone

LOTTIE ELANDT — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: LOTTIE ELANDT Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Just another way for the rich to steal from the middle class and poor citizens! God, this is so unfair!!!

Lou Arocha — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Lou Arocha Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please keep reporting on a quarterly basis.

Thank you,
JLA, Jr

Lou Mazzucchelli — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Lou Mazzucchelli Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 What are you thinking SEC?
There is no way this is good for investors, only for companies.
Please do not make this mistake.

Lou Mazzucchelli — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Lou Mazzucchelli Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 What are you thinking SEC?
There is no way this is good for investors, only for companies.
Please do not make this mistake.

No. No. No.

Louann Anglo — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Louann Anglo Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Do not allow this! It pulls the wool over the regular folk's eyes. The rich just get richer. Loosening up the rules lends to financial ruin. Did we forget about 2008?

Sent via the Samsung Galaxy S21 5G, an AT&T 5G smartphone
Get Outlook for Android

LouAnn Fowler — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: LouAnn Fowler Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep it Quarterly!

LouAnn L Fowler
Accounting Specialist III
Cowlitz County Public Works

Sent from my T-Mobile 5G Device
Get Outlook for Android

Louann Renwick — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Louann Renwick Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Not a good idea to go back to quarterly reporting.

Louis Frick — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Louis Frick Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I am retired and living on my savings. The fact that there is a percentage of holdings that people who have insider information may trade without consequence is deplorable.

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

---

louis m — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: louis m Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 No SIX months or for that matter not even 1 day! Hiding. Louis Gauthier, MD. We want transparency

You are the architect of your own destiny,

Amado Nervo

Louis Rodenhiser — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Louis Rodenhiser Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Don't change it please

---

Louise — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Louise Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I am totally opposed to quarterly reporting. As investors, we need up to the minute transparency.

Sent from my iPhone

Louise B Leatherdale — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Louise B Leatherdale Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 As a stock holder I believe quarterly reports are important and necessary. Do what is right for stockholders not for corporations.

-Louise Leatherdale

Louise Bray — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Louise Bray Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Not being transparent undermines the market!

Sent from my iPhone Louise Bray

Louise Castelluccio — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Louise Castelluccio Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is important to keep as it makes big business more accountable. So, keep the reporting quarterly!

Sent from my iPad

Louise Frank — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Louise Frank Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep it honest. Quarterly reports!!!!

Sent from my iPhone

Louise McLaughlin — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Louise McLaughlin Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting threatens to diminish or destroy my life savings. I'm 77 years old. If the SEC actions leave me without a means to live, can I come live with you in your mansion?

Respectfully yours,
Louise McLaughlin

Get Outlook for iOS

Louise Young — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Reporting From: Louise Young Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 No way companies should be allowed to report only every 6 months. How many of you are going to benefit? Have you recused yourselves from this decision?
No.
I hope that is very clear.

Lourdes Donikian — Jun 18, 2026

Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Lourdes Donikian Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Please do not stop quarterly reports

Lucine Vertanes — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Lucine Vertanes Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My name is Lucine Vertanes and I am 63 years old. I don't currently invest but have been thinking of doing so since retirement is only a few years away, I thought it would help my finances in my later years, and my bank, Wells Fargo, had added an area to their app to make investing easy. If this passes I'm not sure I'll be able to start as planned unless I'm able to make the money I need to invest before it goes into effect as I plan to invest only in companies I can verify won't lose my money. It's hard enough as it is to know for certain but the current 3 month reporting window makes it less scary. With a 6 month window, I might lose everything even if I'm able to invest while there's a 3 month window as it might be too late for me to sell before taking a loss if information comes out about a company that makes their stock fall. Please keep the window at 3 months, it won't be a tremendous burden on a Fortune 500 company but it will be for the investing public.

Lucretia Paustian — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Lucretia Paustian Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 play fair for everyone To the Securities and Exchange Commission:

Lucy — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Lucy Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 In the era of blatant corruption, don’t be a Putz! This change is about removing the guard rails even more. It is time for true transparency to prevail and men to embrace ethics more, not less!
I gave up my career to be the stay at home parent, (something my conservative husband would never consider doing) even though I made more money and my investments allow me to continue to stay at home to care for a special needs child! We need more checks and balances! The more eyeballs, more often, protects US from the growing greed and corruption trump welcomes with open arms.

Sent from my iPad

Luigi Pasquale — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Luigi Pasquale Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the quarterly reporting.. I can see massive taxpayer bailouts coming

Sent from my iPhone

Lurlean Hunter — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Lurlean Hunter Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 At a time when accountability seems muted, please be the gold standard! Hild fast to what already is in place. Do not change it. We need accountability!

Lurlean Hunter

Sent from my iPhone

Lyda Barrera — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Lyda Barrera Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 TRANSPARENCY IS ESSENTIAL

Sent from my iPhone

Lydia King — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Lydia King Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep that transparency requirement each quarter

Sent from my iPhone

Lydia Pettis — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Lydia Pettis Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Under the Trump presidency we have learned that the lack of transparency breeds corruption. It is essential tht every stock owner have access to the same information in a timely manner in order to make the best investment decisions.
Fraud is rampant. The people at the top are rigging the cash in. This current plan would create an uneven playing field. I do not support this rule as it would hurt everyday people an likely increase fraud and corruption.

Lydia Pettis

Lylah Moore — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Lylah Moore Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Transparency is the cornerstone of fair and accountable markets, which is why any effort to weaken or eliminate quarterly reporting requirements is both damaging and dangerous. Publicly traded companies benefit from access to investor capital, and in return they have a responsibility to provide regular, timely disclosures about their financial performance. Reducing reporting requirements would create longer periods where corporate insiders possess critical information that ordinary investors do not, increasing the risk of market manipulation, insider advantage, and reduced public trust. Investors, employees, retirees, and pension funds deserve consistent access to information that allows them to make informed decisions. Less disclosure does not create better governance; it creates more opportunities for secrecy, speculation, and abuse. In an era where public confidence in institutions is already strained, maintaining strong transparency standards is essential to protecting both investors and the integrity of our financial markets.

Sent from my iPhone

Lyle Ralston — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Lyle Ralston Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This would be more criminal activity by corporations! Should be monthly!

Sent from my iPad

Lyn Holt — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Lyn Holt Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Dear S.E.C.,

Please, in the name of all that right and good in this country, do NOT abandon quarterly reporting. This was tried between 1955 and 1970. Less transparency came with lower returns and lower valuations. For an ordinary investor, like my husband and me, who are now approaching retirement, and who have believed in what this country used to mean, a return to those days could mean losing a third, or even half, of our life savings.

This is wrong on so many levels and must not be allowed. Not only will you erode mine and my husband‘s ability to support ourselves over the next 10 to 20 years, you will erode the economy of the United States, and will turn us into a third tier country.

This cannot be allowed to happen if you value the country that we have all grown up in, and if you value the people. Any adoption of this ill conceived idea will forever cement the belief that is forming now in this country - that the people at the top do not care for the people of this country at all.

Sincerely,
Lyn Holt

Thank you,
Lyn

Lyn Holt
Harris Holt Framing & Art Services
1717 Kenilworth Ave.
Charlotte, NC 28203

704.763.3564 (preferred)
704.373.9090
harrisholt.com

Lyn Stevens — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Lyn Stevens Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Checks and balances are necessary.

Lynda Hamilton — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Lynda Hamilton Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 You must keep quarterly submissions! In this age of digital everything, reporting quarterly is a no brainer and provides the level of transparency needed to keep all parties informed timely so key financial decisions can be made to the benefit of all. I'm Lynda Hamilton from Riverview, FL and I'm retired.

Lynda Hough-Bryant — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Lynda Hough-Bryant Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Investors need CURRENT and ACCURATE information. PERIOD.

Lynda Kwallek — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Lynda Kwallek Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Another thing that elite money folk are using to keep us in the dark. Controlling information and, only knowing when or if the people with the controlling factor decide to give out information. Dumbing down is the goal

Sent from my iPad

Lynn — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Lynn Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We need current reporting not like the 1955.
Lynn Greene, I do stocks and I want quarterly reporting.

Lynn Greene
541.728.8500

Lynn Borner — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Lynn Borner Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Don't change a thing. Leave it quarterly. The average citizen needs a chance at competing , a chance to make money. But needs the tools to do so. This is one of those tools. Don't increase the edge the oligarchs already have.

Sent from my Galaxy

Lynn Coughlin — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Lynn Coughlin Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 As a state employee, it matters that every employee that works for the state has a vested interest in what he does and how it is done. We are not handing of a blank checkbook to the General Assembly each session to be left in the dark by those we vote into local, state and federal offices.

Lynn Coughlin, Rhode Island

Lynn Easley — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Lynn Easley Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep it clean. Open your books

---

Lynn Harrill — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Lynn Harrill Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
A government by the corporations, of the corporations, and for the corporations may look attractive to you in the short term, but enslavement, feudalism and subjugation of YOUR families is inevitable. You will not escape your own fate if you treat corporations, their boards, and their shareholders as if they are more than humanity.
Reject the caste system.

Lynn Jenkins — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Lynn Jenkins Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I think quarterly reporting is important to keep us informed in a timely fashion. It makes it easier to respond to market changes and avoid risk.

Lynn L — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Lynn L Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Just No!

Lynn Coates-Leisen

Lynn Miller — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Lynn Miller Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Enough with cheats getting rich.

Lynn Rowe — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Lynn Rowe Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This is the wrong move. Keep 1/4ly reporting, and allow investors to be closer to company momentum. Provide the ability to make timely adjustments based on current outside influences. In a world of fast paced financial movement 6 month reporting is too slow.

Sent from my iPhone

Lynn S. — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Lynn S. Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This matters to me because that's where all my money is. This is total BS. This is wrong and you know it. I have to pay quarterly taxes. You have to have quarterly reporting.

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Lynne Birmingham — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Lynne Birmingham Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep it QUARTERLY.
Why go backwards.
Lynne Birmingham
Retired.

Sent from my iPhone

Lynne Brown — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Lynne Brown Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 If you want to cut reporting in half, there is OBVIOUSLY something shady going on.

Lynne Kalb Hunsaker — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Lynne Kalb Hunsaker Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Protect consumer money! Don’t change the rules.

Warm regards,
Lynne

Lyssa Danel — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Lyssa Danel Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My husband and I are retired and depend on the investments that we've made over the years. Please reconsider your proposal to cut the reports. We use quarterly reports to manage our accounts. Let's keep them!! Thank you.

Lyssa and Jeff Danel, Sidman, PA

Lytle Markham — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Lytle Markham Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Lytle Markham retiree. The government is not supposed to “be” to make money just for itself! Donald Trump is sucking this country DRY! “WE THE PEOPLE”! Remember us?! That’s who you work for!

Sent from my iPad

Izena2 — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Izena2 Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 You all know why this is horrible for our country! You all know better by education and experience. No comments here can educate you better. Dont allow such a bad policy to further destroy our Republic! Follow your conscience !!!

Sent from my Galaxy

M Alexander — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: M Alexander Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Just another way for government to screw us over and allow big corporations to and billionaires to steal from the American people people!

M Burke — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: M Burke Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
I believe it the only responsible thing to do to keep quarterly disclosures. Investors deserve to be informed in order to make sound decisions.
Sincerely,
M Burke

M D — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: M D Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep it Quarterly!
Michael
Deeds

---

m gerdelman — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: m gerdelman Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is important. We need more, not less, oversight and accountability

---

M Hodgin — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: M Hodgin Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This is yet another example of “legal fraud” and should absolutely be stopped. Whether anyone holds a small account or a billionaire account, the truth of performance should still continue to matter and obviously should be seen publicly frequently.

---

m roberts — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: m roberts Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My name is Martha Roberts and I am a retired educator from Sanford, Maine. For me, it all boils down to who benefits from delaying reporting. It seems that individual (minor) investors, like me, lose. The data required to make objective financial decisions will be blinded and the CEOs, representing their conglomerates, and board members, stand to be the only ones who benefit from the proposed change-they know what their companies are doing. This proposed change away from quarterly reporting will unfairly diminish the influence of the individual minor investors (me). It also diminishes trust that is essential for markets to remain stable during trying socio/economic/political conditions. For me, however, and for those like me, the change only increases skepticism as to the why and who the change benefits and who gets hurt. In this age of computers the labor is less intensive from previous times, as is the delivery of quarterly reporting. Quarterly reporting is essential in “painting the picture” in our fast-paced economic marketplace. The proposed change is biased against the individual investor and will hurt people like me. Keep the quarterly reporting mandates intact.

Respectfully,
Martha Roberts
Sanford, Maine

M Ryan — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: M Ryan Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Knock it off. You're hurting your children and their children and all of the good honest people in the world. You are supposed to be one of them.

M Swanson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: M Swanson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Please keep quarterly reports to ensure up to date transparency in companies financial status to ensure fiscal wellbeing for investors. Thank you!

M Thompson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: M Thompson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
We have the right to know how a public company is functioning , its earnings, debts . We fly blind without solid information for individuals and fuduciaries.

M.C. Sheard — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: M.C. Sheard Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My name is Mary Sheard. I am a retired special education teacher. I worked hard for many years, and set aside some money towards my retirement. I continue to live simply and manage my money carefully. I am saving money in case I need long term care. I review my finances carefully so that I can make informed decisions. Please keep quarterly reviews. They are essential to people like me, and many others in my position.
Thank you for your consideration of this important matter.
Mary Carol Sheard

---

ma5charg — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: ma5charg Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 W. K. Jones, retired. The SEC must hold the quarterly line on the corporation who have investors hard earned money. For many this is their only retirement besides Social Security.

Sent from my Galaxy

MAGGIE SMITH — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: MAGGIE SMITH Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Theft is a crime and since these folks openly committed crimes they need to be held accountable so it does not happen again. Ordinary working folks are quickly held accountable for any type of inconsistency, so why are we being asked to give the hierarchy a pass on the rules the rest of us have to live with. The moral code of the folks in charge these days seems based on 'greed and me first'.
Look at the current Congress and Supreme Court who are taking money from the programs that support the poor and underserved and giving it to the corporations that donate to them.

Maggie Smith
12379 La Lena St
Felton CA 95018

Maggie Smith — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Maggie Smith Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Theft is a crime and since these folks openly committed crimes they need to be held accountable so it does not happen again. Ordinary working folks are quickly held accountable for any type of inconsistency, so why are we being asked to give the hierarchy a pass on the rules the rest of us have to live with. The moral code of the folks in charge these days seems based on 'greed and me first'.
Look at the current Congress and Supreme Court who are taking money from the programs that support the poor and underserved and giving it to the corporations that donate to them.

Maggie Smith
12379 La Lena St
Felton, CA 95018

---

mail.netfocusmarketing.com — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: mail.netfocusmarketing.com Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026
Dropping the quarterly financial reporting requirement:1
This isn't a good thing for anyone.
You were set up to protect us, not corporations. You shouldn't be changing any policy or practice that benefits us.

Cindi Branham
256-651-4241
Typos by iPhone

---

mainstrm88 — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: mainstrm88 Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 DO NOT MESS WITH QUARTERLY REPORTING ARE YOU GUYS CRAZY!!! Please pay attn to history!
Michael Heaton
President/Owner
MAINSTREAM TECHNOLOGIES
Jonesboro, Arkansas

Mal Gormley — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Mal Gormley Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Hell no !!!

(they/them/theirs)
https://angelfarmonline.wordpress.com/angel-farm-studio/

Malayah Carlisle — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Malayah Carlisle Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Malayah

Malcom Pitts — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Malcom Pitts Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep quarterly financial reports.

Mandy Blanchard — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Mandy Blanchard Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Public companies should continue to be required to report quarterly. We have seen the results of opacity - corruption and greed lead to recessions and scams. Keep businesses honest.

Manke MJ — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Manke MJ Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Investors have the right to know the financial health of our investments. In this age of information and technology financial reporting should be more frequent, not less. Increase their reporting to monthly. Companies financial health can change quickly. With AI automated reporting should be easy. Do not take away the quarterly reporting.

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

MANUEL PINHO — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: MANUEL PINHO Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Maria Pinho Procuremt Director Philadelphia. This matters to me because : Publicly traded companies report earnings quarterly primarily to provide transparent, up-to-date financial data to investors. Mandated by regulatory bodies like the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC), this 3-month reporting cadence ensures that the public has regular, reliable insight into a company's revenue, profit, and overall financial health. Why the 3-Month Cycle?Transparency and Accountability: Frequent updates prevent fraudulent activities and sudden market shocks, ensuring management is held accountable to shareholders.Capital Market Efficiency: Timely data allows both individual and institutional investors to accurately value a stock and make informed buying or selling decisions.Goal Tracking: Internally, a quarterly rhythm helps company leaders track short-term business strategies and quickly pivot if financial goals are missed.Why It Matters (The Impact)Stock Price Movements: When a company releases its quarterly earnings (or Form 10-Q), it frequently hosts an earnings call to discuss past performance and future "guidance" (expected profits). If results beat expectations, the stock price usually rises; falling short often causes a drop.Long-Term vs. Short-Term: Because the market reacts heavily to every 90-day update, quarterly reporting forces companies to focus on short-term profits at the expense of long-term investments.

Thanks, Maria

Maplecrest Lake Jocassee — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Maplecrest Lake Jocassee Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I fully support maintaining quarterly reports for all publicly traded companies.

J Robinson Charleston SC

Marc Dulberger — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Marc Dulberger Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 No accountability leads to corruption leave it alone because it's working!

Sent from my iPhone

Marc Young — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Marc Young Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I support quarterly reporting and certification by officials at publicly traded companies. Lets not allow another Enron to occur on our watch.

Marc3hawks — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Marc3hawks Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the quarterly reports. Keep everyone honest.

Marcella Lambert — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Marcella Lambert Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep CEOs accountable for their actions. They need to do quarterly reviews and acknowledgments, if not monthly.

Marcella Lambert
Realtor
Sonoran Sky
Real Estate

480-577-3489

SonoranSkyProperties.com

Marcella@SonoranSkyProperties.com

Realty ONE Group
11211 N Tatum Blvd, Ste 120
Phoenix, AZ 85028

Buying an Arizona Home
Please Review My Services on Google

Notice: Emails sent and received shall not create a binding contract or acceptance of an offer until the written contract is signed by all parties.

Marcellus McCoy — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Marcellus McCoy Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
I'm how that Trump want to stop the African Americans from prospering in the United States. But this will be catastrophic collateral damage... Plus all of SEC rules will mean nothing with the removal of one critical rule...

Marcia Bever — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Marcia Bever Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities

and Exchange Commission:
We need MORE disclosure from all companies - NOT LESS!
And while I'm here - thanks for allowing the Nasdac to change their listing rules just for Elon Musk!!
Again - making us all LESS SAFE with virtually no seasoning!
What the actual hell - could you please work for the consumers /American public?!?! Instead of just taking your marching orders from billionaires and corporations that pay no tax?!?!

Marcia Carney — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Marcia Carney Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Reporting allows for planning. Keep the quarterly requirement. Anything less is HIDING INFORMATION instead of operating in an honest and informed manner. Making reporting less frequent suggests you are supporting grift.

---

marcia coppel — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: marcia coppel Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I want to retain quarterly reporting

Marcia

Marcia Hansen — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Marcia Hansen Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 No reason to legitimize swindling!

Marcia Hughes — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Marcia Hughes Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
We definately need quarterly disclosures. Thank you, in advance, for listening.

Marcia Jue — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Marcia Jue Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Financial reporting needs to be at least quarterly. There is too much that can happen over 6 months. The public needs to be able to monitor their publicly-owned companies on a frequent basis. M. Jue, from Los Angeles, California

Sent from my Verizon, Samsung Galaxy smartphone
Get Outlook for Android

---

marcia lamanna — Jun 18, 2026

Subject: S7-2026-15 From: marcia lamanna Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep this control in place!! Marcia LaManna, NY

Marcia Plymale — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Marcia Plymale Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Stop the get out of jail free. The reports need to be done quarterly so the closing and closing can't cheat the people.

Marcia Pounds — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Marcia Pounds Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I want to CONTINUE with FOUR QUARTERLY REPORTS. I am retired but volunteer in my community. Marcia Pounds

Get Outlook for Android

Marcia Tillett — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Marcia Tillett Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Enron. WorldCom. Madoff. The run-up to 2008. Every major modern accounting scandal was enabled by gaps and opacity in financial disclosure. Quarterly filings don't prevent fraud, but they dramatically shorten the window in which it can fester before someone outside the company can see it. Ethical CPAs know the importance of quarterly filing. Listen to them.

Marcia Tillett-Zinzow, Waterford, Wisconsin

Sent from my iPhone

Marcia Wilds — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Marcia Wilds Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 With technology it is easy for companies to provide quarterly information and they would probably continue to do so internally. Keep the reporting as it is to provide transparency.

Marcia

Marcy — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Marcy Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Marcy Sibell, Retired - Quarterly reporting is required for investors to make timely decisions. We need to remember 2008 and the devastating impact it made for our citizens and legitimate companies.

Mardi Podesta — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Mardi Podesta Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I request that the quarterly reporting requirement be kept in place.

Sent from my iPhone

Marga Watrous — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Marga Watrous Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Corruption was running rampant and many lost their life savings along with their jobs. The quarterly reporting allowed investors and the public to know if trouble was brewing. Do not roll back these protections.

Sent from my iPhone

Margaret Aison — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Margaret Aison Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is a great way to prevent companies from losing their way.. keep the quarterly reporting
Margaret Halvey

Sent from my iPhone

Margaret Allin — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Margaret Allin Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Investors have a right to quarterly disclosures. Stop fraud on wall street

---

Margaret Burmeta — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Margaret Burmeta Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Highly disapprove!!! I don't want to give Donny one more penny!!

Margaret Collins — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Margaret Collins Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the reporting quarterly!

Margaret Collins

Margaret Croner — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Margaret Croner Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Transparency is definitely needed. Quarterly reporting is needed NOT just every six months. We have experienced what can happen without such regular reporting. Please: quarterly reporting must remain.

Sent from my iPhone

---

margaret jones — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: margaret jones Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Reporting needs to happen quarterly. Why would we want to ever go “backwards”…..or to 1955. It is hard not to talk about politics here, but what we are living each day is”BACKWARDS and I don’t like it. Investors need updated info.

Sent from my iPhone

---

margaret jones — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: margaret jones Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Reporting needs to happen quarterly. Why would we want to ever go “backwards”…..or to 1955. It is hard not to talk about politics here, but what we are living each day is”BACKWARDS and I don’t like it.

Sent from my iPhone

Margaret Kitchens — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Margaret Kitchens Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I am against this proposal. This will damage our economy so much more than it is now. There is so much corruption and insider trading going on that maybe it should be more often than quarterly. And clearly they need more enforcement.

Sent from my iPad

Margaret Kreier — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Margaret Kreier Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the quarterly reporting I am a registered voter and Precinct Committeeperson. We need to keep this and more reporting accountable.

Margaret Moran — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Margaret Moran Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Confidence is gained only thru timely and frequent updates and transparency. That then begets respect. Please maintain quarterly reporting.

Margaret Peyou — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Margaret Peyou Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Regulatory oversight conducted quarterly keeps corporations and their executives in check.

Margaret R. Fortier — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Margaret R. Fortier Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I am a taxpayer with investments. I rely on companies' quarterly reports to be informed so I can make sound decisions about my finances. I am puzzled as to what goal cutting the number of reports by half achieves.

Today's markets move so fast it does not seem prudent to allow more time before shareholders know what's happening.

I strongly oppose this change after half a century. If it's not broken, it, don't fix it.

My name is Margaret Fortier and I am a consultant.

Margaret Serain — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Margaret Serain Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I need the quarterly statements! Please do not drop to semi annual.

Thank you.

Margaret Serain
Retired small investor

Margaret Stout — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Margaret Stout Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I do not want a return to the ways of the past. I remember 1955 we!!.

Margaret Vitale — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Margaret Vitale Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please keep the quarterly filings. Why give CEO'S another way to basically cheat? This is a way to keep them honest. Why change it now?

Margaret Webster — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Margaret Webster Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Quarterly reporting is necessary for investors to track retirement investments. I find inside trading unfaithful and wrong!

Margaret Weston — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Margaret Weston Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I am a retiree and depend on quarterly updates for my living expenses. Do not change to semi annual. Please!
Margaret Weston
1265 Chelsey Ln
Alpharetta, GA 30004

Peg Weston

MARGE MEYER — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: MARGE MEYER Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We need transparency. This would put us back many years. The big guys have all the advantages now. I'm tired of big money guys. Leave the system alone. If it isn't broke you don't need to fix it.

Sent from my iPhone

Margie E — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Margie E Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We need quarterly reports to make investment decisions. Do not return to semi annual reports.
Margie Enochs.
Private investors from Muncie Indiana

Sent from my iPhone

Margie Horn — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Margie Horn Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My name is Mary Horn and live in Pittsburg, TX. I am retired and depend on my retirement IRA for financial help. I'd prefer companies continued reporting quarterly. According to the data, it grows our retirement savings at a faster rate. I and my family depend on these funds to help us to continue to live in a much better financial situation.

Margo Fernandez — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Margo Fernandez Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Companies need to report quarterly to prevent time gaps and enable fraud to be detected. People need reports to verify how companies are doing. No options out of report ing quarterly to be allowed.

Margo Fernandez

Margot Willis — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Margot Willis Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Is this the SEC's last shred of integrity being buried inplainsight? Daylight shines light on all that's good, and exposes all that's evil. In darkness evil festers and spreads. If the SEC is operating full in the Light it has nothing to fear. But even the SEC is subject to law and ethics. Violate that at your own risk because you will pay the price yo a public fed up with deception, lies and corruption. Decency matters to every American not just a manipulative few.

Rev Margot L Willis
Willispts2000@gmail.com pts2000@gmail.com

Rev Margot L Willis MA PHA
522 Briarview Drive
Bridgeport WV 26330
304 838-2922

"God called me into service the voice didn't say what form it would take."
Florence Nightengale
"Healing is an entry point to the sacred." Delores Krieger RN PHD

Margrethe Bond — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Margrethe Bond Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
I need quarterly reports to accurately assess where my hard-earned money is going in my retirement account. If they are only issued every 6 months, I will be flying blind for 3 months longer and as we all know, a LOT of damage to a company can happen in 3 months.
I'm a retail investor and I rely on quarterly reports to make decisions about my investments and retirement savings.
Thank you,
Margrethe E Bond

Margrita Colabuno — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Margrita Colabuno Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We need to protect quarterly reporting so we can protect our savings. I'm retired and depend on my investments to support my household. All of us who do need the most information we can get to make smart decisions.

Thank you!

Get Outlook for Android

Marguerite Benoit — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Marguerite Benoit Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 No do not allow a change from quartly unless you want to make it monthly. Fewer reports will hide more cost shifting and cooking of the books. I have a degree in business administration with a minor in economics.

Mari Conrads — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Mari Conrads Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 It is important to maintain reporting to ensure companies are being upfront about their information.

Mari Pont — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Mari Pont Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My name is Mari Pont, I'm 71 years old and a retired public school teacher. Quarterly reports are vital for us seniors who depend on pension funds, annuities, and other market-based instruments for our livelihood. Keep the reporting quarterly!! Don't keep us in the dark at this stage of our life.

I've dedicated my life to raising my children and other people's children. I need to live my last days in peace, free of anxiety and worry.

Thank you.

Maria Acedo — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Maria Acedo Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Be transparent and keep tje quarterly check on people's hard invested monies.Transparency. Honesty. Respect

Sent from my iPhone

Maria Correa - Rodriguez — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Maria Correa - Rodriguez Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I invest in your company - you must show your books or I will sell my stock. No shady practices in business- it is not a good practice. No more bailouts. ENRON was enough.

Get Outlook for iOS

---

maria gonzales — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: maria gonzales Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I want a quarterly report. It is my money and i need to manage it accordingly!

Maria Gonzales
Sent from my iPhone

Maria Hamilton — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Maria Hamilton Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting helps me keep my finances in check. As a retired couple, we need this information as frequently as possible. The rule should actually be changed to monthly reporting. Please do not allow any changes to this rule.

Sent from my iPhone

Maria Lander Cabrera — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Maria Lander Cabrera Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Maria Lander Cabrera, self employed. This is important to me because I don't have a safety net of a stable employer if something happens to my investments due to a lack of transparency.

Maria Lander Cabrera
Spanish<>English Interpreter and Spanish>English Translator
M.A. Translation and Interpretation,
Middlebury Institute of International Studies
MN Certified Court Interpreter
612-384-1483

---

maria meza — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: maria meza Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 DISGUSTING KEEP IT AS IT IS.

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Maria O'Connell — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Maria O'Connell Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Why should we, the American People, allow for another Enron or Bear Sterns! We definitely want to ensure another Bernie Madoff is deterred from stealing money from citizens! I was required to let my employer see my trade transactions for the companies I bought stock from, we NEED TO SEE THESE REPORTS

QUARTERLY! TY Maria, retired

Sent from my iPhone

Maria Robinson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Maria Robinson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Retain quarterly reporting requirements

---

Marian — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Marian Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Why make it easier for companies to do crooked things? Retired teacher. M Lindquist

Sent from my iPad

Marian Barrington — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Marian Barrington Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My name is Marian Joslyn. I'm a retired pharmacist. We need more transparency from our financial institutions and leaders, not less. This impacts the financial futures of both retirees like myself as well as our children and grandchildren

Sent from my iPhone

Marian Gehrls — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Marian Gehrls Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Quarterly reports are necessary. As history has shown us the more reporting the better the outcome for average consumers.
Thank you!

Mariann Oxford — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Mariann Oxford Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
With today's computers there is ABSOLUTELY NO REASON, other than fraud, to delay quarterly reporting on public stocks. As a former fund accountant I had 4 hours to determine the NAV of my daily accounts. And that was in the days of dot matrix printers!!! Over 30 years ago. I had only on day in more than 7 years that I was even close to not making my deadline and that was because of a data downloading problem on "Black Friday" via Bloomberg DJIA service.
So again, do NOT change the reporting requirements. Trump and his cohorts are hiding enough information from the public!!!

Marianne Flanagan — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Marianne Flanagan Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is a safeguard that allows a clearer picture of transgressions quicker. Yt is a vital tool that shouldn't be watered down to help big monied interest

---

MARIANNE PETRIELLO — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: MARIANNE PETRIELLO Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Don't be pressured by the government to further screw the small investors!

Sent from my iPhone

Marianne Plude — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Marianne Plude Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This is not right and should not happen. This leaves the elite to do insider trading and make gains. So WRONG
I SAY NO!!!

Marianne Savino — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Marianne Savino Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Marianne R Savino. Retired college administrator, Seattle.,WA We expect four reports a year. Filing them quarterly with the signatures of proof of truthfulness keeps us holding faith with these important firms. If the reports decrease, there is a question about shenanigans. Businesses that cut back become suspect. I would take my funds elsewhere. I have been burned before and have lost hundred of thousands of dollars because of bad actors. All those dollars lost made a difference in my lifestyle: travel, buying nicer items, other investments. Making it easier to hide evil is not a good corporate goal!

MARIANNE SYLVESTRI — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: MARIANNE SYLVESTRI Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Why would you change this law now? The last people you should want to hurt are the people that aren't wealthy like these companies. This is a conflict & should be left alone. Why do you want to screw the small people? Hurt us more? Who's responsible for this?
Marianne Sylvestri
State of Florida
It matters because big Corporations are always given more as we struggle
Secretary

Sent from my iPhone
MA

MariBeth Schneider — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: MariBeth Schneider Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please require quarterly reporting. No changes needed.

Marie BISHOP — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Marie BISHOP Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Leave the reporting as is - quarterly

---

Marie Delizonna — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Marie Delizonna Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 It is critical to get the current info on all companies

---

marie johnson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: marie johnson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This is not fair to investors I have saved for my retirement with stocks and bonds and I could lose my my entire life savings and not even know. This is not good marie johnson
Nurse practitioner

Get Outlook for iOS

Marie Johnson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Marie Johnson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 If it resulted in losses for average investors previously, why would anyone consider going back to a losing proposition. I say no way should we go backwards. Never!

Sent from my iPhone

Marie Scherer — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Marie Scherer Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Do not change current reporting requirements. This is especially important for retirees.

Marie Smith — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Marie Smith Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We all know what a bad idea this is.
Don't add more fuel to the fire ,please

MARIE WILLIAMS — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: MARIE WILLIAMS Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Leave our savings alone. Stop your evasive behavior

Sent from my iPhone

Marigene bender — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Marigene bender Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep quarterly treorting

Sent from my iPhone

---

mariglen burkman — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: mariglen burkman Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the quarterly reports. If the CEOs are having trouble with long term projections for their stockholders because of having to show progress in such a short time, then tell them to change the expectations they're required to show. Sounds like an internal management problem to me, but I want to know where my money is going on a more regular basis than twice a year.

Sent from my iPad

Marijo Gilhooly — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Marijo Gilhooly Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Yes for the people. Accountability is necessary.

MARILINDA RIVERA-TORRES — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: MARILINDA RIVERA-TORRES Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I believe strongly in accountability so why the free pass on honesty to protect the public ❓
Marilinda Torres BSN RN
Retired
San Antonio, Texas

Sent from my iPhone

Marilyn Couzens — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Marilyn Couzens Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is neccessary for transparency

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Marilyn Elliott — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Marilyn Elliott Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I WANT TO SEE THE QUARTERLY REPORTS OF MY INVESTMENTS. ANOTHER KICK IN THE ASS TO THE SMALL

INVESTOR

Marilyn Grove — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Marilyn Grove Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
If the system is rigged for the wealthy I there would be no point in trying to invest any money in the stock market in th US.
Small investors should have the quarterly information to guide them.
Donald Trump needs to be removed from office and be made accountable for his manipulation of the markets and grift.

Marilyn Pearson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Marilyn Pearson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is and has always been an accurate means of data collection. This must continue. Let’s prevent loss of income for those who can least afford it.

Marilyn Pearson

Sent from my iPhone

Marilyn Pindel — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Marilyn Pindel Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
I am an investor for 30 years with equity earnings marked for our retirement. We do not need rules loosened so that only the commercial investors get special treatment while everyday investors don't benefit. This is verging on illegal and unjust.

Marilyn Popenhagen — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Marilyn Popenhagen Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Leep the reporting quarterly!!

Marilyn Woodin — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Marilyn Woodin Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Less corruption is a good thing

Sent from my iPhone

Marilynn Rupp — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Marilynn Rupp Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Why would you change this? Quarterly reporting protects the customer. Keep it the same as it is. Marilynn Rupp. Retired

Sent from my iPhone

Marina Gutierrez — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Marina Gutierrez Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I am a retired tax preparer and I believe this would be a disaster to us all! Please stand up and do the right thing for the American people and also many non profits, etc!

Sent from my iPhone

Marion Kahle — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Marion Kahle Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I am retired. My portfolio is very important and I keep an eye on the reports. I believe quarterly reporting is essential to keep things above board.

Marion Mann — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Marion Mann Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We are living in a world of corruption and fraud. Why on earth would the SEC want to make things easier for requesters? It seems to me that instead of decreasing the checks they should increase them to once a month. Now is not the time to be leanient on corruption. The part that worries me most is that the SEC is making this proposal themselves. Is the SEC now part of the corruption and fraud? I would like to know. I would also like to know who oversees the SEC? They are .along themselves look really bad w this proposal

---

Marisa Butler — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Marisa Butler Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Marisa Butler, Social Worker:
I think more transparency is needed for companies, not less. Shareholders should have adequate reporting, quarterly or more to be able to make educated decisions for themselves on their retirement futures.

Sent from my iPhone

Marjorie Darling — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Marjorie Darling Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Marjorie Darling - This is very important to maintain awareness of my portfolio.

Marjorie Froeschle — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Marjorie Froeschle Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please hold companies accountable by continuing quarterly reporting.

Sent from my iPhone

Marjorie Hannum — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Marjorie Hannum Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
This should remain unchanged...to many criminals in finance

Marjorie Krieger — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Marjorie Krieger Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I want my report the way that it is now. I don't want to wait six months for it! SO KEEP IT QUARTERLY!

Mark A. Nappi — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Mark A. Nappi Moving to twice a year reporting is a mistake. Investors such as myself rely on timely accurate information to make the best decisions on how to invest their capital. Denying them the opportunity to have that information in a manner to take action on the information denies them the opportunity to fairly participate in the markets. This in turn denies them to make the best decisions for their financial future and their ability to be self-sufficient in their retirement. This only serves the occupants of C-Suites and those with direct access to them. In the medium and long term investor faith in the markets will be undermined negatively affecting us all.

Mark Cinkus — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Mark Cinkus Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Enough masquerading. Stop the back door, backroom, back in lobbyist, politician and executives bankrolling on the backs of small investors. Show some integrity. Be transparent and HONEST. It IS an actual thing.

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Mark Gransden Sr — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Mark Gransden Sr Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 IIt’s important to keep quarterly payments, a good check and balance to prevent fraud.
Mark Gransden Sr- Capt. of Police- retired, NJ

Mark

Mark Hanes — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Mark Hanes Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is vital for investors and the integrity of the organization. Please keep the existing rules in place. Mark Hanes, Retail Training manager, Texas.

Mark Henderson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Mark Henderson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I am wholly against this change to the Enron Rule. CEO's should not get a pass to avoid jail by not signing quarterly reports. If it ain't broke, don't fix it, as we say in the South. Enron caused the entire economy to go into freefall. We cannot afford another such self-inflicted wound.

Mark Henderson, retired
501 N Main St
Mount Pleasant TN 38474

Mark Jones — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Mark Jones Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I'm a retiree, active in the market and I perceive no useful benefit to shareholders to stop quarterly reporting. If corporations are ultimately responsible to the shareholders why would you undermine that?
Mark Jones
Decatur, AL

Mark Knight — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Mark Knight Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Mark Knight, retired in Downers Grove IL. We depend on dividends from stocks and mutual funds as part of our income.

The failure to provide timely information on company performance could greatly risk our investments and income.

Don't make this change

Mark J. Knight
Course Instructor
ClickSafety
1528 Thornwood Drive
Downers Grove, IL 60516
M: 219-808-8686
mjknight226@gmail.com

Mark Linke — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Mark Linke Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 You people work for the citizens of the US, NOT Wall Street.

Thanks,

Mark Linke

Mark London — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Mark London Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please, please do not do this. My husband and I are nearing retirement and can't afford to lose up to 1/2 of our investment income by replacing quarterly reports with fewer reports. Monica London, Flagler Beach, FL

Sent from my iPhone

Mark Louden — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Mark Louden Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep it Quarterly. Not fair to investors!

Mark Merriman — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Mark Merriman Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 As a retired CPA, I believe quarterly reports are critical for investors and accountability. Do not change this requirement.

Sent from my iPhone
Mark L. Merriman

Mark Mitteer — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Mark Mitteer Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 do not alter the quarterly reporting! You actually need more stringent requirements for anyone in office and their families after seeing how trump, his family and the gop at large appear to have been cashing in on insider trading and you don't do a thing about it...

MARK PLUMMER — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: MARK PLUMMER Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly please

Sent from Mark's I-phone

---

mark reid — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: mark reid Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 we need to keep the reporting as it is- there is no credible, legitimate reason to change it, but many shady reasons to do so.

Mark Rekoske — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Mark Rekoske Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I am a retired small investor who relies on a portfolio of stocks to provide for my family. I read quarterly earnings reports and SEC fillings to learn if my investments should be changed. By going to six month reporting company insiders can mask concerns about their performance and have time to act on inside information while small investors like me are left holding the bag. The minimal cost of maintaining quarterly reporting levels the playing field a bit. Quarterly reporting has worked well for many years and should be maintained.

Mark Rekoske

---

mark renker — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: mark renker Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Allowing this to change from quarterly to semi-annual will be giving the unscrupulous an opportunity to do wrong. It will become a slippery slope. The less oversight into any financial system will be an open door for the greedy to take advantage of others and that system. They got into the market system to make money above all else. Less oversight and rules will lead to violent market turbulence and crashes.

Mark Slevin — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Mark Slevin Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep it Quartly. I watch my stocks and post them everyday but I don’t want important info removed. My Dad watched and tracked his stock everyday and last year I started doing the same. My Dad made us kids wealthy.

Sent from my iPhone

Mark Spiess — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Mark Spiess Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To whom it may concern in the SEC. Are you out of your minds?? Corporate crime will skyrocket if not kept in check. Are you just getting to lazy to do your jobs??!! This administration is nothing but lying and coverup or just not doing anything. Please keep the lid on corporate corruption and do something for the American people instead of DJT 🤬🤬
Sincerely
Mark Spiess

MARK TUTTLE — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File Number S7-08-26 in your submission. From: MARK TUTTLE Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026
Keep quarterly financial reporting.

Semiannual reporting would reduce transparency and make it harder to research and evaluate potential investments.

Thank you,

Mark

Mark Van Tyne — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Mark Van Tyne Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
The average person is constantly confounded by an ever increasing complex world. We don't need another obligation to compound our already over burdened life. It's a bad plan and will only drive investment out of the hands of the little guy just trying to invest for the future.

Mark Wegner — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Mark Wegner Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 enough! Havent you stolen ENOUGH?

Mark Wilson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Mark Wilson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 How can an average person who invest in publicly traded stocks get the best, most current information about a company's worth if we don't have all the facts? You can't change this to capitulate to a president, or a business for that matter.

Get Outlook for Android

Mark Zschiegner II — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Mark Zschiegner II Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My name is Mark and I do not approve of reporting twice a year. Because the six month gap will lead to fudging the numbers and fraud, it could also be dangerous as it could also lead to an economic crisis which we could've prepared for if we see it coming. Thats why I approve of Quarterly Reporting. It is a tried and true method and keeps our money safe and hold companies accountable.

Sent from my iPhone

Marla Bullard — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Marla Bullard Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Checks and balances are needed in all things. Why is it that less oversight will be good?

Marla S — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Marla S Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We shouldn't allow our monies or growth or losses to be unreported. More opportunities to be monie poor should you want to change investments. I don't want to be flying by the seat of my pants hoping there are profits available to me, or not.

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

---

marla Stella — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: marla Stella Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 What is wrong with our Legislators that they will allow even more of the lack of transparency? We know that they want to hide the grifting of America and her citizens. It needs to STOP! STOP the stealing, the hiding and the lying to the American Public. The monopolies that are being created to control our viewing to creating opportunity for books to be cooked with the Business's we already support. START WORKING FOR AMERICAN CITIZENS!!

Respectfully yours,
Marla Stella

Marla Vardell — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Marla Vardell Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Do not make these changes. If the system isn't broken don't change it & call it fix. This is only designed to give the wealthy another advantage while negatively impacting those of us trying to plan for sending our children to college & to have a comfortable retirement. Please, consider the masses, not just the elite.

Marla Wolf — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Marla Wolf Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Quarterly reports give investors a chance to evaluate performance. If you were losing money for three months, would you want to increase the time frame by another three months?

Marlane Lord — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Marlane Lord Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Marlane Lord, Delmont, PA, retired and on fixed income, therefore protecting my investments is essential for my future expenses.

Sent from my iPhone

Marlene — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Marlene Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I am a concerned citizen. Quarterly reporting is crucial to keep transparency on every corporation. I urge the SEC to adhere to quarterly reporting, nothing less!

Marna Gasperino — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Marna Gasperino Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I'm Marna Gasperino, a retiree with smaller investments as a result of establishing a simple plan during my working years when I was a small business owner. Please don't change the rules now. Those of us with fewer resources need as much information as possible to maximize our investments so that we can live comfortably.

Thank you for your consideration.

Marna Courson Gasperino
816-985-4432
Sent from my iPad

Marsha Hatfield — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Marsha Hatfield Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 The quarterly filing and signing should be kept in place in order to perpetuate transparency and accuracy. Bad behavior cannot be tolerated in this matter. We have seen how this works.

Marsha Maus — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Marsha Maus Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please keep quarterly return and report

Sent from my iPhone

MARSHA MCNEESE — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: MARSHA MCNEESE Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Publicly held companies should not be able to "hide" their books-profits and losses-from their stockholders for 6 months. Please keep the quarterly reports requirements.

Sent from my iPhone

Marsha Schorr — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Marsha Schorr Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Please don't screw the US citizens over by allowing this change. We have been jerked around and taken advantage of too much as it is. Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Marta Gibbs — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Marta Gibbs Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please consider keeping it the way it is. For us average retired individuals, we have to keep a close eye on our money in all our accounts, so that we can make adjustments that would keep us safe. Without us being able to keep up in a timely matter, there is less transparency. If you change this, you will be saying that you don't care about the American citizen, only the rich ones.
Please give us hope that this is not true and you do honestly care enough to do the right thing.

Marta Gibbs
Illinois resident

Martha Carrasco — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Martha Carrasco Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Accountability is a must. To the Securities and Exchange Commission:

Martha Kisner — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Martha Kisner Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Let’s not turn back the clock! I’m retired and Social Security is in jeopardy, let’s not have my other investments be in jeopardy

Sent from my iPhone

Martha Larsen — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Martha Larsen Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Company reporting makes informed investing. Less information is dangerous for our savings and our economy. Why the need for secrecy? Keep quarterly investing required.
I'm a senior and rely on my investments for retirement. Don't make it difficult for me to know what's save and secure. If my nestegg is endangered, I will turn to the government for solutions. You don't want seniors panicking about their investments!
M. Larsen, Michigan

Martha Miller — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Martha Miller Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
The idea that quarterly reports are no longer necessary is ludicrous.
My view on S7-2026-15 is that total transparency should be an absolute binding commitment.

Martha Nault — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Martha Nault Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This is just another way to cheat the American working people.

Martha Rich — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Martha Rich Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep quarterly reports coming! Private citizen from North Carolina

Sent from my iPhone

Martha Ruszkowski — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Martha Ruszkowski Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Please do not allow quarterly disclosures go away. I am an investor and it will allow companies to keep us in the dark for too long. It's risky.

Martha Stone — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Martha Stone Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 No free passes. You do the crime get the time in prison.

Sent from my iPhone

Martha V — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Martha V Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Stop giving unfair advantage to corporations

Get Outlook for iOS

Martha Wade Retired — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Martha Wade Keep some honesty in the stock market. I have saved for decades when all I could afford was $50 a month as a public school educator. I am retired now. I deserve to enjoy my savings so keep companies reporting quarterly.

Martin Deutschman — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Martin Deutschman Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
The U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC)'s proposed rule S7-2026-15 would blindfold retail investors. Doing so would give an unfair advantage to those inside the companies and their friends, while handicapping individual investors. This is a huge disservice to the American people, the backbone of the economy, and the ones who keep the money flowing.
Stop Rule S7-2026-15 before it harms American investors.

Martin Farkas — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Martin Farkas Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I was a CPA and know that corporate management will push the limit if they are allowed to. We need all the controls we can get to protect the investing public.
Martin J Farkas
Retired in Arizona

Martin Haberland — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Martin Haberland I believe public companies should have to disclose their financial details quarterly. Switching to semi-annual reporting makes it more difficult for those investing in publicly traded companies to have the same information that insiders have all the time. This change is unlikely to fix the problem of short term thinking in corporate America. Good businesses know that a long term approach is what makes them successful. Bad businesses will use this change to hide the true state of their business condition. This is a bad idea that I am very much against. Thank you

---

Marty Webb — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Marty Webb Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Transparency is imperative in this matter. We the people wish to have the ability to protect our assets!

Marvin Chandler — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Marvin Chandler Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 What happened to transparency? Most people balance their accounts at least weekly. Whose idea was it to hide details for six months? This is just plain dumb.

Marvin A Chandler
LTC(Ret) US Army

Mac Chandler
172 Southledge
Birmingham, AL 35242

205-790-5154

Marvin Lanier — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Marvin Lanier Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Please do not enact any ruling that makes companies less transparent.

Mary — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Mary Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Dear SEC,
Please for the sake of integrity in business and security for retired people like my husband and me, keep financial reporting quarterly.

We rely on this regular, stable practice to feel informed, secure, and confident in our retirement and savings for our family.

Sincerely,

Mary

Mary B Spila
Palatine IL

bearla2mary@gmail.com

Mary — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Mary Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Mary Spires, Training and Facilitation/Business Analyst, Missouri

Transparency is a key factor in market success and reporting for all investors. Decreased transparency benefits insiders while doing little or nothing for the average investor.

This change would only deepen distrust in American systems among many average investors, when distrust is already high. The ability of companies to shift reporting from quarterly to semi-annual makes this worse; it could appear manipulative or lead investors to think companies that made these moves were hiding something from average investors.

A very gradual transition over a period of 4 or more years, allowing for reversal, would be ideal if such a shift were to occur. Further, companies that made multiple shifts between quarterly and semi-annual reporting should be required to maintain a quarterly public record that would give average investors better insight into the reasons for these shifts and prevent manipulation of reporting to the benefit of companies and insiders.

The shift may very well make sense to a financier on paper. However, paper doesn't show the human factor. There are many news reports from opposite sectors right now, some touting the markets' greatness and others saying we are headed for a recession and a potential stock market crash. Financial markets are too politicized by media. This change, at this time, would only make many people feel further instability (whether real or imagined), particularly if half of the polarized media decries the shift, while the other half praises it, or perhaps worse, if either "side" remains silent.

Mary — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Mary Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I believe those who impact people's lives and financial stability should be held accountable. Keep the current reporting requirements quarterly for company leadership.
Mary BrowningSmith, Retired, Chicago, IL

Sent from my iPhone

Mary Alice — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Mary Alice Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep SEC reporting quarterly.

Sent from my iPhone

Mary Ann Glunt — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Mary Ann Glunt Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep my reporting quarterly. Keep the CEO's and corporations open and honest. No more Enron!

Sent from my iPhone

Mary Ann Jones — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Mary Ann Jones Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Completely unfair to the average investor. NO to changing this rule!

Mary Ann Kranz — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Mary Ann Kranz Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the reports at least quarterly. Longer durations between reports allow for more corruption and less opportunity for the customers to react.

Mary Ann Kranz
994 Excalibur Court
Nekoosa WI 54457

Mary Ann Offer — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Mary Ann Offer Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Many Americans depend on investments for retirement. We need to know what is going on. Quarterly SEC reporting helps hold the corporate world to more dependable standards. Please don't give them more wiggle room!

Sent from my iPhone

Mary Anthony — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Mary Anthony Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
We need more transparency!

Mary B. Seligman — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Mary B. Seligman Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I have struggled long many years to have enough savings to last my lifetime keep it Quarterly!!!

Sent from my iPhone

Mary Bass — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Mary Bass Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Don’t allow rules that allow corporations and Wall Street to commit fraud. Let’s make America honest again

Mary Bass

Mary Beth Sandrev — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Mary Beth Sandrev Keep current quarterly reporting status

---

Mary Beth Walsh — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Mary Beth Walsh Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 As a public relations professional who has worked with tech and financial companies for more than 30 years I am aware how important it is to hold public companies accountable to shareholders and the public. Quarterly reports have actually been a boon to productivity as well. It would be a huge mistake to drop the regulation to only twice annually. Please don’t!
Sincerely,
Beth Walsh

Senior Vice President
Clearpoint Agency
Carlsbad, California

Sent from my iPhone

Mary Boswell — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Mary Boswell Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 No quarterly reporting. It’s my money and I have a right to see what it is doing. It’s not your money so don’t force your hidden agendas on me either.

Sent from my iPhone

Mary Brakefield — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Mary Brakefield Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is essential.

Mary Brown — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Mary Brown Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Reports prepared at least quarterly detect fraud faster. Monthly would be better practice and with computerized system help is eminently doable.

Mary K Brown

Mary Burch — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Mary Burch Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 The ones that will be most affected are the retirees. We have a hard enough time making ends meet these days an are supplementing our social security with our savings (which the government is talking about reducing). If you do this we will have to choose between food, electricity & water or our medications please don't do this!
Mary Burch, 80 years old
Arvin, California

Mary C. St. Mary — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Mary C. St. Mary Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is essential to keep corporations accountable and honest.

Get Outlook for Android

Mary Casey — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Mary Casey Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please don't return to the past! Too many people were hurt last time reporting was changed from quarterly to semiannually. Huge financial losses. We are supposed to learn from our past and not repeat the failures. I depend on my investments to live.
Mary Casey
Retired
Washington State

Mary

Sent from my iPhone

Mary Comerford — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Mary Comerford Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep open to the public 1/4 reports

Sent from my iPhone

---

mary cunningham — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: mary cunningham Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 It is a shareholders right to be informed quarterly of the details going on with investments. Keep the quarterly statements!

Sent from my T-Mobile 5G Device
Get Outlook for Android

Mary Donahue — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Mary Donahue Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
It should remain quarterly and not return to the 1955 semi method. This allows for quicker reaction times for companies and provides investors a better pulse on their investments.

Mary Dorsey — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Mary Dorsey Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 As a retiree, my investments are a large part of my modest retirement income that I rely on for just basic necessities. A quarterly reporting helps me know if I need to make changes in said investments. Changes to this could lead to disastrous results. A lack of information would hinder my ability to be able to act timely and greatly impact my ability to manage my investments. Please keep the quarterly reporting requirement.

Sincerely,
Mary Jo Granthen Dorsey

Mary Ellen Dougherty — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Mary Ellen Dougherty Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I object to returning to a policy that has previously proven to have a negative effect on the financial status of Americans. Please don't vote to eliminate Quarterly Reporting..
Sincerely,
Mary Ellen Dougherty
Retired Physical Therapist
Syracuse, New York

Mary Ellen Morrow — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Mary Ellen Morrow Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 The SEC MUST be an open book. And anyone not following the rules, should be held accountable. It should not be held to two, or four!

Sent from my Verizon, Samsung Galaxy smartphone
Get Outlook for Android

Mary Ellen Stierer — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Mary Ellen Stierer Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep it Quarterly! Stop messing with what works for the people!!

Sent from my iPhone

Mary Evans — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Mary Evans Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep it Quarterly!!!

Keep looking up

Mary Eveland — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Mary Eveland Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This is so wrong, reporting needs to stay quarterly!

Sent from my iPad

Mary Fokas — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Mary Fokas Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I'm a retiree, private citizen, Mary Fokas of Hollis NH & restaurant owner, as well as individual investor. Do not end quarterly reporting. Millions of citizens like myself are invested in the stock market & we cannot invest in companies if we do not have adequate and timely information regarding our investments. Simply put, as an investor, I need to trust that the comoany(s) I invest in are performing. The system is already rigged to some extent. We all know that the elite, including those in our Congress are already gaming the system— there needs to be some semblance of transparency and accountability.
Thank you.

Mary Foster — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Mary Foster Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 What possible good can come of this? Companies will be able to hide their weaknesses from customers and shareholders for longer and walk away from their problems. Enron would have loved this idea, which makes one wonder how many companies are currently as weak as Enron.

Mary Gail Sycamore — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Mary Gail Sycamore We need more transparency, not less, to ensure that laws are followed and to give every owner or potential owner of a PUBLIC company information about that company. A policy that cut back on transparency would make it more difficult to detect aberrations that may be happening due to illegal activity. If the concern is excessive costs, that may be because IRS rules are often inconsistent with reality in accounting & financial reporting. Move toward simplicity and transparency, not obfuscation of corporate compliance and information to ALL.

Mary Gilhooly — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Mary Gilhooly Yes for the people. Accountability is necessary.

MARY GILLMAN — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: MARY GILLMAN Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is important
To fair investing for all. Stop this take over of our economic systems by the wealthiest Amerivans

Mary

Mary Greene — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Mary Greene Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
I want to keep informed quartely.

Mary Hightower — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Mary Hightower Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Mary Hightower Grant Management Specialist
Please keep the quarterly reporting. I am close to retirement and cannot risk losing so much of the investment I put in over most of my career. It would be devastating.
Thank you.

Sent from my iPhone

Mary Hines — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Mary Hines Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Does anyone remember Enron?? Corporations will do anything to protect their wealth and screw over customers, employees, and community. They need to be held accountable.

Mary Holmeyer — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Mary Holmeyer Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My name is Mary and Quarterly reporting seems important

---

Mary Johnson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Mary Johnson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 KEEP IT QUARTERLY!!

Mary K Nassoiy — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Mary K Nassoiy Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Mary K. Nassoiy retired VP, COO in Banking I am not in support of this initiative. Less reporting increasing the risk of fraud. Easier to hide issues over 6 months vs. 3 months. I urge you to not make a change.

Mary Keefe — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Mary Keefe Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
This is really common sense, isn't it?

Mary L Jones — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Mary L Jones With markets become more and more volatile, we as citizens should be afforded the opportunity to receive quarterly replorts. We need more information, not less.

Mary LeBlanc — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Mary LeBlanc Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Mary LeBlanc RN
The SEC needs to keep quarterly company reporting in order for ordinary investors to keep track in real time how their portfolio is performing. This is the most reasonable way to manage my investments.

Sent from my iPhone

Mary Lee Johns — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Mary Lee Johns Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Allowing less access to the information one needs to be a wise investor is setting up democratic capitalism for utter disaster, not to mention the pain of individual investors. Shame!

---

mary lehner — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: mary lehner Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 No sec you can't keep our money to yourselves

Sent from my iPhone

Mary Lou Johnstone — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Mary Lou Johnstone Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I am speechless watching you destroy peoples' lives with this plan. The greed in this country is deplorable. I am a 78 year old woman. My Social Security isn't that much. I do have some investments with my husband, but they aren't going to be enough. If you do what you're thinking of doing, giving the big money people, the upper hand and robbing me of the rest of my life. I would rather not have to stand in breadlines. I doubt that I will be the only one. I also doubt that this means anything to you.I can't live in comfort. What do you care? Probably not at all. If you do this, do you care about the American people at all? Well, at least I'll die knowing you had a good life. I wish I could write in terms that would make you be compassionate. I wish I could say words that would make you not do this. I'm just tired. I'm angry. I'm tired of this country. Being run with no concern for the American people. But you'll have a good life. Won't you, you and all your cronies? I take no comfort in that I. Am. So. Tired. I. So. Angry.

Mary Johnstone
Milford, MI

Sent from my iPhone

Mary McCarthy — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Mary McCarthy Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reports must stay in place. This is a program protecting Americans. We have lost enough under this administration. History shows that CEOs and CFOs need close observation by regularly providing the public with TRUTHFUL information. MAKE NO CHANGES TO THE EXISTING LAW.

Sent from my iPhone

Mary Morgan — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Mary Morgan Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please retain quarterly meetings. It only makes sense!

Mary Muller — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Mary Muller Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Think of this move as cutting investor trust and confidence in half. I see this having a downward effect on stock prices.

Sent from my T-Mobile 5G Device
Get Outlook for Android

Mary Oberhelman — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Mary Oberhelman Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I will NOT INVEST in a corporation that chooses to only show me bi annual statements. What are they hiding if they cant show a statement?

Mary Pachas — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Mary Pachas Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is necessary to protect the public.
This is another attempt to steal, and grift.
Mary Pachas…retired RNC. Outer Banks, NC
Sent from my iPad

Mary Paquette — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Mary Paquette Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This money is people's lifeline. CEO needs to be responsible .

Mary Pendergast — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Mary Pendergast Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is essential!
Mary Pendergast
99 Fillmore St
Pawtucket, RI 02860

Sent from my iPad

Mary Peterson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Mary Peterson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 No one wants to follow the rules, be transparent, be honest. It's like we are living in the wild wild West. This lack of reporting will allow for more Fraud! This is absolutely unacceptable. We have these rules and regulations in place for reasons.

Sent from my iPhone

Mary Pleas — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Mary Pleas Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep quarterly teporting

Get Outlook for iOS

---

mary quirk — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: mary quirk Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 No
Keep it Quarterly

Mary Remington — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Mary Remington Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This only works out for insiders!!!

Sent from my iPhone

Mary Reynolds — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Mary Reynolds Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the accountability 😁

Mary Roland — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Mary Roland Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please continue quarterly reporting.

Sent from my iPhone

Mary Samuelson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Mary Samuelson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the

Securities and Exchange Commission:
Quarterly reporting gives a much clearer picture of how companies operate and any seasonal changes that might affect their stock price. For those who rely on quarterly dividend checks and must sometimes sell if a company isn't doing well, having to wait 6 months to know a company was in trouble could greatly impair our ability to maintain our income.

Mary Sodd — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Mary Sodd Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
We need financial justice. This matters!

Mary Stenson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Mary Stenson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Dear SEC,

I am going to speak to you today like I do to the children I teach, so they know something is definitely not okay, and nothing can be confused.

That is not okay for some to have the needed info, and the rest of Americans to be in the dark, and you know it. Do not give in to the corrupt and stomp on the backs of most working Americans at the same time. Everyone must stay in the light!

Thank You,

Mary Stenson
Primary School Substitute Teacher

Get Outlook for Android

Mary Tucker — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Mary Tucker Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 mary Tucker/CEO - too much corruption in corp america to not require quarterly reporting! In fact should be monthly!

Mary Tucker
CEO
UPIC Health, LLC
205 Van Buren St., Suite 120
Herndon, VA 20170
678-860-4728

1. Be Awesome. 2. Be Happy. 3, Help Others with One & Two.

The information and any files transmitted by this email is intended only for the person or entity to which it is addressed. This email may contain protected, proprietary, business-confidential and/or privileged material. If you are not the intended recipient of this message, be aware that any use, review, retransmission, distribution, reproduction or any action taken in reliance upon this message is strictly prohibited. If you received this in error, please contact the sender and delete the material from all computers.

Mary Wyatt — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Mary Wyatt Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I am a retired Nurse Practitioner. I do NOT approve of changing the Corporate quarterly reporting from quarterly to twice a year. The USA has been doing quarterly for a reason - preventing corruption that I'm sure the Trump family will take every advantage of using.
Sincerely Mary M Wyatt. From Katy Texas

Sent from my iPad

Maryann Roper — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Maryann Roper Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We demand and are entitled to transparency and ongoing accountability, especially now in these volatile times and markets.

Maryann Murtha

MARYANNE BRENNAN — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: MARYANNE BRENNAN Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is vital to the ability of the "average" citizen investor to monitor his/her retirement accounts or other investments made outside of those accounts. Semi annual reports would allow "insiders" to know what is happening in a particular corporation and take advantage of that knowledge, potentially leaving individuals (and their advisors) in the dark for six months at a time. Quarterly reports have worked well for a long time. The savings to large corporations is not a sufficient excuse to make this change. The information available in quarterly reports is too important to lose.

Thank you

MaryAnne Brock — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: MaryAnne Brock Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I totally object to dropping Quarterly reporting! It is Needed! Bi-Annual is insufficient. Keep the Quarterly reports so we investors can continue to make good decisions . about OUR MONEY & OUR Future!

Maryanne Verleger — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Maryanne Verleger Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We demand transparency not less!

Maryjane Hadaway — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Maryjane Hadaway Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 CEOs generally lack the scruples to act ethically. PLEASE, keep the quarterly reporting to remind them to be honest.

Sent from my iPhone

MaryJo Davila-Ryan — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: MaryJo Davila-Ryan Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Mary Jo Davila-Ryan
Retired teacher
Quarterly reporting lets us know how funds are managed and allows us to make better financial choices

---

Marylee Montano — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Marylee Montano Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 If wall Street is using my money to get richer, they should report to at least quarterly.

Marylee Montano

---

marylee pakieser — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: marylee pakieser Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 maintain the regularity of quarterly reports. Transparency is the best practice to ensure trust, especially in financial investments.

MaryLee Pakieser MSN,RN,FNP-BC
cell :231-313-3817

MaryLynn Siciliano — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: MaryLynn Siciliano Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting provides the opportunity to promptly adjust, good bad or indifferent.

Get Outlook for iOS

MaryLynne Barber — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: MaryLynne Barber Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Do not return to semi annual reporting. There will be less transparency. Information will not be available when it's needed. It didn't work out well last time.

Sent from my iPhone

Mat — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Mat Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Mat OBrien
Accounting software technician

Please ensure SEC reports stay quarterly. I see end users let accounting discrepancies pile up, then not have enough time to navigate their accounting software to locate the root cause. This will only decrease productivity.

Matt Bushey — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Matt Bushey Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Matt Bushey - Warehouse Logistics This change would only benefit wealthy people with inside information, it hurts the small retail investors the most. Please keep the quarterly reporting requirement and do not lower this country's standards any more.
Thank you!

-Matt

Matt Pecoraro — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Matt Pecoraro Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Dr. Matthew Pecoraro Physical Therapist

Quarterly reporting is essential for providing non-insiders with pertinent details regarding revenue, free cash flow, debt, quarter over quarter and year over year growth, etc.

Reporting only every 6 months will leave non-insiders “stuck with the bag” when companies are on a downward trajectory, as those with insider information will have already made moves accordingly. This will make an already corrupt system even further corrupt and hurt middle class investors the most, which this country has done again and again and can no longer withstand.

Sent from my iPhone

Matthew and Martha Miller — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Matthew and Martha Miller Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Let’s not be foolish here. We need to continue to require semi annual reporting. We need to keep as much transparency as possible. This effects every investor.
Martha S. Miller
US Citizen

Matthew Asplund — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Matthew Asplund Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
The current reporting standards have allowed the greatest economic growth of any country ever in history. The burden on corporate accounting is very small when considering the amount of audits that corporations are required to comply with in the current business environment. Reducing reporting only obfuscates and leads to market inefficiency. It doesn't truly provide any gains in productivity or profitability. Please don't take away the consumer protections that created American Exceptionalism.

Matthew Davila — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Matthew Davila Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I don't trust companies that want less transparency.

Matthew Hirsch — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Matthew Hirsch Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
This new rule would hurt investors and give more leverage to insider traders. Stop wrecking the US economy. Trump did enough of that already.

Matthew Jung — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Matthew Jung Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Transparency, reliability, and consistency in reporting of publicly traded companies are why the US stock market is #1 in the world. Investors will have less confidence with less regular reporting of data.
Matt Jung
Financial Advisor

Sent from my iPhone

Matthew Lamoureux — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Matthew Lamoureux Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 It is clear from historical data and current world reporting that removing quarterly reporting will do nothing but harm those with the least to loose.

~LAMMY~

Matthew Mikulski — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Matthew Mikulski Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Greetings,

My name is Dorothea Schulz, I live in Western NC, work for an architecture, and think letting insiders know the direction of a company for an extra three months vs the public is an absolutely ridiculous proposition clearly intended to help people with personal access to higher-ups (aka 'the rich') get richer -- and only this!

Give me the name of one smaller public business that had to shut its doors due to the overbearing costs of having to put together a quarterly 10(k)... I wont be holding my breath.

Do not make this rule change, it is a bad deal for the American people.

Matthew Westra — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Matthew Westra Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To whom it may concern at the SEC,

Quarterly reporting is super important for the accountability needed to price the market accordingly and the accountability needed for investors, especially small retail investors.

Thank you for reading and considering my comments.

Matt Westra

Matthias Heinzemann — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Matthias Heinzemann As individual investors we need more information not less. Please keep quaterly reporting mandatory.

Maude Buszek — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Maude Buszek Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I want quarterly reporting

Sent from my iPhone

Maunta Bailey — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Maunta Bailey Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This was originally put into place because of the problems that had happened. So you think going backwards will work? When you repeat what did not work before, you’re either stupid or corrupt.

Sent from my iPhone

Maureen Hogg — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Maureen Hogg Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is vital to our financial health! Keep the rules as they are!

Maureen Kee — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Maureen Kee Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Because these ceos need to sign each quarter to keep themselves from going to prison for fraud

Sent from my iPhone

Maureen Nayowith — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Maureen Nayowith Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is essential for keeping the public informed - keep it!

Maureen

Maureen Toth — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Maureen Toth Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly is where this should stay to protect public investors as is and has been customary.

---

mauricio de oliveira — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: mauricio de oliveira Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To control my assets and make my own decisions, where I can invest properly.

Sent from my iPhone

Max — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Max Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is necessary to prevent insider trading and fraud, the longer the reporting period, the easier it is for them to commit fraud and insider trading. But the gov knows this, that's why they are taking it to 6 months. They are the insiders

---

mcorby53 — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: mcorby53 Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I'm Michael, a senior who's sick to death of being subject to the abuse and disrespect of conservatives, republicans and office holders, elected and appointed, so they can take more from us and not get caught doing it. Don't cut quarterly reports. In fact, that information should be revealed at least weekly, if not daily. Both should be doable. Anyone preventing that has suspect motives.

Sent from my iPhone

MD Engle — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: MD Engle Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 You are there to stop corruption not promote it. Unless you're a billionaire, you owe them nothing

---

Me — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Me Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please do NOT do this. I've just retired and depend on my savings/investments. This would not be fair to all of us who have worked hard for retirement for so many years.

Tim Nichols, teacher, New York

Sent from my iPhone

Mechelle Andrews — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Mechelle Andrews Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is important to me as a retiree and is not excessive for companies.

Sent from my iPhone

Meg Bonacci — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Meg Bonacci Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 By not submitting quarterly figures, I am left blind for 3 months as to what I should do or not do with my investments - money I count on for my retirement. This move to six month reporting helps only the companies and not the “little people” who have their hard earned money at risk. Keep the quarterly reporting.

Sent from my iPad

Meg Green — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Meg Green Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I manage a vast portfolio and need to see numbers! It’s all about the data, not the shiny nickel. Please be true to the numbers.

Megan — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Megan Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep quarterly filings the norm. This will help the average investor and keep companies honest. Thanks, Megan Tripp

---

Megan Coleman — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Megan Coleman Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Please require publicly traded companies to disclose information on a quarterly basis. With ever changing market conditions, six months is an eternity. In order to make the best decisions, we need more up to date information and disclosures

---

Megan Fraser — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Megan Fraser Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
It's bad enough yall are changing the rules to leave retirees holding the bag for overvalued ipo's while you increase the divide in working and oligarchs. It's bad enough that the corporations have more rights than people in a democracy. It's bad enough no one is protecting us from corporate greed and the extraction of our labor for greed. It's bad enough corporations outsourced retirement obligations to workers. Your job is oversight and protection. Don't further abed the grifters by reducing your oversight please.

Megan Thompson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Megan Thompson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 As a comfortable budget slips out of reach for many households; stakeholders need, more than ever, the partial protection that quarterly reporting provides.

M. Thompson

Retired Social Worker

Melanie Ferrara — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Melanie Ferrara Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Just don't be stupid. People do pay attention on what's happening.

Melanie Fisher — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Melanie Fisher Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 KEEP IT QUARTERLY! We have enough fraud in this country!

Melanie Fisher

Helping people around the world to LiveBetter, naturally, with healthy-for-you, unique products that REALLY help!

Melanie Hughes — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Melanie Hughes Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
The theft you're allowing on taxpayer public funded dime is getting tracked, and their will be criminal charges heading your way. You are all public funded SERVANTS operating outside of the Constitution you swore to uphold, and the people who pay your wages, and allow you to live the American dream on taxpayer dime. Taxpayer dime. Not your money. Our money. Ours. Not yours. Who do any of you think you are?
This is unethical, and it is called corruption, and you will be charged with it eventually. You have bought off our public funded servants for now. For now.
Put me on the list of Americans that says PUBLIC FUNDED SERVANTS will stop using our federal dollars to commit massive amounts of crimes against the American taxpayers who pay their wages. Clock that.
Signed,
The American people who pay your wages to act in our best interests.

Melanie Lesh — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Melanie Lesh Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Stop being so easy on overpaid CEO's
We don't want another market crash due to unchecked greed and lax accountability!
Make them tell the truth! Regularly!

Sent from my iPhone

Melanie Pyne — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Melanie Pyne Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We need to keep reporting to quarterly. I have just retired and need to keep an eye on my investments. Quarterly reports will help me to make sure I'm investing soundly.

Melanie Pyne
Buffalo NY

Sent from my iPhone

Melanie Sipiora — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Melanie Sipiora Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This is unfair and not full transparency. What is being hidden?

Melena VanArsdall — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Melena VanArsdall Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 If you want to adjust it, make it monthly instead of quarterly. Twic a year is unfair to investors.

Melinda d'Ouville — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Melinda d'Ouville Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 There is no benefit to citizens and the government to change reporting requirements. Keep the current regulation.

Melinda d'Ouville

Welcome to paradise, it's all around us, look and you will see it!

Melinda Rogers — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Melinda Rogers Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 The SEC is meant to protect investors. America is already losing foreign investors because of the volatility in the market. This will not serve the public well. Do not roll back our protections.

Melinda Rogers
Southeastern Ready Region
Certified Class Observer
Affiliate Trainer

Melinda Velarde — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Melinda Velarde Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the SEC,
Quarterly reporting must continue to support transparency and honesty. We the American public, the consumers and investors of the economy, demand it. Melinda Velarde, US investor and consumer

Sent from Outlook for Android

Melinda Velarde — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Re: Ending Quarterly Statements From: Melinda Velarde Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the SEC,
Quarterly reporting must continue to support transparency and honesty. We the American public, the consumers and investors of the economy, demand it. Melinda Velarde, US investor and consumer

Sent from Outlook for Android

Melissa Abuzeid — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Melissa Abuzeid Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
After Enron, the law forced CEOs to personally sign their financials four times a year, with prison on the line for signing a lie.
The SEC just proposed cutting that in half. Fewer signatures equals less accountability.
These regulations were put in place to protect our investments. It would be totally unacceptable to cut those regulations and risk another massive fraud on investors.
With Social Security increasingly looking bleak for future generations, people must rely even more heavily upon their personal investments and retirement accounts being as safe as possible.
Do not change this rule to require less oversight and accountability!

Melissa Barrett — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Melissa Barrett Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Every 3 months or quarterly will help keep accountability stronger. Leave the quarterly report in place.

Sent from my iPhone

Melissa Bennett — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Melissa Bennett Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Stop the insider b.s. and keep quarterly reports. Better yet, make the reports monthly.

Sent from my iPad

Melissa Bishop — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Melissa Bishop Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the quarterly reporting. Too much can happen in six months. We deserve transparency with the people holding our money in their stocks.

Melissa Delgado — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Melissa Delgado Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Absolutely not!

Sent from my iPhone

Melissa Franceschini — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Melissa Franceschini Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep it QUARTERLY.

Melissa Hatton — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Melissa Hatton Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We are now in a new era of technology, why not more reporting! Instead of less?
Why not real-time reporting! Or.. I'll even go quarterly reporting!!!! Shouldn't be a problem to keep everyone in the know. Thank you!

Melissa Netzer — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Melissa Netzer Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Bowing to corporate desires has never been a good idea! All you end up with is persistent inflation, expensive monopolies, environmental issues, income inequality, captured regulation, democracy in name only, forever wars, population health issues, low birthrate, mass incarceration, etc., etc., and my favorite feudalism 2.0.

Melvin Netzer, third generation veteran, finance degree, career air traffic controller, and father of two boys.

There's a correlation between corporate power and the increasing number of 19th century style "panics," we endure. The pie is somewhat fixed. This policy proposal smacks of wealth consolidation, and, most assuredly, will lead to more SERFS! However, the rich will get richer. So it's already decided. Anyone with half a brain knows who benefits from lower financial transparency.

Melissa Payne — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Melissa Payne Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My name is Rochelle. I am a public school employee, so I do not have a lot of money to play around with when it comes to investments. This feels like a slap in the face to working people trying to create a better life, while being an obvious win for finance executives and politicians with blatant conflicts of interest.

Sent from my iPhone

Melissa Relyea — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Melissa Relyea Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
I monitor my investments quarterly to ensure they are well-balanced for my financial future. Removing this ability will remove the opportunity for average investors to assess our investments, an we'll remove our money from the market.

Melissa rogers — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Melissa rogers Investors need as much information as possible. Reports should be quarterly. Six months is too long for harmful actions to fester. I do not approve of this rules change.

Melissa Smith — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Melissa Smith Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please let’s keep the playing field as open and honest as possible. We investors deserve to have as much information as the insiders! (Although we all know that’ll never happen!)
Aloha-
Tracy Smith, retired healthcare provider

Melissa Strolz (PT) — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Melissa Strolz (PT) Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This is unacceptable! There is no reason to revert back less transparency. People expect and demand more not less.

This is the type of nonsense that makes me want to pull my funds out completely.

Thank you,
Melissa Strolz

Sent from my Verizon, Samsung Galaxy smartphone
Get Outlook for Android

Melissa Swartz — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Melissa Swartz Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is better for the companies because it forces them to pay attention Just leave it alone

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Melody Karbley — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Melody Karbley Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Advise taking away your investor's rights is not the way to build investor confidence! Do better.

Melody Marshall — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Melody Marshall Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Absolutely not!!
I am a university professor. I teach ethics. This is wrong.

Melvadean Edwards — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Melvadean Edwards Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Melvadean Edwards: retired teacher and widow: I want to continue quarterly reports.

Merle Styer — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Merle Styer Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 They belong in jail!Merle Styer

Sent from my iPad

Merlyn Latimet — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Merlyn Latimet Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Leave it quarterly for the benefit of the average investor and citizens!

Sent from my iPhone

Merna Brostoff — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Merna Brostoff Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I cannot believe you are considering cutting the reporting down to semi-annually. Totally unacceptable. If anything we need more than quarterly reporting. The amount of fraud graft corruption and corporate malfeasance will only grow with less scrutiny

Merna Brostoff — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Merna Brostoff Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I cannot believe you are considering cutting the reporting down to semi-annually. Totally unacceptable. If anything we need more than quarterly reporting

---

Meta Starr — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Meta Starr Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Why would anyone want LESS accountability? Answer: We emphatically DO NOT WANT LESS ACCOUNTABILITY. Keep the three month reporting schedule!
HMMitchell, Investment Consultant at Metastar

Mia Rand — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Mia Rand Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 WTAF? PLEASE DONT allow this to get even WORSE! They are killing the American people, jailing us, and starving us. ENOUGH.🤬

Miah Arnold — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Miah Arnold Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We need quarterly reporting

---

Michael — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Michael Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Transparency from public companies is essential. Don't let them get away with financial misconduct.

Michael Keller, Tulsa OK

Michael Aragon — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Michael Aragon Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
I am writing to voice my opposition to the proposed change from quarterly to semi-annual reporting (Rule S7-2026-15). I manage my own retirement investments, and this rule would severely harm my ability to assess risk.A six-month reporting window is an eternity in today's fast-moving economy. A public corporation can experience severe financial distress, shifting market dynamics, or structural failures in a matter of weeks. Waiting half a year to see a balance sheet means retail investors will only find out about catastrophic corporate problems long after the damage is done and institutional players have already exited their positions.The SEC was created to ensure fair and open capital markets. This proposal does the opposite by stripping away 50 years of established disclosure standards. Please maintain the current 10-Q quarterly reporting requirements.

Michael Burns — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Michael Burns Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
The result of this giveaway will be that CEOs and company executives will still know what's happening inside their companies. Institutional investors—with their research teams and special access to management – will also find ways to stay informed long before you get the information in six months. If you're a retail investor, you'll be trading blind. And trading against people who have access to more information than you do. This will be the biggest rollback of investor disclosure requirements in more than 50 years. Do the already wealthy and heavily advantaged really need more help? My message likely won't change anything; I suspect you and your ilk have left behind any shred of ethics and morals that would push you to approach your job with anything but slavish service to the ruling class, but perhaps? If an appeal to common decency fails, do you not even realize, with all your purported expertise, that this also erodes the stability of the markets by making it a rigged game even more prone to catastrophic crashes than it already is?

Michael Camacho — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Michael Camacho Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
HEY WALL STREET
GET YOUR ACT TOGETHER BEFORE IT'S TOO LATE

Michael Carter — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Michael Carter Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I believe CEOs of publicly traded companies owe both the regulators, investors, and the public the obligation to be transparent and open about their financial status as well as their governance status. Therefore, the quarterly reporting should remain in effect in order to maintain that transparency and accountability.
Michal R. Carter
Retired accountant
Yakima, Washington

Michael Chertok — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Michael Chertok Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Hello, it will harm my personal investment capability if companies report less frequently. I may pull some of my personal investments out of the market.

Michael Coutts — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Michael Coutts Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This change makes it harder for non insiders to invest their money. Donald Trump and his cronies can suck a dick.

Sent from my iPhone

Michael Covey — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Michael Covey Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 this is not a good ide. I fear it will start a "run" on Wall Street and crash the market!

Michael Dunn — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Michael Dunn Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Open the doors for dishonesty.

Michael Erskine — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Michael Erskine Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Securities and Exchange Commission;

I DO NOT THINK YOUR INTEREST LIES WITH THE AMERICAN PEOPLE IF YOU ARE EVEN CONSIDERING THIS.

IT IS A SIMPLE SIGNATURE FFS? THERE CAN BE NO REASON OTHER THAN A PROFIT MOTIVE FOR DOING THIS.

I FIND MYSELF WISHING YOU PEOPLE WERE HELD RESPONSIBLE BY A MOB OF ANGRY CITIZENS.

Michael Erskine

Systems Engineer, Computer Scientist

SFC, USA, ret.

--
Non Timebo Mala

Michael Fortunato — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Michael Fortunato Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This proposal is absolutely crazy. As an investor we need more transparency than just twice a year. Its hard to fathom that this is even being considered.

Mike F
Tampa, FL

Sent from my Galaxy

Michael Fricault — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Michael Fricault Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Keep reporting on a quarterly basis to maintain a more transparent system of releasing information to investors.

Michael Goldberg — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Michael Goldberg Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Decreasing oversight and regulation in our financial system has always lead us to disaster.

Michael Goodwin — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Michael Goodwin Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep it at three months. We must keep Corporations accountable and protect small investors. -M. Goodwin, Quality Assurance Representative, Pennsylvania

---

Michael Grais — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Michael Grais Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Why would you do this? Life is hard enough without you making it harder. Give us a break!!

Michael Grais

Michael Iverson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Michael Iverson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 You decision to reduce reporting requirements is appalling. What has caused America to be successful is transparent reporting. A lack of transparency will become the undoing of our great nation. For shame.

Michael J — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Michael J Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We live in the age of AI, monthly reporting would offer better transparency, and not cost much. If companies want taxbreaks and legal protection it makes no sense to allow less trsnsperency.

No to bi-annual reporting.

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Michael Jacobs — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Michael Jacobs Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 MICHAEL JACOBS, RETIRED,WHAT THE HELL ARE YOU THINKING WITH THIS ASSININE POPROSAL ??

Michael Kramer — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Michael Kramer Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Regular reports allow you to make timely decisions and harder to hide bad news. Only bad actors would benifit from lax reporting. I'm a retiree and my pension is in the stock market. Regular reports will benefit consumer confidence.

Michael Krapacs — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Michael Krapacs Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Why does the trump administration keep thinking up ways to hamstring working people and reward billioniares who have more wealth that they could never use.

Michael Legler — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Michael Legler Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is essential to keep individual investors informed, and reduce opportunities for insiders to exploit insider knowledge. Keep the quarterly reporting rule in place to maintain transparency and investor confidence.

Michael A. Legler, MBA, Retired

Michael Lumry — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Michael Lumry Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Leave it the way it is, quarterly

---

Michael Lumry — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Michael Lumry Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Leave it the way it is, quarterly.

Michael Mariano — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Michael Mariano Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Changing the quarterly reporting rules is not good for anyone other than companies that have something to hide or have a problem with transparency. Corporations are already getting tax breaks and not paying their fair share. Allowing them to reduce their reporting requirements will only cause problems in the SEC's ability to monitor corporate financials and catch potential fraud before it becomes too big. It will also take away the ability of investors to make logical and informed decisions in today's macro environment. Please do not change the requirements for quarterly corporate financials.

Thank you,
Michael M - Online Sales

Michael Minard — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Michael Minard Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We need quarterly statements

---

Michael Mojher — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Michael Mojher Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 As an investor, I require quarterly reports to make informed decisions about my assets. Do NOT change this frequency as it invites shady practices.

Sent from my iPhone

Michael Murphy — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Michael Murphy Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
This information helps crucial decision making possible and are important points for growth to be possible! 2nd It's a Legle right ✅

Michael Napoli — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Michael Napoli Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting works! Don't mess with success!

Michael Nielsen — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Michael Nielsen Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Just as CEOs don't deserve to be executed as was that Life Insurance executive was in New York, they also don't deserve to be released from quarterly reporting.

Michael O'Donnell — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Michael O'Donnell Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My name is Michael O'Donnell and I live in Wilmington DE.

Regarding the proposal to shift reporting requirements from quarterly to semi-annually:
I'm a retail investor and I rely on quarterly reports to make decisions about my retirement savings.

Longer gaps create an unfair advantage for corporate insiders, 'optional' doesn't fix the problem because companies that opt in are often the ones whose investors most need frequent updates, and the savings to companies aren't worth the potential cost to me.
Please stop trying to rig the rules in favor of the ultra-wealthy and to the disadvantage of the rest of the USA population!

Michael P — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Michael P Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 As a prior CMO for an industry leader, I know how drastically company performance can change in 6 months. Investors have the right to be informed every 3 months about company performance and management decisions. Going dark for 6 months is unacceptable.

Michael Polly — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Michael Polly Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This is a ridiculous proposal. Investors should know about the company from Day One.

Sent from my iPad

Michael Redmond — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Michael Redmond Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This is pure;y a political decision and not an economic one. How do you hide bad numbers? Just don’t report them. Every aspect of our lives is being disrupted just to massage an old man’s ego. Put government has become a *ing joke.

---

michael ritzert — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: michael ritzert Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 All reporting should be on a monthly basis, the American citizens have been financially raped by corporate and political corruption to the point of financial collapse of our nation

Michael J Ritzert

Michael Robinson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Michael Robinson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Michael Robinson, IT Service Desk, Portland, OR.

Keep the rules fair and the reporting honest and timely. Cutting the reporting and weakening the penalties invite mote fraud we have seen too much of this with tax payers bailing out rich corporations.

MICHAEL TONRY — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: MICHAEL TONRY Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Are quarterly statements too much work to do? It's not done by hand, but by computers.
Is it too expensive? That's called, "The price of doing business." We, The Shareholders pay for it and not management.
DO NOT CHANGE. KEEP IT QUARTERLY.

Sent from my Verizon, Samsung Galaxy smartphone
Get Outlook for Android

Michael Tripka — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Michael Tripka Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Facilitating fraud!Don't do this!

Michael Tripka (retired)
Loretto. PA

Michael Whitney — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Michael Whitney Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 More transparency is better as a society, and we as investors use the information to gauge company health. Think of your own mission and whether it aligns.
I quote, from SEC.gov : “Companies offering securities for sale to the public must tell the truth about their business, the securities they are selling, and the investment risks.”
Does less transparency meet this mission?
Follow SEC’s mission to protect investors. Oppose reducing the frequency of issuance of company statements.

Michael Whitney
Monroe, WA

Sent from my iPhone

Michael Wohlgemuth — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Michael Wohlgemuth Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 They should change it to monthly reporting IMHO ... But they should stay quarterly, like every other business ...

The stock market is s poker game that is rigged anyway ... Changing the time period to 6 months would make it double it's corruption

No to changing

Michael Woody Retired — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Michael Woody I think this is a totally wrong way to go. I count on quarterly earnings to manage my investments. By waiting for 6 month intervals too much could happen that will affect my investments. At least now I only have to suffer a bad report every 90 days and be able to make adjustments 4 time a year to head off bad performance. Even my doctor wants every 3 months to check on my health and bloodwork. He says 6 months is too long and too much could go wrong by waiting 6 months. Same thing for me and my investments- please do not change the reporting to twice a year.

Michael Yee — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Michael Yee Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Michael Yee, physician, I would not be able to invest wisely for my 403b which is what I use for retirement. Shame on the SWC for trying to push this through, we need more transparency, not less!

Sent from my iPhone

Michael Yee — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Michael Yee Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
I would not be able to invest wisely for my 403b which is what I use for retirement. Shame on the SEC for trying to push this through, we need more transparency, not less!

Michaela Madsen — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Michaela Madsen Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Michaela Madsen, retired, Virginia. As I understand it, Less transparency and less reporting by corporations translates into a worse deal for the consumer. Don’t stack the deck in favor of big business at the expense of the individual. The evidence from before quarterly reporting is not good. Please protect the consumer and our hard earned investments.

Sent from my iPhone

Michel — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Michel Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Michel, Investor - please keep reporting quarterly. If this changes to only twice a year, I'm less likely to invest - a move that others will follow - something that hurts everyone.
Thank you.

Michel Everett — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Michel Everett Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Michel Everett, Lost Creek Investments (since 1978).

I believe Quarterly reporting is essential to all investors, large or small, to be able to make reasonable decisions as to the soundness and viability of the companies we consider investment worthy.
As an Investor, I am putting my hard earned capital into these companies. All relevant information about them and their future, positive or negative, is absolutely of paramount importance to me. Without that information or the lack of it for 6 months, would not allow me to make informed decisions about my investments.
I believe knowledge is power. Investing is taking a calculated risk in the future of established companies and especially in new companies going forward. Without access to the best, most current, reliable and up to date information about investing in any potential businesses would not benefit me whatsoever.
Depriving me of any information by withholding it for 6 months at a time but available to others would be very harmful to my decision making and the success of my investments.

Michele Barker — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Michele Barker Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Michele Barker, retired educator, as a retiree & as a wife married to a CPA I understand how important quarterly reporting is to our overall economy. Quarterly reporting keeps businesses honest & keeps reporting to shareholders timely. This act only makes it easier for big business to hide losses.

Sent from my iPad

---

michele bisbee — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: michele bisbee Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Re: Quarterly Reporting With reporting information so easily available there is no reason to compromise any method or rulings that support honesty in workplaces!
Todays news shows the moral framework of yesterday is missing. Making a commitment with a handshake doesn't happen any more. Trust doesn't prevail. Keeping boundaries clear and consistent helps honest people stay honest, and supports good business practices. Stay the course.
Michele R Bisbee. Minnesota

Michele Slivken — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Michele Slivken Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Reporting must remain quarterly-anything less and investors cannot make good decisions.

Michele Slivken
Business owner/Investor

Sent from my iPhone

Michele von Stein — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Michele von Stein Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Protect consumers and continue to report quarterly.

Michele Wheeler — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Michele Wheeler Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 With all the corruption going on, quarterly reporting is essential to keep things honest.

Sent from my iPad

---

michelle — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: michelle Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Ladies and Gentlemen,

I strongly want quarterly reporting to continue because it provides the most transparent accounting AND accountability for all concerned; employees, principals, investors, creditors, clients.
As an investor, timely information has been and remains the essential crux of investing for my retirement and future. This is personal. This is about my security. I loathe that dismantling this financial guardrail is being contemplated.

Michelle Chambers, retired Private Jet Charter Manager
Investor
Chico, California

Michelle — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Michelle Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Extending the reporting only helps corporations hide their activities longer. Please don't allow this change.

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Michelle Atkins — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Michelle Atkins Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 More ways to rip off working people saving for retirement. I do t think so. Why go back to something that destroyed so Many lives? ENRON wiped out peoples entire Life savings and they want to go back??? Not acceptable.

Sent from my iPhone

Michelle Avery — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Michelle Avery Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Please don't make changes to the rules that will only help corporations but will harm people with retirement plans like me! We matter, too, right?

Michelle Barnhill — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Michelle Barnhill Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My name is Michelle Barnhill and as a consumer, I want to keep the reporting to Quarterly. To much can happen in Six months, leaving us Blindsided and unable to respond to issues with our portfolio. Please do not change it from the quarterly schedule!

Michelle Biddle — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Michelle Biddle Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
This is just another overreach from the government and big business they continue to get rich off of poor and middle class citizens and we are sick to death of it!!! If this kind of BS keeps happening I can guarantee that we will rise up and take you down!!! Stop stealing from us!! I've already lived through Bank of America stealing our inheritance by taking my granfathers investment out of gas and oil and invested it into Bank of America stock and when the banking crash happened they lost millions of our money and we got screwed while the government bailed them out they are thieves and should be prosecuted as such!!! DO NOT LET BIG BUSINESS STEAL FROM US AGAIN!!!!

---

michelle blackwell — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: michelle blackwell Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly is very important to our retirement decisions. I'm not ok with changing it to make it easier on companies. Michelle, North Carolina, business Officer

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Michelle Brockman — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Michelle Brockman Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We should require daily reporting. All these elites are robbing us blind already and you're trying to make it easier for them? Please don't

---

Michelle Chavis — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Michelle Chavis Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Hello, I am a therapist and I see the impact of stress and financial insecurity on people’s mental health daily at the hands of corporate greed. It makes no sense we aren’t going to be allowed transparency and honesty from companies regarding their earnings in order to ensure we are making decisions that serve our interest in a time of so much financial insecurity. You can’t fix the rules to benefit only corporations and business when they have a track history of fleecing and being deceptive to the public. You are going to decrease trust in a system already hanging on by a thread. Don’t change the rules.

Thank you,
Michelle Chavis

Michelle Cook — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Michelle Cook Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Stop the real steal!!

Michelle Davis — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Michelle Davis Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Do not change reporting schedule!

Sent from my iPhone

Michelle Dyanne Josey — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Michelle Dyanne Josey Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the reporting. Very important for citizens .

Ms. Michelle
Educator, Christians Craft Circle 707-712-1412 | michellet735@gmail.com
108 Elm St Crossett, Arkansas 71635

Create your own email signature

Michelle Good — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Michelle Good Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 In China they have severe penalties for corruption.
We can either keep the reporting, or switch to the Chinese model, your choice.

Michelle Kaiser — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Michelle Kaiser Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My name is Michelle Kaiser and I am an accountant in Colorado. What this world needs is more transparency not less. It is critical that investors and even owners know exactly where their company stands on a regular basis. I am shocked you would even consider changing this rule. To suggest that less reporting is okay makes me wonder who benefits and what they are trying to hide. Please do not change the financial reporting requirement from quarterly. Thank you.

Sent from my iPhone

Michelle Kelly — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Michelle Kelly Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please maintain quarterly reporting- I can about the fundamentals, and semi-annual reporting does not give enough data.

Thank you, Michelle Kelly

Sent from my iPhone

Michelle L Frey — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Michelle L Frey Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please retain quarterly reporting! Semi-annual reporting has not been in the average investor's best interest in the past. My spouse and I are elderly, retired, and dependent on our savings' investments. For the SEC to make this inappropriate change would be personally damaging as well as a poorly-thought-out decision. Please let wiser thinking prevail.

Michelle Lonergan Frey
MLFrey@MSN.com

Michelle McGee — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Michelle McGee Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 It needs to continue. I work in finance and my company pays its employees annually as stockholders and shareholders from those earnings. We have a right to know how our investment is growing and make any changes accordingly to profit. If this fails the company fails on many levels. That's indirectly unfair practice. This could allow for other companies to buy out companies like mine without us having input and allowing monopolies which are illegal.

Sent from my iPhone

Michelle Meier — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Michelle Meier Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Michelle Meier, COO Medical Facility. - This is not a good time to have less transparency. We can't trust large corporations and regulators now, don't try to hide further.

Michelle Meier, BSN, MSA, FACMPE
COO
KMC, PA
Topeka, KS
(785) 295-0956 Direct

Michelle Noble — Jun 18, 2026

Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Michelle Noble Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please continue quarterly reporting!

Sincerely,

Mrs. Michelle Noble
647 Baldwin Ave
Sharon, PA 16146

Michelle Noble — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Michelle Noble Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please continue quarterly reporting!

Michelle Paulus — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Michelle Paulus Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My name is Michelle Paulus. I am an almost retired counselor. This move to lower transparency disturbs me because it allows miscreants and blunders to hide. It is hard enough to trust in any system in this day and age, why would anyone want to make it harder unless they were wanting to do wrong?

Sent from my iPhone

Michelle Scherer — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Michelle Scherer Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
In an age where accountability and transparency are lacking, please do not eliminate quarterly reporting.

Michelle Smith — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Michelle Smith Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To whom it concerns at the SEC: my name is Michelle, Laborde, and I am a retired resident of Virginia. I would like to have an understanding of why the SEC is considering reducing reporting times. It is clear this has had a negative impact on the average Americans returns in the past. Please explain what advantages for the American taxpayer the SEC hopes to accomplish with this change in reporting. Given that all evidence points to negative outcomes for the average investor, such as me, I am 100% against such a change. As a retiree, I have spent a lifetime earning money to invest and fund my retirement. This change would negatively impact my lifelong effort and current financial situation.

---

michelle Taranto — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: michelle Taranto Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Our government needs more transparency, not less! Quarterly reporting needs to stay as is at the very least. If nothing else we should be pushing for MORE reporting and transparency, not less! What has happened to a government for the people?????!!!!!

Michelle Theis-Black — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Michelle Theis-Black Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 KEEP THINGS THE WAY THEY ARE. Do not revert back to 1955 semi-annual reporting. This a terrible idea. Why can we not learn from our mistakes?? Why are we "rolling back" to antiquated ways of doing things?? This only empowers the 1% of this country and the rest of us work way too * hard to keep a dollar. STOP MESSING THINGS UP. For the love of all that is good and mighty, just STOP.

--
M: 614.354.6268

duofit.michelle@gmail.com

Michelle Trost — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Michelle Trost Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 As a investor, quarterly reports help in making decisions and being knowledgeable about Companies earnings. I think to insure investing it would be vital to maintain quarterly reports.

Sent from my iPhone

Michelle Wagner investor — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Michelle Wagner I urge the Commission to reject proposals to move public companies from quarterly to semi-annual reporting. While intended to reduce short-termism, this change would likely harm market quality and investors: Wider information gaps favor insiders over retail investors. Institutional players with access to management, supply-chain data, or alternative data sources would gain a larger relative edge during the longer stretches between disclosures—precisely the asymmetry the Commission's disclosure regime exists to limit. Problems surface later and hit harder. Operational and financial issues would have twice as long to develop before being disclosed, leading to larger, more abrupt price corrections rather than the earlier, smaller adjustments that frequent reporting enables. Cost of capital would likely rise, especially for smaller issuers. Less frequent disclosure increases the uncertainty premium investors demand. Larger firms can offset this with analyst coverage and other information channels; smaller, newer companies cannot, making this change regressive for the issuers least able to absorb it. Liquidity could suffer. Reduced information flow tends to widen bid-ask spreads as market makers price in greater uncertainty, raising trading costs for all investors, including those in index funds. The evidence does not support the stated rationale. The UK and EU both relaxed quarterly reporting requirements in recent years, and the results did not show clear improvement in long-term corporate focus. Short-termism is more plausibly driven by executive compensation structures and guidance practices than by reporting frequency itself. Quarterly reporting has real shortcomings, but reducing disclosure frequency addresses the wrong variable. I respectfully ask the Commission to maintain the current quarterly reporting requirement and pursue more targeted reforms if short-termism is the underlying concern. Respectfully submitted, Michelle Wagner

---

Michiele Goebel — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Michiele Goebel Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Investors have a right to the quarterly oversight and information.please do not succumb to this pressure.The stakes are high.Michiele M.Goebel,investor via retirement funds.Thank you.

Sent from my iPhone

Micki Llewellyn — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Micki Llewellyn Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Transparency is essential.

---

micky Hill — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: micky Hill Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Any change to obscure information is morally abhorent

Mignon Porter — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Mignon Porter Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Nope it all needs to be transparent, stop trying to conceal shady deals. It there's no fraud, what's there to hide???

Seriously,

Mignon

Sent from my T-Mobile 5G Device
Get Outlook for Android

Miguel Lopez — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Miguel Lopez Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Companies already report crap, if we don't hear from them quarterly, we won't be able to follow their actual worth

Sent from my iPhone

Mihaly Vizhanyo — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Mihaly Vizhanyo Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I see no benefit of this 6 month rule, I only downsides for the general public.
Please keep the 3 month rule as is.

Mike — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Mike Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Transparency is key to a stable and dependable market. If you lose that dependable base you will lose consumer confidence and will throw the market into wide spins of volitity that will hurt institutions and individual investor alike. Keep the quarterly reporting requirement in place.

Mike Holmes
Private investor

Mike Alarid None — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Mike Alarid I am a retired federal employee and retiree investor who relies on my IRA and investment income to help support my retirement. As an individual investor, I do not have access to corporate management teams, institutional research departments, private analyst meetings, or alternative data sources. Quarterly financial reports are one of the most important tools available to help me evaluate the companies in which I invest. Reducing reporting requirements from quarterly to semiannual filings would decrease transparency and delay the flow of important information to ordinary investors. While large institutions may have other ways to monitor company performance, retail investors often rely heavily on SEC filings to make informed decisions about their retirement savings. I understand the concerns about short-term market pressures and reporting costs. However, I believe investor transparency and timely access to financial information should remain a priority. Quarterly reporting helps investors identify changes in a company's financial condition, assess risk, and make informed decisions based on current information. For these reasons, I respectfully urge the SEC to retain quarterly reporting requirements for public companies. Thank you for considering my comments.

MIKE AND DIANNE WEATHERINGTON — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: MIKE AND DIANNE WEATHERINGTON Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep quarterly or more frequent reporting, investors who are not insiders should be provided with information needed to protect their investments properly. Why would you even consider doing otherwise?

Sent from AT&T Yahoo Mail on Android

Mike Bowen — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Mike Bowen Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting of financial performance is the most sensible way to operate our markets for transparency. Please do not allow companies to bypass this important requirement.

Mike Bradley — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Mike Bradley Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This is wrong, don't allow this to happen.

Mike

Mike Brick — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Mike Brick Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep reporting the way it is.

Mike Carolus — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Mike Carolus Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Accountability is more important than ever if we are to have trust in American businesses. In these times of corruption and greed, the law is the guardian of our very lives and livelihood.

Mike Carolus
Cell phone: (402) 201-0256

Mike Cupal — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Mike Cupal Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Mike retired 🇺🇸 No reason to move backwards. Leave things as they are.

Sent from my iPhone

Mike Faass — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Mike Faass Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 All the pain caused by these greedy and self/centered ass wipes need to serve out their full sentences.
Trump will have his days in courts and will ultimately meet with his like in prison

Sent from my iPhone

Mike Irvine — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Mike Irvine Keep the quarterly reporting. I'm retired and use this to help make financial decisions. I make changes in every quarter.

Mike Johnson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Mike Johnson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep corporate reporting quarterly. It is important for stockholders, employees and the financial industry to know what corporation finances are doing.
Mike Johnson
Reservations Agent
Kearny, AZ

Mike Johnson

Mike Kemper — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Mike Kemper Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I'm old and am no longer allowed to practice the way I made a living because of ageism, waste, and ingratitude, in the name of "efficiency" is rampant in this country. Devalued wastefully by cream skimmers passing for "leaders" in this miserly avarice soulless husk of a country bent on its own destruction. Corporate America has done nothing to deserve the greater trust of this peoples' government in this sham of a "rule change". It is deliberate obsfucation of what publicly held corporate management is doing to the value of companies we've been made dependent on by the aforementioned "leadership" inserted into the government of and by the people (ALL of them) in this withering society on it's journey to a ragtag collection of petty fiefdoms of the selfish class.

Passage of this rule will reconfirm my assessment of the Ponzi state of our country, and soon enough the world. Orwell and Pogo were correct.

Shame, shame, shame …

Mike Kostich — Jun 18, 2026

Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Mike Kostich Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This seems like a textbook opportunity to find out who's best interests our government serves, the public's, or corporate political donors'? KEEP IT Quarterly!

Mike Kostich — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Mike Kostich Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This seems like a textbook opportunity to find out who's best interests our government serves, the public's, or corporate political donors' ?

Mike Maiden — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Mike Maiden Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 The more information that investors have, the better. Less frequent reporting is going backwards.

---

mike masterson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: mike masterson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I'm not a big investor but I deserve to know how I'm doing.

Get Outlook for Android

Mike McCoy — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Mike McCoy Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 It matters because we the people need to keep a leash on you crooked mother *ers from committing fraud. Pretty *ing simple.

---

mike mckenna — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: mike mckenna Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Profits are up. They can afford accountants. Keep investors in the loop. Can you name 10 congressman from 1929 that didn't prevent the crash??? I'll make sure everyone remembers yours.

Mike Meehan — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Mike Meehan Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly is the proper time period . Don't change it !
Mike

Mike Moyer — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Mike Moyer Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This is not right. DO NOT LER THIS HAPPEN!

Sent via the Samsung Galaxy S26, an AT&T 5G smartphone
Get Outlook for Android

Mike Murrin — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Mike Murrin Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Let’s keep the quarterly reporting for the sake of transparency.

Thanks,
Mike Murrin
VP Bus Dev
MP Combustion
513-356-8217

---

mike nelson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: mike nelson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep it quaterly at a minimum. Would like it every other month and signed with stiffer penalties for corruption.

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Mike Oliver — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Mike Oliver Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 One more nail in the coffin of the average American. Keep helping the billionaires get richer while you fleece working class America. I'm 62 and retiring with a net worth in the millions. I also have a 6 figure additional income. I originally planned on spending all my money in this country to support the economy and help some causes. Now I will not be spending a dime in this * hole country. * you America.

Mike Owens — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Mike Owens Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This is a bad idea, and it will be the end of financial markets.

Sent from my iPhone

Mike Paxton — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Mike Paxton Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the law as it is. American investors have come to use and appreciate the quarterly disclosure of information regarding companies and the stock market.

Mike Shackelford — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Mike Shackelford Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 NO CHANGE TO QUARTERLY REPORTING!! This is MY Investment portfolio you intend to alter!!
Orie Shackelford, retired, Consolidation Coal Company, maintenance executive.

Sent from my iPhone

Mike Thompson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Mike Thompson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 For once, can our government do something that benefits average Americans? Just once? When it comes to investing, more information is always better!

Mike Vitale — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Mike Vitale Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Between computerized accounting and now AI, it is easier for companies to maintain quarterly reporting.

Nothing stops a company from keeping s long-term focus, they just have to be public about it.

Michael Vitale, retired IT/MGMT Consultant

Mike Walsh — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Mike Walsh Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep quarterly signed reporting

Michael J Walsh retired Geneva NY

---

mikl21088 — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: mikl21088 Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is wanted and needed

Sent from my Verizon, Samsung Galaxy smartphone

Millard Shires — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Millard Shires Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Outrageous! I have been making noise since 1949, so I have seen some economic ramifications when investors are kept blind or ill-informed. As I finish out the last of my years I don't want to watch my investments shrink because historically and now even internationally that is what happens with semi-annual vs annual reporting. What you (we) have to ask is who benefits with less reporting? Corporate executives and Wall Street insiders benefit the most from less frequent SEC reporting, not the majority of shareholders. With all our computing power these days it is easier and faster to gather and distribute accurate information; the only reason to reduce reporting is to benefit a small and select group. Again, outrageous the SEC is even considering this; it speaks ill of who and what you are.

Mill Shires
Blaine, WA

Milton Seiler Jr. — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Milton Seiler Jr. Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I am an investor in stocks and bonds. As a retired physician I am dependent on knowing how my investments are doing to make necessary adjustments. This proposal to extend quarterly reporting on my investments to semiannual is unacceptable and should not be implemented . You would hogtie me and remove any agency I need to respond in an appropriate manner.

Milton Walsh SEILER, Jr., MD

Sent from my iPad

Mimi Pickering — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Mimi Pickering Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Small time investors like me count on transparency so don’t reduce it if you want people to trust their savings to the stock market. Its your responsibility to protect people like me- Amelia Pickering, Whitesburg KY

Sent from my iPhone

Mindi Upchurch — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Mindi Upchurch Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Decreasing information flow to all people is unethical.

Miriam Juarbes — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Miriam Juarbes Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission: this less transparency means more fraud, the retails will be paying the price that will be rolled to customers and more: waiting 6 months for reports!

Missy Robinson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Missy Robinson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Melissa Robinson, teacher & investor. Companies that have my money invested should be transparent with all reporting.

Missy Scott — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Missy Scott Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting means less transparency and lower returns. Why would we go back to something that wasn't working?

Melissa Scott

Misti DeBusk — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Misti DeBusk Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Utter insanity.

Sent from my iPhone

Misty Smith — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Misty Smith Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 It leaves too much time between each report. We need more transparency with the companies who hold our retirement money and future in their hands. My name is Clyde Smith, and I am self employed and live in Arkansas. I need to see more frequent reports to make adjustments as my needs change.

Thank you-
Clyde Smith
870-942-6911

Mitzi Malet — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Mitzi Malet Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
This is not being upfront with you clients. Quarterly keeps you honest. Don't change the process.

MJ H — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: MJ H Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 In this modern day and age, and with electronic communication, there is NO logical reason for us to return to the 1950's way of doing things. Doing so would only encourage the corrupt insider trading, and would rob the general public of the accountability and oversight that modern technology and regulations provide. No good could come from regressive policies.

Mk Trl — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Mk Trl Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 The current Sarbanes-Oxley act is a major driver of price increases. It requires quarterly reporting. The law was passed in the late 90s with good intentions as a mechanism for deterring corporate fraud. It was necessary because of the collapse of Enron, which wiped out the retirement plans of thousands of Americans. Something was definitely needed, but the act went too far. One of the duties of a CEO is to increase shareholder value. Under the current system, CEOs are driven to show steady profits and steady increases in those profits. Initially, they could accomplish that by squeezing on suppliers in order to grow their own gross margin. Unfortunately, long ago the only mechanism available to them became price increases. I've sat in many board meetings and listened to the CEO demand that Marketing increase gross margin during the upcoming quarter in order to boost profitability. Something desperately needs to change.
Mike T.
VP, HR

Get Outlook for iOS

MLady — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: MLady Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We all need to know what's happening at the same time as everyone else! Keep it fair. If it's not broke, don't fix it!

---

mlc.enterprises — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: mlc.enterprises Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I am retiring next week. I want quarterly reporting so I can better track my investments' performance and properly gauge their near future movement to keep myself solvent in retirement.

---

mmitsos — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: mmitsos Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Companies MUST KEEP THEIR QUARTERLY REPORTS!!!! WHEN THE HELL ARE THE *ING RETHUGLICANS AND THIS *ING FASCIST, PLUTOCRATIC REGIME GOING TO GET THE * OUT OF OFFICE!!!!

Sent from my Galaxy

Mo Neal — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Mo Neal Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the SEC fillings to current quarterly reports. Less reporting only benefits the corporations.

Get Outlook for iOS

Mohit Chadha — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Mohit Chadha Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
This rule would do away with the transparency that keeps the playing field level for retail investors

---

Mollie Sober — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Mollie Sober Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please STOP caving to BIG MONEY. Your ordinary every day citizen constituent outnumbers the greed mongers, so represent us not them. Some of us ARE WATCHING YOU. DO NOT APPROVE THIS CHANGE BACK. Maybe you don't remember the numbers of people who were basically wiped out by ENRON. WE DO. I watched a lot of people work for another 20 years at poopie jobs, while trying to keep what they were worked for 30+ years to build. Theres a song about how we will rise up and also believe the younger generation is really paying attention too, so look out, if you keep ignoring the plebes. Marie Sober former SPED teacher. South Central Ks.

Being kind doesn't cost you anything, lack of kindness costs everyone.
Mollie

Molly Huddleston — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Molly Huddleston Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission
DO NOT ALLOW PUBLIC COMPANIES TO HIDE VITAL INFORMATION!!!:

Molly Truesdale — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Molly Truesdale Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep it at quarterly reporting. It is better for everyone. M Truesdale

---

Molly Wassermann — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Molly Wassermann Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission: ending the transparency of SEC reporting is a grave mistake that will shake the foundations of everyone's financial life. Don't do it. Please do not do this.

Molly Watson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Molly Watson As an individual investor, quarterly reporting protects me from volatility and uncertainty. If reporting is cut in half I only have half the information available to me to help me make decisions that affect my current and future financial health. Research has shown that reducing the reporting / increasing the period between required reports does not affect companies' decision making so this reduction in information wouldn't even have the desired affect. And it would hurt rather than help smaller companies because while it may reduce their reporting requirements it would make me as an investor much likely to invest in those companies because I have even less of a view into what a smaller company is doing if I there is less frequent reporting. I'd be more inclined to keep my investments with larger companies for which I can more easily get insight into.

Momjami — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Momjami Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 The power of the rich is already out of control. Our laws work for them, not the people. Taking away regulations to help them is just more corruption.

Mona de Los Santos — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Mona de Los Santos Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Please protect us. It's a gamble. The house always wins. So let's make it harder. That's why Casinos are getting less and less popular. I won't play by these rules.

Mona Goodpasture — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Mona Goodpasture Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Please consider the effects this will have on the general investors. Without current information, we will be unable to make informed decisions on our investments. This is the last source of income for those of us who are retired and we depend on fair and accurate information to make the best decisions possible for growth and security. This also opens the door to much more deception and fraud from corporations and people who do have access to more current information.
Thank you

Mona Smith — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Mona Smith Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission: this is the way it used to be. Too easy to hide bad actions and bad actors.

Monica Evans — Jun 18, 2026

Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Monica Evans Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This is such a bad idea. It is more important than ever to have up to date, timely financial information from the companies we invest with. And with the advent of AI, it won't even be that complicated or difficult for most companies to keep doing this. I invest regularly and need current information. I also don't want to find out 6 months down the road that a company is giving a poor forecast. I rely on my investments to maintain my standard of living and couldn't live on Social Security alone. This is a bad idea and not necessary.
Monica Evans, Eureka, Ca, Retired

Monica Garcia — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Monica Garcia Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the SEC:

Especially at this time, the majority should retain what basic margin of protections that we have. Evidence shows that reporting less inflicts greater losses. This is of significant, sobering consequence.

Monica U Garcia
Austin, Texas

homewithmonica@gmail.com

Not written with AI.

Monica Keith-Luzzi — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Monica Keith-Luzzi Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 You must hold people accountable. Especially those that are responsible for "we the people's" money and futures. To do less is just another example of how the government is moving away from supporting the people they serve and instead supporting the people who line their pockets and leaves us and our futures oh so vulnerable with no accountability for it. Please protect the people you serve as you should. Otherwise you are just as corrupt and criminal as they are.

Sent from my iPhone

Mose Berymon — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Mose Berymon Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Mose Berymon, Data Scientist

I am strongly against reducing reporting frequency and thus leaving us with half as many data points. This provide incentive for fraud and market manipulation while reducing protections for investors.

MrsBell — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: MrsBell Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Paula Bell, retired BSN of 40 years. My husband and I depend on the quarterly reports so we can make decisions on investing our retirement income. Without this information it makes it extremely hard to retain our hard earned and saved monies to live. We want to remain independent and comfortable in our own home. Please retain the quarterly reports. I see no reason to change something that is not broken. What do these companies need to hide?

Regards,

Paula Bell
Springfield, Nebraska

Mundee CHILDERS — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Mundee CHILDERS Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 NO - MAINTAIN ACCOUNTABILITY!!!

Myra Burrus — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Myra Burrus Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Stop taking advantage of the American public!

Sent from my iPhone

Myron Hillestad — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Myron Hillestad Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep them honest

Sent from my iPhone

Mysti Fied — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Mysti Fied Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 There is no good reason to change the quarterly reporting rule that is in place today, and changing it will do nothing positive for stockholders. It works as is, so keep it as is. Thank you,.

Lori Tallent

N Milligan — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: N Milligan Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 ND Milligan, Social Worker:

Building my portfolio and self managing has helped to make decisions that are in my best interest. Having access to the information quarterly has kept me aware of what needs to happen to make good fiscal decisions. Any change to the quarterly reporting doesn't allow me to make adjustments in a timely fashion or receive the propectus. Hence making such changes to the quarterly reporting will undermine my future earnings.

ND Milligan, Social Worker

N. Bruce Nelson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: N. Bruce Nelson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please have more faith in our country than that! Keep full reporting and act quickly on the findings.

N. Bruce Nelson
510 734 0708
Lamoni, Iowa
Aptera Ambassador
https://www.aptera.us/

Naida Hedgepeth — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Naida Hedgepeth Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Please reconsider this proposed change in SEC oversight. It is reckless and dangerous for the average investor

---

Nan Credle — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Nan Credle Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My name is NancyLee Credle. I am a retired school teacher, church administrator, and public speaker. I live with my husband in Texas, a state whose business base is rapidly growing. As a law abiding, tax paying, informed voter with a large circle of influence, I think it beyond unwise to change the current quarterly reporting laws. To do this will further the popular conception that our federal government is corrupt, and rightly so!

Nan Jones — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Nan Jones Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please keep the quarterly reporting. History says it is needed.

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Nan Severns — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Nan Severns Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I am an investor and a voter. My name is Nancy Severns and I want quarterly reporting to be able to review my accounts properly and make up to date decisions.

Sent from my iPhone

---

nancy — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: nancy Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This hides important information n this hurts the American people

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Nancy Anderson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Nancy Anderson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We need quarterly reports for transparency. The stock market, our main source of income in our retirement, will be a riskier investment for my husband and I without quarterly reports. Please keep this requirement quarterly. Thank you.

Sent from my iPhone

Nancy Boddy — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Nancy Boddy Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the quarterly reports. We need to see what's happening in time to make meaningful changes to our investments before we are too far into the losses, should that happen. Kind regards

Nancy Boddy
Seattle, Washington

Nancy Butler — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Nancy Butler Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 As retirees, quarterly reporting is essential for managing our retirement portfolio. We need current information to insure we can make wise decisions.
Thank you,
Nancy Butler

Athens, GA

Sent from my iPad

---

nancy cain — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: nancy cain Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 It doesn't cost them anything to sign. Keep the law as it is. We have to hold their feet to the fire to keep them from stealing from us again. The greed in our country is a sickness.

Get Outlook for iOS

Nancy Caton — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Nancy Caton Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Why are we making public corporations less transparent? Our retirement money is in the stock market. As a long time international markets professional, my guess is this will lead to more market volatility, because, absent real info, rumors will run amok. Stock market volatility does no one any favors, including CEO's.

Nancy Caton
Citibank, First Chicago, Bank of America

Sent from my iPad

Nancy Cauthen — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Nancy Cauthen Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep it Quarterly!!!

Nancy Clarke — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Nancy Clarke Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Report quarterly!!! Real people need details to make real decisions. Insiders need to be public. Nancy- retired person trying to live in this world on limited income.

Nancy Elaine Fauser — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Nancy Elaine Fauser Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 More transparency for us non-millionaires and billionaires who CAN'T afford to lose our small retirement funds, NOT less. The current drop in Microsoft, due to its jumping on the AI speeding train, is a perfect example of why we need to know what the company is up to in REALER time.

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Nancy Frankel — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Nancy Frankel Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
I am able to make informed decisions about my personal finances due to quarterly disclosures. Please do not take this valuable information away from me and other investors. Less transparency means greater fraud.

Nancy Gee — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Nancy Gee Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Transparency is needed as I rely on quarterly reports to make decisions about my investments and retirement savings. It is essential that the public has the means and resources to provide for their financial well-being.

Nancy Griffin — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Nancy Griffin Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep it Quarterly!!!

Sent from my iPhone

Nancy H Hartman retired — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Nancy H Hartman With SEC reporting only twice per year, investment companies would have a much larger window to engage in illegal practices, put corporate or company profits ahead of shareholder or investor interests, and any compliance activities would be cut to a minimum. With the current cuts to the SEC, government oversight is already reduced. Investors would be at the losing end with less oversight.

Nancy Harmon — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Nancy Harmon Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 History is clear, less reporting greater losses. Americans in the market and retired are dependent on knowing how best to invest. The young need the same to best grow their portfolio and save for their retirement. Quarterly reporting is key to success.

Nancy Hazle — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Nancy Hazle Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Nancy Hazle, retired. Quarterly reporting is essential to evaluating the most current status. There is no logical reason to stop quarterly reporting unless you are attempting to hide something.

Sent from my iPhone

Nancy Hollis — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Nancy Hollis Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
please understand that by changing this policy, my family and I will have our ability to make important investment decisions that affect our children's futures.
You are well aware of how important timing is when it comes to changing an investment portfolio.
Changing the current policy will blindfold us!
Please remember why your commission was formed and do what is in the best interest of the American public.
Thank you

Nancy Hosta — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Nancy Hosta Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Americans deserve transparency in real time. Quarterly reporting must stay. Stop working against US citizens

Respectfully NH

Sent from my iPhone

Nancy Iannelli — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Nancy Iannelli Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 As a former advisor this is the most irresponsible stupidity I've heard of. Companies need to report quarterly!!!! As it is, it's already tardy data, don't screw it up more with this lunacy!!

Sent from my iPhone

Nancy Ingram — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Nancy Ingram Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the quarterly reporting. It matters as an investor whose children are investing. Transparency matters. Nancy Ingram Johnson Co. Kansas

---

NANCY JOHNSON — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: NANCY JOHNSON Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 It is important to have confidence in our financial system and continue quarterly reporting. It helps me make informed and proper decisions.
Nancy Johnson. Owner, Studio Collections

Nancy Kraemer — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Nancy Kraemer Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep filings quarterly! Keep reporting honest, or at least less fraudulently directed. Quarterly details, which tally daily/weekly/monthly data add up to major impact on our (my/your) investments / future. That is true for both each person's participation as well as companies, corporations and political entities.

Keeping filings quarterly enables investors to decide which company is WORTH investing in and which IS NOT, in addition to having a better understanding and flexibility on one's individual investment portfolio.
Nancy Kraemer
Sr Inventory Control Analyst - Retired - Federated Dept Stores - Macy's/Burdines

---

NANCY LEMMON — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: NANCY LEMMON Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To restrict the public's access to this information to only twice a year would be a MONUMENTAL disservice. Insider trading, already a problem, would run rampant with three extra months of lead time to cover their tracks, cash out, etc. There is never, ever, EVER a good reason for LESS transparency, FEWER reporting requirements, or LESS access to pertinent information about a publicly-traded firm.

KEEP THE QUARTERLY REPORTING!!

Nancy Lemmon

Sent from my iPhone

Nancy Louia — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Nancy Louia Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 As a retired educator, I have been fortunate to be able to use investing to secure my future years. After living through the fiasco of 2008, I was happy to know that additional safeguards were put in place to help guard against such devastating consequences. Now businesses are asking for less oversight which will only lead to harm for " the little guy" while keeping businesses less accountable. I demand this ridiculous action be stopped before our economy suffers again. Nancy Louia, Maryland

---

Nancy Nethery — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Nancy Nethery This creates a huge disadvantage for individual investors. It's unfair, un-American and exactly the wrong thing to do in a country with gaping income inequality. I oppose it and you should too

---

Nancy Poyser — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Nancy Poyser Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Nancy Poyser RN Churubusco IN. Why are you trying to hurt Americans? Everything this administration does *s on the middle class and the poor! GFY FDT

Sent from my iPhone

Nancy Rhinesmith — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Nancy Rhinesmith Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Disclose Quarterly

!! .More transparency in needed not less ! Consumers, investors need to be protected.

Nancy Rhinesmith — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Nancy Rhinesmith Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting Must Continue ! MORE Transparency, not less !!! Protect consumers and investors !

Nancy Roff — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Nancy Roff Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This is just wrong, and will leave small, non-corporate investors holding the bag and losing their investments.
Nancy M. Roff, retired programmer, non-corporate investor.

Sent from my iPad

Nancy Roth — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Nancy Roth Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep dealings public! No delayed reporting.

Nancy Roth

Nancy Schmidt — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Nancy Schmidt Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 6 months is too long to hide bad reports from investors. Quarterly is at least better, although, not idea. Keep quarterly reports.

Nancy Scola — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Nancy Scola Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 If a small service business needs to report quarterly earnings, so should the Bigger Businesses. Fair is Fair.

Nancy Stetten — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Nancy Stetten Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 It is absolutely crucial that investors get frequent reports in order to be able to understand what is happening to our investments. In a time dominated with un precedented corruption, we cannot allow corporate executives to conceal what they are doing from the public.

Nancy Stetten
nstetten@me.com
4306 Nebraska Ave
Nashville, TN 37209
615-298-9209 h
615-705-8457 c

Nancy Stetten — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Nancy Stetten Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 It is absolutely crucial that investors get frequent reports in order to be able to understand what is happening to our investments. In a time dominated with un precedented corruption, we cannot allow corporate executives to conceal what they are doing from the public.

Nancy Tabb — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Nancy Tabb Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the business people as honest as possible. You do this and we the people will suffer.

Sent from my iPhone

Nancy Takarsh — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Nancy Takarsh Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting needs to continue. It can't be that difficult for companies considering the technology available in today's world. I need this information to keep a handle on my investments. It is important information for me.
Nancy Takarsh

Sent from my iPhone

Nancy Thorson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Nancy Thorson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 It is wrong to hide stock performance for the very people who have invested their hard earned money into those stocks. Transparency and honesty is important if corporations want people to continue to invest in them. -Nancy Thorson, School Bus Driver.

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Nancy Walter — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Nancy Walter Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Do not change reporting to semi annual basis!!

Nancy Woessner — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Nancy Woessner Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My name is Nancy Woessner. Email nancywoessner@yahoo.com. keep quarterly statements for taxes. It is a must to keep everybody honest and on their toes.

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Nancy Wright — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Nancy Wright Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Do not change the quarterly reporting. Investors have the right to know how THEIR money is being used.

Sent from my iPad

Nancy Yera — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Nancy Yera Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Public companies make a conscious choice to go public and folks who buy in are paying into said companies. Hiding information from investors should be illegal!

Nanette Boyle — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Nanette Boyle Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I say no to this. We need more transparency, not less..

Sent from my iPhone

Naomi Kaufman — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Naomi Kaufman Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
People need information before investing. What would this do except hide information from investors on their potential or existing investments. Help people learn more. It would help to cut down on jargon, make reports more accessible to lay investors, etc. Don't make things harder and more obtuse. Who are you helping by doing that?
Thank you for reading.

NAT DUPONT-HIRST — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: NAT DUPONT-HIRST Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Only crooked or fraudsters would want to change what is only right. I definitely agree keeping it quarterly.

Sent from my iPhone

Natalia Mandzy — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Natalia Mandzy Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please keep the reports quarterly!!!

Sincerely,

Natalia Mandzy

Natalie Burg — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Natalie Burg Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This proposal is unnecessary and dangerous.

In the age of data, reporting should me more frequent, not less!

Natalie Burg

Natalie Jolly — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Natalie Jolly Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the reporting quarterly. I'm a disabled veteran who relies on my investment security for retirement. As a military member, I was responsible for timely mission reporting to support national security. Don't require less of our critical business infrastructure. Thank you.
Natalie Jolly, Col (ret) USAF

Get Outlook for iOS

Natalie Smith — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Natalie Smith Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Good morning,

At minimum, keep quarterly reports a requirement. Any person with a financial interest, stake or investment has the right to know the financial details & health of that company. Without transparency, corruption will flourish & the people invested will be harmed, some may never recover. Financial transparency is the moral & ethical thing to do & certainly should be the legal standard.

Thank you for your time @ attention for this important issue.

Natalie Smith

Sent from my iPhone

Natasha O'Neill — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Natasha O'Neill Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We want transparency.

Nate Burgett — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Nate Burgett Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting should be the standard maximum reporting period frequency with the preferred being monthly! Current information is crucial to a free market, and in holding companies and their leaderships accountable for poor decisions.

Nathalie Wells — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Nathalie Wells Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep quarterly...it's called responsible oversight....that's your job!!

Nathan Brunswick — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Nathan Brunswick Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I think this should continue to happen. Quarterly reporting should be mandatory, unless you have something to hide

Nathan Brunswick
Markdown coordinator
Sent from my T-Mobile 5G Device
Get Outlook for Android

Nathan Cole — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Nathan Cole Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 The evidence is clear. Quarterly reports maintains transparency and accountability to investors. Especially for investors who are entering retirement years.
Nathan Cole, Associate Professor, Utah.

Sent from my iPhone

Nathan G — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Nathan G Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 If this resolution passes, the gap between ultra-wealthy insiders and normal working class people will be irreparably widened. Americans will suffer so that the rich can continue to hoard wealth and push working people further and further into poverty. Companies should not be able to conceal vital information about their earnings and performance from the general public, particularly when Americans' collective retirement and investments are directly tied to the broader market.

Stop this insanity. Do not give companies free reign to conceal information and mislead the public. Maintain the current requirement for Quarterly reporting that has existed for years.

Nathaniel Beach-Hart — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Nathaniel Beach-Hart Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please do not end quarterly reporting.

I'm a small scale investor, the kind the market needs more of. Changing reporting only hurts people like me and risks the entire market.

The benefits of ending quarterly reporting are few. The risks to small scale investors and incentives to bad actors are massive. This is a bad idea, and if we end quarterly reporting we will absolutely be reminded of why we started it. Very quickly, and very expensively.

Please do not remove this important economic safety future ESPECIALLY when the market is so untethered from fundamentals.

-Nathaniel Beach-Hart

NCFM80 — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: NCFM80 Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Do not take the law backwards.

Retirees can't take the losses!
Thank you.

D.D.

“And, in the end
The love you take is equal to the love you make.”
– Paul McCartney

"Everything government touches turns to crap."
– Ringo Starr

"Time you enjoy wasting, was not wasted."
– John Lennon

“Try to realize it’s all within yourself no one else can make you change, and to see you’re only very small and life flows on within you and without you.”
– George Harrison

NCFM80 — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: NCFM80 Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Do not take the law back. Retirees can't take the losses!
Thank you.

D.D.

“And, in the end
The love you take is equal to the love you make.”
– Paul McCartney

"Everything government touches turns to crap."
– Ringo Starr

"Time you enjoy wasting, was not wasted."
– John Lennon

“Try to realize it’s all within yourself no one else can make you change, and to see you’re only very small and life flows on within you and without you.”
– George Harrison

NE — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: NE Good Morning, Please keep financial reporting quarterly. Keeping to quarterly reporting will help maintain integrity, accuracy, and accountability. People and businesses can make best educated decisions with more information. Thank you.

Neil Patel — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Neil Patel Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Hello, I am a Software Engineer at UnitedHealthCare. Our profits should be visible quarterly for all.

NEIL SHEROUSE — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: NEIL SHEROUSE Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 As an investor, I demand the SEC retain the decades-long requirement for companies to report their earnings and other information on a quarterly basis. There is no advantage—and plenty of risk—to investors to permit a 6-month reporting interval. Your agency’s mission is to regulate the investment landscape for the benefit of citizen investors, not create a broad avenue for corporate obfuscation and fraud.

Sent from Neil Sherouse's iPhone

Neosmite — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Neosmite Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Stop trying to screw the common man. Keep the reporting quarterly.

Sent from my iPhone

Nerissa Rivera — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Nerissa Rivera Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please keep the quarterly reporting requirement. Small investors are important to the market and help keep companies accountable.
Nerissa Rivera
Financial Analyst - retired

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Nezeree Moore — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Nezeree Moore Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This does not need to change. Not only do they need this monitoring every three months, they need to be fully taxed on every penny their earn. Just like the everyday person.

Nezeree Moore

Nichelle Vanzandt — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Nichelle Vanzandt Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Nichelle petcare specialist

The rich have been robbing the people more than enough! There are too many corrupt company owners who hide plenty as is with the quarterly reporting. To take that away the corruption with go beyond sky high and that is not what the American people need!

Nicholas Bernard — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Nicholas Bernard Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quit trying to *ing rob us.

Nicholas Cody Bernard

Nicholas Daniel Hartlep — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Nicholas Daniel Hartlep Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Dear Securities and Exchange Commission:

I respectfully oppose the proposed rule that would permit public companies to replace quarterly Form 10-Q reporting with semiannual reporting on a new Form 10-S.

Quarterly reporting is not merely a compliance ritual. It is part of the trust infrastructure of U.S. public markets. Ordinary investors, retirement savers, educators, workers, and families rely on regular, standardized disclosures to understand the companies in which they invest. Moving from quarterly to semiannual reporting would create longer periods of silence between required disclosures, increasing information asymmetry between everyday investors and sophisticated market actors with access to analysts, alternative data, private meetings, and institutional research.

The proposal may be framed as “flexibility,” but flexibility for issuers can become opacity for investors. The companies most eager to reduce reporting frequency may be the very companies where investors most need timely visibility into performance, cash flow, liquidity, risks, debt, and management decisions. Public markets depend on public information. When information becomes less frequent, confidence can erode.

I also worry that optional semiannual reporting would create a fragmented disclosure system. If some companies report quarterly and others semiannually, investors will have a harder time comparing peer companies, monitoring trends, and making informed decisions. The Commission itself asks whether semiannual reporting would affect comparability over time and across companies. That concern should be central, not secondary.

I support reducing unnecessary burdens on public companies. But the better solution is not to weaken the cadence of investor protection. If quarterly reports are too burdensome, the SEC should consider targeted simplification of Form 10-Q, reduced duplicative disclosures, or scaled accommodations for smaller and emerging companies. The Commission could also study whether quarterly earnings guidance—not quarterly reporting itself—is what creates short-term pressure.

At minimum, if the SEC proceeds, it should not adopt this proposal broadly. It should first conduct a limited pilot program, require clear advance notice to investors, require shareholder approval before a company may switch to semiannual reporting, preserve quarterly disclosure of core financial metrics, and include a sunset provision requiring empirical review before expansion.

The public company bargain is simple: companies receive access to public capital, and investors receive timely, reliable, comparable information. Reducing required reporting from quarterly to semiannual would weaken that bargain.

I urge the Commission to preserve mandatory quarterly reporting for public companies.

Respectfully submitted,

Dr. Nicholas D. Hartlep
Lexington, KY
Individual investor / retirement saver / member of the public

Nicholas D. Hartlep, PhD
Robert Charles Billings Chair in Education

Berea College
(he, him, his) www.nicholashartlep.com
www.youtube.com/@cuttingedgeu www.youtube.com/@nicholashartlep

Forgive any typos, message was sent from my iPhone

NOTE: This is sent with the understanding that we are all navigating different commitments and responsibilities and working on different time schedules. If receiving this email during your “off-hours,” please only attend to it when you are able.

Nicholas Williams — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Nicholas Williams Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This is absolutely absurd, and if you cannot recognize this is against the American economy and its consumer, I’m afraid you all are out of touch. Many of you do not know what it is like to be living as the middle class consumer currently. We are being raped and pillaged and our spending power is disappearing in real time! TAX THE RICH!!!! Look at all the money they have stockpiled!!!! Making such changes that help only big business and shuts out the smaller businesses is just as bad as committing a crime! Many of us including your mothers and fathers and grandparents and their parents worked tirelessly around the clock for their savings and for you all to even consider this knowing many could lose a good chunk of that is again, criminal. You wouldn’t want your mother or father or grandparents that you all adore so much, to have their lives upended even more than what this current administration is doing! Listen to the people! Stop meddling with their incomes to satisfy big business that is not even loyal to you all if a big scandal breaks out anyway! LEAVE OUR MONEY AND SMALL BUSINESSES ALONE!!!!!!

Nick, Shift Lead, Houston TX.

Sent from my iPhone

Nick Reeve — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Nick Reeve Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting must stay! Please keep corporations accountable on a regular basis - more time between reports means keeping investors in the dark longer. We deserve to know what's being done with the money we put in!

Nicolas Delongis — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Nicolas Delongis Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 N.R. Delongis (retired). Keep the quarterly reports. Don’t hide them.

Sent from my iPhone

Nicolas Khoury — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Nicolas Khoury Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Seems like fairness is only for hedge funds and big companies and billionaires. Nothing for small investors.

Nicolas

Nicole — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Nicole As a physical therapist, I spend my days helping people get back to enjoying their lives but I have been working very hard to save so I can retire and enjoy mine as well. Quarterly reporting allows for more transparency and accountability for these companies to allow me to make the right decision for my investments. Why change something that is functioning effectively as is?

Nicole Haddad — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Nicole Haddad Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Why would you do this? You know exactly what it means for the American public yet in Trumpian fashion you're seeking to destroy yet another good thing we have. For Christ sake do ONE thing for the American people - put them ahead for once! This is infuriating!

Nicole Naditz — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Nicole Naditz This will be devastating to those on pensions, including the government's own employees, because their fund managers won't be able to respond quickly. These employees and others depend on sound investments driven by accurate data, which is virtually impossible with such infrequent reporting. For the record, those proposing this have yet to indicate any benefits for the investor. Not one. That tells you all you need to know about how this idea is intended to enrich the already wealthy and keep everybody else struggling and guessing

---

Nicole Rittenhouse — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Nicole Rittenhouse Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Good morning,

My name is Nicole and I'm an average American working full time in a big city tucked inside a nice midwestern state. We have four beautiful seasons and lot to be thankful for.

It is concerning that the SEC would want to make changes to a policy that was put in place to protect the American people. Does the SEC no longer value the American people? Why would you want to make a change to important regulations that ensure our right to retire? We work hard for our money, we can't just live off interest like the people that the SEC is trying to serve. Solidly our interest and support the average American! It is your duty.

With hope,

Nicole R.

Get Outlook for iOS

Nigel Dsouza — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Nigel Dsouza Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Reporting must be kept quarterly so investor s are aware on how the company is doing or spending money. If this is not the case , investor confidence will be at all all time low.

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Nikhil Saxena — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Nikhil Saxena Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This is backwards policy which hurts your average citizen and only empowers fraud and institutional investors.

Nikki Econnomou — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Nikki Econnomou Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Absolutely NO!!!

.....
Nikki Economou
Mitake Oyasin
'We are all related'

Nina Bishop — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Nina Bishop Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Dear SEC,
Wasn't the NASDAQ's rollover for Musk enough? Stop already! Don't allow billionaires to take our retirement savings. What's wrong with you people!

Nina Bishop

Nina Marguglio — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Nina Marguglio Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
In my studies at SMU Dedman School of Law, I had the pleasure of studying securities under Marc I. Steinberg. Under his reknown tutilage, I began to dive into the world of securites regulation. While I do not practice finance law today, one thing I learned that has stuck with me is how much things can change from fiscal quarter to fiscal quarter--particularly at the Fortune 500 level. While quarterly reporting has gotten many large corporations into legal trouble, the reason was often due to a lack of honesty and transparency in the reporting. I am of the opinion that quarterly reporting in and of itself invites transparency, and transparency invites buyers. Preserving this practice will keep the securities market inviting to investors and keep companies accountable. A healthy market, if you ask me!

The truth sometimes hurts, and I'm aware a quarter barely gives enough time to companies for them to execute damage control on critical happenings (I.e. the discovery of forever chemicals in a product, the falling through of a proposed acquisition deal). However, quarterly reporting exposes wether damage control is being enacted timely or otherwise. In my limited life experience, I've found timely responses mitigate most all problems. Let's keep corporations accountable and action-driven to protect investors by preserving quarterly reporting.

Nina Schindler — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Nina Schindler Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Grift and cons everywhere we look. We absolutely need quarterly reports.

Nina Tsampira — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Nina Tsampira Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Do not take our visibility into quarterly financials away. If this passes it gives institutional/large investors an advantage which is injust

---

Ninamarie Eleoterio-Vlahovic — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Ninamarie Eleoterio-Vlahovic Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026
Ninamarie Eleoterio-Vlahovic, MA
Drug & Alcohol Counselor
This matters because no company should be allowed to hide any records from the public.

Sent from my iPhone

Nitesh Alve — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Nitesh Alve Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
I think moving from 3 month reporting to 6 month reporting adds more opacity to the market making it more difficult for price discovery while creating a playground for waste, fraud and abuse.

Njari Crosby — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Njari Crosby Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I believe in quarterly reporting. I did a report on Enron while in school and it had quite the impact on me emotionally. The people who invested there monies had their lives ruined for what? Just greedy people getting greadier. Those CEO'S all need to be held accountable just like our government.

Sincerely,

Njari Crosby

Sent from my Galaxy

---

njss33 — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: njss33 Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the guard rails on. Keep corporate America providing quarterly reports to protect consumers. Don't change a system that is working.

Sent from my Galaxy

Nona Russell — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Nona Russell Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This country provides so many benefits to corporations.

*Some corporations. pay little to no taxes to the federal government. (ITEP Report: April 14, 2026 At Least 88 Profitable U.S. Corporations Paid Zero Federal Income Tax in 2025).

*They ask and sometimes are granted exceptions from following environmental restrictions. (CNBC Report: DOJ assists Musk's xAI in NAACP air pollution suit, asks court to toss case PUBLISHED TUE, JUN 16 20262:34 PM EDT)

Earlier CNBC Report had details of case: NAACP filed a lawsuit against Elon Musk's xAI on Tuesday, accusing the artificial intelligence company of violating the Clean Air Act with its use of natural gas-burning turbines to power data centers in and around Memphis, Tennessee.

The suit, filed in the U.S. District Court for the Northern District of Mississippi, alleges that between August and December 2025, xAI and its subsidiary MZX Tech, LLC, installed and operated 27 gas turbines in Southaven, Mississippi, “without an air permit or regard for the health and safety of people living nearby.”

The turbines emit smog-forming pollutants and particulate matter that can lead to increased health risks and an unpleasant odor, among other things.)

*The CEOs make almost 300 times what their workers make. (Economic Policy Institute Report September 25, 2025 (CEO-to-worker pay has skyrocketed over the last six decades —
In 2024, CEOs were paid 281 times as much as a typical worker—in contrast to 1965, when they were paid 21 times as much as a typical worker.)

The citizens of this country deserve to have corporations pay their fair share of taxes, abide by our laws that keep us safe including keeping and our water drinkable and air breathable and our citizens deserve fair pay. We must do our BEST to keep corporations and those who run them honest. They need to serve the country not just enrich themselves and their stockholders. Asking the CEOs to certify only four times a year that they are running their business legally and honorably is a small price to pay for the benefits they reap. The citizens of this country deserve to have confirmation that our government’s laws are followed and, if they are not…Justice will see to it that someone will pay.

History reminds us of the damage that follows unbridled greed. It is a disgrace the crash in 2008 cost so many citizens in this country their homes. What is worse—in the U.S. only one person (Kareem Serageldin) served time in jail (less than three years) for his part. No other CEO on Wall Street or in banking in the U.S. was convicted or imprisoned for their part in manufacturing and/or covering up and then the even BENEFITING from this crash that devasted so many U.S. citizens. (Although 46 foreign individuals served time for 2008 crash related crimes!) This can NEVER BE ALLOWED TO HAPPEN IN OUR COUNTRY AGAIN. Quarterly reporting will probably not eliminate the risk of fraud. But should it happen we might be able to catch it sooner. Once caught, hopefully the Justice Department will ferociously investigate, indict, prosecute, convict and incarcerate those responsible.

SAVE QUARTERLY REPORTING!

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Sincerely,
Nona Russell

Nora Carey — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Nora Carey Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 KEEP IT QUARTERLY! When things change drastically all the time every news week is like a year and with this current volatility- making it less visible would be insidious.

Sent from my iPhone

---

nora Davis — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: nora Davis Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We deserve to know what is going on with our investments!!!!! This bill is against the American people

Get Outlook for iOS

Nora Greenwold — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Nora Greenwold Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting helps keep everything honest.

Nora Privitera — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Nora Privitera Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 As an American citizen, I am writing to object to changing quarterly reporting to semiannual reporting. I want to see safeguards against financial fraud kept robust, with compliance checked frequently. Semiannual reporting may seem like a small change, but it would allow financial fraud to go unnoticed for longer and that is a problem that should be avoided.

I remember well the Enron scandal that led to the quarterly reporting requirement, and I believe it is an important tool for combating financial fraud.

Please leave the quarterly reporting requirement in place so that oversight remains vigorously enforced.

Sent from my iPhone

Sent from my iPhone

Nora sethney — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Nora sethney Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is a vital component of a fair market. I suport keeping the Quarterly reporting requirements.
N Sethney
Bremerton WA

Noreen Flannery — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Noreen Flannery Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting needs to continue, we are sick of investors having the inside track. I have smaller investments but they matter to me and my family. Tired of the billionaire class always having the advantages!
N Ranally
Intervention Specialist

Norma Jimenez — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Norma Jimenez Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the

Securities and Exchange Commission:
Quarterly disclosures help me make informed decisions, and the SEC shouldn't take vital information away from myself & other investors.

Norma Shulman — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Norma Shulman Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the quarterly reporting!

Sent from Norma's iPhone nbshulman at gmail dot com

Norma Stransky — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Norma Stransky Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Companies are already too corrupt. This is just another way to NOT hold them accountable.

Norman Galliett — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: From: Norman Galliett Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 KEEP QUARTERLY REPORTING!

Norman Russell — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Norman Russell Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting needs to remain in place! Absolutely! It was put in place for good reasons, and those reasons have not changed.

Sent from my iPhone

Nrlori — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Nrlori Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My name is Lori Bogovich and I am retired and relying on my investments to live. Quarterly reporting needs to stay as the requirement so everyday investors like me can utilize that information reported by the company to make our investment decisions. I urge you to keep the reporting quarterly. The more knowledge of a company's financials the better for us . Thank you.

Lori Bogovich
nrlori@ptd.net
570-274-0650
Sent from my iPhone

O. Martin — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: O. Martin Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 With the speed of current accounting software financial reporting should be reduced NOT extended. This proposal is an obvious "Slap in the Face" to operational transparency and Good Accounting Practices. —- O.

Martin, Retired, Investor

Okctatter — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Okctatter Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is necessary to protect the public. Semi-annual reporting would be a disservice to the public and encourage insider training and delay of important information to investors. The risk to the public and investors outweighs the convenience to the reporting entities.

Linda McDonald
10500 Regent St.
Oklahoma City, Ok 73162

Olga White — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Olga White Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
It seems that such a change would exclude the smaller investors. This country seems to be doing a pretty good job of erasing the middle class.

Omar Barquet — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Omar Barquet Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Reducing reporting requirements from Quarterly to Bi-annual is one of the worst possible ideas as it relates to corporate earnings, strategy, and transparency.
Will have a clear negative impact on retail investors, and overall corporate transparency. Exactly the type of change least needed.

O.B.

Omi McCarthy — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Omi McCarthy Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Not enough people went to jail for Enron, they destroyed so many people. There has to be consequences greater than whatever benefits they get for their fraud.

Sent from Gmail Mobile

---

one cool dog — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: one cool dog Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Stop trying to bilk Americans!! I need to know !! We all do!! Protect quarterly reporting!!

Oriole — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Oriole Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 No company should allowed to help insiders cheat. This is already a problem with our congress. Seems as our country is getting more corrupt every year.

Sent from Proton Mail for iOS.

Orlando Macaranas — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Orlando Macaranas Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission: It is important for me to know the vital information of a company I will trust my finance to.

Oshun Cornelius — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Oshun Cornelius Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Dear Chair,

I am writing to formally demand that the Securities and Exchange Commission maintain, enforce, and strengthen mandatory quarterly financial reporting (Form 10-Q) for all publicly traded companies.

Access to timely, audited financial data is fundamental to market transparency. Semi-annual reporting is insufficient for modern financial markets. It creates massive information gaps, increases market volatility, and disproportionately harms retail investors who rely on public disclosures to make informed decisions.

Reducing the frequency of reporting would only serve to obscure corporate health, delay the discovery of fraud, and erode public trust in the integrity of U.S. capital markets.

Frequent disclosures ensure accountability, maintain a level playing field, and protect investors from sudden market shocks.

The SEC must uphold its core mission of investor protection. I urge the Commission to reject any proposals to scale back reporting frequencies and instead focus on modernizing the quarterly framework to ensure maximum transparency.

Thank you for your attention to this critical matter.

Sincerely,

Oahun Cornelius

OttawaFBC Prayer — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: OttawaFBC Prayer Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I see no reason for this change. It hurts the little guy. Quarterly reporting keeps our records up to date.
Jan Lee Retired Professor and Librarian

Otto Gross — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Otto Gross Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 What system is more successful with less data points? Would anyone think that averaging temperatures, etc over 6 months makes for a good weather forecast? The rule change is meant to flatten the view and give companies an opportunity to take actions to hide poor business practices. It will lead to a less stable economy. Do not make this the next Roaring Twenties that leads to the next Great Depression.

P Allen — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: P Allen Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Patricia Allen, college professor. Maintain transparency so I can make informed decisions before so much time goes by it is too late.

Sent from my iPhone

P Graef — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: P Graef Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 There is no fair reason to keep the results of what's being done with our money a hidden secret more than necessary and twice as often hidden is neither fair to the small investors, or necessary in any way that benefits the investor.

Stop it please.

P Masters — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: P Masters Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Do not change the current quarterly reporting to a longer timeframe. I need insight into what is happening with my investments.. as a retired person I do not have a timeline to make back all the money I burned in a lifetime of working once changes are allowed to block what some investment firms are doing.
P Masters, retired

P V — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: P V Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Maintain protection for the people of the US. Do Not change Quarterly Reporting!!

Sent from my iPhone

P. Schilling — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: P. Schilling Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 What a terrible idea, giving more secrecy - it's an invitation to even more fraud and corruption on a monumental scale.
Pam S.

Pack LaRue — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Pack LaRue Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Monthly reporting would be better to keep an eye out for any shady deals going on.....

Rob Pizzini, private investor

Packer Boy — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Packer Boy Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting must be kept in place. It’s worked well and there is no reason to loosen the requirements.

Pam Allen — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Pam Allen Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I am begging you not to put back the reporting to an era you know was wrong and needed current data. Stop trying to squeeze the people anymore. Please do not do this. We are already crippled as a nation.

Get Outlook for iOS

Pam Caudy — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Pam Caudy Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I want to see quarterly reporting continued.
Thank you.

Sent from my iPhone

Pam Coleman — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Pam Coleman Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 One word…Enron. Quarterly filings are a must. Do not change the filing requirements.

Pam Coleman
Association of Indiana Counties
Office: 317.829.3659

Cell: 260.668.9122
Sent from my iPhone

Pam Flowers — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Pam Flowers Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please keep the Fed meeting comments quarterly. We, as investors, need all the information we can get, and what the Fed is doing is one of the most important pieces of information so we can make decisions regarding investing in our businesses and the stock market.

Pam Garske — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Pam Garske Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep reporting Quarterly. We cannot wait six months to find a company is not preforming correctly. Reporting is how you judge a business, if things are failing the report will show it. Pam Garske, retired. being retired the money invested is very important to me!!!

Pam Hendrix — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Pam Hendrix Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 For the amount of money that CEOs rake in they ought to have to sign a daily report! I 100% support them signing it more often not less.

---

pam keely — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: pam keely Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 There needs to be more scrutiny of company finances, not less...I get a financial statement monthly and I like It that way pneely@verizon.net that!

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Pam Kleinwachter — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Pam Kleinwachter Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Pam Kleinwachter, retired Stick with the quarterly reports!!!

Sent from my iPhone

Pam Mayo — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Pam Mayo Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I have been looking into cashing out and retiring early to be done with the * hole country Donald Trump has created. This will force my hand.

Pamela Mayo

Pam Miller — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Pam Miller Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Report and sign. Must be done. Quarterly!!!!! Accountability needs to be held to these managers.

Pam Swan — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Pam Swan Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Do not change the rule. Keep 4 certified filings a year mandatory!

Pam Swan
Get Outlook for Android

Pam Winter — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Pam Winter Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep quarterly accounting so there’s less chance of fraud.

Sent from my iPad

Pamalia Adkins — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Pamalia Adkins Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reports are the only way for us to know what is really happening! I’m retired, trying to live on Social Security, and what little money we have we try to make sense of in the market! My name is Pam Adkins, 69 years old!

Sent from my iPhone

Pamela Abbes-Atkins — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Pamela Abbes-Atkins Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 no to rollback!!

Pam Abbes-Atkins
925-890-7992

Pamela Atwell — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Pamela Atwell Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Six months is a long time ..iin the market, in the country, in the world and in the news. This proposal hurts investors. Isn't it part of the SEC's job to protect them?

---

pamela bearce — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: pamela bearce Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 If anything, we need more oversight and more accountability - we must maintain, at the least, quarterly reporting. I am semi-retired from retail management. Oversight, frequent reporting and answering to one's superiors is the norm in all aspects of business. An attempt to reduce that accountability is indicative of a desire to deceive. Of that I have no doubt. Especially at this dubious time in corporate and governmental corruption. I am deeply against loosening of the reporting requirements of the SEC.

PAMELA FEACK — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: PAMELA FEACK Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep it QUARTERLY or make it MONTHLY!!!!!
You keep following a pedophile's instructions and ignoring the people whose backs you've made the $$ on. Time to show some sense and independent power. Do the correct thing and keep reporting QUARTERLY! Pamela- retired-CA
Pamela

Sent from my iPad

Pamela Jennings — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Pamela Jennings Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Individuals are already at a disadvantage. Do not make these changes which reduce the information available to small investors.

PAMELA L. ESHELMAN — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: PAMELA L. ESHELMAN Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I have struggled my entire work life to have some amount of savings. Stop attempting to steal our hard earned money. Why is it that the current people in power are so greedy? Why is amassing wealth just for the sake of taking more money from people who can least afford it is your sole mission in life? Would you want your family members to endure this type of injustice? Show you have some humanity by keeping quarterly reporting. Pamela Eshelman,
Retired Speech-Language Pathologist, Tucson, Arizona

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Pamela Lingerfelt — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Pamela Lingerfelt This matters to me because Big Tech tycoons and psychopath billionaires are using the govt and their political friends to create an AI bubble that is going to bankrupt our economy. They know it and alot of their investors are already pulling out. Transparency is needed right now more than ever to protect American investors (not Canadian POSs) from these parasites who already have more than enough wealth but are consumed with greed to the point they are using our govt to steal our retirement investments and try to crash the dollar.

---

pamela lohse — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: pamela lohse Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Sounds like corruption and fraud waiting to happen. Please do not pass this bill and push people into povety.

Pamela Martin — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Pamela Martin Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Pam Martin, Administrative Manager. There isn't any reason to wind the clock back other than a possible desire to be dishonest. Keep it the way it is. Keep the lights on. If Corporations and businesses are pushing for this that should be a warning to the SEC and they need to pay attention. They need to keep both private and public investors safe.

Pamela Matzinger — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Pamela Matzinger Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
My husband and I live off of our stock portfolio. We have no other income. We use Charles Schwab and make our own trades. We need quarterly reports to make informed decisions. Allowing companies to only report twice a year will hurt small investors like myself and my family.
Thank you,
Pam Matzinger

Pamela McFarland — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Pamela McFarland Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 If this passes it's just another way to show how corrupt the political system is. The insiders will already know how it's doing…it would just allow the investors to be kept in the dark.

Sent from my iPhone

Pamela Poggio — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Pamela Poggio Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 In a world that changes minute by minute, quarterly reporting is import to keep the investors informed. It is that simple. Quarterly is a minimum to expect.

Pam Poggio
106 Whately Road
South Deerfield, MA

Sent from my iPad

Pamela Schumaker — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Pamela Schumaker Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep quarterly report. Americans need to have this data available. Transparency is vital to maintaining a just and accurate understanding of the accounting I our country. I am a retiree, with a very limited income. I feel I have a right to know what is going on.

Sent from my iPhone

Pamela Talbot — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Pamela Talbot Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
KEEP IT QUARTERLY
THE NAZIS ALREADY THINK THEY RULE THE SHOW. AND THE HAVE NO *ING IDEA WHAT THEY ARE DOING OTHER THAN WORSHIPPING THEIR MORON.

Pamela Trask — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Pamela Trask Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the information flowing quarterly. Six months is a long time to hide failures, embezzlement, insider trading. Keep corporations honest by keeping the quarterly information flow as is. Having to sign the 10Q quarterly keeps companies more honest.

Sent from my iPad

Pancho Cole — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Pancho Cole Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 As an investor, I rely on quarterly reports to properly gauge how my important investments are doing, a lot of things can change in six months, I'd prefer to know sooner about a major change, please keep the reporting quarterly

Things are more like they are right now than they ever have been.

Parasimo — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Parasimo Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 No, this wrong and investors NEED TO KNOW. Keep this quarterly!!

Kathleen Parasimo
Robert Parasimo

Sent from my iPhone

Pareesa Amjadi — Jun 18, 2026

Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Pareesa Amjadi Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 As a lawyer, I'm very concerned that reducing reporting requirements will put all investors at risk because it will be more difficult to detect corporate fraud. Please do not unravel Sarbanes-Oxley. These requirements exist for a reason. We do not want to repeat the financial turbulence of the early 2000s. It is foolish to ignore history. We need the SEC, and we need it to do its job. Please do not change the reporting requirements.

Thank you,
A concerned citizen.

Pat Anderson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Pat Anderson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I am a shareholder. I want to see results quarterly!

Pat

Pat Chambers — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Pat Chambers Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 After ENRON, relaxing the quarterly reporting is still a BAD idea. With all the requlatitory burden, this is NOT the one to back off.

---

pat colst — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: pat colst Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Accountability is impossible without regular, factual, quantifiable reporting. As I approach retirement, I can see how the system works to minimize my finacial exposure to corruption. For those of us who make less than 200k a year, and do not have tens of millions in assets, it is the difference between enjoying my golden years or working myself into the grave!
Keep the quarterly reporting and protect ALL Americans, not just some!

Pat Frazee — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Pat Frazee Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Ripe for Insider Trading 🤬

---

pat hoppe — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: pat hoppe Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Insane policies like this are destroying America.

Sent from my iPhone

---

pat hoppe — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: pat hoppe Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Insane policies like this are destroying America.
Pat HOPPE
5109 Avalon
West Long Branch, NJ 07764
Sent from my iPhone

Pat Lehrman — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Pat Lehrman Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Vital for us investors.

Pat Long — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Pat Long Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 KEP IT QUARTERLY... .don't change a thing

Sent from my Galaxy

Pat Matisz — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Pat Matisz Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Do not go to semi annual. Keep it the way it currently is.

Pat Matisz
1431 Forbes St
N Tonawanda, NY 14120
609-502-9436

Pat Michael — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Pat Michael Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Investors deserve to have their investments accounted for. Quarterly is good but why not monthly?

Sent from my iPhone

Pat Moody — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Pat Moody Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I’m a retired teacher depending on the market. Quarterly reporting helps our pension decide what we need to do to keep solvent. It's our money and we want to see quarterly reporting

Pat Moody

Sent from my iPad

Pat Navarro — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Pat Navarro Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 If you are doing your job right, you would have no fear with keeping the Quarterly Reporting in place. If not then you do have something to fear!!!

Pat Northeimer — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Pat Northeimer Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the reporting quarterly. Transparency & accountability are key to financial solvency.

Sincerely,

Ms. Pat Northeimer

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Pat Patten — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Pat Patten Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My name is Patricia Patten. I am retired. I live in Florida and this is important to me because the only true savings I have are all in mutual funds in my IRA.. I was told by everyone, including the government that mutual funds are a great way to go. If you don't know much about the stock market, we have a financial advisor who helps us pick them and the quarterly reporting obviously makes everything more transparent and helps fund managers to plan appropriately.. if that is changed, it opens up a whole can of worms where people and companies can get away with shenanigans without being checked on. There are enough shenanigans going on in our country right now. The stock market needs to stay transparent and safe for the ordinary person who actually depends on it for sustenance.. billionaires can take a 30 or 40% loss people that are making less than 1500 a month in Social Security can't. Please do not fall into the everything for billionaires nothing for the proletariat hole that all the rest of our country has been thrown into..

Pat Tomlinson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Pat Tomlinson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Pat Tomlinson, former business owner, am retired and need to live on retired account…

Sent from my iPad

Pat Watk — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Pat Watk Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This would only be another nail in the coffin for the retail investor. The rule is a deterrent for big business to not disclose pertinent information to the average investor. I oppose this change.

Patricia Watkins

Patricia A Doll — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Patricia A Doll Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 What wound the reasoning to withhold this information from the public other than insiders at top levels making more profit off it? Justify the why

---

Patricia Antonelli — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Patricia Antonelli Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Patricia E Antonelli___Retiree
As an individual investor I should be able to receive quarterly scheduled updates on the health of the companies I am invested in . by reducing the reporting to twice a year, leaves a large window of time for mismanagement and corruption to occur. By the time it is discovered, it could be the old saying, “shut the barn door after the horses are already out.”
Thank You

Sent from my iPhone

Patricia Boody — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Patricia Boody Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 The quarterly reporting is important to keep information flowing to the public. Longer periods would reduce visibility into potential failures and issues that would affect public trust and accountability. I lived through Enron and don’t want us to get swept up without information to make decisions. Please keep it as is!
Thank you
P.w.boody

Sent from my iPhone

Patricia Brooks — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Patricia Brooks Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 As a senior citizen I need to know how my investments are doing quarterly so I can make adjustments accordingly.

Sent from my iPad

Patricia Davey — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Patricia Davey Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly Accounting/ Reporting is Mandatory!

Sent from my iPhone

Patricia Dillard — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Patricia Dillard Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I say keep it as it is. Extending the time leaves more room for fraud and for big companies to hide profits.

Patricia Fisher — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Patricia Fisher Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This is so blatantly unfair to anyone who has their retirement savings in an account allowing the holders of you hard earned money to not report changes for 6 months. Quarterly reporting is necessary to keep people updated on changes happening to their accounts in time to take action.

Sent from my iPhone

Patricia Geier — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Patricia Geier Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 No good reason to have quarterly reports. I bet business have them monthly. Doing this will go against the transparency republicans keep spouting. Further more our reports should be monthly just like a bank account is now.

Patricia Gow — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Patricia Gow Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 It is imperative that the quarterly reporting needs to stay in place so investors are not knocked in the face when they finally discover that their investments are way down.

Sent from Gmail Mobile

Patricia Hinson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Patricia Hinson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 enough help for big business let's keep it fair ! Reporting needs to be quarterly.

Sent from my iPhone

Patricia Holliday — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Patricia Holliday Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Do not change the quarterly reporting requirements. We need accountability.

Patricia J Peterson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Patricia J Peterson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Do not change the reporting period as companies do not do the right thing but only what works best for them. Former corporate attorney with a MBA as well. Patricia J Peterson

Sent from my iPhone

Patricia Kiel — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Patricia Kiel Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Keep the quarterly reporting. People need to keep track of of every penny that we have now!

PATRICIA LA SALA — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: PATRICIA LA SALA Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I have worked 40 years as a nurse in the VA. I want my life now to feel safe and secure. My small retirement fund is all I have. It deserves to be guarded.
Patricia La Sala RNMS retired.
San Francisco VA Medical Center.
Patricia La Sala RNMS.

Patricia Lehecka — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Patricia Lehecka Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We should not go backwards, only forward. Keep the reporting quarterly. So called celebrating 250 years of America's birthday and you want to roll back the regulations America's have when we diligently save and invest our hard earned dollars to possible lose through no fault of our own but die to deregulation
.Where is the American dream possible when we the people are up against the financial banking industry deregulation safeguards to protect the saver.
Patricia Lehecka, accountant New York.

Patricia Lochner — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Patricia Lochner Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Patricia Lochner Ontario NY Why this matters is I want the law to prevail over lawless CEO and anyone else who thinks they are above the law

---

Patricia Morones — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Patricia Morones Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
It is unfair for some entities to have access to information on which important decisions are made, and others be in the dark. Reporting has been, and should continue to be, an open and fair process, with timely access for all. As a retiree, it feels like another assault on our wellbeing. The economy should work for everyone. The people and companies who are in favor of this change are already way ahead in terms of info and access. Reporting is a reasonable expectation.

Patricia Rheinheimer — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Patricia Rheinheimer Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 If you want people to invest: YOU SHOULD BE HONEST AND FORTHRIGHT. Hiding what you are doing is nefarious, deceitful, and untrustworthy.

---

patricia rosebrock — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: patricia rosebrock Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Since when is “hiding” preferable to transparency??! No!

Sent from my iPhone

Patricia Snow — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Patricia Snow Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Patricia Snow, retired. Keep reporting quaterly, accountability is essential to keep retirees investments safe from corruption, and bad mabagement, especially now that companies want tonreplace people with AI .

Patricia de Sa Snow, PhD
Sa Snow Consulting, LLC
PO BOX 1582

Greenbelt, MD 20768

Tel.: 240 630 2475

Patricia Stein — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Patricia Stein Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please continue to post quarterly reports. I depend on these statements to plan my income and investments. I have been retired for 25 years, and money does not go as far as it used to.

I have and need this information quarterly.
Patricia Stein, retired New York State Teachers association.

Patricia Thomu — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Patricia Thomu Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is really impostor the small investors. Keeping track of trends and movement is easier over three months vs longer periods of time.To the Securities and Exchange Commission:

Patricia Tingley — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Patricia Tingley Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the Quarterly Reports This is the reason why they are there.

Sent from my iPhone

Patricia Townsend — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Patricia Townsend Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Americans should always have the ability to know exactly how their investments are doing, in order to do tgat we need TO KEEP reports as it's, on a quarterly basis!

Sent from my iPhone

Patricia Warner — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Patricia Warner Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 There is no reason to go from quarterly reports to semi annual reports except to hide things from the public. Would annual disclosures be next? Patricia Warner-Sorci, annoyed voter.

Sent from my iPhone

Patricia Yaden — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Patricia Yaden Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Stop harming the Middle Class., Ofcourse we need quarterly Reports!! Non Negotiable

---

Patricia Yerian — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Patricia Yerian Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep quarterly reports. I had a stroke 18 months ago and this is my retirement plan.

Patrick Ballinger — Jun 18, 2026

Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Patrick Ballinger Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 No. No. No.

Patrick Bennett — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Patrick Bennett Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 keep quartlery reporting mandatory if something isn't broken DON'T FIX IT

Patrick Bennett — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Patrick Bennett Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 There is no legitimate reason to pursue this change.

Patrick Boyle — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Patrick Boyle Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
More information, not less please.
Private investors are already hindered by lack of information. Companies benefit from our investments in them - our fair request is to have them continue to report on their status quarterly so we can determine whether they have earned our trust.

Retain quartery reporting.

PATRICK FARENGA — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: PATRICK FARENGA Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We are suffering the most corrupt, grifting Americans have ever suffered at the hands of sharks in Wash DC. We (70% of Americans) are going into lifelong savings to survive. The USA is no longer the envy, but now the pity of the world. Don’t allow Tr & admin to steal from us. It’s horrible being grifted, bold face lied to, losing healthcare, and SS from your own govt. Can at least the SEC stay pro-America?We lost the battle for morality when Trump got in office in 2016. Immediately the students were discriminatory, rude to adults, not learning anymore. This will not make America great.

—D Farenga, retired spec Ed tchr & admin,

Sent from my iPhone

PATRICK I — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: PATRICK I Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Add more reporting's, NOT rollback reporting's, Did you forget how it used to be ?

Patrick Kilian — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Patrick Kilian Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting should be a minimum requirement. Perhaps they should be producing bi-monthly reports that can be reconciled to the quarterly reports. Business would not need this much supervision if they acted ethically but unfortunately that is not the standard of business in AmeriKKKa

Patrick Kilian
818-605-2258

Local 706 member

Patrick O'Connor — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Patrick O'Connor Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I think there should be more than quarterly reporting. Every other month if not monthly.
Corporations should not be able to hide things.

Patrick Rohr — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Patrick Rohr Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the reports quarterly. Stop messing with financial reporting.

Sent from my iPhone

Patsy Gillham — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Patsy Gillham Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Id like it weekly to minimize fraud! Too much money and power to wait that long.
Patsy Gillham
13110 chavile
Cypress 77429

"Never underestimate the power of a small group of committed individual, to change the world, indeed, it is the only thing that ever has. " Margaret Mead

Thank You,
Patsy Gillham
Advocate

www.safepoliceresponse.org
https://www.facebook.com/SafePoliceResponse https://www.youtube.com/results?search_query=safe+police+response

713 202 5948

Patti Jones — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Patti Jones Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 No do not do this. There is no benefit to the public in allowing biannually reporting. Just gives the Corporations more time to obfuscate their earnings. Oh wait that’s probably the whole point.

Patti Maddin — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Patti Maddin Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting must be done, accountability may not matter to rich CO's, however it matters very much to the people. Our country has been overwhelmed with outright fraud every imaginable way making accountability of the rich CEO's a major necessity. Pat Maddin, retired.

Patti Mcgarry — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Patti Mcgarry Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep it legal. Report quarterly just like everyone else.

Sent from my iPhone

Patti's Gmail — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Patti's Gmail Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I am a retired teacher who supports quarterly reporting. I’m not a billionaire and I need to monitor my investments on a quarterly basis. It just makes good financial sense! In these days of fraud, lawsuits and financial scams, it is not asking much to require the quarterly disclosures to ensure peace of mind for your constituents. Thank you. PattiBellak

Sent from my iPad

Patti's Gmail — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Patti's Gmail Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Hell, no! Give me the information quarterly! I want to keep tabs on my funds! PattiBellak, retired teacher and American citizen. NO TO 6 month reports!

Sent from my iPad

Patty — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Patty Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Not reporting quarterly should be illegal

Sent from my iPhone

Patty Asplund — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Patty Asplund Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the quarterly reporting.

Patty Asplund — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Patty Asplund Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the quarterly reporting.

Sent from my iPhone

Patty Bogeperez — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Patty Bogeperez Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
This is straight up "white collar crime".

Patty Fogler — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Patty Fogler Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please keep reporting quarterly!!
The public should not be limited to information on how companies are performing at 6 month intervals. As an investor, I want to know how the companies I invest in and are considering investing in are performing.
Thank you
Patricia Fogler

Patty Kandell — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Patty Kandell Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Stop the thieves. This is bs.

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Patty Kruckenberg — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Patty Kruckenberg Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:

The proposal you are proposing that will stop quarterly reports to investors is a very bad idea.
As an investor, I want reports to state the same, I look at my reports and look for any discrepancy.

There has been many fraudsters in the investment business, where people have lost their whole life savings!

thanks,
Patty K

Patty Wells — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Patty Wells Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We need them to keep reporting quarterly. I am retired and attempting to live on SS. It's impossible. My portfolio is the only thing between be and the streets, as it is for many. We cannot afford to lose a sizable chunk of our lifetime earnings. Than you in advance. My name is Patty wells. Retired team leader at General Motors and retired from Physical therapist assistant.

Sent from my iPhone

Paul and Kathy Marsh — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Paul and Kathy Marsh Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Accountability in the corporate sector brings about confidence. Why does big corporate want to hide that? If we know where money is moving we know where it isn't as well, that should scare you. Please stop cutting out laws that are for the general public and private sectors protection without extensive research. Laws today are being changed at whiplash speed that needs to stop before we are no longer a viable nation. A nation is nothing without the say of its people.

Powered by Cricket Wireless
Get Outlook for Android

Paul Banecks — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Paul Banecks Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Deplorable attack on the small investor.

Paul Cannon — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Paul Cannon As I buy stocks, I become a part owner in those businesses. This rule would clearly decrease transparency for individual investors. I am against this change and recommend ongoing, quarterly reporting. I believe other comments have clearly demonstrated the fallacy in thinking that biannual reporting is adequate or equal. I strongly advocate mandatory quarterly reporting, as the ongoing, required status quo.

Paul E. Anderson none — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Paul E. Anderson Less information than we receive now will lead to less working knowledge for the investors and more ability to manipulate the system. We need more transparency, not less.

Paul Forsyth — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Paul Forsyth Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Dear SEC,

I am writing to express my concerns regarding the proposal for semiannual reporting. In my view, shifting to a semiannual schedule suggests a level of deregulation that may reduce corporate expenses but significantly increases risk for private and personal investors.

This change appears to disadvantage small investors by limiting their awareness of potential risks. Furthermore, a six-month interval allows for too much time to pass between public disclosures of an organization's performance.

Thank you for considering these points.

Best regards,

Paul Forsyth, RPh

Paul Friedman — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Paul Friedman Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is essential to our economic vitality. Trump is just trying to facilitate corruption. He is corruption personified.

Paul G Rudenberg — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Paul G Rudenberg Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We want to know each quarter how companies we own stock in are doing. Things change fast.
Paul Rudenberg
Retiree
Falmouth, Maine

Paul Gammarano — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Paul Gammarano Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 In an era and year (2026) that data can be obtained faster and more efficiently than ever, cutting the accountability reporting to every six months is very arguably harmful to the integrity of an entire industry which has required close monitoring from its inception.

Benefits do significantly outweigh any “gains” by NOT cutting out two of the four reporting periods.

The proposal to cut two reporting periods annually creates more risk of liability instead of any risk reduction.

Thank you for this opportunity to forward feedback on this proposal.

Paul J Gammarano Sr MA JD Y Bar CPPB

Paul Grybowski — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Paul Grybowski Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Retired Chef. Trying to live off the modest fund input together. I am now my wife's caregiver as she is 100% disable. I to am disabled and they want to cut our diabilty payments. Now you are hobbling my small fund?

Paul Grybowski
407-716-2431
Pickens, SC
chefpaul60@gmail.com

Paul Harris — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Paul Harris Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I believe that due diligence and quarterly reporting are necessary to protect the public and stockholders' interests and provides a persuasive motivation for CEOs to stay on the "straight and narrow "

Paul N Harris
Publisher

Sent from my iPhone

Paul Hartman — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Paul Hartman Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Slowly eliminating the people who are taking their small profits. It's just another thing squashes a little people and raise people with money some more bull *. I feel like it won't be long before people will stand up and rise up against this kind of * and it's gonna look like rebellion and it probably will be but it's what we need right now you cannot wake up in the morning without going today you cannot live without being taxed we want independence Britain because of the same *ing * and here we are taking it up the ass like we *ing deserve it. Let's do something about it people

Paul Hartman

Paul Heins — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Paul Heins Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 It anyone want to change the time frame for reporting change it to monthly. If you're not happy with that make it weekly. I want to see everything available anytime it's requested on a moments notice no excuses. Any excuses should have penalties that are automatic and actually are enforced.

Paul Hermes — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Paul Hermes Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 keep quarterly reports
Paul Hermes

Paul Himebaugh — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Paul Himebaugh Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep it. Or same rules across the board.

PAUL KLEIN — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: PAUL KLEIN Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep quarter reporting mandates . They provide reasonable clarity and accountability. Paul Klein, retired Navy Chief Petty Officer.

Sent from my iPhone

Paul Kuhn — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Paul Kuhn Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Accountability is the hallmark of trust. Abdicating that trust in the name of profitability is abdicating the role of fiduciary responsibility to all shareholders.
This is misguided and, frankly, reeks of corruption.

Sent from my Verizon, Samsung Galaxy smartphone
Get Outlook for Android

Paul Lund — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Paul Lund Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is required for true visibility. A change to longer duration between reporting would negatively impact investors and reduce transparency. Don’t make this change!

Paul Lund

Sent from my iPhone

Paul M Getty AZ professional engineer — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Paul M Getty Keep the current reporting schedule of 4 times per year. Don't approve the proposal.

Paul McGuire — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Paul McGuire Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Unfair to the retail investor!!! It must be fair to all!!!

Sent from my iPhone

Paul Messer None — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Paul Messer There’s no way this should be passed. This hurts basic retail.

Paul Miller — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Paul Miller Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 QUIT SUCKING ON TACO""S WIENER AND START WORKING FOR AMERICANS!!!

Paul Rifenberg — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Paul Rifenberg Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I can think of no positive reason to change this from quarterly to semi annually. I can think of many disadvantages in doing it. Until you can explain to us the reasons we should do it, I would prefer you leave things alone.

Sent from my iPhone

Paul Robinson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Paul Robinson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting must be kept in place. I favor more frequent reporting, not less frequent. Companies must be transparent, investors must have more insight into the company's performance, not less. The effort to reduce reporting frequency is blatantly favoring one person, Trump. Such a decision is at odds with what has worked for decades, gives more power to the wealthy and disfavors small investors!

Paul Rozak — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Paul Rozak Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Heather Rozak, dental hygienist
My husband and I have worked hard, and done without some of the finer things to instead be responsible as retirees. Please leave things as they stand!!!

Paul Ruggeri — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Paul Ruggeri Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This is wrong and will just open the window for inside trading and corruption

Sent from my iPad

Paul Russo — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Paul Russo Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Paul Russo
Retired Healthcare Executive
Everyone who invests in public companies needs to know the performance, initiatives, challenges and risks of the company. Going to 2x per year is not adequate to make informed decisions. This is a bad idea for little value.

Sent from my iPhone

PAUL SULLIVAN — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: PAUL SULLIVAN Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 The public desires accountability, NOT ways out of responsibility.

Get Outlook for iOS

Paul Williams — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Paul Williams Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the quarterly reporting. There's no reason why they can't do it weakly in this day and age...
Paul

Paula Christison — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Paula Christison Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 You must keep quartly reporting. I am retired and I need to know what is happening with my investments. I'm shocked that anyone would suggest skipping 2 reporting periods. This is outrageous. Paula Christison, Vacaville CA

Paula DeCollibus — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Paula DeCollibus Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Please support more transparency from companies we invest in, NOT LESS! Quit playing with our investments, and US! We are watching.

Paula Delfosse — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Paula Delfosse Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 There is no reason to stop doing quarterly reports. Arguing that it will save costs is not a reasonable argument when it comes to keeping track of investments and potential opportunities for fraud. It merely allows more time for bad actors to act and hide their discrestions

---

Paula Donovan — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Paula Donovan Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission: I would value the opportunity to see a written explanation from the SEC on all of the PROS and CONS that will come from your enacting this ruling before it's too late to do something about it. Being somewhat new to investing means that I'm very dependent on every bit of up to date information that I can find to help me to make decisions and have a hope of a fighting chance to stay ahead in the market. Being the average Joe investor means you are uphill and already behind the machine every step of the way when it comes to building your own retirement moat. Every town, city, and Federal entity as well as Wall Street already have a person beat before we come through the door. Simplify without punishment please. Retirees and the average working class person deserves more respect and a little more help in making the process and outcomes of investing fair for us too.

---

paula dressel — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: paula dressel Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Enron was a wake-up call to hold CEO’s accountable. Let’s not repeat that history. Thank you

Paula Gainey — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Paula Gainey Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the SEC - There are many reasons to continue quarterly reporting and ZERO reasons to reduce reporting. With politicians openly and corruptly committing insider trading, I believe you have more important matters at hand to investigate. As a financial professional who is a CPA and has worked in accounting and finance for over 40 years - you are not fooling anyone. Do not succumb to political pressure. Get to work on investigating these crimes, continue quarterly reporting and use both to protect the people who rely on you to do so.
Sincerely angry,
Paula Gainey, CPA / Fiscal Manager

Sent from my iPhone

Paula Kane — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Paula Kane Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I am opposed to changing the quarterly reporting of financial results from companies to every six months instead of quarterly. I am a retiree and think it is important to have the most up-to-date information possible when deciding where to invest my hard-earned money. Income from investments is my most important source of income at this stage in my life. It is the government's obligation to protect investors such as me, not to make life easier for large companies to hide what they're doing so they can take advantage of people who are left in the dark until it is too late.
Paula Kane
12 Farrar Street

St. Albans, VT 05478

Paula Marie Vinci — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Paula Marie Vinci Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting should NOT discontinued! It would blind public investor's to valuable information needed to make intelligent decisions , sincerely, Paula Vinci

---

Paula Marie Vinci — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Paula Marie Vinci Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting should NOT discontinued! It would blind public investor's to valuable information needed to make intelligent decisions

---

Paula Rhoten — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Paula Rhoten Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Paula Rhoten. Voter Do not change what is not broken.

Sent from my Verizon, Samsung Galaxy smartphone
Get Outlook for Androidby

Paula Ruehling — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Paula Ruehling Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This is unfair and will affect retirement most of all.

Paula Ruehling

Paula Warren — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Paula Warren Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Paula H. Warren Compliance Professional/Retired

As a country, we need transparency into company financials to remain stable. The executive branches cannot simply become the “keepers” of this information.

A lot of change can occur in a company in a quarter’s time. To move to an every six month reporting schedule, puts investors in danger of not being able to make informed decisions in a timely matter.

Do not change this reporting requirement. ENRON was our lesson — let’s not ignore it!

Transparency is key!

Regards,

Paula H. Warren

---

paulfulgham — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: paulfulgham Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My wife and I rely on the Stock market for retirement income. Quarterly financial reporting provides transparency that is needed to keep the Madoffs hiding on Wall Street under control with our investments. My wife was an ICU NURSE. I WORKED 35 years for DUKE energy NUCLEAR. MORE ACCOUNTABILITY not less.
SEC do your Job.

Sent from my Galaxy

Pauline Wong — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Pauline Wong Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is a must! Stop rigging the system to steal from us.

Regards,
Pauline Wong
Sent from my iPhone

PCollen YT — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: PCollen YT Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep it QUARTERLY....

PEG DAVIS — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: PEG DAVIS Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 accountability is important especially when you're dealing with other people's money. keep the things the way they are

---

Peg Drenckhahn — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Peg Drenckhahn Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Stop letting this administration of greedy Crooks screw the American People.

Peggy Caffalette — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Peggy Caffalette Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Margaret Caffalette, retired

Quarterly statements are essential to keep track of investments!

Get Outlook for Android

Peggy Carlson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Peggy Carlson Comments attatched

---

Peggy Conaway — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Peggy Conaway Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Totally against this change!

Peggy Crowe — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 - lessening of reporting From: Peggy Crowe Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We are quickly losing all of the backstops to keep up with what the biggest players in the US that holds the vast majority of the biggest corporations to keep their huge profits a secret from the public.

Margaret Crowe

Peggy Dismuke — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Peggy Dismuke Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
We are a couple in retirement who invests heavily in index funds. We deserve transparency of the state of affairs of what we invest in. Please continue to do quarterly reporting.

Peggy Frank — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Peggy Frank Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Let not do this
We do not need to go backwards

Sent from my iPhone

Peggy Glaser — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Peggy Glaser Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Fraud is rampant among our citizens and non-citizens as seen in the news recently. We must keep checks and balances in place for everyone's benefit
Peggy Glaser, Retired Medical Secretary

Sent from my iPhone

Peggy Pate — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Peggy Pate Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Hold their feet to the fire. Quarterly reports are essential. Corruption seems rampant these days. People's investments and lives are on the line when dishonesty prevails.

Sent from my iPhone

Peggy Reeves — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Peggy Reeves Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My name is Peggy Reeves and although I am retired from Lockheed Martin in the state of Colorado, I have children, Grand children and Great Grand children that either have jobs or will have jobs in the future. I believe the best to keep people in power honest and transparent in their dealings, is to hold them accountable quarterly!

Sent from:

Peggy Sincock — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Peggy Sincock Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Pleas remember, The funds are the customers, they have a right to current updates. Quarterly reporting is the least the client needs! Our account costs currently pay for this reporting!!

Sent from my iPhone

Penny Copp — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Penny Copp Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Company earnings should be disclosed in real time and not delayed for months. By enabling companies to delay release of company earnings, it will facilitate insider trading amongst those who have a birds eye on earnings. Why are we attempting to harm others financially when the system in place currently is not broken?

Sent from my iPad

Penny Holliday — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Penny Holliday Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My name is Penny Holliday and I am retired. I implore you to continue quarterly reporting! I believe it adds to corporate accountability and keeps the public informed. Again, I urge you not to end quarterly reporting! Thank you.

Penny Kowalewski — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Penny Kowalewski Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 The rich are rich enough

Sent from my iPhone

Penny Selin — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Penny Selin Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Penny Selin, retired in Wisconsin. That being noted I think it is unjust to not disclose daily my funds activities. I don't know why quarterly would affect the outcome but it apparently did.
More than likely it allows for some unscrupulous behaviors to happen. The government employees should also be held liable for any insider information used to their gain. Come on America do it right .

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

---

penny Sullivan — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: penny Sullivan Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 No 6 month blackout on financial transparency, keep reporting!

Pepper Hume — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Pepper Hume Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 If they have nothing to hide, why should they heitate to sign? This would be just another USA protection that the next admin will have to waste time restoring. Leave this protection against corporate theft alone.

Pepper Hume

Pepper Mullen — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Pepper Mullen Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Hello, my name is Pepper Mullen. I am a retiree of no great importance living in Kyle, Texas. I care about quarterly reporting because corporations already take too much advantage over the general public. Way too much, financially, environmentally, medically.

Keep the quarterly reporting. More accountability, not less.

Sent from my iPhone

Perry Trost — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: NO on proposed Rule change From: Perry Trost Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Hell no! Business is fraudulent enough as it is! They need to report MORE OFTEN to stop fraud, NOT LESS!!! This is a TERRIBLE IDEA. 😡😡😡

Sent from AOL on Android

Persis M Karim — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Persis M Karim Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Corrupt and a scheme to cheat small-time investors! Disclose quarterly!
Persis Karim

Get Outlook for iOS

Personal Gmail — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Personal Gmail Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I'm a long time investor and I've seen nothing but positives from the quarterly reporting requirement. It would be ridiculous to change this. I am a retired clinical research scientist in rural Nebraska. We need to keep companies accountable. Carla Frye

Warm regards,

Dr. Carla B. Frye

Hebron, Nebraska
224-234-2411

Pete Hammill — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Pete Hammill Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the reporting quarterly, this requirement came for a reason. There is no need to go back to the failures that occurred when it was semi-annual.
Pete Hammill
Retiree

Sent from my iPhone

Pete Nelson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Pete Nelson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 The quarterly reporting requirement is a very helpful tool and should not be eliminated. There is no benefit to consumers by eliminating it, it only benefits corporations. Thank you.

Pete Nelson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Pete Nelson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 The quarterly reporting requirement is a very helpful tool and should not be eliminated. There is no benefit to consumers by eliminating it, it only benefits corporations.
Thank you.
Pete Nelson

Pete Nelson
Engineering Software Manager

(o) (256) 356-8661 Ext. 2197
(e) Pete.Nelson@tiffinmotorhomes.com
105 2nd Street NW | Red Bay, AL 35582

tiffinmotorhomes.com

Confidentiality Notice: This email transmission (and/or the attachments accompanying it) may contain confidential information belonging to the sender which is protected by attorney/client privilege and the work product doctrine. The information is intended only for the use of the intended recipient. If you are not the intended recipient, you are hereby notified than any disclosure, copying, distribution or the taking of any action in reliance on the contents of this information is strictly prohibited. Any unauthorized interception of this transmission is illegal under the law. If you have received this transmission in error, please promptly notify the sender by reply email and immediately destroy all copies of this transmission.
Disclaimer: Any settlement agreements and amounts included in this transmission are for discussion purposes only and subject to later review and approval by the parties and are non-binding until the signing of a physically executed, formal written agreement by the parties.

Peter Gendusa — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Peter Gendusa Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 There is no good reason to change earnings reports to ‘semi-annual’ for consumers.
Keep the reporting standard of quarterly reports as is.

Peter Gendusa

Gendusa Contracting
352-279-8356
pgciboss@gmail.com
CBC1260021

Peter Rinn — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Peter Rinn Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I like the 6 month idea that you are proposing. Will allow conpany to focus on what matters instead of concentrating on short term moves to jack up stock prices.

Peter Shire — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Peter Shire Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Public Comment on Proposed Rulemaking: Quarterly Financial Reporting Cadence
Submitted by: Peter Shire, Vice President of Sales & Marketing, Huntersville, NC, 28078
I am writing to strongly urge the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) to maintain the current quarterly financial reporting framework. The existing 10-Q filing cadence serves as the bedrock of transparency and capital market integrity in the United States. Transitioning to a less frequent reporting model would inevitably create dangerous blind spots, starving market participants of timely data, increasing informational asymmetry, and inviting heightened market volatility. Continuous disclosure ensures that management teams remain strictly accountable to the public, fostering an ongoing culture of corporate discipline and preventing the dangerous accumulation of obscured material financial shifts.
The historical context of our current regulatory strength must not be forgotten or dismantled. After Enron and WorldCom, Sarbanes-Oxley makes every CEO and CFO personally certify every quarterly and annual report. Twenty-four years of quarterly signatures by CEOs and CFOs have kept American investors safe and proven that no boardroom in America is above or beyond the law. Relaxing these foundational rules now would fundamentally erode the guardrails that have successfully mitigated corporate fraud for nearly a quarter of a century, ultimately harming retail investors and weakening the global competitiveness of the American financial system.

-- -- -- -- -- -- --

Peter Shire

Phil Lanoue — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Phil Lanoue Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We don’t need to go backwards in time. Keep Quarterly Reports.

Phil Soucheray Jr. — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Phil Soucheray Jr. Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Do NOT hand this gift out to public businesses. It will tank individual’s already-shaky confidence in the entire investment arena, erode IRA savings efforts at a time when confidence in investment is more essential than ever.

Phil Soucheray

---

philine664 — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: philine664 Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 If it ain't broken,don't try to fix it.

Sent from my Galaxy

Philip Taylor — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Philip Taylor Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 The quartely reporting has worked well. Do not change it. It works, don’t break it.

Philip Taylor
Retired
Puyallup, washington

Phillip Branner — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Phillip Branner Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My name is Phillip Branner. I am retired and live in Baltimore County, MD. The Sarbanes Oxley Act was passed to protect the public from the atrocities committed by Enron, which caused untold damage to an untold number of people. The quarterly filing requirement reduces the amount of time between filings in which corporations and their boards can wreak havoc once again on our financial system. I have to date seen nothing to indicate that conditions that would reduce the likelihood of fraud or other criminal activity have improved to the point of justifying a loosening of the rules set out in the law. Indeed, it is a hall pass to corporate executives to take advantage of such loosening and reinstate some of their illegal and immoral ways. Please help to protect the safety of my savings by not passing this rule.

Phillip Escalante — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Phillip Escalante Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Keep the stock market transparent, if the citizens are wealthy then everyone benefits. And the markets keep pumping. If insider only know the qtr reports then how are we supposed to make smart financial decisions. If the citizens start losing money then the markets are negatively effected and growth slows or collapses.

Phillip Imler — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Phillip Imler Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Accountability for all to see ,please vote to continue, Fl. ,concerned citizen.
Do what's right for the people !

Phyllis Breidinger — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Phyllis Breidinger Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Less transparency is never good for the people! I have investments in the stock market which if this were to happen, I would withdraw every penny.
I am retired now as an RN,and I worked very hard for people in an honest profession. The SEC needs to be honest too. P. BREIDINGER

Sent from my iPad

Phyllis Cook — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Phyllis Cook Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Absolutely NOT! We need accountability and transparent records!

Phyllis Cook
Retired

Phyllis D Harrison — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Phyllis D Harrison Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Don’t mess with quarterly reporting. It works the best. Keeps us informed information on a better schedule especially for mature investors.

Phyllis Harris — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Phyllis Harris Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I am a project manager at a large university. I very much appreciate and value the quarterly reports of the companies that comprise my 403.B stock portfolio. I respectfully request that quarterly reports remain for those companies that are a part of the various U.S. Stock Exchanges.
Phyllis Harris
Kentucky

Phyllis Peters — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Phyllis Peters Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep this accountability quarterly!

Sent from my iPad

Phyllis Peters — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Phyllis Peters Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep this accountability quarterly!
Phyllis Peters
Sent from my iPad

Phyllis Roland — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Phyllis Roland Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Continue quarterly reporting

Sent from my iPhone

Phyllis Schaeffer — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Phyllis Schaeffer Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 In the course of life we learn from our mistakes. Continuing to make the same mistake and not change is foolish and immature. So twice a year reporting, which did not work, may not be wise and in the long run not beneficial. Quarterly reporting is beneficial and wise. My name is Phyllis Schaeffer, a retired Kansas and Illinois teacher living in Chicago, Illinois.

Sent from my iPhone

Phyllis Smith — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Phyllis Smith Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Why support insider trading??? Why not support transparency on Wall Street???? Just do the ethical thing, and stop this whole idea.
Phyk

---

piggy909 — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: piggy909 Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 ENRON WAS A WARNING. Do not undo the quarterly reporting thst keeps companies from hiding failure.

Pippa Kinloch — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Pippa Kinloch Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Another outrageous attempt to ruin us, and fatten their pockets!😡 This is absolutely unacceptable! Stop the madness already

Sent from my iPhone

---

pmcpheron — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: pmcpheron Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Pamela McPheron Retired Production Artist
I want to keep an eye on my meager investments! Quarterly!

Sent from my Galaxy

Polly's primary — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Polly's primary Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 After Enron, the law forced CEOs to personally sign their financials four times a year, with prison on the line for signing a lie. Do not cut that requirement in half! Fewer signatures means less accountability.

Poshi Walker — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Poshi Walker Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Pasha Walker, retired Social Worker. My retirement investments are crucial to my living financially independent. I urge you to continue to require quarterly postings so that I, and those like me, are not left in the dark!

Pasha Walker

Pradeep Rijhwani — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Pradeep Rijhwani Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep quartey reporting in place

---

Pranav Ghai, Co-Founder and CEO, Calcbench — Jun 18, 2026
June 18, 2026
Vanessa A. Countryman, Secretary
Securities and Exchange Commission
100 F Street NE
Washington, DC 20549-109
Dear Ms. Countryman:
RE: Reforming Proposed Amendments to Permit Optional Semiannual Reporting by Public Companies -

File Number S7-2026-15
Thank you for the opportunity to comment on the Securities and Exchange Commission's proposal to permit domestic reporting companies to file one semiannual report on Form 10-S and one annual report per fiscal year, in lieu of quarterly reports on Form 10-Q. I am writing on behalf of Calcbench, a financial data platform used by institutional and individual investors, financial advisors, and fundamental research analysts.
Our firm strongly opposes moving away from quarterly reporting. If enacted, it will increase the costs to ALL investors. It will drive up transaction costs and limit price discovery. It will hurt exactly those investors that the SEC protects.
The Case for Change
The premise for allowing companies to report semi-annually rests primarily on reducing the regulatory and compliance burden of being a public company — lowering costs, enabling executives to focus on long-term strategic execution rather than short-term earnings pressure, and motivating more companies to go or remain public without undermining fundamental investor protections.
Proponents point to markets across the globe that have already made this shift, including the European Union and the United Kingdom, and countries that have always had a semi-annual reporting cadence, including Japan and Australia. They also point to a notable chorus of business leaders supporting the change, from Jamie Dimon of JPMorgan Chase1 to Kunal Kapoor of Morningstar2
, Adena Friedman of Nasdaq3
, and the Business Roundtable4
, which represents approximately 200 CEOs of leading U.S. companies.
The Stronger Case for Quarterly Reporting
We strongly believe that these proposed changes have the potential to compromise the shareholders these companies ultimately serve. The CFA Institute surveyed 2,500 members working as investment analysts and portfolio managers as part of its recent report, Investor Perspectives: Quarterly Reporting –
What Investors Tell Us About Quarterly Reporting, Why It Matters and Why They Support It in an Era of Artificial Intelligence. These members strongly supported retaining mandatory quarterly reporting. In 1www.bloomberg.com/news/articles/2025-10-07/dimon-would-welcome-change-in-quarterly-earnings-requirement?embedded-check out=true
2 https://fortune.com/2026/05/05/morningstar-ceo-sec-quarterly-reporting-semiannual-kunal-kapoor/
3www.reuters.com/sustainability/boards-policy-regulation/nasdaq-supports-reforms-reduce-burden-public-companies-ceo-friedman-s ays-2025-09-15/
4 www.businessroundtable.org/business-roundtable-supports-move-away-from-short-term-guidance addition, prominent asset managers and quantitative investment firms — including Citadel5
, Fidelity6

, Two
Sigma[7]
, Blackrock[8]
, T.Rowe Price[9]
, and D.E. Shaw[10]
— have all warned against the move.
Shareholders want more information, not less. Reduced reporting frequency will increase market price volatility, increase transaction costs, and diminish the ability to monitor company performance. Overall transparency won't increase — which is precisely why India and China, the two largest emerging markets, have moved toward quarterly reporting over the last several decades.
The demand for more data, not less, is not theoretical. Calcbench clients collectively manage more than $20 trillion in assets under management, and our direct experience working with these institutions reveals how professional investors actually use quarterly financial disclosures. In a cohort of our institutional investors, data usage increased 20.3% year over year — from 285.5K to 343.5K queries to our database.
That is a clear signal of growing reliance on data, not diminishing need.
That reliance runs deep. Institutional investors have built their analytical frameworks, risk models, and portfolio monitoring processes around the cadence of quarterly disclosure. A shift to semiannual reporting wouldn't just reduce the frequency of required filings; it would create extended periods when professional investors — and ultimately their retail clients — must make capital allocation decisions with materially less information about the companies they hold or are evaluating.
The information gap would not be filled equally. Institutional investors may be able to request data directly from company investor relations teams (which, incidentally, raises the risk of Regulation FD violations) — but retail investors have no such access. As for the claim that Form 8-K filings would bridge the gap: an 8-K can signal that something material has happened, but it does not translate that event into its income statement or balance sheet impact. That financial translation is precisely what quarterly reporting provides.
Nor do we believe that these changes will help the IPO market. As Shivaram Rajgopal, the Roy Bernard Kester and T.W. Byrnes Professor of Accounting and Auditing at Columbia Business School, has stated,
"The defining feature of an IPO is information asymmetry — management knows the business; the public doesn't yet. Quarterly reporting is one of the fastest mechanisms to close that gap. Reducing it makes IPO investing more opaque, not less risky to avoid.
"[11]
Moreover, IPOs are already making a comeback with quarterly reporting intact. The Financial Times reported that "sixty US companies have gone public this year, raising nearly $40bn, the highest year-to-date deal value since 2021, according to data from Dealogic that excludes listings of blank-cheque companies. Goldman expects that figure to rise to a record $225bn this year following the raft of big listings.

”12
The cost of the regulatory and compliance “burden” on public companies is the "cost" component of running a vibrant equity market. Authors of the above mentioned CFA Institute report, Sandy Peters and

5www.youtube.com/watch?v=y0ZrTZ-uUg0
6Ibid
7www.reuters.com/legal/government/two-sigma-de-shaw-join-wall-street-push-against-us-secs-bid-relax-quarterly-2026-04-15/
8 Ibid
9 Ibid
10 Ibid
11 An excert from this article https://www.forbes.com/sites/shivaramrajgopal/2026/05/05/the-secs-semi-annual-reporting-proposal-a-solution-in-search-of-a-proble m/ was posted on his LinkedIn.
12 www.ft.com/content/f7dae4e1-d650-45ab-ac97-043c7a965d24?syn-25a6b1a6=1
Matthew Winters, highlight that the supposed costs for quarterly reporting “represents but a tiny fraction (.004%) of the approximately $67 trillion in equity market capitalization of the NYSE and NASDAQ; and the SEC’s reporting framework established under the Securities Acts of 1933 and 1934 has been a major contributor to the investor confidence underlying these markets.
”
Lastly, we do not believe that providing the option for companies to report semiannually will reduce a company’s “short-termism” and give executives the time and space to focus on long-term investments. As we’ve seen this year, thanks in part to AI, companies have moved away from short-termism and are investing for the long-term. Based on our recent earnings tracker13
, which looked at roughly 3,600 companies from Q1 2025 to Q1 2026, we found that net capital expenditures are up 29.5% this year over last; companies are already making plans across long time horizons.
In Conclusion
While Calcbench appreciates the Commission’s effort to encourage more companies to access public capital markets, we urge the Commission not to proceed with optional semiannual reporting. Our opposition to this proposal stems from concerns about investor protection and our proprietary data, which shows demonstrated and growing demand for high-frequency financial data among the sophisticated market participants who rely on quarterly disclosures as a core input to their investment processes. We strongly believe these proposed amendments will be bad for large financial institutions and for small investors: friends, neighbors, and fellow Americans. Both directly and indirectly, costs on these people will increase.
If the goal is to reduce regulatory burden, streamlining the 10-Q is a more logical path. If the goal is long-term investment, the focus should be on executive compensation structures. But eliminating quarterly reporting is not a solution to any of the problems its proponents describe.

Sincerely,
Pranav Ghai
Co-Founder and CEO, Calcbench
13 https://www.calcbench.com/blog/post/blogger5733115489165631503/Last-Call-on-Q1-Earnings-Updates

---

Primary — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Primary Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is very necessary to keep the shareholders and potential investors uptight date with the financial wellbeing of the company.

Sent from my iPhone

Priscilla Abbott — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Priscilla Abbott Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep up with quarterly reporting. Average people benefit from transparency.

Sent from my iPhone

Priscilla Brewer — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Priscilla Brewer Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Stop catering to the rich. The workers demand justice. Stay the course. Be the responsible ones. For the good of all. Not just some.

Priscilla Lundberg — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Priscilla Lundberg Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Continue to require companies to report quarterly. Less transparency never results in better outcomes. Now is not the time to play with people's security. I have two children to support as a single mother. Priscilla Lundberg, Director of Inroads to College at Portland Community College.

Priscilla

Priscilla Marsh — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Quarterly Reporting From: Priscilla Marsh Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I am strongly opposed to the proposed change from quarterly reporting to bi-annually. Transparency and timely, accurate information is essential in business, and the public has the right to keep abreast of what is happening with their money. My name is Priscilla Marsh and I am retired. I need to keep a close eye on the economy and my investments. Twice a year is simply not enough. Thank you.

Priscilla McCormick — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Priscilla McCormick Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 You don't need a name (Priscilla McCormick), job title (disabled creative writer), or a reason why this matters to you to understand why changing SEC filing from quarterly to every six months is a bad idea (checks and balances are needed in capitalism as well as in government, lest the little guy get crushed under the weight of greed and power). Suffice it to say I've survived a stroke, schizoaffective bipolar disorder with psychotic features, and postpartum psychosis, and I wouldn't be able to manage without protections in place so that I can survive financially without being swallowed up like krill in the bristly teeth of a whale in the sea as one might long ago have found off the Coast of Cape Cod. This matters because the SEC needs to be monitored frequently in order to keep the money trail transparent.

Priscilla McCormick
Memoir Writer I Creative Writing Coach for Elders, Enduring Elephant Memoirs 508.534.9366I 774.454.4629 I enduringelephant@gmail.com https://www.enduringelephantmemoirs.com/
9 Coolidge Rd. I West Yarmouth I MA 02673

Create your own email signature

Pritam Prakash — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Pritam Prakash Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
You are a regulatory body. You need to have stringent regulations and public companies need to be held accountable to what they are doing every quarter or every day. Removing it would leave them loose. Those vital information help us decide if we are not getting scammed. Make it more strict or leave it as it is. America is not a third world country. We have to have accountability of what public companies do.

Prudence Daniels — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Prudence Daniels Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Americans are being screwed in every aspect of life. Our government is controlled by billionaires and now there is a trillionaire. We need protection for our financial interests instead of for the wealth of corporations.

---

pwarner paulwarnerproductions.com — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: pwarner paulwarnerproductions.com Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Markets now move faster than ever and quarterly reporting lets investors keep abreast of the latest developments. Investment ownership is for everyone.

Paul Warner
A/V Engineer

Q Lehman — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Q Lehman Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is a must have tool for the individual investor, removing it or making it 6 months, blinds the investor making critical decisions on the heath and welfare of the companies they invest in.

Quando Gerst — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Quando Gerst Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quando Acct Rep. and this needs to remain quarterly for transparency.

---

quinwilliams1 — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: quinwilliams1 Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 The proposed semi-annual reporting schedule is an extremely bad idea. Maintaining transparency is important to the health of our system. I depend on my investments for living expenses.

Margaret Quinby Williams
Retired

Sent from my Galaxy

R Andre Klein — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: R Andre Klein Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 As a small investor I rely on quarterly reporting to know what's up with each company in which I own shares. Please do not revert from quarterly to semiannual reporting.

R Blackford — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: R Blackford Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 If you are going to loosen the rules again, I'm simply going to have to invest overseas. I will not go through that again.

Sent from my iPhone

R GEOFFREY VARGO Retired — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: R GEOFFREY VARGO The SEC's proposal to allow public companies to replace quarterly reporting with semiannual disclosures is a step in the wrong direction. Quarterly reporting serves a critical purpose: it protects individual investors by ensuring that all market participants receive timely information about a company's performance and risks. Moving to semiannual reporting would double the period between required disclosures, widening the information gap between corporate insiders and ordinary shareholders. That gap is where uncertainty, volatility, and mistrust thrive. Supporters of the proposal argue that less frequent reporting would reduce corporate short-termism and encourage management to focus on long-term growth. However, the evidence does not support that claim. Research conducted by the CFA Institute examining similar changes in the United Kingdom found no meaningful impact on corporate investment behavior when reporting frequency was reduced. In other words, the SEC is proposing a tangible cost—less transparency for investors—in exchange for a benefit that research suggests is unlikely to materialize. The companies most likely to abandon quarterly reporting are also the companies where transparency and oversight matter most. Smaller and less-followed public companies already receive limited analyst coverage and media scrutiny. Reducing their reporting obligations would make them even harder for investors to evaluate, increasing risk rather than reducing it. For decades, U.S. securities regulation has moved toward greater transparency and a more level playing field. Regulation Fair Disclosure (Reg FD) was designed to ensure that material information reaches all investors at the same time. Allowing companies to report only twice a year would move in the opposite direction, providing fewer opportunities for investors to assess performance and hold management accountable. Investor confidence depends on timely, reliable information. Quarterly reporting is not a burden on market integrity—it is one of its foundations. The SEC should reject this proposal and continue advancing transparency rather than retreating from it.

R Lastname — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: R Lastname Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Companies know * well what their financial situation is. That's what they have accountants for. Investors/shareholders deserve transparency.

Get Outlook for Android

---

r m — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: r m Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Investors will flee

---

R M — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: R M Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 There is no reason that I have found to return to twice per year reporting times. This has been done before and it harmed investors. More frequent information is better than less frequent. Today's computer capabilities should be making on demand financial information the standard. The plan to go backwardx to twice per year reporting is beneficial to no one.

RA — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: RA Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I'm Rachel Alexander. I'm a nurse in PA. One of the only way normal people can try to build Wealth is through investing. Making things less transparent for investors only helps the rich. Everything doesn't need to be changed. Please consider keeping quarterly reporting.

Sent from Rachel's iPhone

Rachel Bielert — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Rachel Bielert Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Please know that I find it irresponsible to reduce the reporting requirements which limits investors' quarterly transparency and security to be able to make sound financial decisions with their own money; and reduces accountability of those with the privilege of using investors' money to operate their businesses. It is the SEC's purpose to protect the people's interests who make that system work and if the SEC reduces its requirements for reporting it, in itself, will become ineffective as an entity. Please do not proceed with this plan.

Rachel McNett — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Rachel McNett Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Do not bow down to those who lack conscience character, morality, humanity, sacrifice, principle! We are watching you.

Sent from my iPhone

Rae Grayham — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Rae Grayham Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reports keep all true Americans informed !!! We have a right to know what's going on !!! Cutting those reports let's more corruption to happen !!! ..

Absolutely sick of the evil being allowed to happen by the people that are elected to protect the American people !!!! ENOUGH !!! IS !!!! ENOUGH!!!!

Rae Grayham — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Rae Grayham Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reports keep all true Americans informed !!! We have a right to know what's going on !!! Cutting those reports let's more corruption to happen !!! ..

Rajesh Kassen — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Rajesh Kassen Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This was in place for a reason, to stop fraud and keep investors informed.

Rajesh Kassen — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Rajesh Kassen Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This was in place for a reason, to stop fraud and keep investors informed.

Ralph and Elizabeth Woods — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Ralph and Elizabeth Woods Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Free market economy assumes free flow of information. Omitting quarterly reporting requirements removes a primary source ofthis free flow of information.
Stop the oligarchy. Promote Frame markets.

Ralph Hensley — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Ralph Hensley Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Comment Opposing Reduction of Public Company Reporting Requirements

To the Securities and Exchange Commission:

I write in opposition to any proposal that would reduce the frequency of required public company financial reporting from quarterly to semi-annual reporting.

Quarterly reporting serves a critical role in maintaining transparency, market confidence, and investor protection. Public investors, including retirees, pension funds, veterans, and working Americans saving for retirement, rely on timely and accurate financial information to make informed investment decisions.

Since the passage of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act following major corporate scandals such as Enron and WorldCom, chief executive officers and chief financial officers have been required to personally certify the accuracy of financial reports. These certifications create accountability and help deter fraud by placing responsibility directly on corporate leadership.

Reducing reporting frequency would lengthen the period between mandatory disclosures, potentially delaying the identification of financial irregularities, material weaknesses, declining business performance, or fraudulent conduct. Investors would be forced to make decisions with less current information, increasing uncertainty and market risk.

Less frequent reporting may also disproportionately harm retail investors, who generally lack the resources available to institutional investors to independently monitor company performance between reporting periods.

The SEC's core mission includes protecting investors, maintaining fair and orderly markets, and facilitating capital formation. Reducing the frequency of financial reporting would weaken transparency and accountability while providing fewer opportunities for investors to evaluate company performance.

I respectfully urge the Commission to retain quarterly reporting requirements and preserve the investor protections that have helped strengthen confidence in U.S. capital markets for more than two decades.

Sincerely,
Ralph Hensley
Retired
Dayton, VA.

Ralph Melgard — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Ralph Melgard Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 No do not allow this path.

Sent from my iPhone

Ramona Atkinson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Ramona Atkinson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Allowing this will only hasten the already collapsing capitalist system to fall completely. We are tired and fed up with these criminals.

Ramsey — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Ramsey Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My name is Ramsey Rabie, a Realtor and personal investor. Keep the quarterly reporting so investors can better protect themselves.

Ramsey Rabie
Realtor®
(713) 545-3336
Rabie Realty Group
1723 Parklake Village Dr
Katy, TX 77450

Randall Safier — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Randall Safier Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This proposal should be rejected; it would reduce transparency and timeliness of true financial performance information to the detriment of stockholders ability to make informed decisions on their investment portfolio. I would, in fact, be in favor of an opposite proposal to require more frequent reporting than quarterly (monthly, biweekly, or weekly), similar to EVMS reporting times required of many companies working under federal contracts.
Randall M. Safier, JD
Colonel, U.S. Army (Retired)

Systems Engineer (Retired)

Sent from my iPhone

Randy Chandler — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Randy Chandler Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I think public companies should report monthly.

Sent from my iPhone

---

randy morrell — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: randy morrell Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Randal Morrell
Retired
Please do not change.
6 months is to long to wait to make good decisions. Things could be going bad and you will to late to make right decisions.

Randy Newnham — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Randy Newnham Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Hello,
My name is Randy Newnham, and I work in public relations. Implementing this rule will reduce transparency and trust in the market. At a time when white collar crime by corporations is in the rise, a rule such as this opens the door for more fraud and abuse.

Best,
Randy

Randy Slusser — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Randy Slusser Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Make them accountable! If anything, add more times they have to sign.

---

randyo4593 — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: randyo4593 Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Give Soros back his political influence donation NOW!! Tell me what my advantage will be if this happens...because I can't figure it out. Was this originated during the joe biden era?

Sent from my Galaxy

---

raven92456 — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: raven92456 Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Transparency is paramount to anything!

Sent from my Galaxy

Ray Grant — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Ray Grant Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 It be kept at Quarterly. That does not allow the company to hide bad news too long and gives investors time to react.

Ray Peters — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Ray Peters Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 From: Ray Peters, I'm retired and feel threatened by corporate greed raiding my portfolio, I would like SEC to name the principal entities proposing this ruling publicly so they can be investigated for wrongdoing and current performance in the markets and how this ruling benefits them.

Sent from my iPhone

Ray White — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Ray White Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please don't roll this back to the 1955 method. It apparently did not work, and small investors paid a heavy price. Leave well enough alone. The SEC is falling prey to the age old axiom that government will continue to expand its domain, rules and self-appointed authority for no other reason that to accumulate power and fill its existing idleness. Pay attention to current manipulations and inside trading. That's what is currently important and is being neglected by the SEC.

Ray White

Sent from my iPhone.
Please excuse any omissions, typos, grammatical errors and assistance provided by auto-correct.

RayH — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: RayH Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We can do quarterlies, they can do quarterlies. Grow a pair.

Raymond Blank — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Raymond Blank Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Whom ever wants this, wants to be able to hide something. They get paid the big bucks,make them accountable.

Raymond Foster — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Raymond Foster Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Thank you in advance for considering my comment. Quarterly reporting must continue for all public companies, and be strongly encouraged for all other companies as well. This is one of the foundational reasons for the Securities and Exchange Commission. Stand by why you were called and help people. Quarterly reporting is not overly burdensome, except to those who have something to hide or are lazy.

Raymond Majewski — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Raymond Majewski Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please keep as is!!

Sent from my iPhone

Raymond Sexton — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Raymond Sexton Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep requiring companies to report quarterly. Quarterly reporting allows me to change my investments as needed to avoid months of poor performance by a company and to increase the opportunity for growth in my portfolio. Companies have to gather this information anyway so the cost of making it public is minimal and does not outweigh my need/right to know as a “regular” person investing in their company. As a retired person on a limited income, I need the opportunity to grow the money I have as much as possible. Please continue to require quarterly reporting.

Alice Sexton, retired nurse

Sent from my iPhone

Raymond Vanderhulst — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Raymond Vanderhulst Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 As an investor I rely on quarterly reporting to help shape my investment strategy. Plese keep the qurterly reports. We need and rely on them.

Raynell Neal Raynell Neal — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Raynell Neal I lived thru the 2008 financial crisis and the Enron crisis. Corporations need check and balances. Trust but verify

---

Reba S Shiflett McCarty — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Reba S Shiflett McCarty Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Reba McCarty, Florida Registered Nurse. Please keep quarterly reports, this is important to me because I change my strategy for retirement based on how I have done in the last quarter. Thank you.

Rebecca Bailey — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Rebecca Bailey Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Retired on fixed income. Don't believe this change would benefit me, so LEAVE IT BE!

Rebecca Binks — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Rebecca Binks Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Rebecca Binks, retired educator
I have money invested in the stock market. It is imperative that publicly traded companies are held to a high standard of transparency. Otherwise who knows what kind of shenanigans the C suites will get away with. CEO salaries are already too high--what else can they get away with?

Sent from my iPhone

Rebecca Dupuy — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Rebecca Dupuy Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My name is Rebecca Dupuy. I am a supply chain executive in Memphis Tennessee working for a large public company. Moving from quarterly to semiannual reporting would be a reckless mistake and a direct threat to investor confidence. We already lived under semiannual reporting from 1955 to 1970, and the SEC moved to quarterly reporting because markets needed faster, clearer, and more reliable disclosure. That shift helped reduce information risk and lower the cost of capital for U.S. companies. Reversing it now would take us back toward a darker, less transparent market structure where insiders know more, ordinary investors know less, and bad news builds for six months before exploding into stock prices. In a fragile market, that loss of trust could trigger severe volatility and a major selloff, including a large stock market crash. Public markets run on transparency; semiannual reporting weakens the foundation of the entire economy. Please do not allow this proposal to move forward. Stay on the right side of history.

Sincerely, Rebecca Dupuy

Rebecca Fleischman — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Rebecca Fleischman Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Rebecca Fleischman retired.
By increasing the time frame to six months you are encouraging corruption. This country does not need more corruption

Rebecca Fry — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Rebecca Fry Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Rebecca Fry School bus driver
Spouse is a retired UAW employee
None of us wants corporations to hide how they invest our money. Please do not end quarterly reporting. It sure would seem to current government is working to destroy the average American's ability to live decently, and for what purpose? Who's pockets is this lining? Yours? Sure makes me wonder.

Rebecca Jones — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Rebecca Jones Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Do not change to reporting/reviewing every 6 months. As a taxpayer, I will lose. I worked, saved and invested for 49 work years. Enough is enough.

Get Outlook for iOS

Rebecca Kramer — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Rebecca Kramer Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I've never earned a lot of money, but I've been saving for my retirement since my 20s. Like other small investors, I need the accountability and transparency from quarterly reports. Keep the current reporting schedule.
Rebecca Kramer, Washington state

Sent from my iPhone

Rebecca M — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Rebecca M Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Rebecca May, former Dept. of Treasury employee. SEC, please do not allow this change. It is not a big burden on companies to report quarterly.

Rebecca Odum — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Rebecca Odum Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 In this age of rapid information, being able to make decisions about investments based on reliable current information is critical. Past experience shows that more risk and danger is involved when reporting is delayed. As I look to potential retirement in the coming years, that risk is unacceptable. I have worked my entire life to be able to retire comfortably. This change could wipe out a significant portion of my savings. Keep the reporting quarterly. Stop taking us backwards.

Rebecca Odum, Chief Strategy Officer, Elkridge, MD

Sent from my iPhone

Rebecca Taylor — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Rebecca Taylor Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Enough with underhanded methods to fleece "people"! That's right, families otherwise known as the "future" won't stand for loopholes by companies hedging their prosperity. You can't take it ALL & depriving people of a fair market is UNETHICAL! Be careful, karma can be vicious.

Rebecca Trgovac — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Rebecca Trgovac Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the quarterly reporting!!! Helps for better management of portfolios

---

Rebecca Wingard — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Rebecca Wingard Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
This decision is wrong and will be detrimental to Americans. Why are you working to hurt the citizens of this country? Why?

Rebekah Neumann — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Rebekah Neumann Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
I value transparency and being able to review timely information regarding investments. Please don't let companies move to biannual reporting.

Reeda Squires — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Reeda Squires Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 It should be monthly !!

Regina Heilman-Ryan — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Regina Heilman-Ryan Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I do not want to go back to 1950's for reporting. I want quarterly reporting
I am retired and my saving are critical to how I live my life.

Regina Heilman-Ryan

Regina Marubio — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Regina Marubio Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission: this is outrageous. You are proposing something that protects corruption by the few at the expense of many. Do not allow public companies to hide vital information.

Regina satterfield — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Regina satterfield Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This is a horrible return to Enron and beyond. Changing the reporting is just an excuse for steali)g from clients

Sent from my iPad

---

remi The Motley Fool Community — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: remi Hello from Canada. I'm currently an investor in the US market, the quarterly reports greatly help me make decisions in regards to understanding where the businesses I'm invested in are going. Having the reports be made quarterly definitely helps me make an educated decision which would greatly suffer if businesses are allowed to switch to semiannual reports. The opacity entailed would make me rethink my US positions entirely. Please do not proceed with this change! Have a nice day!

Renae H — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Renae H Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Why is less transparency even being considered? That just opens the door to more fraud and corruption. This idea smells stinky. Who benefits from this proposed change? That should be looked into.
Renae
Admin Assistant

Rene Baudais — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Rene Baudais Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Quarterly disclosures are a must for myself, we need your help no. w

---

Renee LaGamba — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Renee LaGamba Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Renee LaGamba, Talent Operations, Transparency and accountability are crucial and deserved. We insist upon it staying quarterly.

Sent from my iPhone

Renee Scorsone and Chris Miller — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Renee Scorsone and Chris Miller Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Nope. This was changed to quarterly for a reason. Should be monthly. Do not make this change that would negatively impact any small investor. Just leave it alone.

Signed one already stressed citizen.

Sent from my iPhone

Renita Irvin — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Renita Irvin Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly, it works!

Sent from my iPhone

Rev. Christine Green — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Rev. Christine Green Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This is a terrible idea that promotes fraud. Christine Green,counselor

---

Rex Brower — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Rex Brower Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Leave it the way it is or make it monthly

---

Rex Tindell — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Rex Tindell Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Do the right thing for the people all the people 💯

Sent from my T-Mobile 5G Device
Get Outlook for Android

Rex Ward Sanders — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Rex Ward Sanders Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 You have to be kidding regarding changing the corporations reporting period from quarterly to semi annual! Look at the historical records and you will see this to be a bad change for every person that has money invested. Stand up for the people, not the corporations.

Rex W. Sanders

Rhea Pruett — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Rhea Pruett Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I am a retired Veteran and US citizen who understands the importance of accountability and validity of accurate information. This is best done with regular reviews. With today's tools validation of marketing information could be monthly but it needs to remain at least quarterly. Investment information must be transparent. Do not change the current process. Thank you. Rhea Pruett. Caledonia, MI.

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Rhonda Cabello — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Rhonda Cabello Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I think this is a horrible idea for everyday investors and their retirement accounts. This only benefits corporate insiders. We rely on quarterly reporting to make decisions regarding our accounts.

Rhonda Jahn — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Rhonda Jahn Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep it QUARTERLY don't give corporations 6 months to hide fraud, waste, losses from investors. Thank You

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Rhonda McKinney — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Rhonda McKinney Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Rhonda McKinney - Quarterlt reporting is necessary fir transparency & to protect the millions of citizen forced to put money in the market for retirement.

Rhonda Valdez — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Rhonda Valdez Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Absolutely absurd! Do you not understand what “public traded” means??? It’s public- and anyone in the public can view it!! Your companies chose this path! Now fulfill your decision. Or is it just that you want MONEY without answering to those you finance you! #Cowards SEC owes US!!

Rhonda Valdez
Lakewood, CO
Zip Code 80227

~Rhonda
“Live out of your abundance not out of your scarcity”

Rhonda Waller — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Rhonda Waller Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 It's our money and we have a right to the most updated information possible and Quarterly statements, at a minimum are needed.
Less reporting means less scrutiny and information and leave greater chances of loss for the consumer and we have a right to be updated about our money. With the technology that exists there is no reason to have less information. If anything, we should have more. How does one gauge how their money is doing and continue to mange their money most efficiently with less quarterly reports? As a senior citizen, I need my money invested in the most stable funds possible and quarterly statements are paramount to ensuring that this is done with the ability to see growth or loss in a timely manner.
Thank you in advance for your consideration.

Best Regards,
Ms. Rhonda Waller

Ric Denn — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Ric Denn Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Ric Denn CEO CHI
This is just theft from investors plain and simple. No changes to current reporting needed, I vote NO

Ric Denn

Ricard Herder — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Ricard Herder Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is essential!

Get Outlook for iOS

Ricardo Gomez — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Ricardo Gomez Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
This rule change will stack the cards even further against every day American investors. The rich and powerful have access to information about companies in just about real-time, and the SEC already fails to address insider trading by the rich and powerful. These changes all but declare that the role of the SEC is to enrich the already powerful at the expense of everday Americans. These changes will also likely have unintended consequences that will harm the American economy and its role internationally.

Rich Arsenault — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Rich Arsenault Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please keep the quarterly reports.

Companies commit fraud and this keeps checks and balances known.

Richard Arsenault
Massachusetts

Rich Holleran — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Rich Holleran Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This is a bad idea. Investors need to know about performance. This will discourage people from putting money in. I know I will seek other opportunities for my funds if this passes.

Sent from my iPhone

Rich Pipito — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Rich Pipito Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 How will this be better for the average working investor. What benefits will my modest portfolio realize.

RICHARD AULICINO — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: RICHARD AULICINO Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 DO UR JOB AND PROTECT THE CITIZENS OF AMERICA!! KEEP THE 3MONTH!!

Sent from my iPhone

Richard Bailey — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Richard Bailey Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Retain the quarterly reporting requirement.

Sent from my iPhone

Richard Belson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Richard Belson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Dropping quarterly reporting is just plain dumb. It provides no advantage to any one except to companies trying to hide something from their investors. This is an incredibly unintelligent thing to do.
Richard Belson, private investor

Richard Burk — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Richard Burk Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Imagine a teacher telling you that you'll only get two report cards for the entire school year. Sounds great at first, right? You could hide a failed math test in October, and your parents wouldn't find out until the snow melts in January! But big companies aren't kids, and when they hide their "grades," everyday people lose real money. Right now, some leaders in Washington want to let big companies share their financial report cards just twice a year instead of four times. This is a terrible idea. Keeping a close eye on companies every three months protects our money, keeps the stock market safe, and ensures the big bosses are telling the truth.

History shows us exactly what happens when we turn off the lights. America actually tried this "twice-a-year" experiment between 1955 and 1970, and it went horribly. Stock market returns basically froze in ice, and company values dropped like a rock. If we look at the world today, countries that allow companies to only report twice a year—like the United Kingdom and Spain—have much lower market values than the United States. When investors get left in the dark for six months, they get nervous, and nervous investors don't buy stocks. Quarterly reports give investors the confidence to keep the American economy growing.

Furthermore, six months is way too long to hide a giant mess under the rug. When a company is doing badly, half a year gives that bad news plenty of time to grow into a financial monster. By the time the public finally finds out, the company could be completely ruined, leaving ordinary people with half their savings wiped out overnight. Plus, when companies go silent, the big-shot corporate insiders and billionaires still find ways to sneak peeks at the numbers. Regular people who are saving for retirement are the only ones left guessing in the dark.
If reporting four times a year makes our stock market great, imagine how incredible it would be if we moved to monthly reporting! More information is always better. In fact, way back in the 1860s, American railroads used to share their earnings every single month, and it helped power the country's huge growth. If we got updates every month, there would never be any scary surprises. Investors could make smart choices instantly, markets would run smoother, and crooked companies wouldn't have a single month to hide their tricks.

Even the world's most famous billionaire investor, Warren Buffett, has said he loves getting corporate figures quarterly and hopes it stays that way. The powers that be should listen to the experts and history: do not let corporations dim the lights and hide their homework. We need to mandate quarterly reporting to keep our economy strong—and honestly, pushing for monthly reports would make the financial world even brighter, safer, and fairer for everyone.

Sincerely,

Richard Burk

Richard C. Holder — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Richard C. Holder Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please keep the current quarterly reporting requirements in place. Timely disclosure of financial information helps protect retail investors and promotes transparency in the markets.
Moving to six-month reporting periods would reduce accountability and could give insiders an advantage over ordinary investors. The current system strikes an appropriate balance between transparency and reporting burden. Thank you for considering my comment.
Carl Holder
Retired

R.C.Holder 🦬

Sent from Proton Mail for iOS.

Richard Fehn — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Richard Fehn Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 It is critical that the investor know how their investment is doing. There is NO reason to change the current procedure except to keep the information from the investor. In today's world things happen over night or hourly that can affect the consumer. KNOWLEDGE IS POWER!

Richard Fehn

Richard Fichter — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Richard Fichter Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep it at every 3 months. QUARTLY.

Richard Naumoff — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Richard Naumoff Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This does not work, bad idea, do not allow…

Sent from my iPhone

Richard Owens — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Richard Owens Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I want quarterly's.

Sent from my iPhone

---

richard pacheco — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: richard pacheco Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 You buy a house; you need legal disclosures and title investigation/insurance. You get surgery you have right to look up doctors & hospitals. You get new meds: right to see FDA reports. Companies should have fiduciary rights to disclose and not hide their books. Why would anyone trust your exchange?

Richard Saliba — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Richard Saliba Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep it. Simple as that!

Sent from my iPhone

RICHARD SAUNDERS — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: RICHARD SAUNDERS Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please do not revert back to a longer time period between reports. We need this information quarterly.

Sent from AT&T Yahoo Mail on Android

Richard Warren — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Richard Warren Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 The object, purpose and sole justification for governmental regulation of investment securities is to ensure that entities seeking investments from the public "level the playing field," giving all investors, large and small, the same information about their operations and holdings. A rule that allows capitalized entities to furnish one or a limited class of investors information that is not shared with other investors or potential investors defeats that purpose, eroding public confidence in the responsible agency and in the value of governmental regulation generally. I invoke the public trust you sought and swore to uphold in urging you to reject this modification of the rules. My name is Richard Warren, I am a retired state judge and living off a pension fund to which I contributed over the decades of my employment and the investments I made during that period. This matters to me because I depend on timely and accurate information of the nature found in quarterly filings, for making decisions about my investments.

Richard Wratchford — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Richard Wratchford Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Companies should have to show their employees the books and give them a certified itemized form showing all their expenses at least once a year

Get Outlook for iOS

Rick — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Rick Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Even considering this, tells a lot about the SEC! The people of this country are the reason for your success, don’t screw us over!

Sent from my iPhone

Rick Bennett — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Rick Bennett Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We learned what happens when we do this sort of thing back in 1929. As such we changed the law and the reporting requirements to protect everyone from the abuse of greedy criminals who were stealing from us using pens and papers in corporations. Don’t be stupid. Do not reverse this law. The law was written because we had gone through the great depression and we learned what happens when people steal, using pens and paper instead of guns.

Oh, and we shouldn’t allow people to steal using guns either.

Sent from my iPhone

Rick Blake — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Rick Blake Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I've worked for 4 large corporations and saw directly that reporting had a direct and favorable impact on the decisions being made. Yes, there will be efficiencies gained from less reporting but also less accountability for decisions being made. I haven't heard anything that suggests the tradeoff is good for investors or the public.

Rick Bosak — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Rick Bosak Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I want to keep quarterly reports. This is an effort by the billionaires to take unfair advantage of small investors. This is greed personified.

Rick Breuer — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Rick Breuer Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Stop the steal

Sent from my iPhone

Rick Evey — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Rick Evey Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Leave it at quarterly! The corporations are looking for less oversight.

Rick E.

---

rick fisher — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: rick fisher Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly

---

Rick Floreani — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Rick Floreani Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I worked in finance for 30 years. We need more frequency and transparency from companies, not less. The public needs to know this data far more quickly than 6 months. This will reduce trust in the financial system. Do not reduce reporting requirements or frequency.

Ricky Schultz — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Ricky Schultz Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is essential. There are too few people with far too much money.

Sent from my Verizon, Samsung Galaxy smartphone
Get Outlook for Android

Ricky Vincent — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Ricky Vincent Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Shell companies buying dirt cheap when they know the minerals are worth millions.

Riley Tuhoski — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Riley Tuhoski Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 NO! We The People want to keep it QUARTERLY!!!!! That's an ORDER!!!!

Sent from my iPhone

Riley Tuhoski — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Riley Tuhoski Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep this Quarterly!!! The average working person has enough burden without this B.S.!!!!

Sent from my iPhone

Rinah Fernandez-Vasquez — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Rinah Fernandez-Vasquez Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:Transparency is essential!

Rita Butzer — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Rita Butzer Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 It is not hard for companies to report quarterly. What is hard is for individuals to assess how their investments are doing without quarterly reports. Keep quarterly reports!

Rita Butzer
Belmont, MA

Sent from my iPhone

Rita Hand — Jun 18, 2026

Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Rita Hand Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Why? Why is this even under discussion? People depend on this information and especially small investors like me depend on it. What is the purpose? Is it to save money for big companies so they can save $$ on preparing two less reports a year? Come on! Seriously now, with AI in use by all big companies, it really costs that much more to prepare those two reports that you are trying to take away??? Two quarterly reports a year? Like they're not making enough money as it is? Nothing like government for the rich oligarchs.
No, I imagine the real reason is so the wealthy and "connected" can have even more insider trading than goes on presently!
Rita Hand, Retired Teacher,
Yonkers Public Schools, New York

Sent from my iPhone

Rita Hand — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Rita Hand Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Why? I depend on this information. But you, the SEC, want to help companies save money by preparing two less reports a year? Can it really cost that much?
No, the real reason must be so the wealthy and connected can have the opportunity for even more insider trading than goes on now! And way less oversight to monitor problems.

John Hand, Retired NYC Firefighter,
New York, New York

Sent from my iPhone

Rita Payne — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Rita Payne Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I think it is not good for investors. Please quash this while we can.

Rita Payne

Rita Scanio — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Rita Scanio Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 KEEP THE REPORTING QUARTERLY. Corporations have proven they cannot be trusted to do the right thing. if they have major changes in their bottom line in a six month period and don't have to report quarterly, many, many people's portfolios would be damaged.

Sent from my iPhone

Rita Sesko — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Rita Sesko Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep quarry reporting!

Protect the 99%, not the 1%.

Rita Smith — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Rita Smith Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Looking for another banking collapse?

Sent from my iPhone

River Song — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: River Song Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Monthly reporting would be the ideal, but anything LESS than quarterly would be a complete and total, hardline, "NO!".

RJ Binkowski — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: RJ Binkowski Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Dialing back transparency and regulation in the business marketplace from quarterly to semi-annual reporting is almost assuredly an indication of the times that we are living in, as well as the vision of dults and fools. Why would concerted effort be made to destroy a proven safeguard to most citizens in the past 50+ years (unless it benefited a lesser amount of corporate interests)?

In these times, additional safeguards and watchdog groups are warranted provided the piss-poor judgment of this administration, increased practice of prostitution of public office, and the dereliction of duties for the common person that these oversights are meant to serve.

Raymond Binkowski Jr, LMSW
Brookfield, CT

Ro Durrstein-Robichaud — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Ro Durrstein-Robichaud Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Save quarterly reporting.
We the people need to know what is going on behind closed doors with our investments. Enron ruined my best friends life through the greed and self dealing. He still has ptsd because of it. We are done with the MASSIVE CORRUPTION in govt.

Namaste

Roseann

Roadrunner Account — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Roadrunner Account Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Investors receive quarterly reports so companies are fully capable of reporting quarterly. Why should they reduce their reports to the S.E.C.?

Sent from my iPhone

Rob — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Rob Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I am a retired IBM engineer and I manage my own financial portfolio which includes several individual stocks. I need to know quaterly results of those stocks including the companies outlook for the future. Cutting that in half is detrimental to individual investors.

Sent from my iPad

Rob Connolly The Motley Fool Community — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Rob Connolly I strong oppose this proposal. Getting quarterly reports on companies that I invest in or are considering investing in is very valuable to me. I depend on the quarterly report and the commentary about the reports that I get from the Motley Fool, CNBC, Bloomberg News and others. Getting only two reports annually would be a significant decrease in information to me. I need to know how the companies that I invest in are doing.

---

rob Lazarus — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: rob Lazarus Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Don’t make crimes more accessible. I was a career regulator / compliance officer. This is a BAD idea.

Rob

Rob SanCartier — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Rob SanCartier Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 GET CHEAPER FUEL / F THE REST

Robbie 🇺🇸 — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Robbie 🇺🇸 Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
If it's about my business. It's on a need-to-know basis.
We need to know.

Robert Allen — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Robert Allen Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 keep this quaterly the people have suffered enough under nazi trumps rule,in fact trump should be impeached an his entire cabinet replaced with humans not maga *tards

---

Robert Azar — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Robert Azar Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Robert Azar retired with investments. I do not understand, has the sec's agenda taken a wrong turn Absolutely keep at quarterly.
I find odd that a survey is needed, when you already know the answer.
Am I angry? Yes
Am I educated? No
Although I do have a bit of common sense.

Robert Bensley — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Robert Bensley Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Less accountability breeds no accountability.

Best regards,

Robert

Robert Bensley
617-299-6056

Robert Cannon — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Robert Cannon Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Just another way for the cheaters to cheat even more. Keep the quarterly reporting.

Sent from Bob's iPhone

Robert Chipman — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Robert Chipman Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Robert, 67 years old. Retired
Rather than go to 6 month reporting, please report every month! There is no reason with today's technology that even a weekly report would be difficult to produce. Keeping your investors informed by being transparent is key to the success of those investors and the market as a whole!

Robert Duncan — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Robert Duncan Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep it as it is..Its hard enough without messing with it and making it even harder on regular people. We don't get insider trading passes like the Goverment. Robert Duncan , Armed Security
Retired, Ohio

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Robert Farrow — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Robert Farrow Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 SEC WTF dont we have enough fraud abuse and mis appropriation? Just leave it quarterly so we know!

Robert Finnan — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Robert Finnan Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We all know corporations will take advantage in order to make more money. Keep them honest. Keep the quarterly reporting.

Reguards,
Deanna Finnan

Robert Geyer — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Robert Geyer As an individual investor, I rely on quarterly 10-Q filings to make informed decisions about my portfolio. These reports provide audited, legally certified information that voluntary corporate communications simply cannot replace. Reducing filing frequency to semi-annual would cut in half the verified financial data available to retail investors like me — precisely the investors who own the majority of shares in smaller public companies most likely to adopt the new option. I urge the Commission to reject this proposal and preserve the investor protections that quarterly reporting provides.

Robert H Mitchell — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Robert H Mitchell Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the quarterly report requirements

Robert 'QualityBob' Mitchell

Robert Hamblin — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Robert Hamblin Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
My livelihood is based on my quarterly information from those disclosures. Please 🙏 stop what your thinking.

Robert Hanger — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Robert Hanger Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 S7-2026 should not be passed.

Robert Head — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Robert Head Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Robert Head, pharmacist, Paris, TN. Quarterly reporting keeps the process transparent and less likely to have fraud. CEOs and boards should be held accountable.

Robert Helmbold — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Robert Helmbold Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 R. Helmbold, Retired, If possible the reporting should be done more often rather than less. Certainly do not increase the time. Us retires certainly do not need more risk to our retirement.

Robert Jr Neri — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Robert Jr Neri Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My name is Robert Neri, publisher, entrepreneur, and writer. Keep the financial reporting quarterly, allowing companies to hide their financials for half a year, will be disastrous. Allowing companies to make revelations every six months will cause massive market volatility, not just in stocks, but in the actual marketplace, facilitating price manipulation and outright theft from both customers and shareholders.

Robert Kent Smith — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Robert Kent Smith Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the quarterly reports. Numbers don't lie. There has to be an ulterior motive for this to even be suggested. Which will result in the general public getting screwed again. As usual.

Robert M Vellios — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Robert M Vellios I've been a member of The Motley Fool Community fora good amount of time. I'm 100% NOT behind allowing companies to have the option of reporting twice yearly versus quarterly. This is not a money savings opportunity to improve their bottom line, it's a minuscule amount of effort that has become highly standardized. My son's father-in-law did these reports for dozens of companies for decades remotely. Not everyone wants to have in-house teams doing this. As a retired VP of finance for a large silicon valley chip maker, he knew what was involved and kept himself busy in his golden years. So what's the benefit to a company to report twice a year? None. What's the downside? Lack of accountability QUARTERLY and less information for an investor like me to make informed investment choices. Please do not let this proposal pass, it will only create a lack of valuable quarterly information that we need to make informed decisions.

Robert McLaughlin — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Robert McLaughlin I am writing to oppose the relaxation of the current mandatory quarterly reporting requirements. The information provided by subject businesses is critical for the individual retail investor who needs to understand the health of the underlying business and to assess potential future investment risks. As you are aware, the rapid infusion of AI into our daily lives is changing our society in ways we can't even begin to predict. And the rate at which AI is improving is accelerating. So the rate at which society will change will also accelerate. Advances in technology have the potential to obliterate long-standing business moats seemingly overnight. This will have major impacts to virtually all businesses listed in the public markets. As such, it is critical that the existing quarterly reporting for all businesses be retained.

Robert Miller — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Robert Miller Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To whom it may concern,

You all know why the quarterly reports were put in place. Do not extend the company fiscal reporting to semi-annual!
Bad policy!!! Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Robert Miller

Robert Mills — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Robert Mills Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I see no hardship on companies to continue quarterly reporting. We all provide reports to companies daily, weekly, monthly, quarterly, annually and more.
It is important that companies today continue reporting quarterly as a minimum such that if problems arise, they can be dealt with in a timely manner.
Thank you.

Robert Poe — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Robert Poe Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This country needs all the transparency it can possibly get!

ROBERT POTTER — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: ROBERT POTTER Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I oppose removal of the requirement established for quarterly reporting of statements to the SEC by corporate executives. This does not create a burden to these individuals unless they are concerned of committing fraud, for which this requirement was established in the first place.

Robert Potter

Robert Ramirez — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Robert Ramirez Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Republicans still suppressin g the little investors, denying information to make decisions on their funds.

Robert Ramirez — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Robert Ramirez Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 More republicans attempts to screw the little guy denying current information to make decisions.

---

robert rich — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: robert rich Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To Whom It May Concern:

Retired Citizens want quarterly reporting to continue. It is one of the regulatory features that helped us build (and keep) our retirement savings throughout the 80s, 90s, 2000s, 2010s, and 2020s. We had enough troubles with the 2008 real estate collapse - we don't need any less regulation. KEEP REPORTING QUARTERLY! Having spent 30 years working with sales staff in networking and security, I know the quarterly numbers game. Is it a pain the ass? Yes. Is it preferable to less reporting? NO! We want our corporations accountable to the SEC, their employees, and US Stockholders. We are watching this closely and we Vote.
-Robert Rich - Retiree

Robert Roark — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Robert Roark Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 The one true thing Trump said in his first campaign; about the Stock Market was...."It's Rigged!"
Now he's all for rigging it for his family and friends, and the Billionaire Boys Club.
Let's keep it Quarterly, for appearance sake, at least...

Robert Roark
415-895-0088

www.bambooisgrass.com

Robert Seiffert — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Robert Seiffert Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
We all deserve a chance to make something out of ourselves in this lifetime. Be transparent! Stop being a bunch of shills.

Robert Spradley — Jun 18, 2026

Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Robert Spradley Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Robert Spradley, retired small business man. Shamrock, Texas. The Enron scam let the guilty parties off too lightly. If anything, the oversight on corporations should be tightened and expanded People lost their life-savings due to lax oversight and corporate mismanagement. I don't support making the rules easier to break so the risk of corruption and the temptation for exploitation is greater. I personally knew someone who lost a great deal of their life-savings in the Enron stockholders scam. Thanks. Do the right thing!

Robert Strickland — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Robert Strickland Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Robert Strickland, Disabled, NY State Resident. Keep reporting required quarterly. Semi-annual reporting means less transparency. Less transparency means trouble for the markets. Trouble for the markets means trouble for my savings. I cannot afford, especially right now with all of the economic struggles we are facing, to have my savings wiped out because of a rule change. There is no good reason to risk the negatives. The numbers from 1955 to 1970 show this to be a bad idea. I DO NOT SUPPORT THE CHANGE. KEEP IT QUARTERLY.

Sincerely,

Robert T Strickland Jr

Robert T Gilbert — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Robert T Gilbert comments attached: we need to leave it alone no changes make it harder to invest

---

Robert Turnier — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Robert Turnier Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 the SEC's proposal to eliminate the quarterly reporting will give way to companies who want to hide bad quarter from the public and potentially cost investors millions of dollars when bad results are posted.

Roberta Gustafson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Roberta Gustafson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Roberta Gustafson, retired
I am for quarterly reporting. My savings are important to my financial success. Transparency via quarterly reporting is essential.

Sent from my iPhone

Roberta LaMonica — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Roberta LaMonica Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Retired people cannot afford to loose their incomes. Especially with threats to decrease social security.

Roberta Sadlier — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Roberta Sadlier Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Why on earth would we consider turning back the clock on corporate transparency? Quarterly reporting gives investors timely information and helps keep public companies accountable. Moving to semi-annual reporting would reduce transparency, increase uncertainty, and leave investors in the dark for much longer periods. As a semi-retired American who has spent decades working, saving, and investing responsibly, I am deeply concerned about any proposal that would make it harder for investors to make informed decisions. Many retirees depend on the value of their investments to fund their daily lives, and less frequent reporting could lead to greater volatility, less confidence in the markets, and reduced protection for ordinary investors. Please do not experiment with the hard-earned savings of millions of Americans. Strong, transparent financial reporting is one of the reasons U.S. markets are trusted around the world. Weakening those standards would be a step in the wrong direction. Thank you for your consideration. Roberta Sadlier Semi-Retired Investor Lowell, Massachusetts & Naples, Florida

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Roberto Rangel CEO Manufacturing Plant — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Roberto Rangel Investors require frequent information to make decisions. Companies should continue to report on a quarterly basis.

Robin Chadwick — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Robin Chadwick Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep quarterly reports

Sent from my iPhone

Robin Chadwick — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Robin Chadwick Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep quarterly reports

Sent from my iPhone

Robin Clark — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Robin Clark Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
We need transparency on this. The more we see and know, the better. 6 months is too long to be in the dark!

Thanks!
Robin Clark

Robin Danek — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Robin Danek Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Reporting for public companies must remain quarterly. Every six months is not enough time to monitor and strategize investing.

Robin Danek

Robin Faison — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Robin Faison Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Stop worrying about the big guys and worry about us regular people! Stop robbing us the make the rich richer and then tell the masses to deal with it! Follow and make common sense laws for all not just the tregular people

Sent from my iPhone

Robin Ford — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Robin Ford Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 No one is above the law the law. Follow it or go to prison . Be a honest person and do what is asked . That is what the workers do.

Get Outlook for iOS

Robin Hausman — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Robin Hausman Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 SEC should co;ntinue to require companies to report their finances every 3 months and not change it to every 6 months. Less frequent reporting saves very little money for the companies, leaves investors in the dark for too long and encourages fraud.

Robin Hausman
Email: rghausman@msn.com
Zip code: 15236

Sent from my iPad

Robin Kim — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Robin Kim Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is core to the practice of investing. If gone, I'm taking all of my money out of the market. The executives can play with each other like the perverts they are often revealed to be.

Sent from my iPhone

Robin Krueger-Caton — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Robin Krueger-Caton Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Im an investor. Sarbanes-Oxley was put in place to protect average people like me. Please don't take away 2 of the certifications by CEOs and CFOs that keep them honest and me safe from those who might otherwise escape accountability for scamming me. Thank you.

Get Outlook for Android

Robin Robbins — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Robin Robbins Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
You need to not stop quarterly reporting. We need these reports.

Robin Stanford — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Robin Stanford Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Retired. Administrative Asst. Ive worked for more 45 years and Now I need My savings. It's Mine. Not the Govts. Nor Wall Streets. Robin Stanford.

Robin Stanford — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Robin Stanford Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
My money is My money Not yours. I worked 45 years for my savings. Keep it where I can see it. LEAVE IT ALONE.

Robin Stanford — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Robin Stanford Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 ROBIN STANFORD. ITS MY MONEY I EARNED FRON 45 YEARS OF WORK. ITS NOT YOURS.

Robin Urban — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Robin Urban Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Do not allow CEO off the hook for violations

---

Robyn Dodd — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Robyn Dodd Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Robyn Dodd, Retired

Realtor

I like to be informed and believe that your quarterly reports keep me in the know of trends. You do have a fiscal responsibility to the people. After all, it’s our money that keeps the wheel greased.

Thank you for your time and consideration.

Sent from Robyn

Rochele Anderson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Rochele Anderson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I'm a retired person living off money I've invested after a lifetime of saving. Reducing reporting to biannual from quarterly puts me at a disadvantage as an individual compared to institutional & government investors and makes the so-called "free market" not truly free.

Rochelle Kornegay — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Rochelle Kornegay Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep quqrterly reporting, keep things honest!

Rodger Viger — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Rodger Viger Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Always oversight

---

rodney lankford — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: rodney lankford Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 The quarterly reporting is a must to keep some CEO's honest, sorry for the others but we investers need to know they are being watched.

Sent from AT&T Yahoo Mail on Android

Rogenia Vandivier — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Rogenia Vandivier Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarter found this kind of trouble would be worse if it were longer

---

Roger J — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Roger J Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 With the pervasion of financial fraud in public companies that has accelerated over the past three decades, from Madoff, Enron and Worldcom to Theranos, Bankman-Fried and the Trump Organization, and many in between, it is even more important that public transparency be constant. Transparency becomes essential in a digital and crypto world of offshore banks and shell corporations, where transactions are shrouded by intent. The audited quarterly report MUST NOT BE DISCONTINUED.

Roger Jollis
Trustee
SLJSN Trust

Roger Pilkenton — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Roger Pilkenton Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Accountability is a human quality that, like many others, seems to be declining in business, politics, and personal lives as well. Keep the quarterly reporting. We don't need another excuse to devise, lie, and/or cheat!

Roger Tarrant — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Roger Tarrant We need more information, not less.

Roland Soós — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Roland Soós Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Re: File No. S7-2026-15 — Semiannual Reporting (Release No. 33-11414)

To the Securities and Exchange Commission:

I am an individual investor — an engineering manager at a public company, with savings in a 401(k) and self-managed brokerage accounts — and I rely on quarterly filings to monitor my holdings. I write to oppose the proposal to let public companies file semiannual reports on Form 10-S in lieu of quarterly reports on Form 10-Q, and I urge the Commission not to adopt it.

1. Six months in the dark. Failed launches, mounting debt, litigation, customer losses — a lot can go wrong in half a year. Doubling the reporting gap also lengthens insider blackout windows and gives management more discretion over when news comes out, leaving ample time to sell before bad news reaches investors.

2. More room for fraud. Enron, WorldCom, Madoff, 2008 — all enabled by disclosure gaps. Quarterly filings don’t prevent fraud, but they limit how long it can hide. This proposal doubles that window.

3. The 8-K fallback is weaker than it sounds. The Commission expects many issuers to keep releasing quarterly numbers voluntarily — but furnished earnings releases don’t carry the same liability, completeness standards, or auditor review as a filed 10-Q. The safety valve is legally flimsier than what it replaces.

4. It widens the gap between institutions and retail. Large investors have management access, expert networks, and alternative data. Retail relies on the public filing. Halving public reporting deepens that asymmetry — and hits hardest at the smaller companies most likely to opt in, where retail is most exposed.

5. “Optional” won’t stay optional. Once large issuers file twice a year, smaller ones face pressure to match and expectations reset. The voluntary framing won’t hold in practice.

6. Small savings, paid by investors. Companies still keep books and brief boards; the only savings are modest fees that flow to issuers and executives. The cost of staler information falls on ordinary investors' 401(k)s and brokerage accounts. A bad trade.

Please preserve mandatory quarterly reporting.

Respectfully submitted,
Roland Soos

Rollin White — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Rollin White Quarterly reporting protects individual investors. Semiannual reporting doubles the information gap between insiders and ordinary shareholders. That gap is where volatility, uncertainty, and mistrust grow. The short-termism diagnosis doesn't justify this remedy. Research from the CFA Institute, which studied this exact maneuver in the U.K. market, shows that reporting frequency has no measurable effect on corporate investment behavior. The SEC is accepting a real cost – less transparency for individual investors – for a benefit that the evidence says simply won't materialize. The companies most likely to opt out are the ones where oversight matters most. Smaller, less-covered businesses operate with less scrutiny. Reducing their reporting requirements makes them harder to monitor, not easier to own. This is the wrong direction. Reg FD moved toward a more level playing field. This proposal moves away from it.

Rolston Dyer — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Rolston Dyer Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Why when insider trading is at an all time high would cutting outsiders information off make sense? As a young guy trying to get into the market this rule change helps the guys who have been playing the game longer and create an ecosystem that doesn't let smart investors perform at the best. Please keep quarterly reports mandatory.

Ron — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Ron Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I'm retired and busted my ass for years to be able to retire. I don't want these leaches to cook the books and steal my hard earned money. I say make them report monthly.

Ron Dockendorff — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Ron Dockendorff We individual investors need quarterly reporting to make our financial decisions .

Ron Esteppe — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Ron Esteppe Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the reporting quarterly... don't support this plan! Big business will be able to hide money and insiders will have unfair advantages. Ron Esteppe, CMDCM, USN (Ret)

Ron Hedric — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Ron Hedric Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Don’t do it

Sent from my iPhone

Ron J. Miller — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Ron J. Miller Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Corporations need to remain more transparent to maintain their integrity so stockholders and the public at large need to continue to see their financials at least on a quarterly basis. This is best for every investor and a deterrent for fraudulent activities that would otherwise become more prevent. It would be catastrophic to go to the proposed reporting of only two times a year. Investors will lose faith in the system and pull their money out of the stock and bond markets.

Ron J. Miller
Asheville NC

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Ron Pack — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Ron Pack Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This keeps companies honest. Failure to maintain quarterly reporting provides too much opportunity to hide what is really going on until too late.

Get Outlook for iOS

Ron Wilson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Ron Wilson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This change will benefit CFO's, CEO's and other "insiders", at the expense of the common stock holders, by withholding from them the actual financial health of a business entity!!!

Ronald Benoit — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Ronald Benoit Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 really? Don’t they have enough money?

Ron Benoit

Ronald Manshum — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Ronald Manshum Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the

Securities and Exchange Commission:
This rollback is BULL * and you know it! Stop trying to stack the deck even further with these shenanigans and backing these thieving wall street cocks just because they line your pockets along with theirs.
When the * do hard working Americans finally get a break and a fair fight?
Do your *ing job (correctly) and stop with the nonsense!

Thank you.

Ronda Moore — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Ronda Moore Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Everyone that investes in a company is taking a gamble with their money. Of course you know that. For some the loses don't really affect them they sell and move on. But for some of us taking a chance on a company could mean our financial goals for our future are never met. It means not having enough when we can no longer work. Having these reports on a quarterly basis gives us more time to mitigate our loses or invest more. The more informed we are is best for the individual investors and the companies that we invest in.
Thank You

Ronda Salazar — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Ronda Salazar Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is critical for investors. Monthly is even more ideal. With the state of the economy and ever-increasing changes in technology, quarterly reporting is vital to ensure businesses remain accountable to shareholders and investors and transparent in their actual earnings. This allows more expeditious reaction if a business is taking a downturn and needs quick changes to protect its assets.

Best regards,
Ronda Salazar
Cincinnati, OH

Ronny Maddox — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Ronny Maddox Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please keep the reporting quarterly for better transparency. Let’s keep things as they are.

Rory Macomber — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Rory Macomber Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep quarterly reports to eliminate corruption.

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Rosa Tilton — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Rosa Tilton Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
When something works for the masses of people, don't impede the progress. Investors are customers that desire to better life for themselves as you at the SEC Commission. Thank you for leaving things intact for all. God Yah blessings. Shalom.

Rosalind Sewell — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Rosalind Sewell Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Don't let my years of hard work amount to nothing, everything is going up and Social Security is not keeping up, it will be devastating to loose even more

Sent from my T-Mobile 5G Device
Get Outlook for Android

Rosalva Dean — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Rosalva Dean Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please protect retail and institutional investors from fraud by keeping quarterly reporting and insider trading blackout windows in tact.

Rosalva Dean

Rose Anne St. Romain — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Rose Anne St. Romain Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I am retired Rose. Quarterly reporting is more transparent than only twice a year. The latter will hide valuable information for taxpayers.

Rose Anne St. Romain

Rose Smith — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Rose Smith Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Rose, retired court reporter. This lack of quarterly reporting would be just one more avenue to corruption that we already see too much of these days. The positions of oversight are disappearing from our society in ways that we can’t even imagine how it will affect us, except we can expect that it’s negative and costly.

Sent from my iPhone

Rose T. Sullivan — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Rose T. Sullivan Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I fail to see why reports should even be once a quarter.

With the level of technology, and everyone's infatuation with AI, I believe corporations are capable of realtime reporting.

The LEAST we are entitled to -- given human nature and history -- are quarterly reports.

As I near retirement I am more concerned with the performance of my retirement accounts, require the ability to connect the dots more now than ever.

Let's not invite disaster.

Rose T. Sullivan
Mechanicsville, VA

Sent from Proton Mail for Android.

Rosemari kelly — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Rosemari kelly Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting s better for all investors, large and small. Those of us trying to do the right thing by saving deserve to know where companies stand financially.
Bill Kelly, Steelworker, Bsltimore.

Sent from my iPhone

Rosemarie LaTourette — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Rosemarie LaTourette Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 As a retired Accounting professional for corporations, non-profit and state agencies, reporting requirements must be kept on a quarterly basis. Too much time will pass on a six month schedule to properly complete oversight duties of the SEC.

Rosemary P. Costello — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Rosemary P. Costello Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We must have these reports. I demand we have these reports.

Rose Costello
Personal Assistant

Rosemary Rappa — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Rosemary Rappa Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is an essential part of investing in public companies. To expect that the general public should invest in equities without regular reporting is ridiculous. Quarterly reports are essential to public confidence.
Rosemary Rappa
Morgan Stanley client,
Baltimore, Maryland

Rosemary Saylor — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Rosemary Saylor Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Do these folks not remember Enron?

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Rosemary Wilson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Rosemary Wilson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We need to have more information, not less. Don’t give companies more opportunities to cheat us.

Sent from my iPhone

Rosetta Johnston — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Rosetta Johnston Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Rosetta Johnston, retired.
Quarterly reporting started to in order to protect investors, the little investor by holding the indisrty accountable. Trump's gifts to his wealthy friends myst stop. KEEP QUATERLY REPORTING. OUR GOVERNMMENT IS SUPPOSED TO PROTECT THE TAXPAYER, NIT REWARD THE WEALTHY AMONG US.

Ross Dowdy — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Ross Dowdy Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 And what is wrong with accountability? That’s one of the things wrong in America today, not enough accountability, except for the working man! Ross Dowdy, Retired, Lindside WV, rossdowdy@icloud.com!

Sent from my iPad

Ross Fitts — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Ross Fitts Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To go backwards in current reporting rules seems ridiculous to me. It seems to me that this will be detrimental to small investors like me. Please do not change these rules.

Ross Kelly — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Ross Kelly Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep corporate sales data reporting quarterly, its already not granular enough information as it stands. We need more data, not less.

Take care,
Ross Kelly

Sent from my iPhone

Ross Loevy & Laurie Spinks Loevy — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Ross Loevy & Laurie Spinks Loevy Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 There is no upside to investors in changing reporting to make information slower and less transparent. Laurie Spinks Loevy, retired Trust Officer

---

Ross Reishus — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Ross Reishus Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting NEEDS TO STAY. STOP LINING YOUR OWN POCKETS and take care of your clients!

---

rowena kinchley — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: rowena kinchley Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I worked in the securities business for numerous years as a securities trader. Your vigilant oversight is needed now more than ever. As it is you are not catching all the crooks. People who have nothing to hide will thank you. A fairly regulated business helps everyone. I liked being part of an industry where crooks made the front page.

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Roxann Souci — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Roxann Souci Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Dear SEC Staff,
I respectfully oppose changing the reporting cadence from quarterly to every six months. More frequent reporting is better and safer for investors because it improves the timeliness, transparency, and accuracy of available information, reducing the risk that material adverse developments remain undisclosed for longer periods. Quarterly disclosures also enable earlier detection of performance deterioration, heightened uncertainty, and emerging risks, supporting more informed investment and voting decisions.
Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Roxann Souci
1577 Kachina Ridge Drive
Santa Fe, New Mexico

Roxanne Magana — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Roxanne Magana Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 .....

Roy Gardner — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Roy Gardner Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Roy Gardner, Customer Service Manager, I work for a publicly traded company. Quarterly reporting keeps me more informed on how the company is doing. No company should EVER be allowed to do less than quarterly reporting. Executive pay with the benefits already is out of touch with the day to day workers keeping the company running.

Roy Hippert — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Roy Hippert Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Good morning, Anything that stems the tidal wave of corruption and disregard for the law would be a good thing. Quarterly reporting sounds like a good start.
Regards,
Roy Hippert, M.Ed

ROY WARD — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: ROY WARD Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 As an investor it is critical to have timely information to make decisions. Crippling public access to information is just one more way to allow businesses a leg up in regards to informed decision making.

Sent from my iPhone

Ruby Kelly — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Ruby Kelly Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Ruby Kelly, business ow ner in Scottsdale AZ. I believe each person and business owner should be held to same standards.

Ruby Martin — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Ruby Martin Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 At least quarterly! STOP THE THEFT!

Sent from my iPhone

Ruby Reese — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Ruby Reese Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 You will NOT keep raping the citizens of this country! We will blow your pathetic * UP watch it burn & piss on your ashes! MONTHLY reporting! And STOP bailing these weasels out! We will *ING EAT all of you!

Sent from my iPhone

RUSSELL BOOMER — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: RUSSELL BOOMER Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Leave quarterly reporting in place. We need staff operating procedures during a time with so much other items are in flux.

Cathy Boomer
913-526-4317

Russell Carter — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Russell Carter Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Russell E Carter, retired professor, Oak Park, IL.

With the history of CEO fraud it's beyond foolish to cut their SEC reporting to semi annually. They can never be trusted to follow the regulations and be ethical.

Sent from my iPhone

Russell Flansburg — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Russell Flansburg Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 The C-Suite should still be held to the high standards currently in place. Make 8-k AV accountable document as well

Thank you
Russ
"Spend your dash (-) wisely. You only get one"

Russell Gee — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Russell Gee Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I remember Enron and I can only imagine the what wiggle room this proposal would do.

Russell F. Gee

52 Sacramento St
Cambridge, MA. 02138
M. 617-721-6815

Sent from my iPhone

Rusty Lynema — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Rusty Lynema Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 What is wrong with the reports being done in a timely manner as they have been for years? Are you not allowing yourself enough time to commit more insider trading as you have been allowing with members of Congress and the trump family. We all know if it wasn't for your blind eye to the issue you would be out of the job. Does it not imbarace you that if you were people of upstanding character you wouldn't have a job now under this administration. It's time this inability of you people pull your head out and run the system like those who set it up to be fair and have a level playing field for all parties. And stop being little es crawling around like a beaten dog.

Rusty Michael — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Quarterly reporting From: Rusty Michael Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Rusty Michael, retired, this matters because we already have enough cheating and insider trading in the market today. We don’t need to add more opportunities. This needs left alone.

Rusty

---

rustytexasrider — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: rustytexasrider Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep it QUARTERLY!!

Sent from my Galaxy

Ruth Butler — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Ruth Butler Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This is wrong, the American people deserve to know what’s happening

---

Ruth Dombrowski — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Ruth Dombrowski Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Quarterly disclosures are important to me as an investor. It is absolutely necessary to keep us informed.

Ruth Hopkins — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Ruth Hopkins Your mission statement on your website home page states the SEC "protects investors from misconduct..." This proposal does the exact opposite. You are allowing businesses to hide information from their investors. So much can happen in 6 months that can adversely impact the financial stability of a company. This rule prevents investors from timely notification of that information, which they need to make sound, informed decisions about their money. This rule removes transparency, it does not enhance it. You don't provide the impetus for this proposal - who asked for it and why? And why would they think the SEC would be willing to agree to this? The only ones that benefit from this rule are the filing companies and the SEC members getting their quid pro quo for voting for it.

Ruth Meszaros — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Ruth Meszaros Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Do not erase the quarterly report, for all the reasons other people have given. Keep business' feet to the fire ALL OF THE TIME.

Ruth

Ruth Nichols — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Ruth Nichols Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
I am concerned is bad for investors. I use the quarterly reports to make decisions about my finances. If we change it to 6 months not a place I would like to see because lose more money.

Ruth Petitti — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Ruth Petitti This is a really bad idea: How can I make sound investing choices with only half of the company's data? Bad idea.

Ruth Samuel — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Ruth Samuel Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I am not convinced that we need to change what we are already doing. The well paid executives do not want to work hard to earn their money. Then pay them less for less work. The rest of us work hard to earn less money.

Ryan Adams — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Ryan Adams Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Ryan Adams, Lead Systems Engineer: No way should this restriction be lifted. Traded companies have shown time and again that they are interested only in their bottom line and not their customers, or the American people. Don't give them another tool to defraud us.

Ryan Blum Federal Employee — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Ryan Blum As an individual investor, I oppose this proposal. Public markets depend on transparency. Moving from quarterly to semiannual reporting would double the period during which investors must operate with limited information while insiders remain far more informed about company performance. The burden of filing four reports per year has not prevented American companies from achieving record valuations, record profits, and unprecedented access to capital. If quarterly reporting were truly holding back economic growth, there should be compelling evidence demonstrating that fact. To date, that evidence appears lacking. Less disclosure is not investor-friendly. The SEC’s mission includes protecting investors, maintaining fair markets, and promoting capital formation. This proposal weakens the first two goals without demonstrating meaningful benefits to the third. I respectfully urge the Commission to reject it.

Ryan Carter — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Ryan Carter Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My name is Donna Carter and I am a housewife. Continue making the CEOs sign each quarter. Keep rules the way they are. My question is: Why change? Quarterly, reporting and signing means more checking behind the company. The CEO's signature means they agree with the report.

---

ryan gilbert — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: ryan gilbert Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This is a terrible idea. Removing quarterly reporting will juice the economy for a short time, and will expose us all to serious downsides rapidly thereafter. Stop this now. So many of us depend on investing to provide for our retirement. Dont scuttle my future just to give a politician a short term bump of good news.- Ryan Gilbert, sales, North Carolina.

Sent from my Galaxy

Ryan Kirk — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Ryan Kirk Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:

This rule change will cause massive instability in the market. How am I supposed to stay informed with these large conglomerates if they will be able to hide information for longer than 3 months at a time? These companies should be held to a higher standard because they are public and impact many people's retirement / portfolios, mine included.

Ryan McBride — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Ryan McBride Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission: Stop *ing over everyone for the rich.

Ryan Murphy The Motley Fool Community — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Ryan Murphy Quarterly reporting protects individual investors. Semiannual reporting doubles the information gap between insiders and ordinary shareholders. That gap is where volatility, uncertainty, and mistrust grow. The short-termism diagnosis doesn't justify this remedy. Research from the CFA Institute, which studied this exact maneuver in the U.K. market, shows that reporting frequency has no measurable effect on corporate investment behavior. The SEC is accepting a real cost – less transparency for individual investors – for a benefit that the evidence says simply won't materialize. The companies most likely to opt out are the ones where oversight matters most. Smaller, less-covered businesses operate with less scrutiny. Reducing their reporting requirements makes them harder to monitor, not easier to own. This is the wrong direction. Reg FD moved toward a more level playing field. This proposal moves away from it.

Ryan Poston — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Ryan Poston Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Stop letting our tax dollars be stolen.

Ryan Thiesen — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Ryan Thiesen Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
as an individual investor in stocks. I don't see how eliminating quarterly reporting would do anything other than benefit insiders and blindfold investors. Why would we limit companies accountability to their shareholders?

Ryan Wickham — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Ryan Wickham Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This proposal would bring an unfair advantage to the stock market. No one who is smart would invest their money if they were not able to see details of what they are investing in to make an educated decision on if it is a good investment or not this is a horrible proposal and I vote against it

---

Ryan Young — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Ryan Young Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities

and Exchange Commission:
I don't understand how this change could possibly help with investor confidence. This really just sounds like a lazy idea, and a move towards a less transparency.

---

s anderson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: s anderson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I want to see what is happening before you decide to pull the wool over my head. I can leave when I feel like the crap is bout to hit the fan

---

S C — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: S C Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Shaun Copelin (retired veteran)
I support the retention of quarterly reporting. We "little people" deserve access.

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

S Car — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: S Car Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 must have quarterly legal monitoring the rich stock holders are CRIMINALS

S Gosselin — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: S Gosselin Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly financials are imperative to understanding the health of a company. The OCC requires timely financial reporting so that banks can appropriately understand risks and rate borrowers accordingly. Allowing firms to only share financials twice a year hamstrings the banks in understanding the financial risks these companies may present. Much can happen in 6 months and absent good data, everyone loses. Please keep the quarterly requirement.

Siri Gosselin
Credit Policy Manager

S Lavey — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: S Lavey Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 It’s only right that I have frequent access to what’s going on- as in keep the reports quarterly, period. It’s my money- I want to know what it’s doing.

S S — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: S S Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Hello, Im a retail investor and I rely on quarterly reporting to try and have a good idea of what an entity is actually doing. I would actually like to see monthly. The "global standard" is not working for the majority using it. I make decisions for my retirement based on information that is as up to date as possible. The new rule will eliminate that, more than likely having a negative effect as Im not an insider.

Thank you,

Steve Snedeker, Sales

Steve Snedeker

S Sheppard — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: S Sheppard Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This is a bad move, it would not work for me as an investor, and I would exit the market before. Please keep reporting as is. Thank you

Sean Sheppard
561-573-3270

S. M. Reser Risk Management — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: S. M. Reser I am writing in opposition to this proposed Rule. Currently, investors are given quarterly reports with which to make informed decisions regarding their finances, including retirement accounts. If this rule is adopted, that information will only be available semi-annually, Companies will benefit financially, while retail investors will suffer (potentially catastrophic) consequences when they have to wait half a year to receive information that is detrimental to their investment portfolio. Corporations are OWNED by their stockholders, and they have a fiduciary DUTY to share information whether positive or negative in a timely manner. This proposed Rule is the very antithesis of that DUTY to their OWNERS, and as such is contrary to the very idea of Corporate Fiscal Responsibility. The SEC is supposed to PROTECT the interests of Investors, NOT make it easier for Corporations to hide information from them! For that reason I respectfully urge you to reject the adoption of this proposed Rule. Quote: "According to experts at Wharton and Georgetown University, switching to semi-annual reporting could have significant downsides, including a greater temptation for companies to cover up missteps and an increased potential for insider trading." Source: https : / / knowledge . wharton . upenn . edu / podcast / knowledge-at-wharton-podcast / ending-quarterly-reporting /

Sabrina Oliver — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Sabrina Oliver Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Sabrina M. Oliver, retired local government department head, keep the report quarterly. We demand transparency and as a taxpayer I have a right to this information. May I ask, what are you trying to hide? Keep the reports quarterly!

Sent from my iPhone

Sabrina Steinglass — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Sabrina Steinglass Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We moved on from 1955 for a reason. Do not roll back to olden times. Move forward with more oversight not less.
Sabrina Steinglass
Burbank CA
Director of Xytech Adminstration in post production

Sent from my iPhone

Sacred Celebrations — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Sacred Celebrations Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is important and should be continued. Any changes to this practice are just stupid and promote distrust. You're trying to steal our money - shame on you.

Have a happy day!
Brenda Berry

Sahil Talwar — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Sahil Talwar Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission: Less transparency is bad for everyone but the people filing the reports. Please keep your integrity and don't reduce the requirements so that ordinary people can remain informed.

Sallie Loos — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Sallie Loos Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 keep my quarterly reporting or make it monthly !!!

Sally Holsonback — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Sally Holsonback Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the quarterly reporting! This keeps everyone informed-and honest.

Sent from my iPhone

Sally Killough — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Sally Killough Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 As a retired person, totally dependent on my very modest retirement and social security, I believe quarterly reporting is absolutely essential! Do not allow quarterly reporting to end - we will all be in grave danger of losing everything to greed and errors.

Sincerely,
Sally Killough

Get Outlook for Android

Sally Korsh — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Sally Korsh Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Quarterly reports are all investors like me have to see how a company is actually doing.
DO NOT STOP THEM!

SALLY NELSON — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: SALLY NELSON Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We have a right to know what our investments are doing
We are retired and need it as current as possible, especially with talk about other incomes we depend on like SS and Medicare being cut - leave us alone! We have planned our retirements and this is valuable information we count on to keep our plans working
Please stick with quarterly reporting
Greg and Sally Nelson

Sent from my iPhone

SaltT — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: SaltT Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We need to keep everyone honest. Didn't you learn anything from the Enron experience? As s.long time voter, I would like to believe you are on the side of hard working Americans, not wanting to encourage the temptation to cheat. Investors need their true info. Don't play games. Require accountability!
Sincerely,
Sarah Thompson
Retired, Writing Center Coordinator, NETC, Cheraw, SC

Do the day's work. If it be to protect the rights of the weak, whoever objects, do it. - Calvin Coolidge (1872 - 1933), U.S. President

---

Sam Powell — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Sam Powell Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I wish it were daily. As an old retired commercial banker, we cranked out a daily statement of condition, and we knew the bank examiners could show up unannounced. Guess who got fired by the Board of Directors if something was amiss.

Sam Smilie — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Sam Smilie Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Scrap this. Companies and corporations must continue to report quarterly. A six month reporting cycle makes ot so investors do not have accurate information.

Sam Watkins — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Sam Watkins Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Do not approve this. I am retired and living off my investments and SS. This allows the insiders to get richer and will have a negative effect on me. Sam Watkins

---

Samuel Mckown — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Samuel Mckown Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
please don't rob us of our futures!!

---

samuel rivera — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: samuel rivera Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the quarterly report

Sent from my iPhone

Samuel Snyder — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Samuel Snyder Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep Quarlerly Reporting.
Allowing Publicly Traded Companies to hide their records from investors allows for nothing more than criminal activity.
Transparency is needed in all economic aspects of a publicly traded company.

Samuel Snyder
Sales Representative

San Diego Grace Fellowship — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: San Diego Grace Fellowship Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Michael Smith – mechanical design engineer, retired – San Diego, CA

Why turn back the clock on an issue that protects investors and retirees from unscrupulous CFO's and CEO's? I worked hard for 40+ years, saving and investing to provide retirement income for my spouse and myself. In the early 2000's I was a victim of the Worldcom fraud, losing the entirety of a $4000 investment in that comany. More accountability, not less, is needed to protect companies, employees, and investors while helping to facilitate a fair, honest, and free market for hard working Americans to participate in.

-Michael Smth

---

sandbridgescott — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: sandbridgescott Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My name is Scott. I am a Real Estate Agent that has been investing for years and quarterly reporting helps me know that my investments are working or if I need to pivot my money.

Sent from my iPhone

Sandi Ray — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Sandi Ray Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 With all the electronic delivery of statements that is available now, I can't imagine why changing away from quarterly statements would do anything but cause confusion and delivery of aged, no-longer-accurate information, especially in less active accounts where buy and hold folks only see their investment holdings occasionally. This confusion often results in complaints, often from senior investors. Less frequent than quarterly delivery would put these investors at even more of a disadvantage in monitoring their portfolios. After 32 years in the compliance side of this business, I think any minimal cost savings would come at a much bigger price to the investing public by not keeping them informed. Timely information to investors not only reduces confusion, it helps customers monitor their own accounts for fraudulent activity, as well. After all, isn't the motto and main purpose of the SEC (and FINRA and others) "customer protection"? Sandra Ray, retired independent contractor compliance consultant, Arlington, Texas

---

Sandi Schoof — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Sandi Schoof Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This is so wrong. As soon as these corporations have a chance to cheat and hide pertinent inf from the investor, they will. The public is beleaguered by this administration where rights and protections are being removed at a rapid rate. If this will pass it will come back to bite wealthy investors and average investors in the butt and damage our economy.

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Sandra — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Sandra Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 KEEP IT QUARTERLY! Stocks and property are the only way for poor people to gain wealth. DO NOT DO THIS. It's a wildly obvious racist and sexist attempt to steal from the poor and give it to the rich.

Sandra Auld — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Sandra Auld Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is a necessity. Wall Street is already beleaguered from insiders (including those in DC) who recieve information before others do. Timely disclosure is extremely important to ALL publicly traded corporations, and only the FCC can require them to publish their information timely. Please help keep Wall Street communication adequate, and keep them from hiding information from investors, particularly retail investors, who are the ones at the bottom of the heap. (signed) Sandra Auld

---

Sandra Corsetti — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Sandra Corsetti Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Companies should continue to file 10-Q reports so that investors can truly judge whether they are a good investment. Why would we go back to reporting only two times a year required 70 years ago? Limiting public knowledge does not protect the citizen. Thank you for the opportunity. Sandra Corsetti, Retired

---

Sandra Jones — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Sandra Jones Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep quarterly, respect American families.

Sent from my iPhone

Sandra Kammermann — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Sandra Kammermann Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 As a retired person living off my portfolio I NEED quarterly reports so I can forecast and invest wisely!!!

Sent from my iPhone

Sandra Landsman — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Sandra Landsman Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This is so unfair to the regular people. It's hard enough to get by.

Get Outlook for iOS

Sandra Lodico — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Sandra Lodico Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 No change needed.

Sandra Mc Mahon — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Sandra Mc Mahon Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 -There is nothing like transparency to make business decisions slow down and be better thought out.

-Transparency allows investors see where money goes and the work it does.
-Transparency allows investors see the quality of the thought and actions being done.
-Transparency allows investors to see what the company/corporation values.
- Transparency shows the quality of the corporate upper management. This information is important at all levels and types of investing. -For the purpose of value more transparent information more frequently helps guide us the investors.
SG McMahon
Quality Control
Ann Arbor, MI 48103

Sandra Slater — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Sandra Slater Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Justice and equality fir all, not just the wealthy… keep the wuarterly reports

Sent from my iPhone

Sandra Smith — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Sandra Smith Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Need accountability!

Sandra Thomson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Sandra Thomson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Sandra Thomson, Investor. This new ruling could diminish investment, make strategy impossible, and riskier than necessary. This is also another scheme to jerk the economy by this administration. It's wrong and makes our country unsafe in many ways.

Sent from iPhone
Sandra Thomson
Sj_thomson@icloud.com
210-571-5790

Sandy Aslanian — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Sandy Aslanian Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We need MORE accountability not less. Congress is becoming a for profit institution, not representing its constituents.

Sent from my iPhone

Sandy Calhoun — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Sandy Calhoun Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 MAKE NO CHANGES
Sandra Calhoun...Arkansas... retired RN...veteran of Navy 65-68 and Army 91-99....have achieved the American dream through hard work and prayer....recognize the overwhelming ing need for MORE accountability and oversight for those manipulating our hard earned assets... .may God's will be done...

Sandy Crippen Sandy Crippen — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Sandy Crippen Keep the report every four months. We are very much on the edge of the cliff right now. We don't need to take any chances. I'm a retired front office medical records and reception worker. My docs were generous and I retired with a nice pension. I am spending my savings right now at a ferocious rate. Please protect our country by keeping standards safe. Sandra Crippen, 557 SE Woodland Blvd. Bend Oregon 97702. 541-610-4284. pipnsand@aol.com

---

SANDY CURRY — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: SANDY CURRY Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly

Sent from my iPhone

Sandy Johnston — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Sandy Johnston Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 It is an important tool to make informed decisions. Please keep quarterly reports.

Sent from my iPhone

Sandy O'Konek — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Sandy O'Konek Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Sandy O'Konek, BIC/CEO O'Konek Realty. Quarterly SEC reports are vital for for me because they provide a standardized, legally mandated checkpoint to evaluate a company's financial health, track performance trends, and assess management accountability between annual reports. Twice a yr doesn't provide enough timely information to track progress and indicators.

Sent from my Verizon, Samsung Galaxy smartphone
Get Outlook for Android

Sandy Ritts — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Sandy Ritts Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
This will hurt EVERY American. I am opposed to ignoring rules that benefit only a white supremist. Please stop this terrible action now. Otherwise I have to take aggressive financial steps to protect my money from you. I would hate to do that, but I'm on summer break and I have the time to spend all day with my financial advisers to help remove my assets from becoming a white supremists assets. Please give yourselves some credibility and stop this rule change immediately. Thank you.

Sandy Strehlou — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Sandy Strehlou Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Sandra Strehlou, retired. In this moment of great political and economic (at least for most Americans) insecurity, quarterly reporting will result in even greater financial volatility. This is a very bad move. Do not change the system of reporting.

Get Outlook for iOS

Sara Aguilera — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Sara Aguilera Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Tell me you're a pos market trader without telling me you're a pos market trader... Oh yeah, you think this is a good idea. Just one more way for corruption to incorporate at every level. But there will be a rebellion when you guys crash the stock market and expect to be bailed out like Obama bailed out the car companies. We the people are already on the verge now with Epstein. And you all go throw this into the mix.

Sent from Samsung Galaxy smartphone.
Get Outlook for Android

Sara Noelle — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Sara Noelle Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Sara Pack, Small Business Owner
Keep them some level of accountable and preserve quarterly reporting!!

Sent from my iPhone

Sarah Algee — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Sarah Algee Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Sarah Algee, Retired IT Project Manager, survivor of 3 company bankruptcies and mergers - ALL due to MISHANDLING of company funds that would have been even more devastating if not for quarterly reporting! PLEASE do not make quarterly reporting OPTIONAL - keep in MANDATORY else the C level golden parachute wearing powers that be will lay rotten eggs for the employees and investors!

Sarah Brown — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Sarah Brown Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is essential for retail investors to understand what is happening with the companies Americans have entrusted with their retirement funds. The reduced oversight by the federal government under the current administration combined with the consolidation of corporations makes less reporting an even bigger risk than it's been in the past. Corporations must continue to publish quarterly reporting to insure that everyday Americans can feel confident in their retirement strategies and that corporations are held accountable for their actions. Sincerely, Sarah Brown - Retail Investor in Retirement

---

Sarah Cherry — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Sarah Cherry Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Companies most certainly should be required to continue to report quarterly. Citizens have a right to know how a company is performing with the highest frequency possible. This helps prevent fraud and enables citizens to make more informed investment decisions.

Sarah Hietpas — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Sarah Hietpas Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 As an investor, I rely on the quarterly reports. They also help keep fraud at bay. Do not allow companies to go a full 6-months without reporting. Clearly, they've been able to do quarterly reports in the past and should continue to do so. No good can come from changing this rule and the negative consequences will be immeasurable!

Sarah Hietpas, private investor

Sarah Hill — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Sarah Hill Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 STOP THE STEAL. DOES THIS MEAN NO MORE QUARTERLY DIVIDEND

Sent from my iPhone

Sarah Hubbard — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Sarah Hubbard Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This will harm Americans. We need additional compliance regulations not less stringent reporting.

Sent from my Verizon, Samsung Galaxy smartphone
Get Outlook for Android

Sarah Novak — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Sarah Novak Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 A lot can happen in six months. A lot can happen in just three months.

Quarterly reporting is the minimum we should demand from corporations.
Their ups and downs have consequences, and six months is too long between reports to monitor problems, or successes. A problem can be easily hidden in a six month report.

I know that corporations want to keep more secrets, but that's why it's so important to maintain high transparency.

Sarah Novak
Retired from Ascensus former Credit Manager, responsible for extending credit to corporate clients

---

Sarah Roth — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Sarah Roth Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Everyone needs to be held to the same standard. This is why we're having the issues we're having right now with people breaking the law at the federal level in office and wealthy corporate people also involved in criminal activity and receiving no consequences. All they need is not another heaping tablespoon of Leniency.

Sarah Seidler — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Sarah Seidler Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 So hurtful for smaller investors and brokerage houses!

Sent from my iPhone

Sarah Walker — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Sarah Walker Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This is made to hide the cons! They will be screwing anyone that uses their business's!!

Sarah Wimmer — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Sarah Wimmer Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Hello, my name is Sarah Wimmer and I'm a senior learning design professional working at home in East Tennessee. I understand that the SEC is considering going back to regulations from the 1950s to the early seventies.
As I look at the data, it looks like the value of my retirement portfolio is going to tank if this happens.
I also understand that with semi annual reporting as opposed to quarterly reporting, businesses have an opportunity to hide their actual work and revenue.
I believe that the Securities and Exchange Commission's goal is to protect the citizens.
I urge you to rethink this move that will harm our economy.

Sent from my iPhone

Sarah Young — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Sarah Young Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 How dare the SEC help to make the financial state of affairs in this Country even more convoluted. We need quarterly reporting to stay in lock step with the companies we rely on. This is not a wise option now or in the future!

Sent from my iPhone

SarahGmail — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: SarahGmail Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Public does not mean private. Why is my banks wanted monthly and quarterly statements when I had loans? And now you propose semiannual? NO. Not acceptable, too much can go wrong or right in six months. Andrew Damiano, President, Aviation Marketing Group.

Saralou G Cooper — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Saralou G Cooper Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting protects the taxpayers from having to bail out corporations that are too big to fail. I don't think we need or want to do that again.

Sent from my iPhone

Sarena Shapiro — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Sarena Shapiro Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 It's absurd to go back to less transparency when financial systems and structures are more complicated and more intertwined today than they were in the 1950s. I worked very hard to save for my retirement and don't want it ruined because corporations want to get rid of some regulations so they can make absurdly more money. These regulations have helped to create a more stable economy, created transparency, and made it safer for the average person to invest. Without these regulations, as we've seen in the past, the average person will be taken advantage of. I've had enough of an administration that doesn't believe in transparency or honesty to its people it's responsible to. Sarena Shapiro, retired, Winthrop, WA.

Satyavati D'Antoni — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Satyavati D'Antoni Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 KEEP IT QUARTERLY

Get Outlook for Android

---

savedeminc — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: savedeminc Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Corruption dies in the light. Is that why you are keeping us in the dark long enough to rip us all off?
Save Democracy 2026

-Human Consumer

Sent from Proton Mail for iOS.

SBH — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: SBH Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I am a retired pension actuary who studied the impact of investments on large funds. I am also an investor who lived and worked through the 2008 market crash. It is extremely important to investors to have quarterly reporting to monitor our results and make informed decisions about our money, that of the organizations we work for, and those we volunteer to run. Please do NOT take us back to a lower level of reporting. We all have too much to lose.

Susan Breen-Held

Scott Adams — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Scott Adams Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I think that quarterly was tried once & the results were devastating. Please don't go there again!!

Sent from my iPhone

Scott Donaldson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Scott Donaldson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Publicly held companies should be required to report their financial status monthly! The very idea of reporting twice a year is ridiculous and irresponsible, and will negatively impact individual investors.
Please do not allow them to reduce their reporting frequency.

Scott Donaldson

Scott DuBray — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Scott DuBray As a soon to be retiree I am concerned about the impact of semi annual reporting and its impact on my savings. I prefer the current system. The studies show a negative impact on those of us trying to make informed decisions with the proposed change.

Scott Elliott — Jun 18, 2026

Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Scott Elliott Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 The SEC was created in the midst of the Great Depression in order to help prevent another market crash by creating greater transparency for investors. Why would the SEC take a major step back on corporate transparency? As a teacher in Ohio, my state pension relies on transparency as do my own individual investments. Please maintain corporate transparency to protect the futures of American investors.
Scott Elliott

Scott Kranzusch — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Scott Kranzusch Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 DO NOT CHANGE THE WAY ITS WRITTEN NOW! THE ONLY ONES TO BENEFIT IF ITS CHANGED ARE THE SUPER WEALTHY! DONT “FIX”WHAT ISNT BROKEN!

Who wants this change, everyday Americans? NO, it’s the big corporations and the ultra wealthy so they can gain more wealth trading information with each other that is not available to the general public, otherwise known as insider trading. Just another MONEY GRAB by the elitists.

Scott K
Retired
Phoenix, AZ 85355

Sent from my iPad

Scott McCarter — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Scott McCarter Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Small individual investors must be informed for a level playing field; therefore, do not change the quarterly financial reporting requirements for public companies. I am opposed to the proposed quanges being contemplated by the SEC.

Scott S — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Scott S Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This is wrong. You are supposed to be the administration of transparency. But you want to businesses to hide their current status.

-Scott

Sent from my iPhone

Scott Sieck — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Scott Sieck Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I firmly believe this is a much needed improvement. It saves public companies and shareholders billions of dollars a year... Asking Companies to skew their financials for quarterly reports serves no purpose. Major financial issue are still required and must file 8ks

Scott Sieck
Project Consultant
American Steel Structures Inc.
689-332-8812 cell/text

scott@americansteelstructures.com

SCOTT TAYLOR — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: SCOTT TAYLOR Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We retirees need more transparency, not less!

Sent from my iPhone

Scott Wheeler — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Scott Wheeler Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Big business and big Wall Street can't be trusted to keep the results accurate unless it's at minimum quarterly. Monthly might even be more appropriate. I'm in favor of monthly.

Sent from my iPhone

---

sealonthebeach — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: sealonthebeach Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Now in this time of overwhelming uncertainty the public needs your due diligence.

Dana Jones

Sean A. Ahrens — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Sean A. Ahrens Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Re: Opposition to Proposed Six-Month Reporting Rule Dear Commissioners:

I am an individual investor who relies on publicly available financial information to make informed decisions regarding my retirement savings and long-term financial security. I respectfully oppose the proposed rule that would reduce required financial reporting from quarterly to semiannual intervals.

As a retail investor, I do not have access to teams of analysts, private research, or direct access to company management. Quarterly reports are one of the few tools available to me to evaluate the health, performance, and direction of the companies in which I invest. Extending the reporting period to six months would significantly reduce transparency and leave investors like me making decisions based on stale information. My retirement planning depends on confidence in the integrity and transparency of the public markets. If public companies are permitted to go six months between required financial disclosures, I would have less confidence in my ability to accurately assess investment risks.

This increased uncertainty may cause me to reconsider the allocation of my retirement assets and seek alternative investments, such as real estate or other asset classes, where I believe I have greater visibility and control over underlying value and performance. The proposed rule may inadvertently create a larger information gap between institutional investors and ordinary Americans saving for retirement.

Large institutions often have access to extensive research resources and management interactions that individual investors do not. Reducing reporting frequency would further disadvantage retail investors and undermine one of the key strengths of U.S. capital markets: broad access to reliable and timely information. While reducing regulatory burdens on companies is a reasonable objective, it should not come at the expense of transparency and investor confidence.

The success of the U.S. markets has long been built upon robust disclosure requirements that allow investors to make informed decisions. Less frequent reporting risks weakening that foundation. As someone who entrusts a significant portion of my retirement savings to the public markets, I urge the Commission to reject this proposal and maintain quarterly reporting requirements.

Transparency is not merely a compliance obligation; it is the basis upon which investors place their trust in the market. Thank you for considering my comments.

Respectfully, Sean Ahrens

Sean Boyer — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Sean Boyer Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This quarterly reporting proposal is nothing more than another gift to billionaires and corporations at the expense of the American people!

Sean Shelton — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Sean Shelton Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 It needs to be quarterly as a minimum. Do not change it to increase insider trading.

Sean Sheppard — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Re: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Sean Sheppard Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 On Thu, Jun

18, 2026 at 8:40 AM S Sheppard <fallonbroo@gmail.com> wrote:
This is a bad move, it would not work for me as an investor, and I would exit the market before. Please keep reporting as is. Thank you

Sean Sheppard
561-573-3270

---

sean west — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: sean west Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My name is Sean West. My wife and I rely on getting accurate news and information for our investment account. I work in hollywood and have been struggling to find union work since covid. This new change from quarterly reporting by companies is only going to serve those with inside information and gives them an unfair advantage of being able to pull out of a company and leave regular folks in the dark and footing the bill. This is a completely bad proposal. Quarterly reporting should remain intact to protect us nirmal peoples investments. Please do not allow this new change to only reporting every 6 months. We dont have the security of wealth. This change could wipe us out entirely since we would have less data to make decisions.

Sean West
Struggling Local 44 Iatse member

Sent from my Boost Samsung Galaxy A32 5G
Get Outlook for Android

Seandra McQueen — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Seandra McQueen Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the quarterly reports, or, We the people who Pay Your Salary, Will Fire the Lot of you and will find Someone who protects the consumer. (That would be us)

Sebero Barrientes — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Sebero Barrientes Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the Qtrly Reporting as is. We don’t need anymore ENRON’s or cheatings!

Sent from my iPhone

Selwyn Zacharie — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Selwyn Zacharie Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 TAX PAYERS NEED TOTAL TRANSPARENCY.

Seth Brumbaugh — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Seth Brumbaugh Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Oversight must be maintained. Quarterly reporting must stay. Removing Quarterly reporting will only create another Enron scenario.
Your function is to maintain trust in the stock market and that fair investing is taking place. The removal of quarterly reporting will negatively impact the retail investors trying to save for their retirement.

Seth Brumbaugh
Ottsville, Pennsylvania

Seven Dunsmore — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Seven Dunsmore Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This rule is in place to ensure compliance. Why would you want to eliminate it, unless you were planning to steal?

Sent from my iPhone

---

sewnicelfr — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: sewnicelfr Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is more fair to everyone. Do not chang to a less accountable situation!

Sent from my Galaxy

Shaheen Khurana — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Shaheen Khurana Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We need accountability and transparency from corporations. No more corrupt politics from the SEC… keep the quarterly reporting!

Shaheen Khurana
(American fed up with corrupt politicians and institutions!)

Sent from my iPhone

Shala Tucker — Jun 18, 2026

Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Shala Tucker Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Shala Tucker, small business owner. I have several rewards cards but I only depend on my business card rewards because that is the card that helps my business. About twice a year I cash in those rewards and of course the rewards go to my business account. How dare you try to make those rewards go away! You are messing around with American citizen's money. I'm sure there are many people who depend on these rewards. That's why they chose that card. What are you trying to put us in the dark about profits that BIG business earns? You will be putting people in positions that make easier for thieves to use cyber theft on the American citizen. Less secure payment platforms make it easier for cyber thieves. Forget this bill. Why you want it I don't know but it's usually because politicians find a way to increase THEIR profit. Is this a bill based on political greed?

Shan Cann — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Shan Cann Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 As an American investor, I have seen the Enron scandal, have watched the market respond to incidents like 911, and have grown my "retirement savings" since I was working my first job at age 16.

Companies must be transparent and accountable to their investors -- ALL of their investors -- even me.

Please maintain the requirement for quarterly reporting and insist that companies that take money from hard working Americans continue to be held to high standards. Good stewardship is not optional, it is the right thing and the only thing that we deserve.

Thank you,
Shannon Cannata
Lenexa, KS

Shana Smith — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Shana Smith Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Absolutely not. There are rules and laws for a reason, nobody is above the law. Nor should we be acting like any crime is ok or less deserving of punishment. Quit pushing for garbage like this!
S. Smith, wahm, MI

Shane Garry — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Shane Garry Don't do it. Not cool at all. Thank you.

SHANNON CAREY — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: SHANNON CAREY Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 There is no reason to change this reporting to twice yearly other than protecting criminals. Stand by THE PEOPLE who want more visibility, not less! Thank you!

Sent from my iPhone

Shannon Conway — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Shannon Conway Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Americans deserve transparency and clarity in investing. The middle class is getting pummeled all around. Quarterly reporting gives us naught we deserve in our investments. Our money enriches these companies and CEOs and they owe us frequent, clear reporting.

Best,
Shannon Brunetto

Shannon DeDora — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Shannon DeDora Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Don't let our economy be rigged by big money! Keep our quarterlies- we can be a Better system

Shannon DeDora, CS, WSET III
French Wine Scholar,
Certified Sake Professional

775.745.5079

Be Passionate, Be Inclusive,
Be Courageous, Be True
Please excuse any typos or grammatical errors as this was Sent from my iPhone

---

Shari Gonzales — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Shari Gonzales Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Shari Lee Gonzales, retired tech manager and executive. Absolutely do not change the SEC quarterly reporting for corporations in the United States!!! This is an absurd idea that only protects and benefits large corporations that already have so much power in our country that it is obvious to see by the huge profits that they're taking , the CEO salaries/benefits and entitlement, and of course, all the tax/other benefits that the current administration is giving them. You need to help, support and protect the citizens of the United States by keeping reporting quarterly so that we the people have transparency into what corporations are doing; so that the chances for fraud are reduced, and we can see lots of instances and examples of that over the many years when corporations and people get power and money, the fraud is inevitable; and because well, this may be optional now, we know that this type of change can become permanent very easily and it is not good for the American people. Lastly, don't make this change because it doesn't benefit us it benefits, corporations, and they already have enough benefits in the United States, especially after the big beautiful Bill. For the American people, say 'no' to this change, otherwise you're just complicit with this fraudulent and very anti-American, anti-constitutional government. thank you for your time.
Do the right thing because it's all about your reputation and your future and your legacy and the impact that this leaves on your families and your friends and your nation. if you do something like this now, it will remain with you forever and perhaps your God will consider that in your final judgment. Have a good day! USA 🇺🇸

Sent from my iPhone

Shari Hutchison — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Shari Hutchison Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Need quarterly reports. As a retired person the information is of great nessasity to me.

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Sharon Armstrong — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Sharon Armstrong Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 The public, investors will lose money. We will start taking our money away to invest elsewhere.

Sharon Cioffi — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Sharon Cioffi Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 People are owed this information on a timely basis

---

Sharon Coleman — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Sharon Coleman Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep quarterly reports

Sent from my iPhone

Sharon Daly — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Sharon Daly Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Need to know the status of my monies quarterly. THIS is a valid and need guardrail.

Sent from my iPhone

Sharon Dejonghe — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Sharon Dejonghe Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 What happens to keeping the average American investor informed when hiding in the “unreported” information not to mention financial planners who guide & manage money for clients. We might not have millions but what we have pays for our retirement & kids college funds.

Sharon Dejonghe
SC

Sent from my iPhone

Sharon Gladson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Sharon Gladson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Sharon Gladson
Retired manager
Northampton, MA
I hold a small portfolio which I depend upon as social security benefits do not cover my living expenses. A return to the “good old days” of semi-annual reporting would be devastating to my investments!!

In this current age where the top money holders seem to be getting more wealthy literally as they breathe, it seems punishing to make a move like this!

Where is the sense of it??

Sincerely,
Sharon Gladson

Sent from my iPhone

Sharon Hightower — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Sharon Hightower Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Sharon Hightower.
Retired teacher. Why does the general public ALWAYS GET PENALIZED? KEEP IT QUARTERLY!!

Sharon Jarrett — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Sharon Jarrett Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My name is Sharon Jarrett and I am a stay at home grandmom.
Why does thisatter to me?
It affects me as I own stocks in various forms and if I am not given quarterly reports with enough time to review, i would be not able to make a properly informed decision about investing more of our hard earned money or not.
No company whether it be small local or large corporate that relies on its investors to succeed should not allowed to "hide" their quarterly reports.
Thank you for your time.

Sent from my Galaxy

Sharon Karr — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Sharon Karr Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
I disagree with this move! If anything, it needs more stringent oversight! There's enough cheating and scandalous behavior in the corporate world. There needs to be more strict oversight!

Sharon Lind — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Sharon Lind Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission: Bad for everyone. Keep it the way it is.

Sharon Mignerey — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Sharon Mignerey Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 The proposed changes make a prospectus worthless. This means only those privy to insider trading can make reasonable choices about investments. This is wrong at every level. This status quo should be kept and probably strengthened.

All the best,

Sharon

Sharon Neathery. — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Sharon Neathery. Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the quarterly report.

Sent from my iPad

Sharon Neel — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Sharon Neel Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Please do not make life any harder on the individual investors than it already is! Take care of the people!

---

sharon parsch — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: sharon parsch Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 No one is above the law. The government is responsible to the people they are representing. The SEC needs to enforce strict requirements and regulations for those corporate agencies that are responsible for managing our finances. Quarterly reports are crucial to that end. The Federal Reserve uses the SEC's quarterly reports to aid in determining interest rates, Investors use the SEC quarterly reports to help determine where they invest. I, as a retired person, look at trends, going back several quarters to determine how I invest. Frankly, the SEC would be neglecting its legacy and authenticity by decreasing the reports, also making it more difficult to catch criminals, fraud and economic downturns. Maybe the SEC needs better managing so the quarterly reports are done on time in a professional manner. This is not a commission that can be allowed to be complacent.

Sharon Paz — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Sharon Paz Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
You must keep reports quarterly.

Sharon Peelor — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Sharon Peelor Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Don't change the quarterly reporting. If you back off now, they will see it as permission to hide transactions. Please stand firm. Thank you, Sharon Peelor, retired lawyer and academic, Boise, Idaho

---

Sharon Powers — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Sharon Powers Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Are we sacrificing financial reporting transparency for the benefit of the majority of citizen investors by extending it to six months? Unethical change proposals must be defeated.

Respectfully,
Sharon Powers
Retired Public School Teacher

Sent from my iPhone

Sharon Rogers — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Sharon Rogers Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We must continue keep them honest. There's no choice. Sharon Roger's Ret. Vital to protect Americans from corrupt bigwigs defrauding us. We all know they will if they can.

Sharon Silljer — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Sharon Silljer Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep it the way it is. Quartly because it matters to stock holders.

Sharon Sobzak — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Sharon Sobzak Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission: corruption with insider trading is already running rampant.. .this proposal would make it more so. Quarterly updates allow for more reasoned decisions for those of us without friends in the know. Integrity is a valuable commodity and quarterly reports helps with that.

Sharon Upton — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Sharon Upton Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
I need to be able to make informed decisions! I don't believe allowing corporations to limit the information they share about themselves allows me to do this.

Sharon/Jim Sullivan — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Sharon/Jim Sullivan Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Stop the federal criminals from stealing everything they can get their hands on! Enforce our laws!

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Shaun Terrell — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Shaun Terrell Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep things the way they are, the only reform should be to make it monthly.....

Shauna Carlson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Shauna Carlson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Do not change the reporting schedule unless you want to make it more frequently, like monthly.

Shauna Ostler — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Shauna Ostler Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 As a long time HR Manager I find it unethical for companies to report financial information every six months. It does not follow generally accepted accounting practice or case law. It also leaves too much room for unethical behavior. The SEC’s role is to ensure legal and ethical guardrails are in place for companies. I expect the organization to do so and get out of bed with corporations. Six months to report financial information is incredibly stupid, reckless and out of touch with the general public.

Get Outlook for iOS

Shawn Boudreaux — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Shawn Boudreaux Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep it Quarterly !! Shawn

Boudreaux Houma Louisiana Industrial Electrical

Sent from my T-Mobile 5G Device
Get Outlook for Android

Shawn Laurie — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Shawn Laurie Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 As a CPA, I believe quarterly reporting is vital! We must have transparency in reporting for public companies in order to maintain investor confidence.
Shawn Laurie, CPA
Mansfield, Texas

Sent from my iPhone

Shawn McKiernan — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Shawn McKiernan Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting needs to remain the standard as a matter of fairness & transparency for all investors. This matters because having different reporting standards for different types of investors will increase corrupt actions, erode confidence & negatively effect the economy. Shawn McKiernan, retired truck driver.

Shawn Sproul — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Shawn Sproul Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Shawn Sproul
Courier Driver at Federal Express
Do not change reporting to 6 months. Keep it Quarterly.
Businesses need to be finacially transparent and keeping it quarterly makes it more transparent to investors than 6 months. This is common sense and your explanation for the change is not good enough.

SHAWN TALLEY — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: SHAWN TALLEY Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Don’t do it, progress is never made going backwards to 1955 reporting. Quite being so corrupt.

Shawn Talley
Sent from earth

Shawna Stradling — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Shawna Stradling Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep it Quarterly!

Sent from my iPhone

Sheena Meyers — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Sheena Meyers Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission: please stop trying to screw over the lower class. We are just out here trying to survive and y'all are being greedy fools.

---

shegaul — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: shegaul Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Transparency makes things as "honest" as the financial industry can appear for the middle class. Hiding information from us obvious appears that you are hiding activity for the multi and billionaires.

LargePrefPlaceholder-XKUz1MEJBwkOM

Sheila Avruch — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Sheila Avruch Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting improves financial transparency. The companies that are pushing this reduction in transparency are already making enormous profits. Small investors need quarterly reporting maintained. I speak as a small investor.

Sent from my iPhone

Sheila Bradac — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Sheila Bradac Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly. Keeps you more honest

---

Sheila Carter — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Sheila Carter Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 The American people deserve transparency, there be no reason to have a problem with signing these quarterly if you’re being honest. Enron showed us why we need this. Do not change this requirement. my name is Sheila Carter. I’m a registered nurse and I am.

Sheila Carter — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Sheila Carter Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 The American people deserve transparency, there be no reason to have a problem with signing these quarterly if you’re being honest. Enron showed us why we need this. Do not change this requirement. My name is Sheila Carter. I’m a registered nurse and this matters to me as we need to continue to keep big corporations, and their CEOs honest.

Sheila Dorris — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Sheila Dorris Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 It is in the best interest of investors to maintain quarterly reporting. It helps maintain investor confidence and provides much better corporate transparency. Longer periods between reporting I fear could open the door to more fraud and lower investor confidence. It would greatly impact financial advisors helping clients assisting clients invest for their future. Please DO NOT change to 6 months. We need better transparency.

Sent from my iPhone

Sheila Gividen — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Sheila Gividen Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Sheila Gividen - retired. Protect my future

Thanks,
Sheila Gividen
502-442-6265

Sheila Gordon — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Sheila Gordon Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This is bad news for the average investor, seems like another attempt at covering things up for the few.
Permits insider trading and time to “fix the books”.

Sheila Gordon.

Sent from my iPad

Sheila Govignon — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Sheila Govignon Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Maintain quarterly reporting. Protect investors.

Sheila R. Ritter — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Sheila R. Ritter Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I want quarterly reporting to continue. I actively watch my investments. The market volatility demands my attention! I don't have a lot, so can't afford a large downturn in my retirement years.

Sheila Ritter

Sheila Rae Armentano — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Sheila Rae Armentano Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 It's been working don't break it

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Sheila Sentner — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Sheila Sentner Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Transparency and more frequent reporting is necessary in preventing corporations and banks from hiding shenanigans. Let’s maintain truth and accuracy in quarterly reporting.
We went democracy Not oligarchy for the top 1% controls everything.

Thank you.
Sincerely,
Sheila Sentner

Sheila Wade — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Sheila Wade Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Hey SEC let’s get the Corporations to report on a monthly basis. We want as much transparency as we can get! And maybe another bipartisan committee to oversight them also. Check the checkers, I say.

---

sheila washington — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: sheila washington Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 KEEP THE RULES QUARTERLY

Shelby Johnston — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Shelby Johnston Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Shelby Johnston, Engineering Manager, Georgia. Why would we want less transparency? Trump guaranteed more transparency in everything. We have improved so much since going to quarterly, dont change something that is not broken.

Sheldon Hull — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Sheldon Hull Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Sheldon Hull, IT retired, stock holder. Clarity makes better sense and quarterly works fine. If I owned stock in a company wanting semi-annual reporting, I would be dumping it. They are hiding something or are planning something that is not beneficial to me.

Shelia M. Gray — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Shelia M. Gray Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 DO THE RIGHT THING FOR THE PEOPLE
Any one w an IRA should completely understand WHY 1/4 reporting is important to investors, reporters etc.

Shelley Bresler — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Shelley Bresler Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please think about the reason quarterly reporting was adopted. It came as the result of untrustworthy CEOs trying to game the system. They thought they would get away with fraud because there were no rules in place to stop them. Do not return to that time. We, the people, are depending on it.

Shelley Clay — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Shelley Clay Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This is absolutely insane!!!
You are just begging for insider trading if you do this!
Keep financials at quarterly reporting!
Keep it honest!

Sent from my iPhone

Shelley Coss — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Shelley Coss Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Report all transactions. Monthly!!!!!

Shelley Freeman — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Shelley Freeman Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
If you have any integrity at all, stop this change. People have a right to know what they've invested their hard-earned money in. No smoke and mirrors !

Shelley Joseph — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Shelley Joseph Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 SEC, has a tough job. It is an important job because so much is riding on it for so many investors, small and big. Truth in business dealings should be paramount. Do not let the sleezy get through the fraudulent filings. There is more than enough scam now aided by AI than the US can stand. Let the SEC be ever viligent in at least eliminating financial fraud too where ever it raises its ugly head. Shelley Joseph, retired business owner. Baton Rouge, LA

Shelley Kumru — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Shelley Kumru Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please continue with quarterly reporting so that I can retire knowing at least that I have a fair shot in managing my investments.

Shelley Rosenstein — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Shelley Rosenstein Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please continue quarterly reports every three months— this information should be shared with investors more frequently than every six months!

This is an important change that is unfair to investors!

Shelley Rosenstein

Sent from my iPhone

Shelley Smith — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Shelley Smith Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Don’t change this rule! The Republicans will do anything to commit fraud and not have any consequences. It’s not alright too cheat people and they DO!

Sent from my iPhone

Shelley Wonders — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Shelley Wonders Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I am a retired school teacher and my husband is a retired machine tool builder. We worked hard to build our savings and have been responsible spenders. Quarterly reporting is important to keep us in the know and on track. Do not change this. It is the fair and responsible way to report to investors. Thank you. Shelley Wonders

Sent from my iPhone

Shelly — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Shelly Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Shelly Trenchard , Chief Operating and Economic Advisor.
Everyone must be held accountable and responsibly commit to reporting all trades . This transparency helps cut down on insider trading .

Sent from my iPhone

SHelly Kraus — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: SHelly Kraus Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Shelly Kraus- retired
Keep the reporting quarterly. Retirees rely on this information to make informed decisions about their income investments.

Shen Cruces — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Shen Cruces Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I am a small investor and this new proposal for earnings to be reported only every 6 months will hinder my ability to be responsive to the market.
Shenny Cruces
Professor

Sheree Locher — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Sheree Locher Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep quarterly!

Sent from my iPhone

Sheree Rodriguez — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Sheree Rodriguez Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Don't subtract from the information necessary for us to make informed decisiins.

---

sheripj — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: sheripj Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please keep reporting on a quarterly basis. As a retiree, it is important for me to be able to manage my meager IRA.. Kind Regards,
Sheri Johnson

Sent from AT&T Yahoo Mail on Android

Sherisse Dozier — Jun 18, 2026

Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Sherisse Dozier Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Sherisse, Non profit worker: we are at an inflection point in the United States and at a time when we need more transparency, you offer less. This erodes the public trust and will be the eventual downfall of our nation should we continue to treat everyday citizens like an afterthought. Do not make this mistake in judgement, we will all pay the price.

Sheron Pearson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Sheron Pearson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Taking away a vital oversight mechanism simply opens the door to more fraud and financial loss to those without "insider" status

Sheron P's Conduit Show - Saturdays 11 am to noon at wwwtheenglishconnectionmedia.com and Sundays 6-9 pm at www.e2onair.com
347 485 1154

Sherri Faiad — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Sherri Faiad Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Leave it at quarterly reporting for better transparency and accountability.

Sherri Feliciano — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Sherri Feliciano Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Sherri feliciano

---

Sherrie Jacobs — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Sherrie Jacobs Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please Do Not change reporting dates.
Information given at current time helps me the most.
Sherrie Jacobs . Retired teacher
Indiana

---

sherry — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: sherry Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 NO

Sherry Barrett — Jun 18, 2026

Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Sherry Barrett Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep it transparent and open! No hiding the books.

Sherry Catalina — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Sherry Catalina Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep corporations accountable . Quarterly reporting is part of that .

Sherry Fitzpatrick — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Sherry Fitzpatrick Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Absolutely keep the current reporting schedule!
Sherry Fitzpatrick, retired CPA

Sherry G — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Sherry G Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 The curtain has been pulled back on the plethora of corruption in so many factions of our lives. We need transparency-NOT more ways to hide, lie, steal and cheat!

Sent from my iPhone

---

sherry graham — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: sherry graham Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We need MORE ACCOUNTABILITY!! not less!!

Sherry Graham, M.Ed., LPC-S
Play Therapist & Expressive Art Therapist

"Whatever you can do, or dream you can do, begin it.
Boldness has genius, power, and magic in it. "
--Goethe

Sherry Heyer — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Sherry Heyer Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep it as is. It’s quite evident CEO’s can’t be trusted. It’s all about their pockets.

Sent from my iPad

---

sherry king — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: sherry king Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Sherry King, retired GM production operator. We need to know what is happening in our portfolios! Quarterly!! Keep it the same!

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Sherry Medrano — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Sherry Medrano Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 SEC
No. No change to reporting. Quarterly reporting allows, transparency, and truthfulness to investors. As a longtime investor, I want to know where my money is, how it's being spent, and what rate of return I am getting on it. If you allow semi annually or annually reporting that will be much harder to track. There is absolutely no reason to change quarterly reporting. My parents had to navigate and survive the great depression and told me many stories about how bad things were. I do not ever want to see this happen in my lifetime my children's lifetime or my grandchildren's lifetime. Please listen to your constituents/shareholders/investors. Sherry Medrano, Investor, Los Angeles, California

Sent from my iPhone

Sherry Moore — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Sherry Moore Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please keep "accountability often" a requirement for the CEOs.

Make them continue to be aware of what they sign.
Sherry Moore
Retiree
North Richland Hills, TX

Sherry Norten Catoe — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Sherry Norten Catoe Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the quarterly reporting for SEC because my hard earned money needs to be protected.

Scherluyn Catoe

money needs to be protected

Sherry Rider — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Sherry Rider Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting helps us manage our retirement options, like travel, household improvements, helping grandchildren and children. Without quarterly income announcements, we'd never know what we could afford! Keep quarterly accounting!

Sent from my iPhone

Sherry Sahi — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Sherry Sahi Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 NO. Quarterly reports are key to transparency. Obviously, people lost more money when reports came out every 6 months. Corrections need to be made earlier. Otherwise, investors lose more money.

Sent from my iPhone

---

sheryl mcnair — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Quarterly reporting From: sheryl mcnair Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please don't drop the requirement for quarterly financial reports. Too much can go wrong in 6 months. We need to have visibility, not pander to big business.
Sheryl

Sheryl Sanford — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Sheryl Sanford Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Sheryl Sanford Sales & Marketing Manager
There is no reason to change how the reporting is done. Hiding any information for any duration is deceptive and misleading.

Shirley — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Shirley Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Shirley Thomas Rome, GA accounting. There is no reason to change except to hide from us stockholders. KEEP IT QUARTERLY!

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Shirley Brokenburr — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Shirley Brokenburr Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the quarterly reporting.

Shirley Hayden — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Shirley Hayden Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly!!!!!

Shirley Oldland — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Shirley Oldland Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This is absolutely NOT ACCEPTABLE! We deserve the right to keep track of our investments! I rely on my RDA's from my investments to provide a large chunk of my retirement income and depend on MONTHLY statements to keep tabs on my accounts and communicate with my broker on a regular basis.

Sent from my iPhone

Shirley Packebush — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Shirley Packebush Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 You need to protect the little investors. Quarterly reporting needs to stay. Shirley Packebush Small Business Owner

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Shirley Vega — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Shirley Vega Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Shirley Vega: retired. My children are investors and this will put them (and everyone) at a disadvantage. This helps the companies with less reporting and especially harms the small investor that can't ride it out when there is fraud. And there is always fraud but now we won't be able to quickly address it. What were you thinking? Not about me or my adult children is pretty obvious. Why??

---

shr605 — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: shr605 Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Listen, you need to keep the status quo on this topic.. I am so sick of being taken advantage of by this administration! Show some ethics and keep quarterly reports..and not continue screwing the public.
S Roberts
Citizen and investor

Simeon Georgiou — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Simeon Georgiou I strenuously object to changing the corporate reporting requirements from the current quarterly requirement. Decreasing financial information available to the public would reduce accountability to shareholders and the public at large. Especially in the current environment where the administration has taken equity positions in public companies, it would be a disservice to all Americans. It would foster more corruption and theft than already occurs and would promote more insider trading than already occurs. DO NOT IMPLEMENT THIS RULE CHANGE.

SINDRI ANDERSON — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: SINDRI ANDERSON Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I am a small business owner, mother and grandmother. I rely quarterly reporting to adjust/adapt expenses, including salaries.
Small business owners are subject to more volatility and are the backbone of this country…don't participate in the destruction of them!
Sindri Anderson

Sent from my iPhone

---

siobhan suileabhain — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: siobhan suileabhain Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I strongly support the retention of quarterly reporting by CEO. Do not change this requirement as the quarterly reporting provides transparency and a means to keep corporate corruption either at bay or reduced.

As a retired federal employee who litigated cases against business entities and unions, I know that regulations are important and reporting obligations encourage actions thst benefit the American people.. Changing this quarterly reporting will benefit only the CEO to the detriment of the rest of Americans.

Thank you for considering my input.

Joan A. Sullivan
Arlington, VA

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

SkullWarrior56 — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: SkullWarrior56 Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026

SkullWarrior56 — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: SkullWarrior56 Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Company Sole proprietor. Keep your books quarterly. What are you intending to hide. If the public uses your company products they have the right to know your earnings.

Sincerely,

Charlene L.

Sent from Proton Mail for Android.

Sofia Irisab — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Sofia Irisab Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
The quarterly reports provides retail investors an insight into what they invest or plan to invest in. Those quarterly reports are already on a lag but does pro ide some pertinent information. The proposed rule to have the reports timing reduced will have the retail investors blindly investing which will be detrimental to their investments. Unlike institutional investors, retail investors are using their own money to build their own wealth. Retail investors are building for their retirement and for future generations.

Putting this proposal in place will have retail investors blind and lose trust in these corporations and institutions. The SEC should promote a fair level field for retail investors not minimizing it.

Son Nguyen — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Son Nguyen Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I prefer Quarterly Reports

---

Sona Rejebian — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Sona Rejebian Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
As a direct stockholder of several companies, and through retirement accounts/mutual funds/etc, I am INCENSED that you are proposing reducing the quarterly disclosures by companies to be semi-annually instead!
The investing public MUST know the status of companies in a timely, actionable manner, and semi-annual disclosures are completely insufficient in the digital era!! It is completely unfair for companies and the the analysts at the trading desks to have insider information to which individual investors won't have access.
Stop catering to the uber-wealthy. It's so pathetically a slap in the face of the small investors.

Sonjia Weinstein — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Sonjia Weinstein Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Reports maintain a level of accountability to investors. Quarterly reports are the minimum in a world where situations can change quickly. Monthly would be even better.
Semi annual reports indicate that companies have something to hide, want to keep investors in the dark. That the SEC would support this action shows the depth of corruption in government.

Sonjia

"Great things are done by a series of small things brought together." Vincent Van Gogh

---

Sonny McCutcheon — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Sonny McCutcheon Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Nope. SEC/NCAA etc.must comply exactly like any other publicly held entity.

Sonny McCutcheon

Sonya Cole — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Sonya Cole Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We as stockholders should have access to information about the company's status. Quarterly reporting is needed!

Sent from my iPhone

Sonya Rice — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Sonya Rice Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Transparency is required on a monthly basis. Hiding harms for 90 days makes it look like there's compliance from the public and private investor.

Soo Leong Liu — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Soo Leong Liu Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Hello,

Changing a ruling that keeps companies transparent and the public and other business sectors informed is detrimental.

Key decisions rely on current, quarterly reporting.

I am D. Soo Leong Liu, a retiree whose retirement fund advisors rely heavily on quarterly reports. Thank you for listening.

Sophia Arachovitis — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Sophia Arachovitis Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Once a company goes PUBLIC, the public has a right to know who/what they’re investing in. Otherwise, that company should not be allowed to go public & remain PRIVATELY OWNED!!!

Why is our government even considering such CORRUPT practices?!!!! It’s sickening!!😡

Sent from my iPhone

Sophia Arachovitis — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Sophia Arachovitis Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Once a company goes PUBLIC, the public has a right to know who/ what they’re investing in. Otherwise, the company should remain PRIVATELY OWNED!!!

Sent from my iPhone

Sophia Stavropoulos — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Sophia Stavropoulos Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Your commission was established to regulate companies' to uphold ethical operating and reporting standards, prevent fraud and corruption. Your commission must also protect all investors, including individual investors. As an individual investor, corporate quarterly reportings provide crucial information and insights into companies' financial strength, operational and management practices, and help me make better decisions about my investment choices. Quarterly reporting gives more transparency into a company. Please do not eliminate required quarterly financial reporting which help all investors make informed decisions.

Thank you,
Sophia Stavropoulos

Spring Schoenhuth — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Spring Schoenhuth Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I need QUARTERLY reporting. Do not change this. Thank you for your consideration and attention to this matter.
S. Schoenhuth, Owner (small business)

Squiber — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Squiber Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To allow big business to only report twice a year is wrong. Investors have a right to know what is going on. This will lead to people losing investments, allow for companies to misrepresent themselves and lead to more insider trading while the little man is hung out to dry.

Get Outlook for iOS

Srinath Dharmapadam — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Srinath Dharmapadam Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please do not stop the quarterly reporting. When the corporation takes public money, they are responsible to the public & they should continue the quarterly reporting.. This would give less chances for them to fudge the books. Let us not forget Enron, MCI WorldCom & Satyam Computers in India. I am sure SEC does not want fraud in the businesses by the CEO’s & CFO’s who have a fiduciary responsibility to the public from whom they take the money. Any changes to the ruling will be a travesty to fair reporting & pinning corporate responsibility.

Srinath

Sent from my iPhone

Stacey — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Stacey Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I am a single hard working mother with a disabled young son. I need to be able to see QUARTERLY where my money is so I know where I am for retirement. Nothing needs to change and the government needs to stay on track with this. There are too many other changes that should be made and this is not one of them!

Stacey Lindsey

Stacie Pitts — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Stacie Pitts Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Rev. Stacie Pitts, Chaplain Quarterly reviews keep companies honest. Corporations need to be held accountable for their actions.

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Stacy J — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Stacy J Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please protect the public and keep the reports quarterly. Information should be available to everyone, not kept private longer for insiders. People need to know to make informed decisions.

I look at the reports regularly. I'm trying to retire.

Thank you.
Stacy Jacob
Sales Advisor

Stacy Korbelak — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Stacy Korbelak Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is an absolute must - it keeps companies accountable and investors informed. Stop trying to return us to 1955!

Stacye — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Stacye Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I’m a RN and accountability is key to me. Please do not reduce reporting for CEO’s and other executive positions.

Thank you,

Stacye Mehard RN

402 23rd Street, Virginia Beach, Virginia 23451

GreensAndNettles@GMail.com

(804) 922-1977

Please do not publish or sell my personal contact information .. Thank you !!

Stan — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Stan Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is the only was to minimize fraud by businesses. History has shown that if the watchdogs are Remo Ed corporations will cook their books and payoff the inspectors. Large corporations are notorious for lying about profits and expenditures.

---

stash2020 — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: stash2020 Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the quarterly reporting requirement intact. We need it.

Stephen W. Ash

Sent from my Galaxy

Stephanie Brunelle — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Stephanie Brunelle Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep these goons as honest as possible

Sent from my iPhone

Stephanie Hancox — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Stephanie Hancox Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 No 6 months dark time

---

Stephanie Hegland — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Stephanie Hegland Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Stephanie Hegland, retired after working 80 hour weeks, watching the publicly-traded company I helped succeed, reward the top executives who made money with inside info along with their buddies, while us middle manager grunts did the heavy lifting. Hey SEC - stop protecting the wealthy by eliminating public reporting!

Stephanie Hegland
612.801.8507

Stephanie Mellott — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Stephanie Mellott Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I strongly disagree with changing the reporting rules. I feel it is not in the best interest of the American people based on history.

Stephanie Wade — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Stephanie Wade Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My name is Stephanie Wade. I am an Office Assistant living in Bloomington, Illinois. Reporting quarterly keeps shareholders and the world in the know about how a company is doing and what their recent practices have been. With a publicly shared company, there should be more transparency. For my own privately owned company, the owner sees the progress monthly, and we come together quarterly to go over old and new projects. Shareholders need to see their invested companies the same if not better.

Stephen Gaddis — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Stephen Gaddis Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My name is Stephen Gaddis. I worked in Big 8 (now Big 4) public accounting for almost 40 years. I urge the SEC to maintain quarterly reporting. I spent many years assisting with restatements of prior years' financial statements. In every case, these restatements were due to misdeeds of management (in most cases, prior management).

I see no reason to give managements of publicly traded entities more time to possibly hide financial results. That could only encourage management to do so.

Thank you

Stephen Gaddis

Stephen Hoch — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Stephen Hoch Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Stephen Hoch
Retiree
A career NYC Firefighter, 73 years old.
Allowing corporations to only report earnings semi annually would make it difficult for myself and my wife to make prudent investment decisions for our retirement years.

Thank you

Stephen Lang — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Stephen Lang Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
It would help Me make more informed decisions in what to invest in that are more "in tune" with My Personal values and ethics.

Stephen Leone — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Stephen Leone Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 More nonsense less transparency, sounds exactly right for this administration.

Stephen McAvoy — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Stephen McAvoy Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the quarterly reports, every quarter!

Sent from my iPhone

Stephen Norman — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Stephen Norman Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is a necessary measure to cut down on corporate shenanigans.

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Stephen Ragosta — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Stephen Ragosta Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Stephen Ragosta, high school teacher for 33 years, Allentown Pennsylvania, retired in 2006 and still haven’t received a cola for my pension from the state yet. We have worked hard to save enough for a comfortable retirement but with inflation eating away on all basic needs plus gas and electric prices and health care sky rocketing we need those quarterly reports!! Don’t mess with what is working!

Stephen Smith — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Stephen Smith Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 As a retired individual investor the quarterly reporting is very important for me to be able to make informed decisions for my portfolio. Changing the requirement to every six months is a huge mistake, don't do it!

Stephen Thompson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Stephen Thompson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Stephen B. Thompson, retired.

It's a truism to say that sunlight is the great disinfectant. Only secrecy benefits from darkness. For a law to be imposed that secures obscurity of operation is to exclude the sunshine and invite the nefarious. It's clear that the very attempt to impose this rule is to set the stage for illicit projects.

Steve Bryan — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Steve Bryan Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We need quarterly reports to make accurate decisions on our retirement accounts - protect the little guy!
Steve Bryan
Retiree

Sent from my iPhone

Steve Burns Professional Engineer — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Steve Burns Please do not allow this change. More financial shenanigans will take place if reporting is halved. And plenty has taken place already. Thx

---

steve chinn — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: steve chinn Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I do not support changing the corporate reporting requirement with respect to timing and I ask you to oppose it too.

Stephen P. Chinn

Steve Duke — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Steve Duke Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 The SEC should act on behalf of the public. I oppose changing the rules for reporting. I am a retired professor, living in the Chicago area and depend on my life savings to support me.
Steve Duke

Steve Haile — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Steve Haile Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep quarterly reports

---

Steve Hassler — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Steve Hassler Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My name is Stephen Hassler of Leawood, KS. Now retired, I worked for 40 years in freight transportation and logistics. For me and my wife, return on our investments is no longer solely a long-term concern. As we approach the day when we will need income from our investments, it becomes more important to have frequent information on the individual components of our portfolio, so we can make the adjustments needed to serve our financial interests on a timely basis. To that end, we implore the SEC to continue to require quarterly reporting on securities.

Steve Hassler
(913) 707-3296
steve.hassler@kc.rr.com

Steve Hauck — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Steve Hauck Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Allowing CEO's to skirt reporting and accountability requirements puts at risk millions of Americans retirement funds and future security. Don't do it even though Donald Trump told you to

Get Outlook for iOS

Steve Hooker — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Steve Hooker Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My name is Steve and I'm retired. If that's not good enough then too bad.
I don't mind if they have to sign daily. It isn't enough. The one thing we know is that they will get away with as much as we let them getaway with. Less accountability is not an improvement. Make them autograph things even more often before. Let it stand at quarterly at least.
SH

Steve Hreha — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Steve Hreha Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Reports should always be Quarterly as they are now .Maybe you should change it to monthly .

Steve Lyon — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Steve Lyon Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Do it.
Suggest the taxpayer files 4 times per year,
See how they like that.

Steve Marquardt — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Steve Marquardt Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This is total BS and allows companies to SCAM investors!
You people should be ASHAMED of yourself - you are protecting pedophiles and billionaires!
If you do this, YOUR Agency might as well be closed!
FKKK Trump and the GOP behind this move!

STEVE MCDOWELL — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: STEVE MCDOWELL Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Less transparency is never good for investors! Do not revert back to the old system.

Sent from my iPhone

Steve Musil — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Steve Musil Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Steve Musil, retired and depending on stock market investments for support. Please continue quarterly reporting of financial data.

Steve Napholtz — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Steve Napholtz Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Stephen Napholtz
Principal Engineer - Coherent (Retired)
Quarterly Reporting is essential for prudent investing decisions and being informed with reasonably current developments in rapidly developing fields such as AI, biotech and many high technology sectors.
Timely information leads to timely decisions.

Sent from my iPhone

Steve none — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Steve Everything moves faster in this age and investors need to be kept up to date faster as a result. Releasing financial results in a less timely manner does not help investors assess rapid impacts from technolgical evolutions.

Steve O'Lear — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Steve O'Lear Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Investors have a right to quarterly reports that provide information within a window of time that prevents insiders/company executives from trading before the public examines the results of operations. If not advantages are given that could reduce/curtail investment by the public.

Sincerely,
Stephen O’Lear

Sent from my iPad

---

steve oconnor — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: steve oconnor Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 You cannot eliminate quarterly statements. Do not become what you were created to eliminate.

---

steve oleson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: steve oleson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep corporations quarterly reporting.
Steve Oleson
Austin, TX

Steve Parr — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Steve Parr Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 You must keep it the way it is!

Steve Perrett — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Steve Perrett Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 just another chance to screw Americans by the ever grifting repubs. People are going to prison this time when this gets cleaned up. Something to think about

---

Steve Riley — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Steve Riley Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Protect the American investors from the Billionaires. Steven Riley USA

Steve Skorko — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Steve Skorko It looks to me that you, the sec, want only institutional investors to have yet more the advantages and resources which already make it difficult for individual investors to compete. Steve

---

Steven d. Wentzel — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Steven d. Wentzel Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly is too long. Monthly wouldn't be unreasonable, if we had staff dedicated only to reports. Updates or changes could be reported quarterly.

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Steven E Overholt — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Steven E Overholt Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Don’t give us less information. If anything we deserve more information more frequently!

Sent from my iPhone

Steven Fruechte — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Steven Fruechte Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Let's do monthly instead and include the board of. Directors meeting minutrs

---

Steven Kohn — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Steven Kohn Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please stop using the American people purely for your profits. We depend on companies for jobs and this country seems to not only lie cheat and steal for every penny, but it seems like you hate us for wanting to have enough to live a decent life. Please stop ruining this country for your short term profit and find your soul. This is insane - you treat us like we're your slaves and you hate us. We have to work together. Please stop cheating and stealing and lying to us every single chance you get.

Steven Kohn

(404) 545-0307

Steven Lee — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Steven Lee Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep It Quarterly!

Steven B. Lee, Ph. D.

Adjunct Courtesy Professor
Global Forensic Justice Center
Florida International University OE 116C
11200 SW 8th Street
Miami FL 33199
510-882-9036 cell (preferred), 305-348-4485 fax stlee@fiu.edu
sblee999@gmail.com (preferred)

Professor Emeritus and Former Director Forensic Science Programs
Department of Justice Studies

One Washington Square MQH 528
San Jose State University

San Jose, CA 95192-0050
408-924-2948 office 408-924-2953 fax 510-882-9036 cell (preferred)
steven.lee@sjsu.edu,
sblee999@gmail.com (preferred)

Steven Lewis — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Steven Lewis Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 As a retired CPA, I can tell you that financial information must be as current as possible. Investors need current information to make decisions. Since most financial information is computerized, no reason to make a change.

---

steven McCool — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: steven McCool Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 "Dear" SEC, As a retired, disabled American Working Class citizen, who earned everything I own thanks to the IBEW and all they offer, I am EXTREMELY concerned about the possibility of this proposal to limit my ability to track my financial well-being and give these institutions any opportunity to "hide"/ misrepresent their intentions for personal gain at my expense. Keeping the financial reporting quarterly DETERS this kind of behavior and it's in the PUBLIC'S best interest to do so and REFRAIN from such "dubious" NONSENSE. Sincerely, Steven M. McCool

---

Steven Smith — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Steven Smith Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please don't do this. Living on a fixed income is hard enough without making it harder for us older people. We've worked a long time to save for retirement, please don't make it harder on us. Thanks , .

Steven Smith — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Steven Smith More information not less

---

Steven Vega — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Steven Vega Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep it transparent so no blackout periods where things are hidden from public sight.

Thank you so much,
Steven Vega
SAGAFTRA, AEA
Actor, Comic, Professional Pitbull Impersonator

Actors Access

casting.com

Steven Vega's Website

---

steven w — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: steven w Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 KEEP IT QUARTERLY

Sent from my iPhone 13pro

Stevo Foran — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Stevo Foran Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I BELIEVE THAT ANYONE THAT HAS SKIN IN THE GAME SHOULD BE INFORMED. STOP PLAYING GAMES WITH WHAT WORKS. KEEP IT TRANSPARENT.

Sent from my iPhone

Stone White — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Stone White Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Do not, especially under pressure from your masters, reduce the reporting time to semi annually. DO KEEP IT QUARTERLY. That is not a request, and I believe everybody is behind that...well, at least us honest folk.

Thank you for your attention to this matter,

Matthew Van Dyk

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Stoppert Perez — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Stoppert Perez Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the Quarterly report! Retired University Professor needs to have same access to financial info as the big boys. Stop trying to make the rich richer. Respect the retail investor....for once. Mary Stoppert, Chicago!

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Sual Gorman — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Sual Gorman Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
You were created to protect and regulate, DO YOUR JOB FOR ONCE AND STOP LETTING BIR CORPORATIONS RUN OVER US CITIENS

Sue A Schaefer — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Sue A Schaefer Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 SEC
We’re retiree’s and our IRA’S are at risk! Americans deserve TRANSPARENCY!
Sue Schaefer

Sent from my iPhone

Sue Ash — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Sue Ash Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 As a shareholder I rely on quarterly reporting for investment planning purposes. It is ridiculous to enable companies to to hide important information about share performance.
Susan Ash

Sent from my Verizon, Samsung Galaxy smartphone
Get Outlook for Android

Sue B — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Sue B More Disclosure and Transparancy, not less. Investors need the most information they can get on the companies they own or may be preparing to own.

Sue Brannan — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Sue Brannan Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 There is enough fraud and insider BS going on in this administration. Enough is enough! We need boundaries back. Period.

Sue Chester — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Sue Chester Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Reporting quarterly keeps companies in line and is extremely important for investors.

Sue Ellen Lupien — Jun 18, 2026

Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Sue Ellen Lupien Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We must have reliable, accurate reporting to safeguard investors base on quarterly, signed financial statements. Nothing less!

Sue Farnham — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Sue Farnham Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep quarterly reports

Sent from my iPhone

Sue Goodman — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Sue Goodman Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I'm not sure where to begin, but here goes. I've relied on quarterly reporting before I became an investor back in the 1980's while going to college & studying business & accounting. Once I did become an investor, those quarterly reports were & still are essential in providing reliable information on company performance. Quarterly reporting is helpful now that I'm retired & rely on making informed decisions for my portfolio. It helps me decide whether or not to stay the course with an investment, or rebalance a little or sell. If the reporting switches to semi-annually, I won't have the opportunity to tweak my investments in a timely manner - to either take advantage of positive returns, or get out of under performing stocks. By switching reporting to semi- annually, I could miss out on upside profits, or downside protection- all due to not having information at my fingertips to make informed/timely investment decisions.

Quarterly reporting has been around for decades, why the need to change to less frequent reporting, we actually need more information & timely information, not less.
I hope you will reconsider and leave quarterly reporting as-is, lots of us small size investors rely on the information.

Thank you
Sue Goodman

Sue Lehman — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Sue Lehman Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 People and agencies need quarterly reports to make decisions affecting them. Too many decisions behind closed doors benefit only a few .

Sue Lehman — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Sue Lehman Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Too many decisions go on behind closed doors. They benefit only a few people when many more are affected and need to be aware

---

Sue Lewis — Jun 18, 2026

Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Sue Lewis Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Do not “fix” something that is not broken. Keep the quarterly reports.

Sent from my iPhone

Sue Masaracchia-Roberts — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Sue Masaracchia-Roberts Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This proposal is the exact opposite of transparency and is, in fact, a travesty allowing highway robbery of investors and taxpayers! THIS MUST NOT BE ALLOWED TO PASS!!!

SUSAN ROBERTS, senior citizen from ILLINOIS

Sent from my iPad

Sue McCormick — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Sue McCormick Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Companies need to continue to be held accountable to their shareholders on a quarterly basis. they Allowing a six month window is detrimental for individuals who are reliant on their investments to plan in good faith. Please don’t change the reporting period to six months.

Sue McCormick

Sue McCoy — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Sue McCoy Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We, the people, have a fundamental right to know what is going on quarterly, not semi annually. It's bad enough we have to wait three months to see some of the corruption taking place, we definitely shouldn't have to wait 6 months.

Sue Rizzo — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Sue Rizzo Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 These companies make enough money to report quarterly. It helps with transparency. Keep the quarterly reporting!

Sue Russ — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Sue Russ Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Rules are in place for a reason! Quarterly reporting should continue.

Sent from my iPhone

Sue Wilder — Jun 18, 2026

Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Sue Wilder Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Just another way to hurt tax payers, especially us retirees. Mrs. KS Wilder

---

Summer Mitchell — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Summer Mitchell Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:I am an individual, small-time investor. There should be at least some protections in place for people like me: of limited means and opportunities. Do not rig the system in favor of the wealthiest among us. They don't need protection; people like me do. Thank you.

SunnyGirl82 — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: SunnyGirl82 Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Miranda Bryant, processor, the the quarterly reporting needs to stay!

Susan — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Susan Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I urge you to continue quarterly reporting. There is far too much insider trading, corruption, and shady dealings going on. It seems white collar crime always goes unpunished. Consumers and the public pay the price for these crimes, while the perpetrators get a slap on the wrist & keep the money. It’s time the rules apply to corporations and the wealthy too.

Thank you,
S. Carlson
Massachusetts

Susan Batchelder — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Susan Batchelder Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Continue quarterly reporting…no THIEVES in SEC! Do not descend into the quagmire of Trump’s admin. Stay as honorable as possible! CONTINUE QUARTERLY REPORTS!!!

Sent from my iPhone

Susan Biblehimer Penrod — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Susan Biblehimer Penrod Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 After Enron, the quarterly reporting assisted in keeping big business on the path of honesty towards its stockholders. Keeping quarterly reports is necessary to ensure that history will not repeat itself.

Susan Black — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Susan Black Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 As a business owner, it is imperative to have transparency. We cannot make educated decisions without it. Why would these companies be allowed to do this? It is not fair and it is not acceptable! Keep the reporting quarterly! I have to do this for my own personal business for tax purposes, there should be no exceptions!

Susan Black
Open Air Decor

Susan Boland — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Susan Boland Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Companies should continue to be required to file quarterly reports. Investors should not be kept in the dark for half a year.

Sincerely,
Dr. Susan Boland
237 W Water St, Lock Haven, PA 17745

Susan Calhoun — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Susan Calhoun Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting was instituted for a reason, to prevent unethical or illegal practices. To keep an eye on what's going on in companies. It needs to stay in place.

Get Outlook for Android

Susan Cooper — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Susan Cooper Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I'm a retail investor and I rely on quarterly reporting for my retirement accounts. I believe that eliminating quarterly reporting also opens up opportunities for fraud.

Sent from my iPhone

Susan Cummings — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Susan Cummings Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Sue Cummings, retired: We need quarterly reporting! It's too easy for fraud to slip through with longer reporting periods. -- Sue Cummings, retired,

---

Susan Denise Beasley — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Susan Denise Beasley Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 So no real accountability for their actions for signing lying statements. I think that is an injustice to the Average Americans that has to have accountability for their financial actions when fraudulent.

Susan Dewey — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Susan Dewey Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting allows the public to keep an eye on businesses in America. Whether they want to invest or retreat from business that is not doing well, the quarterly reports lets Americans know the facts!

Susan French — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Susan French Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I find this on point with current administration corruption.
Transparency seems to be a problem for all.
As a recipient of social security, Medicare, Medicaid and snap. I am required to show proof of all my financial actions not only annually but at anytime they can give me 10 days to provide produce more documentation.
There is no honest reason to change it. Zero
Susan French
Disabled/retired citizen of America
This should matter to every citizen of this once great nation. The honest business has nothing to fear. The dishonest must be kept in check!

Susan Gilstrap — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Susan Gilstrap Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
No!

Susan Gordon — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Susan Gordon Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Susan Gordon, retail employee at a Health food store. Please keep quarterly reports as is. Don't make it easier for fraudulent behavior.

Susan Grennell — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Susan Grennell Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Please keep the quarterly reports in place.

Susan H. Summers — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Susan H. Summers Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Susan Haddon Summers

---

Susan Homar — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Susan Homar Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting done accurately is critical the investment process. Please do not turn back to semi annual reporting. Truth and transparency diein the dark!

Sent from my iPad

Susan Houdek — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Susan Houdek Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Do not change the current system.Rigorous enforce produces honesty in enforcement. To shorten temps greedy CEOs to to take a risk and cheat

Sent from my iPhone

Susan Houdek — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Susan Houdek Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My name is Susan Houdek-Hazen. I am a business woman retired. Do not change the current system.Rigorous enforce produces honesty in enforcement. To shorten temps greedy CEOs to take a risk and cheat. I am a resident of Virginia.

Sent from my iPhone

Susan Hranek — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Susan Hranek Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This is a terrible idea for the average investor. In the last year the American public has been screwed repeatedly. Let us learn from past incidents and protect the citizens and not benefit the rich
Susan Hranek

Susan Huff — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Susan Huff Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We need to know the current status of what we're invested in.

Sent from my iPhone

Susan Ingle — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Susan Ingle Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 No. Stop making laws that hurt 98 percent of the country.

Susan Ireland — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Susan Ireland Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Now is NOT the time to dismantle a process that protects everyone and keeps corporations “somewhat honest”. Come on SEC, our world is falling apart. Act like it.

Sent from my iPhone

Susan Jones — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Susan Jones Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please don’t limit our access to this important information.

Susan Jones

Susan Kelso — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Susan Kelso Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please do NOT change to semi-annual reporting. It is important for it yo be quarterly!
Susan Kelso
Retired teacher

Sent from my iPhone

Susan Kesti — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Susan Kesti Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please don't allow this. It would devastate me financially in my retirement. Susan Kesti

---

Susan Laliberte — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Susan Laliberte Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We need to keep the quarterly reporting as it currently stands. We must keep this information as transparent as possible. I would personally like to see monthly reporting.

Susan Laliberte

Susan Lawrence — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Susan Lawrence Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please keep my investments -and retirement- safe by keeping quarterly reports.
Do not allow companies to work with only twice yearly reporting.
Susan Lawrence

Susan Lyon-Myrick — Jun 18, 2026

Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Susan Lyon-Myrick Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Absolutely unacceptable

---

Susan Macchia — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Susan Macchia Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Reporting Financial results, Etc should be done every single month not quarterly. This is our money, my money, that I am investing in stocks. If monthly reporting doesn't happen, the people should be putting their money somewhere more trustworthy. This is unacceptable. I want to see the results and the performance of my money every month.

Susan McParker — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Susan McParker Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 With the way we are seeing corporations profit as they increase prices for consumers, this seems like a terrible time to cut oversight in half. The SEC needs to do better at overseeing and sharing about such corporate profits.
My name is Susan and this matters to me because so many people live paycheck-to-paycheck or have to put necessities on credit. That isn't economic freedom and if our country stands for freedom (which it has) then it needs to oversee corporations who would prey on people's economic freedom.

Susan McParker — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Susan McParker Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 With the way we are seeing corporations profit as they increase prices for consumers, this seems like a terrible time to cut oversight in half. The SEC needs to do better at overseeing and sharing about such corporate profits.
My name is Susan and this matters to me because so many people live paycheck-to-paycheck or have to put necessities on credit. That isn't economic freedom and if our country stands for freedom (which it has) then it needs to oversee corporations who would prey on people's economic freedom.

Susan Miller — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Susan Miller Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My name is Susan Miller, I am retired. I am 83 years old and the small amount that I have invested in my mutual funds account, is the entirety of my savings. Of course, I am interested in the highest return, which will allow me to utilize the income from these funds for longer. I believe that the more frequent the reporting, allows more transparency for investors, and historically has proven to have given greater returns. It makes no sense to change something that is working for the small investor and basically most everybody else. I recommend that you stay with the quarterly report system. Thank you for giving my response. Your consideration.
Respectfully, Susan Miller.

Sue Miller

Susan Morabit — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Susan Morabit Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Less information about companies is not helpful to individual investors! Companies already hide behind laws & complicated business practices that make it difficult for investors to sus out all the potential outcomes & implications. Don't make it easier for them! Quarterly disclosures should always be mandated!

Susan Morales — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Susan Morales Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I live in Owasso OK; I'm a retired bookkeeper. My name is Susan Morales More regular reporting is best! It's necessary to maintain correct checks and balances. Transparency is much easier to question and adhere to with more reporting.

Sent from my iPhone

Susan Morris — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Susan Morris Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Sarbanes-Oxley was created to prevent the next Enron. Many people lost everything due blatant fraud. We need to protect people's retirement savings from fraudulent practices. I support keeping the current regulations to protect Americans from bad actors.

Susan M.

Sent from my iPhone

Susan Myers — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Susan Myers Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Taking quarterly reporting away will keep me in the dark on how to efficiently invest my money. I need that information to make the best decisions I can with my money, for me.

Susan Nemeth — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Susan Nemeth Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is the investor's security blanket. It keeps us informed in a timely manner that allows us to monitor and intervene before our investments are mishandled rather than trying to clean up when the downhill slope is already in progress.

Sent from my iPhone

Susan Parks — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Susan Parks Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Get your head out of the sand. Don't allow this.

Susan Peckham — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Susan Peckham Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 These snakes the threat of a long mandatory prison time so no judge has any option to lessen the sentence. Any convicted person's serving a sentence now needs to serve every day of that sentence.

Susan Permenter — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Susan Permenter Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting provides more accountability. Please keep it.

Susan Plath — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Susan Plath Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I want to see quarterly reporting remain. I oppose making any changes.
Susan Plath
Office Manager

Susan Plath

Susan Pleasant — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Susan Pleasant Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep 10Q reporting quarterly. I am retired. I cannot afford to lose confidence and give the richest another advantage!
Susan Pleasant, Retired pleasant.susan@gmail.com

Susan Pleasant
3150 Minart Dr.
Winston Salem, NC 27107

"A problem that is well stated is half solved." Charles Kettering

---

Susan Popyer — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Susan Popyer Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting keeps public companies honest. Since Enron in 2002, every CEO must personally certify their numbers every quarter, with federal prison on the line for signing a lie. Right now, the SEC is proposing 'semi-annual' reporting, cutting those certified filings to twice a year. Half the jail risk for shady CEOs. Double the risk for my savings.

Sent from my iPhone

Susan Primmer — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Susan Primmer Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Widening the window on reporting decreases the small investor and allows companies to hide losses to ghe small investors. It us a very regressive and dangerous and unfair economic change.

Sent from my iPhone

Susan Richmond — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Susan Richmond Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Susan Richmond
Retired
Anchorage, Alaska

Please keep the quarterly reporting requirements. It is extremely important to have current information now more than ever. The speed of changes in our economy and Technology makes the need for the most current financial information critical to ensure trust and transparency for investors.

Sent from my iPhone

Susan Scharnberg — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Susan Scharnberg Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This is diabolical. Reporting and accountability is critical. Quarterly reports must remain.

Susan Shapiro — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Susan Shapiro Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Transparency is the foundation of stable markets! Please do not mess with what WORKS! Thank you!
S. Shapiro
Normal, everyday, invested American.

Sent from my iPhone

SUSAN SMITH — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: SUSAN SMITH Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Susan Smith
Retired Teacher

Dear SEC regulators,
I do not see a reason for changing the reporting rules for corporate personnel, CEOs & CFOs. The rules written in 2002 were put in place for a reason- to stop Illegal actions by corporate leaders. If you put off the reporting you risk losing data and answerable individuals, should fraud be found. Those safeguards were written after the Enron case for a reason, and the SEC should explain why they believe this change from 4 reports a year, to two.
You are just providing executives with more time to commit and hide their fraud.

This could affect me personally should the company managing my retirement fund decide to do something to benefit themselves and not the retirees whose accounts they manage.

This SEC reporting change should NOT be instituted.

Respectfully,
Susan Smith

Sent from my iPhone

---

susan smith — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: susan smith Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Seriously America s we hey are you trying to destroy every good thing? Do your job and protect the citizens who are not oligarchs. Do not change the reporting periods. Stop literally trying to turn us into your fiefdom.

Sent from my iPod

Susan Stolzer — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Susan Stolzer Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Big business needs to be held accountable to stock holders and the public. We have been shown time and time again that for-profit business needs accountability. That is the role of government and by extension the SEC. I work in public education but invest in public and private companies. I want to know my money is safe and the government should work for me, not the businesses.

Sent from my iPhone
--
This e-mail message contains information that may be privileged or confidential and is the property of the Board of Education of TrueNorth Educational Cooperative 804 <http://www.truenorth804.org>. It is intended only for the person(s) to whom it is addressed. If you are not the intended recipient of this message, you are not authorized to read, print, retain, copy, disseminate, distribute, or use this message or any part thereof. If you have received this message in error, please notify the sender immediately and delete all copies of this message.

Susan Stone — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Susan Stone Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Businesses will still want to know their performance metrics so that financial information will continue to be available internally. There is no logical reason to stop reporting quarterly. Investors have a right to access that data when we are making decisions.
Susan Stone

Susan Strand — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Susan Strand Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I need to know when to diverse! why do you get the right, but I don't get the right?? Why do you get money, but I don't get money? Why can't I know before the crash? I want quarterly statements. I have a right to quarterly statements. Susan Strand 7/18/2026

Susan Tanke — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Susan Tanke Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Sounds sneaky and greedy. The average retail investor doesn't want this

---

susan wade-wilder — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: susan wade-wilder Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 The corruption in this administration is the highest ever. Doing this will ensure you too are corrupt. Just DO NOT cut reporting to 2x a year

---

Susan Westling — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Susan Westling Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My name is Susan Westling, retired, and dependent of a strong stock market to stretch my life savings out as long as possible. Please do not change financial reporting to biannual vs. the current quarterly requirement.

Sent from my iPhone

Susan Zeman-Moore — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Susan Zeman-Moore Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 What are you try to hide. Keep it HONEST!!!
KEEP IT QUARTERLY!

Sent from my iPhone

Susann Cate Lynn — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Susann Cate Lynn Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the quarterly reporting. I oppose allowing companies to “go dark” for 6 months. Too much can change in that time, and it is possible that fraud could go undetected.
Susann Cate Lynn, Retiree

Susanna Concha-Garcia — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Susanna Concha-Garcia Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Must retain biannual reporting for investors & companies.

The public needs reliable and timely information to make investing decisions.

Thank you

Susanna Concha-Garcia

---

susantrem — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: susantrem Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Susan Tremblay- as a retiree, it is imperative that I be able to see how my portfolio is doing in order to best budget our finances and plan for our future needs. During my career as an educator, we have already taken several "hits", most notably with the 2008 crisis. While still working , we had been able to recover losses. Now, as retirees, with costs of everything- housing, food, gasoline, heating, electricity- increasing at such a rapid pace, it is more important than ever to stay on top and manage our resources as best as possible. Limiting access to reporting will severely curtail our ability to do so. "Keep it Quarterly"!

Sent from my Galaxy

SUSIE — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: SUSIE Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To be fair all have a right to know how these businesses are doing quarterly and not have special privilege !

Sent from my iPhone

Susie Fuller — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Susie Fuller Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 PLEASE KEEP IT QUARTERLY!

PLEASE DO NOT TAKE HALF OF OUR SAVINGS!

PLEASE DO NOT KILL THE REPUBLICAN PARTY!

THIS WILL BE DEVASTATING FOR SENIOR CITIZENS!

SUSIE FULLER

Susie Scott — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Susie Scott Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the quarterly reporting. We need to keep the CEO and CFO accountability for signing off that they've reviewed their reports and that there aren't material mistakes or untrue statements. No CEO should be unaware or not know what's in their financial statements and reports. Requiring sign offs are not hard if the information is true and correct. Rolling back the assertions only helps fraud. Press releases and current report aren't audited or reviewed and don't carry the same accountability as the quarterly filings.
My name is Susie Scott and I'm retired now, but I worked in Accounting for 37 years in Wichita, Kansas. I remember when Sarbanes-Oxley was implemented and the seriousness we attached to the process. I wholeheartedly want to keep the accountability.

Susie Wakeland — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Susie Wakeland Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 The rich protecting their own! Leave it quarterly!

NS Wakeland
Lampasas, Texas

Susie Wakeland — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Susie Wakeland Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 The rich protecting their own! Leave it quarterly!

---

susiebren11 — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: susiebren11 Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is essential. Please keep it that way.

Sent from my Galaxy

Susin Fair — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Susin Fair Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 A despicable action designed to break the backs of working people and those who have had faith in our financial system

---

Suzan McIntosh — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Suzan McIntosh Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Having quarterly disclosures helps me decide where I should invest my money to or where I should pull my money from. This is important as at this stage of my life

---

Suzann Dvorken — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Suzann Dvorken Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the 90 days reporting rule. Whatever reason Wall St. wants to change it is hubris and BS.

Suzanne Angel — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Suzanne Angel Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I think the frequency in reporting is important for transparency and protection for investors. I am opposed to only semi-annual reporting.

Sent from my iPhone

Suzanne Beyer — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Suzanne Beyer Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting keeps companies healthier. Better for them, better for us. If we can trust them we are more apt to spend our money with them. Win, win!

Sent from my iPhone

Suzanne Calonje — Jun 18, 2026

Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Suzanne Calonje Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please let's not go back to the fifties. I carefully follow quarterly reports, it's important for account owners to be informed. We don't want this info to be available to insiders only.

Sent from my iPhone

Suzanne Duke — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Suzanne Duke Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep quartet rreporting

Sent from my iPad

Suzanne Lebovit — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Suzanne Lebovit Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We need all the transparency and information

Sent from my iPhone

Suzanne Leitner NA — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Suzanne Leitner I don't want any more Enrons or First Energy. Quarterly reporting helps keep those with an inclination toward corruption from falling into deceit. In a time when lying seems not just acceptable, rather, something of an art form, less reporting is a bad idea.

Suzanne Patrakis — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Suzanne Patrakis Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly filings/ reports provide vital information for individual investors. Too much can happen in a 6 month timeframe - the most up to date data is necessary to make informed decisions.

Suzanne Patrakis
Finance Manager

Suzanne Rios — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Suzanne Rios Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We need to keep it as is to protect the public.

Sent from my iPhone

Suzanne Vaughn — Jun 18, 2026

Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Suzanne Vaughn Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I am Suzanne Alexander-Vaughn, product manager at a publicly traded company, and I strongly believe quarter reporting is necessary for oversight of businesses choosing that business model. If they do not want to do quarterly reporting, they can always become a privately held business.

Suzi Grosart — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Suzi Grosart Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My name is Susan Grosart. I am a United States citizen who votes in every election. My current living status is own My home in Pasco county Florida. I believe keeping the quarterly reporting as is helps keep things open and honest. Well, somewhat honest. Thank you for reading this email.

Suzie Struhall — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Suzie Struhall Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Hell to the NO. We lived through Enron. Shame on you for wanting us to do that again.

Sweet P — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Sweet P Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly filings/reports provide vital information for individual investors. Too much can happen in a 6 month timeframe - the most up to date data is necessary to make informed decisions.
Suzanne Patrakis
Finance Manager

Sydne Luebe — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Sydne Luebe Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 You should make all companies report quarterly. Then if investors want to divest they can or visa versa.

Sydne Luebe.
Mountain View Wyoming
A small investor.

Sydne Luebe — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Sydne Luebe Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 You should make all companies report quarterly. Then if investors want to divest they can or visa versa.

Sydne

Sylvia Gannett — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Sylvia Gannett Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 James E. Gannett
Sylvia A. Crawford Gannett
Both - private citizens

Frederick, MD

We have worked all our lives.
Retired
We need to continue to hold people accountable.
They need to turn in the Quarterly reporting as they have been doing. Not when ever they feel like it.
No changes.

This is lazy and irresponsible.

Sent from my iPhone

---

symone stone — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: symone stone Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 If the standard is changed at all, it should be to increase reporting. Monthly reporting is more appropriate and feasible in the age of technology. The people want more corporate accountability, not less.

Symone S.
Attorney

T TURNER — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: T TURNER Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is in the best interest of consumers. Keep it.

Sent from my iPhone

T. Camel — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: T. Camel Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I'm a consumer and appreciate the updates on how the economy is doing. Don't change the quarterly reporting for the people.

Yvette C.
Public Service Employee

T. Thomlin — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: T. Thomlin Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Dear SEC as a shareholder and taxpayer with an accounting background I believe that quarterly reporting is essential oversight to keep companies accountable. Please continue the quarterly reporting requirements. T.O. Thomas MD surgeon Tucson Arizona USA

Tabitha Chrisman — Jun 18, 2026

Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Tabitha Chrisman Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 CEOs have to be accountable. They already get away with so many grievances against the working class. This matters because CEOs can't expect to make billions off of their workers without being held accountable for their actions.
Tabitha Chrisman, School Counselor, Minnesota

Tad T — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Tad T Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 End corporate tyranny made possible by corrupt politicians. Truth, justice and integrity are the way to rebuild our country.

Tai Wong — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Tai Wong Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 If the CEO is not held accountable, how will securities truly be secure? The need for accountability in time for actions to be found as fraudulent must be maintained. Is quarterly sufficient? Would monthly be better? We must avoid another ENRON. The citizens should not have to pay for fraud. The role of the government is to ensure a proper transfer of transactions in an equitable and fair system. Any executives who lie or deceive others should be held liable, fined, and pay restitution for the loss and injury to the parties involved, and perhaps be jailed or serve out their sentence doing work that helps to pay for their crimes.

I am a naturalized US citizen,
Tai Wong

Virus-free.www.avg.com

Tamara Clowers — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Tamara Clowers Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Don’t change the quarterly reporting!! They are there for a reason.

Sent from my iPhone

Tamara Dotson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Tamara Dotson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To Whom It May Concern:

As a physician associate, I am busy taking care of your children and quarterly reporting makes it possible to manage my investment portfolio while doing so. I am required to release all my notes to patients/parents, even if they don’t understand them. Companies must be required to continue to release quarterly reports, even if they do not want to do it.

The entire purpose of the SEC is to protect the public. The proposed changes would facilitate the ability of big business to defraud American investors. This means the SEC would not be achieving its purpose. Please do not allow corporate America to steal more than it already does.

KEEP IT QUARTERLY!

Thank you,

Tamara Dotson, MCHS, PA-C
Pediatric Orthopedic Surgery Sent from my iPhone

Tamarr — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Tamarr Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Do you believe the American People want to give publicly traded companies more time for fraud? We've seen the unprecedented corruption unroll in front of our eyes for the past 18 months. The savings to companies that reporting only twice a year would create is minuscule. The damage to investors if corruption continues unchecked would be devastating.
Continue quarterly reporting and minimize fraud.

Tammie Hart — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Tammie Hart Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
This should never be done! It's wrong and its another way we the people get screwed again!

Tammie Itzka — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Tammie Itzka Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I don't understand the government's thinking, but I don't agree with changing reporting. I think it should remain the same.

Sent from my iPhone

Tammy Berk — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Tammy Berk Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting essential. Essential.

Tammy Berk, artist located in St Petersburg FL
727-692-5563

Visit my Facebook page here: https://www.facebook.com/berkfineart or connect with me personally on Facebook here: https://www.facebook.com/tammy.berk Find me on Instagram: Tammy Berk

---

Tammy Clauson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Tammy Clauson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This regulation was signed into law, because of the paramount need for accountability! To go back now and reduce that accountability would be absurd! Please, do not seriously consider the idea of loosening these guardrails!!! The temptation for fraud in today's world, is a very real and present danger, and accountability is a must!
Thank you,
Tammy Clauson
Registered Nurse - retired
Minneapolis, Minnesota

Tammy Guy — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Tammy Guy Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Fair is fair .keep it quaterly.

Tammy Richardson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Tammy Richardson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 CEOs and companies absolutely must report AT LEAST quarterly! I believe having unannounced random checks would be even more effective, but lessening the check ups on what corporations and their management systems are doing with investors money is vital! We need to know when our investments are in trouble! Please, keep our money as safe as possible with reports quarterly or bimonthly would be even better. Thank you, Tamaria Richardson

---

Tammy Stueber — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Tammy Stueber Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Fraud

Tamsen — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Tamsen Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting needs to remain so that regular shareholders- not the executives- can maintain their life savings without a devastating devaluation hit.

Tanja Birke — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Tanja Birke Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 More honest reports please. give us time to know what is happening

---

Tanya Lack — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Tanya Lack Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 They should sign monthly!!!!!!

Tari Mitcheff — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Tari Mitcheff Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep it Quarterly!

Tari

Taryn Fisher — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Keep the 10Q From: Taryn Fisher Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is essential. It must be continued. Full transparency is essential.

Taryn Fisher
Keene,NH --

Best Regards,

Taryn

Tasha Mills — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Tasha Mills Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Not good for investors

Tauy Scott NA — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Tauy Scott Tauy Scott, retired, we need to require the SEC to maintain quarterly reporting. It's not fair that only insiders are privy to such information. All citizens should have access to quarterly information to make their personal decisions.

Taylor Russell — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Taylor Russell Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I am T. Russell and I am a restaurant professional who is a small time investor. I am one of millions of Americans who are trying to build wealth with a relatively small budget. We need quarterly reports. We need at least the same amount of transparency as we're getting now. if this proposal goes through, you bet I will fight even harder against the current administration by organizing more people to vote against it in both 2026 and 2028. Like many Americans, I'm tired of false promises to "drain da swamp, hurrdeedurr" and then you just dump more sewage into what is already there. Paul Atkins and his immediate subordinates should be very ashamed of themselves for allowing this to even be considered. Do not do this. MAGA will not be in power forever and this will come back to haunt you.

Ted Griess — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Ted Griess Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I diligently review my quarterly fund reports and would surly miss them should they disappear. I rely on them to make my financial decisions. Waiting six months for such vital information is too long. Please don't eliminate quarterly reports!

Sent from my iPhone

Ted Sittser — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Ted Sittser Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Just no!

Ted

Ted Sloan — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Ted Sloan The proposal to allow publicly held companies to report every six months is a solution in search of a problem. The quarterly reports are important protections and sources of vital information for individual investors. If anything, businesses should be required to report more frequently, not less.

Ted Thomas — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Ted Thomas Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I am just an ordinary citizen who has been blessed with the ability to make handsome investments in our national businesses. Part of that success is having reasonably reliable info on how "my" companies are addressing rapidly changing opportunities…and rapid is the right word. While I applaud the intent to simplify reporting requirements, it seems to me that removal of quarterlies increases the market risk/reward ratio, and will result in more significant and uncertain price changes at 6 month intervals. My opinion? Squash this plan

A ship in the harbor is safe, but that's not what ships are built for

Ted

Ted Thomas — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Ted Thomas Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I am just an ordinary citizen who has been blessed with the ability to make handsome investments in our national businesses. Part of that success is having reasonably reliable info on how "my" companies are addressing rapidly changing opportunities…and rapid is the right word. While I applaud the intent to simplify reporting requirements, it seems to me that removal of quarterlies increases the market risk/reward ratio, and will result in more significant and uncertain price changes at 6 month intervals. My opinion? Squash this plan

Ted Thomas
A ship in the harbor is safe, but that's not what ships are built for

T

Tena Wentz — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Tena Wentz Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission: I was involved in the changes when this was initially enacted as an employee of a major financial institution. Relaxing rules NOW creates a larger problem, especially in this time of increases data breaches, fraud & insider trading.

Teresa CAMPBELL — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Teresa CAMPBELL Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 People need more frequent access to this vital information!

Get Outlook for iOS

Teresa Eddleman — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Teresa Eddleman Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I am 79 with a relatively small retirement account. Losing one third or one half would leave me with almost no backup for emergencies or in case social security is cut. This is nit right for those of us who are retired with limited means. I am a retired educator. Teresa Eddleman, San Antonio Tx

Sent from my iPhone

Teresa Harless — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Teresa Harless Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Absolutely do NOT change the quarterly reporting! I am a retired senior on a fixed income. Quarterly reporting helps with my financial planning. Teresa Harless, VA

Teresa Helms — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Teresa Helms Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly transparency is important for those that work and invest in the retail industry, like me. I need to be able to count on the company I work for.

Teresa Henry — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Teresa Henry Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I strongly object to giving funds managers additional time to hide or skim funds “off the top” by not providing statements quarterly. The longer period before getting caught—allows for less likelihood of recouping any losses. Have no doubt the Enron scandal resulted in legal requirement for quarterly statements for just this reason. Especially hazardous now with the advent of crypto and ability to move across shell companies rapidly obscuring any financial trail. If Trump hadn’t been stupid enough to write checks to pay off his porn star, there would have been no incriminating evidence. Certainly, those who commit financial crimes are adept in hiding their tracks: we need consumers to have time to catch them before too much time elapses.

Teresa E. Henry, Captain USAF (Ret), Alexandria, VA

Get Outlook for iOS

Teresa J. Telles — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Teresa J. Telles Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 It doesn’t require a pHD to learn that “history repeats itself!” Why is the SEC thinking about lowering financial reporting requirements? Leaders should be responsible! Haven’t you “learned” from the historical evidence that when you don’t require QUARTERLY REPORTING, profits and markets go down? Please don’t make another HUGE woke mistake by going back to reporting just twice per year. I’m a retired business owner and science educator, Teresa J. Telles. At 78, I need financial security! I worked more than 40 years and still consult. Please think this over, and do what’s right for the American people.

Teresa J. Telles

Teresa Jonaitis — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Teresa Jonaitis Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please keep the Quarterly Reports. Ability to plan ahead, evaluate and have transparency is paramount. Teresa Jonaitis, BSN, RN Phoenix Arizona

Sent from my iPhone

Teresa Lamphier — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Teresa Lamphier Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
I strongly oppose any proposal that would weaken or reduce quarterly disclosure requirements for public companies.

As a retail investor, quarterly reports are one of the most important tools I have for making informed investment decisions. These disclosures provide timely information about a company's financial condition, revenue, expenses, risks, cash flow, and management's outlook. Without regular quarterly reporting, investors would be forced to make decisions based on stale or incomplete information. Large institutional investors often have greater resources, access to analysts, and the ability to gather information from multiple sources. Retail investors depend heavily on standardized quarterly disclosures to ensure a fair and transparent marketplace. Reducing the frequency or quality of these reports would create an information gap that disadvantages ordinary investors and undermines confidence in our markets.
Quarterly disclosures promote transparency, accountability, and market efficiency. They help investors identify emerging risks, evaluate management performance, and respond appropriately to changing business conditions. Delaying or eliminating these disclosures would effectively blindfold retail investors for extended periods, making it more difficult to assess the true value and risks of our investments.
The SEC's mission includes protecting investors and maintaining fair, orderly, and efficient markets. Preserving robust quarterly disclosure requirements is consistent with that mission. Taking away timely access to material financial information would reduce transparency and weaken investor protections.
I respectfully urge the SEC to reject any proposal that would diminish quarterly reporting requirements and instead continue to support policies that provide investors with timely, reliable, and comparable information.
Thank you for considering my comments.
Sincerely,
Teresa Lamphier

---

teresa mak — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: teresa mak Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting and signing by the CEOs needs to stay. Period.

Teresa Osborne — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Teresa Osborne Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep it QUARTERLY!!!!!!

Sent from my iPhone

Teresa Phillips — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Teresa Phillips Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep it Quarterly !!

Teresa Poole — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Teresa Poole Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My name is Teresa Poole and I am a payroll professional living in Metro Atlanta, Georgia. We are all accustomed to accessing financial reporting each quarter. This allows citizens to monitor investments and the economy fairly often. Replacing quarterly requirements with semiannual reporting reduces citizens ability to react to changes quickly and could allow for manipulation of results. I urge the SEC to abandon the plan to make this change. I have seen no evidence that citizens are unhappy with the current reporting requirements and see no need to add confusion to the current financial climate.

Teresa Poole

Teresa Roberts — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Teresa Roberts Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This is like getting your school scores at mid term and when the school term has ended.

Teresa Robertson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Teresa Robertson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My financial stability relies on up-to-date transparency in the stock market! I'm an elderly person who has very modest investments which keep me from living just above the panic line. I NEED to know how my "hummingbird nest egg" is facing change on a routine basis. Quarterly is not too often; Semi-annually gives bad news double the time to go from a concern that needs addressing to a disaster that I likely could not claw my way out of.

KEEP IT QUARTERLY

./t

Teri Curtis — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Teri Curtis Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 6 months is way to long. Keep it at the current 3 months. Going dark that long encourages embezzlement.

Teri Matthews — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Teri Matthews Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 It IS NOT ok to to continue to fleece the American people. My name is Teri and I worked for 35 years until my job at IBM was stolen from me with the "resource allocation" based on another wonderful bill that outsourced thousands of jobs out of the country. NOW you want to blatantly keep us literally in the dark as you pilfer our retirement accounts. ENOUGH IS ENOUGH let us retire with friggin dignity.

I worked very hard all my life and I just want to have the money I worked hard for stays right where it is. DONT BE SO *ED GREEDY.

Teri Medley — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Teri Medley Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This does not benefit anyone but the C-suite executives, board members and insiders, not the American People. This is more than a bad idea…. this is dangerous to our economy and to the stability of our country.

Teri Medley
RE/MAX Commonwealth
Happy New Beginnings

Licensed in the Commonwealth of Virginia

Terrance McGuire The Motley Fool Community — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Terrance McGuire Quarterly reporting is important to protect small investors and help maintain a fair market.

Terrell Gibson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Terrell Gibson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 keep quarterly reports

---

Terresa Clark — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Terresa Clark Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Terresa Clark
Advertising Account Executive

Quarterly reporting is critical to know how my money is being used. Businesses who accept investments through the stock exchange need to be MORE transparent, not less.

Sent from my iPhone

Terri Benincasa — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Terri Benincasa Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I know you've sworn an oath of loyalty to trump; I also know it's never too late to change course and do the job as defined by congress for the benefit of the American people.
Start with the quarterly reporting requirement that keeps public companies honest. Since Enron in 2002, every CEO must personally certify their numbers every quarter, with federal prison on the line for signing a lie. Yet you are proposing ‘semi-annual’ reporting, cutting those certified filings to twice a year. Half the jail risk for shady CEOs. Double the risk for our savings.
So please show a semblance of care for OUR interests and keep the quarterly reporting requirement.
Terri Benincasa

Terri Doyle — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Terri Doyle Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Terri Doyle, CEO of Coastal Ridge Farm LLC.

Reducing the time frame is irresponsible. Keep the quarterly reporting!

Terri Fall — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Terri Fall Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My name is Terri Fall. Not a celebrity or a wealthy woman. However, I am able to comment. Accountability and disclosure, visible disclosure, matters. Worked in the insurance industry. We were held accountable. We had 90 day review, multiple levels of those reviews and * straight We were held accountable. It is vital. I hope my voice is heard. There are many that agree that Accountability is Vital. Please consider my comments.

---

terri rockefeller — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: terri rockefeller Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 And the corruption continues! As a registered financial advisor with series 7 and 66, I cannot fathom why this would be acceptable. Already I cannot understand why insider trading and speculating not prosecuted. Apparently the SEC is either inept, bought, unethical, blackmailed, or some combination. This is shameful, disgusting, and unacceptable. You should be doing your * job and following the laws.

Sent from my T-Mobile 5G Device
Get Outlook for Android

Terri Stein — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Terri Stein Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 As someone who witnessed the damage caused by Enron firsthand, it would be a grave mistake to eliminate quarterly reporting.

Terri Strope — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Terri Strope Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My name is Terri Strope. As an investor I believe it is unfair to limit our knowledge and the information provided. It is our money. We have a right to be well informed what is happening with it. Leave the reporting as it is.

Terri Strope

Terri Syvret — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Terri Syvret Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the reporting quarterly as it was. Is there nothing that this gov't won't do for corporations and the wealthy. Gov't is for the citizens!

Sent from my iPhone

Terri Yoselevich — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Terri Yoselevich Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Retired school teacher here of 36 years, who invested the small savings that I could during that time so that I can remain financially independent for the rest of my life. DO NOT CHANGE TRANSPARENCY NOW!! Why is this change even being considered? Less transparency is NEVER better, especially with how this administration steals and spends the people's finances. STOP the screwing of the American people. Leave alone the current system of information which actually works. You've offered zero evidence as to why a change is even necessary so SEC keep your uninformed hands out of it…you're NOT trusted to do right in this scenario.

Sent from my iPhone

Terry Bell — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Terry Bell Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 STOP the RIPOFF of the American Investors. If SEC moves to approve this egregious THEFT, we will pull our money out of the market!

Terry Hashemi — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Terry Hashemi Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
This matters a great deal to me, because for six month stretches, consumers are essentially flying blind, which significantly increases the potential for fraud. Retail investors like me will take the hardest hit if this occurs! This proposal is bad for small investors, who stand to lose the most, and may not recover from such losses.

Terry Kepka — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Terry Kepka Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Changing this regulation could affect my financial performance. With this in mind, I would appreciate continuing this requirement. Transparency is vital to the success of my investments. Please continue enforcing the regulation. Sincerely, Terry W. Kepka.

Terry Lee Derrick — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Terry Lee Derrick Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 One more destructive move to transfer wealth upward. Unethical and immoral.

Terry Luciano — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Terry Luciano Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Thieves

---

Terry Marks — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Terry Marks Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Returning to Quarterly reporting is a terrible idea. It has been proven from past experience that investors like me will be the losers if this is allowed to go through. Who will this benefit? Probably corporations and the ultra rich ; definitely not the smaller investors. Less transparency is not the answer. My hard earned savings would take a huge hit. Terry Marks retired teacher

---

Terry Morehouse — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Terry Morehouse Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Terry Morehouse
Retired Government Employee
We as a nation need to keep corporate America on a short leash, they have proven that they cannot be trusted. It is essential that quarterly reporting continue.

Sent from my iPad

Terry norris — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Terry norris Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep this quarterly, any other timeframe shouldn’t even be considered!!!

Sent from my iPhone

Terry Pickens — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Terry Pickens Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:Been working hard trying to place monies where equitable. Finally retired in very uncertain times. Keeping quarterly keeps companies on track and helps the people who rely on their transparency. We are the people who work hard for this country and our families.

Terry Saberhagen — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Terry Saberhagen Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quit letting Trump sell these get out of accountability and jail free cards to his rich donors! Karma will come soon.

Just me, T

TERRY SIEDSMA — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: TERRY SIEDSMA Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please don't risk my retirement. Save Quarterly Reporting.

Sent from AT&T Yahoo Mail on Android

Terry Silva — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Terry Silva Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 lets have authoritative oversight since people and insti TY utions cannot be trusted to do the right thing. dont roll back anything

---

Terry Warfield — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Terry Warfield Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Please do not remove required quarterly reporting by public companies. Any reduction in information - either in amount or timeliness - will serve to reduce the efficiency of our markets. This harms individual investors and the market overall. Furthermore, making quarterly reporting optional will reduce investors' ability to compare companies, which also reduces the vibrancy of our markets. Both issuers and investors benefit from the quality of our markets, buttressed by robust and timely reporting.

Terry Weekly — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Terry Weekly Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Terry Weekly, Maintenance technician.
Near retirement and my investments could be gone if these companies can hide their fraud and criminal activity for 6 months out of the year.
"KEEP IT QUARTERLY" !!!

Terry Worley — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Terry Worley Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quit the stealing

Sent from my iPhone

---

terrylynn Dupree — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: terrylynn Dupree Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This is not right. Companies need to report for their shareholders and future shareholders. Investing is not supposed to be gambling. Do not make it easy for corruption.

@evolvingalways www.poshmark.com/closet/evolvingalways

Tess Schaufler — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Tess Schaufler Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This change is unwarranted. Regular, frequent reporting is imperative and helps guard against fraud. This should not be optional; it should be required. Do not make this change.

Tess Schaufler
Syracuse NY

Tessa Bemis — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Tessa Bemis Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
I'm sick of you changing the rules to allow private firms to ransack the US economy. Change and consequences will come for you all from the people.
When these failing AI companies tank the US economy, which is inevitable. I will vote for the person who wants to prosecute those that willingly opened the doors to the billionaire criminals.

The Kenslers — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: The Kenslers Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 As a recent retiree, I can not afford to lose quarterly investment reporting and the gains my portfolio earns today as a result of my educated decisions.
I am not a fancy investor - just a hard working American that follows reporting to identify companies I want to invest my money with.
Continue with quarterly reporting requirements!
Lori K Central Ohio

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

The Kitsons — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: The Kitsons Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 KEEP IT QUARTERLY !!!!! L. Kitson It’s not difficult for a business on Wall Street and you know this is true !

Sent from my iPad

The Petersons — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: The Petersons Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep quarterly reports

Sent from my Verizon, Samsung Galaxy smartphone
Get Outlook for Android

TheQueensGroupLLC — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: TheQueensGroupLLC Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 They should report monthly.
Stop the theft before it becomes legal.

Dan Tutman

Theresa Corey — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Theresa Corey Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Absolutely no!!! Do NOT help them rob us, and then hide it!

Theresa Corey
theresacorey1986@gmail.com
360-775-0523

Theresa DA — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Theresa DA Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 It's simple , keep the quarterly reporting. If they're not doing anything wrong there's not a thing to worry about.

Theresa Domhan-Adams — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Theresa Domhan-Adams Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Any method of minimizing accès to information removes the ability to make decisions in the best interest of the investor.

Sent from my iPhone

Theresa Ellis — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Theresa Ellis Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We always want timely transparency, always.

Theresa Ellis
Retired teacher

Sent from my iPhone

Theresa Hill — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Theresa Hill Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Retired T Hill This gives more leeway for corporations to hide information that investors need to be informed.

Sent from my iPhone

---

theresa koch — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: theresa koch Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This is fraud and theft

Sent from my iPhone

Theresa Quinn — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Theresa Quinn Companies do what is inspected, not what is expected. Corruption runs rampant if there are not sufficient guardrails in place. Quarterly reporting and oversight ARE those guardrails. Keep the rule of Quarterly Reporting to protect the public from companies engaging in unethical practices that put investors and stock portfolios at risk.

Theresa Reichley — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Theresa Reichley Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
We need sunshine not hidden information for investors. If I am investing I want all the information I can get.

Theresa Schwagerman — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Theresa Schwagerman Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 no deal. report every quarter. my money Not Yours! repot so no hidden trading sellin.

Sent from my iPhone

---

therese burchianti — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: therese burchianti Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
You must maintain quarterly reporting. It's the only way investors can keep abreast of their Financials. It's absolutely vital to the health of the economy, as well.

THERESE CUNNINGHAM — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on Proposed SEC Reporting Change From: THERESE CUNNINGHAM Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting must remain because both the investor and businesses have more timely information when making financial decisions. Please do not change the reporting to semi-annual!

Therese Cunningham

Thomas Baran — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Thomas Baran Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 What are you hiding? You are a publicly owned corporation you need to be transparent in your business or no one will want to invest into your company. This should not pass.

Sent from my iPad

---

thomas cherian — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: thomas cherian Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I believe quarterly adds lot of cost and pressure on management to deliver. This will help them to make longer strategies without worrying about next quarter. Believe this will also help more companies go public

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Thomas Czolgosz — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Thomas Czolgosz Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Please keep regular Americans in mind and not end quarterly reporting. This is again a power grab for the elite and ultra wealthy to further consolidate power and dishonestly consolidate more and more wealth. Based on the way the wind blows. Voting Americans are watching…

Thomas Leineweber — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Thomas Leineweber Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Don't let them hide in the darkness. Quarterly should be a minimum as "periods of hidden activity" breeds misconduct.

Thomas Nather — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Thomas Nather Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 What are companies trying to hide? The quarterly reports keep leadership and the employees on their toes.

Then you can see the trends for bankrupcy and other issues otherwise semi-annual it would take years what quarterly would show investors

---

Thomas Roberts — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Thomas Roberts Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We need quarterly reporting to keep invested people up to date with their investment. Thomas Roberts, NC.

Thomas Tobben — Jun 18, 2026

Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Thomas Tobben Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly SEC reporting must remain. Transparency to investors and to the public must remain and not be weakened!

Tom

Sent from my iPhone

Thomas Westran — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Thomas Westran Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 With all of the current financial turmoil reducing reporting just doesn't make sense

---

THOMAS WHITE — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: THOMAS WHITE Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep it Quarterly....

Thomas Williams — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Thomas Williams Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Integrity of the investment markets rely on timely and accurate financial reporting. Keep the existing quarterly requirements.

Thomas Zampano — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Thomas Zampano Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 With AI here, wouldn't this simplify and reduce cost to quarterly reporting? Thomas Zampano, The Villages FL retired. Retail invester since 1959.

Thomas_Blaney — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Thomas_Blaney Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly only!

Sent from Proton Mail for iOS.

Thresa Williams — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Thresa Williams Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I prefer quarterly reporting.

Also, I prefer reports be sent in the U S Mail.

Sent from my iPhone

Thu Pham — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Thu Pham Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We are Anh Thu Pham and Luan Tran, retirees reside in Los Angeles, California. We are retail investors and we rely on quarterly reports to make decisions about our retirement savings. We feel comfortable knowing that four times a year, the CEO and CFO must each put their name to the company's books, certifying they've reviewed the report and that it contains no untrue statement of a material fact. Knowingly certify a false one: up to $1 million and 10 years in federal prison. Do it willfully: up to $5 million and 20 years. The proposal cuts those certified filings from four to two. Half as many moments when anyone at the top must stake their freedom on the truth. Longer gaps create an unfair advantage to corporate insiders. “optional” doesn’t fix the problem because companies that opt in are often the ones whose investors most need frequent updates. Last but not least, the savings to companies aren’t worth the cost to us.
We like getting the figures quarterly, and we hope that stays.
Sent from my iPad

Tiffany — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Tiffany Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 The question is why would you want to change it? The investors deserve to know QUARTERLY how a company is doing & have full insight of all financial issues, whether it's good or bad. This is OUR money & we have the right to be able to make sure we will have financial stability in the future.
Thank you, Tiffany Bradford

Tim — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Tim Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 What I want to know is why the SEC wants to change it. Make CEO of every company sign quarterly and leave it at that.

Tim Allen — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Tim Allen Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 You can’t keep up with the fraud now and you want to make it easier ? Have some common sense !!!!!!!

Sent from my iPad

Tim Glasscock — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Tim Glasscock Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This is the most ridiculous idea I've ever heard! The SEC is supposed to be OUR advocate in the investment area, not a shill organization for greedy corporations or a corrupt president!

This administration has corrupted nearly every sector of our government-- please don't let your agency be next! Say no to this stupid abrogation of your duties!

Samuel Glasscock
Assistant Professor, Individual investor, and person who will campaign to hold public servants accountable for actions not in the public interest.

Sent from my iPhone

Tim Goolsby — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Tim Goolsby Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 The law as implimented is working fine. Leave it alone.

Tim Haynes — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Tim Haynes Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This 2026. We don’t need to go back to 1955. Full disclosure is necessary. Why wouldn’t you fully disclose. Do you have something to hide?

Sent from my iPhone

Tim Hopkins — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Tim Hopkins Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We must preserve quarterly earnings reports by publicly traded companies. It's way too easy for public companies to hide their losses now. Remember hoe easily Kevin Fastow hid the massive debt of Enron Corp. The recent explosion of private credit greatly increases the risk exposure of retail investors such as myself. Preserve quarterly earnings reports by all publicly owned corporations.

Timothy L. Hopkins
Minneapolis, Minnesota

Tim In San Diego — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Tim In San Diego Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please DO NOT allow the SEC to drop quarterly reporting. Individuals like me and my kids count on up to date information on investments... especially when planning for retirement. My name is Tim Moore. I live in La Mesa, CA.

Tim Johnson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Tim Johnson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Tim Johnson, Retired teacher. I live on a pension, and investments, the only think that loosening the rules does is put more money into the hands of the people who don't need it. I actually believe that reports should be monthly. The business is doing the paperwork anyway, so submit it. Less chance of cooking the books then. More transparency not less.

Tim Johnson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Tim Johnson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the reports quarterly! Personally, I think they should be bi-monthly at least. DO NOT go to bi-annual!

Thank you for listening.

Tim Johnson,
Knoxville IL

Tim McElfresh — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Tim McElfresh Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Yes they must be held accountable so keeping the law as it is helps ensure that they aren't breaking the law !

Sent from my iPhone

TIM MILLER — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: TIM MILLER Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Timothy J Miller, retired, Chicago Illinois.

My limited retirement investments will very possibly take a hit if this rule change takes place. We need quarterly reporting.

Tim Schriedel — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Tim Schriedel Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is a must, to keep then in check. Tim from Missouri.

Timothy Schriedel

Tim Shaffer — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Tim Shaffer Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep it 1/4ly

Tim Shaffer

---

tim smith — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: tim smith Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 quarterly serves investors best

---

Tim Stutzke — Jun 18, 2026

Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Tim Stutzke Quarterly reporting protects individual investors. The tradeoff of less transparency for individual investors will provide no real benefit. The companies that should be watched the closest will now be able to provide crucial information less often.

Tim Turner — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Tim Turner Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We demand that it be done every 6 weeks

Sent from my iPhone

Tim Weidman — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Tim Weidman Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I think quarterly reporting has been a good policy. If knowledge is withheld it impacts the average person while the elite still know and get more of an edge than they already have. If you introduce this policy you should also add a balance such as limited trading of big investors except when reports come out.

Tim Youngblood — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Tim Youngblood Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Tim Youngblood - retired. This is a slap in the face to the small stockholder, and reinforces the belief that Wall Street is only insiders game. I'm totally opposed to this!

Tim Youngblood — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Tim Youngblood Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Tim Youngblood - retired. This is a slap in the face to the small stockholder, and reinforces the belief that Wall Street is only insiders game. I'm totally opposed to this!

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Timothy Allen — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Timothy Allen Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
I was a "pro" for 35 years (sell side analyst, institutional equity fund manager) and think the reduced frequency of reporting will push the market further toward technical short-termism and trading and away from fundamental analysis.
If the issue is the cost to companies, that is the bargain those companies struck when they agreed to enjoy the liquidity benefits of being publically traded.
More information is better for the OWNERS of public companies. Less frequent disclosure increases the relative advantage of insiders vs. John (or Jane) Q Public in making important investment decisions. You should poll institutional investors to see if they prefer the US system compared to countries with less frequent reporting requirement.
Re cost to companies, shareholders care about this as much, or more, than management.
The implicit question is whether material change can occur in 90 days vs. 60 days. I think the obvious answer here is yes.

I have one question..."Who are the advocates for this proposed polict change and what are their interests in making this proposal?"

Timothy Boley — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Timothy Boley Sir/Madam, Please do not decrease the reporting requirements for companies from quarterly to semiannually. As an individual investor it is important to obtain information at least quarterly to make educated investment choices.

Timothy Dugan — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Timothy Dugan Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting has to remain the law. Companies use aggressive accounting. That's a scam but it's allowed. Do not takeaway quarterly reporting.

Tim Dugan

Sent from my iPhone

Timothy Gagnon — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Timothy Gagnon Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Mandatory quarterly reporting was established in the U.S. by the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) in 1970. It was designed to promote transparency, prevent fraud, and provide investors with a consistent flow of reliable financial data following the Great Depression and mid-century accounting scandals.
Why would you consider changing that? Bad actors will take advantage and the SEC will become less effective. Or is that the goal of this administration????
Maintain quarterly reporting.

Tim Gagnon
Retired U.S. Citizen
Currently selling off my belongings to mitigate medical bills.

Timothy Gilliam — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Timothy Gilliam As a everyday American retiree trying to keep my head above the water, and with looming doubts about the stability of social security, I cannot afford to support any proposal that would delay the public's knowledge of vital financial information that might involve my financial decisions. I am against this rule change!

Timothy Haas — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Timothy Haas Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Waiting for a quarterly report is long enough. I own and need information sooner not later.
Tim Haas
Technical Support Manager

Terumo Cardiovascular
Retired

Timothy Hall — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Timothy Hall Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please keep reports quarterly. Thank you.

Sent from my iPad

Timothy O'Dell — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Timothy O'Dell Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Change to semi-annual reporting looks to be nothing more than a means to advantage well connected insiders at the expense, if not ruin, of everyone else.

Timothy Roy — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Timothy Roy Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep our statements quarterly, any thing less would just be asking for fraud

---

Timothy Smith — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Timothy Smith Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Protect our funds with quarterly review.

Sent from my iPhone

Timothy worrell — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Timothy worrell Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Yall bunch of thieves! Who made you God?

Sent from my iPhone

Tina Gibbons — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Tina Gibbons Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Dear SEC, re quarterly statements
I expect and plan my financial decisions around my quarterly statements. There ought to be regular transparency regarding my funds and how they are doing. In my mind there is absolutely NO reason to discontinue quarterly statements!!
What are you (companies) trying to hide from investors??
There is already much distrust when it comes to government agencies. Don't add to this distrust, please.
Thanking you in advance for keeping things just the way they are.

Sincerely,
T.A. Gibbons
2517 Tahoe Circle
Winter Park, FL 32792

Tina Mohan — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Tina Mohan Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
We want quarterly reports made because that's exactly what we need to evaluate how things are going compared to our last quarter, visualize what changes happened. If a change happens in the second quarter also, was it a benefial change or not.

Tina Napolitano — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Tina Napolitano Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Stop doing bad things to hardworking people! There is no benefit to us and only allows more time for mistakes to go unnoticed.

---

tlynch914 — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: tlynch914 Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 "I'm a retail investor and I rely on quarterly reports to make decisions about my retirement savings" is genuinely valuable on the record.

Sent from my Galaxy

TM Manning — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: TM Manning Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We were directly effected by the Enron farce, we lost over a hundred thousand dollars yet you want to go back to allowing this theft and backroom dealings again. NO! We want quartly reporting as it was put in place to protect Americans from another Enron. I hope every American takes their money out of the markets and banks. You have lost the trust of the American citizens and we won't take this change lightly. Keep the quarterly reporting!

Tami Manning

Toby Thompson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Toby Thompson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Stop rigging the system against working Americans

---

Todd — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Todd Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This is not a good option for the public. Stock holders deserve to know what is happening in a reasonable time frame. 6 months is too long.
Best regards,
Todd

Todd McCord — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Todd McCord Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the quarterly reports!!

Todd Myers-Personal — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Todd Myers-Personal Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Todd Myers, CEO from St Petersburg Florida. We have a saying in this country.. “if it ain’t broke, don’t fix it”. By making changes to reporting, there’s less accuracy and speed and compared to even 10 years ago, things are moving quicker and 24/7/365. Leave it alone!

---

todd tolzmann — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: todd tolzmann Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We NEED Quarterly reporting, period! PLEASE do not switch to every 6 months reporting! You are ruining us by doing this!

Tom — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Tom Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 More advantage to rich insiders, there is no other reason. Don’t do this to US!

Tom Rapp

Sent from my iPad

Tom Buttney — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Tom Buttney Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep quarterly reports so investors have a true chance in the market. Too much insider trading by politicians and richer class

Sent from my iPhone

Tom C — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Tom C Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 * No!!!!!

Tom DiGiacomo — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Tom DiGiacomo Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting provides individual investors like me a clearer picture of the financial goings on versus only twice a year. The only benefit is only to the corporations that have to report, which is an obligation to the public for well being a public company.

Thank you,

Tom DiGiacomo
14 Lexington Dr
Bluffton, SC 29910

Tom Goodwin — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Tom Goodwin Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 SEC can b replaced too
3 months max

Tom Graves — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Tom Graves Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Are any of you Public servants? We used to ask ourselves how can we serve our country and how can our collective good serve, we the people. This administration is asking how can corporations and Billionaire get more money and power. We know any cost savings a company has will more than likely go to stock buybacks, and does nothing to help the WAGE GAP.

This would be one more act in the destruction of what was an exceptional country, all so a few can profit. Do this and you must change our currency to say "In the DOLLAR we trust". Also you must give up your religion and start praising our Dialogue overloads, may they take everything and give nothing back.

If we don't hold them accountable, why do we even have laws at all. Do your job, do what's right, protect our country from this scurge of Greed.

Tom

Tom Harper — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Tom Harper Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 They all need to be prosecuted to the fullest extent of the law.
Tom Harper
Grass Valley California

Tom Kudla — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Tom Kudla Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 When they have something to hide, and we allow it, the turnout can't be good. Dump this idea.

Sent from my iPhone

Tom Layman — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Tom Layman Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is necessary to decrease fraud related to insider trading.

Sent from my iPhone

Tom M — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Tom M Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 KEEP QUARTERLY SUBMISSION! HOLD EXECUTIVES RESPONSIBLE FOR FRAUD. I NEED MY RETIREMENT INVESTMENTS PROTECTED FROM FRSUD! THANK YOU! Tom Martin, retiree and investor. Lancaster PA

Tom Martin 201-650-2955

Tom may — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Tom may Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the quarterly reporting

---

Tom McGee — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Tom McGee Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I am against this. It only increases the chances for corruption.

Sent from my iPad

Tom Sheppard — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Tom Sheppard Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 In such a volatile market, I think it’s extremely important that you keep the quarterly reporting. With this fast changing economy, every six months is absolutely ridiculous. If anything I would like to see them go to buy monthly and do it six times a year my name is Thomas Sheppard and I live in Florida and I’m retired.

Please pardon my brevity, Sent from my iPhone

Tom Sheppard
Coldwell Banker Sunstar Realty

Cell: (941)662-5817
Ofc (941)214-3111
Email: tom.sheppard@cbsmfl.com
Web: www.tomsheppardrealestate.com

Tom Strome — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Tom Strome Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Do the right and traditional thing. Figure out some other way to gut the economy if that's what the intent is. Quarterly reporting is the way to go. Lazy doesn't look good on you.

Sent by TS

Tommie Dahlgreen — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Tommie Dahlgreen Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I am 76 years and I DO NOT WANT the SEC to get rid of quarter reporting.

Tommy Thompson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Tommy Thompson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Most crooks will tell you that the major factor in deciding to commit a crime is opportunity. A business without oversight creates opportunity. Is it coincidence that reducing mandatory reporting is being considered when the only president convicted of multiple felonies and has multiple bankruptcies, is in office? I think not!

Tommy Thompson

Tomo Albanese — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Tomo Albanese Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I am writing to you today from my perspective as both a CEO and a father to share my views on the current regulatory environment. I believe it is essential that we maintain, and perhaps even increase, the level of accountability for business owners regulated by the SEC.

In my view, rising wealth inequality creates significant barriers to entry that make it increasingly difficult for new participants to compete. To ensure a truly free and fair market, we must prioritize robust oversight that holds all leaders to a high standard of responsibility.

Thank you for your time and for considering these views on such a critical issue for the future of our economy.

Best regards,

Michael Albanese

Toni Ann Mills — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Toni Ann Mills Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Stop giving these crooks breaks and hold them accountable! Enough is enough !

Toni Petrunyak — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Toni Petrunyak Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Stop the fraud and corruption now!
Enough is enough!

Toni Williams — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Toni Williams Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep SEC reporting quarterly.

Toni Williams

Sent from my iPhone

Tony Castrigno — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Tony Castrigno Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Transparency is too important to allow half a year to go by between reporting. While we need to escape the idea of managing to quarterly earnings, investor awareness of corporate financial conditions has to be maintained.

Tony Castrigno

_____
1.917.678.8552 m/text

Tony DiCostanzo — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Tony DiCostanzo Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is the only way to protect the average citizen.
Tony DiCostanzo- retired

Tony Garcia — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Tony Garcia Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 When doing financial books, it's best that we have a record for EVERY Quarter, NOT every six months. It's like have your child learn something new. EVERY QUARTER is best so one see's the progress, and the accuracy.

Sent from my iPad

Tony guggino — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Tony guggino Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 What the Hell happened to Transparency…I guess all of us outside of the top 1 % don't matter…

Sent from G-WizZ Tv
Arri Alexa, Sony FS7M2, Sony PWM F5, P2 www.gwizztv.com
gwizztv@gmail.com
201-615-4624

Tony Holtan — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Tony Holtan Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Gail Holtan, Retired Quarterly reports will keep business honest, don't change this.

Sent from my iPad

Tony Hopkins — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Tony Hopkins Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep quarterly reports going what are you trying to hide?

Sent from my iPhone

Tony Lawrence — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Tony Lawrence Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This should be a "No brainer". Deny this proposal.

Tony Lawrence

Tony Mizgalski Retired Editor — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Tony Mizgalski Quarterly reporting keeps public companies honest. Do not change this!

Tony Muhammad — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Tony Muhammad Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Hey SEC, please keep greedy Corporate America Fat Cat CEO's hands out of my pockets. Keep It Quartery!

Tony Muhammad

Tony Riddle — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Tony Riddle Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Common sense requires reporting four times a year. Use common sense.

Tonya Bender — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Tonya Bender Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Corporations have extensive protections and power. The only thing investors have is information do that restrict that!

Sent from my iPhone

Tonya Lester — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Tonya Lester Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 PLEASE with all the corruption that has been revealed in America and almost every corporation with the least transparency always are the ones with the most tax dollars used fraudently please don't open another door for the corrupt to come in and tax dollars go out. These are not the best of times to allow 6 month blackouts , and why would you. I'd rather pay for transparency than to be majorly heisted.

Tonya Libertus — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Tonya Libertus Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is essential for an investor to be able to make an informed decision. The federal and state governments require quarterly reporting foA fiduciary should be held to no less a standard when they are using others money. r various taxes, etc...

Tonya Libertus
Owner/Agent
A Kenai Alaska Insurance Agency
(A.K.A. Insurance)
5791 Kenai Spur Hwy.
Kenai, AK 99611
907/ 513-2035 Cell
907/ 283-4191 Office
907/ 921-5791 FAX
CONFIDENTIALITY NOTICE:

This email and any attached document(s) are intended only for the use of the individual or entity to whom or to which it is addressed and may contain information that is privileged, confidential, proprietary, trade secret and exempt from disclosure. If the reader(s) of this message is not the intended recipient(s) or an employee or agent responsible for delivering the message to the intended recipient(s), you are hereby notified that any dissemination, distribution, or reproduction of this communication is strictly prohibited. If you have received this communication in error, please notify us immediately and destroy the original message and any attachment(s).

Tootie — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Tootie Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Go ahead, screw us over, the rest of the federal government is, and while your at it, look the other way while all the insider trading goes on in the oval office and his family.

Sent from my iPhone

Tpulton — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Tpulton Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Why does this administration continue to punish citizens with backward legislation? We used to be a country pioneering the future. Please do not let them implement this idiotic, backward looking revised reporting system.

Theodore Pulton
Boynton beach FL

Get Outlook for iOS

Tpulton — Jun 18, 2026

Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Tpulton Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the SEC: I 100% oppose the proposal to strip from self-directed investors the critical information that guides our investment decisions by leaving quarterly reporting as is. Moreover is creates an unfair advantage by enabling investors who privileged access to quarterly data. This in unfair and tilts the playing field inequitably. I strongly oppose this change!

Get Outlook for iOS

Tracey Loyd — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Tracey Loyd Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is necessary to keep CEO's even marginally honest. Wage theft of employees is one of the very good reasons this law is in effect and to strike it down will be in essense telling American wage earners that they count for nothing. keep the law for quartely statements!

Tracey Martin — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Tracey Martin Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
I am retired and follow carefully what is happening. You can't allow companies to hide information. We need to watch and punish those who use insider information for gain. Please don't stop the reporting.
Sincerely,
Tracey Martin

Tracey Rumel — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Tracey Rumel Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep It quarterly. The American people deserve transparency.

Get Outlook for Android

Tracy Fortini — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Tracy Fortini Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep SEC reporting quarterly! We need transparency, not more insider shenanigans!
Tracy Fortini
Senior Account Manager

---

tracy hedberg — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: tracy hedberg Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 The SEC is supposed to protect American citizens. When did Wall Street convince the SEC to ignore the public?

he American public. When the Wall Street buy you?

Sent from my Galaxy

Tracy King — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Tracy King Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Why would Republicans want to be associated with reducing accounting responsibilities during a time of rampant abuse and fraud? DO NOT RINO this reduction in truth in reporting!! Accountants MUST TAKE RESPONSIBILITY.

Sent from my iPhone

Tracy Marrott — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Tracy Marrott Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I cannot imagine how you come up with an idea like this. Audits would best be done daily, but that stinks of Communism. Oddly, so does six months. Fraudsters are probably pushing this.

Tracy Newton — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Tracy Newton Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quit making it easier for politicians to do insider trading. Keep it as it is. There needs to be more accountability.

Tracy Veneman — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Tracy Veneman Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the quarterly reporting requirements for corporations! They will use the additional window for no good and others will use it to cheat!

Sent from my iPhone

TRAVIS GREEN — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: TRAVIS GREEN Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep financial reporting on a quarterly basis. In this economy, things change too quickly and investors and those of us financing our retirement in the stock market, deserve true transparency.

Travis Painter — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Travis Painter Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Less disclosures mean more money lost. Investors need as much info as possible as often as possible to protect their money.

Treasjure — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Treasjure Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 IT HAS TO BE KEPT QUARTERLY TO KEEP BUSINESSES HONEST OR THINGS LIKE ENRON WILL KEEP HAPPENING! I left teaching for trading to have more time for my kids and that would be detrimental to my trading to not have quarterly reports.

Treasje Mitchell
Entrepreneur and Trader

Treasje "Treasjure" Mitchell
Host of For The People Live
Email: treasje@gmail.com

Phone: 832.996.2119

Tricia — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Tricia Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I m opposed to the SEC proposal to eliminate quarterly reporting. I rely on quarterly information to make decisions, longer gaps create an unfair advantage for retail investors like me, and the savings to companies aren't worth the cost to me.

Patricia McBride

Sent from Tricia McB's iPhone

Trina White — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Trina White Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Dear Petrina White, As a retired individual from Jefferson, Georgia, I believe it is crucial to consider the significant implications for diligent citizens who have dedicated their lives to saving and investing in order to maintain their independence and avoid relying on government assistance, unlike those who do not contribute their fair share to self-sufficiency. In today's unpredictable economy, it is imperative that these large corporations are held accountable on a quarterly basis. Failing to do so would be irresponsible and unacceptable. Thank you.

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Trish McDaniel — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Trish McDaniel Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Do not revert back to prior reporting requirements. Maintain quarterly reporting

---

Trish Rowe — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Trish Rowe Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 As a 78 yo single income retired widow, keep the quarterly reports. My few stocks are my emergency fund and I don't think CEOs are so trustworthy that they won't screw things up. They tend to only care about themselves. They need regulation. See 1929 for a reference.

Trish
850.678.0871

Triston Joseph — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Triston Joseph Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
This would be totally unfair to the public and non-institutional investors. which is not what the stock market is about. if you want to make a rule that would benefit institutional investors don't make it a public traded company then. if you want the Public's money, keep quarterly reports public. thank you for your time and consideration. they should make the stock market more volatile and decreased non-institutional investors trust in the stock market. retail investors already don't have access to IPO's before they launch.

Troy Brown — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Troy Brown Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
We are already way too overly focused in this country on making sure the people at the top hord a majority of the wealth as we do not need to make it even easier for them. As a working blue collar American citizen I do what I can to try and be an informed investor and possibly one day create a fraction of stability so I do not have to work with my tools until they carry me dead off a job site. You all know what this would do to lower level investors and how much harder it would make it to have any kind of insight about where to put our money while trying to mitigate some of the risk. The companies do not need any more help from anyone it is really beyond me how this is even a topic of discussion in the world we live in today and why it seems everything is stacked against the common people to create an even larger wealth gap.
Truly Yours,
A poor working class American!!

Troy Weyman — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Troy Weyman Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Quarterly reporting is a cornerstone that keeps our markets more fair and more transparent than they would be otherwise. Please do not end this requirement. Also, please secure the integrity of the consolidated audit trail.

Trudy Buckley — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Trudy Buckley Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Trudy Buckley, Retired
I review my quarterly statements to make decisions on future actions regarding my investments. This change would lessen the transparency for investors; providing longer times to create an unfair advantage for corporate insiders. The cost of poor information coming to ordinary investors will be detrimental to the people the SEC is there to protect. Opting in won't help; companies that opt in are usually the ones whose investors need the most updates. Some countries have tried this and it is not working as well as expected and some countries are reverting back to quarterly reports. I worked hard in my professional life & made wise investments and I want to keep it that way! Thank you for your attention.

Get Outlook for iOS

Tustin Amole — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Tustin Amole Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Tustin Amole
Retired
It's critical that we get quartly reports so that we can make informed decisions about our investments.

---

twobrecks — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: twobrecks Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Semiannual reporting has already been tried and failed. Investors who are risking their money deserve more frequent information from businesses. Quarterly reporting must be retained to protect our returns.

Mary Beth Breckenridge
9895 Lookout Dr.
Brecksville, OH 44141
440-263-1670

Sent from my Galaxy

Twosheds — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Twosheds Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This is absolutely not right with anybody in this country except for this scapegoat for the ultrarich, this kind of crap must stop immediately in this country signed by we the people

Sent from my iPhone

Twyla Bacon — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Twyla Bacon Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We certainly don't need another Enron disaster. Keep on with quarterly reporting.
Twyla Bacon
Citizen
Leon KS

Tyanne Goltz — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Tyanne Goltz Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Do N OT do this. I was a Analyst for media devices. I wrote for a newsletter. Analysts and people projecting for businesses NEED the information given in Quarterlies. The information helps them plan and gives the institutional investors information on serving their clients with value buys. If the stock market cannot rely on the numbers, we give up being a bellwether stock market and will be no better than China at reflecting the truth about how companies are really doing. Companies that are seeking to deceive the public will have free sailing!

Tyrone Hall — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Tyrone Hall Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Transparency!!!! Keep The quarterly reporting!!! Why is everything being kept from the public’s view! What a rip off!!!!

Sent from my iPhone

---

upnewsonly — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: upnewsonly Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 6 months is too long in a faster and faster moving world. We need more accountability not less. Government is supposed to protect its citizens and this move does just the opposite. Mary Rader retired

Sent from my Galaxy

V C — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: V C Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Velene Campbell, Retired. I want to see more transparency, not less. Too many things are being hidden from the public, and people are getting tired of it. This type of thing is leading to a lack of public trust in our institutions, and to the disintegration of our democracy.

V Venskowski — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: V Venskowski Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission: thank you for your time. I cannot make informed decisions if I do not have access to reports. Quarterly is necessary. Thank you.

---

val Escobar — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: val Escobar Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 You have a job protecting the integrity of trading. DONT cave in the tRumps]er! He'll be gone soon enough. I can imagine the retabution you'll face for abandoning the The People.

Val Escobar
Via iPad

Val Goodness — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Val Goodness Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To Whom,
Instead of letting the most corrupt in history off the hook, how about redesigning quarterly reporting in such a way that CEOs know they will be held accountable for their misdeeds. Continue quarterly reporting with strict penalties that our government follows through with no chance of being pardoned.

Valeri DeCastris — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Valeri DeCastris Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Do not change this!

Sent from my iPhone

Valerie Lind — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Valerie Lind Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I'm a US citizen. That's my job title. Keep it Quarterly!

Sent from my iPhone

Valerie Moore — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Valerie Moore Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I rely on transparent quarterly reporting to grow and protect my retirement savings. A longer time period between reports is more time for fraud to go unchecked. Please continue to require quarterly reporting.

Valerie Moore

Thanks,
Valerie Moore
812-272-3206

Valerie Soldatow — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Valerie Soldatow My name is Valerie Soldatow and I am a Research Scientist in North Carolina. I have worked so hard to advance my career and to save money for retirement. It has not been easy. Many times I had to make the decision to save rather than to go out to eat or go out on a weekend to have a nice time with friends. If you enact this new law, this put all of us who work so hard for our money and try to invest with already limited funds and limited knowledge (hoping for the best outcomes so that we can live modestly in our retirement) at a great disadvantage. Do not let big companies choose how they get to inform their investors and what the regulations will be! Do right by your constituents! Keep the reporting quarterly!! Sincerely, Valerie Soldatow

---

VALERIE WILLIAMS — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: VALERIE WILLIAMS Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Valerie Williams - retired
Transparency is optimal to investors. My investments are my future if I am to remain independent. Don't hide for 6 months at a time. It's time we thought of the everyday people. The top guns are doing fine and it's time they lift up the rest of us.

Sent from my iPhone

---

valery kircher — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: valery kircher Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Dear SEC
History on repeat is almost never a good idea. The premise of reporting semi annually will cause many individuals with stock as part of their retirement to loose monies. With the all ready fragile ec9nomy and questionable future of social security many may be left in less than idea circumstances. I implore the SEC and our current government to keep to quatly reporting ensuring transparency for all who invest.
Thank you
Dr. Valery Kircher
Williamsburg. Va

Vee C — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Vee C Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We do not want this 6 months blackout rule. There is enough fraud going on why make it easier to for them to hide it. And we the People will be bailing then out again. No more!!

Velma Elena Alderson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Velma Elena Alderson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I will vote against any politician that supports this and boycott any company that benefits from it. America has let the greed it was founded on resurface with a vengeance. 1% of this country controls the 99% that keeps them and their heirs in positions of power, with wealth to last centuries. We, the CITIZENS are paying trillions of dollars to have are rights stripped away and our voices silenced. They have convinced us that we need them. The truth is, they need US...our labor, our tax dollars, our skills. If one sector of this country shut down the economy would crumble. We run these United States and those that we have blindly allowed to make us believe otherwise are telling us to our faces WOKE is a bad thing. You are at your most vulnerable when you sleep. Well, people are not sleeping any longer. We are WOKE and we see this country and the faces of hate, sexism, racism, greed, inhumanity, and lack of dignity. I am tired and I will fight for my heirs as hard as they steal and lie for theirs.

Ms. Velma E. Alderson

Velvet Barentine — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Velvet Barentine Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is one is the few ways for the public to know what is actually happening with publicly traded companies and should not change in favor of less frequent accountability. The risks are obvious, and the public has a right to know and maintain an established communication from industries.

I work in higher education, and we cannot expect students and families to see the benefit to investing in American companies when there are fewer guardrails and supports only for the wealthy and connected. That will not be sustainable long term.

Do not make a change to quarterly reporting.

Thank you,

Vera Bannerman — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Vera Bannerman Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 By passing this act/rule small investors are being put at grave risk. Retirement funds can be eliminated.

Imagine working diligently for 40 years only to have a nefarious corporation hide their losses for 6 months and you are none the wiser.

You've lost any chance of getting away from their stock and loose a significant portion or all of your retirement. Please do not pass this!

Thank you,

Feed your dreams not your fears ✨ ✨

Vera Feldman — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Vera Feldman Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Corporations are owned by shareholders. Those who run corporations don't own the companies. They are responsible for transparency and for managing the companies they "work for" responsibly.
The bankers who thought they "owned" the banks ran amuk ruined the banks, hurt shareholders, depositors and everyday taxpayers as well. Remember thst debacle?

Vern Caturia — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Vern Caturia Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep it Quartly Please.

Sent from AT&T Yahoo Mail on Android

Vern Peterson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Vern Peterson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 No! No! No, hell NO! They have more than enough financial breaks and advantages as is. This would make the playing field even more difficult for everyone else! Vern Peterson, retired. I'm an advocate for all of us who are tired of all the advantages going to the rich and corporations.

Sent from my iPhone

Vernon Miller — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Vernon Miller Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Cut the crap. There's no good reason to change the law except some businesses want to hide wrongdoing.

Verónica Villaseñor — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Verónica Villaseñor Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 No body is above the law

Sent from my iPhone

Veronica Williams — Jun 18, 2026

Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Veronica Williams Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Why are you out to get the American dream the only ones who benefit are the wealthy please say mo

Veronica Williams

Vibeke Lee — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Vibeke Lee Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 There is absolutely no valid reason to reduce reporting to semi annual. I demand quarterly reports which can hardly be considered a hardship for the highly computerized banking industry. My ability to manage my finances at 81 demands access to my financial data and I frankly have no patience to the idea that this would somehow be a hardship for for financial institution. It is obviously just yet another way to hide Wallstreet shenanigans and profiteering. It is My money after all. Vibeke Lee. Retired American stretching my retirement funds to last me . My money, that you have been sitting on for decades. Millions of seniors agree with this. We are not stupid, just tired of having to keep Wall Street honest.

Sent from my iPhone

Vic Phillips — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Vic Phillips Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting serves a purpose. KEEP IT!

Vicki Browne — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Vicki Browne Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I need my investments protected. By keeping the reporting quarterly it will help safeguard it and I will have a better chance at having that money when I need it most as I am already in my senior years and Social Security doesn’t cover all living expenses please protect it. Vicki Browne Oceanside, Ca

Sent from my iPhone

Vicki Deem — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Vicki Deem Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Less frequent reporting will lead to less transparency. Less transparency will lead to greater potential for shady shenanigans to get past watchdogs before anyone steps in to stop it. It will likely also lead to lower ROI, as it did during one of the otherwise most prosperous times in history between 1955-1970. I want the reports to continue quarterly. Monthly would be better still.

Vicki W. Deem

Wake Forest, NC

Vicki DeVries — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Vicki DeVries Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 There is no acceptable excuse or justification for reducing the amount of transparency that companies must maintain regarding their performance. This is yet another example of this administration's corrupt dealings that protect the very things the public needs protection from.

Vicki Geehan — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Vicki Geehan Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Are you crazy? Don't do this! It will create lower returns for us and we are retired living on our investments.

Have a great day!
760-889-5834 cell
Vicki.Geehan@roadrunner.com

Vicki Hubbard — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Vicki Hubbard Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My name is Vicki Britt Hubbard. I am a retired public school special education teacher that lives and (still works) in Virginia.
I am appalled at the attack on American citizens by our government. There have been NO policies in this current administration that benefit the American people; all policies are designed to strip us of rights and cause us to lose money as well.
This current possibility of semi-annual reporting of earnings on investments is another vehicle for the current administration to enrich already wealthy investors (including the Trump family) and cause middle class families to lose their investment savings and threaten the futures of their children.
As a retiree and one with some investment savings - I say NO to changing reporting to only twice a year!! Quarterly reporting keeps companies honest and allows investors to make more informed decisions. It also allows those of us with more conservative investments to keep what we have earned - not from our parents' trust funds - but from our labor in jobs and careers where we worked every day for over 30 years. The retirement benefits/investments we have EARNED are precious to us and we don't want to see it squandered by an administration that wants to literally take it away from us!! ENOUGH!!

Vicki Britt Hubbard

Vickie Benefield — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Vickie Benefield Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 The SEC needs

rules and regulations too. Put Americans FIRST. KEEP A CLOSE WATCH ON THOSE THAT CONTROL INVESTMENTS, AND WOULD DIMINISH THE ACCOUNTING OF THOSE WHO ARE CHECKING ON FRAUD BEFORE IT GETS OUT OF HAND. KEEP IT QUARTERLY. ITS A NEEDFUL THING IN 2026 AND BEYOND.

Vickie Boyter — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Vickie Boyter Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Do not cut !! We need quarterly reporting to continue.

Sent from my iPhone

Vickie Loveless — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Vickie Loveless Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 A quarterly report should be submitted. That has been proved before and in this day and under this administration it is more needed than ever. The American people are tired of kneeling to corporate greed.

Vickie Shepherd — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Vickie Shepherd Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Hello, my name is Vickie Shepherd. As a retired public employee, my state pension fund relies on timely investment decisions; as do my individual retirement accounts. To reduce the required reporting to only every 6 months sacrifices individuals' abilities to make timely adjustments to corporations' convenience. There is no substantive savings to corporations to justify this obstruction of information.

Sent from my iPhone

Vickie Tarling — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Vickie Tarling Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 MAKE THE MADNESS STOP.

Vickie Turnage — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Vickie Turnage Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Vickie Turnage, West Columbia, SC, retired. NO TO THIS INTERVAL OF REPORTING!!!

Vickie

Vickie Turnage — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Vickie Turnage Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This is Vickie Turnage and I'm 68 years old. All my retirement money is tied up in stocks and gold. I DO NOT want or need any surprises by only seeing quarterly reports! It's my right to see what my invested funds are doing on a frequent basis! I'm saying NO to quarterly or less frequent SEC reporting!!!

Vickie Turnage
West Columbia, SC 29169

Vickie Watson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Vickie Watson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the report quartly. We are struggling now . Stop 🛑 leave it as it is!

Vickie Watson

Vicky Costanza Bergstrom — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Vicky Costanza Bergstrom Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Don’t cut it down!!!!!

Vicky Costanza Bergstrom — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Vicky Costanza Bergstrom Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I think it should stay quarterly. This is an America with massive fraud these days.

Vicky Yant — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Vicky Yant Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 we need quarterly reporting. do not allow change

---

Victor Hagan — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Victor Hagan Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Victor Hagan
Military Officer (Retired)
The end of quarterly reporting would reduce transparency and disadvantage retail investors. Thus making it harder to independently evaluate a company's condition.

Victoria — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Victoria Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I want CEOs to report four times a year, not two times a year.

Victoria Eddy-Helenek — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Victoria Eddy-Helenek Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 In a world driven by access to timely and let us hope, accurate information, denial of this access is dangerous. It creates an unfair system where insiders know the facts but ordinary investors do not. Those who wish to benefit from investor money must be prepared to provide information regarding their finances. Anything less should be considered perpetuating a fraud.

Sincerely,

Victoria J Eddy-Helenek

NYS Master Teacher, Emeritus, Capital Region

Victoria Eddy-Helenek — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Victoria Eddy-Helenek Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 In a world driven by access to timely and let us hope, accurate information, denial of this access is dangerous. It creates an unfair system where insiders know the facts but ordinary investors do not. Those who wish to benefit from investor money must be prepared to provide information regarding their finances. Anything less should be considered perpetuating a fraud.

Best regards,
Vicky

Victoria J Eddy-Helenek

NYS Master Teacher, Emeritus, Capital Region

Victoria Motosaka — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Victoria Motosaka Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 NO!!!

Sent from my iPhone

Victoria Wakefield — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Victoria Wakefield Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 QUARTERLY reporting is a must !!
DO NOT GO BACKWARDS !

Victoria Weller — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Victoria Weller Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Please keep corporations accountable with quarterly reporting. Retirees especially need more frequent reports to get transparent information otherwise not available to individuals. Managing funds in retirement such that they can last a lifetime is already challenging. There are no GOOD reasons to cut back on reporting frequency, and less frequency risks corporations hiding negative information for longer, which can affect the portfolios of real retirees who depend on the investments they have made over many years.

Vince Bonnici — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Vince Bonnici Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting is critical to timely information regarding the financial results of public companies. If they do not want to report quarterly then go private.

Vince Bonnici

Bonniciv@gmail.com

cell: (941) 730-8521

Vince H. — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Vince H. Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 The agenda is all too obvious. Stop it!

Sent from my iPad

Vince H. — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Vince H. Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Knowledge of just what condition my investments are in is essential.

Sent from my iPad

Vinnie Yakubanski — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Vinnie Yakubanski Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep Quarterly on a 3 month basis.
FRANCIS VINCENT YAKUBANSKI
RETIRED HEAVELY INVEST PORTFOLIO.
I PAY A BIG SUM OF INCOME TAX, TEXAS PROPERT TAX, INSURANCES, WITH INFLATION BEING HIGH. EVERY YEAR I HAVE LESS CASH FROM INVESTMENTS TO LIVE ON!

Viola Posthuma — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Viola Posthuma Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Why do you want to reduce reporting of the truth? Keep the quarterly reporting, quarterly.

Viola Posthuma
417 10th Avenue Dr W
Bradenton FL 34205

cell: 240-432-2551

Viola Posthuma — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Viola Posthuma Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Why do you want to reduce reporting of the truth? Keep the quarterly reporting, quarterly.

Viola Posthuma
809 40th Street
Sarasota, FL 34234

cell: 240-432-2551

---

virginia eagleston the motley fool community — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: virginia eagleston Things change faster than ever now. We certainly do not want to know later, rather than sooner. If it ain't broke, don't fix it. Leave well enough alone!

Virginia Fowler — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Virginia Fowler Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep sending quarterly reports!

Sent from my iPhone

VIRGINIA MOWERY — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: VIRGINIA MOWERY Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Virginia Mowery, Retired.
It needs to be kept reported quarterly so we can see what is happening. To change to just twice a year will basically blind us.

Christmas reported in August?? What the heck?

Sent from my iPhone

Virginia Pachay — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Virginia Pachay Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Don't change the reporting requirements in place today.
Remember Enron, Arthur Andersen co., sarbanes/ oxley. Don't sell Americans down the river again for political or monetary gain

Sent from my iPhone

Virginia Shaw — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Virginia Shaw Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 The financial reports need to continue being signed off on quarterly by the CEO.

Sent from my iPhone

Vishruth Gaur — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Vishruth Gaur Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
The removal of these rules will increase public distrust of our institutions and private enterprise

---

Vivian Hyslop — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Vivian Hyslop Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Vivian Humphries-Hyslop. One for all & all for one. Stop trying to cheat we the people.

Vivien Moses — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Vivien Moses Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 When is enough, enough?When does the greed end?

Vladislav Entin Sales — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Vladislav Entin I believe that the markets should be more transparent and not less transparent! This would be a major mistake.

---

vru84 yahoo — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: vru84 yahoo Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 These changes will allow for way too much fraud. These companies are already abusing the system. We don't need to change things to be even more on their favor. Varuni Edussuriya

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Vyn M Skinner — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Vyn M Skinner Quarterly reporting keeps things in the public eye and open to scrutiny, not hidden away in a dark corner. A corner where corruption can foster and fester, much like secret, closed door meetings. Isn't their enough corruption, deceit, and fleecing of America now? Keep things more open, honest, and in the light of day by maintaining quarterly reporting. Respectfully, Vyn M . Skinner Special Education Paraprofessional. American Citizen who is tired of government and agencies using their position of power for personal profit rather than actually governing for the people of these United States

---

Walli Haley — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Walli Haley Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 There’s no acceptable reason to lessen the reporting frequency for the SEC: especially given that more Americans are investing than ever before, and that includes institutional investors, who are responsible for managing the investments for their clients. Given the volatility of the Market, it’s more important than ever that people have Accurate information given to them on a frequent and timely manner Going back to having fewer reporting periods could cause investors to lose money due to not having enough information.

Walli Haley
Attorney at Law TX bar #24091206

Wallis Parnelle — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Wallis Parnelle Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 With the massive frauds now occurring in our Government, the public should not be swept up in the crimes. Quarterly is smart, good business, and honest. Keep the Quarter !

Walter Griffin — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Walter Griffin Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 3 months works, quit trying to scam investors, we have a right to this infirmation!!!!

Wanda Glitz — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Wanda Glitz Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the quarterly reporting!!!

W E Glitz
Whispering Pines, NC

Wanda Graycar — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Wanda Graycar Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the ruling of quarterly reporting.

Sent from my iPhone

Wanda Isaacs — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Wanda Isaacs Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Do not roll back quarterly reporting. Wanda Isaacs
Retired CT Tech
SW Virginia

Wanda Nelson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Wanda Nelson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Have we not learned anything? Stop trying to do something the same old stuff. Rules were put into place for a reason.

Wayne Cartwright — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Wayne Cartwright Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 It Is very important that corporate reporting stay on a quarterly basis. First, they all do it currently, so why change it? Because it is inconvenient? Sorry, but many good things are inconvenient. Second, the business world changes quickly, and so demands frequent reporting to stockholders and investors.

Wayne Cartwright
Software Engineer
Etters PA

Wayne Gossett — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Wayne Gossett Quarterly reporting should be a MINIMUM. Semi-annual reporting is a recipe for fraud.

Wayne Malaney — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Wayne Malaney Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Based on this information, reducing reporting will have a negative impact on growth. Do not reduce reporting!!

Sent from my iPhone

---

wayne umbertis — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: wayne umbertis Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Of all times in history, with the advent of AI and cryptocurrency, quarterly reporting is vital. For the health of American business, please do NOT discontinue. Only takes a minute to sign the truth and they're aware of what that is.

wu

---

wayne umbertis — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: wayne umbertis Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Of all times in history, with the advent of AI and cryptocurrency, quarterly reporting is vital. For the health of American business and consumeres please do NOT discontinue. Only takes a minute to sign the truth and they're aware of what that is.

Wenda Workman — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Wenda Workman Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 My name is Wenda Workman. During the crash of 29 a number of my father's family a d friends were so severely impacted. Ive heard what that did to families. Cutting transparency, a d setting conditions up for this to happen again, is absolutely unacceptable. My family will dump stocks ASAP if you do.

Wendell Rafford — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Wendell Rafford Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 What kind of transparency would there be by reporting every 6 months. My name is Wendell Rafford and I am 72 years old and retired. I need to know because we have the right to know

Sent from my iPhone

Wendi Lefebre — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Wendi Lefebre Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Wendi Lefebre, retired, my income is tied up in investments and I prefer to be informed more often.

Wendy Bailey — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Wendy Bailey Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I worked for Fortune 25 companies for over 20 years, and I understand the need for public disclosure on a quarterly basis. Companies already try to time initiatives in order to maximize the appearance of shareholder value. Quarterly reporting gives them less flexibility to fake numbers to control stock prices.

I am currently working as COO of a privately held company, but have a vested interest in the stock market for my personal investments.

Thank you,
Wendy Bailey

WENDY BROCCONE — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: WENDY BROCCONE Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This is not a sensible move. Corporations, businesses need to provide timely information. Six month lags are dsngerous for investors. Quit giving corporations breaks. This has not played out well for investors such as myself. It’s not good for our financial advisors either.

Sent from my iPhone

Wendy Brzezinski — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Wendy Brzezinski Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep them certifying every QUARTER!

Wendy Brzezinski

Wendy Campbell — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Wendy Campbell Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We need to maintain the quarterly reporting for greater transparency.

Wendy Carlson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Wendy Carlson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 KEEP THE QUARTERLY REPORTING. The playing field is ALREADY not level for people like me (not wealthy). The already wealthy (corporations and people, because corporations ARE NOT people) do not need to gain more wealth at the expense of the rest of us. So do the righting. Have some ethics.

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Wendy Carter — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Wendy Carter Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Wendy Carter, retired. Changing this policy should alarm every American. There are enough problems with big businesses hiding important details from the people. This would allow more deceit, more lies.
People save all their lives to have enough to retire. How does this help Americans protect themselves from increasing prices. Or, inflation that has been created by these businesses. Yes, these businesses are involved in manipulating the financial markets. It is difficult enough for the average person to deal with these complicated financial markets. American people can't afford to pay their bills now. We don't need to keep giving businesses more power.
Why do you need to make it easier for businesses to lie, cheat, deceive, and even destroy any trust that the American people have left. This will decimate savings and financial accounts. It will end up allowing big business to destroy our country and the people who live here. These businesses don't care, they only want more. This is unnecessary policy. Businesses already have to file these reports, why is the change needed. What are the advantages to the average American? Why do to these businesses need this gift? That's exactly what this change is, a gift. Will financial accounts be safer, will this help the average American? Big business already has too much power. Don't let them take anymore away from the American people.

Wendy Curtiss — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Wendy Curtiss Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Why would less reporting be better? Who would it be better for? Looks like it would not be better for regular Americans.

Wendy Curtiss

Wendy Dembo — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Wendy Dembo Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:

the common people will be screwed by this large scale investors will get the information in a much more timely fashion they will be able to sell or buy stocks with knowledge that the ordinary investors won't have

---

Wendy Hedges — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Wendy Hedges Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep the transparency!

Sent from my iPhone

Wendy Rector — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Wendy Rector Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Why change, unless you want to hide something.

Wendy Rector — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Wendy Rector Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Leave my stocks alone.

Wendy White — Jun 18, 2026

Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Wendy White Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Transparency and quarterly information is key. Please maintain quarterly disclosures. It's vital to "regular" people's investing.

Wendy.farr — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Wendy.farr Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 It doesn't make sense to change financial reporting from quarterly to semiannually. Given the financial situation in our country people cannot afford to lose money in any aspect of their lives! Please keep the reporting quarterly.
Wendy Farr- Teacher
Former Sales Assistant- Series 7 licensed
Orlando, Fl

Sent from my iPhone

---

wesley westhoff — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: wesley westhoff Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Rules are there for a reason the company's get over on the consumer bad enough as it is they dont need any more chances to screw the public.

Weston Lant — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Weston Lant Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 NO. Simply NO.
There is no need to explain to you why this is a dangerous idea. Transparency is everything good. Camouflage is every failing corporations saviour.
The financial world is moving exponentially faster than ever before. There is no upside for investors to limit their access to critical operational information twice as long as it is now.

Weston Lant
CFO Two Tree Field LLC

Whitney Chapman — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Whitney Chapman Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Whitney Chapman Service Professional
Cookeville, TN
This not only matters to me, but to every single hard working citizen. We cannot erase the middle class. We do not need to go back to the way we did things over 50 years ago. If anything needs to change with the SEC, we need to start taxing millionaires and billionaires more appropriately.

Sent from my iPhone

Whitney Seacrist — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Whitney Seacrist Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
I strongly oppose the proposal to reduce public-company reporting from quarterly filings to a six-month schedule. This change would materially weaken market transparency, undermine investor protection, and contradict the SEC's core mission. Semiannual reporting would create longer periods of opacity in which risks can accumulate unchecked, corporate misconduct can go undetected, and investors are left making decisions based on stale information.
Quarterly reporting is not a burden — it is a safeguard. It is one of the few mechanisms that ensures timely disclosure, deters manipulation, and maintains confidence in the integrity of U.S. markets. Diluting this standard would benefit only those seeking less scrutiny, not the investing public.
I urge the Commission to reject this proposal and reaffirm its commitment to robust, frequent, and reliable financial reporting.

Wilda Walker — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Wilda Walker Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Just more government corruption! You do not care about the American public you work for. All you care about is helping yourself! I am retired and all you do is rob from us, any way you can! No!

Sent from my iPhone

William Carter — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: William Carter Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 In a time when data compilation is faster and easier than ever, companies should have no problem maintaining the level of reporting that we have always adhered to. Do not reduce reporting obligations!

Will Carter

William Duane Cox — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: William Duane Cox Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reports are essential to understanding how to manage your finances and investments. Reducing the reporting to semi-annually is a disservice to the investment community, especially small investors. Please keep quarterly reports the standard practice. Thank You!

William Duane cox
Sent from my iPad

William Hogrebe — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: William Hogrebe Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 If it happens I will vote against every incumbent current depending on my vote.

Sent from my iPad

WILLIAM LLOYD — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: WILLIAM LLOYD Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Relaxed reporting period leaves openings for fraud and limits timely information for investors to decide whether to stay invested or not.

Sent from my iPhone

William Mann — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: William Mann Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 More information is better. Why wouldn't you do it?

Bill Mann
matwjm@gmail.com

Don't Sit Out Step Up for Democracy

William Martin — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: William Martin Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Removing vital insight and oversight by limiting shareholders and retail traders information on companies prevents and efficient market and creates scenarios where stocks are not valued fairly or accurately. It erodes trust in the market and in government oversight. Do not remove the requirement of quarterly reporting.

---

william mckissack — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: william mckissack Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Typical of a fraudulent President and party. They support frauds and defrauding the American people Stop this.

---

william olson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: william olson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I want to know what companies I'm investing in is doing financially. It's my money that drives the company!

William Osborne — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: William Osborne Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 It's an unwise proposal. We need more, not less, transparency.

Bill
William G. Osborne
1602 Linden Place,
Jackson, MS 39202
Tel/Fax (601) 969-7946
Mob. (601) 594-5698

Sent from my iPhone

William P. Lashley — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: William P. Lashley Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep it Quarterly!!😡🇺🇸

Sent from my iPhone

William Proctor — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: William Proctor Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Quarterly reporting needs to continue. There is already too much behind the scenes activity and insider trading. Reducing the frequency of reporting will make this worse and harm ordinary investors. Bill Proctor, Civil Engineer, P. E.

William Seltzer — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: William Seltzer I strongly oppose the change in reporting by corporations. As an individual investor, I need as much information as possible. Four times a year is perfect. Corporate reporting 2 times instead of 4 reflects a gift to corporate America at the expense of individuals. I see this as a major campaign issue in the coming months. It will certainly be a bullet point in the campaign.

William Sray — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: William Sray As an individual investor, transparency in financial reporting is a very important part of leveling the playing field when investing. Quarterly reporting helps diminish any gaps in information between insiders and ordinary shareholders. We need more communication, not less. This is especially important for companies that have bad news to report! Please maintain the standard quarterly reporting regime.

William Stephenson — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: William Stephenson Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Fool around and find out. This is the stuff of revolutions. Keep the reporting quarterly!

Sent from my iPhone

William TANNER — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: William TANNER Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Particularly in the case where companies are engaged in fraud, accounting irregularities/ unusual practices, experiencing rapid change, or trading at high multiples, quarterly reports help investors spot issues and ensure management makes prompt changes as needed.

Bill Tanner

William Velasquez — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: William Velasquez Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Transparency is a cornerstone of fair markets. I believe that maintaining robust public disclosures, especially quarterly reports, is essential for holding companies accountable and minimizing the potential for corruption over the long term

---

Willie ASHBY — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Willie ASHBY Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Isn't trading in the markets already stacked against the average person enough ? Why would you take more information from use? Are you purposely trying to stop ppl from bu l lying any kind of welth? The rich already have all the advantages in most every way by the rules you have made. Instead of making new rules that are unfair why dont you start fixing the ones that are already there to be fair or is that not conceivable fir you ??

---

wise9guy — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: wise9guy Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 The only thing I like about 1955 is being born. My financial future doesn't belong there. I'm retired and don't need to lose my money to an outdated system, quarterly is slow enough! Steven Rieger NJ.

Wrangler10SportFitz — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Wrangler10SportFitz Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Doug Fitzpatrick, Sales Manager, Livonia Michigan.
It's hard enough earning the money to invest. I need assurances the leader of the company puts their name on the line at least quarterly. Should be monthly. KEEP IT QUARTERLYA

Sent from Proton Mail for Android.

Xian Chua — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Xian Chua Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Quarterly reporting is very important for small time investors such as myself to make informed and safe judgements for money that I will rely on later in life. Please ensure continued transparency and reporting for these companies. Thank you.

Yahoo — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Yahoo Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 I'm retired - my pension is invested in the market, I want it kept quarterly. I need to know how it performs on a regular, quarterly basis. S Greco

Sent from my iPhone

Yahoo — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Yahoo Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Hell no government over reach that wants to set every one back democrats controlled hell no do not do this

Sent from my iPhone

Yakira Heyman — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Yakira Heyman Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 We must continue to have quarterly reporting!!

Yakira Heyman

Yasuko Mcnaughton — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Yasuko Mcnaughton Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
I think that the company should be required to provide quarterly reporting so that the shareholders can make informed decisions about their investments
I do not understand why the mandate is being removed. Please reconsider this decision to protect integrity of our nation's financial system.

Yuma Arriaga — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Yuma Arriaga Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
This would prevent me from making investments with a sound mind.

---

yvette duran — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: yvette duran Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Yvette Duran
Office Clerk
This is important to keep everyone accountable. We as investors have a right to know how our investments are doing, working for us. It allows us to make inquiries sooner rather than later. KEEP IT QUARTERLY.

Thank you

Yvette Morelli Giesemann — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Yvette Morelli Giesemann Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 This is wrong and a way to hide corruption. Keep every 3 months reporting!

Sent from my iPhone

Yvonne Gooldy — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Yvonne Gooldy Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 No on quarterly reporting, absolutely not. Time to be kept accountable, crooks dont like the light of clear accountability. Ask yourselves “who and why is asking for this”. If you have to ask us if this is a good idea, i question your motive!

Yvonne Gooldy
941.961.5352

Yvonne Gooldy — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Yvonne Gooldy Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 No on quarterly reporting, absolutely not. Time to be kept accountable, crooks don't like the light of clear accountability. Ask yourselves “who and why is asking for this”. If you have to ask us if this is a good idea, i question your motive!

Yvonne Gooldy
941.961.5352

Yvonne Huneycutt — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Yvonne Huneycutt Please do not reduce the annual reporting requirements of public companies. I am a retiree living on my investments and tracking the companies I know is very important to safeguard my retirement. This has been tried before in the UK and did not achieve the desired result. It also allows bad players more runway to get away with it. More transparency is crucial, not less!

Yvonne Lapworth — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Yvonne Lapworth Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
We rely on the quarterly reports from corporations we own stock in. I consider this information extremely important. I do not want to go to yearly reports.

Yvonne Townsley — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Yvonne Townsley Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Keep retail reporting QUARTERLY!!
Don’t keep customers in the dark 🤫

Sent from my iPhone

Zac Blankenship — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Zac Blankenship Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Its VITAL that we keep them accountable for their actions and inactions... Zac Blankenship

---

Zachary Brimigion — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Zachary Brimigion Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Stephanie Brimigion has been illegally using people's identities from job placement to commit fraud. She worked at QWorks Group in SC and QLM quality labor management placing construction worked. She has stolen my identy committed fraud against me tried to make me sick stole money. Have multiple alias and numbers a group that works with her.

---

zee — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: zee Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Zelma Murray, retired. And highly invested in the market. Which means I want transparency, not hiding books for 6 months. If it isn't broke, don't fix it.

The fact that there's a Highway to Hell and only a Stairway to Heaven says a lot about anticipated traffic numbers

Quote of the Day
“When a Christian shuns fellowship with other Christians, the devil smiles, When he stops studying the Bible, the devil laughs. When he stops praying, the devils shouts for joy.”

— Corrie Ten Boom

Zoe Jacobs — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Zoe Jacobs Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Please keep our quarterly reporting the same as it is now! As the population ages and the current administration is constantly dismantling years of proven laws in place, let's not let them strip American citizens of their hard earned savings and fall into the hands of greedy billionaires!

Sent from AT&T Yahoo Mail on Android

Zola Gordy — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Zola Gordy Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 No, keep quarterly reports!

Sent from my iPhone

Екатерина Пахомова — Jun 18, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Екатерина Пахомова Affiliation: Jun. 18, 2026 Ekaterina Esposito, marketing director, NJ. As a beginner investor I appreciate level of transparency and ability to keep track of performance on a quarterly basis. There was a reason this was changed in the 50s which did not go anywhere. This should remain as is

Sent from my iPhone

Chuck J Butkiewicz — Jun 17, 2026

Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Chuck J Butkiewicz Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Chuck Butkiewicz, Sales Representative, Michigan- Less frequent reporting will result in more market volatility, lower confidence, knee jerk responses, and lowered earnings.

Chuck Butkiewicz
Factory Sales Rep/Detroit Metro Region
Acuity Brands
Holophane I AEL I Cyclone I Verjure
—
m 248-390-4003
cbutkiewicz@holophane.com
www.acuitybrands.com
Sales Support 855-894-5654
centralsalessupport@holophane.com

Deborah Green — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Deborah Green Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 As a retired college professor, I rely on my investments to help me have a more comfortable old age. Preventing those who are on the outside of companies from seeing how business is going at least quarterly is only going to make it more difficult for us “little guys” to keep up!
Deborah Green

Ed.D. Linda Eller — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Ed.D. Linda Eller Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Dr. Linda Eller Academic Coach
Keeping the rules as they are shows integrity and concern for all people. Changing the quarterly rule would be detrimental to the people.

Sent from Gmail Mobile

III Martin A. Marsteller Erickson — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: III Martin A. Marsteller Erickson Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Martin Erickson, retired Pharmacist, microbiologist, spiritual leader.
This sort of thing leads to ridiculous game playing in Europe, experienced first hand when a European firm bought the US private company for whom I worked.... e. g. ".. reporting months in June and December.... no bills will be paid in May-June and November-December , which will make 'us' appear to be cash-fat..." The first time I heard it spoken aloud, I nearly walked out, permanently, besides condemning it (I'm convinced I was "marked" after that; fortunately, I was already officially retired.)

Martin A. M. Erickson, III

Lonna Weems — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: SEC RULING S7-2026-15 Comment From: Lonna Weems Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 What the actual *. We have spent our careers abiding by governance, don't let the oligarchs make grift legal.
America's integrity is of utmost importance, not further lining of insider pockets.
KEEP QUARTERLY REPORTING A MANDATE!

Lonna Rachael Weems
Registered Principal ~ OSJ Manager
Investments - Insurance – Rollover IRA's

Cell: 818-430-5067
Email: lweems@cfiemail.com
9242 Aqueduct Avenue ~ North Hills, CA 91343

If every partner knew what every survivor knows, no home would be without adequate life insurance.

Learn more about me by clicking on the following links: FINRA CRD#: 2856041 ~ NPN#16843276
http://brokercheck.finra.org/Individual/Summary/2856041

California Insurance License #0I15211 https://interactive.web.insurance.ca.gov/webuser/Licw_Indv_Det$.STARTUP?Z_INDV_ID=1548040&Z_IL_LIC_NBR=0I15211

Securities offered through Centaurus Financial, Inc. A Registered Investment Advisor.
Member FINRA and SIPC

Supervisory Branch: 2300 E. Katella Ave, Suite 200 Anaheim, CA 92806
Phone: (714) 456-1790 Toll Free: (800) 880-4234

Securities and advisory services offered through Centaurus Financial, Inc. a registered broker/dealer and a member FINRA and SIPC. This is not an offer to sell securities, which may be done only after proper delivery of a prospectus and client suitability is reviewed and determined. Information relating to securities is intended for use by individuals residing in AZ, CA, CO, IL, IN, OK, PA

This e-mail and attachment(s) may contain information that is privileged, confidential, and/or exempt from disclosure under applicable law. If the reader of this message is not the intended recipient, you are hereby notified that any dissemination, distribution, or copy of this message is strictly prohibited. If received in error, please notify the sender immediately and delete/destroy the message and any copies thereof.

Manager Melissa Gedeon — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Manager Melissa Gedeon Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep reporting full disclosure information, cannot endorse less information to be provided to investors. Abuse of private investing is a crime. Do not change reporting.Melissa Gedeon, small business owner, Hudson Ohio investor, would love to retire someday.
Melissa Gedeon
7406 Andover Way Hudson Ohio

Matthew P. Benjamin — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Matthew P. Benjamin Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 To take this important opportunity for the people of this country away would prove, once again, that the current administration and anyone who supports it are truly embracing Fascism.

Matthew P. Benjamin
Professor of Lighting Design
USA #829

Micheline Johnson — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Micheline Johnson Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep the 10-Q so that investors can be timely advised of insider trades. This filing is important because it is the only available information that provides such important data. Sales by insiders could imply issues otherwise hidden from investors.
Micheline Johnson
Lawyer

Micheline K. Johnson
Counsel p | 404-815-3943 m | 423-991-1073 f | 404-815-3509 1105 W. Peachtree St. NE | Suite 1000 | Atlanta, GA 30309

www.sgrlaw.com | vCard

Shelia Hill — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Shelia Hill Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 The quarterly reports are a valuable asset to the general public on how different sectors of the economy are performing. Limiting access to this data will create a problem for consumers and small businesses in plotting there own economic strategies.

Shelia
Sent from my iPhone

Smash News Network Dan Nigro — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Smash News Network Dan Nigro Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026
Enforce laws preventing the outbreak of corporate fraud misleading investors.

Enforce existing laws. Investigate Alphabet, Meta, SpaceX, Tesla, OpenAI, since they all clearly mislead investors.

The GDP growth is entirely based on ai capex lies.

You're allowing monopolies to get bigger and the economy to get worse. It's probably already too late. This 'market' is essentially anarchy.

Where's the accountability?

Do your job, SEC. The idea that we need less regulation of this dystopian Corporatocracy is evil.

The economy is shattered meanwhile clueless people point at the stock market and honestly think the economy doing great. This is insanity and the fraud has to stop. Accountability always comes.

Ai bubble, everything bubble, nothing's affordable and you're considering making fraud easier? Truly sick.

Do your job.

Best regards,

Dan Nigro, smashomash.com

Stephen @ Tampa Keresztes — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Stephen @ Tampa Keresztes Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Please, we want quarterly reporting if not monthly

Stephen Keresztes
Lead Building Engineer
CBRE | Property Management
8745 Henderson Rd. Tampa, FL 33634
C + 1 813 455 8508
stephen.keresztes@cbre.com
Follow CBRE: CBRE.com | LinkedIn | Twitter | Instagram | Facebook | Weibo | WeChat
Details about the personal data CBRE collects and why, as well as your data privacy rights under applicable law, are available at CBRE – Privacy Policy.

Steven Smith — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Steven Smith Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Maintain quarterly reports, to minimize insider chicanery. Greed has already become too easy to execute.
StevenH Smith
Professor emeritus, Penn State.

A C — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: A C Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Stop changing rules

Sent via the Samsung Galaxy A54 5G, an AT&T 5G smartphone
Get Outlook for Android

A H — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Reporting Period Changes From: A H Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Dear Secretary,
I am recently retired but I spent my career generating financial and other reports. Timeliness was always crucial to effective decision making. I believe the current quarterly reporting is essential. In fact, with today's reporting tools and the advent of AI, even more frequent reporting should be considered. Even if the more these reports are interim, they could help paint a picture to guide investors, regulators and policy makers.
Sincerely,
Anthony Hron

A Jenkins — Jun 17, 2026

Subject: S7-2026-15 From: A Jenkins Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I worked at a company where the officers complied with the signature expectations. Whistleblowers found irregularities that ballooned. Officers decision? Lay off 700 employees. Caught up with them within 6 months. Company was liquidated. All remaining employees were let go from admin and 4 plants/delivery logistics.

Greed may be attractive to shareholders. In my own experience, both my husband and myself have each experienced job loss with 2 separate companies each, publically traded, stock option bonuses, salaries that evaporated because officers pretended to comply. Keep on them. And pay attention to the companies who layoff just before quarterly reports....

A Jenkins — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: A Jenkins Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I worked at a company where the officers complied with the signatures. Whistleblowers found irregularities that ballooned. Officers decision? Lay off 700 employees. Caught up with them within6 months. Company was liquidated. All remaining employees were let go from admin and 4 plants/delivery logistics.

Greed may be attractive to shareholders. That's 2 separate companies, publically traded, stock option bonuses, salaries that evaporated because officers pretended to comply.

Keep on them. And pay attention to the companies who layoff just before quarterly reports....

Amy Jenkins
Former trainer and curriculum writer

A Mongelluzzo — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: A Mongelluzzo Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep Quarterly reporting.
Amato Mongelluzzo

A R Corkern — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: A R Corkern Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 We need quarterly reports to help keep the system as honest as is possible. Cutting reporting will cost investors much more in losses/thefts!!!!!!!!!!

A R Corkern

A. Singleton — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: A. Singleton Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Do not encourage less frequent financial reporting. There is no excuse for this.

Regards
ADS

Aaron J. Clegg — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Aaron J. Clegg Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Aaron Clegg, high school physics teacher. This seems like a step in the wrong direction and difficult to undo a change like this. Let's keep better tabs on big business, not reduce the oversight.

Aaron J. Clegg
espanonos.com
www.linkedin.com/in/aaronclegg

Aaron Norman — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Aaron Norman Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep it the way it is: I can’t afford to take a chance of losing what’s supposed to be my retirement

Aaron Norman
Water Treatment Consultant
Chardon Laboratories
937-238-3826

Aaron Scheile Retail Investor — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Aaron Scheile I believe in this age of information, more is more. Data is the new gold. By limiting reports to semi annually instead of quarterly, you do a disservice to all investors.

Abbigail Schermesser — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Abbigail Schermesser Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Show us the money!

Sent from my iPad

Adam Brazy — Jun 17, 2026

Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Adam Brazy Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 PLEASE KEEP REPORTING QUARTERLY.
MORE TRANSPARENCY PLEASE!
STOP THE STEALING

Adrienne Craig — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Adrienne Craig Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Honesty, accountability accounting practices required to protect Anericans who have worked to prepare and protect their investments for their future. STAY QUARTERLY REPORTS. NO DICTATIRSHIP FOR MONEY GRUBBING RED PARTY POLITICIANS.

Adrienne Rubinkowski — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Adrienne Rubinkowski Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 What, SEC? Is your job TOO HARD?
Then maybe you need a completely different job, like being the greeter at Walmart, maybe.
There are many things that are unconscionable, and cutting reporting requirements in half will fall right in with them.
Or is it a case of short attention spans, short memories?
These rules are in place for good reason, and nothing in the actions of CEOs over the past decades indicates that honesty is reigning any more supreme than it did prior to the scandals.
Adrienne Rubinkowski
LCDR, USN (Ret'd)
Chicagoland

Adrienne

---

aferretmom Lytle — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: aferretmom Lytle Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Let it be. SEC bought by Trump. Supposed to protect investors not just Trump and his rich pals.

Aimee Gerold — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Aimee Gerold Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 My name is Aimee, and I live in Utah. Companies report to shareholders quarterly, the CEO should too.

Thanks, Aimee

AJ Kandy — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: AJ Kandy Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Business needs more oversight, not less. Without the requirement to publicly report every quarter, insiders will profit at the expense of employees and ordinary investors, causing further distrust and disengagement in our financial system. What makes American business great is the system of laws that make it fair and level for everyone - please don't weaken that.

I work in financial technology in Chicago.

A.J. Kandalgaonkar
1316 W. Carmen Ave, Apt 1
Chicago, Illinois
60640

Ajay Gupta — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Ajay Gupta Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:

we need to make the public businesses and condones more transparent to the shareholders, the public.

The current proposal woo result in locking down any information for longer periods of time. As an owner of the company (albeit a small share) I have the right to know, on a daily basis
, how the company is managing its finances. Instead of going for a. Quarter to a weekly or daily cadence, the current proposal aims to elongate the period where the common man shareholder will not have any visibility.

hence, I oppose the current proposal and request a look into mechanisms for even more transparency.

AKDon — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: AKDon Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep it Quarterly!

AL Hoffman — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: AL Hoffman Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I'm Alyson and I'm a custodian.

We need to know what is going on with our economy and to be able to hold those who make decisions that affect us accountable.

Al Woodcock — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Al Woodcock Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 DONT GIVE THEM A 2nd CHANCE TO SCREW EVERYONE AGAIN

Sent from my iPhone

---

alamedavic — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: alamedavic Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 The proposed change to reporting looks like a way for stockholders to be scammed, and is a bad idea. We need to know how companies are performing and not be left in the dark. Vicki Schmidt, stockholder and retired computer specialist.

Sent from my Galaxy

Alan Chenkin — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Alan Chenkin Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 This rule must not be changed! We need more protection not less.
Alan Chenkin MPA

Alan Chenkin, MPA
(516) 578-5503

Alan Fliegel — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Alan Fliegel Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I like getting the figures quarterly, and I hope that stays."

Sent from my iPhone

Alan Glenn — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Alan Glenn Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Quarterly reporting is a must for investors to be kept aware of the value of their investments. Anything less is tantamount to fraud.

Alan Knepler — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Alan Knepler Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Please keep quarterly reports. Alan Knepler,Retired It matters to me because quarterly reports help me stay focused on my investments.

Sent from my iPad

Alan Levander — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Alan Levander Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Don't change the rule. Companies should report quarterly.

Sent from my iPhone

Alan Malan — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Alan Malan Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep quartly reporting
It keeps things in order
It is working as it should.

Alan Nowell — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Alan Nowell Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I am not in favor of semi-annual reporting due to it allowing a few corrupt individuals or companies to use the longer time frame to bilk the company's assets without being discovered. Some countries who adopted the semi- annual disclosure have since reconsidered going back to the quarter system because of this very thing. Please do not change our current system.

Sent from my iPhone

Alan Perrault — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Alan Perrault Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 What is the real reason you want to change to bi-annual reporting of P/E? Why do you want to ruin everyone's investments? What is the purpose? Thank you.

My best,

Alan

---

alan stuard — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: alan stuard Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Please KEEP quarterly reporting! As things change faster and faster, we need it more than ever.

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Alan Welch — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Alan Welch Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Reports should be open and far more often, probably WEEKLY! This is not just money, it's futures.

Albert Raymond — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Albert Raymond Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I am opposed to any return to prior failed monitoring and reporting. When government want to do something like this it reduces transparency and consumer information. In my experience this is to allow shady practices and deceit.

Get Outlook for iOS

Albert Zoller — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Albert Zoller Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Transparency is critical. Quarterly!

Get Outlook for Android

---

aldansmo — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: aldansmo Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Quarterly reporting has been the standard practice for a long time. DO NOT CHANGE IT

Sent from my Galaxy

Alex Hodgson — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Alex Hodgson Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 As a mortgage broker, i see the semi annual reporting would create 2 things 1) more stability on rates and housing economy (boon) and 2) eventual collapse when the other shoe hits. Financial health markers will be delayed until it’s too late, crashing multiple capital markets at the same time. Dangerous. Please return to quarterly

Thank you,

Alex

Alexander Clark — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Alexander Clark Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Quarterly !!

Sent from my iPhone

Alexander Kapchynsky — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Alexander Kapchynsky Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 keep quaterly reporting

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Alexander Nason — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Alexander Nason Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
The access to quarterly metrics is key in understanding the viability of companies as the market ever changes. Decreasing the reporting interval is wrong and unfairly removes communication to investors.

Alexis Bach — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Alexis Bach Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 This is bull *. Just a way for the rich to get richer and cheat. I say NO!!!!

Kind Regards,
Alexis Bach

Alfred Romo — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Alfred Romo Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Stop the embezzlement , build more prisons that's too much going out the back door .

Alfred Weaver — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Alfred Weaver Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 This is a blatant attack on the hard working Americans trying live a better life.

Sent from my iPhone

Alice Kotynski McNary — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Alice Kotynski McNary Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep the reporting at quarterly for investors

Alice Snook — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Alice Snook Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 We do not want our banks causing another crash and us middle class tax payers having to bail them out while they get personally rich. Do not allow this to happen. The middle class is already supporting the upper classes AND the lower classes. We (the middle class) pay more in taxes than the richest people. More billionaires created by bankers fraudulent behavior means even less taxes paid by them. They have proved themselves capable of doing this already, which is why they are being monitored so closely. Don’t go backwards to allow this to happen again!

Alice Snook

Sent from my iPad

Alicia Smith — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Alicia Smith Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 This is needed so the consumer has z way to keep track of their money. Changing this invites fraud on the parg of companies.
Alicia Smith

Alisha Bale — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Alisha Bale Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 There's no reason to change the quarterly reporting to semi-annual that helps the average investor. I would be less likely to participate in the market knowing that the SEC all of a sudden wants LESS transparency. Suspicious as heck. Shame on y'all. Alisha Bale, Paralegal, Midland, TX.

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Alisha Teator — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Alisha Teator Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
More transparency, not less. We do not want to be blindfolded and taken advantage of. Protect the average citizen not corporations!

Alison Hird — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Alison Hird Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 No more dark money. We the people are being stampeded by the constant erosion of common sense financial guardrails.

Sent from my iPhone

Alison Schorger — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Alison Schorger Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Alison Schorger - retired CPA. Quarterly reports keep information timely in a fast changing world. And having the CEO sign as to their truthfulness, helps to ensure that the information is accurate, and can be relied upon.
Cutting this requirement down to only twice a year, will encourage illegal activities not only to be more likely, but also to make hiding them easier for the participants.
Cutting this safeguard in half, is cutting your role of protector of Americans, in half. So only if you are unfazed by grift, and other forms of corporate misbehavior, then allow this to pass. And we the voters, will remember who you are when you run for reelection. Keep corporation reporting honest, and you will not be regarded as aiding and abetting criminals. Don't, and we will know you do not deserve our trust.

Alissa Donovan — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Alissa Donovan Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
No investor wants less transparency into their holdings. Let the little guys have a shot by giving us access to regular information required by law.

Retail investors need clear, accurate and timely information to make informed investment decisions. Insiders and institutional investors will always have the resources and relationships to get the information they need. Without quarterly reporting, retail investors are on an unlevel playing field, with no way to get timely information about public companies.

Alix — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Alix Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Alixandria Andrews, Retired. I feel that extending the reporting dates that there would be much more likelihood of criminal activity.

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Allan Schollnick — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Allan Schollnick Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep it Quarterly! There is enough corruption out there.

Sent from my iPhone

Allen Crutcher — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Allen Crutcher Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 We need more frequent reporting, not less.

Allen Muckleroy — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Allen Muckleroy Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 My name is Allen Muckleroy. I live in rural Upshur County, Texas. I work as a dispatcher for a regional natural gas distribution company called Summit Utilities, Inc. I am not wealthy by any stretch of the imagination, but I check my investments regularly because my retirement is coming up quickly. My wife and I will depend on those investments when that time arrives. It is essential that CEO'S and CFO's are held accountable to us, the investors, to protect those retirement investments as well as the financial well-being of their own companies. Keeping the reports on a quarterly schedule may not completely stop all forms of fraud, but it will assure that those executives are held accountable for any fraudulent activities.

Allen Proulx — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Allen Proulx Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Having quarterly earnings reports is invaluable to keeping the companies I invest in honest and I would be extremely scared to invest in the market if they did not report earnings as frequently as they do.

Allison Fordham — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Allison Fordham Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 It is imperative that the SEC keeps companies accountable with quarterly reporting! America need more transparency, not less. My family stands to lose our entire retirement investments if semi-annual reporting is adopted. This serves no purpose other than to shelter those who are less than forthcoming about their profits. - Allison K Fordham, BSN RN, Nampa ID

Allison MacKay — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Allison MacKay Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 The corruption must stop, this is only one way to start.

Sent from my iPhone

Allison Mitchell — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Allison Mitchell Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
My views on Rule S7-2026-15. I rely on quarterly disclosure to help me with my investments we've had it for too long to be able to take it away. That's just not right especially when everybody else in Congress knows what's going on. It gives them a leg up as always.

Allison Williams — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Allison Williams Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Do not change the reporting rules. The public needs transparency when making investments.
Allison Williams -retired

Alonzo Jackson — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Alonzo Jackson Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
I want to be a part of this team

---

alta toler — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: alta toler Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 The corruption is blatant. I hope that there will be a reckoning for the evil this admin is perpetrating.

Alvina Matherne — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Alvina Matherne Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I want companies to report quarterly.

Sent from my iPhone

---

amagnolia — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: amagnolia Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Quarterly reports lead to transparency and fairness. Keep reporting Quarterly.

Fay Mitchell

Sent from my Galaxy

Amanda Cardinal — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Amanda Cardinal Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Yes 100 percent keep reporting no one is above the law it doesn't matter if you have money or not people need to be held accountable especially for fraud period keep reporting especially for not paying taxis like everyone else to

---

Amanda Dunn — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Amanda Dunn Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission: Investors are entitled to and should remain entitled to frequent and comprehensive reporting and disclosure by any publicly traded entity. The changes proposed under rule S7-2026-15 would harm retail investors in numerous ways, and give insiders more power to abuse the system while taking advantage of public ignorance. DO NOT DO THIS TO THE AMERICAN PUBLIC. This decision will follow you for your entire political careers and possibly your lives. I implore you to do what's right for everyone, not simply what's best for the people that are paying to push this rule through.

Amanda Harnden — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Amanda Harnden Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Amanda H. Business owner, and mother of 2. This matters to ne because we need accountability and honesty back in this once great nation. It is becoming a country of scammers, liars and drifters. Make America honest again!

Sent via the Samsung Galaxy S25+, an AT&T 5G smartphone
Get Outlook for Android

Amanda Humphrey — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Amanda Humphrey Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Transparent routine information shared with investors at all levels is critical for a strong stock market. Without this information I would remove my investments from the market.

Amber Madison — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Amber Madison Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
This would not allow me to make informed decisions on not only my purchases but also the way I invest in companies. This does not allow companies shine for being the best at what they do and/or provide. Please do not take away our American freedom.

Ameena Meer — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Ameena Meer Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Please continue quarterly reporting, it’s essential to the transparency of business and the u.s. economy

Sent from my iPhone

Amie Waters — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Amie Waters Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Please don’t let the elite Epstein class fix the rules of the game even further in their own favor!

Sent from my iPhone

Amy — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Amy Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Your opening line on website states you exist to protect investors from misconduct, promote fairness & efficiency in the securities markets, and facilitate capital formation. Why would you reduce reporting that would allow for misconduct and reduce fairness? You are an entity paid for by our tax dollars, act like it. The govt has already ‘borrowed’ from social security and not repaid - do not destroy investment accounts - the country will collapse. People over corporations and greed.

Do the job you are paid to do-protect American investors.

Amy

Amy B. — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Amy B. Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Please stand up for us and keep this as quarterly reporting. We are Americans, and we deserve transparency. There's no honest reason to change it, only dishonesty lives in hiding. Thank you Amy Balderrama- retired- Phoenix-AZ 85023.

Thank you,

Amy Balderrama
amy.balderrama@gmail.com

Amy Buchanan — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Amy Buchanan Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Why? if it is not to assist in insider trading then what is this about. It is absolutely to assist with insider trading and corporate buy backs. absolutely NOT!!!! Stop this right now.

Your Friend,
Amy Buchanan
amy@govfriend.com
801-645-2725

Amy Golden — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Amy Golden Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 To the SEC: Quarterly reporting needs to stay. The experiment of semi-annual reporting has been tried and was not in the best interest of investors. Let’s not repeat another mistake in history.

Amy Golden, 52 years old, saving since 1985. Illinois resident since 1996. Insurance professional for 24 years.

Sent from my iPhone

Amy Henry — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Amy Henry Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 This change would be criminal. It’s a complete violation of transparency

Sent from my iPhone

Amy Hower — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Amy Hower Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Save quarterly reporting quarterly for SEC. It will be harder to get past you if there is accountability on a regular basis .

Sent from my iPhone

Amy Josefek — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Amy Josefek Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 There needs to be transparency and accountability for people who are in these positions of power and financial control.

If they're doing nothing wrong, they should have no problem with signing off on this quarterly.

Thank you for Keeping it Quarterly.

A Jose
Concerned citizen

Amy Lawrence — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Amy Lawrence Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 This is not good for the average American. More transparency, not less, is what we were promised!

Amy Nixon — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Amy Nixon Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Do not roll back as we need and companies also need to be aware of how they are doing and held accountable and understand if loses are on the horizon. We and companies need to be prepared and properly forecast and set goals . Do not roll back financial statements or set us back to reporting as in the 50's.

Amy Nixon

Sent from my iPhone

Amy S-R — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Amy S-R Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Quarterly reporting needs to be done. This is accounting and to be done every business needs accountability and this is how it happens.

Amy Schupp — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Amy Schupp Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Amy Schupp, retired, Bonne Terre, MO. At 68 years old, I can't afford to lose 1/3 of my retirement savings. You can't change the rules in the middle of a game!

Sent from my iPhone

Ana Smith — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Ana Smith Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Don't want to return to semi annual reporting. Near retirement an d can't afford to lose my portfolio. A. Smith. Office manager medical practice Northern Virginia area

Sent from my iPhone

Andra Bell & Thomas McDonald — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Andra Bell & Thomas McDonald Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 It must remain quarterly. Everyone has the right to this information in timely fashion. Semiannually is not responsible for investors and favors corporate shenanigans.

Andra Bell private citizen and stockholder.

Andra Bell

mcbell@seanet.com

Andrea Karsh — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Andrea Karsh Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Quarterly reporting keeps everyone more accountable.

Andrea J Karsh

Andrea Maxwell — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Andrea Maxwell Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep the SEC reporting quarterly if for no other reason than to enforce the law as it was intended to prevent such Enron crimes again.
The horrific truth of losing your life's savings to such underhanded thieves is so disturbing to the average American, while white collar criminals get pardoned. I'm ready to retire. Haven't the billionaires stolen enough of our money??

Andrea McCague
Project Manager
Pittsburgh, PA

Sent from my iPhone

Andrea Peterson — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Andrea Peterson Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Andrea Peterson, Retired/Widowed, AZ, Keep your hands off of what my late husband and I have struggled to save. Healthcare is bad enough and if I need to pay medical bills and you go back to the way things were with semi annual versus quarterly - then you be are stealing what we have struggled to save our entire lives. So this money that is supposed to hopefully help me to pay my bills since I've already worked outside the home and raised not only my kids but also some of my grandkids due to drugs (etc) over the last 46 years and we all know that trying to live on Social Security is a joke when you have all the bills to pay. This is the problem with our country and everyone wants there hands in our "cookie jar". If it's not broke, don't fix it. Leave our money alone so we in America don't have to live in poverty like they do in third world countries or have to work until we die. I started working at 13 and have worked my entire married life as has my husband until he couldn't anymore due to his health failing. Then I became his caregiver until his death. Please -don't touch what we have earned and scrimped to save. It is OUR money, not something for someone that hasn't worked to earn it to decide what to do with it.

Andrea Psoras — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Andrea Psoras Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Dear Sirs/Ma'am: Please accept this comment to indicate my opposition to anything less frequent that quarterly reporting. Most retail and even institutional investors would blanche at the thought that they would be investing in companies that like sitting on the information about their true financial condition, like it's the PRC, which any way isnt credible for virtually anything it reports, but we're not looking at more timely disclosure, we're looking at less timely disclosure.

But why is management pushing for this less timely disclosure of its financial condition? probably because management wants to keep your money without telling you their company isnt worthy of your money.

Enron and other financial blowups, vomits and craterings or Theranos and Elizabeth Holmes, which a jury found guilty of fraud after she and one of her business partners led investors astray and that was quarterly reporting!

IN regard to her hall of mirrors scam of her blood 'testing' technology start-up, she alleged a better way to skin that cat to deceived many investors out of a great deal of money that if they really understood disease and nutrition, they would not even given her the time of day.

Consider anyway that a clean diet will solve many health conditions, even cancer because if cancer which often are parasites, in addition to ivermectin, fasting with Extra Virgin Olive oil will kill the parasites, of which cancer's food source is to thrive on sugars and starches. but blood sugar, blood pressure and other maladies are defeated with high quality no processed food diets, ie less contamination and better disclosure serves that end.

Apply that to investing, even trading. High quality and sufficient timely disclosure, on demand when it's labeling on your food, but if it is 6 months old?

Banks fail in a very short time when there are liquidity issues that if you were waiting 6 months for what was the Quarterly report and in the case of bank investing, you better know how to read a "Call" report, still these were available to the public only a quarterly basis. It could have sour loans on its books and capital adequacy issues that could hang around for a number of quarters THAT YOU BET THE REGULATORS DONT ACCEPT OLD REPORTING. Call reports can now be filed on line, electronically MONTHLY FOR YOUR BANK OR LIKE DEPOSITORY INSTITUTION. But something like a liquidity problem, ie it cannot meet it's daily banking needs, infrequent financial reporting deters investing in any marginally performing bank. Cashflow likewise at any publicly traded enterprise also needs more frequent reporting than semi-annual reporting.

Enron looked profitable but without understanding that its specialty purpose entities were using its stock price as its 'footings' ie net worth to support the SPE structures, and this is with quarterly reporting, but as the dotcom, telecom correction took down the stock market, it took down the balance sheets of all of Enron's Specialty purpose entities... again unless you know what you are reading ANYWAY, BUT GOING TO LESS FREQUENT REPORTING DISSERVES A L L ALL INVESTORS.

Why would you want to own shares in something that you cant get more timely data than God forbid, 6 months ago.

Respectfully,
Andrea Psoras
New York, NY

Andrea Saint James — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Andrea Saint James Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I'm retired in my late 70's. I cannot afford to lose ANY money from my investments like money grubbing corporations hope to do. STOP THIS CRAP! -- Andrea St James, Richmond, VA

Andrew — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Andrew Reducing reporting to semiannual reduces trust in companies and limits investor confidence. Not only will this increase risk in all stock investments, it will be knock-on consequences in the economy.

Andrew Chiodi — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Andrew Chiodi Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Looks like quarterly is the best way to go!

Andrew Fena — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Keep the quarterly reports!! From: Andrew Fena Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 We need to keep quarterly reporting. Wall street is *ing us all, and a quarterly report has the chance to hold them more accountable and prosecute the wrong doers. Remember Enron. Keep it Quarterly.
Thank you,

Andy Fena
3515 Norton Road
Duluth, MN 55803

Andrew Giarrizzo — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Andrew Giarrizzo Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Retain quarterly reporting. My financial interests require transparency. Quarterly reporting supports transparency. Anything less does not.

Sent from my iPhone

Andrew Haire — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Andrew Haire Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Quarterly reports were implemented to prevent fraud by corporations and protect retail investors. Please leave the quarterly reporting requirements in place

---

Andrew kabush — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Andrew kabush Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Transparent honesty is the foundation of trust, The investors who's futures are tied to the operation of businesses deserve to know what is happening with their hard earned money. Save the Quarterly report!

Andrew Mackey — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Andrew Mackey Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I am retired. I rely on quarterly reports to make sure that my retirement funds are performing adequately.

Andrew Shaw — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Andrew Shaw Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 There is no justification for this. Don't try to fix what isn't broken. -

-Andrew Shaw
Retired and trying to live off of my investments

---

andy battin — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: andy battin Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Andrew Battin
Federal Manager - Retired
Dagsboro, DE

We should not have less oversight and disclosure. Transparency hasn't hampered America's growth and properity, on the contrary, it has created a known set of guidelines, integrity when the rules are followed, and helped our nation avoid financial crises. Look at the periods of collapse and recession, and you will see the correlation with relaxed oversight. Transparency on the whole has powered our nation's economy upward.

A. Battin

Andy Haskin — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Andy Haskin Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 We should have as much transparency as possible

Sent from my iPhone

---

angela impellizzeri — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: angela impellizzeri Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 The rules are for those that have the time and privilege to engage. Most of us have to work and cannot focus on this bull *. Please quit wi the the policies that favor the rich, elite and corporations. Quarterly reports are a must. If you don't want these reports, you are part of the problem.

Angelina O'Berry — Jun 17, 2026

Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Angelina O'Berry Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
We live in a world where we can see stock prices go up and down in SECONDS and these companies want 6 months? Even schools are required to give quarterly reports on how your child is doing. Can you imagine owning or investing in anything that you're not allowed to hear about more than twice a year? That's insane! Normal investors deserve a reasonable amount of transparency in what is happening with their money. Quarterly disclosures are literally months apart giving companies plenty of breathing room and allowing time to illustrate trends as they happen. Giving more time between reportings is entirely unnecessary. Especially when so much of the jobs have been automated; meaning there is literally nothing to "get together". For most people, the disclosures are the only form of communication from the company they get because they can't afford to eat, sleep, and breathe chasing after information companies don't want to give them in the first place. The quarterly disclosures create a healthy boundary setting a minimum level of communication that must be followed. Why would LESS transparency be a GOOD thing? It just going to delay the inevitable and make any level of accountability easier to hide. If anything, we should be pushing for monthly disclosures; not less.

---

angelo dieguez — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: angelo dieguez Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Angelo Dieguez, Small Investor, South Carolina The Quarterly Report protects the investor, by serving as the company's regular report card. Do not remove this vital method of corporate accountability!

Angie Fritz — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Angie Fritz Re: File Number S7-2026-15 – Semiannual Reporting I am an individual retail investor and I oppose the proposed rule allowing public companies to replace quarterly reporting with semiannual reporting. Quarterly reports provide regular, standardized information that helps ordinary investors make informed decisions. Reducing formal reporting to twice a year would create longer periods with less transparency and could increase the information advantage already held by institutional investors and market professionals. Many individual investors do not have access to private meetings, expensive research services, or alternative data sources. Quarterly filings help create a more level playing field by ensuring that all investors receive comparable information on a regular basis. While I understand the desire to reduce administrative burdens and encourage long-term thinking, I believe investor protection and transparency should remain the priority. Companies already have flexibility in how they communicate long-term strategies while continuing to provide quarterly disclosures. For these reasons, I encourage the Commission to retain the current quarterly reporting framework. Thank you for considering my comments. Angie Fritz Seattle, Washington

---

Angie Wilson — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Angie Wilson Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Remember that having quarterly reporting keeps companies accountable for the everyday investor!

Angie Wilson

Anita Harris — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anita Harris Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Reporting should remain as is. Otherwise people will be in the unknown and there will be civil unrest. Its hard enough already to live. Anita Harris, Realtor.

Anita Harris
President/Owner
P4 Micro Marketing, LLC
303-513-0164
anita@p4micromarketing.com www.p4micromarketing.com

'Guaranteeing Clients to Achieve Marketing Return On Investment'

Anita Hicks — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anita Hicks Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 This is NOT a good move for anyone except the bad actors. Signed, Anita Hicks. Art Director

---

Anita Marchion — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Anita Marchion Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission: Don't allow public companies to hide vital information!
My name is Anita Marchion. I live in Alexandria, VA. As a former 41-year bank examiner and risk manager for the Office of the Comptroller of the Currency, Federal Reserve, and Troubled Asset Relief Program, and someone who lived and worked through several financial shocks, I strongly urge maintenance of the current standard of quarterly financial reporting. We arrived at this standard as a result of prior inadequate and untimely information for shareholders, and other relevant parties. And, now that there's AI, it's even easier to prepare such reporting. I urge you to please maintain the current financial reporting standard for corporations. There is no reason to ignore history and hope for the best, particularly as our financial markets are becoming more complex and less transparent.
Thank you,
Anita Marchion

Anita Ward Anita Ward — Jun 17, 2026

Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Anita Ward This is wrong,I don't agree with this,I been a sec fan for more than 30 years ,I just think it wrong

---

Ann — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Ann Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 This has been tried 2 times before in our country and it does nothing for the investors. I see no value in enabling companies in the stock market more time and ways to hide the actual truths about how they use their investors money! If you want to change it I recommend every 2 month accountability on how they use other peoples money!

Ann Roppel

Ann Babbitt — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Ann Babbitt Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 At least Quarterly. No less

---

Ann Babbitt — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Ann Babbitt Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 At least Quarterly. No less .

Ann Miner — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Ann Miner Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 We need more clarity and transparency, not less. Retain the standard for quarterly reporting.

Ann Miner
(she/her) ann@yarnfolk.com www.yarnfolk.com
www.facebook.com/yarnfolk www.instagram.com/yarnfolk
Ravelry ID yarnfolkann
Yarn Folk
211 W Third Ave
Ellensburg, WA 98926
509.304.4588

Ann Norment — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Ann Norment Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep the quarterly reports active, and available for accountability! We should not be taking a step backwards with this. I am an investor and my retirement is important to me! Me and my husband have worked hard to get where we are. This is about accountability. It’s their job! It’s not a burden, it’s literally part of why they make the money they do! Transparency is important. Quarterly reports are key.

Ann Norment
Small business owner
Fort Mill, SC

Sent from my iPhone

Ann Savkova — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Ann Savkova Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 My name is ann savkova and I live in Allentown Pennsylvania. I expect the SEC to maintain quarterly reporting. The only reason to go to semi annual reporting is to continue to hide this administrations obscene rape of democracy.

Ann VanSlyke — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Ann VanSlyke Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 It's a terrible idea. When semiannual reporting was in place in the 1950's and 60's, returns were lower.

Sent from my iPhone

Ann Wilson-McNally — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Ann Wilson-McNally Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Quarterly reporting is critical to protecting our economy, investments and every person that works.

It's time to hold corporations accountable!

This is only one way. Stop removing the sources of accountability!

Anna De Merit — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Anna De Merit Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 KEEP QUARTERLY REPORTS! Why are we allowing others to constantly take what is legally ours? So many people work hard to provide for family and help support this country. We need continued progress not stepping back into a times when investors lost their advantage. We need positive progress!

Sent from my iPhone

AnnaSophia Clark — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: AnnaSophia Clark Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I make my own money, which required college degrees and time. Working in Healthcare means I care about the future and my abilities to survive it. I care about being able to provide the means for my kids to attend schools which help them be prepared for a future they could be left behind in if left uneducated. Besides, a company does either of two things with earnings reports…they can flaunt their brilliance, or they can actively deceive donors. Do the right thing!

Anne — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anne Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Please protect investors from fraud. Ensure transparency by keeping quarterly reporting. We are counting on you to do the right thing.

Anne allison — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Anne allison Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep it Quarterly!
Anne Allison

Sent from my iPhone

Anne Badalato — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Anne Badalato Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Nick Badalato, High School math teacher in NY.

Keep quarterly reports! As an educator for 32 years, I understand the value of regular assessments. We don't wait until the end of the school year to find out whether students are learning. Teachers use quizzes, tests, projects, and progress reports throughout the year to measure performance, identify problems early, and make adjustments before small issues become major ones.

Public companies should be held to a similar standard. Quarterly financial reports are like report cards for businesses. They provide investors with regular, objective information about a company's performance, allowing shareholders to identify strengths, weaknesses, and emerging risks in a timely manner. Just as students benefit from ongoing evaluation and accountability, companies and investors benefit from regular financial assessments that promote transparency, trust, and informed decision-making.
As one of many who will rely on personal investments to supplement my retirement income, I strongly support maintaining quarterly reporting requirements for public companies.

Sent from my iPad

Anne Brack — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Anne Brack Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I think we should stick with quarterly reporting for improved transparency.

Sent from my iPhone

Anne Chambers — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anne Chambers Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Anne Chambers , retired teacher, quarterly reports matter to me for future investment strategies. I will not invest without this quarterly reporting!

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Anne Collins — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Anne Collins Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Transparency and accountability are essential to supporting an economy that incorporates ethical behavior and allows the public to understand the performance of their investments. Please do not reduce reporting requirements. Anne Collins, retired, MD

Annecollins114@gmail.com

---

anne driver — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: anne driver Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Quarterly reporting is crucial for keeping corporations honest. Their executives have a fiduciary responsibility to shareholders that needs to be upheld. The security of my hard earned money and retirement funds depend on being able to make informed decisions. CEOs should absolutely be held accountable for what happens on their watch and stretching out the reporting period only allows for problems or fraud to gain momentum. KEEP QUARTERLY REPORTING!!!
Anne Driver entrepreneur and investor
Los Angeles

Sent from my iPhone

Anne Gausmann — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Anne Gausmann Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 We need transparency

Sent from my iPhone

Anne H. F. — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anne H. F. Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 That is insiders tradings.
Unfair advantages.
I will write about it today for the magazine.
Disgusting.

Anne Howard - journalist-publisher.

Anne Horn — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Anne Horn Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 You convict people who break the law. You don't soften the law to accommodate them. That makes you complicit in their crimes.

Sent from my iPhone

Anne Humphrey — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anne Humphrey Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 First you let companies have citizen rights so our votes don't count because we can't buy a vote (which seems to cost in the millions and billions.) Now you're going to give them another way to rig the system and the people pay so the rich can buy islands and votes. This is crooked, vile, and is highway robbery of the American people (no, corporations are not citizens, despite Citizens United, which is a scam.)

Enough already. Stop taking bribes that corrupt our country.

Anne Kimbrough — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Anne Kimbrough Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I'm requesting that quarterly reporting remain in place due to concerns about loss of returns if only reported twice a year.

Anne Kimbrough , Retired
Fort Worth, Texas

Sent from my iPhone

Anne Patterson — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Anne Patterson Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 To SEC, from Anne L. Patterson, retired college/university teacher: Please retain quarterly reporting. I retired in West Virginia, and I need every advantage possible to counter my low salary while I was working, first in elementary schools, then in colleges/universities. Teaching is a service to the country and should be better rewarded, considering the cost of earning a doctorate and continuing education. Please retain the practice of quarterly reporting. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Anne Schiller — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anne Schiller Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 We deserve quarterly statements!! What do you want to hide by going bi-annual?? Keep the quarterly statements!!

Sent from my iPhone

Anne Tucker — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Anne Tucker Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I am retired and living off of my investments. Please, more transparency, not less.

Anne Tucker
Rockville, VA

Annette Lechtenberg — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Annette Lechtenberg Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Financial reporting should remain quarterly. Don’t take us back to 1955. Investors deserve transparency!

Sent from my iPhone

ANNETTE ROGERS — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: ANNETTE ROGERS Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Please stick to quarterly reporting. Why change something that works. Annette Rogers, Arizona

Sent from my iPhone

Annette Schoonover — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Annette Schoonover Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I oppose semi annual reporting. Keep quarterly teporting

Sent from my iPhone

Annette Zak — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Annette Zak Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 It is the backbone for trust. Nothing to hide. If they need 6 months they shouldn't be in business. Annette Zakrzewski. Retired annette_zak@yahoo.com

---

Annie — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Annie Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 We have the right to receive our report. Another example of you trying to trick the American people

Annie Borden — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Annie Borden Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 My name is Annie Borden. I am retired and living on Social Security & the earnings of my investments which come quarterly. Changing the reporting to twice a year could put my security in jeopardy. It doesn't help me and could hurt me. It can only be useful to the corporations who have something to hide. Do not allow this change. Listen to the people who are your real constituents. Thank you.

Ann Borden
24815 Hamilton Pool Rd, Round Mountain, TX 78663

Annie Karns — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Annie Karns Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
I hope you will consider the importance of true informed disclosure, accounting, accountability, transparency in the ability to allow the public access and wisely manage their investments based on the information available to them. This is what democracy looks like.
Thank you.
Annie Karns

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Quarterly reports is the key matrix. Even employees have quarterly review. This fundamental requirement of quarterly report should not be changed.

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Please don’t do this the rich are rich enough.

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Retain quarterly appoint reporting as it is more timely than a long time to expand between checks. This keeps investors in the no and allows them to take action and deal with a company that may need some guidance from its owners..

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Not good for us little people! Keep quarterly!

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 It was quantifies what is happening in the recent past and allows time to stop tactics that may be occurring.

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Robert Wallace, SRMC Maintenance Manager.
Keep the reporting quarterly please. It isn't ethical to keep investors in the dark for half a year.

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Quarterly reporting should continue! Short selling should be better monitored. FTDs should be investigated and prosecuted when naked shoting discovered.

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 As a retail investor I find this very disturbing. This is not the level playing field that the SEC is supposed to encourage.

Paul T.
Warminster PA

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keeping the rules in place is more important than ever, based on the amount of grift and self dealing we watch our government officials doing on a daily basis. Our 'K-shaped' economy hurts more when we see it used to increase the wealth gap even further. Like, it's not enough to just have more money, the wealthy and connected want more control over our lives while they explode their fortunes through rigged rules.

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Why do you want to make living more difficult. I am retired and if you do stop the reporting it would make me less financially stable. Do not do this

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 My name is Tonya Hilligoss and I am writing to urge you to not to reduce the frequency of required financial reports. I am a retired teacher who strongly opposes the proposed change in regulations. Quarterly reporting is essential to protect our investments. This country has already tried reducing the requirement and abandoned that effort when its negative consequences became apparent. I encourage you not to make that mistake again. Please stop hurting those of us who spent our lives contributing to the financial strength of this country. Thank you.

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 My name is Ann Garrison. I am now retired but worked 34 years at a large corporation in the telecommunications industry. The last 8 years I worked in Marketing, specifically in Competitive Research & Analysis. Prior to that I was a Product Manager and one of my responsibilities was the annual forecast of sales/revenue for my product. I have personally seen the process of putting together the quarterly report and how important it is. Please continue the requirement of quarterly reporting. The nature of corporations whose stock is publicly traded is to "error on the side of optimism, not conservatism". Quarterly reports are necessary for transparency and accountability to stockholders. Now as a retired person, my livelihood depends on companies being truthful and accurate. As do the livelihoods of many Americans. Please consider the negative impact of making companies less accountable and accurate on those who use those reports to make important financial decisions. In my 67 years on this planet I have never seen a time when this is more needed than now. Thank you.

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 KEEP quarterly reports!

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Each CEO should be held accountable and responsible to the current standards -no exceptions. Further, any and all monies, stocks, etc. the CEO earned, purchased or fraudulently gained will be removed from any and all accounts held by the CEO and returned to the stockholders and investors, with interest at a minimum of ten percent from the CEO’s personal and any other accounts.

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I’m certainly no economist but transparency is ALWAYS better in government. Do not change the current reporting!

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I am a small investor. Semi annual reporting would not allow me to properly gauge how a company is really doing. In this day and age, computers should allow easy reporting. Quarterly Timely Reporting is essential for investors. Let’s not go back 50 years!

Wendy Schluter

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep the quarterly reports.

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Erica Williams- Work in Behavioral Health and my pension is tied to these accounts. Don’t change the rules! Keep it Quarterly to protect my future!

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 History has shown quarterly reports are necessary to protect the integrity of financial systems. Don’t allow another Enron! Keep quarterlies!

Celia Walker
Retired
241 NW Canyon Dr
Redmond OR 97756

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 The economy is booming
Lets keet reporting Quarterly

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep it!

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 As a retired person, I need to monitor the stocks I have . I need quarterly reporting. I need my financial advisors to have these quarterly reports. Kathleen Mehltretter

---

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Transparency equals trust. If a corporation doesn't want me to understand its business operations then it doesn't want me to invest in them. If I trust the company, even if things are not going well - then I continue my investment. That's my choice. But if I don't know what's happening, then you're using my money in a way I don't agree with. So, absolutely, reporting should continue quarterly. We know this lesson. Less reporting will result in lower trust and lower investment. No to the SEC stealing wealth from the average American investor!!

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Dear SEC,
As an engineer and previous partner in an engineering firm, now retired. I would find it much safer for myself and other investors if companies reported four times per year as currently required. If anything, the speed of technology change factors into this and has great influence on companies value, planning and strategic thinking, only a part of which is shown in these reports. Please keep reporting at four times per year as a minimum. Respectfully submitted, Richard Gotwals, retired marine engineer, Titusville, Florida

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I like quarter reports because it gives me more information on how my funds are doing. Carlene Quinn, Bloomington, Indiana.

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep the reporting quarterly. We don't want to go back to the 50's. As a retiree I can't afford to have less money coming back to me from my investments. This seems to be another scheme the government has to make the populous poorer. Linda, Charlotte NC

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 We ve need to maintain critical reporting as it currently stands to ensure protections for investors snd clients who have much to lose

Sent from Proton Mail for iOS.

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Sustaining a robust and comprehensive quarterly reporting mechanism is absolutely essential. This consistent and timely dissemination of critical insights is foundational for cultivating transparency and ensuring accountability throughout our entire operational framework. It guarantees that all relevant stakeholders – including our investors, regulatory bodies, and the broader public – have continuous access to vital organizational data. This accessibility empowers them to make well-informed decisions, assess our performance accurately, and maintain unwavering confidence in our integrity and strategic direction.

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 why are you trying to screw the investors because so many politicians have already screwed the investors and use insider information to trade and y'all have done nothing about that now you want to do another scam against the public you need to be replaced with a re-organization that cares for all parties not just yourselves

---

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Truly, some evil people to come up with this kind of thinking. Just say you want the American people to be slaves because at this point, the quiet part is being screamed out loud.

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Don't get loose with hardworkers savings. If we don't expose corrupt companies as early as possible, US investments will no longer be looked up to around the world. Furthermore, we need to keep the standard high on ceo accountability.

Sent from Yahoo Mail on Android

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Quarterly reporting is necessary for honest investment advice.

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Quarterly's

---

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Do not change this rule! We need more transparency not less.

Sent from Proton Mail for Android.

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Donna Childress
Retired teacher
My experience with prolonging information makes it difficult to correct errors. If a child needed help with a math skill, I would recommend that they practice that particular skill at home. If I prolonged sending the information home, the child would not be able to keep up with the rest of the lessons.

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 The public deserves accountability! There is an estimated 1 trillion dollars in fraud discovered in just a few states. Confidence in the government is extremely low. Transparency visibility is critical at this point.

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 For the investors to have confidence there needs to be transparent exchange for the investors. Reports going from quarterly to biannually will do the opposite. Every benefit of this change benefits only 1 part, those needing oversight. This will greatly damage investors confidence. As investors we need GREATER oversight not less. DO NOT TAKE OUR OVERSIGHT AWAY by going biannually. Keep it how it's been working. Corporate America might find many, like myself WILL go outside the US to invest. Stop catering to those with all the advantages.

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Foolish to repeat the failed experiment from the 1950's. We thinking US Citizens say no to semiannual corporate reporting.

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Do not change the rules to reduce reporting. All evidence shows it reduce income for small investors.
Joyce Wilkinson
Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Dear SEC officials,
Please keep the requirement for quarterly reporting. This helps keep CEOs and corporations honest. As individuals investors, we need checks and balances in place such as quarterly reporting to protect us.

Sincerely,
Janet Seeley
Retired Administrative Services Director
Pacificorp Naughton Power Plant
Kemmerer/Lander Wyoming

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Fraud is rampant in this country, at every level. The higher up the food/money chain you go the temptation grows and opportunitiespresent themselves. Please do your part and keep the quarterly review in place

---

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 if its not reported, its because someone is trying to hide something. how obvious.

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Bruce Mullen, Retired, Summerville, SC

Without quarterly financial updates from publicly traded corporations, it opens up a vast amount of questions about their financial health. It can lead to losses being hidden to shareholders. Stock prices may be artificially inflated while the true financial health is only known to insiders. This is absolutely the dumbest idea ever cooked up. It will be open season for lawyers to file lawsuits at a tremendous cost to all of us. Do not proceed with this backwards idea.

Sent from my iPad

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 The proposed change will not benefit investors. I am not in favor of repeating what was done in the past.

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Dr Peggy Beatty. Investor. Retired. This is an historically bad move for all involved. During Americas only modern stretch of twice-a-year reporting, real stock returns went nowhere and valuations sat far below today. In the half-century of quarterly reporting that followed, the market compounded steadily higher, year after year. The markets that demand quarterly numbers command the richest valuations. The markets that settle for twice a year sit at a discount, right alongside where America sat during its own semi-annual era, in the 50s. Bad news gets up to six months to build before you ever see it. When the truth finally lands, the surprise and the sell-off can be far sharper than it would have been with a quarterly heads-up. This creates more volatility. Executives and big institutions dont wait for filings. They have other channels. Longer gaps between public reports widen the gap between what insiders know and what you know. European companies that moved to semi-annual reporting saw their trading liquidity dry up, while quarterly reporters held steady. Thinner markets mean worse prices for ordinary sellers. Why would the SEC return to a reporting system that obviously demonstrated poor outcomes? Keep it quarterly, steady and honest. Thank you,
Peggy Beatty

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Keep it quarterly From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 To whom it concerns,

Honestly, in this environment, quarterly reporting is necessary. Don't allow corporations to hide behind the numbers, let the investors see what's happening with their funds,

Change is happening fast, 6 months is too long to wait and see in trends and how a company is doing

Kirsten Hale

Sent from the all new AOL app for iOS

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Quarterly Reports should be Mandatory! Don’t we have enough Corporate Corruption!

Jerome Becigneul

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Reporting has to remain quarterly and not revert back to the semi 1955 method.
Allows for quicker reaction times for companies and provides investors a better pulse on their investments.
Scotti Nieukirk

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep The Trump corruption out of the SEC. It needs to stay quarterly. This minimizes risk and exposure. It needs to be responsible to the investors.

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 It is imperative that the S.E.C. continues to require companies to file quarterly reports in order to maintain the transparency that has protected American investors.

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Please keep CEO reporting quarterly!

Sent from my iPad

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 To Whom It May Concern:
After Enron, the law required CEOs and CFOs to personally certify their companies' financial statements four times a year, with serious legal consequences—including potential prison time—for knowingly signing false or misleading reports. This requirement was created for a reason: to ensure accountability at the highest levels of corporate leadership and to protect investors from fraud.
The SEC has now proposed cutting these certifications in half. Fewer signatures mean less accountability. There is no benefit to investors, retirees, employees, or the public from reducing the frequency with which corporate executives must personally stand behind the accuracy of their financial disclosures.

The certification requirement serves as a powerful reminder that corporate leaders are responsible for the truthfulness and completeness of the information they provide to shareholders and the public. Weakening this safeguard sends the wrong message and risks undermining confidence in our financial markets.
The SEC must not change this requirement. Accountability and the ramifications of lying, withholding information, or misleading investors must remain intact. The lessons learned from Enron and other corporate scandals should not be forgotten. Strong oversight and personal responsibility are essential to maintaining public trust.
I urge the SEC to reject this proposal and preserve the existing certification requirements.

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Colleen Nicholson, CEO. This is 100% a way for the average American to get screwed by Wall Street. Companies should, by law, be reporting their numbers monthly if not quarterly. There is no valid reason to extend the current quarterly rule other than to hide truth from investors until insiders can profit first.

Colleen Nicholson

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 To Whom It May Concern:
After Enron, the law required CEOs and CFOs to personally certify their companies' financial statements four times a year, with serious legal consequences—including potential prison time—for knowingly signing false or misleading reports. This requirement was created for a reason: to ensure accountability at the highest levels of corporate leadership and to protect investors from fraud.
The SEC has now proposed cutting these certifications in half. Fewer signatures mean less accountability. There is no benefit to investors, retirees, employees, or the public from reducing the frequency with which corporate executives must personally stand behind the accuracy of their financial disclosures.
The certification requirement serves as a powerful reminder that corporate leaders are responsible for the truthfulness and completeness of the information they provide to shareholders and the public. Weakening this safeguard sends the wrong message and risks undermining confidence in our financial markets.
The SEC must not change this requirement. Accountability and the ramifications of lying, withholding information, or misleading investors must remain intact. The lessons learned from Enron and other corporate scandals should not be forgotten. Strong oversight and personal responsibility are essential to maintaining public trust.
I urge the SEC to reject this proposal and preserve the existing certification requirements.

Sent from my iPhone
Anne Imlay
US Citizen

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep Quarterly reporting Mandatory! Keep the crooks in check.
Respectfully,
Roy Bailey

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Robert cooper, radiographer, Middletown Ohio, less transparency never leads to good things keep them quarterly

Thank you

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Less reporting means more chance of shenanigans! As an accountant in both private and public sector, from 1979-2020, I have a very clear understanding of the pressures put on corporate CFOs, Contollers and tax accountants to show what is expected, not necessarily what is happening. SOX (while being a pain in our butts to getting both the month ends & quarter ends done timely) was the best thing for the investors; if you now reduce that monthly/quarterly reporting requirement, there will be opportunities to become lax in diligence!

Please do not mess with our retirement now (you can change in approx 20 years)

Kathleen Schneibel, MBA, CPA Retired
Bloomington Minnesota

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Renee Garcia Speech Language Pathologist
This is a terrible idea. Drain the swamp. Not the treasury.

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 This proposal is outrageous. Keep the reporting at quarterly.

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Elizabeth Gedge, retired, North Carolina. Save quarterly reporting. Make transparency a permanent requirement. Prevent fraud. This ultimately protects everyone from potential fraud.

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 With all of the current in-your-face corruption, grifting and fraud, these financial reporting expectations need to be increased, not decreased!! This government is being run by the ultra wealthy but funded on the backs of people who struggle to make ends meet. I have never seen a luggage rack or a safe on the top of a hearse! Have you? We CAN and MUST create and maintain a society and system in which everyone thrives!

As Ghandi is credited with saying, "Live simply so that others may simply live."
Pamela Morgan, Ed.D
Retired Educator

Sent from AOL on Android

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Please do not change quarterly reporting for large public businesses. With Americans largely responsible for their own retirements and savings, it just makes that a riskier process.
Thanks,
H C Cook

Sent from my iPhone, so who knows what Apple will do with my spelling.

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 This is unacceptable. Financial Accounting should be on a monthly basis. Quarterly at the very least. All investors including individuals have the right to information about the finances of any company or investment. It matters to me because we are all part of this country and the financial system we work with. We all should have the information that we need and the truth of the situation at hand.

-Susan Macchia, recently retired senior software engineering manager

Sent from my android device.

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026

Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 This is ridiculous. We have to be accountable in so many other areas of business, and the morality of some business owners could lead to huge financial losses, for those of us will invest. Continue the quarterly reporting!
Sandy Grimm
Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Don't become another obstacle to transparency in our systems and living our best lives. There is no legitimate reason to conceal this information except to help screw most of us. Don't do it! Grant Best, Retired

Sent from my iPad

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 This proposal is an open invitation to commit fraud and hide it with creative accounting.

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 More Reporting, not Less. More Insider Trading policing, not Less. More Accountability, not Less. More Convictions, not Less.

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 We absolutely MUST retain quarterly reporting to protect investors and employees, and to hold companies accountable. This rule was enacted as a result of fraudulent behavior- changing it will reopen the door to more fraud. Do NOT change the rule! Retain quarterly reporting. — Jennifer Hefferan, Richmond, VA

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I have been saving most of my life so myself and my family can depend on our self's and not the Government. This new rule will reduce close to half of all I have worked for. This removes the insentive to invest. I have been coaching my Grandchildren for a few years on investment positives for their own futures. The effects will be devastating to our economy which is already struggling.

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep it do not change it.

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 To whom it may concern: This rule is not only greedy and lining the pockets of the millionaires but it lacks morality. Which is the whole reason for the SEC, to protect the consumer. If that isn't your purpose then you should not be funded by the people.

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Terra Bathke, Shipping Manager. I don't trust companies to be honest and transparent without constant oversight. 6 months is too long in between reporting.

T Bathke

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 If I invest in a business, I have every right to know how they are doing financially, on a regular basis, to protect my investment and my sanity.

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Please continue quarterly reportimg. This information is needed for planning retirement. Joann W., Indiana

Sent from Proton Mail for Android.

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Companies need to stay honest

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: CEO reporting From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 My name is Jane Howard. I am a retired widow, living in Clyde, Michigan. I rely on my investments and the quarterly reports to plan my expenditures and monitor the values of each account. Please DO NOT change the reporting schedule!

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Mary Shaver Retired Delaware Keep the law in place as is. No changes no more bail outs for corporations. Lost half of my retirement last time before this law was in place.

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Why on earth would you go backwards with this type of legislation. Leave it the way it is!

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I agree that less reporting would mean lower earnings and less information means less ability to track company progress and profitability and the ability to invest wisely.

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep the reporting quarterly. Six months is too long to evaluate one’s performance .

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Why would the SEC change something that has proven beneficial to investors? Leave it alone.

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026

Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Quarterly reporting in no way harms businesses who have been doing it for years. Less frequent reporting makes the business less transparent. This harms investors by reducing the amount of information available. Lack of transparency also encourages insider trading and other wrongdoing.

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep reporting to the SEC quarterly.

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Quarterly reporting needs to remain. It is a timely indicator of performance for both individuals and investors. I am retired and the performance and status of my accounts is important to my daily living and life choices. Thank you for your consideration in this matter. Debra Wiese, Minnesota

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Please do not change reporting timeframes. Leave as is.

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep the current method to safe guard my investments. Al Rust, AR Professional Services owner and retired teacher. I'm not wealthy so every dollar matters.

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I am retired with saved assets mostly in mutual funds. I want my investments protected with quarterly reports. Empirical evidence shows that unfettered companies cannot be trusted to do the right thing with my retirement assets. Keep on the lights on quarterly reporting.

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 The CEO's reporting should remain on a quarterly basis. Their focus on the quarterly reporting requirement is felt throughout the levels within the corporation and that builds a foundation of honesty that is a necessary component of a good company mission.

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I'm Diane Rademacher, Wealth Management Assoc at Morgan Stanley.

Keeping the window open demands accountability and transparency for investors. Both our clients and for me as well.

Doing anything less will be opening the door for bad actors to avoid being held accountable to an appropriate standard of conduct.

Do the right thing for investors, SEC. After all, from the SEC mission statement, the first of your core objectives is protecting investors. Reducing the information flow doesn't seem to uphold that mission.

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Quarterly reporting is essential to make better financial market decisions. Company financials change quickly and six months is too long of a wait to know if your investments are wise. Switching to 6 months hurts investors. Especially the average person with no inside information that rely on these investments for retirement.

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Four times a year, the CEO and CFO must each put their name to the company's books, certifying they've reviewed the report and that it contains no untrue statement of a material fact. KEEP QUARTERLY REPORTING.

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I support quarterly reporting . Don't change this.

Carol Thurstin, Investment Manager , JAM Capital LLC, Denver, CO

Get Outlook for iOS

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 We cannot return to 1955-70. That's ridiculous. It's a stupid policy to try to limit reporting. How stupid are you?

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 This is preposterous Leave it alone

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Hide their books is illegal so is the SEC going down that path?

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I am a professional RN having accessibility and accountability is paramount to maintaining fair practices.

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 They should be held accountable

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I want as much transparency as can be given. At the very least continue with the quarterly reports. Our country is facing a crisis and some of it is due to long standing rules for transparency and ethics being changed. DO NOT CHANGE FROM QUARTERLY REPORTING. Do the right thing for the good of American people and our country.

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 The SEC should not allow this. Companies need to be transparent for stockholders and the public. We can’t hide from the IRS or legal requirements.

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 PLEASE! This country's financial system is in crisis we have a leader who considers every business an opportunity to add money to either his personal wealth or family and bought justices and politicians at every level.

Quarterly reporting at least makes corporations keep their word to their shareholders AND limitation least some graft while holding them accountable for their dubious choices.

Mary Buckley-Davis
Oakdale, CT

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Quarterly reporting benefits those who are investing into the organization. If this changes, then the only one it benefits is the organization that doesn't have to report. That reduces trust overall and leads to economic uncertainty.

There is absolutely no reason to change it. No legitimate organization has a problem with quarterly reporting.

Leave it as is

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Transparency, first & foremost
Linda H Collins, Retired, Greensboro, NC

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 CEOs must be held accountable! Sarbanes-Oxley became law on July 30, 2002. Six days later, HealthSouth's CFO tried to quit rather than certify numbers he knew were fake: "he just couldn't sign the certifications." Months later he went to federal prosecutors and became the first of fifteen executives to plead guilty in a $2.7 billion fraud. A certification costs an honest executive nothing to sign, it just exposes the fraudsters. Why roll them back?

Enron's executives claimed ignorance of their own books, so Congress made ignorance impossible to claim. Every quarter, the CEO and CFO certify that they personally designed and evaluated the controls that surface bad news, and that they reported any weaknesses or fraud to the auditors. The law claws back executive bonuses even without proof the boss was personally involved. Halve the filings, and you halve the quarters where "I didn't know" is off the table.

Stop letting crooks off the hook!

Sincerely,

Tara M. Leighton

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Very bad decision for individual investors and small businesses

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep the reporting on a quarterly basis. Financial accounting and forecasting depends on REAL numbers presented in a TIMELY manner.
I am a retired senior tax accountant.

Denise Hardie

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Retain the quarterly reporting rule. As an investor, these reports are one of the few ways we have to understand company health, waiting longer when there is a problem helps companies at the expense of investors who own the stocks.

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Jon Libbesmeier, Dentist Companies are often not transparent enough even with quarterly reporting so it is a terrible idea to go to every 6 months. Any company that wants this should make anyone skeptical about why they want this. Keep it Quarterly!!!

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Quarterly reporting should remain!! Neal Eddy-retired. Sioux Falls , SD. One should not have worked their entire life only to have a change in reporting negatively impact what savings they have accumulated.

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 We need quarterly reporting to prevent more fraud among the richest! My name is Brenda Smith from AR.

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Do not do this!

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: File Number S7-08-026 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Sirs-
I opposed to deleting quarterly reporting for companies and going instead, to twice a year. The proposed rule change is a negative for investors and the investment banking industry in general.
Steve Avery
aemaspen@gmail.com

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 This would be just another way for the average person to get screwed over……again!
This is such a third world country anymore.

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Don’t do it!

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 It is extremely important to keep companies accountable by insisting they continue to report quarterly. It is not an undue burden and protects us, the investors.

Elizabeth Cadwalader, small business owner.

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Nora Dougherty, retired, Michigan Keep quarterly accountability. What possible legal and ethical justification could there be for cutting that reporting requirement in half? There should be nothing to hide! Save Quarterly Reporting requirements!

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 No get out of jail free for Enron or anyone else who is deliberately misleading and breaking the law. These criminals have more breaks than Immigrants.

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Semiannual reporting is one of the worst ideas from the SEC in decades. The Fed Govt should be working for the welfare of the ordinary retail investor instead of for insiders and scammers. Please do not institute this rule.
Marc Hapke, retired investor

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Quarterly reporting is essential. Investors need the transparency that quarterly reporting provides. With current volatility it should be mandatory
Madeleine McBride
Retired
Denver CO

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Reporting should absolutely stay quarterly. This would be just one more way people can be taken advantage of without knowing. Let there be eyewitnesses.

Sincerely, Natalia Cota

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Changing the reporting timeline is something I rigorously Do Not Support. Continue with quarterly reporting. The American people are fed up with this administrations loosening of decent rules and regulations!

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 After my savings and investments went through so many booms and busts since the 70's, making companies less transparent is unconscionable. Keep quarterly financial reporting. Again, you guys are doing everything for the wealthy who game the system, and punish honest working folks who are investing for a decent retirement. Thanks, JoAnne Lusk PGA/LPGA. Better Golf Tucson

Sent using myEarthLink

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 This was a very costly experiment to investors when implemented before. Public companies have processes already in place for quarterly reporting. This transparency is critically important to investors. As a retiree, monitoring my investments is crucial. Changing regulations to 2x/year reporting is detrimental to investors like me and only serves to make companies less accountable. Joan Berry, Prospect, VA

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Accountability is critical. People’s lives are based on the guidance reported for their investments and decisions that impact citizens and businesses. Honestly and integrity matter. Report the truth in financial disclosures!

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Kelly Corrigan, Pharm D, I am a pharmacist. I can’t imagine ordering six months worth drugs from the DEA and not hearing anything. Nothing we do has that kind of time lag. AI could very well report daily to investors. This is nonsense that beneficiaries can't know what's happening to their money. Smart decisions need to be made. It only serves to hide the truth, cover up actions. Six months in the financial markets is unreasonable. Anything could happen. Markets by their nature are volatile. Imagine six month reporting? Bad Influences can corrupt and hide the actions of companies over a longer period. The will have time to paper the truth. Look at Perdue pharma or other big corporations, all of there actions will be hidden. We don't need to live in a criminal society or with criminal conspiracies. This action is wrong.

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Once again, a government agency during the regime of Donald Trump considers causing harm to American citizens, while enriching the super-wealthy and corporations. SHAME ON YOU! It would be my cherished hope that, when the new administration comes into office, every one of your are prosecuted for what amounts to your treason.

Sincerely,
A proud American PATRIOT.

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep the quarterly report to keep companies honest.

Thank you
Diane

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Dinah Henderson, Toledo, Ohio, retired. Seems to me like you want to punish the Average American by going backwards. This is a no win for me and millions more.

Get Outlook for iOS

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Beth Johns. Okay so lets leave it as it is, quarterly. Its better to be closer to a "snapshot" than further away to know whats going on, clarity. No need to change what works. Im not against change but only if its an improved change. LEAVE IT QUARTERLY REPORTING.

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Accountability for corporations is an absolute necessity. It is rare to find an oil company that has not been caught bending and breaking laws for their own profits. This is a nation of laws and upholding lays is the job.
Bridget Paley
4538 Grand Avenue
Montclair CA 91763

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 The protections afforded to many citizens by quarterly reporting are too important to change. I'm a retired health care administrator. My money manager agrees with me that quarterly reporting is hardly a major burden and should be continued to protect people like me from unscrupulous corporate executives.

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Changing the reporting cycle to twice a year is an unacceptable plan. I want continued quarterly reporting to continue as is in place now.
Cynthia Bishop

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Quarterly reporting is tha bare MINIMUM that should be required! The last thing the USA needs is another debacle like Enron.

Sent from my iPhone

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 What is the harm in keeping quarterly reporting? It hurts no one and helps to hold companies accountable more often. All companies track their finances on a monthly basis so reporting every third check is no hindrance to them. Reducing the reporting period does nothing but open up the honest investors to losses due to insider trading and grift. Enron was not a one-off accident. Quarterly reporting was added after that fiasco to prevent recurrence. Remove that rule now and the issues associated with Enron will repeat, sooner rather than later.
Thank you,
Tim Peters
Recently retired Manager

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026

Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Checks and balances are needed

---

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Jessica Huggins, Project Coordinator in Houston, TX. If it isn't broken, don't fix it. Too many trends are going towards a lack of transparency. Insiders will take advantage of this and the rest of us will lose out. Also, companies can hide their weaknesses longer, which hurts all of us in the long run. I want to keep my investments safe and rising steadily. Do not change to semi-annual reporting! Work with the people, not just for insider interests.

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 C Smith retired. This absolutely absurd. The market is not a Fascist regime and doesn't go on in the background. Must be front an center for all to see.

Get Outlook for Android

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I am a longtime individual stock investor and hold my assets in street-name with my broker. I depend on regular earnings reports to determine whether to hold or sell various stocks AND to help in re-balancing my portfolio as prices rise and fall. The idea of dropping the quarterly requirement would be disastrous and allow corporations to hide from their investor partners. Make no mistake; it is vital that corporations, partnerships and others maintain quarterly reporting for the sake of retail and institutional investors, thank you.

____
~William O'Brien
13423 Blanco Rd., No.3143
San Antonio, Texas 78216
U.S.A.

/wjvo

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Once again it looks like this is a government meant to protect the extremely wealthy and corporations. Semi-annual reporting has been tried before with disastrous outcomes for the majority of people. Represent the people who elected you!

Sent from my iPad

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Farmers are desperate for bees. Their ability to be survive is essential.

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous Less transparency comes with lower returns and lower valuations. For an ordinary investor, a return to those days could mean losing a third, or even half, of life savings. Quarterly reporting enhances investor decision-making, increases market efficiency, and lowers the cost of capital. When public filings go quiet, big institutions and insiders still find ways to gauge how a company is doing. It is the everyday investor, working from what is public, who gets left in the dark. Not cool.

Anonymous — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous I understand that the SEC is considering reducing US company reporting obligations from quarterly to semiannual. I believe that this change would not be beneficial to consumers or the US market. Consumers have a right to know with as much transparency as possible how a company is operating to inform their investment strategies. Reducing reporting results in less contemporaneous visibility for the consumer. Additionally, this change would place more US companies to be in line with international companies, thereby reducing the competitiveness of US companies internationally. Right now investors look to the US market in part because of greater transparency, and reducing such transparency through reduced reporting obligations can only be harmful to the competitiveness of US industries. For the benefit of both the US consumer and the US industries, I urge the SEC to reconsider this proposal.

Anonymous Retired — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous As a retiree, i am heavily dependent upon my retirement accounts. Poor investments can really impact my quality of life. The quarterly reports made by public companies are important to keep me and other regular folks aware of how things may be trending and to keep independent analysts informed and up to date. I don’t appreciate surprises in my financial investments. Public companies must still keep track of this information, whether published quarterly or semi-annually, the only additional expense to the companies would be in its presentation documents for the SEC, which would be relatively insignificant, as compared to the potential impact to millions of retirement accounts across the USA for the late information. If it’s made optional to report semi-annually or quarterly, of course the company (ESPECIALLY if they’re having any financial challenges that they don’t want the public to know about) will choose to report semi-annually so those insiders can cash out before the public has any opportunity to react. Further supporting the need for continued quarterly reporting to the SEC. Additionally the 6-month blackout of information provides insiders plenty of time to personally react to trends before the everyday investor has any inkling, so insiders gain and the public loses, further widening the ever increasing gap between the haves and have nots. Europe and Japan have tried the 6 month reporting and apparently they are looking to return to the quarterly reporting again. So why would the SEC look to move to semi-annually reporting unless they want to encourage insider trading. Not good.

Anonymous IT professional — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Anonymous This proposal should not be approved, the reporting protects the public and only serves to further shield CEOs and shareholders from accountability. The rule changed because of an issue so let's avoid repeating history and continue to learn from it. Respectfully.

Anthony Agliata — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Anthony Agliata Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Quarterly reports with accountability are critical to a trusted and stable economy. We have seen in the past what happens when we push aside rules and regulations for quick profit. The people responsible often pay no cost while investors and hard working people loose everything. Do not allow this rule to be changed for profit at the top of the economy. A fair and stable system is necessary to prevent catastrophic financial losses. Why would we open a system that encourages and even hides corruption??

Tony Agliata
Senior Visual Designer
Cincinnati Ohio

Sent from my iPhone

Anthony C — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anthony C Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Anthony, attorney. It matters because we as individuals are already behind politicians and insiders who trade on inside information without consequences. By moving to a 6 month period, you’re allowing more fraud, both from an insider trading perspective and a company’s ability to hide bad information.

---

anthony harley — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: anthony harley Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Anthony Harley Quality Lab Tech: Reporting every six months will make it harder to invest, make it too easy for insiders to cheat

---

Anthony Lawson — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Anthony Lawson Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission: continue quarterly reporting. I don't want my retirement devalued

---

anthony radford — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: anthony radford Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Investors need current and accurate information to make decisions on how to invest their hard earned money.

Quarterly reporting is paramount I've transparency and as an aid in making intelligent investment decisions!

Anthony Roark — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Anthony Roark Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 This new proposal, while hopefully well intentioned, invites fraud and would aid in its deception.

---

apapageee — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: apapageee Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I OBJECT to the proposed changes to the quarterly reporting requitement for companies to a semi-annual basis on their company's financial filings. Please do not change that.These companies need to be kept accountable!

Respectfully,

Alexandra Papageorge, Trinity FL

Sent from my Galaxy

Apesnape April Dew Perritt — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Apesnape April Dew Perritt Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commi I do not believe that it is constitutional or morally right I feel as though large companies should have to disclose all information to anyone individual anyway it doesn't matter who they are they should have just as much rights to their retirement to their pensions to all of their investments getting the same opportunity as any other Americanssion: y'all are continuously causing the American people to feel as though they're alienated mistreated and took advantage of that they are stolen from and lied to and so we will be adding you to or large companies too this issue of a problem that we are having in the attempts of fixing problems we have here in America don't add to it

---

April Kittel — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: April Kittel Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Do not revert back to semi annual. We need eyes n ears on reporting g for accuracy and transparency

Sent from my iPhone

April Siver — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: April Siver Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Why do we need to make this change?

Siver Career Center
105 S. Stemmons #104
Sanger, TX 76266
940-315-4789
info@sivercareercenter.com

Ariel Wilken — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Ariel Wilken Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Do that's best for the people, not the businesses.

Arlene Courtney — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Arlene Courtney Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 It’s imperative that quarterly earnings and report should be filed by all companies! We must protect the investments of everyone!

Arlene Davey — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Arlene Davey Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Yes. No more cheating

---

Arlene Page — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Arlene Page Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Leave it where it is. America doesn’t trust anyone in this climate of fraud. Don’t make it easier to hide losses or gains.

Sent from my iPhone

Arlene Szalay — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Arlene Szalay Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I want quartly reporting to remain in place. It's important to keep track and have transparency of my investments.

Arlynn Collard — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Arlynn Collard Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Arlynn Collard, Educator, Alb. NM This is ridiculous! There is no reason for a change other then to benefit the companies all of which are doing very well finacially with our money. We have the technology and capacity to report quarterly and there is no reason companies should not. This could cause people to lose 1/3 or more of their investments and savings. Leave this as it is. Do not change reporting rules.

Arnette Ross — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Arnette Ross Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 This loosening of financial management, in order to allow under reporting of yearly data, is detrimental to the health of the American economy. The arbitrary role back of financial regulations, enacted by the Roosevelt administration, has been a cornerstone of the Republican/GOP agenda. Every since the inception of those regulations, Republican efforts has been geared towards protecting those who have unscrupulous, if not diabolical, business ethics. Without timely information a true picture cannot be established. In the fast pace of today's computer driven business choices, up to the moment information is critical for future development. To delay reporting only absolve those whose practices cannot survive scrutiny. Why allow the economy to be "FLEECED " by those who are "LEAST" prepared to spend the requisite time required for restitution in their immoral behavior in their business practices.

Arnold Brown — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Arnold Brown Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Requiring CEO and CFOs of public companies to affirm and attest to the accuracy of the company's financial reports every quarter is fair and sound legislation. There is no need to tamper with the regulation.

Arnold O Brown

---

arsailman — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: arsailman Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 It is necessary for the public to know what's going on with our business sector.

Art Jones — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Art Jones Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep the present rule because if you don't learn from history you are bound to repeat it.

Art Kitch — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Art Kitch Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 This is total nonsense keep the quarterly’s please do not switch to twice yearly. That would just set up the average investor for disaster.

Thank You
Art Kitch

Sent from my iPad

Arthur Jones — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Arthur Jones Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Sounds like another way Trump can rip off investors. This is another way for Executives to cash in before their poor decisions catch up to them.

Arthur Porrata Arthur Porrata — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Arthur Porrata The quarterly reporting has been working very well, let's not change it, transparency is important for investor confidence. Thank you.

Ashley DeGianelli — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Ashley DeGianelli Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
The public needs to know and have access to quarterly reports in order for trust in the stock market to be maintained.

who would invest without being informed on the progress a company is making against its goals, or in the free market.

Ashley Lucas — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Ashley Lucas Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I'm just trying to get my life back, my family... I made mistakes...I also learned from them.. I want to be better! Help me?! #MeToo

---

Audrey Allen — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Audrey Allen Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Our government needs more disclosure in place from public companies, not less. These plans are detrimental to retail investors — and must be stopped.

Audrey Gallant — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Audrey Gallant Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 QUARTERLY at least!!

Sent from my iPhone

Audrey Morris — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Audrey Morris Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 We need transparency and quarterly reporting.

Audrey Morris
913-707-4717

Ava Fitzstevens — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Ava Fitzstevens Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 The American people deserve transparency from the SEC. These are publicly traded entities, and therefore the public has the right to know exactly what's going on. My name is Ava Fitzstevens. I am a public school teacher and this matters to me because I deserve to know what's happening on the market with investments and businesses. I deserve to know who is being sued who's doing well who's not doing well. It informs my decisions along with any other American who invests their money or supports openly publicly traded companies. The attempt to do this deeply cracks, a foundation of trust that is already on extraordinarily shaky ground. This is absolutely not an attempt to save money or to streamline. This feels like an attempt to deceive. If you do this, you will shake the American people's faith in our financial institutions more than they already are. Please maintain the integrity of the SEC by continuing to inform the American people quarterly.

Ava Fitzstevens
7th Grade Science
Heritage Middle School

This message (including any attachments) is intended only for the use of the individual or entity to which it is addressed and may contain information that is non-public, proprietary, privileged, confidential, and exempt from disclosure under applicable law. If you are not the intended recipient, you are hereby notified that any use, dissemination, distribution, or copying of this communication is strictly prohibited. If you have received this communication in error, notify us immediately by forwarding the email to postmaster@blountk12.org and (1) destroy this message if a facsimile or (2) delete this message immediately if this is an electronic communication without a copy.
All email passing through the Blount County School System is scanned for content, viruses and security before entering or leaving our system. Spam, viruses, dangerous attachments, and offensive content are removed automatically. Thank You.

---

avalonpwf (null) — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: avalonpwf (null) Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 We rely on quarterly information to make financial decisions.

Patricia Freyermuth

Retired medical assistant

Sent from my iPad

Avery Bourgeault — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Avery Bourgeault I'm an up and coming senior in highschool, and I plan on studying business in college. I have taken intro to business and am signed up for AP Business next year, I'm a participating Treasurer of my schools FBLA chapter. I don't think that this is a smart decision. With less reporting of public company's the market won't be able to react to how those companies are performing. I understand I have a limited knowledge on the market and economy since I'm young and haven't had much experience but even I know that this shouldn't be done.

B A — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: B A Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Anything to steal more money for the already rich huh? How far are you willing to push us?

Sent from my Galaxy

B Baylon — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: B Baylon Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Status quo, please!

B Henderson — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: B Henderson Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep the quarterly filings!

Sent from my iPhone

B Jay — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: B Jay Bad idea. Less transparency doesn't eliminate uncertainty. It increases it. And when information finally does arrive, the surprises are likely to be bigger, the reactions sharper, and the volatility greater. Quarter to quarter, short-termism comes from how people react to information, not from the information itself. Taking the reports away doesn't make anyone more patient. It just makes everyone less informed.

B Perk — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: B Perk Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Quartily reports are a must, to catch mistakes before the end of year ! And to balance the finances!

B&J Wise — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: B&J Wise Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 If anything, under the MAGA laxness toward monopolization and regulation, the reporting should be MORE often so that corporate moves are at least under scrutiny by investors if not the SEC.

Sincerely,
Jack Wise

---

baby zues — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: baby zues Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 More frequent reporting means more protection from every angle!!! It means less fraud is likely to occur due to constant monitoring.

Bambi S — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Bambi S Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Financial reports are extremely important for the average American.
Knowing how well a corporation is doing is essential to understanding how their savings is being used.

Barb Leonard — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Barb Leonard Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Leave it as it is. Washington needs to STOP picking on the real workers and the not-rich people. Getting tired of you stealing our money and giving it to the rich, including yourselves!

Barb S — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Barb S Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I support quarterly reports.

Sent from my iPhone

Barb Wernli — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Barb Wernli Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 As a 79 year old widow I can’t afford to take a chance on losing any of my hard earned money especially in this uncertain economy.
It’s working fine, leave it alone!

Sent from my iPhone

Barb Williamson — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Barb Williamson Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Don’t you think there’s enough mistrust in companies and our government already?? Keep reporting at three months!!

Sent from my iPhone

Barbara Bonville — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Barbara Bonville Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep quarterly signing reports.

Sent from my iPhone

Barbara Braa — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Barbara Braa Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I'm requesting that quarterly reporting remain quarterly not semiannually. FOUR QUARTERS FOREVER MORE is best. With our computer systems in this day and age there's no reason to cut back on this reporting.
B. Braa, Trust Officer (retired), Kansas

Barbara Brace — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Barbara Brace Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Transparency is the only option, not ghosting.

Barbara Brace
Retail worker

Barbara Cereghino — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Barbara Cereghino Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Quarterly reporting ensures that overseers can see trends before they become entrenched.

Sent from my iPad Pro

Barbara Cunningham — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Barbara Cunningham Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 We watched the signature crack a $2.7 billion fraud.
Sarbanes-Oxley became law on July 30, 2002. Six days later, HealthSouth's CFO tried to quit rather than certify numbers he knew were fake: "he just couldn't sign the certifications." Months later he went to federal prosecutors and became the first of fifteen executives to plead guilty in a $2.7 billion fraud. A certification costs an honest executive nothing to sign, it just exposes the fraudsters. Why roll them back?

Sent from my iPhone

Barbara De — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Barbara De Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
ALL news is the basis of any investment.
ALL news access must be the same for every investor.

Barbara Glamser — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Barbara Glamser Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Barbara Glamser, Retired. This is just another way for companies to enrich their profits. They would know when to buy or dump stock. Investors would be left in the dark.

Get Outlook for iOS

Barbara Hopper — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Barbara Hopper Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Quarterly reporting keeps my retirement money safe from crooked CEOs and CFOs. It is no problem for honest CEOs and CFOs to sign a quarterly report. It doesn't take much effort for an honest company to produce them. The only reason to stop quarterly reporting is to bide time for fraudulent companies to cook the books. KEEP QUARTERLY REPORTING!!!!

Barbara Jacobi — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Barbara Jacobi Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 There is no valid reason to change the rules of disclosure of record. This is simply a grab by the Rich to get richer.

Barbara
303 810 6195

Barbara Jenkins — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Barbara Jenkins Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep up with quarterly reports. Keep them accountable.

BARBARA JENNINGS — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: BARBARA JENNINGS Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep Quarterly Reporting. Remember Enron

---

Barbara Mitchell — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Barbara Mitchell To Whom it may concern, So many of us now depend on investments for our retirement funds, do not cut off necessary information. Longer gaps will create an advantage for corporate insiders and allow more time for fraud to grow. We switched to quarterly reporting in 1970, at that time the SEC said that trading markets should have the benefit of quarterly financial information. What has changed? If the reports have become more detailed than they were in 1970, remember we now have computers. Transparency to investors should be the priority. Thank you for your time.

Barbara OConnor — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Barbara OConnor Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Must continue with quarterly reporting. Too much fraud and lack of transparency already exists in our country. This is not the time to change/delay this reporting

Get Outlook for Android

Barbara Palant — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Barbara Palant Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 It's an awful idea. Way too much opportunity for illegal activities. We have far too much lack of transparency in this administration.

Barbara Palant, retired. This matters to me deeply because I need to know how my retirement investments are doing.

Sent from my iPhone

Barbara Peters — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Barbara Peters Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep it at 4 a year.

Barbara Petraske — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Barbara Petraske Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 If it isn't broke why change it? Transparency PLEASE

Sent from my iPhone

Barbara Russell — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Barbara Russell Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Such a bad idea. STOP trying to hurt the lower and middle classes! That doing something like this is even on your radar is astounding.

Barbara Searcy — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Barbara Searcy Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Why would you do this?! Oh, so that YOUR public be kept in the dark while you play your money, profit gains. NO!

Sent from my iPhone

---

barbara smachetti — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: barbara smachetti Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Not on my watch!

Barbara Smachetti

Sent from my iPad

Barbara Smachetti — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Barbara Smachetti Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission

Do not change from quarterly reports.

Barbara

Barbara Whitford — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Barbara Whitford Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Quarterly please. Let’s keep us shareholders getting information that we need in order to make sound decisions.
Barbara Whitford, retired, Maine, investments are my life line

Sent from my iPhone

Barbara Wilkinson — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Barbara Wilkinson Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Quarterly reporting is accountability to shareholders and general public. It MUST remain a standing obligation along with other SEC required filings.

Sent from my iPhone
Barbara Wilkinson

---

barbara williford — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: barbara williford Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Barbara Williford, Verizon retiree in Richmond, VA.
If there's nothing to hide, why change what has been working. Handing people ways to possible criminal activity makes the SEC complicite

---

BARBARA WOLF — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: BARBARA WOLF Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I depend on quarterly reporting to protect the assets that I depend on for living as I am retired. Please do not allow companies to report earning less. It will affect my ability to make financial decisions.
Barbara Wolf

Sent from my iPhone

Barrett Benton — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Barrett Benton Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Transparency is vital. Eliminating quarterly reporting does away with this.

---

barry — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: barry Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Please do not allow them to rob us again. We have these laws to protect us from the Sharks that do sharky things when given an opportunity.

Barry R. Shevlin, CFS
Shevlin Investments, Inc
502 Lakeside Drive
Southampton, PA 18966

Dedicated To Consistency & Preservation of Retirement Plans Since 1984

* Securities offered through Registered Representatives of Cambridge Investment Research, a Broker Dealer, Member FINRA/SIPC
* Registered PA, NJ, DE, FL, SC, MD
* Advisory Services through Cambridge Investment Research Advisors, Inc, a Registered Investment Advisor

* Shevlin Investments and Cambridge companies are not affiliated.

* Trading instructions sent via e-mail may not be honored. Please contact my office at (215) 364-8228 or Cambridge Investment Research at (641)472-5100 for all buy/sell orders. Please be advised that communications regarding trades in your account are for informational purposes only. You should continue to rely on confirmations and statements received from the custodian(s) of your assets.

* The text of this communication is confidential, and use by any person who is not the intended recipient is prohibited. Any person who receives this communication in error is requested to immediately destroy the text of this communication without copying or further dissemination. Your cooperation is appreciated.

Barry Bobek — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Barry Bobek Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Please require the reports quarterly.

Barry A. Bobek, Esquire
Bobek & Bobek

4752 Seaboard Avenue
Jacksonville, Florida 32210
Cell: (904) 382-2239

WE WILL NEVER ASK YOU TO WIRE FUNDS TO ANYONE ANYWHERE. IF EVER YOU RECEIVE AN EMAIL FROM US REGARDING THE TRANSFER OF FUNDS, PLEASE CALL US IMMEDIATELY AT (904) 382-2239.

BARRY DODGE — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: BARRY DODGE Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Maintain quarterly reporting. Shareholders and prospective investors need a clear view of a public company's financial status. Thanks to your attention to this matter. Barry Dodge, individual investor.

Web: artbeardodge.com
Instagram: beardodge

Battle Beasley — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Battle Beasley Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Please be sensible be transparent

Sent from my iPhone

Beatrice Shahan — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Beatrice Shahan Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Please do not go back to semi yearly reporting!! The return on investments did not work well the last time you did this!!! What is the purpose of the change? It will hurt the economy!!

Get Outlook for iOS

---

beausmom1 — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: beausmom1 Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 We need more oversight not less.

Sent from my Galaxy

Becky G — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Becky G Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keeping quarterly reporting is very important. I have a lot of money invested in the stock market I want to be sure that it's protected. You are supposed to be helping to protect our money.

Rebecca Garner, senior citizen.

Becky Smith — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Becky Smith Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Becky Smith - Mortgage Finance - Residential Loan Originator for over 30 years. Denver, Colorado.
Living through the nightmare of the Enron and huge housing meltdown was unfair to the American Public and to those honest, full income and asset documentation lenders, who were working as usual, getting families into homes of their own.

American families need to be protected and not CHEATED and their life savings HARMED by CEO's who care for nothing but their own selves profitability.

CEO's need to be held accountable and American families protected.

Keep CEO's responsible for their actions and reported profits by continuing to sign on the validity of their accounting reports, every quarter. Do not loosen this requirement. PLEASE!

Sent from Becky Smith's iPhone
303-778-1544

Please Read:

Wire instructions should only come from the title company on your transaction. Never wire money without personally verifying with the title company that the wiring instructions are correct. Do not send confidential personal information to unknown emails or phone numbers; always personally verify with a trusted source before sending this information.

Bela Nemeth — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Bela Nemeth Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep the law as is, do not change

Sent from my T-Mobile 5G Device
Get Outlook for Android

Belinda Gamboa — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Belinda Gamboa It is disappointing that yet again decisions are being made for the benefit of companies and investors at the risk to the millions of people who rely on the information to make informed decisions about their financial futures. This is ridiculous and a slap to the face of everyone who saves and scrapes pennies to retire. The companies and investors we're talking about make so much money, the least they can do is submit some paperwork.

Belinda Saddler Belinda Saddler — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Belinda Saddler Belinda Saddler Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Stop what you're trying to do. How cheating and robbing the American people.

Belinda Tidwell — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Belinda Tidwell Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Belinda Tidwell. Azle,Texas. Retired Sales. This keeps people honest, instead of greedy. If given a Get Out Of Jail Free Card . It will happen again.

Sent from my iPhone

Ben Moss — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Ben Moss Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 This is utter bull *. Corporations and their CEOs have proven time and time again that they hold profits above responsible, ethical business.

Don't these welfare queens get enough handouts?

KEEP QUARTERLY REPORTING.

Ben Moss

Ben shipe — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Ben shipe Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 These markets are already gamed in the favor of market makers, institutions, and hedge funds. Having the funding to manipulate price, trading in dark pools to conceal momentum. They also have the means to utilize every tool that retail investors have no access to providing them with real-time and up to date information. The SEC needs to stop sucking the dicks of these cheating slimebags and do thier job and level the playing field and create a fair trading environment for everyone. The free and open market is what built this country let's return to it.

Benjamin Nachumi — Jun 17, 2026

Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Benjamin Nachumi Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission: If this passess, and quarterly signed statements are no longer required, I will be less likely to invest in US stock issues.

---

bergiez — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: bergiez Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Quarterly reporting must be mandatory! Many of us are “elderly” and are very active in planning where OUR money is! This smells like Bernie Madoff all over again

Sent from my iPhone

Bernie Killian — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Bernie Killian Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Paul Killian retired: Keep your corrupt hands off changing quarterly reports.

Sent from my iPhone

Bertie — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Bertie Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Just another way to avoid accountability!

Bertie — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Bertie Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Quarterly!

Beryl Miller — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Beryl Miller Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I want to keep getting quarterly reports. Let’s keep things as visible as possible. There has been enough Wall Street shenanigans.

Sent from my iPad

Beth — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Beth Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Please keep the quarterly reports

Sent from my iPhone

Beth Alverson — Jun 17, 2026

Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Beth Alverson Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 What the hell! We are retired and need , repeat need , to have any investments grow to keep up with this!?!?! Inflation and live the rest of our life with dignity!! Beth Alverson, retired medical lab scientist, Iowa- We are the people. American people who deserve better.

Sent from my iPhone

Beth Davidson — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Beth Davidson Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Please do not permit reporting to return to 1955 standards! I am a retired, MBA executive banker and understand that this will only help companies looking to hide information from investors like me. Information helps us. Beth Davidson, Lakewood Ranch, Florida

Sent from my iPhone

Beth Durham — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Beth Durham Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Do not change this rule!

Beth Holbrook — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Beth Holbrook Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026
Bethholbrook1954@gmail.com, STOP
THIS HORRIBLE SECRET BUSINESS MOVE, ENOUGH PF HIDING ALL THE MONEY COMPANIES MAKE, haven't we had enough of this SNEAKY BUSINESS!

Beth Kriegel — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Beth Kriegel Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Retired CFO and current investor. Dallas, Texas. I need timely information to help able to make decisions. In this day and age this is very important. Why go backwards when everything else is moving forward to more information? I need full information to make relevant decisions. I cannot lose my retirement funds due to lack of timely disclosure. That would be detrimental to most investors. Too much happens in 6 months in the world economy.

Sent from my iPhone

Beth Mecchi — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Beth Mecchi Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Beth Owners rep / project manager
Connecticut

I disagree with any change that would lead to substantial loss of income from investments that so many are going to need in retirement just to make ends meet. This would do just that, including forcing so many to fall into poverty and creating burdens on the economy (public funds needed to support a greater number of poverty-level citizens as well as reduce taxes paid due to the resulting reduced portfolio of taxable RMD's), especially when you consider we are at the cusp of the baby boomer generation of retirees (ie, huge population) - and for what purpose?

Terrible move.

Beth Nielsen — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Beth Nielsen Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 So as a professional accountant and individual investor, it's important to have current reporting . Quarterly is essential to see trends and problems. Please keep the reporting requirements quarterly.
Beth David
Colfax, CA

Sent from my iPhone

Beth Saarela — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Beth Saarela Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 You better keep quarterly reports. No one asked for less transparency for corporations. No one asked for less transparency at any level.

Get Outlook for iOS

Beth Stetzler — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Beth Stetzler Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
I cannot make informed decisions about my retirement savings plan if this proposed rule becomes law.
I care about companies that make transparency a cornerstone of their business practices. Certified B corporations, in particular, hold higher weight in my personal investment strategy. I want to see sustainable investment become the norm.
Thank you for reading. Please make the best decision that considers future generations of this planet.

Beth Thompson — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Beth Thompson Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 My name is Beth Thompson.

Quarterly reporting keeps public companies honest. Since Enron in 2002, every CEO must personally certify their numbers every quarter, with federal prison on the line for signing a lie.
The reason quarterly audits are in place because ENRON was caught engaging in illegal activities. The public has the right to know they are not reverting back yo their old ways. This administration is corrupt enough; we don't need any more illegal activity happening without the public's knowledge.

Sincerely,

Beth A. Thompson
Social Studies Teacher
MS Special Education
BA History/Social Studies Education

Beth Watson — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Beth Watson Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 For years we had good company retirements. Then we were forced to set aside money and invest for our retirements. Now as many have retired you want to stop quarterly reporting? This is one of the ways we live after retirement now and you want to hide OUR money from us for 6 months? A lot can happen in 6 months. I have a sneaky suspicion rich people will still have access and the WORKING people won't and we will get screwed. What is wrong with you? Why are you so evil when you are living on easy street. And we are just trying to survive and live out our lives with dignity which can and does require monetary means.

Sent from my iPhone

Beth Whitehead — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Beth Whitehead Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Stop covering for thieves. Beth Whitehead, Nevada

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Betsy Datri — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Betsy Datri Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Quarterly reporting has kept the money-grubbers more accountable. Keep it! In these times of massive fraud and corruption in government and the stock market, we need MORE scrutiny of those in powerful positions, not less!!!

Betsy Wiest — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Betsy Wiest Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 This is wrong on every level.

Bette Wycoff — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Bette Wycoff Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 To the Securities

and Exchange Commission:
I need to know how investments are doing at least once a quarter

---

Betty Adkins — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Betty Adkins Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Continue quarterly reporting. Do not want to go down that road again.

Betty Bailey — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Betty Bailey Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Betty Bailey Retired, Dallas, TX Quarterly financials are a must if we are to keep CEO's & their companies honest.

Betty Haas — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Betty Haas Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 For the love of God, please do not roll back reporting requirements for Wall Street. This will harm so many Americans and take away any profits from 9 millionaires/billionaires.

Get Outlook for Android

Betty Hollowell — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Betty Hollowell Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep the quarterly CEO certification in place for adequate accountability

Sent from my iPhone Betty

Betty Jo Anderson — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Betty Jo Anderson Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Betty Anderson, Retired Medical Technologist. This is the only way to keep fraud from running rampant! Also need to hold the companies accountable for not dumping their shares on us when the company is in trouble.

Sent from my iPhone

Bev Gestrine — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Bev Gestrine Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 We need quarterly reporting so we can make wiser and faster informed choices.

Get Outlook for iOS

Beverley — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Beverley Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I want to be able to react to company earnings on a quarterly basis, NOT semiannually!!!!
Beverley Bernstein
Retired

Sent from my iPhone

Beverly — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Beverly Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Please hold investment companies accountable and keep my reports coming to me on a quarterly basis.

Beverly Famigletti

Sent from my iPhone

Beverly — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Beverly Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Beverly L, retired, Houston Tx. Quarterly reporting does allow for closer scrutiny to maintain transparency which is an important issue for investors, allowing for trust in the companies by those considering which companies to invest. Don’t decrease the frequency. The distrust in companies grows with actions that indicate less oversight. Thank you for your attention.

Signed, A concerned citizen

BEVERLY PLETSCH — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: BEVERLY PLETSCH Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 i don't see a sensible reason for this . In fact, in light of many undisclosed scandals and systems fraught with discrepancies and fraud, this presents as an outlier to the availability of these events being able to continue without disruption. I am not in favor of a six month hiatus from accountability

---

Beverly Spraggins — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Beverly Spraggins Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Save quarterly reporting! Save accountability!

Sent from my iPhone

Bill Bumgarner — Jun 17, 2026

Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Bill Bumgarner Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep the reports quarterly.
Don't let SEC hide information

William Bumgarner
Retired
Age 83
Bernalillo, New Mexico

Bill Geringer — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Bill Geringer Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Quarterly reporting keeps companies honest. Too easy to hide shady activities with half year reporting.
Bill Geringer
Retired Engineer
Cicero IN

Bill

Sent from my iPhone

Bill Gow — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Bill Gow Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 no more enrons... jail the crooks !!!

Bill Hoffman — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Bill Hoffman Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I oppose the proposal to reduce quarterly results reporting by listed corporations, which is totally opposite for the public purposes of the SEC. Data is now much easier to gather and report than ever before. What is the public benefit from shielding it from shareholders and potential purchasers of shares? We need up-to-date data to make informed decisions. As a retiree, most of my income comes from my investments. I will have less basis for investment decisions if this proposal is finalized. Thank you for considering my concern.
William B. Hoffman, retiree
Washington, DC 20015.

Bill Krauss — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Bill Krauss Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Stop blindly obeying the king, so that he and his friends can hide their wealth.

Bill Matthews — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Bill Matthews Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 More time to hide bad behavior is not the way I want to see oversight going. This does not save me any money, and gives more time in the dark for shenanegans. I want a bright light shining on people handling MY money, not running blindly ahead in the dark. Keep Quarterly Reporting.

Bill Mumford — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Bill Mumford Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep Quarterly reporting.

Sent from my iPhone 12

Bill Neal — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Bill Neal Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep 10-Q. Keep Companies honest. Do your job and protect investors. We rely on full quarterly reports for our investments. Wm. J. Neal, Emeritus Professor

---

Bill Niles — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Bill Niles Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Please do not stop quarterly reporting requirements! These rules were put in place for very good reasons!

Bill

Bill Oram — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Bill Oram Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 No don’t change to biannual that would simply be a stupid move

Sent from my iPhone

Bill Seymour — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Bill Seymour Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I don’t want quarterly reporting. This is a dumb idea.

Bill Seymour

Bill Smith — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Bill Smith Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep it Quarterly!!!!!!!!

Sent from my iPhone

Bill Wasserman — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Bill Wasserman Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 The protections afforded to many citizens by quarterly reporting are too important to change. I'm a retired health care administrator. My money manager agrees with me that quarterly reporting is hardly a major burden and should be continued to protect people like me from unscrupulous corporate executives.

Billie Yoder — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Billie Yoder Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 This was done in 1955 and screwed many Americans and you plan to this again. Do not do this to us again. We learn from history and this is a failure....

Billy Green — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Billy Green Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Why should they change except they can be more deceptive and have an advantage. When you buy into a company, you want the last 3 months not quarter before last.

Sent from my iPad

Birgit Calhoun — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: re: hiding financials for six months From: Birgit Calhoun Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 No! I really mean no. And if anyone doubts me, Again I say no, do not let public companies hide their financials for six months. Birgit Calhoun

---

Blue Sigh — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Blue Sigh Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Enough ! Stop the continued effort to destroy the people !

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

---

bmischief — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: bmischief Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep it honest! That would be a sure in Trump world!

Bob Bobbertson — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Bob Bobbertson Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Common people, with their retirements on the line, have a right to know how the companies that they are putting their hard earned money into are doing. Quarterly reporting is part of transparency. Thank you. Dan Miller

---

Bob Boetcher — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Bob Boetcher Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Please retain the quarterly reporting requirement. It is one method for me to keep track of corps. in my portfolio!
R Boetcher, GC

Bob Brinkman — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Bob Brinkman Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Further proof that our government values corporations over people, stop making it easier for corporations to rip us off.

---

bob conrad — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: bob conrad Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Enron was a disaster, you had an internal SEC report from one of your own forensic computer people that stated the watchdogs at Enron were not doing their job and still you did nothing, over 9000 employees lost their life savings inthe company plan. Don't you dare let the CEO's get away withs such fraud.

Bob Cowman — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Bob Cowman Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 As an investor, I am only comfortable if the company's present their quarterly Financial statements.

I cannot sit by and wait for 6 months, no 8 months, to find out that the company
I own is in trouble.

I was a commercial banking SVP and Sr. Underwriter and I know the hazards of not getting financial reporting on a timely basis.

This is a very risky proposition and I am opposed to it strongly.

Robert Cowman
Jacksonville,
FL

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Bob Cowman — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Re: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Bob Cowman Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 The so called benefits claims are specious.

In our times, a company CFO can make a few adjustments, press a button and produce a financial report.

Cutting our two reporting cycles will save money only from the time spent in producing the reports and I doubt anyone will be laid off in the accounting department because they only report twice a year instead of four times.

If this has to be done, what they should do is modify the 10-Q requirements to allow for minimal text and schedules. A balance sheet, income statement, cash flow statement, and reconciliation of equity is all that is needed, except for key metrics in industries like finance where certain things like non-accrual loans is a must know item.

No matter the frequency, management will still have to play the game of getting things in order by semi-year end. Frequent reporting forces them to keep things in order, like working capital components, and overhead.

No, there would be no material benefits by reducing reporting. Don't be fooled by the hype.

On Wednesday, June 17, 2026 at 10:43:07 AM EDT, Jim Cowman <jamescowman57@gmail.com> wrote:

I agree with you.

On Wed, Jun 17, 2026 at 9:43 AM Bob Cowman <bobcowman@yahoo.com> wrote:
As an investor, I am only comfortable if the company's present their quarterly Financial statements.

I cannot sit by and wait for 6 months, no 8 months, to find out that the company I own is in trouble.

I was a commercial banking SVP and Sr. Underwriter and I know the hazards of not getting financial reporting on a timely basis.

This is a very risky proposition and I am opposed to it strongly.

Robert Cowman
Jacksonville, FL

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Bob Dickson — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Bob Dickson Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 We should continue with quarterly reports. Regular people need the information and protection.

---

bob gies — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: bob gies Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 IMO, a publicly traded company should be open to public scrutiny at any time. To hide the books or what the company is doing behind a quarterly report or a bi annual report is ridiculous and you should be ashamed of even proposing the idea of closing the books for an extended period of time beyond the present quarterly report. You exist to protect the investor, not hide from them.
Bob Gies 585-797-5845

Bob Gould — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Bob Gould Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Transparency is crucial for investors and opportunities for corruption should be limited. Quarterly reports simply are more ethical. Investors are looking to improve the future for themselves, their families, and their country. While a small percentage of investors are playing with Monopoly money, many, many more are working toward their continued livelihood. Let's keep corporate leadership honest.

Robert Gould
Retail Associate
Mount Dora, Florida

Sent from my iPhone

Bob Hillenbrand — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Bob Hillenbrand Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep the quarterly reporting.
Lock it in.
No loopholes for cheating.

Sent from my iPad

Bob K — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Bob K Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I feel quarterly reporting is the way to go. If it ain't broke, don't fix it. My name is Robert Kelsey.

Sent from my iPhone

Bob Kennedy — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Bob Kennedy Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Having lost Enron investments, I would expect continuing oversight by the SEC to guard against fraud for all US taxpayers. Signed, Robert Kennedy, retired salesmen, Kalamazoo, MI.

Sent from my iPhone

Bob Lange — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Bob Lange Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Without quarterly reporting, the average investor is left in the dark!

Bob Little — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Bob Little Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Robert Little, Principal Urban Equity Partners, Cincinnati Ohio I support quarterly reporting. As an investor it is best to have current and clear financial reports on a quarterly basis. Investment decisions need this backup.

Bob Mcglothlin — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Bob Mcglothlin Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I feel it is necessary that the practice of quarterly reporting to the SEC is necessary to keep unscrupulous companies from taking undue advantage of stock holders and the general public as has happened in the past.

Sent from my iPhone

Bob Molenhouse — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Bob Molenhouse Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I see the SEC as the “gatekeeper “ for the citizens of the USA . There are millions of people relying on them to keep things honest. With the aging of the population more and more people rely on their life long savings to live on. Please do what you can to “keep things honest “ for the citizens!

Sent from my iPhone

Bob O'Connor — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Bob O'Connor Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I am disgusted to watch the dismantling of rules that were proven necessary over time.
Yours truly,
8647

Bob Thawley — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Bob Thawley The transparency of mandatory quarterly reporting is both critical to investors and a minimal requirement in a democracy

---

Bob Villa — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Bob Villa Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Please do not change quarterly reporting, it is totally needed for accuracy and fairness.
Sent using Zoho Mail

---

bobbiesable — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: bobbiesable Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Barbara Sable, retired Vietnam Era Veteran, and I think there is ENOUGH gift being performed by the president and his cabinet that ANYTHING with money changing hands should be scrutinized with a LARGE magnifying glass on a DAILY basis, so I think there should be MORE scrutiny, not less!

Sent from my Galaxy

---

bobbrown95 — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: bobbrown95 Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Reporting only twice s year is a BAD IDEA. Leave it as is, quarterly.

Sent from my Galaxy

Bobby Curtin — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Bobby Curtin Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Whomever thought of this new rule is forgetting their job is to protect the public against fraud. Less frequent information equals more corruption.

Sincerely,

Robert Curtin

---

bojobill15 — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: bojobill15 Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 If i'm held accountable for my actions and financial matters , so should the government and businesses be reporting every month they're accountability.

Sent from my Galaxy

Bonnie Brown — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Bonnie Brown Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 We need businesses to stay accountable, please do not change this .

Clear Lake Self Storage

Bonnie Brown 260-668-5075

40 Powhattan Ct.

Fremont,IN 46737

Bonnie Carey — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Bonnie Carey Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I cannot afford to lose my retirement money like what happened to people during the Enrone mess. Don't drop the quarterly rule. Because we need accountability.

Bonnie Carey

Bonnie Maize — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Bonnie Maize Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
I don't see any reason for the proposed rule change and believe it will hurt everyday investors like myself and those I advise. Insiders will still have knowledge of how companies are performing, but those without that access will lose vital information we've been receiving quarterly for over 50 years. It makes no sense and is just another example of protecting the wealthy at the expense of the rest of us. Those aren't the principles the USA was founded upon.

---

bonnie mccoy — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: bonnie mccoy Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep the report reporting at quarterly intervals. Keep the recording at quarterly intervals. Keep the recording at quarterly intervals.

Bonnie McManus — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Bonnie McManus Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 As a retiree I rely on the quarterly reports to determine whether or not I need to increase or decrease my distributions so that I remain an independent individual free of the necessity of government help for my healthcare or living expenses for the remainder of my life. Do not do this we need quarterly reports, monthly would be even better.

Sent from my iPhone

Bonnie Payne — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Bonnie Payne Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep the quarterly reports.

Sent from my iPhone

Bonnie Terry — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Bonnie Terry Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 No reason to change it. Keeps everyone accountable.

—
Bonnie Terry, M.Ed., BCET

Bonnie Vance — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Bonnie Vance Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Quarterly reports are important for transparency.

Bonnie Wilson — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Bonnie Wilson Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Please restore integrity to business and financial institutions. Please.

Boobah836 — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Boobah836 Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Please keep this as it is now. There is no reason to change this back,

Sent from Proton Mail for Android.

Brad Cole Fool community — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Brad Cole People are always more honest in the light

---

Brad Reinhart — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Brad Reinhart As an individual investor, seeing quarterly earnings reports helps guide my decisions. Waiting for a bi-annual report does not afford me the opportunity to make a timely or informed decision regarding my investments and ultimately impacts my life plans. As I approach retirement, the runway for success is effectively shortened and I cannot afford to not have this information available in a timely manner.

Brad Smolkin — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Brad Smolkin Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 My name is Bradley M. Smolkin. I am a retired attorney. I specialized in professional liability law, starting in 1991 with my work as a senior regional office manager for the Professional Liability Sections of the Legal Divisions of Resolution Trust Corporation and the FDIC during the Savings & Loan Crisis. As a retiree with substantial savings invested in the stock market, I have a personal stake in quarterly reporting by the CEOs of the companies in which I have invested. Quarterly reporting is essential to ensure that the information upon which investors like me rely is accurately and truthfully reported. Changing the reporting period from quarterly to bi-annually will only serve to enable bad actors to conceal their wrongdoing for a longer period of time, to the detriment of investors and the Securities Investor Protection Corporation. I respectfully urge SEC to continue to require quarterly reporting.

Bradley M. Smolkin, JD

Bradly Nicodemus — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Bradly Nicodemus Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I tell ya but don't think you will . You forgot who you were representing. You have it so easy and you got greedy. lol I'll tell you what? You keep rewarding their bad behavior, there lying, stealing, their flagrant disregard of the law! We see you! We know what's up. We will remember.

Sent from my iPhone

Brande Phillips — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Brande Phillips Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 NO!!!!!!!

Brande Phillips

Sent from my iPhone so please excuse any errors.

Brandi Winters — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Brandi Winters Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep the report quarterly. I like to know the status of my retirement investments.

Brandon — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Brandon Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Transparency and honesty is vital in the financial industry, and every other industry that is open to investment!!
Thank you.

Brandon Liberis
Bank Teller

Sent from my iPhone

Brandon Weiss — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Brandon Weiss Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
There is no reason to make this change. Quarterly reporting has been a longstanding cornerstone of how people decide to invest in a company. What benefit does removing this have? How does it benefit investors?

Brandt McCoy — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Brandt McCoy Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Do not delete my savings by giving corporation a pass on reporting quarterly. This will water down stocks.

Brandt McCoy
We the People

Sent from my iPhone

Brant Parker — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Brant Parker Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep it the way it is…doing the other will hurt investors and it’s not right!!! The little guy has a absolute right to know what is going on and not being completely transparent with quarterly reports is just wrong

Brant Parker
Retired Army

Sent from my iPhone
Brant Parker III

Brant Tesky — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Brant Transparency is what the public deserves

---

bred3235 — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: bred3235 Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 This is a very bad move for corporations. Didn't we learn anything from the Enron fiasco? Do not go forward with this!

Brenda Bakker — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Brenda Bakker Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Quarterly reporting is much more transparent than 6 month reporting.

Brenda Bell — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Brenda Bell Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep Quarterly reporting.

Brenda Calzo — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Brenda Calzo Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 We need visibility as often as possible. This rule was put in place for a reason. Please leave the rule in place.

---

brenda canero — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: brenda canero Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Why would we repeat history if it’s not for good! Absolutely not!!!

Sent from my iPhone

Brenda Combs — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Brenda Combs Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Any wrong doing is wrong & fraud is a number one thing that is totally deseptive to law abiding citizens & should always be kept visible to all who have any concern in the matter. 4 time a year will keep the information in plain sight.

Brenda Crumley-Gorman — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Brenda Crumley-Gorman Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Please stop this action. We have a right to the same information as other entities. Just because I'm not wealthy doesn't mean I don't deserve the same information. This negativity impacts my retirement and the retirement of others.

Brenda David — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Brenda David Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Hello,

Quarterly reporting was put into effect to protect investors. Especially in these tumultuous times, it should remain in effect to protect investors and retain their trust. I do not support changing SEC reporting to six month intervals.

Respectfully,
Brenda David
Retired business owner

Brenda Eddye- Dennis — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Brenda Eddye- Dennis Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 To whom it may concern,
Keep them transparent, upright and accountable !!!
It is illegal to steal/ pad their personal pockets off the backs of/exploiting others !

Thankyou,
Sincerely,

Brenda Dennis
A retired RN II of OPWDD
Bath, NY
A Victim of Gvmnt/organizational abuse/theft/attempted kidnapping/unaliving x ~3

Brenda Hoff — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Brenda Hoff Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 If you allow corporations to hide their profits and)or loses for 6 months, then you are inviting creative accounting practices to conceal whatever monkey business is happening until the accountants can change out the books to submit the sanitized version. Keep the mandatory reporting to every quarter. If a change is needed, with the abilities of AI and the Internet, why not make them report their profits/loses monthly?

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Brenda Lockley — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Brenda Lockley Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I am Brenda Lockley, BSN, MS retired Nurse Manager and depend on Social Security and my investment annuities to live on. I absolutely use my quarterly reports to plan my future spending and finances on these quarterly reports especially with our unstable and uncertain economy and with the very clear grift, graft and pocket lining of government officials, politicians and corporate heads. There is absolutely no need to change the current quarterly reporting process. Surely the CFO's and CEOS can spare a few golf games to get this important work done. Let's get back to being a good, honest and accountable government for all of the people of our country and not for the millionaires and billionaires.

Get Outlook for iOS

Brenda Morgan — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Brenda Morgan Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Please keep quarterly reports to protect the public.

Sent from my iPhone

Brenda Truex — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Brenda Truex Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Brenda Truex. Retired school teacher, living alone.

Only resources are my meager investments, a small pension and social security to support myself.

I use these all sparingly, pulling from investment sources when big expenses hit. A new furnace, car repairs, leaky roof are real problems.

If I am unsure of actual balances due to insufficient reporting, it could cause a catastrophic financial collapse for me.

The inconvenience for you, the SEC, to report to me on a quarterly basis is a small price for you to pay in order to have the use of my money.

Greed and obfuscation have no place in the SEC just in order to avoid accountability. I demand quarterly reporting continue without change.

Brenda Truex

BRENDAN PRYOR — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: BRENDAN PRYOR Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep the reporting Quarterly or even Monthly, don't revert back to less reporting!! We can all recall Enron! Quarterly makes company Executive management and Board of Directors be aware as well as SEC, shareholders and the public. Don't go backwards!!
Brendan Pryor
Owner
Maywood, NJ

Brendon Herring — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Brendon Herring Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Brendon Herring, Physician.
Transparency. If I'm going to invest my retirement into the stock market, I want to have some degree of trust. In this age of life insider trading and corruption, this is not the time to deregulate the industry that created the 2008 financial crisis.

Brendon Herring, MD PhD Postdoctoral Research Fellow
School of Medicine I Department of Surgery
The University of Alabama at Birmingham
1900 University Blvd, THT 1028B, Birmingham, AL 35233
Cell: 251-508-0606

Brent Baker — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Brent Baker Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 As an investor, I want reporting to stay quarterly at a minimum, ideally it would actually be more often. Companies need to be held accountable for accurate reporting of their financial wellbeing

-Brent

Brett Payer — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Brett Payer Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep it the way it is and stop messing with our investment and retirement funds for no good reason!!

Sent from my iPhone

Brian Beavers — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Brian Beavers Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Please take into consideration the private investors best interest in this matter. This opens the market to insider trading and corruption. Help keep the transparency clear for the individual investors.
Thank you,
Brian Beavers

Brian Bielski — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Brian Bielski Bad, bad, bad idea. If anything, they should sign off monthly. Don't fall for corporate lies about saving money on reporting. They will not change internal financial reporting practices at all. They just don't want to be held accountable. Public companies are public for a reason and must reveal information in a timely manner. All costs are borne by the shareholders in these times of RECORD corporate profits. Protect the shareholders, not CEOs who don't have the shareholders best interests at heart. FYI: companies always wait until the last minute to make required SEC filings so the lawyers/CEOs/compliance teams can try to dodge accountability by saying "we ran out of time " if they submit lies or mistakes. I have heard this from clients as the firm I retired from actually created and filed financial documents to the SEC for investment firms.

Brian Boyd — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Brian Boyd Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I think they should be reporting monthly. How's that for radical? Stop deregulating an already broken system.

Brian Eaton — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Brian Eaton Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I am opposed to going back to companies only being required to provide financial reporting twice a year. This law should not change.

Disclaimer: This email, and any attachments, is intended only for the use of the individual or entity to which it is addressed and may contain information that is confidential or privileged and exempt from disclosure under applicable law. If the reader of this email is not the intended recipient or the employee or agent responsible for delivering this message to the intended recipient, you are hereby notified that any dissemination, distribution or copying of this communication is strictly prohibited. If you have received this communication in error, please notify the sender immediately by return email and destroy all copies of the email and any attachments. The information contained in this email does not constitute legal, tax, accounting, investment or other professional advice and should not be relied on as such. The services provided by Paycom and its employees expressly do not include the rendering of legal, tax, accounting, investment or other professional advice to clients or clients' employees. This email does not create a professional or privileged relationship. The federal government, tribal governments, state governments or localities each may impose specific obligations on your business and employees. You should not act upon any information in this email without first seeking qualified professional advice for your specific business and jurisdiction.

---

brian hayes — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: brian hayes Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
UNIQUE

Brian Hopps — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Brian Hopps Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Dear Sirs,

Transparent quarterly reporting is essential to our market economy, as it instills trust and faith in the system. Without this frequency, markets become unfair to smaller investors.

Changing these reporting requirements only benefits companies with something to hide. There is no compelling reason to alter this standard; doing so will simply drive capital toward foreign markets that maintain quarterly reporting.

Our markets have already faced enough instability due to current political policies. Please do not eliminate quarterly reporting.

Sincerely,

Brian Hopps
Retired Senior System Engineer

Brian Pankey — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Brian Pankey Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission: 40 years of working diligently, saving, investing and you want to allow these dirtbags to steal from me. Merica! I wish I knew you personally so I could physically pick on you. You all are what's wrong with this country. Seriously. The French revolution is starting to look like a fantastic example

---

Brian Sanford — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Brian Sanford Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Brian Sanford. Retired owner and former president of a small corporation. Continue quarterly reports. It's how small investors monitor their progress. In this digital age it's also quite simple.

Brian Smith — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Brian Smith Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Brian Ronald Smith, MICHIGAN, Library Manager. We need more accountability for businesses not less. Please do not make this change as it will allow greed and theft to transpire. Capitalism sucks.

Brian Smith — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Brian Smith Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep the quarterly reports as that keeps checks and balances in place and limits the amount of fraud committed!

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Brian St Andre — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Brian St Andre Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Why would we change something that is working. With computer systems, companies know what their status is daily much less quarterly. Just keep it the way it is. Thank you very much. Brian St Andre.

Brigid OBrien — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Brigid OBrien Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 DO NOT CHANGE!

Brooke Nystrom — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Brooke Nystrom Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 It’s pretty clear why this would be a terrible idea creating an easy way for Fraud to occur. Let’s be transparent people! That’s all people want is honesty and transparency at all times!

Sent from my iPhone

Brooke Whitehurst — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Brooke Whitehurst Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission: I do not think it is appropriate to be lienient with finanial reportings and documentations. Lieniency can and will lead to ill informed investors and both markets and people will suffer.

Brooks Adam Hadsall — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Brooks Adam Hadsall Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Companies that make their fortunes ON us dhould be held accountable TO us.

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

---

brotheryang — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: brotheryang Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Kevin Jenson. Investor. This is completely unfair, and dangerous, to every American that has investments or portfolios. Publicly held companies need to be transparent to their shareholders.

Brown-eyed Girl — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Brown-eyed Girl Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 It's irresponsible, not in the best interest of the American people, highly suspicious, and absurd to change the reporting from quarterly to semi annually. Gosh, it almost seems like the SEC wants to steal money or do something inappropriate with the money. I wouldn't do that if I were the SEC…

Teri ~

---

browns10 — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: browns10 Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Annette Sandberg, Customer Service Representative. When I retire, social security will not exist. I need to make financial decisions with as much information as available. That includes the quarterly reporting of companies. It is important for lower income people to have all opportunity to survive in retirement.

Sent from my Galaxy

Bruce — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Bruce Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 We still deserve quarterly reporting. To many opportunities to take advantage of us not in the corporate loop.

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Bruce Cerny — Jun 17, 2026

Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Bruce Cerny Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Each company must be open to reports. It can help keep them on track. It would be the same as a correctional officers log book.CYA is their motto.

Bruce Hazen — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Bruce Hazen Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Please do not reduce transparency in the market! The harm to retail investors and retirees could be immense. There's no valid reason to discontinue quarterly reporting.

Bruce Hazen
retired
Seattle WA

Bruce Kocher Jr — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Bruce Kocher Jr Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Quarterly reports are needed now more than ever. In such a rapidly changing world there should be more frequent reporting not less!!!

Bruce M. Foster — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Bruce M. Foster Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 It is necessary. Allowing a CEO to skate on honest financial reporting quarterly is not in the nation's interest. We should apply the most stringent penalties.

Bruce R Irby — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Bruce R Irby Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Stop the steal!!! Accountability is everything and for the investing public.
WTF are you doing?

Bruce Smith — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Bruce Smith Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Bruce E Smith, retired intellectual disabilities support’s coordinator, Valencia, PA. Having worked with individuals dependent on government funds and family and charitable investments, I am aware that quarterly reporting provides greater safety and protection. The danger of negative financial changes to disabled individuals is magnified by their vulnerability. The inconvenience of quarterly reporting (already reduced by electronic financial records) does not merit increased risk to disabled individuals.

Sent from my iPhone Bruce Smith

Bruce Wiscomb — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Bruce Wiscomb Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep the reports quarterly!

Sent from my iPhone

---

brucem — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: brucem Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Why is the SEC proposing this reduction in accountability and who is behind the suggestion? It has been proven time after time that most, if not all, CEO'S cannot be trusted to behave honestly. It is therefore necessary to have enforceable rules, regulations, and laws to protect society from those, who, if not restrained, would pillage and destroy to satiate their insatiable craving for wealth and power. If anything, make them more accountable for their actions.
Bruce Mitchell

Bryan Evans — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Bryan Evans Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
I would like to have this information disclosed on a daily basis. More not less thank you.

Bryan King — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Bryan King Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Dear SEC and American Public:
It is imperative that Corporate Executives be required to personally vett and stand behind every corporate report, disclosure, and filing their company makes. Their personal reputations and personal financial assets must at risk, or we have NO assurance that the information is accurate and complete.
We have too much fraud, dishonesty, and graft in the U.S.A. today, especially in our highest echelons of power.
We have too many who are willing to line their own pockets with other people's money: too many Madoffs, too many Pelosis, too many liars, cheats, and thieves.
Certified Public Accountants are insufficiently equipped or motivated to deter and expose fraud and abuse, as evidenced by the ignominious demise of the once-respected Arthur Andersen LLP.
Please DO NOT reduce the protections needed by every investor and American citizen.
Sincerely,
Bryan King,
retired Attorney, former Corporate Finance Director, and former Certified Investment Advisor.

Bryan Murphy — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Bryan Murphy Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
All publicly trades entities need to divulge all information pertaining to their business

---

Bryce Tawney — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Bryce Tawney Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I spent over 35 years in corporate accounting and finance for a fortune 250 company. Yes, it takes some focus and effort to complete quarterly filings, but investors, employees, and management all benefit immensely from quarterly SEC filings. Every 6 months is a cop out and benefits no one! SEC does a great job, so thank you. Want to drive improvement, push to have FCPA as policy with enforcement. Thanks, B Tawney, Sr Director of Finance (retired)

Sent from my iPhone

Buddy Speer — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Buddy Speer Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep requirement for quarterly CEO financial reporting to Sec in order to minimize corruption.

Harold Speer
Nashville, TN

Sent from my iPhone

---

buggus522 — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: buggus522 Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Aqq+qqqq+++qqqq+[1]No company should go this long without making reports. It leaves too much room for hiding financial information from oversite. Quarterly reports aren't a suggestion they are necessary. Changing it to biannual is VERY ill-advised. Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Sent from my Galaxy

Butch Charlton — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Butch Charlton Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 This is ludicrous and you should not change this. It is totally opening up the system for Fraud and will hurt all investors, especially small investors.

H. A. Charlton, President of H. A. Charlton, Inc.

Butch Charlton
ALAA Finance Administrator finance@alaa-labradoodles.com

https://alaa-labradoodles.com/

Butch Charlton — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Butch Charlton Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 This is ludicrous and you should not change this. It is totally opening up the system for Fraud and will hurt all investors, especially small investors.

H. A. Charlton, President of H. A. Charlton, Inc.

C Ford — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: C Ford Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I'm retired and have held an investment portfolio for over 45 years now. The risks we accept as investors shouldn't include egregious corruption on the part of the entities in which we're invested. Corporate credibility has never been great, but it's at record lows right now already. My retirement was intended to be largely funded by my investments, but that has not turned out as planned for numerous reasons beyond the average investor's control. We need to address the deception and corruption to improve accountability. Quarterly reporting is just one mechanism required to maintain some level of accountability.

C Gray — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: C Gray Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I’m a retired educator who depends on savings and investments to supplement my retirement income and social security. Quarterly reports are vital to me for assessing my financial situation. Keep quarterly reports ! quarterly!

Cathryn L Gray
Murfreesboro TN 37127

Sent from my iPad

---

c hill — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: c hill Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Cara Hill Administrative Assistant
Vermont State University
“Accountability is very necessary in a real world life. So many people just say “. Not my problem”. This attitude is destroying our communities. And everyone who buys in to that, including these CEO and CFO level people, are an example of what our children and families are being influenced by. The government is for everyone and therefore is our only chance for protections against this greedy destructive behavior. Please don’t let them ignore their responsibility of reporting to their stakeholders. Please don’t allow this ruling to be passed. Thank you”

Sent from my iPhone

C Perez — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: C Perez Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Why is it always about the “big people”. Small investors like me need quarterly information to make sure my money is in the best place possible.
Candy Perez
Retired

C Smyth — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: C Smyth I am against allowing companies to avoid filing Quarterly Reports. I use these documents to determine the health of the organization and currently this is how I make decisions whether to invest or not in a publicly traded company. I will avoid investing in companies that choose to file semi-annually and avoid the public scrutiny of quarterly reporting. As a retail investor, losing quarterly reports is a huge impediment to my ability to track and research a company’s most current date. This gives professional investors with vast resources and access to company executives and events an even greater advantage over the retail investor. This is a bad decision for all small investors and will negatively affect the retail investor more than all other parties.

C. Ring — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: C. Ring Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Total transparency, every 90 days! No other way to do this!

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

CA Holcomb — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: CA Holcomb Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
I rely heavily upon the information provided in the quarterly statements I receive on all my accounts. I use them to track my totals to see if I'm on point for total savings. I use them to measure growths and losses and adjust my ratios and portfolio to achieve a more positive outcome. I use these statements so I can have a retirement income when I can no longer work. Social Security will not be an option for me. I'm playing this game and following the rules, don't change the tools that will get me to the finish line. Also, these statements are generated by a computer and most people now receive these statements online. Unless the companies want to give us the ability to pull our own information/statement (they definitely won't do that), it's a really important and useful tool. Please vote NO

Caitlin Miller — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Caitlin Miller Do not go semiannual dudes and dudettes

---

Cameron Lewis — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Cameron Lewis Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Cameron J Lewis

Transportation Process Manager
Publicly traded companies must keep their reporting quarterly and be fully transparent to investors. Millions of investors rely on these reports to make informed decisions about their financial investments and future based on these reports. They are owners of these companies and have a right to know what corporate policies and leadership are doing with their investments.

Sent from my iPhone

Camille Cronkhite — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Camille Cronkhite Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
I've spent my life working diligently and have been putting away what I can afford towards my retirement savings since I was in my 20s. I will not be able to rely on social security when I am a senior, so I need every penny of my investments to support myself. This is going to hurt working class people like me all over the country.

---

campfirepa — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: campfirepa Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 As a manager on Wall St for 32 years, it is imperative that the SEC continues quarterly audits..keeps honest companies honest and exposes the liars and thieves!!!

Regards,
Edward C Brocato

Candace Amberg — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Candace Amberg Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 If any administration cares about cutting down on fraud, then keeping quarterly reporting absolutely has to remain. A person on food stamps and welfare has to provide monthly reporting so quarterly should be the bare minimum for companies.

Sent from my iPhone
Candace Amberg , PLA Senior Professional Landscape Architect II 612.518.3694 (o) - wsbeng.com For a list of WSB employee licenses and certifications visit here.
This email, and any files transmitted with it, is confidential and is intended solely for the use of the addressee.
If you are not the addressee, please delete this email from your system. Any use of this email by unintended recipients is strictly prohibited. WSB does not accept liability for any errors or omissions which arise as a result of electronic transmission. If verification is required, please request a hard copy.

Candace Messerly — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Candace Messerly Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 ABUSE was why you made corporate sign off quarterly for some transparency.

Corporations won't be honest unless they are made to.

Candace Messerly

Candace singletary — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Candace singletary Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Please keep the quarterly signing by CEO/CFO in place. We have seen what can happen if this is not enforced. I lost my retirement in the last fiasco, as did many of my friends. This affects me daily and concerns what I am able to do with diet, healthcare, entertainment, home maintenance and repair, and energy consumption, as well as the vehicle that I drive and how much fuel I can use. Please keep these safeguards in place so that others will not be forced to live this way because of corporate decisions. Quarterly signing is not a hardship and they should be proud to do it. By C. Singletary, retired, NC.

Sent from my iPhone

---

candace toole quisenberry — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: candace toole quisenberry Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep quarterly reports . It works for all who invest
Thank you
Candace Quisenberry

Sent from my iPhone

Candice Carroll — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Candice Carroll Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Quarterly reporting keeps companies on their toes. If we drop that back we will have less transparency way too late before anything can be done to mitigate any potential issues. This would be a disservice to the American people and I do not support this proposed change.

Candice
908.358.6738

Candis Jones — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Candis Jones Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I want quarterly!!!!

Sent from my iPhone

Candy Emerson — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Candy Emerson Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Do not decrease from quarterly reporting.

Carey Harveycutter — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Carey Harveycutter Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Please maintain quarterly reporting as it is essential to make informed decisions

Carey Harveycutter
Director of Tourism
SALEM, Virginia's Championship City
Game Manager Salem hosted NCAA events
540/793-0982

Go with God for you cannot go where God is not!

_____

This e-mail message is for the sole use of the intended recipient(s) and may contain privileged and/or confidential information. If you are not the intended recipient, please contact the sender by reply e-mail and destroy all copies of the original message.

Cari Braen — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Cari Braen Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 We demand transparency and quarterly reports help keep us honest!!

Carl Andrew Caplinger — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Carl Andrew Caplinger Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 We know from history that corporations do and will still "cook the books." The theft is massive. Vote NO and do not pass this bill…it will be overturned like the other administration rules for the rich.

Andy Caplinger
Sent from my iPhone

Carl Di Joseph — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Carl Di Joseph Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Quarterly executive CEO tax reporting is necessary especially in our society today

Sent from my iPhone

Carl J Naquin — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Carl J Naquin Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 infividual investors want and need to see company financials to keep informed on where our money is and whxt he company is doing.

Carl Kraus Jr — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Carl Kraus Jr Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep the Reporting Quarterly! Enough of this BS being forced onto our backs

Sent from my iPhone

Carla Brown — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Carla Brown Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I am against changing the SEC quarterly reporting policy. Do NOT make it easier for corporations to CHEAT! Corporations must be held accountable!

Sent from my iPhone

Carla Kohler — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Carla Kohler Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 My name is Carla Kohler from Lenexa, Kansas. I was a federal comptroller, retiring after over 30 years of federal service. I am concerned that a decrease in the transparency (due to implementation of semi-annual reporting) will hurt investors and lower values as it did prior to implementing quarterly reporting. Please do not revert to the days of lower investor returns, less transparency and semi-annual reporting.

Sent from my iPhone

Carla Revoy — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Carla Revoy Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I rely on quarterly information to make decisions, (2) longer gaps create an unfair advantage for corporate insiders, the "optional" doesn't fix the problem because companies that opt in are often the ones whose investors most need frequent updates, the savings to companies aren't worth the cost to you.

Sent from my iPad

Carlos Cantu — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Carlos Cantu Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 When they hide the results for that long and we r not aware of the risks and they r isn't that some kind of froud.

Carlos Cantu — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Carlos Cantu Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 When they hide the results for that long and we r not aware of the risks and they r isn't that some kind of froud.
By

Carlos Mota — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Carlos Mota Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
We do not welcome or support this change. We need more transparency not less.

Carlota Elizabeth — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Carlota Elizabeth Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep the reporting in quarterly basis

---

Carmela Gonzalez Shalaby — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Carmela Gonzalez Shalaby Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Retired RN. My retirement investments need to be protected and transparent

---

Carmen Harvey — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Carmen Harvey Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Absolutely Not🙏🟫

Sent from my iPhone

---

caro Anderson — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: caro Anderson Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 They've not shown themselves to be trustworthy- you MUST continue with quarterly reporting. Especially now, when corruption is running rampant on a daily basis, it's obvious that to amend this rule is an abomination. I insist that you do not make this change.

Carol Anderson — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Carol Anderson Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Why would anyone invest in the stock market or any company where you’re unable to see their books for six months?!? This is a hard No!

Sent from my iPhone

Carol Cataldo — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Carol Cataldo Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 No. It gives fraudulent activities too much time to grow into much larger issues. NO! Retain the current quarterly reports. I would rather pay a little more for the quarterly report instead of the "cost saving" option of a six month report. NO! Sometimes, the best way is the old way. If there was no thought of committing fraud, then there would be no thought of needing the change! NO! NO! NO!

---

carol corby — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: carol corby Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 From Carol and Kevin Corby. Please continue quarterly reports SEC. My husband and I are living on investment income and dividends. It seems to be very important that the SEC continue quarterly reports. Thank you %0 %0

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Carol D'Ambrosio — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Carol D'Ambrosio Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep it at 4

Sent from my iPhone

Carol Doughty — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Carol Doughty Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Why is it you would let this continue without any accountability? The average person would NEVER get away with it. Why is this " double standard" given to only the wealthy??? UNACCEPTABLE!!!

CarolAnn earthspirit51@gmail.com

Carol Drake — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Carol Drake Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep the 6 month reporting. We the people deserve it!

Carol Druck — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Carol Druck Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 according quarterly reporting keeps companiesaccountable quarterly reporting keeps companies accountable. Do not change That.
Carol Druck

Carol Geisz — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Carol Geisz Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Before retirement, I spent much overtime, willingly, doing my part as AP Manager, preparing quarterly reports. Year end was particularly tedious and so important the numbers were flawless, correct, audit worthy and timely. The SEC oversight is critical for healthy markets, businesses of all sizes and integrity in numbers. I was part of a failed IPO which resulted in the company’s ultimate sale and demise. While very successful, the powers that be in the company were naive, poorly advised and stubborn and we couldn’t meet SEC deadlines. I moved on, but what a valuable experience. We cannot allow the criminals and frauds, running this country now, to destroy our stock market and throw us into another depression. STOP the madness. From the Mom and Pop shops through the trillionaire's folly, we must keep integrity in business.

Sent from my iPhone

Carol Kravetz — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Carol Kravetz Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 NO RETURN TO 1955!😡
FREE AMERICA 🇺🇸

Sent from my iPhone

Carol Lindsey — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Carol Lindsey Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Carol Lindsey, retired. This proposal scares the * out of me. I don't believe it has the best interest of ordinary people like me in mind; but makes it even easier for the richest to gain even more. Stop trying to make us all slaves to the few.

Sent from my IPhone

Carol Liston — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Carol Liston Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 That is too long a timeframe without checks and balances. Too many things can happen.

Carol

Carol Martens — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Carol Martens Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Don't * with what is working!!!!!!

Sent from my iPhone

Carol Mason — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Carol Mason Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Continue quarterly reporting. Minimizing fraud opportunities. Transparency Better controlled with quarterly reporting.

Carol Mauser — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Carol Mauser Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 As a stockholder, I believe it is critical that we have clear, transparent and frequent information from the companies who make up our investment portfolios.....Carol Mauser. Retired investor.

Carol May — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Carol May Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I strongly oppose reverting to semi-annual reporting of company earnings. We already have issues with insider trading, and this ruling would give more large scale investors with back channels an opportunity to take advantage. Why should we go back to a position the SEC tried and abandoned? Carol Ma, CFP, Falls church va

Sent from my iPhone

Carol Musto — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Carol Musto Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Hiding books for 6 months is a Disgrace and dis service to the American People

---

Carol Nason — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Carol Nason Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Why are you suggesting we go back to a plan you already know doesn't work! Look at the evidence! I'm all for reducing waste, fraud, and abuse, but this isn't any of those!

Carol O'Callaghan Staves — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Carol O'Callaghan Staves Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 My name is Carol Staves. I reside in Wetumpka, Alabama. I want to keep the reporting quarterly. This is what is best for all concerned.

Carol Sandberg — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Carol Sandberg Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 As a private investor, we need these quarterly reports. Please!

Sent from my iPhone

Carol Schultz — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Carol Schultz Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Quarterly reporting is essential. Keep it fair for all investors, not inside traders.

Get Outlook for iOS

Carol Simcoe — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Carol Simcoe Please no changes. We need transparency to make informed decisions.

Carol Simon Levin — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Carol Simon Levin Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Transparency keeps our system fair... There is absolutely no reason to roll this back

Carol Simon Levin
www.tellingherstories.com
908 361-6519
Sent from my cell phone, please excuse any typos.

Carol Stuck — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Carol Stuck Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 No to the six months! Transparency is always the best policy! No hiding behind closed doors!

Sent from my iPhone

Carol Taylor — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Carol Taylor Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I rely on quarterly reports to watch my investments, which I manage myself. Going to every six months is certainly not easy to track and keep up with.

I'm a retired financial advisor and can only imagine how difficult it would be to work with semi-annual reports.

Carol E. Taylor

Carol V — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Carol V Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I want to continue with quarterly reporting. We need transparency not hiding the facts how a company is performing.
With all the technology that is available to us why do we want to do it the way we did in the 1950's? They didn't have the sophisticated technology we have now to present the information easily and quickly!

Carol Venuti
Retired
1791 Pinehurst Rd # 22C
Dunedin,Fl 34698

Carol Zwickey — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Carol Zwickey Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Carol Zwickey clerical, Madison, WI, I am recently retired and cannot afford to lose any savings I've managed to save up to now. I want to see quarterly reporting continue. This is our America, built on the backs of all of the little people. Do not throw away our savings.

Carole Barns — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Carole Barns Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 It is essential to keep the current reporting process on CEO Quarterly Reporting. Accountability, responsibility, transparency are all crucial to insure and protect a corruption-free level of corporate management. Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,
Carole S. Barns
Snohomish, WA 98290
Retired business executive for GTE and retired owner of several small businesses.

Carole Fenn — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Carole Fenn Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Quarterly reporting by the SEC is required for informed decision making on investments. It stokes the countries economic engines in trading which is key for building wealth for those people actively investing.

Carole Deason (Fenn)

Carole Martz — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Carole Martz Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Our investments are our future. We cannot let companies hide their financials for 6 months.
Carole Martz

Carole Mayer — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Carole Mayer Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I worked all of my life for my retirement investments. We need to continue quarterly reporting to keep our investments secure. Do your job and protect the common man.

Carole Mayer
New York City

Caroline Kelly — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Caroline Kelly Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 You are obviously trying to make millions of Americans poorer, suffer more and live their lives in financial instability. You're allowing the Trump administration tell you what to do because it will obviously benefit them along with the ultra wealthy.

Sent from my iPhone

Caroline Rider — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Caroline Rider Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 All of ordinary Americans' savings are invested in the stock markets.... CEOs MUST be kept close close close track of, or they WILL cover up their mistakes and their manipulations -- to the point of collapse -- and that means ordinary Americans unable to pay their bills! Food! Rent! Mortgage! Insurance! Doctors! Car loans! School! KEEP REPORTING QUARTERLY!!

Carolyn — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Carolyn Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Quarterly reporting by CEO's is the least they can do to show that they are following the rules for running a business. Companies owe their success to living in a country where rules are made so that everyone can succeed. Holding CEO's accountable to the laws of our country and the rules set up to run a company is the least they can do. Keep it Quarterly.

Sent from my iPhone

Carolyn Fleischner — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Carolyn Fleischner Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 The SEC was formed to protect American citizens from Corrupt Business Practices & Pump & Dump Schemes! This SEC is protecting Business Fraudsters like Trump himself & his Family.! Currently Space X IPO has been losing billions for the last couple of years & you allowed him to overinflate the value as over a Trillion dollars? You are a puppet of the most Corrupt President the US has ever had!

Sent from my iPhone

Carolyn Forchemattison — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Carolyn Forchemattison Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep the reporting quarterly! Why give us less information?

---

carolyn Kepes — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: carolyn Kepes Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 This is just a way for the rich to get richer. Leave quarterly reports alone, please.

Carolyn Lancaster — Jun 17, 2026

Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Carolyn Lancaster Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 My name is Carolyn Lancaster. I am a preschool teacher. I believe quarterly reporting is essential to allowing public information to stay just that. People like me deserve to see the inner workings of a publicly-owned company at frequent intervals to effectively know where the money is going, especially if I have a stake of my own. Keeping trust from investors is far more important than any savings that might supposedly occur with this change.

Carolyn Lancaster

---

carolyne wedelstaedt — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Email issues / Compliance From: carolyne wedelstaedt Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Hello,

I have sent this email to the SEC at least 6 times today and the email bounces back. I do hope it is not a shady link and you are keeping people from sharing their opinion to keep the SEC compliant and legal.
I will let others know of the issues.

Keep corporations compliance with reporting requirements legally responsible to protect, enforce and defend our markets and the world

---

Caron Shaffer — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Caron Shaffer Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep Quarterly Reporting!!

Caron A. Shaffer
placespaces@gmail.com
207-630-3086

Carrie Solidarity Entrepreneur — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Carrie Solidarity Please maintain the status quo on quarterly reporting. As an investor, leader of business development for a national brand and an entrepreneur, the health of a business is more clearly seen through quarterly reporting combined with an annual report. More data points provided in quarterly reporting substantiate claims in the annual report.

Casey Branton — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Casey Branton Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Atip companies frim eupoinf if the aneTo the Securities and Exchange Commission:

---

cathalineg — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: cathalineg Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 It has already been proven that this is the best way that investors can know what's happening with their money. Why go back to a system that cost us so much in the past?

Catherine Carillo — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Catherine Carillo Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 NO MORE Slap on the wrist.
TIME TO STOP THE FRAUD IN AMERICA
This IS AMERICA NOT A. THIRD WORLD COUNTRY.
Keep these CEOs accountable. Use common sense please. Money is not everything.

Catherine Carrillo
219-407-4679

Catherine Galioto — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Catherine Galioto Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Quarterly reporting is necessary and should be kept on the schedule. Do not decrease Reporting standards for financials.

Sent from my iPhone

CATHERINE REEVES — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: CATHERINE REEVES Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep accountability alive!!!
Quarterly reports will do this.

Catherine Schaper — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Catherine Schaper Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 More transparency, not less!

Sent from my iPhone

Cathy Briggs — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Cathy Briggs Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Cathy Ann Briggs Senior Land Agent. I had friends who like SS people everything at Enron. Please make the companies and their CEOS accountable.

---

cathy burton — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: cathy burton Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Why would you repeat this mistake?? We tried this once and it didn't work. More transparency is needed, not less.

Cathy Burton
Lewis County Resident
Packwood, WA
206-255-2849

Cathy Krause — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Cathy Krause Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I strongly disagree with the proposal to allow corporations to only report every 6 months. As a retired person, I need to carefully track my investments. Please continue quarterly reporting.

Cathy Lambrecht — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Cathy Lambrecht Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 History proves that quarterly reporting is our best tool to keep our investments safe & secure. It is imperative to provide quarterly reporting so that investors can adjust priorities in their portfolios. I am therefore requesting that quarterly reporting be continued.
Sincerely,
Cathy Lambrecht

Cathy Mo — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Cathy Mo Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 My Aunt, who worked very hard for her retirement savings and was settling in for a comfortable retirement, lost everything in 2008. She was destitute until the day she died. Fortunately she had family members who helped her out. I would hate to see this happen again to anyone.

I lost most of my savings in 2008 thanks to ENRON. It's taken me years to regain my losses. Do NOT take away this safeguard to protect the CEOs and ultra rich. The rest of us work hard for our money and do not have the luxury of having millions of dollars at our disposal. Another crisis like the one in 2008 would deviate the average American. You are supposed to be protecting everyone. I'm hoping to retire in the next few years and absolutely need my savings to be comfortable and not destitute. I don't have as many resources as my aunt had.
Catherine Moshier, RN
Connecticut

Cathy Rioux — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Cathy Rioux Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Catherine Rioux Retired

Reporting needs to continue quarterly to be fair to investors as well as insiders. This should NOT change to twice a year as so much damage can be done in that amount of time!

Sent from the all new AOL app for Android

Cathy Rodgers — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Cathy Rodgers Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 In my career as a banking professional I saw firsthand the importance of timely reporting. Now, as an investor, I want to have that same transparency. Why would anyone want to give someone their hard earned money and then not get timely reporting. I strongly disagree with the idea of eliminating quarterly reporting. Cathy Rodgers Leland NC

Cathy Schneider — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Cathy Schneider Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 CEOs need to be held accountable all 4 reporting periods all year long-accountable to their shareholders, the people who work for them. Even with 4 reports a year there are people who feel they have a right to cheat and harm others. Do not let them get away with this plan!!!

Sent from my iPhone

Cathy Teich — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Cathy Teich Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I think that quarterly reporting should be the minimum companies should do. I would think that this would be an advantage for companies as well, so that they could keep an eye on how things are going. It is just good business sense and the responsible thing to do. It is important to me because I want to make sure my investments are being handled in the best way for my income later in life.

Cathy Teich

Cathy Wright — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Cathy Wright Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Quarterly should be kept. It is not like they have to fill out the forms themselves.

---

cayenne_1913 — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: cayenne_1913 Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Absolutely unacceptable. There is already too much deception by big businesses. Quarterly disclosure is important to the consumer & the general public. The only reason to switch to six months is to hide the truth.

Sent from my Galaxy

CB Pats Fan — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: CB Pats Fan Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 This does NOT benefit the average American... it allows companies to hide information from the customer to reap more benefits

---

Cedita Graves — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Cedita Graves Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 This shouldn’t even be up for discussion given what happened in 2008. Companies must be more transparent and as frequently as possible.
Cedita G Retired

Thanks

Cesar Islas — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Cesar Islas Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission: this seems like a great way to get regular people to rally behind getting you banned and hating you. How do you plan on keeping people out of the loop when we the people are who fund your companies????

Cfeeny — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Cfeeny Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Carole Feeny, Retired, Newport KY

The last thing we need is less transparency. This has been tested and proven.

Sent from my iPhone

Chad Miles — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Chad Miles Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Companies have a fiduciary duty to report the status of the company. It's as simple as that.

Chad Robinette — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Chad Robinette Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 If I need to show my receipts...or books as it were...I wouldnt be able to wait six months. This is a crap proposal. Leave it quarterly .

Channing Bolick — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Channing Bolick Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Gabriel Knight from Orlando FL. Quarterly reporting is important for individual investors and the overall market sentiment. In an age of electronics, automation & AI it is easier than ever for companies to compile & disseminate quarterly reports. This one more horrible Trump idea that needs to be nipped in the bud. Less frequent reporting will also lead to more insider trading as “people in the know” hear early trends but the private investor won’t have the advantage. Quarterly reporting discourages insider trading, because reporting 4 times a year lessens the value of insider talk the will be reported to the public shortly. Companies that sell public stock have a duty to report quarterly so regular investors can make informed decisions about retirement accounts & other consumer investment accounts.

Gabriel Knight
Sent from my iPhone

Char DeVoy — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Char DeVoy Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I'm against! It didn't work the first time, why do it again? Another big win for corporations...boo!

Charlene Koenig — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Charlene Koenig Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Maintain quarterly reporting.

Charles Armstrong — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Charles Armstrong Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Oversight prevents corruption, the only reason this is being done is for illicit gain. Please cease and desist changing the quarterly reporting

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Charles Brown Retired — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Charles Brown Let’s go with what the Billionairs recommend, they’ve done pretty well.

Charles David — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Charles David Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep America honest please

---

Charles Haycock — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Charles Haycock Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Why are you returning us to the dark ages? Oh right, more money for the rich.

Sent from my iPhone

Charles Huffstetler — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Charles Huffstetler Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Reducing the reporting requirements for publicly traded companies from quarterly to twice yearly would do great harm to the general public and only help insider and institutional traders. I strongly urge you to not change the requirements.

---

charles lasyone — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: charles lasyone Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep reporting Quarterly. Things are working good as they are. Or try reporting every 2 months for a while, but dont go longer between reports.

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Charles Moore — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Charles Moore Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep Quarterly reports

---

Charles Partin — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Charles Partin Our present investing environment is aggressive and volatile. That makes it very difficult to keep up with material changes in any given business. In fact more frequent reporting would be an improvement to the retail investor's ability to assess the viability of purchasing a stock. Allowing less information to become the standard allows businesses to mash together issues and gloss over them not providing a clear and accurate indication of that business's health. DO NOT REDUCE THE REPORTING FREQUENCY

Charles Smith — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Charles Smith Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Have you not learned anything from 2007 - 2008? Seems like the SEC wants a replay of previous mistakes. Charles Smith, retired, Galveston TX

Sent from my iPhone

Charles Snyder — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Charles Snyder Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 As a Certified Information Systems Auditor (CISA) and former SOX internal auditor I strongly recommend against changing this rule. I saw the damage of Enron, et al and the 2008 financial crisis. Also with me approaching retirement I am very dependent upon my IRA returns. While my portfolio is professionally managed, the lack of transparency will make it more difficult for them to perform their fiduciary duties. Six months allows too much time for insiders or nefarious forces to hide financial shenanigans. This, like the repeal of Glass Stengel is guaranteed to lead to another financial crisis and multi billion dollar bailout down the road.

Sent from my iPad
Charles Snyder, MBA, PMP, CISA, CISM, CISSP

Charles Stephens — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Charles Stephens Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
What exactly does the SEC get out of this deal? I know you aren't going to do this out of charity, so what monetary windfall does this present for the members of the SEC? A very wise man who used to be on the AM radio from Noon to 3pm always said, "If you want to understand why anyone does anything "for no reason", follow the money.
So, I ask again, what is in this for the SEC?
Sincerely,
Charles W. Stephens
An Investor and Concerned Voter

Charles Strawbridge CPA — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Charles Strawbridge CPA Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 With advent elegant reporting software married to AI efficiencies, quarterly reporting is less burdensome than in prior years. Keeping Qtrly reporting also keeps management under the microscope.

Get Outlook for iOS

---

charles worpek — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: charles worpek Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Charles worpek. Chef. Northampton Massachusetts. These companies need to be held accountable giving them time to cook the books just doesn't work.

Charlie Biel — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Charlie Biel Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 America has a history of relaxing or erasing regulations and transparency on the activities of investors and corporate accountability.

Always BAD

Charlie Brown — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Charlie Brown Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Let's go with what the Billionairs recommend, they've done pretty well.

Sent from my iPhone

Charlotte Farrell — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Charlotte Farrell Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I am a retired resident of Georgia and I am writing to oppose Proposed Rule S7-2026-15, which allows companies to switch to semiannual reporting.A six-month reporting gap is too long for modern financial markets. It reduces transparency and creates an information vacuum that disadvantages retail investors. Less frequent reporting also harms corporate accountability, hiding financial problems from the public for longer periods.The SEC must protect everyday investors by maintaining the current mandatory quarterly reporting system. Please reject this proposal.
Sincerely,
Charlotte Farrell

Sent from my iPhone

Charlotte Fremaux — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Charlotte Fremaux Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I'm a retail investor, and quarterly reporting helps me make financial decisions. Honest companies that respect their investors know that transparency builds trust and have no problem offering quarterly reports. Companies that don't care about small investors and participate in abusive trading practices want to be as opaque as possible to allow bad actors, and are to be avoided. At least this is what the rules used to mean. The de minimus savings to companies are irrelevant. Companies that ask for your investment should welcome transparency. This is all part of a larger con on everyone but the billionaires.

Charlotte M Fremaux
622 Shannondale Road
Harpers Ferry, WV 25425

Charlotte Hendee — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Charlotte Hendee Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep the rule as it is!
Rev. Charlotte Hendee
Wells,, ME

“Hope is being able to see that there is light despite all the darkness.”
Desmond Tutu

*

*

Charlotte Niteman — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Charlotte Niteman Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
My future and my children's future rely on my financial security. This proposed rule puts our futures at risk. Don't ruin the lives of young kids fulll of potential for corporations.

Charlotte Odegaard — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Charlotte Odegaard Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Everyone has a fiduciary responsibility to be open, honest and transparent with every single transaction. Six months is far too long. One day is to long. One hour is to long. One minute is to long. Everyone should be held to the same standards I don’t care who you are.
No shady stuff behind the scenes is acceptable in any way shape or form and there is no good excuse for hiding information when it comes to financials.

CAO

Charlotte OToole — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Charlotte OToole Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 We have a convicted felon as President! What more can we expect! All companies & CEO have to be accountable!! They puts laws in place to protect us!! Now you want to take away this protection!! This is absurd!!

Sent from my iPhone

Charlotte O'Toole

Charlotte Smetana — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Charlotte Smetana Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Continue with the quarterly reporting

Sent from my iPhone

Charter — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Charter Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Why change it? Won’t that make it easier for fraud to occur?

Sent from my iPhone

Chee Chee Hsu — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Chee Chee Hsu Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Please do not go through with the proposed rule to only require companies to disclose earnings and business info only every 6 months. 1) If this passed, investors would not know what the company is doing for half a year. 2) Less transparency can easily lead to more fraud. 3) Small investors like me will be hurt the most by the lack of info. By contrast large institutional investors would likely still be able to get info b/c of their large holdings and resources.

Chef Aleta S Williams — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Chef Aleta S Williams Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Aleta Williams, Executive Chef. There should be more transparency not less. We should always know what's going on with the companies that we invest in Please excuse any spelling or grammatical errors. Email sent from my mobile phone.

Chef Williams
312-569-9043

---

cheindel01 (null) — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: cheindel01 (null) Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Carolyn Heindel, retired teacher, here. Do not give in to Trump and the billionaires who are trying to destroy our democracy! KEEP QUARTERLY REPORTING!

Sent from my iPhone

Chelle M — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Chelle M Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 A person on social services of any kind has to report earnings and/or any change in income when it happens. Not just income, but what kind of car/assets you have and their value, life/car/health insurance,child support and more. Then you sign releases that allow government to check bank accounts anytime they want, verify everything from health issues to family composition. EVERYTHING. C orporations are subsidized with tax payer money drastically more than social services are, they should have to report MORE than they do now. There is so much corruption, less reporting will lead to more. It is time for more accountability- not less. Please SEC, do your job to the fullest extent, and don't take away the oversight that CEOs/corporations need. M.Matthews, Oregon.

Cheri Borders — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Cheri Borders Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Heck No No way!

Sent from my iPhone

Cheri Bovell — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Cheri Bovell Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 KEEP IT QUARTERLY! 😡

Sent from my iPhone

Cheri Burkel — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Cheri Burkel Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Why does this government seek to protect business practices that hurt citizens.

Sent from my iPhone

Cherie McNett — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Cherie McNett Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 There is a very good reason why the rules were changed from the 1950's; we are figured out that companies were cheating investors out of money they had earned. Stop trying to steal; be transparent as required by many other entities.

Cherri Rippenkroeger — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Cherri Rippenkroeger Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Cherri Rippenkroeger, a Disabled, Permanently Retired Executive Response Technician for Gateway 2000 Computers.
Of Norman, Oklahoma
This matters to me because of Corporate Executives & Billionaires & Wealthy Politicians who have long been exploiting legal systems that have been abused & were supposed to be to protect the American People. Now we have Monopolies again such as Cargill & other Huge Conglomerates & other Beyond Extremely Wealthy Companies that buy up all their competitors & they get tax breaks buy using corrupt means to use Lobbyists to give Politicians BIG Donations to keep them from not paying their fair share of taxes & cause the Corruption to Never Stop. It's Sickening. The American People of the United States are becoming more & more poor & in debt, becoming homeless & being poisoned by all sorts of big money players such as Big Pharma, & Giant Food Conglomerates that put toxic chemicals in our food, water, air & everything, everywhere. And while the big Corporations & Politicians & Billionaires are becoming wealthier & wealthier, they are destroying the very fabric that makes up our Once Great Country & is destroying our Economy. If they are not held accountable for anything, they will continue to collapse our economy & the American people will fall into another Great Depression & / or Worse.

Cheryl — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Cheryl Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Cheryl Jones-Head, retired, Cumberland RI ... I have been investing FOR DECADES and deserve to know the accurate, most up-to-date information when making these decisions with my financial advisor for the rest of my retired years.

Sent from my iPhone

Cheryl Cobb — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Cheryl Cobb Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Quarterly is the minimum. I am a small investor. Making this change will give an additional advantage to large investors. So far thus year you are at 0 for taking care of the citizens you represent.

Cheryl Cobb
Lenoir, NC

---

cheryl deluca — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: cheryl deluca Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Our community's retirees depend critically on the existing quarterly reporting schedule. This consistent cadence provides indispensable financial stability and vital oversight. Any reduction in frequency would expose a vulnerable population to undue volatility, directly impacting their savings and investment planning. Past experience unequivocally shows that less frequent updates create anxiety and impede sound financial management. Preserving the current quarterly framework is therefore essential to uphold transparency, foster confidence, and safeguard the financial security of our retired members.

Cheryl Eisler — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Cheryl Eisler Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep the sec checking. Keep them honest. Being honest seems to no longer be the norm

Sent from my iPhone

Cheryl Goin — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Cheryl Goin Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 My name is Cheryl Goin. I am a retiree living in Bloomfield Hills, Michigan. I've been saving and investing my entire work life and depend on these funds for myself and my family.

Investor confidence is essential for a continuing stream of investment in the markets. No more Enrons.
We need transparency and accountability. You know this.

Cheryl Graves — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Cheryl Graves Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Accountability is so important

Get Outlook for iOS

Cheryl Jarvis — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Cheryl Jarvis Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Stop corruption. Restore decency.

Sent from my Galaxy

Cheryl Look — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Cheryl Look Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 We need transparency.

Cheryl Machina — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Cheryl Machina Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep Quarterly reporting! There is no reason to change it. History has shown more transparency is good & quarterly reporting works better for the investors. Based on all information available, changing the current reporting would be devastating to investors. The possibility of losing 1/3 of my retirement investments is heartbreaking. I need this money to live.

Sent from my iPhone

Cheryl McGraw — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Cheryl McGraw Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Please do not allow companies to only file their reports twice a year. There must be accountability and stability in our economic markets. There is currently enough chaos and cheating and the American don't want more. Insider trading is running rampent. There must be transparency and honesty.

Sent from my iPhone

Cheryl Murga — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Cheryl Murga Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Let's not repeat history. Keep quarterly reports and ready access for information pertaining to companies and investments. As a retiree, I need to know how and when my hard earned $ are being handled. I want full and regular reports. Transparency needs to remain a focus of the SEC. Changing quarterly reporting changes the information by inaccurately presenting information to the recipient. Inaccuracy affects profit and loss to the consumer. Keep the reports coming. Let's not aid the status quo and falsifying accuracy by providing reports that do not reflect regular overall productivity that affords good decision making.

Cheryl Pack — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Cheryl Pack Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I believe i am entitled to ever report i receive about my financial issues this money belongs to me and I want to keep track of every penny this is like getting bank statements once every 6 months and errors need to be checked regularly please DO NOT CHANGE IF THIS IS TO SATISFY ELECTED OFFICIALS WHO MAKE MONEY FROM DIHONEST TRADING stay the current process please

---

Cheryl Pannell — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Cheryl Pannell Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Do not pass the six month blackout rule. It was put in place For a reason and should not be changed.

Cheryl Schindler — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Cheryl Schindler Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I live where Enron existed and had family affected by the corruption. CEOs must report quarterly in order to continue monitoring their financial actions.
Billye Cheryl Schindler
Houston, Texas

Cheryl Schindler

Cheryl Vanatsky — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Cheryl Vanatsky Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I do not agree with this change, it takes away my ability to moniter and have transparency in a timely manner. It creates a large opening for fraud and losses to occure. Ultimately, it decreases our right to timely information and company transparency. Do not pass this. Thank you for your attention to this. Cheryl Vanatsky

---

Cheryl Whidden — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Cheryl Whidden Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep quarterly filings. Big corporations need to be held to a high standard. Giving them more time between filings just makes it easier for them. More filings more opportunities to correct their errors! Or let them give more thought to their ways.

---

cheryldarby — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: cheryldarby Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Do not change reporting quarterly. Changing this not keeping us informed.
Cheryl Bocek - Indianapolis, IN
I work for a mortgage company and we need to know quarterly where the U.S. stands.

Chet George — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Chet George Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Public well-being is at stake. Have you forgotten the reason for this change? Accountability is sorely missing in our country. We not only need to keep QUARTERLY REPORTING but we need to be diligent in enforcing it. Don't you dare weaken this requirement. Chet George USAF Retired - Springfield, MO. ACCOUNTABILITY IS VITALLY IMPORTANT 🙏

```
|~~
_)|(_
_)_|_(_
_)__|__(_
_)___|___(_
)___/|___(
(ô ô <|> ô ô)
\ ||| /
////////////////////////////////////
```

My ship came in a long time ago. I just realized it when I review my blessings!!!

Chet

Chita Taylor — Jun 17, 2026

Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Chita Taylor Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Good morning,

My name is Chita Taylor and I am a retired nurse. I am opposed to the proposed SEC change. Keep the reporting quarterly. If the companies can report less frequently,then other investors like myself will not be able to make informed decisions. Don't let bad businesses hide the facts to defraud us.

Thank you,

Chita Taylor

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Chris Clayborne — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Chris Clayborne Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Quarterly reports need to continue otherwise there is too much time for fraud

Sent from my iPhone

CHRIS COLBERG — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: CHRIS COLBERG Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I am an individual stock holder, quarterly reporting allows me to keep up with my stocks and make informed decisions about when to buy, sell, or hold. Twice a year reporting will give insiders an advantage over individual investors such as myself.
Christine Colberg, Retired

Chris Ingham — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Chris Ingham Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I am an experienced, active investor. The SEC needs to maintain the current quarterly reporting requirements. Rolling back to semi-annual reporting would be disastrous.

Chris Ingham
Clearwater, FL

Chris Jobes — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Chris Jobes Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 please do not return to the old account reporting method. I depend on my savings to pay my bills and prescription and medical costs. returning to a bygone era with 2026 costs will be harmful and reduce quality of life.

---

chris peterson — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: chris peterson Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 My name is Chris Peterson and

I'm a regular Joe, working class guy. Halving the financial certifications from 4 to 2 times a year will only increase the level of abuse and fraud that companies commit. Please don't abdicate your responsibility to protect the citizens of this country. You know, the ones you actually work for. Thank you,

Chris Peterson

Sent from my iPhone

Chris Phillips — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Chris Phillips Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Please continue quarterly

Chris Phillips

Chris Senecal — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Chris Senecal Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Everyone who invests on companies, particularly investors relying on the markets to support their retirement, should have access to quarterly reports to make informed decisions. The fact that this proposal is seriously being considered is an affront to hardworking people who are trying to be responsible with their money.

Chris Senecal
4 Lyman Lane
Bloomfield, CT 06002
(860) 716-4861
CASenecal68@gmail.com

Chris Sharpe — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Chris Sharpe Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 You people are out of your minds. How many different ways are you'll going to come up with that allows you to f the public? This is a *ed shame, be concerned about the Consumer. Super stupid idea, but, super stupid people come up with this 💩.

Sent from my iPhone

Chris St. Clair — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Chris St. Clair Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 As the old saying goes, 'you cannot expect that which you do not inspect'.

Consumers, investors, and employees deserve transparency and the ability to make decisions based on data.

Sent from my iPhone

Chris Van Meter — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Chris Van Meter Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Accountability is needed today as it was when this law was passed. Not enough safeguards against fraud and deceit in current business climate; save this one!

Chris Van Meter

Sent with big fingers from a small device

Chris Watson — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Chris Watson Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep the rules as is. We need to keep the CEOs and CFOs accountable. It is a great line to draw to try to keep businesses lawful.

CHRIS WRENN — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: CHRIS WRENN Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Quarterly reporting is so important for transparency. The only reason for changing this rule is deception.

Sent from my iPhone

Chris Z — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Chris Z "Quarterly reporting protects individual investors. Semiannual reporting doubles the information gap between insiders and ordinary shareholders." "Research from the CFA Institute, which studied this exact maneuver in the U.K. market, shows that reporting frequency has no measurable effect on corporate investment behavior. The SEC is accepting a real cost – less transparency for individual investors – for a benefit that the evidence says simply won't materialize." "The companies most likely to opt out are the ones where oversight matters most. Smaller, less-covered businesses operate with less scrutiny. Reducing their reporting requirements makes them harder to monitor, not easier to own." "This is the wrong direction. Reg FD moved toward a more level playing field. This proposal moves away from it." "As the WallStreetBets comment letter put it: "The companies we trade are not being held back from greatness by the obligation to file four reports a year. ... The entire S&P 500 files a 10-Q every quarter, and the S&P 500 is at an all-time high. If quarterly reporting is crushing American capitalism, American capitalism is hiding it well.""

Christen Gillespie — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Christen Gillespie Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep CEO's& CFO 's accountable and honest. Corporate greed is running rampant, now is not the time to roll back these laws. These are necessary now more than ever.

Sent from my iPhone

Christie King — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Christie King Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Transparency Matters ! Let's reverse the Question , Hey SEC , WE WOULD ONLY LIKE TO REPORT TO U every 6 Months! I hear Crickets

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Christina Bivona-Tellez — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Christina Bivona-Tellez Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Please retain the current process and NOT go back to this old and broken one.

Christina Bivona-Tellez

Forgive any typos
sent from my iPhone

Christina Hopkins — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Christina Hopkins Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 There is no reason to lower reporting requirements to a quarterly basis. Every organization has systems that could report weekly with minimal to no labor. Transparency is more important than ever. Organizations prove time and again that they will game the system which puts retirement accounts for Americans at a high risk. The wealthy would have no problem losing half their investment money. This move would devastate 99% of the population that is already barely hanging on due to mass layoffs which has suppressed wages to pre-2008 levels. This move would increase the wealth gap. I believe the SEC was created to protect the 99%.

Christina Hopkins

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Christina Pehrson — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Christina Pehrson Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I absolutely think this needs to be kept quarterly. Do not change the current practice!
Christina Pehrson

Sent from my iPhone

Christina Romano — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Christina Romano Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Many of us seniors live on the distributions from this money. Please don't let this happen.

Sent from my iPhone

Christina Seeling — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Christina Seeling Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Quarterly reporting keeps everything on the up and up. Very simple. Keep it in place.

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Christina Tarr — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Christina Tarr Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Let's retain the quarterly reporting that has kept corporations transparent and our investments safe. Quarterly reporting was put in place after Enron for good reason. There is no reason to change it.

Sent via phone

Christine Adams — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Christine Adams Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Retain Quarterly reporting. Don't break what's working well. If this economy is failing- don't hide it from us and force us to give up our future. Quarterly reporting works. Don't change it!

---

christine becker — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: christine becker Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I am a retired middle school teacher and federal employee. Our investments are crucial to our retirement and the futures of our children and grandchildren. Quarterly reporting is essential. Do not allow the SEC to change to semiannual reporting. Transparency is essential. Christine Becker, Winfield, Illinois

Christy

Christine Bergman — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Christine Bergman Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 There are no good, ethical, or logical reasons for having less than quarterly reporting. Only nefarious ones. Do NOT make this change!

Christine Foglietta — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Christine Foglietta Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 This is just more corruption of our government.

X O Chris Sent from my iPhone

Christine Gailey — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Christine Gailey Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 We retirees are already being squeezed financially to benefit the few. Do not return to the bad old days. It will hurt most people.

Christine Helms — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Christine Helms Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Dear Representative [Recipient Last Name],

I am writing as a concerned taxpayer to formally request full transparency and public disclosure regarding the allocation of funds within the finance sector. Recent reports of fraud and corruption underscore the urgent need for greater accountability to ensure that public funds are managed with the highest level of integrity.

It is essential for citizens to understand how funds are being allocated and utilized to prevent economic disparity and systemic financial mismanagement. I urge you to take immediate action to restore public trust and strengthen financial oversight within the government.

Thank you for your attention to this critical matter.

Sincerely,

Christine Helms

Christine Hoeffner — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Christine Hoeffner Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 What proper reason exists for going backwards with these rules? I have heard none. Who will benefit and who will be hurt? How many in each group? Quarterly reporting has been more effective and supports transparency.

Get Outlook for Android

Christine Jojola — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Christine Jojola Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep Quarterly reporting! It’s important for all citizens!

Sent from my iPhone

Christine Khoury — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Christine Khoury Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Dear Sir or Madam,
As a retiree with 80% of my portfolio invested in various companies, it is critical to me and my family that our investments continue to report quarterly to make informed decisions regarding our investments. As there are many baby boomers relying on said information, I urge you to vote to continue the quarterly reports.
Thank you
Christine Khoury

Sent from my iPhone

Christine Kinnett — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Christine Kinnett Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Transparency in finance and government will always be key in allowing Americans to take the best steps for them.

Christine Ribik — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Christine Ribik Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Quarterly is a must for transparency and accountability ..we already have too much fraud!!

Christine Scaffidi — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Christine Scaffidi Don't get loose with hardworkers savings. If we don't expose corrupt companies as early as possible, US investments will no longer be looked up to around the world. Furthermore, we need to keep the standard high on ceo accountability.

Christine Taylor — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Christine Taylor Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Make them accountable for their actions every quarter!

Sent from iPad

Christoper Mellott — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Christoper Mellott Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
We need information on our accounts quarterly we might increase our investment as in times like these.

Christopher Baldwin — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Christopher Baldwin Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
I would ask that you consider the lack of integrity and commitment to to your organizations stated goals this change signals. This change does nothing to protect investors, maintain fair, orderly, and efficient markets, and facilitate capital formation. The markets are in a precarious place despite all-time highs, and history shows how that will play out. It's irrational and irresponsible to move forward in a manner that will further reduce confidence in the SEC and markets, especially when such a move clearly favors those who are already responsible for contributing to our current economic outlook.

Christopher Brothers — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Christopher Brothers Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Transparency is key to trust. Quarterly reporting must remain in place. Thank you.

Sent via the Samsung Galaxy S26+, an AT&T 5G smartphone
Get Outlook for Android

Christopher Chain — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Christopher Chain Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
I think quarterly reporting information is important to investors like me. Information and transparency are vital to consumer and investor confidence.

Christopher Church — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Christopher Church Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Chris C. Cyber Engineer in MA. There is no world in which quarterly reporting is not necessary, effective, and prudent. Anything less is simply irresponsible. I am strongly against any measure that changes the quarterly reporting requirement and I implore this administration and the SEC to course correct. Whatever flexibility the SEC believes it is granting to smaller companies pales in comparison to the price every day Americans will pay. We tried this experiment and it was an utter failure.

Christopher Crozier — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Christopher Crozier Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 This matters! Transparency is what keeps us a truly great country. Do not cave to special interests!
Protect us 🙏

Christopher Desouza — Jun 17, 2026

Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Christopher Desouza Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 This rule is for crooks to flourish to take advantage of the unwary public and fleece them. Please protect the investing public

Sent from my iPhone

Christopher Natale — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Christopher Natale Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Quarterly reporting needs to be kept, to prevent fraud. Don't let companies hide their books for 6 months.

CHRISTOPHER OLMSTEAD — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: CHRISTOPHER OLMSTEAD Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Why change it? .... unless there are devious motivations.

Get Outlook for Android

Christopher Oswald — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Christopher Oswald Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 The reporting needs to be more often than quarterly, not less. Valuation of companies also should not exceed assists and profits. Future earnings mean literally nothing for stock valuations so that needs to stop as well. That's the new way to commit fraud. SpaceX is the best and newest example of this.

Failure to take public comments seriously will come with legal implications if it is discovered that your rule changes increased fraud especially if the layman can explain it to you and you claim to know better. No excuses anymore!

Christopher Poggi — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Christopher Poggi Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Chris P. Physician. Pa. Quarterly reports will keep the little guy up to date and maybe have a fighting chance to retire before he dies. Maybe the reporting should be monthly. Every 6 months gives the big guys a chance to hide things longer which can make them more money and let the little guy out in the dark. Conversely if they are losing money, the insiders can get out earlier and let John Q take the hit.

Christopher Santana — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Christopher Santana Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Stop changing the rules Securities Exchange. Rolling back is not the answer. Same issue with removing the 1 year maturity for IPOs being part of the indices…

Sincerely,
Christopher Santana
954-200-1034

Sent from my iPhone

Christopher Thorpe — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Christopher Thorpe Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 To the SEC:

Many have already commented on the significantly reduced transparency of changing the quarterly 10-Q to a semiannual “10-H.“ This change has a greater potential impact than just reducing critical transparency shareholders. It further advantages insiders over retail shareholders and mutual fund investors who depend on clear reporting to make investment decisions.

Today. restricted shares held by insiders must generally be fully paid for and held for at least six (or twelve) months before sale. Insiders are currently not permitted to sell more than 1% of a company’s stock or more than the past 4 weeks’ average weekly trading volume in any three month period.

When creating insider trading rules, regulators assumed a regular three-month reporting cycle. Quarterly reports are a critical check on insiders’ “getting out while the getting is good” before they have to disclose bad news to investors.

If quarterly reporting is relaxed, then insider trading rules should be adjusted accordingly so that insiders are not permitted to sell their securities before the market has a chance to correctly price their shares.

Christopher Thorpe, CFA
Harvard University SEAS
150 Western Ave.
Allston MA 02134

Christy wiese — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Christy wiese Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Dear SEC

My name is Christine Wiese. I am a Metro driver with King County in Seattle, WA. I strongly disagree with semiannual reporting! I am investing on a smaller scale with personal and retirement money in the market. Making this shift would affect people like me from growing portfolios. Transparency on a company's health would be cut in half, thus making it harder to spot operational issues or sudden financial deterioration. Switching from quarterly reports to semiannual reports creates blind spots in an investment strategy and causes much riskier investments. Wall Street analysts might drop coverage of smaller companies if there isn't enough frequent data to track. This directly hurts retail investors by reducing the amount of free research and available market liquidity. Earnings reports are the major catalyst for price movement. Stretching the reporting to six months means the accumulated news, both good and bad, will hit all at once, leading to sharper, more extreme price swings when financial results are finally released. I strongly urge you not to adopt this option for publicly traded companies!

Respectfully,
Christine Wiese

Chuck and Wendy Stein — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Chuck and Wendy Stein Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Not sure what advantage would be to revert to semi-annual reporting. What benefit for consumers would there be? I would prefer to stay with the quarterly reporting.

Chuck Gilbert — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Chuck Gilbert Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 This proposal means that companies would get an unfair advantage over their stakeholders. By only having to report results every 6 months instead of quarterly, the management could manipulate their data to send an incomplete picture of their management's performance. This would undoubtedly spawn more Enrons and all stakeholders would suffer greatly.

Sent from my iPhone

---

chuck morrison — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: chuck morrison Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 1970 - course correction! What part of that don't you understand???

Cinde Pettey — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Cinde Pettey Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Cinde Pettey
Retired

As an individual, I want to be able to keep better track of my retirement assets so they will last the rest of my life. Keeping reports hidden for longer periods of time is not helpful. I want more transparency, not less.

---

cindy christy — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: cindy christy Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Quarterly reporting is a MUST!!!! It keeps people accountable. They know if they falsely report they can face prosecution. Reduced reporting leaves latitude for manipulating the reporting.
C. Christy, private citizen, Oklahoma. This matters because there is not enough accountability in government and business for those who feel they answer to no one but themselves. And when discrepancies are found, infractions found...prosecution to the fullest extent of the law should happen. When this consistently happens, eventually these incidents will be greatly curtailed.

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Cindy Garcia Ward — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Cindy Garcia Ward Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 We cannot reduce reporting requirements. There is already so much illegal trading which is why there are regulations. Loosening the regulations will only make it easier for bad actors and hurt the general public that isn't involved in these insider deals. With social security already less helpful to younger generations, our investment retirement accounts would be under attack as well. We cannot allow scams on the public to continue or worsen.

Cindy M. Garcia Ward

Cindy Johnson — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Cindy Johnson Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep it like it is, quarterly. Too much could happen while keeping investors in the dark for too long. My husband and I are retirees who depend upon our investments to help us through the years we have left.

Cindy Johnson

Cindy Johnson — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Cindy Johnson Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep it like it is, quarterly. Too much could happen while keeping investors in the dark for too long. We are retirees who depend upon our investments to help us through the years we have left.
Carl & Cindy Johnson

Cindy Johnson

Cindy Reames — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Cindy Reames Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 We must have quarterly financial reporting. As a Senior Citizen it is vital that we know what is happening on Wall Street to protect our investments!

Sent from my iPhone
Cindy Reames
Retired

Cindy Smith — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Cindy Smith Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I am an elderly retired investor. I live in rural eastern NC. This priposal must be a joke?? Why would this make sense to anyone? This mentality is similar to not testing for Covid, therefore, the reported numbers of deaths go down. Right?

The general public is not as stupid as you think! I cannot afford these backward shifts! I live on a small pension and Social Security.

Please do not allow this to happen.

Cynthia Smith

Cindy Stark — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Cindy Stark Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Quarterly reporting keeps these POSs honest.
Read the room. Everybody is sick and tired of the lack of transparency. Do not make it worse. You are not immune to revolution.

Cindy Thornton — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Cindy Thornton Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 My name is Cici Thornton , retired. We the people need you to stop screwing us. Transparency is essential. Quit lying, quit cheating and quit stealing from us.

Sent from my iPad

Cindylou — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Cindylou Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 SEC, Please maintain quarterly reporting. Transparency is crucial in this day and age. All the data supports quarterly reporting. No one wants to risk even the possibility of the value of portfolios dropping. We can see that this happened with the US market between 1955-1970, and we can see that earnings are much less in countries that only require semi-annual reporting. I do not want any actions take n that even might affect my financial security. It's incomprehensible that semi-annual reporting would even be suggested by the SEC. Why make a change like that to a system that has worked so well? The last thing Americans need at this time is one more thing that

---

Cinnamon Stewart — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Cinnamon Stewart Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 It truly makes no sense to limit information to twice yearly when our digital world has in fact sped everything up to a point that anyone reacting slowly truly misses out. It is actually going backwards. Reversing progress. Not just stalling progress, physically blocking it. In today's world, once you fall behind, you may never catch up.
So why are you planning to disadvantage our entire investment system from the top down?

CJ Barton — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: CJ Barton Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Do not change this policy, I need quarterly filings to make educated decisions!

Cj Zimmerman — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Cj Zimmerman Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Hello SEC,
My name is CJ Zimmerman, I am high school teacher in Northern Illinois. Why do you think less transparency and less reporting of financial information is a good thing for corporations who are already making record profits year over year? Where does the money come from for their earrings? From us, the general population who is spending our hard earned salaries. You must not overturn quarterly reporting to benefit the already record profiting corporations. This is a country of the people, FOR the people. Not for corporate greed and secrecy.

Thank you, CJ Zimmerman

Cjay Roughgarden — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Cjay Roughgarden Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Hi Im a small business owner in the California SF Bay Area. Its already incredibly difficult to make a living with inflation outpacing wage growth and ability to charge more as expenses increase. Investing is the only way to keep up with inflation and smart money already uses retail as exit liquidity often enough. This will further bankrupt the middle class.

Sent from my iPhone

Cjgrogan2001 — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Do not change the frequency of disclosure reporting From: Cjgrogan2001 Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 In this day and age transparency is crucial to making sure investors are informed. As it is currently constituted, the reporting should be on a more frequent basis and moving it to a less frequent cycle, could you irreparable damage to the everyday investor

---

Claire Hollister — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Claire Hollister Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 More transparency not less keep it 1/4 ly

Sent from my iPhone

Claire Lohnes — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Claire Lohnes Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 To the

Securities and Exchange Commission:
Quarterly reports are vital our investments. Why should our hard earned savings be vulnerable with less reporting? Please leave it as it is.....quarterly.

Claire Newman — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Claire Newman Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 As an investor, we have the right to know the truth about companies profits and direction. It's critical they report honestly and in good faith, quarterly, so we can manage our trades and investments appropriately.

Claire Newman
Windermere Mt Baker
(206) 334-6589 cell
(206) 725-7255 office
Cnewman@windermere.com

Claire Tarantino — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Claire Tarantino Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Absolutely NOT good for the average investor. We need up to date quarterly reports and we must be able to decide if we stay invested. If insiders are able to profit from back door and unethical purchases in companies doing harm to the planet or to human existence on the planet, we need to know that.

Claire Terrelonge — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Claire Terrelonge Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 This Country is turning into a large scale Crimminal enterprise,. I object to the abuse of our community. This is corrupt governing at its worst

---

Clara Matthews — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Clara Matthews Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 We, the people demand quarterly reporting to protect everyone

Sent from my iPhone

Clare Burt — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Clare Burt Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 With all the insider trading going on it would just mean more income for the ones who get the information and less for the rest of us.

Get Outlook for Android

Clare Driscoll — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Clare Driscoll Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Why should this change. Big business needs accountability. We don't need more Enrons. The rules were made for a reason and need to stay in place. Millions of shareholders need your support to keep their incvestments safe.

Claud McKelroy — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Claud McKelroy Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 It's working fine as is. If it ain't broke don't fix it. Leave the reporting regulations as is.

Claudia Bell — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Claudia Bell Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I am retired and need the income from my investments. History has shown that transparency helps markets. Moving to a bi-yearly reporting system will hurt all investors including me. I strongly encourage you to keep the current quarterly reporting system.

Claudia Pinch,
retired
Dallas TX

Claudia Hardy — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Claudia Hardy Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Claudia Hardy, interior designer and Realtor in Gainesville, Florida. We deserve to have regular quarterly reporting about the strength of our investments. We want to keep it the way it is now.

Claudia Hardy
Nest Obsessed Interior Design www.nestobsessed.com

Claudia Jayne — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Claudia Jayne Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 No!! Don't do it!

Claudia Stoscheck — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Claudia Stoscheck Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 We must maintain quarterly reporting. Accountability and fairness must be upheld. I am a clinical social worker in West Virginia. With stock investments. - Claudia Stoscheck

---

Claudio — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Claudio Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep quarterly reports as the law! Thank you.

Claudio Musajo

Claudio Musajo
917 309.4108
claudiomusajo@gmail.com

Clayton Ramer — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Clayton Ramer Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 My name is Clayton and I work as a Salesforce admin. We should not limit transparency of public companies. If our retirement is on the line, we have a right to know

Clayton Ramer

765-546-8475

Cletha VanWinkle — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Cletha VanWinkle I am an individual investor who values quarterly earnings reports to check on the stocks I own. I also read comments from Motley Fool Analysts and other financial newsletters to help me dig deeper into those reports so I can make informed decisions about the health of the stocks I own or wish to purchase. I don't have access to things the big institutional entities have such as their one-on-one meetings with CEOs and CFOs, access to credit card use on a weekly and monthly basis, tabulations of the number of cars at specific stores, etc. I only get to see the 10 Q form and the chance to hear the quarterly earnings report delivered by key people in the company. The analysts also get to ask questions, but sometimes I'd like to ask a question too. Of course I can't since I'm not an institutional analyst. Bottom line is that I want to continue to having access to quarterly reports. A UK study done by the CFA Institute Research & Policy Center (2007-2014) determined that the frequency of earnings reports did not affect how long-term the executives planned their corporate strategy. What did affect their short and long-term plans had more to do with the structure of the Compensation package for C-suite executives. Having quarterly earnings reports help individual investors like me have a fighting chance of making money in the stock market. As a retired special education teacher, that has meant a lot in the last 35 years I've been investing. It has enabled me to feel secure about the nest-egg I've accumulated and allowed me to help those who are less fortunate. If I had to rely on my pension and Social Security, I would just be scraping by now, and would fall behind in the next 20 years due to inflation. Investing made a huge difference, and continues to do so. I don't want to be hampered in the future by having even less access to information from the companies I invest in. The choice is simple: continue requiring quarterly reports and help individual investors (and let the big corporations change their pay incentives), or choose what makes things easier for the big corporations. Please choose to side with individuals and not the corporations. With the help of AI, reports are much easier for them to generate. Thank you.

---

cliff von hoene — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: cliff von hoene Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Cliff von Hoene
Georgetown, Indiana
Retired
Save quarterly reporting! Keep CEOs responsible for their company financial reporting! As one of the millions who depend on their income from their investment portfolio, government should do everything in their power to maintain corporate oversight and financial transparency of those companies that are publicly held. Thank you.

Sent from my iPhone

Clinton Key — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Clinton Key Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I would not be able to make informed decisions.

Clinton Smith — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Clinton Smith Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
I respectfully oppose the proposed rule allowing public companies to replace quarterly reporting with semiannual reporting.
Having worked in corporate America for more than 25 years, I understand the effort required to prepare financial and operational disclosures. However, six months is too long for investors to go without standardized financial reporting.
Quarterly reporting is not perfect, but it provides an important balance between transparency and reporting burden. Public companies have access to sophisticated accounting systems, ERP platforms, and reporting tools that allow management to understand business performance in near real time. Investors should not be required to wait six months to receive meaningful updates on a company’s financial condition and operating results.
Reducing reporting frequency would decrease transparency, make it more difficult for retail investors to evaluate companies, and could widen the information gap between individual investors and large institutional investors.
Public markets function best when investors receive timely, consistent, and comparable information. I believe the current quarterly reporting framework better serves those objectives than the proposed semiannual alternative.
Thank you for considering my comments.
Clinton Smith
Torrance, California

Clinton W Spence — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Clinton W Spence Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 My retirement depends on trusting the CEOs to be honest, but we need four (4) signed reports per year—NOT two (2).

Ronald Reagan said, “Trust but verify.”

Clinton W. Spence
Retired UMC Pastor

---

cockapoo2 — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: cockapoo2 Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep the accountability

---

Coco Costigan-Daniels — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Coco Costigan-Daniels Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission: it's just not right! Why would we want to invest when others are being given I side information that cheating!

Colin Lay — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Colin Lay Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Do your JOB and give the public information they're entitled to.

Colleen Foley — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Colleen Foley Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Colleen Foley - retired with IRA The Villages, FL We depend upon proper evaluations done quarterly for our retirement expenses. We can’t afford to live on half of what we now receive and still pay our share of taxes and mortgage,

---

Colleen Hammond — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Colleen Hammond Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Stop this nonsense. Just stop it.

Sent from my iPhone

Colleen Riley — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Colleen Riley Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 absolutely NOT!

Colleen Tassie — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Colleen Tassie Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 This is damaging to our economy, and we are absolutely against this change!!!
My husband and I have worked hard to build our cushion for our old age. We do not have the wherewithal to let you take half of it away. We have carried no debt throughout our lives. We have paid everything off and for you to come along and steal it this way is absolutely unconscionable.
We live in Ann Arbor Michigan. my husband is a lawyer who no longer practices- he's retired. I have raised four children, worked with real estate, served in a food bank, directed a food pantry and we have contributed heartily to our faith community, our civil community and the world community. This kind of change being shoved through is absolutely frightening, and we are completely against this!!

Colleen and Peter Tassie

Sent from my iPhone

COLLEEN TRAVIS — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: COLLEEN TRAVIS Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Leave the current system alone . Lack of oversight generally creates a better probability for corruption and we have enough of that already. Colleen Travis, former teacher, Nee York State

Sent from my iPhone

---

com291 — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: reporting change From: com291 Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 let this email be my objection to the proposed reporting change from quarterly to bi-annually.

Connie Kline — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Connie Kline Retain quarterly reporting to ensure companies and private investors have the information needed to make informed investment decisions.

Connie Moyer — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Connie Moyer The quarterly reporting for public we traded companies has been in place for a very long time. If it isn't broke, don't change it. I am very much against this change to policy.

Connie Pappas — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Connie Pappas Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 QTLY reporting has never been more necessary than in this age of corporatism and grift. Never relax standards on corporations !

From my iPhone

Connie Roman — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Connie Roman Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 No going backwards! Do not change a system that works well for us ordinary people. 1955 wasn't that "great",

Sent from my iPhone

Connie Stone — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Connie Stone Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 KEEP REPORTING! ONLY fair, honest. Too many people lost

---

Conrad Kovash — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Conrad Kovash Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Conrad Kovash Retired and tired of being Ripped off by people who think they are above the law.

Sent from my T-Mobile 5G Device
Get Outlook for Android

Constance Boehmer — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Constance Boehmer Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Quarterly reporting should be required to keep investors updated and informed. Shareholders have a right to important financial changes regarding their investments on a quarterly basis in order to manage their portfolio.
Constance Boehmer, retired financial services, North Augusta, SC

Sent from my iPad

Constance Lorig — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Constance Lorig Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 quarterly reporting is very important and CEOs must be held accountable as should the board of directors.

Corporations are profiting from doing business with Americans and must be accountable.

Cool Mom — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Cool Mom Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 It's high time that our government stops protecting and giving loopholes for big business . SEC: please DO YOUR JOB!

Cool Mom — Jun 17, 2026

Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Cool Mom Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 It's high time that our government stops protecting and giving loopholes for big business . SEC: please DO YOUR JOB!
Sincerely,
Sharon A Patrick

---

cooperkat — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: cooperkat Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Stop stealing our money!

Sent from my Galaxy

Cora Hamman — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Cora Hamman Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 It is important that we keep these being released quietly. You must remember that you were elected to serve constituents, not corporations.

Cora Hamman

Cora Hamman — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Cora Hamman Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 It is important that we keep these being released quietly. You must remember that you were elected to serve constituents, not corporations.

Corliss Jacobs — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Corliss Jacobs Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Quarterly reporting is not perfect, but it is one deterrent to CEOs and other senior executives hiding negative information that shareholders and the public have a right and need to know

Corliss Jacobs
20745 College Blvd
Olathe KS. 66061

Craig — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Craig Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Continue with quarterly recording, it’s more accurate. The experiment of recording in 1955 did not support the financial interests of U.S. citizens

Thank you,
Craig Dunkel
612-990-8449 gritle@gmail.com

Craig Parietti — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Craig Parietti Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 SEC - Quarterly reporting is essential to operating a public stock market!!! This must be retained to ensure our faith in our investments ! If adopted as proposed, the market will drop 10%.

Sent from my iPhone

Craig Patriot — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Craig Patriot Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Quarterly reporting was put in place for a very good reason, which was transparency. This also gives the whole nation a bearing on which direction companies are going, which makes investment decisions a LOT easier to make. Why in the world would you intend to do away with this rule, other than to mislead the investment community? Especially when your own entity is the safeguard for us, as the force behind the economy? Do not establish this rule!

Craig Seghers — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Craig Seghers Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Please continue quarterly reporting. It allows all of us to note trends before they become large issues we can't recover from. This is from a former fortune 10 analyst. And a Lucent survivor.

Craig Seghers — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Craig Seghers Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Please continue quarterly reporting as it allows all of us to note trends before they become large issues we can't recover from. This is from a former fortune 10 analyst.

Thank you,

Craig Seghers

Craig Stinchcomb — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Craig Stinchcomb Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Where is the Boeing CEO that has killed 2 plane loads of people. His crime was to knowing his cost cutting would comprmise safety, but he did not care. This has now occured multiple times and the "board room" is also directly responsible and should be tried for criminal manslater.

Cris Brendel — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Cris Brendel Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 KEEP IT QUARTERLY!! Christine Brendel It is important under this administration the more information we the people have, the better we can understand what changes are being made and what we can do to try to stop things we are not in favor of.

Cristina Erwin — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Cristina Erwin Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 The US stock market is a sham. It is not a true measure of the economy. The debt is the economy. Who will win and lose? I've was taught, each to their ability and each to their need. Going backwards is a male dominance agreement. Investing isn't hopeful when it runs like a slot machine. Risk isn't necessary. Growing the economy is a meaningless term. Citizens United must be reversed. We're a nation of immigrants and indigenous people. Certain groups of people that believe they're superior is a mistake...we've been led astray with a racial myth. That's the truth.

Cristina Grijalva Erwin retired educator.

CGE

---

cristina verzura — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: cristina verzura Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 The efficiency of capital markets depends critically on timely information being made available to market participants: retail and institutional investors, corporations, etc. And the efficiency of capital markets is crucial because it leads to increased trust in market prices, making it cheaper for firms to raise capital and for investors to make investments.

Lack of trust can have far-reaching consequences.

Cristina Voirin — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Cristina Voirin Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Please keep the Quarterly Reporting. This will safeguard the ability of the common people to keep their hard earned savings. Cristina Varona - Voirin Retired RN Yorkville IL

Crystal Crosby — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Crystal Crosby Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Crystal Crosby (Retired) I need to be able to check quarterly. Hey, SEC: Keep it Quarterly!

Crystal Elliott — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Crystal Elliott Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I have used retail investing to grow my wealth over the last 30 years. I rely heavily on quarterly reports to make informed decisions. Moving to a biannual system would only benefit institutional investors and those with insider information. This would be a violation of the SEC's mandate to protect investors.

Crystal E.

Crystal Schliefer — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Crystal Schliefer Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission: I think this is terrible. I'll take all my money overseas.

Crystal Smith-Gem — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Crystal Smith-Gem Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 We need continued quarterly reporting for transparency and protection against fraudulent activities!! Protecting quarterly reporting avoids the risk of misconduct mismanagement and lack of accountability and oversight!! Crystal Ready, RN, Maine

Sent from my iPhone

Crystal Van Horn — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Crystal Van Horn Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Quarterly reporting is a more fair assessment and keeps people on top of things.

Crystal Van Horn
Van Horn Enterprises

Be positive. Be well. Be Shalom.

---

crystalbva — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: crystalbva Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Retail reports need to be crystal clear and detailed with the wealth the retailer earns from their customers. My job is Sr. Coordinator, Crystal Butler

Sent from my Galaxy

Culberson — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Culberson Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Enron is the reason quarterly signing exists and puts responsibility to remain ethical on the person who has power to fraud shareholders. Historically, CEO's have not been advocates for shareholders and there is no reason now to think they ever would. Additionally, as most of us learn in business school, don't create the temptation for employees to cheat or steal. Save quarterly reporting!

Sent from Proton Mail for iOS.

Curt Talley — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Curt Talley Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Quarterly reporting needs to be kept in place to safeguard investors. Curt Talley investor

Sent from my iPad

Curtis Bean — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Curtis Bean Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:

transparency is essential for a free market. Stop this ridiculousness and do what is right

---

Curtis Fisher — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Curtis Fisher Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Reporting should be more often, not less. Do not allow this.

Sent from my iPhone

Cwitosky — Jun 17, 2026

Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Cwitosky Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I expect honesty, high morals & ethics in business dealings. You Can and Should only aim for your best. Do it for your children and grandchildren! Don’t allow the change from quarterly reporting,

Sent from my iPhone

Cyd Noble — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Cyd Noble Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 This would hurt the investor. It doesn't hurt companies to report quarterly. Less information is never better for investors. I can't afford any more disadvantages. Reporting every 6 months would rob investors of information they need to protect themselves and make decisions. Cyd Noble, CSR for Healthcare Company in Birmingham,Alabama.

---

cyhall — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: cyhall Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I am a retiree and cannot afford the potential downturn to my investment portfolio. Please DO NOT allow semi-annual SEC reporting.
Thank you,
Cheryl Hall
Little Rock, AR

Sent from my Galaxy

Cynthia — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Cynthia Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 This change would be ridiculous and absolutely non transparent. I want it kept at quarterly reporting. If there’s nothing for anyone to hide, then keep the reporting quarterly for transparency. Ridiculous to do it any other way.

Sent from my iPhone

Cynthia Backman — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Cynthia Backman Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Quit hiding . Keep ireporting quarterly. Maybe even monthly!

Cynthia Dolan — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Cynthia Dolan Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 There needs to be more checks and valances on big corporations, not less. As history reveals, they cannot be trusted. There are a lot of companies, corporations that are crooked, funneling money in payoffs, off shore accounts etc…

Sent from my iPhone

Cynthia Haight — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Cynthia Haight Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Good morning.

It is essential to maintain quarterly reports. Investors need to be up to date with where their money stands and corporations must be responsible to them. In this age where ethics are quickly disappearing, this is the only way to hold them to honesty and responsibility. Please demand quarterly reports.

Cynthia A Haight
7311 Hollyhock Lane
Solon, Ohio. 44139

Cynthia Hookstra — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Cynthia Hookstra Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep the quarterly accountability reporting! Especially If the public is investing in the company or publically traded, it’s absolutely necessary.

Sent via iPhone
You choose the action, you choose the consequences. Choose wisely!

Cynthia Koch — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Cynthia Koch Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Pls don't let me fly blind here! I'm an investor and need info the same as any other person or corporation investing.

I can't believe you would try and hide info from the small investor but give the info to the big investor. Why? How does that seem fair or just. If we have equal pay for equal work - we should get equal information for any investment.

cynthia

Cynthia Mansfield — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Cynthia Mansfield Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 You say this president is transparent, but you are REMOVING transparency! KEEP QUARTERLY PAYMENTS!!!!

Cindy

Cynthia marietta — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Cynthia marietta Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 There is no good reason to change it to semi-annually. Under current conditions in this country it is best to move forward with transparency for the faith of the people.

Cynthia Martin — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Cynthia Martin Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:

The proposed shift from quarterly to semiannual reporting harms investors by creating a six-month information vacuum that severely undercuts market transparency. When companies disclose their financial health only twice a year, everyday investors are left guessing about sudden shifts in revenue, escalating debt, or operational failures until it is too late to react. This extended blindness drives up stock market volatility, as infrequent updates spark massive, unpredictable price swings that benefit the companies not the public rather than steady, predictable adjustments. Ultimately, this policy tilts the playing field heavily against retail investors, leaving them in the dark while corporate insiders and institutional Wall Street firms leverage alternative data channels to stay ahead. Its another manipulative power grab.

Cynthia McGeoch — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Cynthia McGeoch Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I am against changing financial reporting from quarterly to semiannual. As a retired investor, I absolutely need to know the information that quarterly financial reporting tells me. To change it to semiannual would not give me the information I need when I talk to my financial planner about my investments every quarter. My financial planner would be in the dark as well! Yet again the Trump plan is hurting those of us who depend upon our investments for our retirement income. If we do not have the information how can we make an informed decision? Do not do this!
Cynthia McGeoch South Burlington VT

Sent from my iPhone

Cynthia Moehlman — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Cynthia Moehlman Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Cynthia Moehlman, retired Director of Profitability Systems

Full disclosure by all public companies is foundational to our financial system. Being able to "hide" results could erode all confidence resulting in a collapse of our financial systems. As an accountant I know how companies can record negative transactions that may affect stock prices, and this change could make that substantially worse. And also enable more insider trading during that 6 month period.

Please reconsider this very questionable proposal.

Cynthia

Cynthia Orszula — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Cynthia Orszula Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Honesty, and trust are in the checks and balances! Quarterly reporting is necessary!

- Mrs. Cynthia Orszula

Cynthia Reardon Phillips — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Cynthia Reardon Phillips Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 KEEP IT QUARTERLY!! Why?: Reduced Transparency & Information Flow; Legal & Investor Pushback from lack of transparency; this regime once again is trying to bamboozle small investors for the benefit of the disgustingly wealthy and greedy 1%.
C A Reardon, 70 y/o retired Army Veteran dependent upon personal investment dividends

Sent from my iPhone

Cynthia Risby — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Cynthia Risby Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 The system as it stands is NOT broken, so it does NOT need to be fixed. Changing the system for companies to only submit reports twice a year will cause many public investors angst because less information leads to less knowledge and more risk. Too much risk can lead the public to withdraw. Public investors should not be shut out of the market without any opportunity for better. Some of us public investors are not market savvy and don't have the means to get (pay someone) assistance. However, I wanted better than what working and saving (very little return) could provide so I overcame my fears and invested.

With little knowledge, I was able to invest in the market and watch my savings grow because I was relying on the quarterly data. I panicked when the market dipped but those quarterly reports with the historical data kept me in the market. Over time, I grew more confidant and even increased my investments because my returns were keeping pace with the historical data in the quarterly reports.

Those quarterly reports helped me keep an eye on my investments to reach my goal and retire in a much better position. Without those investments, I may not be retired.

Cynthia Risby - Ohio

Cynthia Shintaku — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Cynthia Shintaku Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Don't let this administration get rid of any more checks and balances. Our forefathers were visionaries for these exact people. Raping our country.

Cynthia Terwilliger — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Cynthia Terwilliger Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 quarterly reporting as an essential part of the American enterprise, I am against efforts to eliminate it. I am Cynthia Terwilliger a retired stock broker from DeKalb, Illinois

Cynthia

D Baverstock — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: D Baverstock Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Transparency is important to safeguard our financial system. Nobody should be “above” or outside the consideration of the law. DM Baverstock, full time caretaker and part-time creative business owner living in Wisconsin.

D E — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: D E Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Do it. It's optional so it gives companies that would benefit from reduced reporting costs the option to opt in if it will help them.

Reducing financial reporting costs is not a bad thing.

A great deal of fear mongering is taking place around this. People trained to hate corporations are against it. But, potential financial savings for corporations is a good idea.

If it turns out to not be helpful for a company that opts in, please allow them to opt out for the next and following years.

D H — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: D H Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Another stupid idea from SEC . This cannot be approved by Congress.

D P — Jun 17, 2026

Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: D P Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Full transparency please! Don’t be lazy! We are not interested in going backwards!
Thank you!

D Shack — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: D Shack Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 If you put your signature on a document, you should be held to the law, that all statements are true.

D Smith — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: D Smith Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Our society is falling apart under the weight of Corporate Concentration and Corruption...spilling into every foundational institution--GOVERNMENT, Media, Medicine, Trade, Education, even Religions are tainted by the loss of Golden Rule Ethics. Small choices and BIG decisions will restore, Heal America. Make America Moral Again. #MAMA Clean-up Corporate Abuse, Criminality, Core Corruption! DeNeice Kenehan, J.D.

---

da2008 — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: da2008 Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Please leave things as they are. This change appears to only benefit the corporations not the small investors. I cannot see how this eould benefit the average person. Thank you, Don Mank Retired former utility manager. Florida

Sent from my Verizon, Samsung Galaxy smartphone

Dale Anderson — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Dale Anderson Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Dale Anderson retired expert on the sec . We need more reporting not less . This corrupt administration is trying to keep their corruption hidden . Don’t let them .

Dale Foss — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Dale Foss Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep CEO's accountable for financial reporting quarterly. Give them an inch and they’ll take a mile.

Dale Milam — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Dale Milam Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep the reporting QUARTERLY, America has already lost so much these past couple of years don't go back to the past. I VOTE KEEP IT LIKE IT CURRENTLY IS QUARTERLY

Sent from my iPhone

Dale Roszman — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Dale Roszman Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 This is not a very well thought out plan. Since the goal of quarterly reporting is to keep the honest people honest and catch the thieves before they can steal everything, why would anyone suggest giving them more time to cover their tracks. Quarterly reporting has worked well for the past 50 years, why change it?

Thank you
Dale Roszman

Dan Alexander — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Dan Alexander Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 The collapse of Enron due to lies reported to the public investors, caused passage of the Sarbanes-Oxley law to protect small investors like me. Regular quarterly certified financial reporting should be kept quarterly. I cannot find any justification for weakening protections of my investments.

DAn Alexander
alex18ander@gmail.com
724-554-8065

The chains of habit are too weak to be felt until they are too strong to be broken. - Samuel Johnson

⚒ Sent from my iPhone
Made with mined materials
#MiningMakesItPossible

Dan Bennett — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Dan Bennett Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep the standaards as is. Remember Enron? It's failures brought us here. Reducing standards, returns us to the old vulnerabilities.

Dan Kelsch — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Dan Kelsch Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Quarterly reporting is critical for transparency. Cutting the requirement in half is a huge step in the wrong direction.

Sent from my mobile device

Dan Leary — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Dan Leary Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 This is wrong. This change hurts our security

Sent from my iPad

---

dan miller — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: dan miller Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Common people, with their retirements on the line, have a right to know how the companies that they are putting their hard earned money into are doing. Thank you. Dan Miller

---

Dan Seiler — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Dan Seiler Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Daniel Seiler, Lodge manager. Investor for 20 years. Remember when Enron unraveled within a few months? Valeant pharmaceuticals? Often times emerging markets outperform US markets on the year, but they'll never match the inflows of our markets. Investor confidence is crucial and regular quarterly reporting is part of that. Thank you.

Dan Swank — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Dan Swank Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I am Dan Swank. I live in Troy, Ohio . I vote . I have over a million dollars invested in the stock market. It's difficult enough to make decisions about stocks. Don't change what's working . Quarterly reporting is a norm that is not to be broken. We need more transparency, not less transparency. Changing it to the 6 months reporting rule allows for more corruption and less oversight. It allows for more insider trading.

Many Thanks,
Daniel L. Swank
WhatsApp and USA cell: +1 937 875 0075
dan544@gmail.com

Dan Underhill — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Dan Underhill Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Dear SEC: Quarterly reporting is essential to your ability to regulate bad actors. If you don't intend to regulate bad actors, please resign but don't end quarterly reporting.

Dana Love — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Dana Love Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 This is garbage and opens the door for more corruption. Its hard enough to watch your money and make good choices. Reject this garbage.

Dana Nichols — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Dana Nichols Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Stick with the current reporting. This less reporting has already been tried and didn't work so well.

Sent from my iPhone

Dana Phelps — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Dana Phelps Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I am concerned about the proposed change to semi-annual reporting. I rely on quarterly information to make my choices. I believe that longer gaps create an unfair advantage for corporate insiders and we al know that "optional" doesn't fix the problem because the companies that opt in are often the ones whose investors most need frequent updates. So ultimately, the savings to companies aren't worth the cost to me. Dana Phelps Memory Care Unit Activities
Staff

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Dana Starr — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Dana Starr Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 More ways for the rich to hide assets. If anything reporting needs to be done monthly. Dana Starr, CCRN Tired of being screwed when they didnt even buy dinner

---

Dana Steiner — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Dana Steiner Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Please keep the 1/4'ly rule in order to keep better transparency for the public. Don't roll back to a time when less transparency yielded lower returns. You especially hurt the generation that will be coming up on retirement in the next 7-10 years at a time when we can't even fully count on Medicare.

Dana Steiner - Physician Assistant

Sent from my iPhone

Danelle Anderson-Burnett — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Danelle Anderson-Burnett Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
This is not good for the stock market. Or any investor. Leave things as is.

Daniel Bertsch — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Daniel Bertsch Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Save my portfolio! Quarterly reporting forever!

Daniel Ferrarese Repurposed Urban Artistry — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Daniel Ferrarese Repurposed Urban Artistry Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep it the same w zero change

Dan Ferrarese
Owner/Artist
Repurposed Urban Artistry

530-966-6107
instagram.com/repurposedurbanartistry

Daniel Foreman — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Daniel Foreman Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Strickly UNFAIR TO RETAIL BUYERS.
KEEP IT QUARTERLY !

Sent from My Galexy S23 Ultra

Daniel Laguros Power Trader — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Daniel Laguros Having worked on quarterly reporting in past roles, I understand the amount of time, energy and focus it takes. Especially at the executive level, any additional time you can give back to people by reducing reporting burdens will lead to increased productivity. An option to switch to semi-annual reports will be beneficial to public companies in the USA. As an investor, I think there is very little lost in terms of transparency by switching from quarterly to semi-annually and the increase in efficiency will outweigh any perceived loss of transparency. Please pass this proposal and allow for semi-annual reporting.

Daniel Lorden — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Daniel Lorden Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 What's the advantage to this proposal

---

Daniel Ring — Jun 17, 2026

Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Daniel Ring Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
I use quarterly disclosures to make informed decisions about my investments.

Danielle Gaito — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Danielle Gaito Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:

The industry is already falling apart at the seams, but it doesn't have to. Please don't do this.

Danielle Sabarese — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Danielle Sabarese Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 quarterly reporting is FINE.

six months reporting is NOT FINE.

oversight by the public & knowledgeable outsiders is NECESSARY.

i’m retired, but a consumer of things sold by companies who need to be more transparent not less.

Danny Kovacs — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Danny Kovacs Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keeping Quarterly reporting is critical to the market to curb what is already too much insider trading and not enough transparency for traders. Going to biannual reporting would be a huge mistake.

Danny Kovacs

87 Calle San Blas NE
Albuquerque, NM 87109
kovacsdanny415@gmail.com

Danny O’Bryant — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Danny O’Bryant Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 My name is Danny O’Bryant. I live in Indiana and I am retired. I am asking the SEC to keep the reporting quarterly. I lost 100,000 dollars during the 2008 the financial collapse. I along with thousands of others couldn’t withstand the kind of financial hit that we would take. I don’t believe our savings would bounce back with semiannual reporting. Keep the reporting QUARTERLY.

Sent from my iPhone

Danny Peterson — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Danny Peterson Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 We need quarterly reporting! With the volatility in today's market, the disregard from the government and the downright lying and corruption , we have little hope that we will be treated fairly.

Dara K. — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Dara K. Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 My opinion is that there should be no rule change and the current period should be kept as is. The average investor has a right to some transparency. To change this would unfairly disadvantage regular people who depend on investing to have a retirement. Dara Krute, average investor

Signed

DARCY ROMBOUGH — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: DARCY ROMBOUGH Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 D Forsythe Bookkeeper
NYS

The change to bi annually reporting will cause many people who have attempted to save for the future to lose some or all of what they have invested. At a time when most Americans are greatly struggling to get by daily, that amount of loss would be severely detrimental to so many. Where will people get financial assistance? We will see homes being abandoned, more people becoming homeless. lack the ability to pay for shelter, food, clothing, and even health insurance. Why do we want to change a system that currently aides people in being able to invest and save to have the financial means to afford living in today's society? Stop the non sense and let the system work as it does presently. Going back to an age from a few decades ago is not feasible. We are in 2026. NOT 1970's to 1990's. Much has changed and investing is one thing that has overall improved greatly. Please do not attempt to re invent the wheel. Leave the reporting as it is. It matters greatly. Thank you for your time.

Diane Forsythe

Sent from my iPhone

Darla Fuller — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Darla Fuller Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 More corruption! America has officially become a communist nation. Where there is no rules for the rich and everything is hidden to the average working class peons.

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Darlene Reese — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Darlene Reese Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 It appears that fraud is the endgame here- again. Stop with the blatant corruption favoring the wealthy. We see it.

Sent from my iPhone

---

darnell osburn — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: darnell osburn Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 keep it quartely

---

Darrel Veldhouse — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Darrel Veldhouse Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Accountability to investors is critical to a properly functioning economy. Changing to an obsolete and antiquated semi-annual reporting approach would allow other countries to leap ahead of the US and leave us poorer and less competitive in the world. We'd become just like Haiti!

Darrell Williams — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Darrell Williams Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 There is NO logical reason to change the quarterly reporting. It was set at that frequency to provide current information. Extending that requirement is counter productive and potentially harmful.
Leave the reporting at quarterly intervals.
If it isnt broken dont fix it.

---

darrin wobser — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: darrin wobser Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Wobser, Industrial Maintenance Technician. There's already enough corporate fees corruption going on with quarterly reports. If ANY changes are made, it should be MORE frequent reporting,
NOT less.

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Darryl Bennett — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Darryl Bennett Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep corporate reporting quarterly. Investors have been lied to enough.

Dave Adams — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Dave Adams Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 We definitely need to keep and maintain quarterly statements for accountability and visibility. We must hold the SEC accountable for what they want to allow over the best interests of the public. Quarterly NOT semi annually.

Dave Bardell — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Dave Bardell Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Please keep things like they are. Corporations need some control.

Dave Bardell
162 Persimmon Dr
17062

Dave Bardell — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Dave Bardell Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Please keep things like they are. Corporations need some control.

Dave Dalton — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Dave Dalton Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 My name is David Dalton, a retired computer hardware professional. I rely on investments with quarterly reporting to ensure solvency in my retirement years. Semi Annual reporting will allow executive enrichment as they exit poorly performing companies. This change will cause harm and further reliance on Social Security payments.

-Dave

Dave Field — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Dave Field Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep quarterly reports! Don't hide information! 🤬

Sent from my iPhone

Dave Fraser — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Dave Fraser Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 David Fraser-Retired Realtor Tucson, AZ Keep Quarterly reporting. It works just fine the way it is. Semi-Annual reporting would open the door for corruption and games. It's already there but no where near what it could be. I'm sure the "big guys" would love it. But us little guys will get hurt! Don't do it!

Dave Fraser
Direct 520.360.9526

dfraser3651@gmail.com

Dave Gay — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Dave Gay Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I believe quarterly reporting should continue. It's in the best interest of all investors.

Sent from my iPhone

Dave Malina — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Dave Malina Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Why should it be easier to avoid scrutiny of financial operations when investors money os at risk? No case with that rationale has been made other than regulatory convenience.

David Malina
Lakewood Ohio
901 270 9901

---

dave mangus — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: dave mangus Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Quarterly reporting is one of the few ways to keep ceo's and corporations in line/ honest. It should not be changed.

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Dave McAtee — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Dave McAtee Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Hey folks, holding the right people to account for fraud IS the American way. If they held a public trust, they should be doubly cursed by society.

Sent from my iPad

Dave Rackliffe — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Dave Rackliffe Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Quarterly reporting keeps valuations current and more accurately reflects performance, a crucial factor in investment strategies. Keep the reporting frequency quarterly.

Dave Schmitt — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Dave Schmitt Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep Quarterly reporting - thank you

Sent from my iPhone

Dave Tocco — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Dave Tocco Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 What's your opinion on quarterly reporting

---

David Aikens — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: David Aikens Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Its just fine! How moronic is the suggestion that less financial reporting is better. Lame brain idea allowing way too many secrets/non-reporting/etc. No broke, dont fix it, folks!

David Anderson — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: David Anderson Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 This is ridiculous! These companies have this information on-hand in their systems. Reporting it is simply producing a report on the existing data. They have a FIDUCIARY RESPONSIBILITY to inform investors of the state/performance of their investment. DO NOT APPROVE THIS CHANGE!!!

Sent from my iPad

David Beane — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: David Beane Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 My name is David Beane and I'm a 70 year old CTE Teacher in Maine.

I hope to retire next year and I want to know my/our retirement funds are safe and not being mismanaged or used for hi-risk investment projects that don't guarantee our money. Risk your own personal money on high risk investments, not my retirement funds or the funds of younger workers trying to save money for their later years. And please don't waste any time asking us to trust you, we don't & won't! I hope to live another decade or two after I retire and I need to know my money is in safe hands. Thank-you, and I appreciate you taking the time read my comment.

Sincerely,
David Beane

David Chisham — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: David Chisham Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Do not mess this up!

Sent from my iPad

David Cruikshank — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: David Cruikshank Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 David J. Cruikshank
Retired Photographer/ Content Creator

My wife and I rely on our investments to build up our retirement savings while she is still working. I do follow the markets and use the insights from quarterly reports to balance our portfolio. I want the reporting to Stay Quarterly as it is now. In our fast changing world where our representatives get to build their wealth using insider trading, I do not want to be kept further in the dark by doubling the SEC Reporting Time. I vote NO to Changing to 6 Months.

Sincerely,

David & Laurie Cruikshank

Sent from my iPhone

---

david dombrowski — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: david dombrowski Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Hi my name is David Dombrowski in palmetto Florida . I am a postal worker and I ask you to not change the quarterly reporting to 6 months . That's a complete crock of **** .

Sent from my iPhone

David Drake — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: David Drake Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Document your work! Quarterly is a gift. You should do it weekly!

This message was sent from my iPhone.

David Drake — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: David Drake Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Document your work! Quarterly is a gift. You should do it weekly!
David Drake

This message was sent from my iPhone.

David Evans — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: David Evans Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Transparency and merit are key components of capitalism. Removing data is counter productive.

David Flores — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: David Flores Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 We need transparency and quarterly reporting is a part of that.

David Flores
Voice Over Artist

Website and Demo: www.davidfloresvoice.com
Phone: 1-303-994-0387

David Girtz — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: David Girtz Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 How stupid do you think we are???? Jeezus!! Report report report like you always did!!!

Dave Girtz
dwgirtz@mac.com

---

david graff — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: david graff Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 The grift of the wealthy is already in full effect, why would we give the keys to the asylum to the lunatics?

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

David Green — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: David Green Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 No taking a step back. Please leave reporting as it currently is.

Sent from my iPhone

---

david grubbs — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: david grubbs Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Did you not learn anything from Enron or is corruption OK now that a lying, corrupt, child raping felon is running the show with a spineless GOPedophile congress?

David Jensen — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: David Jensen Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 David Jensen. Retired. Wouldn't matter if I was retired or not, invested or not. A lot can happen in 3 months, much less 6. This is just a scheme to cook the books.

---

david johnson — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: david johnson Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 No more FRAUD

David Julian — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: David Julian Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I want quarterly reporting kept as the rule. I'm a self employed independent artist and the bulk of my savings is invested. I want corporations to be kept accountable and not be able to hide when things are in trouble.
David Julian

David Keeler — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: David Keeler Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I oppose any change to the current SEC quarterly reporting requirements.

David L. Keeler
15300 Magnolia St., SPC 70
Westminster, Calif. 92683

David Krier — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: David Krier Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep the current rule in place. The constant vigilance that the process requires for the CEO to feel comfortable in signing each quarter is a strong deterrent to foul play and genuine errors. Don’t weaken it.

Thanks,
Dave Krier

David Labrie — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: David Labrie Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Going back to a system where corporations can hide what they're doing is wrong. The system was changed in 1970 to bring transparency to the market and has helped those who've retired make more in retirement as a result. Leave the system alone. David Labrie U.S. Army ret., USPS ret. Manchester NH.

Sent from my iPhone

David Link — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: David Link Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 As a long time investor in a variety of companies building retirement, the reports are essentially the news of progress. Fraud can build something to and Enron level easily over 6 months. There is no reason to change this and it really should be monthly.

Thank you, David Link
920 R E Reeves Rd, Franklin, KY 42134

David Newton — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: David Newton Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Dear SEC Commissioners,

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposal to reduce reporting requirements from quarterly to semi-annually.

I am concerned that decreasing the frequency of reports could facilitate less transparent reporting practices and potentially mask deviations from established protective standards. As a stakeholder, I believe frequent reporting is essential for maintaining market integrity and protecting investors.

I respectfully ask the SEC to disapprove this action for the benefit of all stakeholders.

Sincerely,

David Newton, Retired Cumberland, RI

David Niemierowski — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: David Niemierowski Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 David Niemierowski, Teacher. This ruling will directly effect my 403b and pension as a public school teacher. We don't need to make it easier for rich people to hide info and get richer. This is bull * and you know it . Transparency for !

David O'Brien — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: David O'Brien Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Quarterly reporting MUST be maintained in order to maintain accountability of corporate executives, and prevent collapses of corporations due to internal fraud, which ultimately protects investors.

Sent from my iPhone

David Osinga — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: David Osinga Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 governing Boxy of the SEC and all SEC Representatives, Relaxing reporting standards in this epoch of rampant wealth transfer from the Working Middle Class, further illustrates the unmitigated economic corruption that the US has descended to.

Preserve Quarterly Reporting!

David Osinga
415-717-1499
WereOutThere@msn.com

David Patterson — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: David Patterson Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I'm a small investor. Please keep the quarterly reports.

---

david rose — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: david rose Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 This will enable failing companies to screw their investors. Keep quarterly earnings reports

---

David Satterlund — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: David Satterlund Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I am retired and rely on my savings to live on. I am not in favor of going back to a semiannual system with less transparency and higher risk for my savings that I worked so hard for. David Satterlund
Andover, MN

Sent from my iPhone

David Spencer — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: David Spencer Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Transparency is integral to accountability.
David Spencer

Retired

David Steele — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: David Steele Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 If we give them an inch, they'll take a mile.

Sent from my iPhone

David Steele — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: David Steele Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
It is not right that companies can do whatever they want in lobby Congress and take the freedoms away from Americans. We have a feeling what's going on but we don't know for sure and we want full disclosure from these companies We want to know what's going on. What their intentions are and another thing is they need to stop paying Congress to do their biddings The lobbying needs to stop yesterday.

Peace profound

David Stickney — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: David Stickney Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Nope. Public means just that. No hiding your Financials

---

David Sullum — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: David Sullum The individual investor relies on quarterly reports from companies to stay informed of what the company is doing in research or production; what its investments are; and management's views of its progress and the competition it faces.

David Tice — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: David Tice Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep It Quarterly!

---

david wichman — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: david wichman Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep the reporting as is..public disclosure is vital and should be as current as possible ..

Sent from my iPad

DAVID WIGZELL FORMER ENRON EMPLOYEE — Jun 17, 2026

Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: DAVID WIGZELL REDUCING THE CORPORATE EXECUTIVE FINANCIAL REPORTING TO TWICE A YEAR IS OK AS LONG AS THE PENALTIES FOR FRAUD ARE DOUBLED. THE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT SPENT ALMOST $100 MILLION DOLLARS ON PROSECUTING THE ENRON EXECUTIVES. IF THE SEC RELAXES THE REPORTING REQUIREMENTS, HOW MANY MORE KEN LAYS, JEFF SKILLINGS AND ANDREW FASTOW IS THE SEC WILLING TO GO AFTER?

David Womack — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: David Womack Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 What are we doing.. reporting should be getting tighter... not more friendly. Also, END STOCK BUYBACKS.

David Womack 30062

David Wood — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: David Wood Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Why, what are these companies wanting to hide from their shareholders and investors?

Dawn Broadbent — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Dawn Broadbent Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Remember that the decisions made now affect the future generations.

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Dawn Farner — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Dawn Farner Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I'm just putting my name to support the people who this is gonna affect. I personally this won't affect but right is right and wrong is wrong. Trump and his goons are robbing America and I can't just sit on the sidelines and watch our demise. It's really sad the amount of destruction one person can do. Smh To the Securities and Exchange Commission:

Dawn Hendrickson — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Dawn Hendrickson Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep it Quarterly

---

Dawn Leatherman Kulis — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Dawn Leatherman Kulis Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Don’t naked changes to quarterly reporting this is important for businesses to keep investors informed.
A change to this will create negative consequences in how businesses operate and the safety of the money I invest

Dawn Leatherman-Kulis LCPC, CCTP -II
she/her
HRC I Why We Ask Each Other Our Pronouns

Phone: 224-442-3144

Please Note: Do not leave urgent messages through email. If you are experiencing an emergency, call 911 or go to your nearest emergency room.

NOTICE: The information contained in this email is confidential information intended only for the use of the individual(s) named above. This message (including attachments) is covered by the Electronic Communications Privacy Act, 18 U.S.C. 2510-2521, is intended to be *confidential, and may be privileged. If the reader of this message is NOT the intended recipient, you are hereby notified that any dissemination, distribution or retention of these materials is illegal. Please do not read, copy, or let anyone else see these materials if sent to you in error. Please reply to the sender if you have received this message in error, then delete it. Thank you for helping maintain privacy.

CLIENTS: The privacy of your medical information is important. Because conventional email is inherently insecure, the confidentiality of sensitive materials cannot be assured. Therefore, please do not discuss sensitive matters through email. Face-to-face or telephone communication should be used instead of e-mail to discuss sensitive matters.

Dawn Neri — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Dawn Neri Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 America needs accountability. After Enron and WorldCom, Sarbanes-Oxley makes every CEO and CFO personally certify every quarterly and annual report. “No boardroom in America is above or beyond the law.”

Dawn

I always pass on good advice. It is the only thing to do with it. It is never of any use to oneself. Oscar Wilde

---

Dawn Oberst — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Dawn Oberst Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Don't allow the quartet reporting to be change to less frequently. This just enables the CEOs to hide their slush funds and earnings. It's time for all to contribute their FAIR share. No more tax write offs for ever!
Make America the Best country in the world for our citizens z. Health care for all!, better care of our Veterans, livable wages!

Sent from my iPhone

Dawn Paynter The Motley Fool Community — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Dawn Paynter I am writing to express my strong disapproval of the proposal to reduce the frequency of corporate reporting from quarterly to twice yearly. While framed as a measure to reduce administrative burdens and combat corporate "short-termism," the actual effect of this rule change will be a severe regression in market transparency that disproportionately harms individual investors. I urge the Commission to reject this proposal based on the following critical considerations. Quarterly reporting is a vital safeguard for the retail investing public. Transitioning to a semiannual model effectively doubles the information gap between corporate insiders and ordinary shareholders. It is precisely within this extended six-month silence that volatility, market uncertainty, and investor mistrust will fester. For retail investors to compete on a level playing field, they require timely, predictable access to financial data. The diagnosis of "short-termism" in corporate decision-making does not justify this specific remedy. Empirical research from the CFA Institute, which extensively studied the exact transition to semiannual reporting in the United Kingdom market, demonstrates that reporting frequency has no measurable effect on long-term corporate investment behavior or capital expenditure. By adopting this proposal, the SEC is accepting a certain, tangible cost—diluted transparency for individual investors—in exchange for a theoretical benefit that academic and market evidence shows will not materialize. The companies most likely to opt out of quarterly reporting are the exact entities where rigorous oversight matters most. Smaller, micro-cap, or less-covered businesses already operate with minimal analyst coverage and lower public scrutiny. Reducing their reporting requirements makes them harder for the public to monitor, not easier to own. Instead of encouraging growth, this rule will obscure operational realities and increase the risk premium for small-cap investing. This proposal takes the markets in the wrong direction. The implementation of Regulation Fair Disclosure (Reg FD) was a historic step toward creating a fair, level playing field for all market participants. This proposal directly undermines that philosophy, tilting the information balance back toward institutional insiders who possess alternative channels for gathering corporate intelligence. Ultimately, we must ask: what, exactly, is the problem this proposal attempts to solve? As a comment letter from the WallStreetBets community aptly summarized: "The companies we trade are not being held back from greatness by the obligation to file four reports a year. ... The entire S&P 500 files a 10-Q every quarter, and the S&P 500 is at an all-time high. If quarterly reporting is crushing American capitalism, American capitalism is hiding it well." The current framework works. It has fostered the most liquid, trusted, and robust capital markets in the world. The SEC should protect the foundational pillar of corporate transparency, not dismantle it. I strongly urge the Commission to withdraw this proposal and maintain the quarterly 10-Q reporting requirement.

Dawn Weigand — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Dawn Weigand Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Quarterly reporting is essential in maintaining communication between investors and the company. The use of computers has simplified this process and it would be easier to require monthly reports. You would think a good business would want to be transparent!

Sent from my iPhone

Dawna Edwards-Rodgers — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Dawna Edwards-Rodgers Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Dawna Rodgers Seniors dependent on their social security and retirement benefits would differ.

---

dawna poirier — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: dawna poirier Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 NO!! It is regression and not a good idea!

Sent from my iPhone

Dawne Mcanallen — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Dawne Mcanallen Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Don't do it. You will only hurt the people who trust you. Be honest & fair. Don't be like Trump.
My feeling is the only reason for this change is because you either 1. Want to keep more of our money or 2. You do not care about the people.

Sent from my iPhone

Dayla Gentry — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Dayla Gentry Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 KEEP QUARTERLY REPORTING

---

dch100599 — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: dch100599 Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Diane Hauldren, retired, Chicago. Quarterly reporting gives the investor more timely information to react to their investment.

Sent from my Galaxy

Deadra Morrison — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Deadra Morrison Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 The only reason to hide anything is because you hope to get away with something that ordinarily would be illegal. No, forget about it. And absolutely not.

Deana L Schott — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Deana L Schott Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 It is NOT in the best interest of the investment community, to go backwards on reporting to the era of decreased values. Keep Quarterly reporting!!

Wishing you all the best,

Deana Schott

~Every day is a gift ….
that’s why its called the present.

Deanna Cox — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Deanna Cox Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Deanna Vicich, Official Court Reporter. Deep south. America keeps sliding backwards, accountability is crucial. We invest hard-earned money. We have no insiders telling us how to sell. AI is going to allow more fraud within the system that companies will eventually use investor money to appease the criminal element, which a large part is fraud within the system. The top is in the lap of luxury. Common investors are manipulated. We are bottom feeders. Investment companies need to be accountable. On top of all of that, the stock market is being used to advertize stock options, which has increased the volatility of trading. Federal government insiding makes me sick. Lining of pockets. The marketing of Space X has been an influential frenzy. The market should be like no marketing a product, like pharmaceuticals used to be and no alcohol marketing. There is no level footing. It is getting out of control, and the wealthy oligarcs are running the circus. They tell us who to vote for, markets to invest into. Now, the marketers sell their inside information, on top of knowing when to sell. And sadly, it's too late. The SEC has participated in all of this. It really needs to be stopped. Don't know who to trust. And the stock market insiders are taking our money. It is far too calculated for common, honest people as it is. There should be more accountability. Report once a month is best! And I can't even trust this site that is sharing info with SEC. You want a longer submission. Why? They will not read this. What is purpose? They have already implemented tge change, which is the norm. Sadly.

Deanna Vicich Cox, CCR

"I wait for the LORD, my soul waits, and in His word I put my hope." Psalm 130:5

This message is confidential , intended only named recipients and may contain privileged material, or exempt from disclosure under applicable law. If not the intended recipients of the email, you are hereby notified that dissemination, distribution or copying of this email or its contents strictly prohibited. If you received this email in error, please notify the sender at either the email address or the phone number above and delete this email from your computer.

Deanna Fraizer — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Deanna Fraizer Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I wish to know what my investments are doing. When things are done in the dark it never benefits the people that are investing.

Deanna Fraizer

Deb — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Deb Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 This is criminal for people's retirement accounts, and you know it. You cannot do this to the American people. We already can barely make ends me and now you're going to make it so that we lose the majority of our Retirement account. This is just wrong in so many ways and so unnecessary and it must stop now

Sent from my iPhone

Deb — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Deb Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I had to report daily for work, are you kidding!?! Of course companies must report quarterly at a minimum! We consumers and investors must know how the business is going to enable sense in our decisions.
Deb Seger, retired, concerned because I'm a USA citizen and retired.

Sent from my iPhone

Deb Kagy — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Deb Kagy Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Why?? Please avoid this disaster and do what is best for the American people!! We work hard for our money and want to keep it and watch it grow - this is a horrible idea, as has been shown in the past.

Deb Scott — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Deb Scott Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 If these companies are solvent and doing business above board the Why Not submit these forms? Are you against people having jobs and getting paid? Sarbanes-Oxley became law on July 30, 2002. Six days later, HealthSouth's CFO tried to quit rather than certify numbers he knew were fake: "he just couldn't sign the certifications." Months later he went to federal prosecutors and became the first of fifteen executives to plead guilty in a $2.7 billion fraud. A certification costs an honest executive nothing to sign, it just exposes the fraudsters. Why roll them back?

The only reason to roll this back is to make a loop hole for theft.

We all know you have been hopelessly corrupted
But maybe someone there has one scrap of decency left. Just one.

Deb Scott

Deb Woods — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Deb Woods Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Already committing fraud, now just more time to hide it.

---

deb.phillips68 — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: deb.phillips68 Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep the quarterly filing and the CFO’s signature under threat of prison. We can’t have another Enron.

Sent from my iPhone

Debbie — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Debbie Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Please leave the reporting on the current quarterly reporting. Deborah McCulley, retired teacher, north central MO, expects speedy reporting on how her invested money is doing. In this current recessive economy, information is vital.

Sent from my iPad

DEbbie 27517 — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: DEbbie 27517 Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 This is theft for the investors full stop another fraud being perpetrated against investore

Debbie Cox

Debbie Buell — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Debbie Buell Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I'm retired keep releasing quarterly reports. It's important to see how our investments are doing and some organizations deeply depend on the reports.6 months is way to long to go without knowing.

Debbie Davis — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Debbie Davis Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 This matters to me because I have worked all my life to earn a living and invest properly while still earning and supporting myself. I invested a little at a time for my retirement and learned which investments would be better for me based on information provided and to not have access to this information but only twice a year is ridiculous. We the hard working non elite class desire to know as much detail as possible to help with our own lives… don't start allowing big companies to keep us in the dark continue making them report their earnings quarterly as it is now.

Debbie Davis
New Jersey
dadcolesnj@gmail.com
Sent from my iPhone

Debbie Day — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Debbie Day Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 No, just a big no. This is just a way to hide what is going on with the economy which everybody is invested in now including myself. Please listen to us and don't make this change.

Sent from my iPad

Debbie H — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Debbie H Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Gentlemen, I need to keep seeing my quarterly report so I know how Man to my finances without that information. I would be especially at this time when things are so expensive we have to be able to move finances quarterly. We need to have the information in order to make the best moves possible for our situations

Sent from my iPhone

Debbie Manifold — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Debbie Manifold Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Sarbanes-Oxley is a law that requires public companies to follow strict rules for financial reporting to protect investors, like me, that depend on this income for retirement. I believe that companies should continue to report their financial results every three months (quarterly) to keep us informed about their performance. Regular updates provides the security to my income by staying informed about how well a company is doing. By adhering to Sarbanes-Oxley, companies are held accountable, which can lead to greater trust from investors like me that depend on this protection for their income for retirement. Debra Manifold. Newark, Ohio. Retiree with limited income trusting in others to keep it safe.

Sent from my iPhone

Debbie Perkins — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Debbie Perkins Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 This is so necessary! There is so much graft and corruption

Sent from my iPhone

Debbie pinardo — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Debbie pinardo Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Please keep quarterly not semi- annually for all public businesses. This is extremely important to me and my family.

Debra Pinardo, Retired, North Carolina.

Sent from my iPhone

Debbie Thomas — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Debbie Thomas Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 This is ridiculous! Publicly traded companies should make their books/reports an available quarterly…just like always! This idea ONLY benefits the corporation and fat cat investors.

Please do not pass this proposal.

D.Thomas -Virginia

Sent from my iPhone

Debbie Waite — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Debbie Waite Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 We investors deserve to know how the companies we invest in are doing. Keep the quarterly reporting rule.
Thanks
Debbie waite

Debbie Wallace — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Debbie Wallace Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep it Quarterly!!!

Debby Baker — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Debby Baker Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Quarterly reporting helps keep companies, CEO's from cheating. History shows quarterly is necessary. Don't change it! Protect my monies!!

Dr Debby Baker, retired, CO

Sent from my iPhone

Debby Riancho — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Debby Riancho Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I think quarterly reporting keeps things balanced and keeps everyone honest. There is so much bureaucracy in our country to keep the average citizen in line, I fail to see the reason the SEC feels they need to reduce theirs from quarterly to biannually. More bureaucratic paperwork is required with more hoops to jump through just to get a driver's license that allows one to travel out of the country. More accountability is being demanded of citizens daily , yet Corporations and large agencies think they're entitled to less accountability. Why is that? Is the SEC above such things? When I see an agency lessen control and accountability it screams nefarious deeds are on the horizon. The American people deserve accountability. Why is the SEC above the usual rules and laws of the land? I think quarterly reports should be mandatory. No special dispensations!
Debby Riancho
Retired Specisl Needs Teacher
Cincinnati, Oh

Sent from my iPhone

Debi Fiebach — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Debi Fiebach Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 What valid reason is this a good and necessary? We went through and lost everything in the past. We only ask for honesty and a fair deal,nothing more. Dont have give up their lifestyle their precious things. Just make an effort to be honest and take your knee off our necks.

Debi Newquist — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: SEC Proposal S7-2026-15 From: Debi Newquist Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Deborah Newquist, retired

Quarterly reporting makes it harder for companies to hide fraud, increasing debt, or lawsuits. The public, especially investors, deserves transparency when they invest in a company. Giving investors quarterly reports is the least companies should do.

Debi Plum — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Debi Plum Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 We are both retired and my husband has severe, chronic, and degenerative health conditions. We live on our pensions, social security and savings. People like me would be devastated by our savings/investments losing money. You should be making laws for the regular people not big corporations. I don't understand why we would go backwards! There's even evidence that showed it didn't work for investors back in the 50’s and 60’s. Pay attention to the data instead of coddling up to the large corporations.

Debi Plum, retired high school teacher, Mesa AZ.

Sent from my iPhone

Deborah — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Deborah Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 If I would be fined or jailed for a crime why would anyone situation be any different? Black is black. an American citizen

---

DEBORAH A SPENCE — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: DEBORAH A SPENCE Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep the quarterly!

Sent from my iPhone

Deborah Bassett — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Deborah Bassett Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I’m an individual who invests. Keep the reporting quarterly. What struck me with this proposal in particular was”furnished”rather than “filed” reports. So in other words a statement of “We’re good, nothing to see here!” is now fine? Keep the reporting quarterly and filed.

Thank you-
Deb Bassett

Deborah Blish — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Deborah Blish Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 It should not change from the quarterly to less if anything it should be increased to every other month or once a month keep them accountable.

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Deborah Bowen — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Deborah Bowen Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 We should be able to know how our investments are doing more frequently, not less often.

Sent from my iPhone

Deborah Crowley — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Deborah Crowley Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Stop stealing from Americans who fund your companies. Perhaps we should just sell all us stocks and move on

Sent from my iPhone

Deborah Freeman Taylor — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Deborah Freeman Taylor Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep public companies reporting their financial results quarterly!

Deborah Freeman Taylor
N. Myrtle Beach, SC

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Deborah Froelich — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Deborah Froelich Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I request that the SEC not make changes in timing , frequency, coverage or quality of this financial reporting duty which is intended to protect investors. Thank you.
Deborah Froelich
12220 Framar Drive
Midlothian VA 23113

Sent from my iPhone

Deborah Froelich — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Deborah Froelich Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I urge the SEC NOT to make changes that would change the timing , frequency, coverage and quality in the proposed manner, that will harm investors by reducing transparency. Thank you.
Deborah Froelich Midlothian VA 23113

Sent from my iPhone

Deborah Herath — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Deborah Herath Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 You must keep this rule. The gap between rich and poor is getting larger and larger and this rollback would only make it worse. Transparency is needed.

Deborah Hughes — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Deborah Hughes Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Really?? No more "rule" changes to benefit the wealthy at the expense of honest Americans! Enough (not more than enough) is enough. Beyond tired of it!

Sincerely,
Deborah Hughes
Retired Air Force Civilian

Deborah Jo McCorkle — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Deborah Jo McCorkle Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 This is just to enhance the profitability of the rich and make it harder for regular people to make money, widening the gap between the rich and regular people. That really disturbs me. What also bothers me is that a six month period between reporting is not a responsible way to do business; there's no great reason to extend the time between reports. It just seems like a way to cover up things that don't smell right and put too much time between those possible misdeeds and accountability. It doesn't look good even if there's nothing wrong going on.

Sent from my iPhone

Deborah Lonsdorf — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Deborah Lonsdorf Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 It makes it easier for companies to be dishonest and for consumers to lose. It's a terrible idea. We tried this once and the substantial benefit to consumers, and thus the economy, of quarterly reporting is now clear. Consumers make more money and with with more money in their pocket a better economy happens all around. Do NOT eliminate quarterly reporting.
Deborah Lonsdorf

🌻☺🌻

Deborah Mallon — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Deborah Mallon Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep Quarterly Reporting. Publicly traded companies must keep the utmost transparency if they're to be allowed to utilize investors' funds.
Deborah Mallon
East Hampstead, NH

Sent from my iPhone

Deborah Nail Simburger — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Deborah Nail Simburger Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 It must continue in order to give complete, as possible, transparency to Americans not just the elite ones. This is a dangerous proposal and must be stopped! There's a reason we have it and it does not need to be changed!!

Deborah Norris — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Deborah Norris Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Deborah Norris, retired widow, Florida
Please do not impact my investment savings this way. I have no pension and it is my retirement at stake since my husband passed last year. I don’t want to lose the peace of mind knowing my savings could decrease from bad decision making by companies
Thank you.
Deborah Norris

Sent from my iPhone

Deborah Peacock — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Deborah Peacock Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Quarterly signing of financial statements is the minimum we need for transparency. With the corruption of trump and his loyalists it really should be more often!

Deborah ROBERTS — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Deborah ROBERTS Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Leave it the way it is.

Sent from my iPhone

Deborah Sawyer — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Deborah Sawyer Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Great idea to stop any fraud and or corruption.

Sent from my iPhone

Deborah Trout — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Deborah Trout Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 If this Presidency has confirmed one thing; humans need guard rails because greed and harm outpace common decency every time. This is common sense and clearly with rules, requirements and oversite that reprehensible phrase "boys will be boys" becomes the norm in American business practices. Hey, we've likely passed the point of no return in saving this planet but let's be able to tell our offspring that we did our best to hold hypocrisy, cruelty, dishonesty and limitless greed in check.
Deborah Trout, California and Pennsylvanian educated, very low income American citizen put through college by a WWII Veteran, Rotarian and Republican who didn't criticize my 18 year old self voting for George McGovern while at Penn State. I was raised with high moral and ethical standards but as money became a key component of my life as a divorced single mother, there were more frequent financial temptations and had I faced the temptations these American CEOs, CFOs etc are presented with, I can't swear I wouldn't have failed the test. Safeguards are a blessing for weak people and essential for strong people who can choose to rationalize behavior their 18 year old self would not consider. Please keep this reporting requirement as is.

I have more TShirts now that I have more time than resources. My current favorite says, "IF YOU'RE NOT OUTRAGED YOU'RE NOT PAYING ATTENTION"
Please don't eliminate something that is working just because we won't notice - hold up that higher bar for our behavior

---

Deborah Yarborough — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Deborah Yarborough Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
I am not sure why you have decided that this should be possible. What is happening to America We are starving the poor and the rich just want to change everything.

Deborrah White — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Deborrah White Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 FFS , do not do this. Try learning from past issues. No.

Debra Blair — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Debra Blair Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 The American people are not responsible for these companies taxes and shouldn’t be left holding the bag for them “ it is absolutely necessary to keep them reporting quarterly for the sake of transparency period !

Sent from my iPad

Debra Colbert — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Debra Colbert Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep this real, keep this quarterly!!! We the USA have the right to this information. We demand accountability, the real truth.

Debra Franciosi — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Debra Franciosi Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 The potential weakening of the market semi annual reporting would hurt public employees, like teachers, far more than leaving the reporting requirements at quarterly.
Don't leave investors in the dark, and don't crash retirement funds of millions. The ripple effect would cripple the US economy.

Debra Franciosi, Ed.D.

Special Education Case Manager, McMinnville School District, OR Director, Empower Lifelong Learning, Inc., Project CRISS

Debra Lair — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Debra Lair Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Stop the nonsense. Keep the reporting as it is currently

Sent from my iPhone

DEBRA SLAY — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: DEBRA SLAY Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 It's not fair that everyone is not one the same playing field and have the same knowledge available to them at the same time . Keep it Quarterly

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Debra Tresidder — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Debra Tresidder Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 As a former licensed broker in the wealth management industry, I see no benefit to individual investors with this change in reporting. Timely reporting and protection from fraudulent information posted by publicly traded companies are responsibilities of the SEC to ensure that investors are protected from fraudulent information. This seems to be a rule that only benefits corporations, not investors and should not be implemented.
D Tresidder

Sent from my iPhone

---

debragoldsworthy84 — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: debragoldsworthy84 Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 What do you got to hide?

Sent from my Galaxy

Dedra Kuhn — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Dedra Kuhn Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Quarterly Reporting is essential for investors. Do not go backwards, go forward!

Dee King — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Dee King Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Delores King, retiree, and I remember the Enron fiasco! Never repeat bad decisions!

Sent from my iPad

Deirdre Canton — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Deirdre Canton Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
As a 67 year old woman, I have lived through this already. It is not in the best interests of the average investor and the powers that be KNOW THIS. This proposal will be disastrous for people who have worked all their lives to secure their retirement.
Deirdre Canton

Deirdre ODonnell — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Deirdre ODonnell Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Stay awsy from my information its none of your business!

To the Securities and Exchange Commission:

Delbert Galloway — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Delbert Galloway Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I lost thousands of hard earned dollars with ENRON stock that was automatically invested when ENRON was conceived. My Southern Company stock was converted to ENRON stock without my choice. The people involved should be held accountable and should be required to submit quarterly reporting. They got there money and ran while we suffered the loss of our stock value. DELBERT GALLOWAY- mechanic - Plant Watson - This matters to me because of my financial loss and people should be held accountable for their decisions especially when dealing with other people’s money/stocks.

Sent from my iPhone

Delta Phorce — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Delta Phorce Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 To the Securities

and Exchange Commission:
It's funny that you guys enact these policies that enable corruption and don't think that there may be consequences.

DENEICE KENEHAN — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: DENEICE KENEHAN Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Our society is falling apart under the weight of Corporate Concentration and Corruption...spilling into every foundational institution-- GOVERNMENT, Media, Medicine, Trade, Education, even Religions are tainted by the loss of Golden Rule Ethics. Small choices and BIG decisions will restore, Heal America. Make America Moral Again. #MAMA Clean-up Corporate Abuse, Criminality, Core Corruption! DeNeice Kenehan, J.D.

Denise — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Denise Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 No this is not good! No transparency, no trust in a company. Denise, controller.for a public company

Sent from my iPhone

DENISE GRAVANO — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: DENISE GRAVANO Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep Quarterly reporting - it’s more accurate and beneficial for the economy and investors.
Denise Gravano - retired IRS, California

Denise

Denise Hoyt — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Denise Hoyt Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep quarterly reports!

Sent from my iPhone

Denise Kallan — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Denise Kallan Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 If it's not broke don't fix it. Leave things as they are.

Denise Moore — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Denise Moore Keep CEOs accountable with quarterly reporting! They need to be watched closely, especially when they are playing with my $

Denise Spaeth — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Denise Spaeth Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 SEC, Do not weaken protections for investors. CEOs need to know! So they must be willing to certify. Any lessening is this requirement is against a companies and investors best interest. Currently the average Joe in America is being taken advantage of at every turn. We don't need any more road work done. Keep things as they are or improve them to provide more accountably or protections for investors.

Sent from my iPhone

Dennis Bryant — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Dennis Bryant Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Leave the quarterly reporting as it currently is!

DENNIS DIERKSEN — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: DENNIS DIERKSEN Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Why would anybody but lawbreakers benefit from this? Looks like folks at the SEC are on the take. Dennis D, retired in Florida .

Sent from AT&T Yahoo Mail on Android

Dennis Highstreet — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Dennis Highstreet Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 We have to have quarterly reporting for investment purposes. Think about the "little guy" for once!

Dennis Highstreet

Dennis Pesca Chief Engineer — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Dennis Pesca I am in agreement with The Motley Fool essay on the subject of reducing the reporting period.

Dennis R McClain — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Dennis R McClain S7-2026-15 is an attempt to solve a problem that does not even exist! Investors need more information and transparency from corporations, not less. Reducing financial reporting from quarterly to semi-annual is a bad idea and would have significant negative impact on investors.

Dennis Savlin — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Dennis Savlin Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 They can't be trusted! DON'T change a thing!

Dennis Shain — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Dennis Shain Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Don't change from quarterly discloser. Protect the consumer Dennis Shain consumer

---

Dennis W. Leininger III — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Dennis W. Leininger III I disagree with the government and businesses trying to limit my access to the information I receive from the companies that I invest in and look to invest in.

---

denniswalsak — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: denniswalsak Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I strongly oppose any rollback from quarterly reporting to semiannual reporting. As a retiree and small investor, I rely on timely, standardized disclosure to understand the companies I own and to protect my life savings. Quarterly reporting helps reduce information gaps, supports market discipline, and gives ordinary investors a fair chance to detect problems before they become losses. Do not weaken the 1970 quarterly reporting standard; keep it in place for all public companies.

Less frequent reporting shifts power away from investors and toward insiders.

Thank you for your attention into this matter.

Dennis M. Walsak

Derek Carpenter — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Derek Carpenter Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep the rules the same. All this will do is increase corruption. We already have enough of that.

Sent from my iPhone

Desmond Wright — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Desmond Wright Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Ordinary citizens that have worked hard for their safety and saving cannot afford to take another hit from anywhere. Keep Quarterly Reporting!!!!

Joyce Wright-Ordinary Citizen

Sent from my iPhone

Despina Papapantos — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Despina Papapantos Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep everything open & transparent to all. KEEP IT QUARTERLY!!

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Detective Mia Roze Bootz — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Detective Mia Roze Bootz Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Brookdale Senior Living
HCA
Wegmans
Columbia Pacific Advisors

Beceera
Baier insider trading
Lawsuits

Absolutely no

Di Binder — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Di Binder Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 It's very important to have disclosure- there's too much corruption happening- let's not pinch investors as in the little guy any more than what is happening now!
No to the six month darkening!!!
Diane Binder

Sent from my iPhone

Diana — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Diana Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I strongly disagree with this proposal of only reporting bi-annually! We need more transparency, not less. Diana

Sent from my iPhone

Diana Brockway — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Diana Brockway Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Diana Brockway, Retired, Sun Prairie, WI. I want and need the updated financial information about companies I invest in. It's important when making financial decisions. Don't suck up to Trump and allow this change to occur. This information is important to large and small investors.

Diana Brockway — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Diana Brockway Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Diana Brockway, Retired, Sun Prairie, WI. I want anupdated financial information about companies I invest in. It's important when making financial decisions. Don't suck up to Trump and allow this change to occur. This information is important to large and small investors.

Diana Cooper — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Diana Cooper Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Diana Cooper
Retired Project Manager
Milford, OH.
As a retiree with decades of life yet to pay for ahead I don't want to reduce the valuation of my accounts.

Sent from my iPhone

---

diana dockham — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: diana dockham Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 We've been there done that. The results were not promising. Why would we do it again?😜

Sent from my iPhone

Diana Kahn — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Diana Kahn Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Do not return to semi annual reporting¡!! Our economy is in enough trouble. We need retain transparency. Our investments depend on it. Retired people have little else to live on in this inflated environment. Leave what works alone. Don't go backwards to cause more trouble. We the People should count! Diana Kahn, educator, Glendale, WI

Diana Kahn
dianak234@gmail.com
414.247.0292

Diana Newcomb — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Diana Newcomb Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 NO COMPANY with shareholders, or traded publicly should be given 6 months to cook their books! Let's face it, most of y'all do!

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Diana Zielinski — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Diana Zielinski Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Quarterly reporting is very necessary. Please don't rescind this regulation. I was a victim of Enron and no amount of changing companies for investors brought back the money lost.

dianazski@gmail.com

Diane A Bourne — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Diane A Bourne Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Hidden areas open comfortable zones to commit crimes. No hidden areas.

Diane A Bourne
510 Yak Road, Apt 864F
Fairbanks, Alaska 99709
(907)378-7594

Diane Allen — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Diane Allen Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep sec reporting on a quarterly basis

I am a retiree that has the majority of my funds in stocks and bonds. If reporting is allowed to go back to 6 months it will affect my ability to monitor my financial situation

Thank you

Diane Allen
Clayton, In 46118
317.432.9177

Diane Allen

c. 317-432-9177

Diane Backs — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Diane Backs Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 We need businesses to give quarterly reporting! We don’t want to go back to the 1950s and 60s way to report it, when it did not work.
As a retiree, I need to see quarterly reports so that I’m able to manage my money more efficiently.
Diane Backs/retired teacher/Missouri resident

Sent from my iPhone

Diane Ebken — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Diane Ebken Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Please continue quarterly disclosures to help us make informed decisions. Please don't take vital information away from us.
thank

Diane K Miller — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Diane K Miller Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Please retain quarterly reporting. This is so critical for American investors.

Diane K Miller

Get Outlook for iOS

Diane King — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Diane King Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Another move to make the rich richer and the poor poorer. No!

Diane klimas — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Diane klimas Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 There’s a reason they need to keep investors notified. For the future of their investment, of course! We need quarterly reports, do not change anything .

Sent from my iPhone

Diane Libman — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Diane Libman Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Quarterly Reports are needed now more than ever as corporations are testing the boundaries of their power more and more.

Sent from my iPhone

Diane Mckenzie — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Diane Mckenzie Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 From, Diane Mckenzie, Engineering Tech.
To SEC, I have concerns about the proposal to drop quarterly reporting. Six months between disclosures is too long. I will lose awareness on critical changes . Please do not make this change. Thank you, for your attention to this matter.

Diane

 fieldelements@gmail.com

When you garden, you grow.

Diane Olejar — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Diane Olejar Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Quarterly reporting hopefully helps keep things above board. Continue quarterly reporting.

Diane Perdue-Shupe — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Diane Perdue-Shupe Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Quarterly reporting is best for investors & should continue!
After all who is supplying the funds for these companies!

Diane Perdue-Shupe

Diane Sawanobori — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Diane Sawanobori Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Yes the SEC should maintain a quarterly reporting system. Longer is dangerous for fraud, and difficult to identify investment changes or mistakes. As a retiree on a fixed income, this information is vital. There is nominal savings in later reporting. Businesses have to keep ongoing records and reporting quarterly is standard.

Diane Sawanobori

Sent from my iPad

Diane Tuma — Jun 17, 2026

Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Diane Tuma Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 You are setting us up for another Enron. The only thing forcing accountability is quarterly reporting with acknowledgement by those in power. Please don't succumb to corporate pressures ruin the safety nets you so wisely put in place after Enron. Diane Tuma- small business owner - California

Sent from my iPhone

Diane Worazek — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Diane Worazek Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep quarterly reports. Need to keep companies honest!

Sent from my iPhone

Dianne Belisle — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Dianne Belisle Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Quarterly submissions are necessary for transparency and a stronger return on every investment dollar for Folks like me. Please keep quarterly reports as the gold standard for corporations and for the best interest of investors
Dianne Belisle, retired
Augusta WI

Sent from my iPhone

Dianne Inghram — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Dianne Inghram Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 No, no, and hell know!

Dianne Lindeman — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Dianne Lindeman Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 What! No way, do not hide information necessary for financial decisions. This is not a good idea. Information is everything and essential to my decision making. I am a retired CFO. Sure it would be easier for companies but a disaster for investors. With pensions no longer available to the average American, we need all the info we can get to properly manage our investments. Don't deny the American people this information.

Sent from my iPhone

Dianne Pilcher — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Dianne Pilcher Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 We, as investors, need more transparency and accountability with Wall Street, not less. This is particularly needed with new generations of young investors.

Dianne Pilcher

Dick Terry — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Dick Terry Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Richard Terry retired RN. My retirement is contained primarily in the stock market. Any delay of release of information would be devastating. Do not make it easier for others to cheat.

Digital Medic — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Digital Medic Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Have we learned nothing from the repeated financial crises? Without oversight, corporations game the system. They risk other people's money without fear of punishment. Keep the reporting quarterly. It is not a big burden with today's tech.

Rick VanGessel
Haslett, MI.

Dina Elkan — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Dina Elkan Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 The scale has been tipped enough in favor of the already ultra rich. We need quarterly reporting and transparency now more than ever.

As someone getting near retirement age, I am deeply concerned about changes that could affect my future solvency. Please protect the public and the small investor- keep the rules as they are. Thank you.

Dina Elkan
Senior Director
Brooklyn, NY

Dina Samfield — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Dina Samfield Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Less disclosure in the 1950s meant lower returns and lower valuations. A repeat could erase a third to one half of our savings. Of course you must continue quarterly reporting.

Dina Samfield

Dixie Zigo — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Dixie Zigo Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Yes!

Sent from my iPad

---

dk — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: dk Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I want quarterly reporting at a minimum. Maybe you would just like to send my bank account to Musk.

DL Baker — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: DL Baker Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Stop hiding the the Truth from taxpayers.
Donna Lee Manns-Baker, retired Federal Emergency Management Agency Disaster Assistant Truth keeps accounting honest!

Blessings and Light...

Dobber Malchi — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Dobber Malchi Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Dobber Malchi CEO if you do this you are allowing fraud. I have this screenshot and will be suing for damages due to fraud you're currently allowing. This has called irreparable harm.

---

doctort — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: doctort Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I agree with keeping it at the quarterly reporting as the CEO's eyes and signature should be on what is happening in their watch. Accountability is a major key to having the job that they have. Being a puppet is not what they got the job for, overseeing the performance of their underlings is part of their job.
Terese Farrar
Retired Chiropractor
13231 W Opal Dr
Sun City West AZ 85375

Sent from my Galaxy

Dolly Prenzel — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Dolly Prenzel Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Maintain quarterly reporting. Will keep you up to snuff.

Dolly Jane Prenzel, Chief Contracting Officer, retired, the University of Virginia

---

Dolores Macias-Cha — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Dolores Macias-Cha Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Dolores Macias-Cha Retired data technician Habra CA 90631

It has to remain quarterly and not revert back to the semi 1955 method.
Allows for quicker reaction times for companies and provides investors a better pulse on their investments.

Dominique Lockett — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Dominique Lockett Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
In my own word, how is less transparency better for the world. The SEC is going to help crash the economy by letting corporations rule the world. Keep the quarterly reviews you ignorant dolts. You're a slave to capital and you are speed running crashing the system for short term gains. Grow the * up.

Don Clark — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Don Clark Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I am writing to voice my belief that you must not lengthen the reporting periods! I have worked long and saved over my working life and now want assurance that my savings are also working for me!

Sent from my iPhone

Don Emerson — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Don Emerson Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Horrible, horrible, horrible idea. What are they trying to hide?

Don Emerson II

Don Fowler — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Don Fowler Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 As a retired person my portfolio & a little soc sec check is all I have. If consumers lose their income or can’t count on it being there dollars aren’t spent & companies & economies are affected. Don’t bite the hands that feed you! We need to be able to trust each other so we all can continue to thrive. I say no to the change in transparency. Kim Fowler - concerned retired consumer.

Get Outlook for iOS

Don Gallagher — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Don Gallagher Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep in place.

Don Johnson — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Don Johnson Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Hello,
My name is Don Johnson, I live in New Haven Connecticut. I'm nearing retirement age and this proposal concerns me.
I have worked hard as a flight attendant to save for my retirement, any changes to corporate reporting should make it easier to value a company and track its growth, progress and value. This proposal works against citizens who are counting on transparency and accountability of the company's in their portfolios.
Thank you for keeping quarterly reporting as it is now

---

don mack — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: don mack Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I don't agree with this one bit

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Don McDaniel — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Don McDaniel Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Stick it to the mass seems to be the motto of our government while allowing runaway fraud by Somalians and others. At least they're being up front this time with their intent to harm the working man. The middle class is almost gone in America. They'll be happy only when Orwell's 1984 is fully implemented.

Don Reid — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: File Number S7-08-026 From: Don Reid Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Hi SEC,
I request that the requirement for quarterly reports continue and not be discontinued. A lot can happen in three months and there is valuable information provided to investors in stock during these quarterly reports.
Thank you, Don Reid

---

dona mastin — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: dona mastin Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 We NEED quarterly reporting to make intelligent decisions in the stock market. Moreover, it supports transparency! There are many more reasons as well….
Thank you,

Dona Mastin

Dona Reinertsen — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Dona Reinertsen Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Quarterly reporting is vital. In a world of A.I. we need more timely oversight , not less.

Dona Mari Reinertsen

Donald — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Donald Reducing the reporting interval will reduce the visibility into the market. Investors need more visibility, not less. This will not accomplish any change in short term thinking. If you want long term thinking, maybe try not destroying international treaties, agreements, and other legislation that was passed by people who voted for it. Maybe take a look at all the insider trading being perpetrated by the Trump administration.

Donald Dorn-Lopez — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Donald Dorn-Lopez Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I support quarterly reporting. Semi annual lets companies play with their numbers and investors like me lose confidence. Keep mandatory reporting quarterly.

Sent from my iPhone

Donald Melin — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Donald Melin Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Please do not consider semi annual reporting! Quarterly reporting needs to continue in order to provide adequate transparency. I cannot afford to lose half of my life savings after 45 years of working! Please! I am spreading the word to hundreds about this. Donald Melin- Park Ranger, San Luis Obispo, California.

Sent from my iPhone

Donald Moss — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Donald Moss Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 We need to stay with quartely reports. Businesses need to let investors know what is going on

Sent from my iPhone

Donald Wilde — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Donald Wilde Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I think quarterly filing should only be required for companies of over $20M net worth.

Don Wilde 480-749-8472
****
* What is the Internet of Things but a system *
* of systems including people? *
****

Donaldson Shumpert — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Donaldson Shumpert Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep Quarterly Reports, don't allow these companies to hide what they're doing until it's to late for you to do anything about it…

Sent from my iPhone

---

donna bartl — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: donna bartl Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Donna Bartl 819 2nd St E West Fargo North Dakota 58078. Retired KEEP QUARTERLY REPORTING!

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Donna Brungardt — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Donna Brungardt Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep quarterly!!

Sent from my iPhone

Donna Carter — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Donna Carter Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 My name is Donna Carter. I am a housewife. Keep the companies reporting as they do now. My question is: why do they want to change the rules?

Sent from my Verizon, Samsung Galaxy smartphone
Get Outlook for Android

Donna DiVincenzo — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Donna DiVincenzo Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Donna Hewlett

Marketing specialist. I tired of being robbed by big business

Sent from my iPhone

Donna G. — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Donna G. Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Quarterly is necessary to keep the industry leaders honest. Keep the spotlight on for all their financials is the most effective way to communicate to the public.

Donna Gaus — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Donna Gaus Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep it the way it is!!! CEOs need to be accountable to the law, to the American people, to the planet. The crimes they commit are far worse than the crimes committed by individuals against individuals. Americans have a right to know - we need more reporting, not less.
Donna Gaus, Retired, Louisville, Ky

Sent from my iPhone

Donna Giddens — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Donna Giddens Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Enron execs. deserve no special favors! Do not reduce their time behind bars. I am getting very tired of the rich being treated differently than other citizens of these United States! Donna Sela-Giddens, Independence, VA 24348

Donna Gleisner — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Donna Gleisner Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Sear SEC - My husband and I are totally AGAINST companies only doing public reports/filings every six months. Our retirement funds are in the stock market! We watch everything closely and make adjustments according. Most of our friends do the same. Reducing how often we learn of financial changes directly affects our financial health. This change would be a huge leap backwards from much needed transparency and evening out the playing field. Please, we urge you to KEEP IT QUARTERLY!!!
Donna and Brian Diver

Donna jones — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Donna jones Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I’m a senior with a social security income and a little nest egg. I need quarterly reporting. My little money is only enough. There is nothing to contribute to making someone else richer. If it weren’t for food banks, I’d be sunk as it is.

Sent from my iPhone

Donna Lotton — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Donna Lotton Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I'm a retired Speech Language Pathologist who worked 35 years in medical and education sectors. My investments are my long term care money. Changing from quarterly to twice yearly would decimate my long term care account leaving me with fewer options in my elder years. It would mean that my adult kids would have a much different life than the one they grew up in, drastically limiting their lifelong options. Please fight to retain the quarterly reviews. Donna Lotton, Olympia, Wa

Sent from my iPhone

Donna NightThunder — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Donna NightThunder Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 You cannot be serious. In this age of immediate data this is ridiculous. I am for full and timely disclosure-more often than quarterly if possible. Please.

Donna Obrien — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Donna Obrien Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Donna OBrien, retired, Kansas: Quarterly reporting gives a more accurate picture of a company's financial position, which allows investors to stay up to date on their own situation. By only reporting semi-annually a company can manage reports to maximize results to their benefit. Corporations receive so many government benefits that don't need more. Please do not change reporting to benefit the company.

Sent from my iPhone

Donna Sims — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Donna Sims Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Ok you know what you are trying to do don't do it

Sent from my Galaxy

Donna Stubbe — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Donna Stubbe Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Donna Stubbe
Retired educator
Want to keep quarterly reports and keep corporations honest.

Sent from my iPhone

Donna White — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Donna White Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 As a retired auditor for a CPA firm and global for a fortune 500 public company, keep the Q's quarterly. Making a change to semi annual will introduce risks to companies, lower accountability and add insecurity to the market. It is bad very shortsighted idea.

Donna White

Donna Yoder — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Donna Yoder Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 If you change to fewer reports, you are literally telling the investors and public that you don't care that it opens the door for CEO's and companies to pull the wool over their eyes. If CEO's are not held to the line quarterly, the dishonest CEO's will cheat. Your vote will tell.

Sent from my iPhone

DonnaM Sabb Owner, Wells Fargo Financial Network — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: DonnaM Sabb As a Financial Advisor for 40 years: Merrill Lynch; Smith Barney; Wells Fargo, I assisted my clients to survive the financial collapses of 1987; 2001-2002, 2008. Transparency is essential for ordinary families to invest for their families. No one was held accountable in 2008. Golden parachutes for all departing executives. I demand quarterly reporting AND accountability

---

Donnie Anderson — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Donnie Anderson Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 accountability for is non-billionaires is reasonable.

Sent from my iPhone

Donnie Armstrong — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Donnie Armstrong Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 KEEP the disclosure of financial updates at 3-month intervals s by denying them the ability to increase this timeframe to six months!!! The big corporation industry needs to revert to being under lock 'n key by the consumers. That will never happen until we get RID of the TWO-PARTY system.

Doreen Gerhart — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Doreen Gerhart Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Dee Gerhart,

Realtor, PA, I am at the age that I will need to tap into my investments for possible health care.

Doreen Gerhart
Realtor Berkshire Hathaway Home Services
Cranberry Twp., PA 16066

New Construction Specialist
Relocation Specialist
724-776-2900 Office
724-822-9500 Mobile
sellwithdoreengerhart@gmail.com

Dori Medina — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Dori Medina Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Keep the quarterly schedule!

Doris Alley — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Doris Alley Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Everything needs to be available for audits 24 hour a day 7 days a week. Take pride in your job and you will have nothing to hide

---

Doris Nelson — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Doris Nelson Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Do not change quarterly reporting!!!!!!

Doris TAMAYO DE SIMMONS — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Doris TAMAYO DE SIMMONS Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
This proposal would only benefit these Public Companies as well as their lawyers, executives, and large brokers that are privy to the information. S.O.L to everyone esle that are holding stocks blindly. The only option that the general public would have is to EXIT investing. Unless, someone in the general population knows of someone on the inside. If there was a poll, I'd vote NO!!!

Doris Tropp — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Doris Tropp Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep the quarterly reports. Big business executives need to be kept accountable. They must have this to keep them honest and working for the shareholders and not just their huge paychecks. Doris Tropp, Administrative Assistant, Roscoe Illinois

Sent from my iPhone
Doris Tropp

Doris Winkler — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Doris Winkler Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Please stop making it easier for billionaires to cheat. Keep transparency.

---

doriskinsley205 — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: doriskinsley205 Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 It's 2026 folks. Let's move forward not backwards. Quarterly reporting should remain and continue. Doris Kinsley, age 93, San Ramon, CA

Sent from my Galaxy

Dorothy and Michel Marette — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Dorothy and Michel Marette Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I object to going back to the past way of reporting.

Sent from Dorothy S Marette

Dorothy Hawkins — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Dorothy Hawkins Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 This is NOT how a government responsible to the American people should be run. To keep everyone except insiders in the dark for six months out of the year gives bad faith folks half a year's head start on investments, disadvantaging every investor who's not blessed with up-to-date knowledge about what they're investing in. Don't do this!

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Dorothy Vecchione — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Dorothy Vecchione Keep our investment reports quarterly! Too much can happen in the markets in 6 months. We have a right to know the status of our investments more than twice a year! KEEP IT QUARTERLY!

Dot OConnor — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Dot OConnor Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Do not change this! Quarterly reporting must remain!

Dot O'Connor

Dot On The Spot — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Dot On The Spot Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 This is NOT how a government responsible to the American people should be run. To keep everyone except insiders in the dark for six months out of the year gives bad faith folks half a year's head start on investments, disadvantaging every investor who's not blessed with up-to-date knowledge about what they're investing in. Don't do this!

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Dotti Lydecker — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Dotti Lydecker Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 It is important to continue quarterly reporting in order to keep all companies honest.

Sent from my iPhone

Dottie Donofrio — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Dottie Donofrio Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 YES Keep reporting at QUARTERLY

Sent from my iPhone

---

dottievs — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: dottievs Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 This is a terrible idea. Less reporting means less transparency. Who is this benefitting. It certainly is not investors! Financial and fiduciary responsibility is required by both the corporation and the investor. How can an investor assure that corporate investment decisions are sound if they are not privy to that information for six months. Would a corporation really agree to go six months without information on their holdings? I think not! Quarterly reporting is reasonable anything less is not.

Sent from my Galaxy

Doug Balcom — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Doug Balcom Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 My name is Doug Balcom, age 65. After a long career in software engineering, the shifting priorities of the tech world have forced me to switch to contract work as a long-distance vehicle delivery driver -- giving me a valuable perspective on how both the white-collar and blue-collar worlds are affected by the actions of corporate executives and the managers who answer to them. Even though I no longer own stock, I am acutely aware of the importance of transparency and public accountability in corporate decision-making and finances. Quarterly reporting is a critical tool in that accountability.

Please retain the Quarterly Reporting requirement.

Sincerely,
Douglas W. Balcom
Seattle, WA

Doug Dyke — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Doug Dyke Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I'm against that…… it didn't work before. Why would it work now?

Sent from my iPhone

Doug Luther — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Doug Luther Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 You MUST keep SEC quarterly reportings and NOT reduce the sentences for the CHEATING THIEVES who are in jail now for violating SEC and U.S. Laws previously!

Thank You

Doug Nicholson — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Doug Nicholson Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 With the amount of FRAUD & CORRUPTION going on in this countr deserve transpare ncy. Keep quarterly

Thanks, Doug

Doug Wegner — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Doug Wegner Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 This is REAL stealing. Stop this steal.

Doug Wegner
Sent from my iPhone

Douglas Haskin — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Douglas Haskin Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
With the volatility in today's markets, I think getting timely reporting from corporations is more important than ever.

With AI and other technology to assist, quarterly reporting should be less burdensome that it was 50 years ago. If companies could do it 50 years ago, why not now?

Douglas J Rees The Motley Fool Community — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Douglas J Rees To Whom It May Concern, I am writing to express my strong opposition to the SEC's proposal to allow public companies to switch from quarterly (10-Q) to semiannual financial reporting. As an individual investor, I believe this change would severely disadvantage retail shareholders, degrade market transparency, and increase unnecessary volatility. Quarterly reporting is one of the most critical leveling mechanisms in the modern financial market. While institutional investors have access to vast networks, alternative data, and direct management channels, individual investors rely heavily on the standardized, certified, and predictable cadence of the Form 10-Q. Cutting this information flow in half will inherently double the information gap between corporate insiders and everyday shareholders. Furthermore, reducing the frequency of balance sheet snapshots makes it significantly harder to monitor the fiscal health and liquidity of smaller or struggling organizations, leaving retail investors to bear the brunt of the risk. The primary rationale for this proposal—that reducing reporting frequency will mitigate short-termism and encourage long-term corporate investment—is fundamentally flawed and unsupported by real-world evidence. A comprehensive CFA Institute study examining the United Kingdom's experiment with dropping mandatory quarterly reporting found that it had no material impact on corporate investment behavior or long-term R&D spending. Short-termism is driven by executive compensation structures and market incentives, not the administrative requirement to be transparent with owners four times a year. By adopting this proposal, the SEC would accept a definitive cost—less transparency and a wider information gap for the public, in exchange for a theoretical benefit that evidence shows will not materialize. This is a step backward from the principles of Regulation Fair Disclosure (Reg FD), which sought to ensure a level playing field for all market participants. Individual investors deserve more information, not less. I urge the Commission to protect retail shareholders and maintain the mandatory quarterly reporting framework. Thank you for your time and consideration. Sincerely, Doug Rees Affiliation: The Motley Fool Community

---

Douglas Jones — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Douglas Jones Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Nobody is above the law, this was put in place to keep them honest
Douglas A Jones

Douglas Knehans — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Douglas Knehans Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Discontinued quarterly reporting will be a disaster for my personal finances and my business. Please do not enact this.
Douglas Knehans
Cincinnati, OH

Sent from my iPhone

Douglas Pickarts — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Douglas Pickarts Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 No! Douglas Pickarts / retired Court Interpreter / it matters because a lot can transpire in just 3 months. This proposed rule change only benefits bad actors.

Sent from my iPhone

Dr. Doom — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Dr. Doom Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 On June 17, 2026 10:25:45 AM EDT, Mike Harris <mikeharris@privatedata.com> wrote:
Quarterly reporting must be maintained to maintain transparency and prevent insider actions and fraud.

I will NOT hold any securities that elect this if this passes.

This must not happen

Dread Naught — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Dread Naught Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 This is clearly a lobbyist push from the 6 fogure and up club. This is the opposite of transparency and accountability. This will only help create more distrust, allow companies to hide losses that would gauge future investment into a potential failing business. This will be a clear signal to allow more companies to fudge their numbers and send us into another series of economic collapses similar to the Bernie Madoff issue and Enron. This does nothing to allow proper oversight and will hinder potential investigations into a company's finances.
Do NOT let this pass.

Joshua Sherman, NY Age 42.

---

dreamst29 — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: dreamst29 Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Quarterly reporting keeps the Thieves of Wallstreet, somewhat above board. So, letting them hide fiscal failures behind a 6 month reporting vs 3 month reporting, only gives them more ability to fleece the people and line their pockets from the insider trading that we all know is happening daily.

Drew Biondo — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Drew Biondo Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep companies reporting as they are now. Quarterly.

Sent from my iPhone

Dru Sefton — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Dru Sefton Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 You want to let every public company stop reporting its results each quarter and disclose just twice a year. We tried this once, between 1955 and 1970. Less transparency came with lower returns and lower valuations. For an ordinary investor, a return to those days could mean losing a third, or even half, of my life savings. Please do not do this! Ms. Dru Sefton, retired, San Francisco

Sent from my rotary phone

Duane Brownell — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Duane Brownell Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Quarterly earnings reports have been released for many years and are the best way to gauge earnings. There is no reason to return to the old methods.

Duane Olawsky — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Duane Olawsky I am not in favor of the proposed change from quarterly to semiannual reporting. As an individual investor I rely heavily on quarterly reports and financial statements to understand the recent performance and future prospects of the companies in which I invest. A change to semiannual reporting would mean that my information is not as up to date, increasing my risk.

---

dub2carol — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: dub2carol Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep ir quarterly.

Dubra Karnes-Padilla — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Dubra Karnes-Padilla Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 To whom it may concern,

As bad ideas go in this administration, this one will only create more mistrust and confusion for our country and around the world. How hard it is it to run accurate quarterly reports?

I am a public pension recipient and retired higher education faculty member. Our NM ERB governing board, executive director, and chief officer of investments rely on making decisions on these quarterly reports. Wall Street thinks of pension money as “Dumb Money.” Why would you want to make everything even more opaque?

Dubra Karnes-Padilla, M.S.

---

dudy Lord — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: dudy Lord Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I don't see any reason to do this. Everything is on computers. It takes no more time and effort to do quarterly reports. What are you trying to hide?

---

dunn5934 — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: dunn5934 Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 What you don't see you will never know about. A bunch of dishonest people getting rich off the backs of poor hard working people. Rules were put in place for a reason.

Sent from my Galaxy

Dusty Wease — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Dusty Wease Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Please help us keep the people in charge of these companies responsible for telling the truth about their business and their policies. They get paid very well to take responsibility for their work and need to be held accountable to someone that has an understanding of what they are doing. Please continue the Quarterly reporting requirements in place to help save America and Americans. They get paid to make these reports available, so make them responsible for how often they report. It will make sure they tell the truth and don’t mislead shareholders, employees and public servants. If they do their jobs correctly there’s nothing to worry about. Why wouldn’t someone want to tell how good they are doing at running the business, if that is what is being done. The only managers who wouldn’t want this are not doing their jobs professionally.

Sent from my iPhone

Duvall John — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Duvall John Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Please keep reporting as is. There is no reason to change reporting. Lessening it means less oversight and thus more opportunity for insider profits, gradual and illegal profits.

Dwayne Louis — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Dwayne Louis Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I am a retired disabled veteran who depends on sound investments.I believe more visability gives more confidence in investing strategies.

Dylan Hendricks — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Dylan Hendricks Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I'm Dylan Hendricks, a Computer engineer in Portland, OR.

It is absolutely ludicrous that the SEC wants to lower the amount of information given to investors and the public in an age where it has never been easier to generate information and data. Investors and the public should have as much information as possible before they invest their hard earned money into the free market. The only reason you would want to prevent more providing more information is if you had something to hide. It's not good to gamble with people's life savings as this change would be doing. The SEC should figure out how to more efficiently improve its methodologies if it is a problem with governmental resources. We should be making it harder for companies to cheat and hide information rather than making it easier and finding problems it too late.

Dylan Hendricks — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Dylan Hendricks Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Dylan Hendricks, Computer Engineer, Portland OR
It is absolutely ludicrous that the government wants to lower the amount of information given to investors and the public in an age where it has never been easier to generate information and data. Investors and the public should have as much information as possible before they invest their hard earned money into the free market. The only reason you would want to prevent more providing more information is if you had something to hide.

Dylan Routh — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Dylan Routh Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 My name is Dylan. I'm a father, husband, and manager at an auto finance company. History has shown us the paramount importance of robust review apparatus. We know the consequences of a lack of transparency. Do your jobs and protect your people.

Sent from my Verizon, Samsung Galaxy smartphone
Get Outlook for Android

E K R Gmail — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: E K R Gmail Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 My name is Kay Robinson. I worked in the medical device industry, my entire life, and the reporting for how the company did was very valuable. Everything. The company did was driven by those reports. Quarterly reports are needed to continue. It keeps companies accountable. It keeps investors informed. Do not change it.

E. Tino Roncone — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: E. Tino Roncone Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Please support controls that make CEO's accountable!

-Ernest Roncone
Cleveland, Ohio

E508 Miller — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: E508 Miller Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Please retain the requirement that companies report quarterly. This is needed to keep corporations accountable. Thank you.
Sincerely, an investor who depends upon investment income,
Erica Miller

E Miller
mobile communications

Eamon Hosey — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Eamon Hosey Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Taking away information to retail investors will make us not trust these publicly traded companies. Lowering public trust will degrade the ability for markets to accurately predict real trading value of these companies and lead to them causing volatility in the market. DO YOUR JOB. know if this degrade in regulation causes catastrophe we will hold you accountable for your part in it.

Earl Harris — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Earl Harris Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I agree wholeheartedly.. 👍

Easton — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Easton Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 We won't stand for this. The people are tired of getting screwed. You guys are messing with peoples lives and passive incomes. Be very careful. You push and push and push and eventually a whole lot of people will snap because all you guys do is screw over retail investors. You guys should really be ashamed of yourselves for even considering this garbage.

---

eclaires — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: eclaires Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Quarterly reporting should remain. We need to be able to see what the companies are really up to . They all earn way more than we do

Sent from my iPad

Ed — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Ed Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I believe quarterly reporting is essential to maintain honesty and integrity of public companies. This frequency has been held steady for decades to protect investors from bad actors and to watch more closely a group that has proven in the past to be untrustworthy. Please leave quarterly reporting in place.

Ed Lanius

ED and MICHELE THOMPSON — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: ED and MICHELE THOMPSON Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Information is essential for making responsible decisions. Stretching out reporting dilutes that information that investors rely on. Please do not extend the reporting period.

Sent from my iPhone

Ed Beacham — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Ed Beacham Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 It's still as important as it was when it was passed the first time. Make NO changes to the frequency of reporting to the SEC!

Ed Grove — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Ed Grove Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Reporting must remain quarterly so retail investors are not left in the dark.

Edward Grove
770-686-1814
EdGrove50@gmail.com
www.linkedin.com/in/edgrove

Ed Martin — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Ed Martin Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Only helps the crooks hide their deeds. Do NOT change quarterly reporting!

Sent from my iPhone

Ed Mierzwinski — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Ed Mierzwinski Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I am a retired consumer advocate who spent 40 years on the staff of the U.S. Public Interest Research Group in Washington. I filed many letters and opinions with the SEC. I met many times with senior officials, including Chairman Gary Gensler, at the SEC, either on PIRG's behalf or with a coalition.

I am shocked, but not surprised, that the current administration is considering rolling back this requirement, without evidence that it is unnecessary.

Yet, conversely, there is a vast history of failures to protect small investors from accounting fraud and malfeasance. In fact, the number of vectors to take money from a small investor's pocket has multiplied even in the last week as we have seen crypto schemes advertised boldly on the White House lawn with the imprimatur of the president.

I have yet to see any use for crypto other than to steal from small investors, have you?

And while some decisions of the recent Court may have too narrowly parsed or even unwisely forgotten the rank disdain of Ken Lay and his cronies for the small investor, the threats today are manifestly real and we have seen them with our own eyes at the White House.

It would be unwise to roll back this modest requirement at a time it is needed.

Again, my views are my own as I am retired.

Edmund Mierzwinski
8 Berry Patch
South Windsor, Connecticut 06704
edmierzwinski@gmail.com

Ed Mierzwinski, USPIRG (retired)
Consumer Program Director

"The idea of the CFPB needs no defense. Only more defenders. (after Edward Abbey)"

-- Ed Mierzwinski

Ed Mierzwinski — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Fwd: S7-2026-15 From: Ed Mierzwinski Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 From: Ed Mierzwinski <edmierzwinski@gmail.com>
Date: Wed, Jun 17, 2026 at 10:06 AM
Subject: S7-2026-15
To: <copy@keepitquarterly.org>
CC: <rule-comments@sec.gov>

I am a retired consumer advocate who spent 40 years on the staff of the U.S. Public Interest Research Group in Washington. I filed many letters and opinions with the SEC. I met many times with senior officials, including Chairman Gary Gensler, at the SEC, either on PIRG's behalf or with a coalition.

I am shocked, but not surprised, that the current administration is considering rolling back this requirement, without evidence that it is unnecessary.

Yet, conversely, there is a vast history of failures to protect small investors from accounting fraud and malfeasance. In fact, the number of vectors to take money from a small investor's pocket has multiplied even in the last week as we have seen crypto schemes advertised boldly on the White House lawn with the imprimatur of the president.

I have yet to see any use for crypto other than to steal from small investors, have you?

And while some decisions of the recent Court may have too narrowly parsed or even unwisely forgotten the rank disdain of Ken Lay and his cronies for the small investor, the threats today are manifestly real and we have seen them with our own eyes at the White House.

It would be unwise to roll back this modest requirement at a time it is needed.

Again, my views are my own as I am retired.

Edmund Mierzwinski
8 Berry Patch
South Windsor, Connecticut 06704
edmierzwinski@gmail.com

Ed Mierzwinski, USPIRG (retired)
Consumer Program Director

"The idea of the CFPB needs no defense. Only more defenders. (after Edward Abbey)"

-- Ed Mierzwinski

Ed Nagayama — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Ed Nagayama Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Monthly FED and quarterly corporation

Sent from my iPhone

Ed

Ed Satalia — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Ed Satalia Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
I've been trading stocks here and there for at least 25 years. Quarterly financial reporting is very important to the retail investor. There's already too many headwinds working against us. We don't need another one .waiting six months to find out how a company is doing, puts the retail investor at a big disadvantage. If a company has a really bad report, their stock price could implode, and there would be no warning of that until it's too late. why not figure out rules that will benefit the retail investor, not the corporations and legislators.

Ed Wall — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Ed Wall Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 No more rules that favor the insiders and the rich.

---

eddie C — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: eddie C Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Many negative financial periods have resulted in more reporting. Let’s not forget history. We’re doing ok let’s not go backwards here too

Sent from my iPhone

Eddie Robinson — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Eddie Robinson Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 CEO rip all people of
. Keep them in jail.Take our * back.We are not safe with them on the street!!

Edgar Briseno — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Edgar Briseno Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission: please keep quarterly basis for Company reporting

---

Edie Barthelmes — Jun 17, 2026

Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Edie Barthelmes Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Reporting must remain quarterly!

Thank you,

E Barthelmes

Edie Caldwell — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Edie Caldwell Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Edith Caldwell
Retired Texas
Very important to keep quarterly reports to be visible and responsible.

Edith Dubey — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Edith Dubey Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep it the way it is, quarterly!

Edith Heifner — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Edith Heifner Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 It is the responsibility of the CEO to understand, approve, and stand behind the company they are ultimately in charge of. As the CEO, therefore they are held to a higher standard and must stay held to that standard to vouchsafe the conduct of all those who are subordinate to them. I am a retiree in Florida and feel that this touches every individual in this country. Sincerely, Edith Heifner

---

Edna Petrie — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Edna Petrie Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep the stops in place. We have enough greed and underhanded practices going on now to manipulate stock trading and buying. Please think of us who retirement accounts that have tumbled and unable to ever recover what we have lost. Please keep these safeguards in place. Thank you.

Edna Reder — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Edna Reder Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keeping quarterly reports seems like it should be relatively easy as everything is on computers and with the help of AI should be easier enough to produce

Sent from my iPhone

Edward Blankenbiller — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Edward Blankenbiller Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Edward L.

C. Blankenbiller Residential Building Inspector. Reading Pennsylvania. This needs not to be changed.

Edward Cardini — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Edward Cardini Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 More ways to screw the little guy! More oversight not less.

Ed Cardini
www.edwardfcardini.com
@edwardcardini
617-216-3968

Edward Chen — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Edward Chen Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission,
I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposed rule that would permit public companies to transition from quarterly to semi-annual reporting.
As an educator, my ability to save for retirement depends on a stable, transparent, and efficient market. For years, I have relied on the discipline of quarterly reporting to make informed decisions about my long-term investments. This system has provided the consistent flow of information necessary for the average investor to track the health of their portfolio and manage risk effectively.
My concerns with this proposal are twofold:
Risk of Information Asymmetry: I am deeply concerned that reducing the frequency of reporting to every six months will significantly disadvantage retail investors like me. In an era where information is critical, widening the gap between public disclosures will inevitably favor institutional investors and insiders who have access to private channels of information. This erodes the "level playing field" that the SEC is tasked with maintaining.
Reduced Market Transparency and Volatility: Historical data suggests that more frequent reporting contributes to higher market efficiency and valuation. Extending the window between reports by 100% creates a longer, more dangerous "blackout" period where negative developments can fester, leading to sudden, sharp market corrections that could devastate the savings of hard-working professionals.
Retirement planning for those in the education sector requires decades of consistent, reliable growth. We depend on the transparency of the U.S. markets to ensure that our savings are not subject to unnecessary, avoidable risks caused by diminished oversight.
I urge the Commission to maintain the current quarterly reporting requirement. Transparency has been the hallmark of a resilient and world-leading U.S. financial market; reversing this course now would be a significant step backward for investor protection.
Respectfully,
Eddie Chen
Worcester, MA

Edward Dinunzio — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Edward Dinunzio Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I strongly wish to have SEC reporting the way it is now - I DO NOT want to change to semi annual reporting. I strongly feel that changing to semi annual reporting will adversely affect the market and me as an investor.

Ed DiNunzio - semi retired NY attorney - residing in Florida.

Edward Freeman — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Edward Freeman Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Listen, quit trying to protect companies. The retail investor, like myself, need the quarterly report to properly make our decisions. This is our retirement you are playing with. Let us continue to reach for the American dream, don’t lock us out of a system designed for that. Every trade we make is a gamble we willingly take to help bolster the economy and now you want to take that away from us and make it an even bigger risk to our livelihoods to take that gamble.

Sent from my iPhone

Edward Molush — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Edward Molush Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 My name is Edward Molush. Retired high school English teacher living in Oreland PA. I want and need SEC reports QUARTERLY so that I can keep a closer eye on my investments and plan not only for my financial present and future but also those of my son, daughter-in-law, and their two very young children—my beloved grandson and granddaughter.

Sent from my iPhone

Edward Moreadith — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Edward Moreadith Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Do not change the quarterly reporting requirements.

Financial transparency is essential, companies should be private if they do not want to be subject to regulations. The notion that reporting and regulation are an unnecessary is a falsehood. Serve the public, which is your job! Regards, Edward Moreadith 12 Ridgeway Ave Asheville, NC 8806 828.333.8714

Edward Ohlbaum — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Edward Ohlbaum Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Giving the wealthiest and most powerful scions among us? Such backtracking on the regulations will yield devastating consequences!

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

---

edward tucker — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: edward tucker Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Reducing corporate reporting requirements reduces transparency, to the detriment of middle class investors and the benefit of Epstein class oligarch insiders. Coincidence that it's even being considered at this particular point in time? I don't think so. And neither will astute voters.

Edward Varmette — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Edward Varmette Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Do not let the crooks in Corporate America and Wall Street get away with causing another Enron.

Edwina Arthur — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Edwina Arthur Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I lived 30 years working for Intel with quarterly earnings reports. At the time I agreed with the removal of short term reporting but the potential for hiding the true picture is far greater and more destructive. Please keep Quarterly reporting. We are smart enough to read the long term forecasts to make sense of a quarterly dip verses a trend.

Sent from my Verizon, Samsung Galaxy smartphone
Get Outlook for Android
Email, letters, faxes and other correspondence with Mesa Public Schools are subject to public disclosure under the Arizona Public Records Law unless the content is exempt from disclosure by a state or federal law.

Eileen Ballard — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Eileen Ballard Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 With the total corruption of this current regime at hand, now is not the time cut back on checks and balances unless we are planning to devolve into pure corruptive chaos

---

Eileen Bauer — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Eileen Bauer Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 My concern is pretty simple. First, certified filings would go from four times a year to two, and investors are supposed to rely on that executive sign-off. Second, 8-Ks and press releases are not the same thing. They do not carry the same certification, and they are not reviewed by auditors, so they cannot really substitute for the missing reports. Also, the SEC itself asks how to fix the 8-K gap. To me, that is basically admitting the replacement is weaker. The answer should not be to patch a weaker system. The answer should be to withdraw the proposal. These safeguards were put in place after Enron for a reason. Before weakening them, the SEC should explain what has changed that makes those protections less necessary now.

Regards,
Eileen

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Eileen Cashb — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Eileen Cashb Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep quarterly

---

Eileen Johnson — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Eileen Johnson Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Why? This system was created to prevent cheating! And it's working! Why stop a quarterly check when you know it's working?

Yahoo Mail: Search, Organize, Conquer

Eileen O'Kelly-Hill — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Eileen O'Kelly-Hill Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Eileen O'Kelly-Hill , personal investor. We need more transparency, not less. Bad actors show up when things do not have a constant light shown on them. Planning for eventualities goes out the door.

Eileen Regan — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Eileen Regan Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Why would we return to something that failed in the past? We must learn from our mistakes and our history. Keep the reporting quarterly, especially for the lower savers who need to survive in retirement. Eileen Regan, Madison, WI

Sent from my iPhone

Eileen Scoles — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Eileen Scoles Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Companies that are public must show quarterly reports, it is cheating their investors if they can hide earnings, keeping them in the dark.

Sincerely yours,

Eileen Scoles

Eileen Small investor — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Eileen As a small Investor I oppose the change to allow public companies to report their earnings only twice a year. This puts retail investors at a disadvantage over institutional investors, who are likely to demand and receive regular updates anyway. It will make markets more vulnerable to rumors and will make it more volatile people react more dramatically to the bad news companies have been sitting on for 6 months. Also, the fear of what companies might be concealing will depress share prices and multiples, as is evidenced by the last period when we had only semi-annual earnings reports. The US has required quarterly reports for most of its history and has only become obsesses with short-term gains relatively recently. So I don't believe the argument that this change will allow companies to think more long-term. It allows companies to hide bad news and cause investors to worry about what bad news they're hiding and to rely more on rumors that may prove untrue. Teddy Roosevelt believed transparency is essential to capitalism and I'm in his camp. I oppose this rule change

---

El Moore — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: El Moore Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Quarterly disclosures help me make informed decisions, and the SEC shouldn't take vital information away from those who depend on them for it.

Elaine Lipinsky — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Elaine Lipinsky Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Like everything else this congress is doing under Trump, Will hurt common man and put money in pockets of billionaires. A 1930s type crash would likely follow. Most restrictions gone and they were put in with good reasons.

Sent from my iPhone

Elaine Pechilis — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Elaine Pechilis Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Enough of the grift!

Elaine Rocholl — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Elaine Rocholl Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep the law as is. Transparency is imperative to goal of building trust.

Respectfully submitted,

Elaine L. Rocholl

Elaine Spitz — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Elaine Spitz Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Dear SEC,
Elaine Spitz, small biz owner in Braintree, MA, since 1996. We need sufficient oversight; please let the reporting remain quarterly, and thus more transparent than the proposed yearly cycle. Give the people what they want. Uncertainty is bad for business.
Sincerely,
Elaine Spitz

Elaine Vainosky — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Elaine Vainosky Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 My name is Elaine Vainosky and live in New Yorks Mohawk Valley. I am retired and I want to know what is going on with the companies held in my retirement funds. These safeguards were written after Enron for a reason, and the SEC should explain what has changed. I want the reason for this proposal. Apparently one reason was that it would save companies $198,000 a year. What a joke! That's a pittance compared to what the CEO's and CFO's earn a year. Their salaries are exorbitant. Let them pay for the 2 reports and keep them accountable by signing off on quarterly reports.

Elaine Waskow — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Elaine Waskow Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 This only gives the opportunity for more corruption and and hatred in our country. Please don't let them do this.!!

Elaine Waskow — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Elaine Waskow Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 This only gives the opportunity for more corruption and and hatred in our country.

Eleasha C — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Eleasha C Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Do not change the reporting for companies. We deserve to know what the companies we invest in are doing performance wise.

Thank You,
Eleasha Counts
972-800-0013
EMail: EACounts@gmail.com

Elin — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Elin Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 It's essential to keep them honest.

Sent from AT&T Yahoo Mail on Android

Elin — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Quarterly reporting is essential to keep them honest. From: Elin Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026
Sent from AT&T Yahoo Mail on Android

Elizabeth Allos — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Elizabeth Allos Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep the reporting quarterly! Let’s not regress to methods that harm the average investor during this time of inflation. Carolyn Williams, Washington State.

Carolyn

Elizabeth Anders — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Elizabeth Anders Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Full transparency is always the best way to go. If a business deal need to be hidden then it calls into question its legitimacy.

Elizabeth Anne Gates Applin — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Elizabeth Anne Gates Applin Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 No. We need to move forward not back. This didn't work the first time it won't work now.

Elizabeth Blankenship — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Elizabeth Blankenship Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Employee retirement funds will be decimated. This is gambling, and giving all the wins to a mafia cartel. Stop.

Sent from my iPhone

Elizabeth Dalton — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Elizabeth Dalton Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 This can only benefit insiders and the billionaire class. More opportunity for fraud…as if there isn’t enough now!! Non-profits will be jeopardized. NO!

Sent from my iPhone

Elizabeth Drumlake — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Elizabeth Drumlake Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Please keep monthly and quarterly reporting for individual reporting for transparency and tracking!!! Do not change!!!

Elizabeth Estes Consumer — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Elizabeth Estes Holding businesses accountable for the work they are suppose to be doing is very important. Are businesses cheating? That is part of a job that you all have done for quite awhile. Have you done it well? I haven't seen an ENRON in a few decades but the question here is this does a report 4 times a year makes it harder for people cheat? If you use data it's harder to lie if you have to show where the money is and where it came from. This reporting to consumers allows for the business as well to see if they are doing it the correct way. That's what you're there for. The SEC are our bumper rails. Take the self reporting away and with some crazy baller you get a ball knocking pins down on every lane and then the whole bowling alley gets closed. You protect our way of investment. Don't quit. Thank you. Refer to your own FBI https : / / www . fbi . gov / history / cases-and-criminals / enron

---

Elizabeth Hunton — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Elizabeth Hunton Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep reporting every quarter. Do all you can to keep honesty functioning in our government.

Elizabeth Johns — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Elizabeth Johns Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Thank you for the comment opportunity. I think the transparency of having quarterly reports is extremely important to regular investors so that they can determine a company's fiscal standing and impactful changes on a regular basis. This is one rule that helps the "little guy" and that was a promise of this administration to do that. That is very important, as regular investors do not have the financial nor privileges of power of institutional investors. It is important to level the playing field for regular investors looking to secure excellent portfolios so that everyone prospers. Thank you.

Elizabeth Jones — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Elizabeth Jones Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Outrageous! We will vote out every Republican if they do this. Your job is to protect the American people. DO IT!

Elizabeth Kraayenbrink — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Elizabeth Kraayenbrink Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Quarterly reporting is absolutely necessary for transparency !

Elizabeth Manning — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Elizabeth Manning Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 The money I have in my money market account at $500 a month disbursement will last me approximately seven more years of my retirement. The IRA at its current rate will last me another 13 years with mandatory disbursement started now. I am only pulling from one account at a time, but if my IRA drops as it says it would I would only have enough money to continue living on my retirement and life savings for a total of 15 years I am currently 73. My mother is 94 and my dad died at 95. I've more years to live than I've money to live on . These two accounts supplement my current Social Security amount, which is also supposed to go away sometime in the future. I do have one medium risk investment which between June 2025 and the current date has lost $20,000. I am waiting for it to regain.I need quarterly reporting it holds the companies responsible and accountable. My name is Elizabeth Manning. I am a retired teacher tutor I live in Florida USA.

Sent from Gmail Mobile

Elizabeth Rogers — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Elizabeth Rogers Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Who wants less returns on their money? We are Already paying higher prices for food and gas and housing and everything involved with who daily living. We're stretched out to the max. I am retired, I am not a worker anymore. My name is Elizabeth Rogers and I live in West Springfield Massachusetts. I am against reporting less if it's going to affect us as, normal common citizens ,that worked hard all our lives.

Elizabeth Scherer — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Elizabeth Scherer Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Please dont stop quarterly disclosures. Consumers and investors need more frequent updates than biannually on the health of a company to make good investment decisions. This is unfair to your average citizen who is just trying to save for retirement and gives advantage to the already wealthy who have access to insider information. Please dont make the wealth gap even greater than it already is.

Elizabeth Schwartz — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Elizabeth Schwartz Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Quarterly disclosures help me make informed decisions, and the SEC shouldn’t take vital information away from investors.

Elizabeth Sepulveda — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Elizabeth Sepulveda Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission: as a concern citizen, I am writing to you regarding Companies that go public. There needs to be more transparency for this process. My understanding is that recently rules have changed, and it has become easier for some coming companies to go public and have their stocks added to index funds. There needs to

---

ELIZABETH WATTS — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: ELIZABETH WATTS Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 What is wrong with quarterly reporting? Too much work for the administrators? That’s why they are paid the big bucks! Keep what we have, do not go backwards!

Sent from my iPhone

Elizabeth Williams — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Elizabeth Williams Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 No!!! Do NOT change any accountability requirements. Enough is enough and can someone, somewhere in the USA still stand for honesty???

Elizabeth Williams
206 Glenwood Dr.
Natchez, MS 39120
615-668-8182

Elke Passarge — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Elke Passarge Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
I would like to keep seeing reports every 3 months so that I can make better decisions on how to manage my money.

Ellamae Sovereign — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Ellamae Sovereign Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I don't think so quarterly the way it should be , not every 6 months !!!!! That gives you more time to hide your mistakes from the American people have their money in Wall Street... And everyone deserves a quarterly report , not every 6 months !!!!

Ellen Brown — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Ellen Brown Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 It all boils down to accountability. We all are accountable for the things we do in our own lives. It's no different for corporations and companies. If they are doing all the right things and have nothing to hide, there should be no reason why they can't show the figures and the bottom line every quarter. The public deserves to know what they are doing and their profit margins. Accountability is important and should be the foremost reason to share reports as often as required.

Rev. Ellen Brown
Retired Pastor and Consumer

Ellen de Graffenreid — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Ellen de Graffenreid Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Quarterly reporting is good business practice that needs to be transparent for investors. In a global economy, fundamentals can change drastically is six months. A move to less frequent reporting will upend markets, disrupt the labor market in the U.S. where many retirement decisions depend upon portfolio returns, and erode public trust.

Ellen de Graffenreid
Grinnell, IA

Ellen Erway — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Ellen Erway Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Ellen Erway, retired actuary
West Hartford, CT

Quarterly reporting provides transparency that the market reacts to appropriately. If the SEC loosens this requirement to semi-annual reporting, investors will not have the timely information they need to make changes to their investments. I oppose a change to the quarterly requirement.

Ellen Fleishman — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Ellen Fleishman Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep Quarterly Reporting. This will help keep my savings intact.
Ellen Fleishman, Ph.D. Retired NYC Dept. of Education Supervisor of School Psychologists

---

Ellen Gaffney — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Ellen Gaffney Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Please do change the reporting to six months for companies. This gives too much time for corruption and things to be hidden from the public. This is strictly to benefit big businesses, billionaires, and once again the common person is being screwed. It protects the insider traders and thought the SEC was to ensure trading was above board. Like the rest of government, you have sold your souls to the devil. Our government is betraying us again if this passes

---

Ellen Harrington — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Ellen Harrington Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 We don’t need the CEO scandals of the 90s to return. It’s four times a year because they can’t be trusted, and I certainly don’t trust them now.

Sent from my iPad

Ellen Kelly — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Ellen Kelly Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep companies reporting. Keep them honest.

Sent from my iPhone

Ellen Layton — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Ellen Layton Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Please do not change the present reporting system. I have been saving for my retirement since I started working and I need every dime. If the change occurs, fewer people will invest in the stock market which will negatively impact the many businesses that rely on investors like me. I am Ellen Layton, Doctor of Nursing Practice, a family nurse practitioner in Tampa Florida. If decreasinG open disclosure of financial transactions then next we can stop open disclosure of the procedures I perform on my patients. There is no difference. Your health care is impacted more on your finances than your DNA code. All the research supports this. Stop this change now.

Sent from my iPhone

Ellen Levanites — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Ellen Levanites Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 More secrecy, less transparency is only good for Wallstreet not for the person investing to save for retirement. We want less secrecy! Ellen Levanites retired nurse

---

Ellen Levy — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Ellen Levy Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Hi,
I want to know this stuff every quarter to help me make financial decisions!
Thanks,
Ellen Levy

Sent from my iPad

Ellen McVay — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Ellen McVay Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I've always thought quarterly was a good idea but with inflation and a fixed income i now believe it is imperative.

Sent from my iPhone

Ellen Meadows — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Ellen Meadows Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Quarterly reporting protects against insider trading and keeps all parties honest. Failure to maintain quarterly reporting puts agencies and investors at risk of financial loss, diminishing trust not only in these institutions but in the SEC.

Ellen Pfeiffer — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Ellen Pfeiffer Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Ellen Pfeiffer, Frederick, MD.

Please retain quarterly financial reporting requirements which facilitate investment transparency.

Ellen Pfeiffer
28 East 3rd Street
Frederick. Maryland 21701
Tel: 301-676-0517

Elle_Wms — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Elle_Wms Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Sarbanes-Oxley became law in July of 2002 to “place requirements on all American public company boards of directors and management and public accounting firms” for ACCOUNTABILITY.

PLEASE explain to this investor what has changed in the last 24 years that leads you to believe that reverting to only semi-annual reports being certified is good business practice? That CEO’s and CFO’s can be trusted, 100% of the time, to ensure that their companies quarterly reports are honest and accurate?

I did a quick search as a reminder for why this act was written in the first place. The ‘plain English’ names that are used in the House and Senate, are easily found on Wikipedia: “AKA "Public Company Accounting Reform and Investor Protection Act" in the Senate) and "Corporate Auditing Accountability Act" (in the House).” Those names hold meaning for hard working Americans who put their money back into the economy through investing and are trying to build for a future or retirement.

So, you no longer feel that it is important for investors to be protected? You are okay with the possibility of massive fraud taking place (again), no one being held accountable, and what, “plausible deniability” from the people in charge? With the ‘top dogs’ not having any skin the the game the only ones that lose are the people whose hard earned and invested money has been taken by fraud. It’s a tough world we live in and unfortunately the only way to keep some people honest is by making them accountable and attaching a punishment to something they should be doing anyway!!! Accountability can be guaranteed by a personal attestation on a specific document/report by a NAMED officer that he or she has reviewed said document/report and evaluated the controls behind it. Don’t go back to the “passing the buck and “I didn’t know” shenanigans. Don’t change what is working.

Leah Williams
South Carolina
Retired

Sent from Proton Mail for iOS.

Ellie Horning — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Ellie Horning Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep Quarterly Reporting . Stop corporations from hiding income or hiding facts when sales are down and th economy isn't doing so well.
I've always been amazed by when these reports come out.
The biggest spending time of the year.
Christmas, Back to School season, Spring
Ellie Horning self employed HHA

Sent from my iPhone

Ellyn Daniels — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Ellyn Daniels Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 We must maintain quarterly reporting to support knowledge-based investing and protect us all.
Dr Ellyn Daniels
Clinical Psychologist
Chicago, IL

Sent from my iPhone

Elsa Lankford — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Elsa Lankford Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Quarterly reporting gives stockholders more information and makes it more difficult for corporations to steal from stockholders and their employees.

Transparency is something that should be important to the SEC and to corporations.

Keep the quarterly reports.

Thank you,
Elsa Lankford

Producer/Host of Care Partner's Compass: Navigating CRC Podcast

https://carepartnerscompass.transistor.fm/

Elvira Burns — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Elvira Burns Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Continue quarterly reports

Sent from my iPhone

Elvira Burns — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Elvira Burns Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Please continue to do the quarterly report

Sent from my iPhone

Elyse R — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Elyse R Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 I want to keep it as is. We're nearing retirement age, and wouldn't have time to build back up what we lost. Therefore, we wouldn't have enough to keep our current lifestyle.

Elyse
(480) 221-4988
Sent from my iPhone

Emc2mm Gmail M Mac — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Emc2mm Gmail M Mac Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 This is a very dumb idea. Quarterly reports matter, especially for publicly held companies. It's not broken it doesn't need fixing. Mike McCallum Manager.

Emilio Garcia — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 Comment From: Emilio Garcia Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 KEEP IT QUARTERLY ALWAYS! Stop the B.S.!

Emily Browne — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: Comment on S7-2026-15 From: Emily Browne Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Dont take us back to 1955! Stop hurting the middle class and hard workers who are just trying to di the right thing and save for the future. We already get screwed on taxes.

Thank you,
Emily Browne

Enid Breakstone — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Enid Breakstone Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Enron's executives claimed ignorance of their own books, so Congress made ignorance impossible to claim. Every quarter, the CEO and CFO certify that they personally designed and evaluated the controls that surface bad news, and that they reported any weaknesses or fraud to the auditors. The law claws back executive bonuses even without proof the boss was personally involved. Halve the filings, and you halve the quarters where "I didn't know" is off the table.

Celebrating 30 years of protecting animals 1996 - 2026,
Enid

Enid Breakstone, M.Ed.
Founder & Executive Director
The Queenie Foundation, Inc.
Animal protection through humane education and rescue/adoption.
Manchester, CT
860 649 4488, 10 - 6

https://www.facebook.com/TQF96

The Queenie Foundation promotes kindness to all animals through humane education and companion animal rescue/adoption.

https://www.paypal.com/US/fundraiser/charity/2119471
Donate to us using this link. Please indicate where the donation should go--Connecticut (cat rescue and adoption) or North Carolina, our satellite office that focuses on TNR (trap neuter return) and adoption.

Go vegan here: http://vegankit.com/be/

Enis Orahovac — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: File No. S7-2026-15 From: Enis Orahovac The proposed change would even more segregate individual investors from needed information. This doesn’t save money as much as it will just open doors for a company to hide what it is doing for a longer period of time. Please stop this proposal.

Enrique Davalos-Rodriguez — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: S7-2026-15 From: Enrique Davalos-Rodriguez Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 Keep the current rules in place. We the people need to hold CEO's accountable.

Sent from my iPhone

Eric Baker — Jun 17, 2026
Subject: My view on Rule S7-2026-15 From: Eric Baker Affiliation: Jun. 17, 2026 To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
Subject: Comment Letter Regarding File No. S7-2026-15 – Semiannual Reporting
To the Securities and Exchange Commission:
I respectfully submit this comment regarding File No. S7-2026-15, the proposal that would permit public companies to satisfy interim reporting obligations through semiannual reporting rather than the current quarterly reporting framework.
As an investor, business leader, and advocate for transparent capital markets, I believe the SEC should carefully consider whether this proposal advances its core mission of protecting investors, maintaining fair and efficient markets, and facilitating capital formation.
While I appreciate the argument that quarterly reporting may contribute to short-term thinking and administrative burdens for issuers, I am concerned that reducing the frequency of required disclosures may unintentionally shift risk from public companies to investors.
Public markets function most effectively when information is timely, broadly available, and consistently disclosed. Quarterly reporting provides investors with regular visibility into a company's financial condition, operational performance, emerging risks, liquidity position, and management execution. Extending that reporting cycle to six months could create longer periods during which material deterioration, strategic missteps, or financial stress remain largely hidden from investors.
The investors most affected would likely be individual investors who lack the resources available to institutional investors. Large institutions often have direct access to management teams, sophisticated research capabilities, and alternative data sources. Retail investors rely heavily on periodic SEC filings to make informed decisions. Reducing the frequency of those disclosures risks widening the information gap between Wall Street and Main Street.
I am also concerned about the potential impact on market volatility. Less frequent reporting does not eliminate risk; it often concentrates it. Instead of markets digesting information over four reporting periods each year, investors may be forced to react to larger information gaps and more significant surprises every six months. This could increase uncertainty and amplify price movements when disclosures are finally released.
My perspective is also shaped by my experience as a senior executive responsible for revenue growth, forecasting, accountability, and operational performance. In business, waiting six months to evaluate performance would be considered an unacceptable management practice. Organizations measure progress quarterly, monthly, weekly, and often daily because timely information drives better decisions. If a company is losing market share, facing customer attrition, experiencing margin compression, or encountering operational challenges, leadership teams cannot afford to wait six months to identify and address those issues.
Quarterly reporting creates a similar discipline for public companies. It establishes regular checkpoints that encourage management teams to evaluate performance, communicate candidly with shareholders, and take corrective action when necessary. Investors benefit from this cadence because it provides a more accurate and current understanding of a company's trajectory rather than forcing them to rely on older information for extended periods.

Transparency should not be viewed solely as a compliance obligation. It is a cornerstone of market confidence and one of the fundamental responsibilities associated with access to public capital. Strong disclosure practices promote accountability, improve governance, and strengthen trust between companies and their shareholders.
If the Commission determines that reporting burdens should be reduced, I would encourage consideration of more targeted reforms rather than a broad reduction in reporting frequency. For example:
• Simplifying Form 10-Q requirements for smaller issuers.
• Streamlining duplicative disclosure requirements.
• Modernizing reporting formats and technology requirements.
• Reducing unnecessary compliance costs while preserving quarterly transparency.
• Exploring scaled disclosure frameworks based on issuer size and market capitalization.
The strength of U.S. capital markets has long been built on investor confidence. That confidence depends on access to timely and reliable information. While there may be legitimate concerns about short-termism, I believe reducing disclosure frequency is not the appropriate solution. In an era when information moves faster than ever and investors demand greater transparency, reducing the flow of information to the marketplace would be a step backward.
